palace and the Buffalo night club and, became known to the music world as the hottest band in the middle west.

This top notch aggregation which has been featured in the choice spots of America's dance circuits, will make its first trip to Iowa's capital city since 1925. Benenie Moten, superlative piano artist, will bring the same company that has played on an extensive eastern tour this season.

Famed for their nightly appearance over radio station WDAF, at Kansas City for several years, Moten and his band remained at the Trianon dance

Bystander Announces Free Cooking School For Second Week In June

The Bystander has scheduled a cooking school and homemaker's institute for June 15, 16 and 17. The Billiken hall has been engaged for the affair and this newspaper wants to assure its readers that a worthwhile program for each of the three days has been arranged.

First, of course, to make an interesting and instructive school it is necessary to obtain the best instructor and lecturer on home economics that is available. Laura May Kennedy, widely known in this section of the country and in the East as a lecturer on home economics and as a demonstrator of household equipment and kitchen aids, will conduct the school.

Laura May Kennedy has full knowledge of every phase of cooking, having studied home economics and domestic science for a number of years. She is constantly experimenting with foods and with kitchen appliances and promises to bring to Des Moines some brand new recipes, some new shortcuts in housework and some new ideas for parties, luncheons and the like.

The Bystander is extremely fortunate in obtaining Miss Kennedy's services and the fine cooperation already offered by manufacturers of equipment and manufacturers of food products. Women of this city will have an opportunity in the 3 days of the school not only to brush up on the latest in the culinary art, but also to learn more about modern housekeeping methods. Mrs. Kennedy also will discuss clothing, beauty aids in the home, dieting and various auxiliary subjects, all of which she contends are equally important with cooking, washing dishes and keeping the house immaculate.

Readers of this newspaper should not get the idea that frills and frothy recipes are to occupy Miss Kennedy's time in the three sessions of the school. Her lectures will be both profitable and practical for those who attend. She will merely give the women of this community the benefit of her experience and her constant experimentation with food products and manufactured appliances for home. It is not for her intention, nor is it the intention of this newspaper, to increase the household budget.

Alabama Mob Plots To Lynch Defense Attorney

DECATUR, ALA.—Dramatically appearing as a surprise defense witness, Ruby Bates of Huntsville, Ala., Thursday evening repudiated her charges against the nine boys in the Scottsboro assault case. The girl who has been missing since February 17, said that she came from New York and was sent to testify in the trial by Dr. Harry Fosdick, pastor of Riverside Baptist church there.

"Taking the stand, she described the intimacies testified to by Lester Carter of Knoxville, Tenn., who was on the stand Thursday morning in a three hour recital of a clandestine meeting with the Bates girl, Jack Tilley and Victoria Price. Carter also described a visit to Albany, N. Y., to see Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt about the case.

National guardsmen were placed on duty Thursday night at the apartment hotel of Atty. S. J. Leibowitz, chief counsel for the defense, as reports were received that a crowd had formed at Huntsville, Ala., to come here.

SCOTTSBORO CASE TO GO TO THE JURY THIS WEEK

By Everett Wadsworth
The state rests. These important words uttered with dramatic suddenness by Attorney General Thomas E. Knight, Jr., of Alabama, Monday afternoon, brought a surprising finish to southern "justice" sought to convict 19-year-old Haywood Patterson, one of the nine Scottsboro boys, on charges of criminal assault upon three married Victoria Price in March, 1931, on a freight train between Stevenson and Paint Rock. The Morgan county courthouse with Judge James E. Horton, presiding, will soon be just a memory as the noted Scottsboro case draws rapidly to a exciting close, as the jury is expected to get it this week.

Attorney General Knight is extending every effort to send the boys to the electric chair on charges of rape, as the first trial at Scottsboro found them guilty and sentenced them to die. In the last November term the United States Supreme court decided that the verdict was unfair and demanded a new trial.

Negroes Excluded from Jury
The four day battle of last week began when defense attorney, Leibowitz, presented a motion to quash the indictments against Patterson on grounds that Negroes are excluded from jury service. Scores of noted witnesses testified that the Negroes of Decatur and Scottsboro were told that they weren't qualified to serve on the jury. Judge Horton admitted that he had made prima facie case, but he denied the petition Friday.

