Kenya's Mboya Calls Upon U.S. to Exert Influence in Bringing Freedom to World

Washington, D. C.—Kenyan Leader Tom Mboya today called upon America to exert its economic and political influence in order that millions of oppressed peoples throughout the world may achieve independence and equality, which, he said, were the major factors in the realization of the "Great American Dream." His appeal came at the 91st annual Commencement of Howard University, where he delivered the principal address. Later during the exercises the University conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Independence

Mboya, who is general secretary of the Kenya Federation of Labor and a member of the Kenyan Legislature, said that people the world over look toward the beacon of independence that was lighted in this country, and that America must help these millions achieve that goal.

"The heritage of the American past which Americans enjoy was, from its earliest years, something of world scope that captured the imagination of men in many lands and brought them here to help build the dream into reality," he said; "as the spiritual parent of revolutionary hopes kindled in other lands, your country has and special and unique responsibility for the care and nurture of liberty and democracy wherever it exists in the world today."

Policy

The 29-year old leader said that the United States, because of its power, is destined to play an important part in the future of the underdeveloped countries of the world. He cautioned against unwise use of this power, however, declaring that the response which America's policy evokes among Africans may well be decisive for the future of the United States as a world power.

Cautioned

Mboya also cautioned against tendencies of powerful nations to stand by idly while the oppression of millions of peoples continues, saying that evil will triumph if good men do not intervene. "This is as true of the South African situation as of any other," he said, "and it remains only to add that if a 'do nothing' policy which acquiesces in the status quo may seem to have no appreciable ill-effects immediately, history is replete with examples of gradual attrition that have washed away the foundations of great civilizations."

NAACP Convention to Pay Tribute to Negro Church

New York.—An entire evening session of the 50th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be devoted to the role of the Negro church in support of the NAACP program. The convention will be held in the New York City Coliseum, July 13-19.

Wednesday night, July 15, has been designated as church night. The program will mark the culmination of a nationwide drive among churches to raise $100,000 for the NAACP in its Golden Anniversary year. The project was initiated by Rev. J. Raymond Henderson of Los Angeles who raised $11,000 from his own church and made an extensive tour of the country recruiting support from other churches of all denominations.

Special Effort

A report will be made on this special effort at the church session together with a presentation of the fund to the NAACP. Fitting tribute will be paid to the role of the church and plaques will be presented to individual churches contributing $500 or more to the fund. Mr. Henderson will preside at this session.

2 Added to NAACP National Office Staff

New York.—Appointment of two new members of the staff of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was announced here this week by Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins. James Farmer, Jr., joined the staff on June 1 as activities coordinator, a newly created position. Previously, on May 1, Clarence Scott was named to assist in the Association's life membership campaign.

A graduate of Wiley College in Texas and holder of a divinity degree from Howard University, Mr. Farmer has had wide experience as a lecturer, trade union organizer and race relations consultant. He came to the NAACP from the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, which he helped to form.

The week-long convention will close with a mammoth rally in the Polo Grounds on Sunday afternoon, July 19. Scheduled to address this closing meeting are NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins and representatives of the major religious faiths in the country. There will also be music and other entertainment.

Retrial Expected as Jury Fails to Reach Verdict in Drug Case

A retrial is expected in an unusual case in which a Polk County district jury was unable to agree on a verdict after nearly 24 hours of deliberations last week.

The case, believed to be the first of its kind tried in Iowa, involves a charge of driving while under the influence of a hypnotic drug against Dr. James Murphy Powell, of 1189 10th Street, Des Moines osteopath.

1957 Law

Defense attorneys, Mrs. Willie S. Glanton and Leo J. Tapscott, said they based Dr. Powell's defense on a contention that he had been taking a drug under a doctor's prescription but that the doctor had not told him to refrain from driving.

Under a law passed by the 1957 Iowa legislature, the charge falls under the driving-while-intoxicated law. Because of a previous conviction on a driving while intoxicated charge, the state contended that the current charge was a second offense for Dr. Powell, even though drug-ing instead of intoxication was alleged.

Jurors

The jury began deliberating at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 2 and was discharged at 4:30 p.m. the next day. Jurors said they stood 11 for conviction and 1 for acquittal.

Dr. Powell was arrested on Dec. 24 after a minor car-bus collision when he backed his car out of a driveway at 1146 9th Street.

Minneapjean Brown Gets Diploma

New York, N. Y.—Minneapjean Brown, one of the "Little Rock Nine" who integrated Central High in her hometown and was later expelled, graduated here last Friday from the New Lincoln school where she had entered on a scholarship. Minneapjean, 18, has been accepted as a potential student by Michigan State University and Upsala College in East Orange, N. J., but has decided on a nursing career. She plans to enter Mt. Sinai Hospital's school of nursing in Manhattan, for three years of training to become a registered nurse.

