PAGENT FOR NEGRO WELFARE

Murderer of a Boy Commits Suicide

Pagent in Boston Promotes Negro Welfare

Performance to Be Presented in Many Cities for Benefit of University.

Boston, Nov. 27.—Enthusiasm ran high last evening in the Symphony Hall over the pageant of "The Open Door."

Something of this presentation makes it a living national interest. It concerns the progress of the Negro race.

Rarely, if ever, have whites and blacks been mixed in such numbers on such equality and with such mutual good feeling and sympathetic enthusiasm. Boston's best and Cambridge's cultured were among the list of patrons.

"The Open Door" was written by Mrs. Richard Ware, the wife of the president of Atlanta University. Its music, the effectiveness of its appeal to the ambition of the Negro race, and in its demonstration to white people of the rapid progress and capacity of the Negroes in such that the Atlanta constitution gave it exceptional praise.

Attention has been given to the pageant by Commissioner Claxton, head of the United States Bureau of Education, who sees in it an important means of stimulating Negro ambition and white interest in Negro progress as a national movement.

President Ware's sister, Miss Gertrude Ware, of the faculty of the university, has been given a year's absence to promote the presentation of the pageant in various cities. Atlanta University is the beneficiary of the performance.

King Ignorance is the leading figure in the opening of the pageant, and before him in colorful and strikingly savage dress the wild men perform their violent and servile dances. Oriental gift bearers, in long succession, bring to King Ignorance costly tribute. Cried, with his whip, makes slaves prostrate themselves before the king's throne, and Hate, with her blindfolded son, Prejudice, is a prominent personage. Then Education comes upon the scene, all radiant and queenly. Ignorance is conquered by the power of her personality and abdicates, retreating in shame and confusion. But she is still opposed by Indolence, Smattering, and Philander, each one of whom finds victims. But Truth, Beauty, and Love appear, overcoming all opposition, and the finale is the passage of the entire race, under the lead of Education, through the open door to the higher and better future.

Preliminary to the pageant is an entertainment of nearly an hour by the chorus, singing, "spirituals," or Negro dialect songs.

Reducing Southern Representation

EDITORS OF COUNTRY
ADVOCATE REDUCING SOUTHERN REPRESENTATION IN CONGRESS

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 1.—Those who think that the matter of reducing southern representation in congress and the electoral college is mere talk, are directed to watch the editorial expression in the great daily newspapers of the country on the subject.

In a recent editorial the Hartford Times, daily, says:

"If Negroes are to exercise their right under the constitution, they can drive out of power every officeholder in the extreme southern states. As they become more dissatisfied over their impotence in political affairs, and if they can see no change in the south, they will come north, thus depriving the south of labor which it needs."

"The Negro," said a well known attorney here, "so far as I can learn from talking to his leaders, is not seeking to 'dominate' the white people, but he is determined to exercise the constitutional right to vote, or see to it that those who profit by his presence shall do so no longer. In the south it is purely a matter of 'taxation without representation.' The most conservative whites of the south are anxious to find a way that will give the colored people better rights of citizenship. They have come to realize that the 'protection' they sought in depriving the Negroes of voting is not really protection but slow destruction, for the people are leaving the south without labor."

Negro Dramatic Star.

Charles Gilpin Achieves Distinction
On Stage

New York, Nov. 30.—He is here—a great actor. Those who have been looking forward to the time when the race would produce a recognized great actor who could be pointed to with pride as demonstrating what our group may achieve, now have that hope gratified.

Charles S. Gilpin, has that distinction, and he is now playing the leading role in the famous artists center, Greenwich Village, in a production known as "The Emperor Jones." Mr. Gilpin is not only the leading character, but is the only member of our group in the cast, all the others being white.

Alexander Woolcott, said to be one of the world's greatest dramatic critics, a southerner by birth, writing in the New York Times, says of Mr. Gilpin: "His is an uncommonly powerful and imaginative performance, in several respects unsurpassed this season in New York."

Before going into this production, Mr. Gilpin had the character in "Curtis" in the Drinkwater production of "Abraham Lincoln."

James Wendon Johnson in the New York Age says: "Charles S. Gilpin is proving himself to be a great actor, and he is also demonstrating to the New York public and theatrical managers those artistic powers of the Negro which will some day be generally recognized."

Negro Postman Heroic

(By the Associated Negro Press.)

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 30.—A letter of appreciation and thanks has been received at the postoffice building in recognition of the prompt action of Letter Carrier Andrew Van Kueren in saving from disaster by the fire the occupants in Sterling Place. The letter, which is signed by one of the tenants, reads:

"In recognition of the quick thinking and prompt action of Letter Carrier Van Kueren, which probably averted a catastrophe on behalf of the owners and my fellow-tenants I wish to report his splendid conduct at a fire that occurred in the apartment house at 945-499 Sterling Place.

"While making a delivery of mail at the above address he discovered a blaze in the basement. His first action was to see that a fire alarm was turned in, after which he aroused twenty families occupying the building, some of whom were still asleep, by knocking up on their doors and ringing the bells. He then calmly went on his way delivering mail.

"As a type of the man who knows what to do in an emergency and does it as a matter of course, Andrew Van Kueren is worthy of note. I wish to congratulate you on the possession of such an employee, and hope his career in the post office department may be signally successful."

A copy of the letter, which was signed by Roger A. McDonnell, was forwarded to the letter carrier, and with it commendation by Postmaster Walter C. Burton. At the same time he was awarded a plush case containing five $5 gold pieces, from the residents of the apartment house. The case was suitably plated with the name, date and cause of the sending.

The Japanese Question

Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 26.—Viscount Ishii of Japan will present the question of racial equality informally to the league of nations at this session. It was learned authoritatively today that he said Ishii will bring the matter to the attention of the assembly in such a way as to avoid comment or debate.

Members of the Japanese delegation said today they were instructed by the government not to submit the race equality measure or any other that might lead to create friction. The matter will be put before the assembly probably as a reminder that Japan has not forgotten her original demands.

JURY QUITS NEGRO

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 25.—Robert Lowe, a Negro youth charged with assaulting a ten-year-old white girl at Arlington, Texas, was acquitted by a jury here at noon today. The Negro recently was rescued twice from a mob.

