Senator Wagner Pleads Equal Opportunity for All

J. E. SPINGARN AND
JAMES WELDON JOHNSON
STIR LARGE AUDIENCE

New York, Jan. 4.—An enthusiastic audience of 2,000 white and colored people packed St. Mark's M. E. church here today at the annual mass meeting of the N. A. A. C. P., and to hear U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, J. E. Spingarn, newly elected President of the Association; James Weldon Johnson, retiring secretary; and Walter White, acting secretary. Mary White Ovington, chairman of the board, presided.

Senator Wagner, who was the only member of the Senate to speak unequivocally on the Negro's objections to confirmation of John J. Parker, vigorously assailed barriers of discrimination, prejudice and intolerance which deny equal opportunity to Negroes. He visualized intelligent action to obtain security for all, regardless of race, creed or color, from risk of war, unemployment, destitution of the aged, and child labor.

"No one wants his child to be branded at birth as a hewer of wood and a drawer of water," Senator Wagner declared. "Opportunity should be made democratic. Then there is liberty."

New President Speaks
J. E. Spingarn was enthusiastically greeted by the large audience. He pledged himself to continue the devoted service and unwavering loyalty of the late Moorfield Storey, to whom Mr. Spingarn paid a most touching tribute.

Walter White, acting secretary, declared that the present economic and political chaos cause the Negro to be faced with the most critical period in his history, which made organization not only desirable but vitally necessary. Mr. White pointed out, however, that the disordered state of affairs in the world today offered great opportunity to minority groups to strike a blow for their own freedom.

Retiring Secretary Speaks
James Weldon Johnson, retiring secretary of the Association, stirred great enthusiasm in the audience.

"Negroes ought to regard the N. A. A. C. P. not merely as an organization or a movement, but should regard its principles as a religion," Mr. Johnson asserted. "For the spread of the principles for which the Association is fighting, Negroes ought to be animated and inspired with a fervor akin to that of the Crusaders of old or the followers of Mohammed."

It was generally conceded that this meeting was one of the most successful in the history of the Association.

Joffre Defended Negro Troops Against Prejudice

Paris, Jan. 9.—"The death of Marshal Joffre, 'hero of the Marne,' recalls his famous edict during the World war when Americans complained that black troops were being billeted in French homes. Marshal Joffre, in his characteristic military fashion, effectively spiked these complaints by declaring that 'soldiers fighting for the honor of France will be treated as all French soldiers are treated. We have no colored homes here as you have in America—we have only French homes, and every home here is open to soldiers who are willing to sacrifice their lives that our civilization might not perish.'"

Marshal Joffre also proved that he was a real soldier and a true Frenchman when he answered critics of France who were agitating for the removal of black troops from the Rhine district during the French occupation shortly after the war ended.

"They are not black soldiers," said Marshal Joffre. "They are French soldiers, and as long as France has need of them they remain where France decides to place them. You Americans should learn to handle your own problems before you attempt to rule France."

Marshal Joffre died Saturday, Jan. 3, after a long illness.

TRIAL OF MARION LYNCHERS BEGUN—PREJUDICE RAMPANT, N. A. A. C. P. HEARS

New York, Jan. 2.—(By Telegraph) Trial of the lynchers of two colored men in Marion, Ind., has been begun, according to telegraphic report received by the N. A. A. C. P. Walter White, acting secretary of the N. A. A. C. P., went to the scene of the lynching and as a result of his investigation, the N. A. A. C. P. forwarded to Indiana authorities the names of 27 men identified as having taken part in the mob murder.

A dispatch to the N. A. A. C. P. from Marion states that the end of the second day no jury had been obtained and that prejudice was "appalling."

Noted Catholic Editor Attacks Labor Group

New York, Jan. 8.—The American Federation of Labor was accused of race discrimination by the Rev. John La Farge, editor of America, the Catholic weekly, in an address Friday night at a dinner in Town Hall of the American Interracial Seminar, a group recently organized to study racial problems and which conducted a tour of Southern cities in November to observe race relations in colleges, churches, hospitals and business concerns.

Father La Farge declared that the labor federation did not have the leadership "it should have" and "its inherent defect is its discrimination against the Negro—a shifting from principle to expediency." In this attitude he found the federation in a "precarious position" and threatened with failure unless "justice" was accorded the Negro.

NEWARK FIGHT GROWS ON JANITORS WHO ASSAULTED LITTLE GIRLS

New York, Jan. 2.—With the churches of Newark, N. J., contributing funds toward the fight to oust and punish the school janitors who assaulted two eight-year-old colored girls, a united front is being presented by the colored citizens under the leadership of the Interdenominational Ministers and the N. A. A. C. P.

St. Paul Church Holding Special Meetings

The revival at St. Paul's A. M. E. church as announced in the columns of the Bystander is going forward with enthusiasm and zeal. Mrs. Etta Graham of Chicago and Miss Marjorie Casson of Waterloo, together with Mrs. E. Broomfield, Mrs. Sadie B. Jenkins, Mrs. Lizzie Washington and other local talent are proving a wonderfully well chosen gospel team. The pastor, the Rev. William E. Guy, has been quite apt in his selection of religious workers.

MRS. ETTA B. GRAHAM

The evangelistic campaign began Watch Meeting night at which time Mrs. Graham preached her opening sermon. Immediately after the advent of the New Year, the pastor with his congregation celebrated the holy communion. It was a beautiful scene; the church was full of devout worshippers who partook of the Holy Emblems by the light of the cross alone.

MISS MARJORIE CASSON

The week now ending has been very successful one. The Evangelist spoke on Monday night to the women of the church and missionary workers of the

Local NAACP Names 1931 Committees

On last Tuesday afternoon the executive committee of the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People held their initial meeting for 1931 at their headquarters, 215 Watrous Block, at which time the following renewals of memberships were reported:

Attorney Casper Schenk, Atty. Chas. P. Howard, Rev. J. W. Tutt, Mrs. G. E. Himes, H. Lyell Williams and Miss Anna Mae Manuel, the newly appointed deputy in the Polk County Recorder's office.