Miniature Train For Defense
Two moves to be made by the defense in proving that the nine Scottsboro Negro boys are absolutely innocent of the charges against them, and that these charges were framed, were revealed last week by Atty. Leibowitz. An important exhibit in the case, it was revealed, will be a miniature train, a replica of the now famous freight from which the nine boys and two girls were taken by a sheriff's posse in April, 1931. Using this miniature, the defense will prove that it was impossible for any such attack as is charged by the state to be made, and that the movements of the boys over the train as described by prosecution witnesses were impossible.

It will be proved that this replica also, that the testimony of witnesses at the first trial, who claimed they saw the "attack" from such various points as haystacks and lamp-roofs along the right-of-way, must be false, since it was impossible for them to view portions of the train they claim they looked into.

Medical Evidence
Another important move by the defense will be the introduction of medical evidence which will prove the impossibility of the stories told by the two girls. Victoria Price and Ruby Bates, at the original trial, about the "attack" which first existed solely in the Lynch minds of the Alabama authorities, and never existed in reality.

Victoria Price's Testimony Weak
Monday at the crowded courtroom of farmers, backwoodsmen, townpeople and national guard with drawn bayonets, flanked, Victoria Price claimed to recognize Patterson as one of the boys who attacked her on the train. In her story she claimed that Patterson held a pistol or a knife on her as the other boys attacked her.

During the cross-questioning by Atty. Leibowitz, Victoria Price weakened as her testimony began to lose ground. The backwoods woman refused to answer several questions and changed color often as Leibowitz cited her well known record as a flamed woman of the streets.

Machine Guns Guard Trial
Milliamen guarded the courthouse with machine guns as the defense attorney conferred with his clients in the jail, he styles as "unfit for a pig to enter." Rumblings of lynchings were heard from the milling mob of thousands of Southerners who expect a "Roman holiday" as the boys will "get what is coming to them."

Tru Influence Press
Efforts to influence Negro public opinion that the Scottsboro boys faced no danger and that they would get a fair trial were personally made by Judge Horton, according to L. L. D. news releases. At the same time Judge Horton arranged with the Decatur Ministerial Union, composed of colored preachers, to use their personal influence to achieve these aims. It is said.

These sensational charges were made to the International Labor Defense correspondent by William N. Jones of the Baltimore Afro-American and P. Bernard Young, Jr., of the Norfolk Journal and Guide, who are stationed at a Jim Crow press box in the far corner of the courtroom.

MORTIMER HARRIS IS SENTENCED TO JAIL
Washington, D. C., April 7.—Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat in the District supreme court last Thursday sentenced Mortimer M. Harris, well known real estate operator and lawyer, to 18 months in the penitentiary for embezzlement. Terry W. Howard of the firm of Howard & Hayes, representing Harris, noted an appeal and asked that his client be admitted to bail. Justice Wheat refused.

Imposes Sentence
Mr. Howard had previously said the case was referred to the probation officer. When Justice Wheat declined this request Mr. Howard asked for either a suspended sentence or probation for Harris. Justice Wheat then imposed the sentence.

Age and Weight

Many authorities agree that after a person passes the age of thirty he should weigh from 10 to 20 per cent less than the weight given on scales as average. They explain that after that age a person has ceased to grow and does not need extra weight for building. It is, therefore, deemed unnecessary to tax the heart with pumping blood through tissues which are not actually needed.

Brick Proves Durability

A chimney of brick 126 feet in height stands like a sentinel over the abandoned mining town of Belmont, near Tonopah, Nev. This chimney erected in the boom days of the town showed the 'spirit of the men who sought better living conditions in these communities that 'sprang up' over night. Brick was hauled from Sacramento, a distance of more than 500 miles, by means of ox teams. Withstanding the attacks of weather for 55 years, this chimney is in as good condition now as it was when erected by the gold-mad first inhabitants of the town. It gives mute testimony to the durability of common brick.

Didn't Know Him

Margie, aged five, was surprised when, after her mother read her a story from a humor column, she told the little girl the story was about herself. The story told briefly of Margie's interest in birthdays and how on February 22, when her older brother told her that it was George Washington's birthday, Margie had asked excitedly:
"What did he get?" And her mother had insisted that she was the little girl that made the remark. Margie

Time to Be Cautious

The commonly accepted explanation of the saying, "Beware of Greeks bearing gifts," is to be cautious in trusting persons who introduce their proposals or requests with gifts. The origin of the saying is a matter of dispute, but it is traced by some authorities to Virgil's statement, Aeneid, II 40, "I fear the Greeks, even when they bring gifts." Presumably this referred to the wooden horse stratagem at the siege of Troy.