Ask Congress to Continue Negro Bureau

Chicago, Dec. 1.—R. L. Mays, international president of the Railway Men's International B. I. A. has taken up with Senator Medill McCormick and Congressman Martin B. Madden, the subject of having congress provide for the continuation of the Bureau of Negro Economics in the Department of Labor.

Congressman Madden in a statement to Mr. Mays says: "This Bureau and several others were created as war measures for the better correlation of different groups of workers during the war period. It was thought by many that when the war ended there would be no need for their further continuance, but if the experience of those most directly affected leads them to believe that the work done during the war proved of such value as to justify its continuance as a peace time activity, I see no reason why their judgment should not be given great weight and the question of legislation making it a useful arm of the government given early and favorable consideration."

BUREAU ORGANIZATION PLANNED BY CONGRESS

Department of Public Works and Public Welfare May Be Created in Place of Interior.

Washington.—Complete reorganization of the government executive departments is contemplated by the incoming Republican administration as among its first moves for betterment.

Among the chief moves in bringing this about are the abolition of the Department of the Interior and the creation of a Department of Public Works and a Department of Public Welfare with the head of each in the cabinet. For this great change Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, will introduce a bill at the beginning of the final session of the present Congress next month. He has worked out a comprehensive plan.

The functions of the interior department have become somewhat minimized if not obsolete. With the development of the west, the general land office is not what it used to be. Nor is the office of Indian affairs. The bureau of pensions has been somewhat superseded by the war risk.

It is believed by McCormick that the geological survey, the reclamation service and the bureau of mines should be transferred to a department of public works. To this he would add the river and harbor work now done by the war department, and such other bureaus as would fit in.

To the department of public welfare he would give the bureau of education, the functions of which would be greatly enlarged; the women's bureau in the department of labor, all units which touch upon the condition of women and children, and other and newer functions.

While it is true that all bureaus and departments of the federal government are supposed to subserve the public welfare, and while the suggested name of department of public welfare may be different when the law is finally enacted by congress, this department will take over all the social work of the government, including the bureau of war risk.

CREATES NEW DEPARTMENT.

Senator Kenyon's Measure Consolidates Social Service Bureaus.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The creation of a department of Social Welfare to "safeguard and promote the social welfare of the people of the United States," is provided for in a bill prepared by Senator Kenyon of Iowa, for introduction at the coming session of congress. The head of the department would be a member of the cabinet.

The department would have transferred to its jurisdiction the Public Health Service and the hygienic laboratory, now under the treasury; the Bureau of Education from the department of the interior; the Children's Department, Women's Bureau, the Bureau of Industrial Housing and Transportation, the United States Employees Service and the United States Employees Commission, now under the Labor Department, and the Office of Home Economics from the Department of Agriculture.

The bill also would authorize the president to transfer to the department at any time the whole or any part of any bureau, office or other division or branch of the public service engaged in work relating to the social welfare of the people.

An assistant of social welfare, to be appointed by the president at a salary of $5,000 a year, is provided for.

SCOUTS RENEW OATH

AT ROOSEVELT GRAVE
1,500 Stand Bareheaded and Take Pledge to Uphold '100 Per Cent. Americanism.'

Fifteen hundred picked Boy Scouts from troops in the city of New York stood bareheaded at the grave of Theodore Roosevelt in Young's cemetery at Oyster Bay yesterday and took an oath to uphold "100 per cent Americanism" against foes within and without the boundaries of the country. The scouts were on their first annual pilgrimage to the grave of the "greatest of presidents day Americans," to use the words of their spokesman, Theodore E. Burnett.

Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt stood near his father's grave as the scouts marched by, each dropping a chrysanthemum, until the mound was piled high with flowers. Then the scouts drew up in a military group near the Roosevelt plot and listened to eulogies by their National Scout Commissioner, Daniel C. Beard, and by Mr. Burnett. Commissioner Beard said the former president was one of the first Boy Scouts and for many years was honorary president and chief scout citizen of the organization.

NEGRO MINISTER ABSCONDS.

Burlington, Iowa, Nov. 26.—Rev. W. M. Ward, a so called minister of the gospel, has departed for parts unknown and in his possession is a large sum of the Union Baptist funds. Anybody seeing him walking on the road headed toward the state of Mississippi, notify the chief of police of Burlington, Iowa, for he has a warrant out for the arrest of the Rev. Mr. Ward.

Boy Killed By Accident

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 25.—The killing of Joseph Lowe, the innocent 16-year-old colored boy in April and the continuous confinement in the county jail for the deed, the thought he was possible that he would not again be privileged with the freedom of life on Louisville streets again, accounts for Wm. J. James, white, killing himself in the attorney's room of the county jail on Nov. 5.

James, who is 62 years old, was awaiting trial for the murder of Lowe, whom he shot and killed on April 18. Lowe was driving an auto truck which accidentally struck James's son, who was riding a bicycle. The James boy was not injured beyond a few bruises.

Mr. James also killed a colored youth over some trifling affair about twenty years ago, and the thoughts of these two deaths so prayed on his mind that he committed suicide, using a large knife which he had concealed in his clothing.

Polish Aids Shoes.

Some women do not realize that a walking shoe wears better and appears well for a longer time if it is frequently polished. A new street shoe ought not to be worn much until it is polished once, for without the polish it is much more liable to be scratched than with a good polish. Especially is this true of the shoes.

Small Dogs Quickest to Learn.

The best kind of dogs to train to perform tricks are the smaller ones, such as terriers, poodles, spaniels, collies, and dachshunds. The poodle is the cleverest of all.

Sloan's Liniment (Pain's enemy)

YES, OLD TOP English Bug—My eye, but these 'ere bloomin' open grates are fine these chilly mornings!

Intensely Occupied. I try not to loiter nor shirk. Yet this my intention doth balk: I am often too busy to work. But never too busy to talk!

Defining the Anxiety. "What do you think is the cause of unrest?" "Haven't noticed any around this place," rejoined Farmer Cornstossel. "The resting part takes care of itself. What I am worried about is unwork."

Headwork. "Does Bliggins use any real headwork in his politics?" "I don't think so," answered Miss Cayenne. "The nearest he comes to headwork is to bet a hat on the election."