Attention was also called to the fact that through an oversight the name of Mrs. Agnes Lee Hermansen, Polk County Recorder, had been omitted from the membership roll as published in the Special Christmas Edition of the Bystander and it was suggested this means be taken to rectify this error.

Plans were also begun for the next public meeting of the Branch which will be in the nature of a celebration of the 16th Anniversary of the founding of the Des Moines Branch.

The board also selected the various standing committees to have charge of the various departments of the work for the year, the personnel of which will appear next week.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING— ALEXANDER RETIRES

Philadelphia, Jan. 9.—The 20th annual grand chapter of the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity was held Dec. 27 to 31 and revealed considerable progress since the founding of the organization in 1901. A total of 56 chapters scattered throughout the country was reported with over 3,000 members.

Wednesday evening wound up the business sessions. The new officers elected are: A. Moore Shearin of Durham, N. C., grand polemarch; W. H. J. Beckett of St. Louis, vice grand polemarch; Ernest Wilkins of Chicago, re-elected keeper of records and exchequer; Joseph Birch of Washington, junior vice grand polemarch; X. L. Neal of Atlanta, grand strategist, and H. Page of West Virginia State college, vice grand strategist. The grand board of directors comprise A. A. Alexander of Des Moines, F. D. Clement of West Virginia college and F. D. Smith of Louisville.

church, her subject being "Woman's place in God's Program." On Tuesday night she had as guests the men of the church and preached a special sermon on the subject "What is Man." Wednesday night was church auxiliary night. All of the church clubs were largely represented and Evangelist spoke on "Duty and Beauty of Co-operation." All of the lodge members of all lodges were especially invited for Thursday night to hear the Evangelist's sermon on "The Perfect Law." On Friday night the Sunday School, the Allen Endeavor League and all young people were the guests and listened to an illustrated sermon on "The Five Dangerous Steps of Life."

Sunday afternoon, January 11, at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Graham will bring a special message to the women and girls only. The subject will be "The Three Great Monsters." On Sunday, January 18, at 3 o'clock men and boys only are invited to hear the Evangelist on "What Kind of Clothes to Wear." The meeting is scheduled to close Sunday, January 18, 1931.

Pay Last Tribute to Walter Cohen

COHEN FUNERAL ATTRACTS THOUSANDS

New Orleans, Jan. 8.—(CNS)—Several thousand people attended the funeral services of Walter L. Cohen, comptroller of customs, at the Corpus Christi Church here last Tuesday. Cohen who was 70 years old, died early Monday morning after an illness of several weeks.

Surviving him are his wife, Antonia Manade; Walter L. Cohen Jr., Bernard J. Cohen and Margot Farrell.

At the time of his death Cohen was head of the People's Life Insurance Company, one of the strongest Negro industrial life insurance companies in the country, and he was an active participant in benevolent and fraternal movements among his race.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—President Hoover on Monday sent to the senate the nomination of Charles C. Cantrell, white, of Louisiana, to be comptroller of customs at New Orleans, La., to succeed Walter L. Cohen who died recently while holding the office.

According to his confidants, Mr. Cohen came here shortly before his death after he had received a letter from Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, advising him that the president had under consideration the appointment of a successor to him, and he was giving him this information in order that he might resign rather than be removed.

He made engagements with Vice President Charles Curtis and Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican National committee, and came here to see them. Upon his arrival here he was in such a weakened condition that he was taken to the Whitelaw hotel and put to bed. He was not able to keep his appointments. John T. Risher saw Vice President Curtis for him. Mr. Lucas and David W. Mulvaney, Republican national committeeman for Kansas, visited him at his hotel. When they saw his condition they advised him not to resign, but to go back home and take things easy. Cohen's death followed his return to New Orleans.

New Orleans, Jan. 9.—With the indorsement of the executive committee of the regular Republican state central committee and the backing of the leaders of the Cohen organization, Hon. B. V. Baranco of Baton Rouge, La., has taken the lead in the contest to have the vacancy caused by the death of the late Walter L. Cohen filled by a Race man.

Two of the local aspirants for the comptrollership of customs have withdrawn in favor of Mr. Baranco for the post filled by a Race man under every Republican administration, except one, since the days of President Grant.

Impressive ceremonies marked the induction of New York's first Race municipal court justice, Charles Ellis Toney and James S. Watson, who were swept into office during the recent Democratic landslide.

ST. PAUL N. A. A. C. P. PROCURES BAN ON SHOWING OF "BIRTH OF NATION"

New York, Jan. 2.—The City of St. Paul, at the instance of the N. A. A. C. P., has barred showing of the anti-Negro propaganda film, "The Birth of a Nation," it was announced today.

Following this action the management secured an injunction restraining the mayor and city council from carrying out this plan.

MAYOR MURPHY OF DETROIT,
PRES. NEILSON OF SMITH,
CARL MURPHY OF AFRO,
ADDED TO BOARD OF DIRECTORS

New York, Jan. 6.—Growth in political independence as evidenced by the victory in the fight against Judge Parker's nomination to the U. S. Supreme Court and the defeat of two Senators who supported the nomination, leads the gains in the Negro's struggle for civil emancipation, leads to a summary of the annual report of the N. A. A. C. P., read at the annual business meeting, Monday, January 5th.

At this same meeting, three new members of the Board of Directors who had previously accepted nomination, were to be elected. They are: Mayor Frank Murphy, of the city of Detroit; William Allan Neilson, President of Smith College, one of the foremost institutions for the higher education of women in the United States; and Carl Murphy, editor of the Baltimore Afro-American.

To Launch Legal Campaign
The N. A. A. C. P. also announced that its plans have been matured for a nation-wide attack upon disfranchisement, Jim Crow, unequal apportionment of school funds, and other forms of unconstitutional discrimination and injustice practiced upon the Negro. Nathan R. Margold, former Assistant U. S. Attorney in New York, and Legal Advisor on Indian Affairs to the Institute for Government Research, has been at work preparing the legal campaign.