Who's Who in Iowa

Gertrude Rush, Iowa's First Woman Atty., Has Practiced Law in Des Moines 41 Years

This is the 63th in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.

By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

Atty. Gertrude E. Rush of 1160 13th street holds the distinction of being Iowa's first Negro woman lawyer. Furthermore, at the time when she went into the legal profession, nearly 41 years ago, when less than a half dozen Negro women had ventured into the field, she was the only race member of her sex practicing law west of the Mississippi.

The second oldest Negro practicing attorney in Des Moines in terms of legal service, Atty. Rush recalls of her five brothers and one sister, none were interested in law but herself. She credits her lawyer-husband, the late James B. Rush, for motivated her interest in the field.

Helped Husband

"I used to help him a lot with his cases and in the office, so I got to liking it and decided to become a lawyer, too. But, my husband died just a month before I was admitted to the Iowa Bar," she recalled. "He never live to see me practice although he knew I was up for admission."

During her four decades as an attorney, Mrs. Rush has tried many cases, of as many varying types, including murder trials. Some were taken to the State Supreme Court. In fact her last appearance before the state's highest tribunal was in 1952.

Illness

Serious illness which first struck her two years ago has instrumental in curtailing her former active participation in the legal profession. Offices were located outside her home until last October when her doctors ordered less activity for her and she moved her offices to her own abode. A brother, Albert O. Durden of Chicago, Ill., makes his home with her now.

City's Progress

Commenting on the progress of the city especially in the field of race relations, Mrs. Rush said "Negroes have come a long way with jobs in public offices and in the teaching field."

"I was on the committee when they tried to get Negro school teachers here. Shortly, after we gave up, they integrated them anyhow," she recalled.

Of her other participation in civic and organizational affairs, Mrs. Rush briefly brushes aside her part by saying, "Just about every thing that was started here I either belonged to, helped to get it started or participated in."

Organizations

Her wide range of interested, participation for community and race betterment includes membership and committee chairmanship in the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc., and past president of the Iowa Association of Colored Women; chairman of a committee on a State

Against Alabama NAACP, Va. Case Set Aside as Atlanta Gets New Order

Washington, D. C.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People won the final legal round in its fight with the state of Alabama, when the United States Supreme court ruled Monday that a $100,000 contempt fine against the group was illegal. The fine had been imposed in 1957 against the NAACP for its failure to supply correspondence and membership lists.

Alabama Courts

In 1957 also after Alabama state courts had enjoined the NAACP from conducting business or organizing prior to the contempt fine. In the initial court battle the state attorney general took action against the NAACP on the ground that it had failed to register with the state government, and had furnished legal help in racial segregation cases in that state.

As a result of Monday's ruling by the high tribunal, the Alabama NAACP can resume organizational action.

James Carter Elected Lt. Gov. at Boys State

James Carter, 17-year-old Des Moines Tech student, was elected lieutenant governor of Boys State, citizenship school encampment at Camp Dodge, it was learned here Tuesday.

Carter was sponsored by Lincoln Post No. 126 of the American Legion of which James W. Rhoads is commander. The Post has sponsored a boy to the Boys State for more than 20 years. Oval Carter, Americanism chairman, of Lincoln Post, said, "The boys advisor at Tech wrote me that James was 'one of the finest citizens he has ever known.'"

Mr. Carter is in charge of checking the Des Moines high schools for possible candidates each year and does so by contacting the boys advisor inquiring about top, all-round citizen-students.

Young Carter is the son of Mrs. Carter and the grandson of Mrs. Ida Carter of 1432 Dixon Street.

Atlanta, Ga.—A federal court order reminded public school officials that eventual but not immediate integration is a certainty in this southern city. The reminder came on the eve of a hearing in which 10-Negro parents seek to rule out segregation in the city's schools.

Not Immediate

The tentative order was handed down Friday by Federal Judge Frank Hooper in which he indicated he will not order immediate integration which could lead to closing of the city's classrooms in September. Instead, it appeared he would allow municipal authorities time to work out an integration pattern. Under present Georgia law any integration could result in school closings.

"Even the most ardent segregationists in the land though bitterly opposed to such ruling, now recognize that racially segregated public schools are not permitted by law,"

Bulbar Type Fatal To Cheryl Robinson, 5

Last rites were held Saturday for Des Moines' first polio victim since last Nov. 18. She was five-year-old Cheryl Robinson, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Robinson, of 1352 Dixon Street. She died of bulbar polio Wednesday, June 3 at Broadlawn General hospital, a week after she first complained of being ill with a headache and fever. She was taken to the hospital two days later and her illness was diagnosed as bulbar polio. One of eight children, she had not received Salk polio vaccine shots.