Dampening Reply. Bookkeeper—Twenty-five years ago today, Mr. Markham, I stepped into your employ— Chief—Yes, I know! I know! The very first day you were five minutes late.

Unconscious Humor. Contributor—How much would you give me for this article on the complexities of the solar system? Editor—I would have to look it over. We pay for an article like that by space rates.

Quite Different. "Did you apply an astringent to the wound?" "I didn't use any of them expensive remedies. The doctor said all I needed was something to draw it up."

A Good Place. "Somehow, in spite of all their protestations, reformers never can find the man higher up." "Why don't they hunt for him in the aviation service?"

The Better Plan. "If you run across any friends of mine on your auto trip, give them my regards." "Don't you think it would be better to take them to a hospital?"

Sure Sign of Wealth. "Is he making money?" "He must be. I understand he eats regularly and buys himself a new pair of shoes occasionally. Any man who can do that must have an income."

The Combination. "Why do musicians generally wear long hair?" "I suppose they think it is necessary to have plenty of locks to match their keys."

Difficult Achievement. "My young friends," said a member of the board of trustees, who was addressing the school, "let me urge upon you the necessity of not only reading good books, but also of owning them, so that you may have access to them at all times. Why, when I was a young man I used frequently to work all night to earn money to buy books and then got up before daylight and read them."

WRITES FROM FAR AWAY MEXICO
Mrs. Idora Johnson, who has been in Mexico for two or three months relates that she has had the pleasure of interviewing the new president of that country, she also states that she can stand on her doorsteps and see the hill where they claim that the notorious Villa is secreted. It is emphatically said by her that the Mexicans are very kind to the Americans and that in a lecture that she heard the new executive make he paid a noble tribute to the American soldiers.

Mrs. Johnson surprised her sister, Mrs.
D. E. Ousley by sending her a box of the famous delicious Mexican candy made of the cactus plant, which of course was a treat to the whole Ousley family.

The Progress.
"He went to court and sued her for her love."
"Well?"
"Then she went to court and sued him for breach of promise."

Contrary Tactics.
"There is one thing about putting over crooked work."
"What is that?"
"It has to be done with a straight face."

Appropriate Condition.
"I see where they christened some destroyers with cider."
"I suppose that was to pledge them always to be in temperate order."

Its Meaning.
"Is there any meaning in the shower bouquet which brides carry?"
"Of course; it means they are going to reign."

The Trouble.
"Everybody in that bank seems to be catching cold. Is it damp?"
"No; but there are so many drafts about it."

OUR FIRST DEPUTY SHERIFF.

Lindsay, formerly first lieutenant of 366th infantry has been appointed deputy sheriff of Polk county by Chaplain Winifred E. Robb, sheriff-elect. This is a recognition to which the colored people are justly entitled but one which in view of the fact that the victorious candidate received only a small per cent of the total Negro vote, was surprising. Chaplain Robb has done what no other sheriff in the history of Polk county has done—appointed a Negro to a place above that of bailiff—and his act merits the approval of all members of the race. The Bystander was opposed to the election of the Rev. Mr. Robb, as it was to the candidacy of all Democrats. Credit must be given where credit is due, however, and while congratulating Sheriff-Elect Robb on his appointment of Polk county's first Negro deputy sheriff, we desire to call attention to the fact that the Republican county officers-elect, who received more than ninety-nine per cent of the colored vote, have thus far failed to announce the appointment of a Negro deputy, stenographer or clerk in any of the county offices. Receiving about one per cent of the colored vote and giving the race a deputyship, Chaplain Robb has placed himself in an advantageous position, should he become a candidate two years hence and desire to secure the support of the colored people.

A splendid opportunity has come to Mr. Lindsay and the Bystander believes that he will do everything in his power to discharge his duties in a manner that will bring credit to himself and his chief. By so doing he will open the door of opportunity a little wider to members of our race.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS.

New Year's day ought to come about six weeks before Christmas, for nothing more requires good resolutions than Christmas shopping. We suggest the following:

Do your shopping early: early in the morning if possible as well as early in the season.

Do not get presents and then decide where to send them; first put yourself in the place of the person who is going to get the present and think what he or she would like to get.

The postal service is finding it hard to handle ordinary mail. Do not add to the burden by sending bulky presents or packages carelessly tied and directed.

Christmas is a holiday of joy; if you permit it to become a burden there is something wrong with you or your presents or the people who expected them.

Remember that many countries are still starving this winter; return for once to your wartime habit of dealing generously by the Red Cross, the Near East Relief and other relief organizations of tested honesty and competence.

PATRIOTISM.

(By Theodore Roosevelt.)

It is a good thing for all Americans, and it is an especially good thing for young Americans to remember the men who have given their lives in war and peace to the service of their fellow countrymen and to keep in mind the feats of daring and personal valor done by

THE KLU KLUX KLAN.

Reports are that the Klu Klux Klan have been revived and an extension organization program under way for the "maintenance of white supremacy." If any colored people have been in doubt about the prosperity and general advancement of their race in the past fifty years, that doubtfulness should immediately leave them when envious organizations such as the Klu Klux Klan again appear on the scene—the first time since the well known reconstruction days.

Feeling they (the K. K. K.) had the Negroes sufficiently cowed they returned to their holes, and although not active in their organization, they thinned out in many organizations secret and otherwise, that were just as aggressive against the Negro, but who hid under the cloak of religious, political and even patriotic standards, and who watched the Negro like a hawk, seeking to keep him down.

But lo and behold, despite all efforts to retard his progress, the Negro advanced rapidly, large business enterprises, better and higher education, higher ambitions and handsome homes

Imagine how the Klu Klux Klan when they read in their anti-Negro papers that a Negro dies and leaves $2,000,000 or where the Negroes subscribed $225,000,000 in Liberty bonds, etc., or where Negro banks are opening all over the country, despite all the opposition they can offer, while in the southland (their headquarters) still remains in an undeveloped state, simply because they spend too much time looking after the Negro, who works while they sleep. All right Mr. K. K. K. keep the good work up, but remember, for every ounce of opposition the Negro seems to receive a pound of advancement, and you should always remember you have a different Negro to deal with.—C. W. Harding.

some of the champions of the nation in the various crisis of her history. Thrift, industry, obedience to law, and intellectual cultivation are essential qualities in the make up of any successful people; but no people can be really great unless they possess also the heroic virtues which are as useful in time of peace as in time of war, and as important in civil as in military life.