One of the chief legal victories during the year was the decisive defeat administered in the U. S. District Court of Appeals in Virginia, to the Virginia White Primary law.

The nation-wide legal campaign to be undertaken under the direction of Mr. Margold has enlisted the commendation and the active assistance and advice of white and colored leaders in all sections of the country, the N. A. A. C. P. announced.

Famous Tenor to Appear in Recital at Berchel Theatre March 2

An event of the musical season will be the coming appearance of Roland Hayes in the Berchel Theatre on March 2nd. The visit of the great Negro tenor will be part of his seventh tour of America, a tour which reaffirms his reputation as by far the most popular concert singer of the day.

This tenor, whose exquisite voice the world crowds to hear and praise, was born on a humble back-Georgia farm. While working his way through school he heard a great singing, and consecrated his life from that moment to perfecting his voice that he might make the art of Schubert and Handel his own.

He has carried his voice to a degree of perfection beyond anything known in the world of singing. He has found in the classics a sort of spiritual identification with the composers, and in the Negro spirituals a rich musical treasury of his race to impart to the world.

Each capital of Europe, each furthest corner of America has risen to this tenor as he sings to many thousands year after year.

The unusual sight of a Negro singing with such perfection and restraint was once a novelty. Now it is a familiar fact. What one can never come to take for granted is such singing from any man, of whatever race. The magic of his half-voice as it floats

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 9.—Despite the request of Percy J. Orthwein, heir to the Busch millions and father of 13-year-old Adolphus Busch Orthwein, mysteriously kidnaped New Year's eve and returned 20 hours later, not to press charges against the alleged kidnapers, the police are holding Pearl Abernathy, real estate dealer, and his niece, Freida Robb, under $30,000 bail, charged as being an accessory to the kidnaping.

A five-day search ended at Kansas City Tuesday when Harry T. Brundage, reporter for the St. Louis Star, arrested Charles Y. Abernathy, 28-year-old son of the real estate dealer, who is believed by police to be the actual abductor. According to police, when arrested, the elder Abernathy confessed to having given his son $40 to get away.

INDIANA LYNCHING SUSPECT FREED

Marion, Ind., Jan. 8.—Robert Beshire, 45, was acquitted of charges of taking part in the lynching of two Negro citizens last August 7, by a circuit court jury which deliberated 45 minutes.

Beshire was alleged by the state to have been a member of the mob which stormed the Grant County jail and hanged on the courthouse lawn two men accused of killing a Fairmount, Ind., youth and assaulting his girl companion. He admitted being at the jail, but denied he took part in the lynching.

Five other persons face similar charges. Beshire was the first to be tried.

Justice Toney, veteran Harlem lawyer, ascended formally to the municipal court bench Friday, while Justice Watson, running mate of Mr. Toney in the 10th Municipal court district, was inducted into office Monday morning. A large gathering of the new justices' well-wishers and friends attended the ceremonies in Washington Heights court, 151st St. and Amsterdam Ave.

SPINGARN N. A. A. C. P. PRESIDENT

Dr. Joel E. Spingarn has been named president of the N. A. A. C. P. By joining the association in its early days he has been an officer most of the time and is thoroughly familiar with the work—and evidently is in accord with its program. He is the donor of the Spingarn Medal given to the person of African descent making the most notable achievement each year.

Some opposition developed to his selection but of course this is natural. Everyone cannot be pleased. Those people who are in close touch with the association know what is best and we are willing to trust their judgment.

Then, after all it is well to keep our substantial white friends well tied to the movement. Little can be done without their assistance. Then, too, the race problem is an American problem and as such is a responsibility upon the whites as well as the blacks to help solve it.

Organization

There is a great tendency upon the part of some people to start too many organizations. Today we have enough to cover everything under the sun and yet new ones are springing up daily. Prof. Kelly Miller in a syndicated article last week said that American problems are so big today that small groups could no longer expect to be legislated for or dealt with separately but must take under general legislation or policies formulated for the whole group.

We continually decry separation and segregation and yet seek the first opportunity to form Negro units of this or that organization. True, more immediate advantages are often gained but in the long run the rule works the other way.

Another difficulty arising through too many organizations is the factional differences that often arise between the bodies and the charge of our white friends that we are divided, that the recognition of one group may invite the ill will of another.

Organization is a splendid thing and yet there is serious danger in over organization.

HEALTH TALKS

By Dr. H. H. London

NERVOUSNESS

Nervousness is a condition which is usually more easily told (or experienced) than observed. What is described as "nervousness" sometimes may be observed and interpreted as a state of excessive activity or dissociation from the usual work or occupation. The normal habits and the characteristics of the individual must be taken into consideration before making a decision for or against the symptom in judging of its functional (no structure affected) or serious nature. Try as all individuals must to avoid a state of self-consciousness I doubt if there is anyone who is at all times so wholly oblivious to himself that not a fleeting thought of his own presence passes across his cerebrum. A friend of mine, John Doe by name, when called upon at a certain occasion to speak (liking to but never becoming accustomed to it) began his remarks with these words: "I'm John Doe, and I'm nervous!" Strange as this confession might seem—it did not create a bad impression and everyone understood him better from that time on.

Nervousness, however, as a symptom of real disease is not to be ignored. In diseases of the blood, of the Thyroid Gland, of the Pancreas, and of the nervous system itself is almost always experienced and observed. It is always advisable to look into its cause to prevent if possible injury to any organ or tissue.

My Trip Abroad

By Mrs. S. Joe Brown

Because of my previous promise, I anticipate that you are expecting to hear something of our meeting at Hot Springs; but I am begging your indulgence for tarrying a while in New York City, the second largest city in the world and the largest in America, with a population of some six million souls.

It has the largest Negro population of any community in America, and for many reasons, is conceded to be the most important city in our country.