Long and Short of It

The late Mrs. Mary Emery of Cincinnati, whose $5,000,000 art gallery was bequeathed to the Cincinnati Art museum, was a generous patron of painters, poets, sculptors and musicians.
Once, at a Cincinnati tea, a clergyman praised Mrs. Emery for the pension she had bestowed on an aged novelist.
"Oh, well," she said in answer, "art is long, but artists are always short."

his experiments in Denmark to determine an adequate ration for children and adults. He showed pictures of adults in a perfect state of health after living for a year on nothing but potatoes and vegetable margarine.
"If you want to find out what rats can live on best, you should experiment with rats," he said. "If you want to find out what human beings can live on best, you should experiment with human beings."

Sane Diet Vs. Vitamines

Chicago.—Well-balanced selection of foods is a surer means of supplying the body with health-giving vitamins than reliance on special foods supposed to contain these valuable properties, dietitians now assert. Our grandfathers never heard of vitamins, yet they were as sturdy physical specimens as the present generation. They ate foods which experience taught them were wholesome and nutritious.
Countless ordinary foods contain vit-amines which promote the growth of young children, the maintenance of health, and resistance to disease.
These include green vegetables, tomatoes, egg yolk, liver, kidneys, and other glandular organs, vegetable oils, butterfat, carrots, peas, beans, spin-ach, fresh fruits, milk, nuts, potatoes, and legumes. Margarine, because it is largely made up of finest animal or vegetable oils and milk, is a valuable source of vitamins. Sane attention to diet, it is pointed out, will secure for the average person more than enough of his share of vitamins for satisfactory growth and health.

Beets Big Sugar Source

Chicago.—Beet sugar produced from beets grown on American farms is identically the same in sweetening power, dietetic value and chemical reaction as cane sugar. Beet sugar may be used for every household purpose in which cane sugar is employed.
Exhaustive tests by leading home economists have proved that cakes and pastries, jams, jellies, and preserves made with beet sugar are equally as fine as those prepared with cane sugar. About one-sixth of all the sugar consumed in the United States annually comes from the nation's beet fields.

THE N. A. A. C. P. DRIVE

The annual membership drive of the Des Moines Branch, N. A. A. C. P., begins Saturday, April 15, and will extend over a period of three weeks.

To set out here in detail the history made by the National Association would be superfluous at this time. Suffice it to say that almost beyond the limits of its finances, the organization has fought successfully mob rule, disfranchisement, discrimination, peonage and every other condition which places a stamp of inferiority upon the Negro or denies him equal opportunities and justice before the law of the land.

The local organization is but a part of the national, the latter depending upon its hundreds of branches for financial help which is raised in the main from membership.

The local branch has maintained an active organization here for many years. It has made itself felt in the creation of and the maintenance of the fine relationships existing in Des Moines between the white and Negro races. While these relationships are not what we would like to have, they are far superior to those of most communities.

This year will be difficult. But it should not be an excuse to retard the progress of an organization which has done so much when we manage to get most everything we need even in these hard times. Des Moines must get behind this drive and raise its quota.

HITLER HITS AMERICA

Hitler of Germany says the United States should not protest the mistreatment of Jews in Germany when we ourselves started the restriction on races by barring Japanese and Chinese from the country.

America should be interested in humane treatment of all people in all countries but it finds itself embarrassed to ask another to desist from unfair practices of which it is equally guilty. The doctrine of equity, "He who comes into equity must come with clean hands" is true in international relations as well as the ordinary lawsuits we hear about every day.

Beer will be served in the White House in moderation though Mrs. Roosevelt does not drink it. It is the right decision; it is out in the open and everybody knows about it.

When Mrs. Price, the complaining witness in the Scottsboro case, got off the train with the Negro boys photographs show that she was dressed just about as rough and untidy as the Negro boys. The photos carried in the daily press now make her appear as a chic New York flapper. Yes, it takes all this and more to convince most people that the charges she makes are imaginary more than real.

The following article appeared in the press Friday.

"At least one Des Moines bootlegger was offering what he said was real 3.2 per cent beer here Thursday. Two more were here Friday by Saturday or Sunday. The price quoted was $6 a case of 24 pints.

"I figure I've got to have $6 a

PALMISTRY

By Luther H. S. Browne

Today I wish to direct your attention to a careful study of your own hand.