America will cease to be a great nation whenever her young men cease to possess energy, daring, and endurance, as well as the wish and the power to fight the nation's foes. No citizen of a state should wrong any man; but it is not enough merely to refrain from infringing on the rights of others; he must also be able and willing to stand up for his own rights and those of his country against all comers, and he must be ready at any time to do his full share in resisting either malice domestic or foreign levy.

Patriotism should be an integral part of our every feeling at all times, for it is merely another name for those qualities of soul which makes a man in peace or in war, by day or by night, think of his duty to his fellows, and of his duty to the nation through which their and his loftiest aspirations must find their fitting expressions.

NEGRO ATHLETES IN IMELIGHT.

(By Sideliner.)

Fred Slater demon tackle on Iowa University's team, convinced some dubious fans that he is a tackle of the first water, of All-American calibre, by his all-round play in the Hawkeye-Ames "Farmers" game Saturday. He played a brilliant game, not withstanding the fact there were three men sent against him every time a play was called. Young the giant "Aggie," who opposes the "Duke," was hardly able to hobble off the field, after the miffing Fred had put him through, while the husky Iowa tackle could have gone through another game. Slater was down on punts; he broke through and tossed the halves for losses, while smashes through the line were dead the moment he was chosen to stop them. A cup has been awarded the mighty "Duke" by the athletic authorities at Iowa in recognition of his service to the team.

To George Collins goes the most credit for the great record made by Coe college during the gridiron season just closed, writes Peter Hoyt in the Cedar Rapids Republican. Continuing, the Farlor City Sports writer says: "Collins is one of the hardest men to tackle that ever ran on Coe field. He is shifty, drives hard and low and above all he is noted for his head work. On defense he backs up the line with certainty, and he is quick at learning the opposing teams plays. In more than one game Collins has spotted points of attack in a twinkling and stopped it up before a gain was made. He has done most of the forward passing for Coe, which resulted in many gains. He could always able mention for all-state honors by sports writers over the state. McDavis, played a creditable game for North Des Moines High in the final of the championship series.

Ashby, Grenola star, emerged from the battle against the American Legion team last Sunday with his great reputation enhanced. This man, conceded by nearly all critics to be one of the greatest ground gainers ever seen in the middle west is also dangerous both on the delivery and receiving end of the forward passes as was shown last Sunday.

In a game at Freeport, Ill., Williams, Negro full back drove through tackles and scored the winning marker for his team against the Freeport aggregation.

Martin, diminutive Ames tackle, starred in the final game of the season for his team played on Thanksgiving day against Denison, score 9 to 0.

Lucian Ashby, speedy back, kept up his brilliant playing in the Thanksgiving day battle with the Oelwein Independents played at East High stadium, this city. Ashby's running, passing and kicking were potent factors in the 21 to 0 score by which the Grenola's won.

Johnnie Shelburne, Dartmouth university's flash at full back, played a whale of a game at Seattle last Saturday, in the first East versus West football contest played during the season. On the opposing team, the University of Washington, were two colored boys, one, Johnnie Prim, playing part of the game and making a creditable showing.

(SEAL) FRED BARKALOW,

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured, while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 1070G Marcellus avenue, Manassas, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

CONSIDERABLE POINT.

"Officer," inquired the testy judge, "what's all that rumpus in the jury-room?"

"Y'r honor, the foreman says they're arguing a valuable point."

"Oh, tell them that they have my approbation, but ask them to be a little more quiet about it."

"Y'r honor," replied the courtroom dignitary on his return, "th' jury wishes to thank you for your approbation, but the point they're arguing is one of penochle for $5 a side."

When Homer Nods.

The Highbrow—So you're a poet? An honorable and ancient art. Even before the days of printing the poets used to read their works aloud in public places.

The Popular Lyric Writer—That's the way it should be now. Then a guy could read the long lines fast and slow up on the short ones and so make 'em come out about even.

The Aid of Science.

Mrs. Faraway—Don't you consider the wireless telegraph the most wonderful invention of the age?

Mr. Thespis, the Theatrical Manager—No'm; the telephone. By havin' one of the characters tell the plot into a receiver we save the salary of a man to play a family servant.

THE OTHER MAN'S GAME
Madam Zizzi: What, you brokel I thought you was makin' all kinds of money at the clairvoyant game.
Professor Zooms: I was, but I lost it all in stocks.

The Paragon.
No man is perfect—though sometimes there's one, in wife's view. The man she could have married if she hadn't married you.

More Satisfactory.

"You say you are having your revenge on the man who treated you so shabbily. What did you do to him?"
"Nothing. But his son has been given a French horn, his daughter is taking singing lessons and his baby has a bad attack of colic."

Mushroom Aristocracy.

"The overall clubs seem to be going out of style."
"Oh, yes. Nobody wears overalls now but the lower classes. The best people belong to the Darn and Patch clubs and wear their old clothes."

BUXTON NOTES.

(Special to The Bystander).

On Tuesday evening Nov. 16, 1920 the members of the Tabernacle Baptist church, assisted by friends of the city, extended their pastor Rev. F. C. Bolling an invitation to be present at the choir rehearsal, which the good hearted fellows responded by attending. Behold upon his arrival at the church, and opening the door to enter, A strange object struck his sight, he was greatly surprised to find Rev. Brown, pastor of the St. John A. M. E. church and Rev. Kimball, pastor of the Mt. Zion Baptist church, and a large audience present, awaiting his arrival. He says well, what does all this mean? This being the pastor's 68th birthday he was presented with many beautiful and useful presents. A program was rendered, after which supper was served and the guest departed for their homes at a late hour, wishing Rev. Bolling many more happy birthdays, leaving him with all smiles.

Fine Art in Winter Millinery

IF THE fleeting millinery styles for the passing seasons left any permanent record of themselves those of the present winter of grace would be remembered for their chic shapes, their soft contours, their rich decorations and for the amount of handwork lavished on them. There has not been a time in the memory of the oldest milliner, when there was more chance for the exercise of her ingenuity and craftsmanship or for the exercise of individual taste on the part of herself and her clientele.