Upon investigation of the various National Headquarters established there and which we visited, we found in the National Office of the N. A. A. C. P. both white and colored officials well distributed through their spacious rooms; likewise at the offices of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; also in the National Offices of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. we found Negro Executive Secretaries each with their own stenographers; while sojourning in New York, we were the guest of Mrs. Geo. E. Haynes, in the beautiful Dunbar Apartments and just a few doors from Miss Eva D. Bowles, Executive Secretary of Colored work of the Y. W. C. A., and whose office is in the National Y. W. C. A. headquarters, while Mrs. Haynes is a member of the National "Y. W. C. A. Board; and we take it that you are advised that her husband Dr. Geo. E. Haynes is Executive Secretary of the Federal Council, whose office is at their National Headquarters.

We were most pleasantly entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Channing H. Tobias and by Mr. and Mrs. R. B. De Frantz, each of which husbands have their offices at the National Headquarters of the Y. M. C. A.

Among the interesting things to be found in the Dunbar Apartments is the Dunbar National Bank, being operated by Negroes.

We were taken there by Miss Mae Hawes, who served as one of the cashiers in our most interesting institution. Our next pilgrimage was to a substation of their Post Office where we found about five members of our group. We also found that New York City has over three hundred Negro that your name has been dropped from the list for non-payment of your subscription. We shall be glad to put it on again upon receipt of your payment.

The Negro in America

By J. C. Browne

February 12, 1931, will be the 122nd anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. On that evening at 10:00 o'clock p. m. eastern standard time, President Hoover will deliver an address on "Lincoln" over a nationwide radio hook-up. This address will be made from the desk at which Lincoln sat as he guided the "Old Ship of State" sixty-five years ago.

This is a glorious opportunity for the Negroes of America to utter a solemn prayer to God who guides the destiny of nations, that the leaders of the Republican party may be regenerated and baptized in the spirit of Lincoln, that his life and inspiration may permeate their being and instill into them the spirit of fair play and justice to all human beings regardless of color. Negroes are overwhelmingly republican because of gratitude for the blessing of emancipation and the insertion into the Constitution of this government those amendments by which such freedom is made secure; but that spirit of sympathetic justice in which the Republican party was conceived and through which it was cradled by the "Immortal Lincoln" is far removed from the spirit of hate and bigotry so manifest in 1928.

Up to the present, from a review of the nominations for high places in governmental affairs, such men as Hurley, Secretary of War, Parker for the Supreme Court and Doak, Secretary of Labor, whose prejudices to black men are so flagrant do not forebode any change of heart.

The Grand Old Party, in 1932, its 72nd anniversary, will need every race, creed and color, to maintain its control of national affairs. It is up to the leaders to make their stand very clear now. Gratitude makes black men Republicans, boundless hope keeps them Republicans because we have faith in the fundamental principles of Republicanism. There are too many people in Republican cloaks who do not have the Republican principles at heart. Don't leave home because there are rats in the house, drive the rats out.

Therefore, as chairman of the Negro Republican Voter's League of Iowa, I call upon and request every district chairman and chairwoman of the state to arouse their district and tune in Thursday night, February 12, at 11:00 p. m. central standard time and be reeducated to the principles of the Republican party as exemplified in the life of Lincoln.

UNION BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday morning service was a spiritual feast. The manifestation of the spirit made plain that there is a reality in the religion professed. Attendance both morning and evening was unusually large. Let us carry out the year as we have started it.

The Sewing Circle will meet with the president, Mrs. R. M. Anderson, at the home of Mrs. Clara Houston, 1433 Buchanan Street, Friday at 2:30. All members of the Frederick Douglas club are requested to meet with the president, Mrs. H. Brent, Wednesday evening at 8:00, at the church. The choir with Mrs. Fannie Rice as president, has taken on new life. Their number has been increased and much interest is being taken in rehearsals. They meet every Tuesday evening at 8:00. The choir and Pastor have been invited to have charge of the services Thursday evening at the Burn's M. E. church. The Willing Workers will meet Thursday evening at 8:00 with their president Miss Bernice Angles, at the church. All members are urged to be present. The Mission Circle with Mrs. Clara Houston as president, will hold a New Year service Friday evening at the church. All auxiliaries are invited to co-operate. Lunch will be served free. A round table talk on the subject: "A Solid Foundation of Life."

New York, Dec. 26.—That the high homicide rates reported for Negroes as compared with whites, may be giving an entirely erroneous picture of the facts, is stated as a possibility by H. C. Brearley of Clemson College, writing in the December number of "Social Forces," a quarterly magazine published at the University of North Carolina.

Might Be Excused for

Using Strong Language

A few nights ago a spectacular fire left a warehouse a smoking ruin. Five alarms were sounded. Eleven reporters—two working and nine out to enjoy the fire—rushed to the scene. A columnist, who had no business there but loves to run after the engines, got his feet wet and caught cold.

The conflagration was the destructive sequel to a minor blaze that had scorched the establishment a few hours earlier. The first fire was discovered by the owner of the building, who sent in the alarm, watched the fire-fighters apparently extinguish the flames, and then went home.

Before retiring he telephoned a contractor to call around the next morning to see about repairing a few windows, painting the doors, and otherwise touching up the place here and there.

At seven o'clock the next morning the contractor called upon the owner at his home and together they went downtown. Arrived where the building should have been, the contractor looked at the smoking pile of debris and then at the owner. "Just what was it you wanted me to do?" he asked, puzzled.

Because of the owner's fine Sunday-school record, we don't like to tell what he replied.—Pittsburgh Post Gazette.

How Volcanic Islands

Act as Safety Valves

Niuafo is one of the Tonga, or Friendly Islands, situated halfway between Samoa and Fiji in one of the most restless geological areas in the world. Stretching across the South Pacific from Samoa to North Island, New Zealand, there is a huge fissure in the earth's crust. Volcanic islands, such as Niuafo, strewn along this gigantic crack, act as vents for the molten mass within the earth. The Jack-in-the-box island of Faleon has popped up from the ocean's bottom at least twice, only to be washed and blown away each time by sea and wind. Only recently it has made its reappearance again in larger size, acting as one of these famous safety valves for the earth's mighty internal furnace.