Services were held at 1:30 p.m. at the Church of God in Christ at 17th and University Avenue with burial in Glendale cemetery. She was a member of the church of God in Christ, 851 10th Street where her father is pastor.

Survivors include her parents; three brothers, Lloyd, Royal and David; and six sisters, Mrs. Rosalee Johnson, Mrs. Phineas Blakely and Paula, Ruth, Millie and Faye Robinson all of Des Moines.

WITH DELORES CALVIN

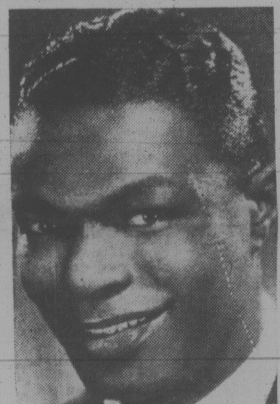

New York City (CNS)—Les Ballets Africains has grossed almost to the million mark—and its backers are pretty proud of their idea—to bring to the country the true and native ballet of Africa and its exciting and exotic rhythms. So different was this ballet that while 2 of the 3 Russian groups lost fortunes, the Africans turned away customers. They extended an 8 week engagement to 16 weeks and toured Montreal and Toronto plus cities as Boston, Cleveland, Chicago, Pittsburgh, et al., receiving rave notices everywhere. However, the question now becomes—just how much goes to the pocket of the exploiting promoters who saw a "sure thing" and made it pay off.

Dakota Station

Dakota Station, with two new albums out, at the celebrity Room in Philly. Lena Horne singing "Diamonds are a Girl's Best Friend" starts off by talking "Love that Fifth Avenue—up the street is Cartier's and Van Cleef and Arpells" (famous jewelers)—then ends with "Forty eight carats" for me? one for each state—maybe when you hear about Alaska and Hawaii you'll give me two more!

Pearl Bailey

Pearl Bailey's management says her 11 week date at the Flamingo in Vegas was the "beginning of the whole thing". Pearl has made such a hit with her new fast-moving revue, there isn't room left to praise her further. She was a big hit here in New York too and this time the whole show is a stopper—and with Pearl also in there pitching—it's one of the greatest. She went to great pains to get the cream of the crop in the biz—Coles & Atkins, long known for their light footwork—are a major addition to the revue. The dancers are beautiful girls in lovely costumes who give the professional look of a Music Hall revue. The band is led by Louis Bellson, drummer expert and Pearl's handsome husband—and when Pearl comes on—the setting is just perfect. Of course as a comedienne—she cannot be topped.

The Golden Gate Quartet no sooner got back to New York when they made a few dates and returned to Europe. For the month of June they'll be singing in Stockholm, Sweden. Nat King Cole will be close to home when he plays the Coconut Grove in Hollywood for 4 weeks in June. Eartha Kitt has consented to play the Apollo Theatre here August 28th. This is a repeat performance as she's already played there this season but her decision to really let her hair down show was so sensational when she she's been called back.

La Verne Baker

La Verne Baker does a one-nighter at Hotel Bradford in Boston—same place where Lee Mathews, male singer, played a date and then was injured in an auto accident. He's currently in a Ipswich, Mass. hospital. Louis Jordan returns to Chicago for July 27th for a big week: Red Saunders' band, dancers Stump & Stumpy (who need a new routine) and the Sammy Dyer dancers—the Dyerettes, will be featured at the Tivoli Theatre. This is a big effort to bring back the popularity of big stage revues like it was in the '40s. Big and brassy shows and big crowds of course, big moola for all.

Warner Brothers

Warner Brothers is making a short called "All God's Children" which is to act as a bridge in uniting teenagers of all races. Made with the cooperation of various police departments, proceeds of special benefits will go to the police pension fund in each city. Seems like proceeds would go to needy Negro children for their education—since the film exploits them. Regardless, about $350,000 is the budget and it presents the high school racial story—most like with angles on the Little Rock situation.

James Edwards

El Toro, a new Broadway nightclub, will open with all imported Spanish talent and Spanish china—actually from Spain—but will draw a large Negro crowd of well-wishers who are personal friends of the management. "Pork Chop Hill" opened at the Roxy with James Edwards in a big role—and its something on the order of his "Home of the Brave" part.

C. A. Franklin Memorial Golf Meet To Be Held July 25

Kansas City, Mo., Negro golfers will hold their most ambitious golf tournament in history July 25-26 when the first annual C. A. Franklin Memorial Open, co-sponsored by the Heart of America Golf club, will be launched in Swope park.

Tourney Open To All

The tourney will be open to all golfers without restrictions, and will be prepared to host golfers from the eight-state area comprising the territory of the Central State Golf association, one of the largest amateur golf organizations in the country.