In shapes, the small and medium-sized hats constitute at least three-fourths of all the season's product, and about the same proportion applies to fabric hats as compared to others; that is, hats made by hand of velvet, duvetyne satin and other millinery materials are in for greater demand than any others. It is a milliner's season.

A group of four models, as shown above, embodies the typical, outstanding style—points that have made this a winter of unusually becoming millinery. Where fabrics and needlework flourish combinations of materials follow naturally. This is set forth in the hat at the top of the group, with its top crown and upper brim covered with narrow satin ribbon, its side crown and draped brim edge of velvet and facing of plain satin. Such a brim throws an alluring shadow over the eyes and the right kind of facing can do much to enhance the complexion. A little simple stitchery accounts for the trimming.

In the hat at the left with duvetyne crown and upper brim and facing of paon velvet, the combination of fine featherwork and embroidery makes a beautiful and striking decoration. The brilliant bird is made of feathers and is poised on a little branch that is embroidered in heavy silk floss. A few scattered motifs in needlework are added to the crown. At the right a soft hat of duvetyne forms a background for a brilliant embroidered motif that brings a memory of old Egypt to mind, and below it a dashing round hat has a crown of frosty looking tinsel cloth, silver and white, and a brim of black velvet. Its ornament is a handsome tassel of ostrich feathers suspended from a silver cord. If ever the fine art of the milliner was evidenced, it is in these difficult but artfully simple looking patterns.

IN THE SEA.

"In the sea," said Daddy, "and far away from here where the tropics are where all is warm and where the plants and birds and animals are very different from here, there are floating plant creatures known as Portuguese Men-of-War."

"The reason they've been given this name is because some one who was about to name them decided they looked like old men-of-war vessels, and so they were given the name."

"You'll describe them, won't you, Daddy?" asked Nancy.

"Please do," said Nick.

"Yes," Daddy, continued, "the Portuguese Man-of-War is made up of many little creatures all joined together. Just as though many of us were all fastened together in our villages or in our country places."

"And some of these creatures are very different from each other. The Portuguese Man-of-War is quite large, and when it is like this it is filled by a kind of gas which enters into it and which makes it look even larger than it is."

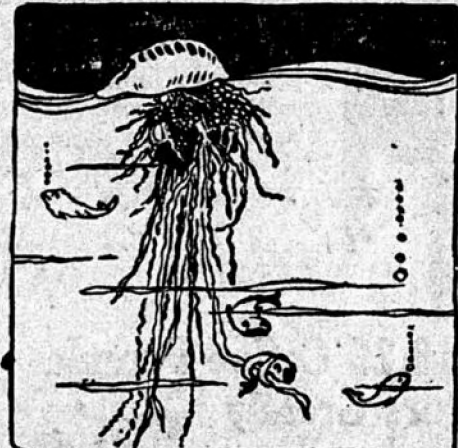

"It is beautifully colored and it floats on top of the water."

"These are the large members of the colony, and the rest of them, or rather a second kind of members of the family, hang from under the side of these—many little creatures which form the largest part of the colony."

"Many of these are small and trumpet-shaped, and they are the ones who do the marketing and get the food for the rest."

"Then there are members of the colony who also hang from under the many members on top, and they are the fingers or the feelers for the community."

"There are some others still who look like bunches of grapes, and they look after the baby creatures who come to form a part of this strange animal-plant."

Like Great Long Ribbons.

to know if they're always together. Don't any of them ever leave the community and go off for a walk or a swim?"

"No," said Daddy, "for they are all joined together. None of them are separate from some part of the whole of the thing."

"It must be rather tiresome for them," said Nick.

"I suppose they would be lonely and homesick any other way though, now if they're so used to it," said Nancy.

"Yes," said Daddy, "and they must enjoy life, for they keep on with their little strange ways, and they are so beautiful that they must even admire themselves."

Women Cling to Long Lines

ANYONE who is a student of the fashions has noted the persistent return each season of dresses that belong either to the "straight-line" or the "long-waisted" class. The goddess of our idolatry appears to have a slender silhouette, and women are not to be lured away from her worship, especially when they are choosing clothes for daytime wear, as street and afternoon frocks.

In the two handsome frocks for afternoon shown in the illustration above, there are presented two models that are interesting to women who like unbroken lines. One of them, at the left of the picture, is especially well suited to the slender or normal figure, but the other is distinctly a piece of good designing for stout women. The dress at the left employs a plain wool fabric and is made with a long-waisted bodice, which supports a long tunic of the material. The tunic is open at the front, revealing a plain under-petticoat of satin, and is handsomely embellished with embroidery and beads. There is no decoration on the bodice, but cuffs and collar of lace make a dainty finish for it.

The other dress is a loosely adjusted princess model, in which an oddly figured brocade is finished at its opening with a long band of moire ribbon. There is a little definition of a long waistline, in scant gathers across the sides and back. The skirt portion is uneven in length and the dress crosses the body from right to left at the waistline and fastens under a rosette of the moire ribbon. What especially distinguishes it is a fringe of monkey fur which follows the edge of the moire band for its entire length and makes a somewhat startling finish for the sleeves.

Lonely.

"I'm the loneliest man in town."

"What's the matter?"

"My wife's away."

"Do you miss her that badly?"

"Oh, it isn't that. I rather looked forward to these days of freedom, but the wives of my friends are all in town and I can't find a man who will give up any of his time to entertain me."

Bold Strategy.

"The next move," remarked Mr. Quickrich, "is to invite the police in to investigate our new scheme."

"Aren't you afraid they'll find out the way the trick is done?"

"We'll have to take a chance on that. In the meantime we need the publicity."

A Thorough Philanthropist.

"You turn constantly from your studies of electricity to the composition of maxims on thrift."

"Naturally," replied Ben Franklin. "Not only do I desire posterity to have the benefit of electric light and power, but I want it to be able to pay the charges for current."

Frank.

"Did you read my speech in the papers?"

"I did not, senator. I'm going to be frank with you. The only time speeches ever get to me is when I'm in a room and can't get away from 'em. To sit down deliberately to read a speech in a paper would never occur to me."

Had His Orders.

"You have been following that lady for some time now."

"Yes."

"We do not allow that in this department store."

"Well, tell it to the lady. She's my wife."

REGISTER THE NEW BABY.