To passengers of steamers passing close, the island looks like any other tropic isle, green with vegetation and coconut palms. Clean white houses and thatched native churches set in grassy lawns dot the hillsides. When wind and sea are quiet, landings are made in small open boats which are guided skillfully into a nook partly sheltered by fingers of lava flow. Such landings are dangerous and exciting, because the boats bob up and down with the incoming rollers and scrape against the steep, jagged cliffs.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Obedient Instructions

Farmer Smith had a supply of winter cabbage to plant.

Arriving at the farmyard, he called over one of his laborers.

"George," he said, "I want you to plant these cabbages, but remember to plant them well apart."

"Ay, sir," replied George, and went about his task.

The following day the farmer again went in search of George.

"Well," he said, when he found him, "did you plant those cabbages as I told you?"

"Yes, sir," was George's reply. "I planted some in your garden and some in mine. Is that far enough apart?"—London Answers.

Jewish Emblem

Just as the oak from which came the hazy that made Britain mistress of the seas, became the national tree of England, so did the beautiful lofty palm, which gave oil, timber and dates to its people, become the national tree of what we like to call the Holy Land, Judah. Maccabaeus had it engraved on his coins as a symbol of Jewish victories. Zephanias, the Roman emperor under whom the Jews were finally defeated, engraved it on his coinage as a token that he had vanquished Judah. The palm tree was well understood to represent the Jewish people in ancient days, as, indeed, it does in a sense today.—Montreal Star.

Chivalry in 1867

"When you tread on a lady's train in the street, you are not required to apologize," observed the Providence (R. I.) Journal on July 18, 1867. "You have a right to be in the street. So has the lady; but she has no more right to carry her train with the expectation of having it respected than she has to bring her cradle to Market square and rock her baby in it. You have a right to stay on the sidewalk, and if any foolish woman chooses to lay five yards of satin between your feet and the flags, it is her risk, not yours."—Kansas City Times.

Toledo Moorish City

Toledo is very much today as the Moors left it centuries ago. When you pass through its gates and find your way amid the network of cobble alleys, encountering lumbering ox wagons, it is easy to imagine one's self back in the Middle Ages. It is one of the oldest cities of Europe. Toledo, Ohio, has a population ten times as large as its Spanish gothic father, but has it the lovely tower of Santa Tome, or the medieval bridge of San Martin, or the ancient gate of Puerta del Sol?

Reasons for Scarcity

of Batak Literature

Marco Polo and the emperor of China landed on the Batak coast, to avoid a storm in the Thirteenth century, and had to erect boat houses to avoid being eaten by the natives. For the Bataks were and are cannibals, eating renowned individuals, not for dietetic reasons, but that his strength and wisdom may be incorporated in the banquets. The choice cuts are the fingers, toes and the palms of the hands; and—according to a cannibal chief who confided in an explorer—the popular term among cannibals for human flesh is "long pig," as the general taste is like that of the pig.

This tendency on the part of the Bataks is probably the reason why there are not usually furnished with Batak literature, because very few agents could be induced to look for rare works within reach of people with such ideas. Indeed, the Cleveland public library is probably the only library in the world to possess a pustaka.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

in Temp' of Valhalla

More than a century has passed since King Ludwig I of Bavaria laid the cornerstone of Valhalla. This white-marble temple in the style of the Parthenon stands on a wooded hill above the Danube near Regensburg. King Ludwig conceived the idea of a memorial temple to great Germans in 1807, during the Napoleonic occupation of the country, but not until 23 years later was the work begun.

The monarch himself chose the site, and also decreed that the temple should be named Valhalla, after the name of the old Germanic abode of fallen heroes. More than a hundred busts and memorial tablets in the main hall of the temple commemorate famous men and women in Germany's history, beginning with the time of the battle of the Teutoburg forest, which broke Rome's domination in Europe.

"Naturopathy"?

The term "naturopathy" isn't to be found in dictionaries, so the District of Columbia commission on licensure to practice the healing arts made up its own definition. It naturally took quite a bit of study, and in Washington the practice must be confined within the definition. Here is the commission's official definition: "Naturopathy is the practice of the healing art is the use of such physical force as air, light, water, vibration, heat, electricity, hydrotherapy, psychotherapy, dietetics, or massage, but shall not include palpating, analyzing and adjusting the articulations of the spinal column, the administration of drugs and medicine, surgery or the application of X-rays or radium."—Pathfinder Magazine.

That Mouse Ear Theory

Long before phenology became a science, farmers discovered the advancement of the native vegetation in the spring furnished reliable guides to the best time for sowing and planting crops. One old-fashioned rule, probably derived from the Indians, was that even should be planted when the leaf of the white oak was "the size of a mouse's ear." Several traditional rules of this kind are current among farmers, and one of the tasks of the phenologists is to check them up on the basis of actual statistics.

Mirror Superstition

Lillian Eichler, says in her book, "Customs of Mankind": "Since very early times the mirror has been used in divination, in attempts to read the future or past. An early belief was that one saw the will of the gods in a mirror. To break one accidentally, therefore, was interpreted as an effort of the gods to prevent a person from seeing into the future. This was construed as a warning that the future held unpleasant things. Among highly superstitious people the breaking of a mirror came to be looked upon as a death omen." Somewhat this superstitious belief has prevailed and still exists, even among educated people."

Valuable Invention

The autogiro was invented by Juan Cervera. In the autogiro there is a fuselage 15 feet long and an air-cooled Genet major engine of 100 horse-power. Two small wings have bent-up tips to increase the lateral stability while in the air, and the "windmill" has four blades which are set in motion by air thrown up to the horizontal propeller by a deflector, maintained about the horizontal stabilizer, placed at the end of the fuselage. The power thus developed gives a rotation of 130 r. p. m. to the vine, a speed which must be maintained before the plane takes off.