I can readily convince you that your left hand and your right hand are not the same; has it ever occurred to you why this is? Now for instance, just lay this paper down and hold your two hands before your eyes and behold what a vast difference in the right hand there are many more lines than in the left unless you happen to be left-handed and in that case the lines are reversed.

I am often amused by people who take a look at their hands whenever they meet me and it is probably the only time they ever think about it and some of them will walk up to me and say, What do you see in my hand? They don't think for a minute they are asking for professional service, and intruding upon my good nature at the same time. For instance, they would not approach their Doctor, Dentist or Lawyer in that manner and in so many cases the question is accompanied by the remark that "once a Gypsy told me so and so." I know about the gypsies and so do we all and we also know that these said gypsies always asked us to cross their hands with silver and the more you gave them the more they told you.

Few people whom I have met would be satisfied with such meager information from me as they get from the gypsies. I call your attention to the fact that gypsies are not the best palmists and there are few better if any, on the subject written by a gypsy. Last but not least, who are the gypsies and where do they come from? What is their country or flag? Any more than him? And who have people of all nationalities and colors always laid such stress on what the gypsy said, and did you or anyone else ever see the same gypsy claim anywhere?

In some of my previous articles I have called your attention to the Fortune-teller who uses Tarot cards, a vehicle to your pocket-book. I say frankly that the gypsy has got the worst beat. They are all over the world and of every nationality. Read this column every week and I will write it every week.

Local Boys at Iowa City

Local Negro idack stars found the going rather rough at their first indoor meet of the season at Iowa City last Saturday. A large number of our boys went there from East and North High schools, but it was a case of many are called but few are chosen. George Robinson pulled up third in the fifty yard dash for North while Earl Miller grabbed off second in the broad jump with Emerson Redrick tying for second in the high jump. The last two boys represented East High. It's a long time to the end of track season so we'll all be looking for news from the other boys before long.

Baseball

The papers are full of announcements that various other clubs will practice at different times. We have seen no announcement about any of our fifteen Negro clubs. How about it boys? Baseball is about the only sport where you have anything like an even chance in the matter of preparation and experience for your team. Don't pass it up.

Sports

By Allen Ashby

The Big Five closed its season at the Athletic Carnival last Wednesday night dropping their sixth game of the season to the Valley De Molays 40 to 31, a last quarter rally giving the Valley boys their margin. The Five, badly handicapped by the absence of Palmer, high scoring forward, and rusty from long inactivity, was only a shell of the powerful squad that ran over most of its opponents during the season to win 29 out of 35 games, including all games practice and otherwise. The game was a tough climax to the most successful season ever enjoyed by a local Negro club. The boys put up a tremendous scrap against a club that would have been an even bet against them in midseason, but a fighting spirit must have something else with it.

Good as the game was and hard as the boys fought it was hardly fair to them to present them to the crowd as the team won the respect of everybody whenever they played. The bright spot of the entire season came after the game when everybody praised the boys for their fine battle. To have local fans acknowledge your club is really the greatest victory of all.

In the other games the Fellowship Club Junior League champs noted the "Y" Outlaws in a fierce, rough battle 19 to 18, and the Trojans dropped an equally close scuffle to the South Side Leaders 18 to 17. There was a girls' game, but since your humble servant was too dumb to know which girls were on opposite sides, he can't say much more about it.

THANKS

Our basket ball season is over and we want to take this opportunity to thank everybody connected with the Big Five. First we thank the players for their fine spirit and willingness to co-operate with the coach. We extend our public thanks to Mr. Quentin E. Menze, "Y" secretary, who was as anxious to have the boys win as they were to win and who helped in numerous little ways that we appreciated. We are grateful to those loyal supporters who stood by us during the season through victory or defeat. Those supporters make ball clubs. In all it has been a great season with everybody wanting to go ahead. Although we sometimes didn't agree as to the road to take, we were all headed for the same goal, and we are grateful for that.

INDICT EUEL LEE AGAIN

Snow Hill, Md., April 7 (By the ANP)—The Worcester county grand jury returned two new indictments Wednesday in the long drawn out case of Euel Lee, charging him with the death of a white family of four persons in October 1931.

One indictment charges him with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Green Davis, the other with the slaying of their two children. Lee is now under sentence of death for the murder of Davis. In previous indictments, members of the Davis family were not grouped as they are in the present indictments.