Have you a new baby in the home? If so, let us remind you of an important duty you owe your little one—make sure that his birth is properly recorded. In most states it is the duty of the physician to do this but in many cases the penalty for failing to do it is so slight that it is best for the parent to ask the doctor if he has done it.

Many times a parent feels that he has never had any occasion to regret that birth registration was not known in his day and is inclined to think that is purely a fad. But we cannot be at all sure what may come up in the life of our little ones, nor can we foresee the embarrassment which might come to anyone of them because there was no indisputable record of the exact time of birth.

Every birth should be recorded for the following reasons:

- 1.—To establish identity.
- 2.—To prove nationality.
- 3.—To prove legitimacy.
- 4.—To show when the child has the right to enter school.
- 5.—To show when the child has the right to seek employment under the child labor law.
- 6.—To establish the right of inheritance to property.
- 7.—To establish liability to military duty as well as exemption therefrom.
- 8.—To establish the right to vote.
- 9.—To qualify to hold title to and to duty and sell real estate.
- 10.—To establish the right to hold public office.
- 11.—To prove the age at which the marriage contract may be entered into.
- 12.—To make possible statistical studies of health conditions.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

A delicious dessert which will delight the children or even the grown-ups is:

Stewed Figs, Lemon Jelly and Custard.—Pour boiling water over a pound of figs, and let boil rapidly until tender; add one-fourth of a cupful of sugar and let simmer a few minutes to form a sirup. Set aside to chill. For the jelly soften one-fourth of a two-ounce package of gelatine in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water and dissolve in three-fourths of a cupful of boiling water; add half a cupful of sugar and two-thirds of a cupful of lemon juice. A package of lemon jelly will do away with the above work, if it is at hand. Pour into a dish to make a sheet about three-fourths of an inch thick. When chilled and set, cut in cubes. Set the figs and sirup in individual dishes, arrange the cubes of jelly around the figs and pour a custard over all.

Ribbon Cake.—Cream one scant cupful of butter; add gradually two and one-half cupfuls of flour with four and one-half teaspoonfuls of sugar, and four eggs one after the other without beating; sift four cupfuls of flour with four and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder; add to the first mixture, alternately with one cupful of milk. Bake two-thirds of the mixture in two layer cake pans. Add the following to the rest of the cake mixture: One cupful each of nut meats and raisins, one-half cupful each of currants, citron and cherries (the fruit is minced and the nutmeats broken in bits); add two tablespoonfuls each of molasses and cocoa, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-fourth teaspoonful of cloves. Put the layers together with fruit jelly, cover with boiled frosting and decorate with halves of walnut meats.

How to Cook Pork Chops.—Arrange the chops in a heavy iron frying pan with just water enough in the pan to cover the bottom; steam and cook uncovered until the water is evaporated, then brown, season and serve. The chops will be well done, well seasoned and not dry.

SOME UNUSUAL GOOD THINGS.

Those who like olives and anchovies will enjoy this little relish or savory.

Olives Stuffed With Anchovies.

—Cut the olives spirally using large selected olives, removing the stone. Wipe the oil from fleets of anchovy and press one into each olive. Set them on a glass dish on a bed of cress; serve with bread sticks either before or with the soup.

Spiced Tomato Soup.—Take the juice from a quart of tomatoes, one small can of pimientos, one potato, one onion, three tablespoonfuls of butter, salt and pepper, chopped parsley, cayenne and one whole clove. Chop the onion and parsley and fry in the butter five minutes. Pour over the tomato juice; add potato, chopped fine, and the seasoning. Cook for 30 minutes, adding water if needed.

Popcorn Pudding.—Take two cupfuls of popped corn, finely pounded, three cupfuls of milk, three eggs, slightly beaten, one-half cupful brown sugar, one tablespoonful of butter and three-quarters of a teaspoonful of salt. Scald the milk, pour over the corn and let stand one hour. Add the remaining ingredients, turn into a buttered dish and bake in a slow oven until firm. Serve with cream or maple sirup.

Lemon Cheese Cake.—Line patty pans with puff paste or rich pastry, and fill with the following mixture: One pint of well-drained cottage cheese, mashed very fine, three eggs, well beaten, one tablespoonful of flour, one tablespoonful of butter, the grated rind of a lemon, all well mixed in the cheese; add one and a half cupfuls of thin cream and sweeten to the taste. After filling, dust the top with grated nutmeg and sugar. Bake in a hot oven.

HANDICRAFT FOR BOYS

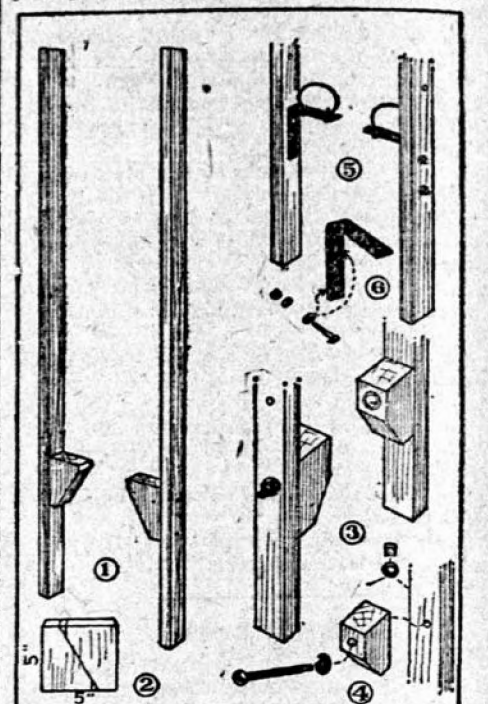

By A. NEELY HALL

(Copyright by A. Neely Hall.)

STILT MAKING.