Toledo Moorish City

Toledo is very much today as the Moors left it centuries ago. When you pass through its gates and find your way amid the network of cobble alleys, encountering lumbering ox wagons, it is easy to imagine one's self back in the Middle Ages. It is one of the oldest cities of Europe. Toledo, Ohio, has a population ten times as large as its Spanish gothic father, but has it the lovely tower of Santa Tome, or the medieval bridge of San Martin, or the ancient gate of Puerta del Sol?

marized by the N. A. A. C. P., points out that a high homicide rate occurs where Negroes are not present in large numbers, and that in the all-Negro town of Mound Bayou, Mississippi, there has been no murder in more than twenty years. Also, St. Helena Island, off the coast of Carolina, inhabited almost exclusively by Negroes, "has also been remarkably free from crimes of violence."

New York, Dec. 31.—In the name of the Negro race as well as his own, Col. Hubert Julian, late of his majesty's air force, Abyssinia, Ethiopia, has filed suit against the New York American, Inc., publishers of the New York American, a Hearst daily newspaper for $500,000 for libelous and false statements, according to a statement from Colonel Julian's attorneys Monday morning at their offices on the thirty-fifth floor at 10 E. 40th Street. Colonel Julian is represented by one of the largest law firms in New York.

The suit, which was filed in Supreme Court of the State of New York, the summons being dated Dec. 1, takes exception to a story published in the New York American on Nov. 1, in which Colonel Julian was referred to as having smashed the only airplane in Abyssinia, that he ate too much and was flung into jail, and that he was exiled from the country. A copy of the story is attached to the bill of particulars and marked "Exhibit A."

New York, Dec. 26.—An apology by a police traffic officer for abusive and insulting language to five members of the cast of "Green Pastures" was made before Inspector Lobdell today in the presence of William T. Andrews, Special Legal Assistant of the N. A. A. C. P. and of the complaining persons.

Mrs. Inez Richardson Wilson, who plays the part of "Eve," D. K. Williams, a member of the "Green Pastures" choir and three other members of the cast, reported to the N. A. A. C. P. that on the night of December 11, as they were preparing to take a taxi cab to go home after the performance, a traffic officer ordered the taxicab driver to move on as they were entering the car. Mrs. Wilson insisted upon her right to enter the taxicab in safety, whereupon the police officer began abusing her and others present, using vile and obscene language.

LUNDY DECLARES $55,000.00 WORTH KEEPING IN IOWA

Albia, Iowa, (Special) Jan. 2.—H. W. Lundy, Secretary of the Iowa Coal Institute, Albia, Iowa, in a recent statement, said "Iowa has almost inexhaustible stores of coal stored in her broad bosom of 55,000 square miles, enough to last for over 4,000 years. Yet in the year 1929 over $55,000,000 was paid out for foreign coals, the most of this money never to be returned to Iowa. Yet according to the Iowa Geological Survey, on a test made from 36 representative mines in Iowa, it was found that as compared to 38 tests made on mines in Illinois, there was only a differential of 3% in heat units. The additional price asked for foreign coals is not worth the difference. In fact, in many instances foreign coals are inferior to Iowa Coal," he declared.

Christopherson of this district has agreed to investigate the farm relief if any which the Negro farmer has received since the Federal Farm Board has been in operation. Representative Christopherson informed W. F. Reden representing the N. A. A. C. P., that he would be glad to receive from every section of the South, any information tending to show what relief had been extended or whether Negro farmers had been granted any assistance as outlined in the farmer act. The congressman's address is Hon. C. A. Christopherson, M. C., Washington, D. C.

Watches in Havana Set

When Old Gun Is Fired
Among the world's odd timepieces is that by which Havana sets its clocks and watches. Never has it lost a minute, run down or chimed the wrong hour. Nor has its face necessitated the periodic washing that all clocks seem to need.

In fact it really isn't a clock at all, but a battery of 21 old Spanish guns, mounted on the parapet of Havana's fortress overlooking Havana harbor, one of which is fired nightly at nine o'clock, a custom that has prevailed for nearly four centuries.

Though Havana may bustle with activity throughout the day, hearing a thousand noises and sounds, it listens intently at nine o'clock for the rumble of one of the guns. The electric timepiece in the old fortress is controlled by the adjacent Observatorio Nacional. Each night a few seconds before nine o'clock a huge sound the approach of the hour, the gun is rammed and then fired on the dot.

Years ago, before Cuba won its independence, the Spanish fired the gun twice daily—at 12 o'clock noon and at nine, when the gates of the old city of Havana were closed for the night. However, after Cuba became its own master, it was felt needless—and a trifle expensive—to fire the gun at noon, when the city's natural sounds drowned the boom of the gun. So the noon shot was discontinued, effecting a saving of seven dollars a day at the time.

Beds in Closets Once

Matter of Necessity
This hygienically minded age which scoffs so readily at the European notion that fresh air at night is unhealthy may be chagrined to realize that the open beds on which we sleep nowadays are a natural evolution of the beds with doors which can still be found in peasant quarters in Europe, says the New York Sun.

The last vestige of the old notion of sleeping in a closet was the four-poster bed which, to antique collectors, is a very desirable object.

It was from sheer necessity that people used to sleep in closets. Without central heating it was the only way to keep warm at night, but as houses were better built the closet doors changed to heavy curtains. The next development was leaving off the back and sides and substituting four posts with a canopy from which curtains hung.

Monks in Old Home
The old abbey of Saint-Vandrelle, near Rouen, is inhabited again by the Benedictine monks, who used to live in it before the days of the expulsion of religious orders from France. The homecoming of the holy men must have frightened away a good many profane spirits, as the abbey belonged for several years to the Belgian writer, Maurice Maeterlinck, who, with his former wife, the actress Georgette Leblanc, gave there great artistic parties, including productions of famous plays. The old cloisters contributed a beautiful scenery, and "Machbeth" found there an unrivaled setting. Then Maurice Maeterlinck took to other pleasures and other cloisters, and the abbey of Saint-Vandrelle was deserted. Now the monks sanctify it anew.—Exchange.