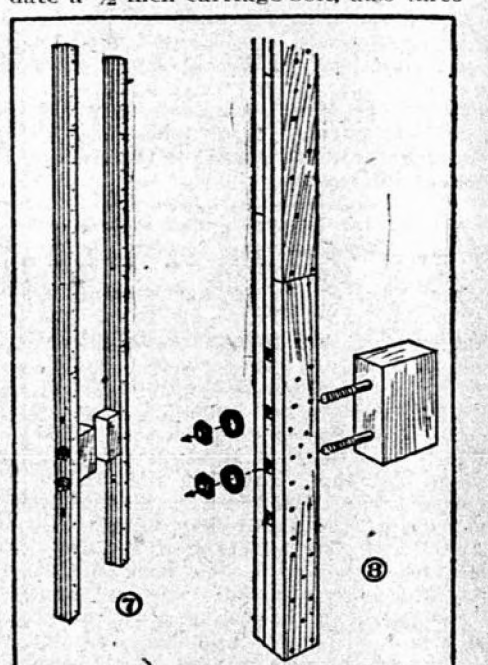

In making stilts, no boy wants to copy the plan of other boys.

In Fig. 1 is shown a pair of stilts of the form which probably most of you already have built. It is only necessary to suggest that for the uprights you procure strips $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thick and

1 1/2 inches wide, known as "furring" strips, and that you mark the step blocks as indicated in Fig. 2.

If you nail the step blocks in position, you cannot adjust them to different heights. Therefore in other illustrations I have shown schemes for stilts with adjustable steps. The pair in Fig. 3 have steps held in position with bolts. Bore a hole through each step block large enough to accommodate a $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch carriage-bolt, also three or four holes through the uprights 3 or 4 inches apart. The holes in the uprights must be opposite, and the best way to get them so is to bore them through both uprights at the same time. Buy a bolt long enough to project about $\frac{1}{2}$ inch.

You can buy iron angle braces with legs 4 inches long at hardware stores and 5-and-10-cent stores, at 5 cents a pair, and these make excellent steps for stilts (Figs. 5 and 6). Buy a pair of stove-bolts of the right gauge to fit the holes in the braces, and of the right length to extend through the braces and stilt uprights. Drill holes through the uprights at the right distance apart for the bolts. Several sets of holes will permit an adjustment of steps to different heights. Make toe-straps, of loops of wire, as shown.

Sometimes it is difficult to get long strips out of which to cut stilt uprights. Laths, however, are usually easy to procure, and by carefully splicing them together so there are three thicknesses of lath, with joints well lapped and the pieces thoroughly nailed, they make substantial uprights. Figure 7 shows a pair of stilts with lath uprights, and Fig. 8 shows how by sawing the lower portion of the center lath into short sections, and placing the sections $\frac{1}{2}$ inch apart, holes can be provided for the step block bolts to run through.

YOUTH MUST BE SERVED.

Camera Man—Well, did you find out the newest of this guy Shakespeare's plays we are to picture next?

Director—Yes. They've decided on "King Lear." But I don't approve of the selection. You see Lear is a big character and very exciting and calls for a great actor, well on in years and classic experience, to properly assimilate it. We have no such actor. King Lear is of the patriarch type, very venerable and very, very old.

Camera Man—Aw, that's all right. We'll fix that. We'll play him as he was when he was a young man.—Film Fun.

Two Points of View.

A pessimist and an optimist were discussing life from their different viewpoints.

"I really believe," said the former, "that I could make a better world myself."

"Well," said the optimist, "that's what we are here for. Now let's get to work and do it."—London Answers.

Highly Colored.

"They say his life is colored by his moods. Is that so?"

"Partly. He is well read and thinks himself the pick of propriety, but he gets green with envy, and when he is blue, has nothing but black looks. You can easily see there is a streak of yellow in him."

A TRIBUTE OF AFFECTION

"They must think a lot of us."

"Why?"

"To invite us out to dinner with the food at the present prices."

Sphinxology.

In silence sits the chiseled sphinx And people wonder what it thinks, Although it has a head of stone Instead of merely one of bone.

Willing to Show How.

Visitor—Are you good at your work? I am very particular about the way my hair is cut."

Village Barber—Well, I'm reckoned fairly decent, but if you like, I'll do one side of your head so that you can see for yourself.—London Answers.

Gave Her Mind Away.

Doctor—Your wife's mind is completely gone.

Hubby—Well, I'm not surprised. She's been giving me a piece of it every day for about two years.—Eastern News.

Complaints.

"I get nothing from morning till night but hot air," sighed the pumping engine.

"Just look at me," retorted the furnace. "No matter where I go, I am always fired."

Sad Future.

Randolph—What's the matter, old man? You look as if you'd been sentenced to hard labor for life.

De Broke—I'm afraid I have been. Miss de Millyuns has just refused me.—London Answers.

Any Excuse.

"I suppose the dry-law enforcement agents will be down on the father of that shrilly crying infant."

"Why so?"

"Because of its indulgence in high bawls."

GREAT EXECUTION

"The violinist's execution was simply marvellous."

"Wasn't it, though? You could see the audience hanging on every note."

Need of Improvement.

"I see that $5,000,000 has been left to raise the musical standards in this country."

"I wonder if a part of it couldn't be applied to my next-door neighbor?"—Judge.

Belligerent Ballade.

He makes my temper bristle, A worse pest I never knew Than the geezer who can't whistle But is always trying to.

Complaining.

"How is your wife?"

"Complaining."

"Complaining? Is she ill?"

"Not at all. Just complaining about the way I act."

Their Diet.

"Pop, do all creatures have their own natural food?"

"Yes, son."

"Then do sea horses and sea cows feed on crab grass?"

One Obstacle.

She—There is only one good reason why a woman should not have a say in the government of the country.

He—And what reason is that?

She—If she's dumb.

Quickly Relieves Constipation

Don't take purgatives for Constipation—they act harshly—they overstrain the delicate membrane and leave the Bowels in a worse condition than before. If you are troubled with Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Dizziness, Biliousness, Nervousness, or loss of Appetite—Don't hesitate—Get a bottle of CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS—take one after each meal and one at bedtime. A few days' treatment will put Stomach, Liver and Bowels in normal condition.

In Other Days. Until a New Jersey man tried to corner the potato crop of his neighborhood the mosquito was considered the most undesirable predatory insect produced in that section of the country.—Washington Star.

The Art of Kissing.

Don't kiss all over, as grasshoppers walk. Don't sit down to it. Stand up. You needn't be anxious to get into a crowd. Two persons are plenty to corner and catch a kiss. Stand firm. It won't hurt you after you're used to it. Don't be in a hurry. Providence will give you strength for the ordeal. Take good aim—the lips meet, the eyes close, the heart opens, heaven itself opens before you, and the art of kissing is learned.—Exchange.