Beauty Now a Science
The invention of a device to measure beauty is claimed by Jose V. Soriano, student in the University of the Philippines.

The machine consists of a circle divided into more than 20 parts and angles in which the beauty of the face one can be mathematically determined for purposes of comparison.

The girl is viewed from different angles and her score is the sum total of the grades taken from the various angles.

The highest grade that can be made is 2,000 points and the lowest 400 points.

Yellowstone in 1867
"An exploring party, which has been to the headwaters of the Yellowstone river, has just returned and reports seeing one of the greatest wonders of the world," said an article in the Montana Post on September 14, 1867. "For eight days they traveled through a volcanic country, emitting blue flame and living streams of molten brimstone. The hollow ground resounded beneath their feet as they traveled, and every movement seemed to break through. Not a living thing was seen in the vicinity. The explorers gave it the significant appellation of Hell."

Close Acquaintance
Mrs. S. had come down to her precinct voting place to vote. She noticed another woman also waiting. "I've always voted a straight ticket before," Mrs. S. told the woman, "but this year I don't think I will, because I don't think much of Mr. — of that party. Do you know much about him?"

"Well, rather," replied the woman. "You see, I'm married to him!"

Effective Accident Prevention
It used to be said of skydivers that they saved themselves at the cost of one human life per floor. Serious promotion of accident prevention has reduced these casualties until it is comparatively rare for high-buildings to take the toll of a few lives.

Hard to Grasp Facts of the Stellar System

At first the brain reels a little in the attempt to grasp the facts of the stellar system, even explained with the lucidity and exactness of which Sir James Jeans is a master. From the vast extensions of the sky he carries us into the utmost recesses of the atom, where the electron whirls around its perpetual circuit several thousand million times every second. These numbers, says the London Spectator, are but dimly grasped, and it is simpler to say that the electron travels as far in a second as our latest seaplane travels in an hour. Sir James Jeans has a happy fertility in such comparisons, and forcibly strikes the imagination when he tells us that if the cyphon atom were magnified to the size of Waterloo station, its electrons would be represented by six swarms flying round in the vast vacuity. All the rest is emptiness; and so in the celestial spaces it is immense odds against any given spot being occupied. "We live in a gossamer universe; pattern, plan and design are there in abundance, but solid substance is rare."

One of Life's Tragedies

They sat gazing into each other's eyes. At last he slipped from the sofa and is kneeling at her feet, gave utterance to the sweeping thoughts that were swelling up his mind. "Darling," he said, "sometimes I think how lucky I was to be born in the same century as you, to have met you. It seems as if Fate had intended us for each other since the beginning of time, and that at last the great design has been completed in our love. It has been Fate, my dearest, Fate. "Aye," she replied, a little wistfully, "it was fate all right. Your fate. If I hadna tripped over your fate jumpin' on the bus..." And they pondered over the tragedy of might have been.—London Tit-Bits.

Paper Barometer

Henley's Twentieth Century Book of Recipes publishes the following method of making a paper barometer: Separate white blotting paper with the following liquid and then hang up to dry: Cobalt chloride, 1 ounce; sodium chloride, 1/4 ounce; calcium chloride, 75 grains; acetic acid, 1/4 ounce; water 8 ounces.

The amount of moisture in the air is roughly indicated by the changing color of the paper, rose red indicating rain; pale red, very moist; bluish red, moist; lavender blue, nearly dry; blue, very dry.

Unfortunate Early Savant

Henry, Marquis of Villena, a Castilian savant in the reign of John II, studied astronomy so diligently that he lost all run of his worldly affairs and caused a wit of his day to comment sarcastically: "He knew much of heaven and nothing of earth." His blind neglect of his financial concerns cost him all his possessions and reduced him to extreme penury in his last years. He was suspected of necromancy, and at his death in 1534 the king's ecclesiastical agent threw more than a hundred of his precious books into the flames.—Detroit News.

Concerning the Law

The true view is to submit, is that the law is what the judges declare; that statutes, precedents, the opinions of learned experts, customs, and morality are the sources of the law; that back of everything lie the opinions of the ruling spirits of the community; who have the power to close any of these sources; but that as long as they do not interfere, the judges, in establishing law, have recourse to these sources.—John Chipman Gray.

D. Bee Know Beeskeeper

One often hears the statement that bees know their master. This is not true. During the work season a bee lives for only about six weeks, two of which are spent in the hive. It is hardly likely that a beeskeeper would examine a hive frequently enough to know, as such short-lived creature even if it had the ability to distinguish between different human beings.

DR. MOTON IMPROVING

Tuskegee Institute, Ala., Dec. 20.—Dr. R. R. Moton, Principal of Tuskegee Institute, who recently underwent an operation at Mayo Brothers Hospital, Rochester, Minn., is showing a marked improvement according to telegrams received almost daily by Dr. R. R. Moton, Vice President. Dr. Moton entered the hospital about two weeks ago and at first it was hoped that he would be released in time to be home before the holidays. The latest decision is that it would be better that Dr. Moton remain at the hospital for a week or so longer to give him the advantage of a much needed rest. Mrs. Moton left here about ten days ago and was present with Dr. Moton at the time of the operation.

Sophisticated Boyhood

It may be the age in which we are living that is responsible. You can't tell. But in the light of observation the sophistication of the nine-year-old becomes an actuality. A window display of a tire house. Toy automobiles scooting around on an amazing speed. Crowd composed almost entirely of adults peering with oblique amusement. Two arches approach from the background. One of them elbows his way to the front. The other is not so successful. "What is it?" yells the one from the back. "Aw, just a tire advertisement," says the other with disgust.

Diseases of Goldfish

Fungus diseases often attack the goldfish, sometimes so severely that there is nothing to do but make a fresh start. One remedy for the disease is a salt bath, using a heaping teaspoonful of salt to two quarts of water. The patient should be left for about a week in this solution, which is renewed daily. If no noticeable improvement is shown in four days, increase strength of solution to about double, leaving the fish in this for two days. Then reduce the solution to its original proportions, after which the fish may be returned to the aquarium.