THE ADVERTISING PROBLEMS

All advertisers are confronted with three big PROBLEMS. Briefly they are:

- (1) WHEN shall I advertise?
- (2) Where shall I advertise?
- (3) How shall I advertise?

The BYSTANDER, a paper that reaches thousands of colored people in Des Moines, thousands in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Mississippi, Nebraska and other states, is the mouth-piece through which they speak to YOU.—

(1) Advertise when we get our money or the most of it, that is—about Saturday—let us know that you want our TRADE. Keep advertising in our paper THE BYSTANDER.

(2) Advertise in all the papers but don't forget we will investigate and buy when you advertise in THE BYSTANDER. Why? because, it lets us know you want our DOLLARS and are willing to spend something to get them. We buy good things as well as other people; we will buy from you, if you will advertise in our paper.

(3) First, advertise regularly, attractively and everything that is sellable to anyone, because you can't tell what or when we buy.

Many Candles Made.
Though candles are not so generally used as they were before the days of mineral illuminating oils, gas and electricity, they still constitute an important article of manufacture. The candle is an ancient form of lighting. The word comes from the Latin word "candere," which means to "glow."

What They May Claim.
Pennsylvania claims to contain the Hercules of the nation as well as the Vulcan. New York will no doubt put in a claim as the Midas of the land, Washington as the Jupiter, Boston as the Minerva, and Oskaloosa, Iowa, as the Venus. And Chicago, with ten changes of weather at each performance, will put in its claim as the Mercury.

Attention

Negro Business Men

It was the teamwork of the students, teachers and the co-operation of friends that made Tuskegee possible."

said BOOKER T. WASHINGTON; so it is with great mills, stores and other business enterprises, which are like a great locomotive, if one screw gets misplaced or one cog breaks the locomotive CAN'T go, regardless of how important the business be of those on board, everything must CO-OPERATE first, then go.

one cog broke in a great newspaper press, the great plant with its hundreds of employees had to stop—a dew drop stopping a Niagara of business—until it was repaired; then, the mighty plant with its many parts co-operating went on feeding hungry humanity with news.

THE COLORED RACE will profit economically, educationally, financially, industrially, socially and politically in proportion as they learn to ORGANIZE and CO-OPERATE—every man is a cog or a screw in the mighty wheel of time. Is your COG or screw broken or loose? If so repair and tighten up by JOINING the organization that will foster better co-operation among the Negroes of Des Moines.

YOU are asked to be present at a NEGRO BUSINESS MEN'S MEETING to be held at ST. PAUL A. M. E. Church, Twelfth and Crocker streets.

The B. Y. P. U. had a grand program last Sunday evening. Mrs. Rush, Miss Mary Woods and Mr. J. S. Beverly gave strong addresses on the subject, "Better Americans." Mrs. Mary Woods sang a touching solo. Miss Otis, a graduate of Piney Woods school and a student of Des Moines college gave a wonderful talk for better boys and girls. She is a most refined and cultured girl. We want her to come back.

CORINTHIAN BAPTIST NOTES.

On last Monday, Nov. 22 at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. Crawford, 1362 East Nineteenth street, occurred one of the most unique affairs of the season. It was a reception given by the Corinthian aid in honor of Mrs. J. C. Bothie and daughter, Blanche, who left the city Tuesday for Duluth, Minn., where her husband has accepted a charge. At least thirty-five guests were present. We pray that God's will will rest upon Mr. Bothie and family.

The pastor spoke very effectively at both services Sunday. Sunday afternoon the last rites were paid to Miss Lydia Harris, a young member of Corinthian Baptist church and Sunday school.

The President, Mrs. M. Crawford, desires to meet all the members of the Corinthian Glee club immediately after the services Sunday morning. Please be present as there is business of importance.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warden, the daughter and son-in-law of Mrs. Nora Reynolds-Whitefield, formerly of Omaha, Neb., have moved to the city to make it their home. We are glad to welcome business people like Mr. Warden to our city.

On Dec. 6 there will be one of the greatest feasts of the season at Corinthian Baptist church under the auspices of the Corinthian Herald association. The bill of fare will consist of hot coffee, fried fish, hot cornbread and chitlings.

Sunday, Nov. 28 the Sunday school presented Mr. E. Ross with a beautiful gold ring. Mr. Ross left Tuesday evening for Kansas City, Mo., where he has accepted a position in the Y. M. C. A. Certainly regret the departure of this earnest Christian faithful worker and devoted friend. May God bless all his undertakings and crown his labors with success.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Sunday, Nov. 27 was a big day at the "Y" hut. Those who were present certainly received a rare treat. If you were not there you missed a great opportunity. We listened with intense interest at the instructive lecture given by Dr. J. A. Jefferson on official diseases and their prevention.

Then came the old Y. M. C. A. veteran Mr. E. Ross, who poured out upon us the fullness of his Christian heart and promising his prayers as he leaves for another field. We closed with an instructive talk on the fundamentals of Y. M. C. A. work by Secretary Hutchinson of Buxton, Y. M. C. A.

Sunday, Dec. 5 Atty. S. Joe Brown will speak on "The Law of the Family." He intends to give his hearers the benefit of his knowledge on this issue. Everybody is invited. Meeting begins at 4 p. m. and lasts for one hour.

Five of our boys attended the state older boys conference at delegate. It was an inspiration to them that they never had before.

The religious institute was well attended last Monday night in spite of the bad weather. Only three more chances to hear some of these wonderful lectures.

ST. PAUL A. M. E.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES
The school was addressed on the 28th by Secretary Hutchinson of the Buxton Y. M. C. A. the only Y. M. C. A. in Iowa for colored men and boys. Mr. Hutchinson's remarks were well chosen and timely. Mr. Hutchinson was surprised at the small number in attendance at our school.

He has a fair knowledge of our city, having spent several years in and around Des Moines.

He knew us in the old church on the river, and he also knew some of the disadvantages of that location relative to attendance on the part of most of us, therefore he had every reason to expect a much greater increase in attendance in our present location than we have been able to muster up. This falling off in attendance in Christian institutions, doesn't show the weakness of those institutions. But the passing of the first and great institution (home).

Lesson 10—The growth of the kingdom, Matt. 13:24-35.