The Bible at Mary Ant's house did not have pictures or maps. One day the family was visiting some friends. When Mary Anne picked up their Bible and found a map of Palestine in it she took it to her father, exclaiming: "Look, daddy, there's a road map in this Bible."

Georgia Leads Lynching States with 7 Victims of Mobs

New York, Dec. 28.—There have been 25 recorded and authenticated lynchings in 1930, as against 12 during 1929, according to a summary for the year issued today from the offices of the N. A. A. C. P.

Of the victims 24 were Negroes and one a white man.

Georgia heads the list of lynching states for the year with 7 mob victims. Alabama and Texas had four each, Mississippi 3, Indiana and South Carolina 2 each and Florida, North Carolina and Oklahoma had one each.

Petty Excuses Advanced

The offenses which brought about the lynchings include not stopping an automobile when ordered, being active in politics, testifying against a white man in court, quarreling with a white man, murder, assault and attempted assault, robbery and, in one case, offense unknown.

One of the mob victims, George Hughes, was burned alive in the jail at Sherman, Texas, and the body of George Johnson was publicly burned at Honey Grove, also in Texas.

In a statement on the increase in lynchings, made by Walter White, Acting Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P., increasing repudiation by white women of the south, of lynching as a

Social Activities Quiet Following Many Holiday Parties

After such a hectic and exciting Yuletide conglomeration of parties, dinners, dances, and teas, our social calendar, which has been stuffed to the bursting point, can afford to go on a diet. DEDICATED TO BILL WALKER

By Mrs. J. M. Shackelford
Written by Alta Davis

ALL HAIL TO HIM, OUR HONORED ONE

Whom we can say, his work well done. Striving here with the races so bold Half of his works have not been told. Will God send us another man Who will so eagerly take Bill Walker's stand? Will God send another so honest, so true With a conscience that will make him want to do?

Oh! We must have another man Who will meet Des Moines' great demand.

As I looked at his flowers as I sadly passed by, Knowing that they must wither and die.

This thought came into my mind so bold, "Half of his works have never been told."

He helped whomever was in distress, God was the cause, he could not rest. Is there another who can stand the test?

Like Bill Walker who is now at rest?

Spider Has Well Been Called Natural Marvel

It is agreed by scientists that the spider is supreme in cunning, ruthless ferocity, inventiveness and courage. Careful study of various kinds of spiders has shown an intelligence that leaves mankind amazed, and their engineering skill and inventive ability is far greater than that of the average human.

A silken thread spun by a spider is often as thin as thirty-two millionths of an inch in diameter. If it were enlarged two thousand times it would be as big as an ordinary horseshair. Human hair enlarged the same number of times is six and a half inches in diameter. With this transparent web of fine spiders are able to bind animals several thousand times bigger than themselves, for they attack tadpoles, frogs, lizards and bats.

A small ringed snake, nine inches long, was found trapped by a spider. The spider, its body hardly bigger than a good-sized pea, had spun a web in the form of an inverted cone, from the top of which hung a silken cable. The snake was suspended by this cable still alive. Its mouth muzzled with multiple strands of web and its tail tied by silken cord—London Tit Bits.

Something Lost When "Family Dinners" Went

This country should revive the fine old custom of having family dinners, when the extension table was pulled out to its limit, relatives or neighbors invited, and a dinner fit for a king served. An appeal for a revival of the art of eating was made at recent convention of grocers in New York.

The family dinner social custom flourished in the pioneer days. In the modern day of rush and hurry it has lost out. It is too easy to telephone the restaurant and order a dinner for a certain hour.

Most people can recall family dinners where joy reigned and sweet domestic peace was all about. They helped make the home the most popular place known to members of the family. Family helped build up family life and agreeable understanding. The family dinner has a place all its own and it might be revived with good results.—Ohio State Journal.

The foundation aims to carry on civic and educational purposes, thereby establishing and maintaining a living memorial to Harvey Humphrey Baker, first justice of the Boston Juvenile court.

Curious Cockpit Country

The "cockpit" country is known only to those who have taken a West Indies cruise and not all of those. It means a trip to Jamaica and a journey when there to Balacava and the glades of the Black river, Jamaica's longest navigable stream, famous for its dyed woods and alligators. Between Appleton and Breadnut valley you will see a number of lovely waterfalls and at Ipswich, about 90 miles from Kingston, the Cockpit country begins, a land of conical limestone hills, banana-plantation glades. It is a region never fully explored and the Maroons had their fastnesses here in the days of runaway negro adventures.

Early "Dictionaries"

Before there was a dictionary, people literally "did without." Over 2,500 years ago the Assyrians had one of their languages pressed in cuneiform characters on clay tablets. One authority says: "The Aramians, the Greeks and the Romans, too, compiled dictionaries; they did not make any attempt at giving all the words of a language, but contented themselves with listing rare or difficult words." Lexicons were a development of the Middle Ages. The first English dictionary which aimed at completeness was that of Nathaniel Bailey, published in 1721 and called the "Universal Etymological English Dictionary."

The Old Mohawk Church

The old Mohawk church, the oldest Protestant church in Ontario, is on the Six Nations' reserve near Brantford, Ontario. The grave of Chief Joseph Brant is alongside its walls, and the church is proud of the silver communion service and Bible presented by Queen Anne. The service is inscribed: "The gift of Her Majesty Anne, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland, and Her Plantations in North America, Queen, to Her Indian Chapel of the Mohawks, 1712." The church is a popular mecca for tourists.

Salt and Sugar

A young woman entered an east end drug store and bought some supposed salted peanuts.
"There's no salt in these peanuts," she protested.
"Well, we don't salt them much—salt hardens your arteries."
"Oh! is that so? Try eating a little sugar sometime and see if it won't soften your heart!"
Here ended the conversation fit to print!—Indianapolis News.