In honoring the memory of the late Chester Arthur Franklin, publisher and owner of THE CALL newspaper, the golfers will be paying a tribute of respect to the man whose prowess lay not in his marked ability, as a golfer, but in his contribution of fighting for the rights of Negro golfers to the free use of Swope park.

Economic Systems

Writing in National Review, Robert M. Bleiberg observes: "In a competitive market the goal of every entrepreneur is to increase profits not by raising prices but by cutting costs and expanding markets. Moreover, to the dismay of those who view the economic system as some kind of static model, the entrepreneur constantly is seeking to turn equilibrium into dynamic change in order to profit thereby."

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN
SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

AVOID RIDICULE OF CHILDREN'S IDEAS

Children often seem to be busy trying to discover explanations for the things they observe, and they are continually trying odd methods to accomplish their goals in work, in play and in social relationships. Many of their explanations and methods seem amusing, and some of them almost stupid, in the light of our adult knowledge and experience. The ways in which we respond to the child's attempts to understand manage his world can have effects on his self-confidence and on his later efforts to solve problems.

Lacks Information

One reason why the child's explanation or method fails is just that he lacks enough information to form a better explanation. This does not mean that the child is hopelessly ignorant, of course; it merely means that he hasn't yet had the chance to learn the things needed for a better solution. And his limited understanding often means that he cannot anticipate some of the drawbacks of his proposed solutions.

The boy who suggests that he pound a hollow pipe through the earth so that he can send things to China has a logically good plan. He can't be expected to know about the many mechanical, financial, physical and other troubles his plan presents. But if we ridicule his logic because its application is impractical, we may be teaching him that his notions are not very good.

Encourage Ideas

And if he is taught this lesson thoroughly enough, he may distrust his ability to solve even the problems about which he does have adequate knowledge.

There never is an oversupply of ideas. We can encourage our children to play with ideas by taking them seriously, and by enjoying the imaginative stretches they provide.

And we can teach our children in gentle ways the steps that are involved in deciding which ideas have a good chance of "working" and why the other ideas don't fit the practical world well enough.

For a More Beautiful You!

by Genevieve Young

Have you ever worn your best dress and been disappointed that no one said "How nice you look!"?

Clothes do help to give an attractive appearance, but clothes alone cannot make for good grooming. Your makeup, hair style, fingernails, and even perfume can enhance a lovely new costume, or keep the ones you love from noticing you're wearing last year's dress.

The basis for true beauty is good health plus a natural fresh look. When you step from your bath, a dash of your favorite cologne helps to give you that spic-and-span, pampered feeling all day. Of course, a necessity is a deodorant that gives you dependable 24 hour-a-day protection. Makeup is an art — acquired through careful selection and subtle application. Remember, if you use rouge, use it sparingly. Never be guilty of round, clown spots of color on each cheek. Rouge should be applied sparingly with the edges blended very, very carefully.

Choose your lipstick carefully to match your mood and clothing. However, be sure to choose a shade and type that is expressly formulated to be most flattering to you. There is now a new lipstick that has lovely colors especially created to highlight cream, golden, bronze, and even darker skin tones.

tary hair styles, refer to last week's column, write for a copy if you missed it.

The appearance you present to others speaks louder than words. An actress looks glamorous under theatrical lights from the stage, but this extravagant type of makeup in real life can be a nightmare walking! 300 Guests Enjoy "Evening in Paris" Saturday At Parisian Ball Given by Puella Legatoes

The Puella Legatoes provided their 300 guests with an atmosphere of European gaiety at a Parisian Ball, Saturday evening, June 6. "Port of Entry to the exquisite affair was the Music Hall ballroom at 5th and University.

Amidst huge replicas of the Eiffel Tower, Arc De Triumpe, life-like scenes of French living adorning the ballroom walls, and glistening white mobiles like mammoth satellites suspended from the ceiling, the social event left little to be imagined what an evening in Paris could be. The Tower designs, 10 feet in height had alternating, blinking lights.

Hostess Table

Highlighting the hostess table was a large replica of the Eiffel Tower with the club name in glittering metallic letters. Guest tables, covered with white linen, were decorated with miniature tower name cards and varied colored carnations.

A highlight of the evening was the spotlighted presentation of hostesses adorned in fashionable gowns, accented with dazzling coiffures and makeup by Edith Rehnborn cosmetics furnished by Mrs. Otis Jangs. After the presentation their escorts led off the dance to "April in Paris."

Rose Cart

Guests were greeted by the petite mademoiselle, Mickey McKay, standing by a flower cart full of red roses. Each madam upon arrival was given a rose. Circulating throughout the guests during the evening, sketching portrait caricatures, was an artist, Everett Mays, Jr., dressed in a navy artist smock and matching beret.

Art Creations

All replica constructions, decorative effects were created and displayed under the direction of Frank Franklin. Appropriate music was provided by the orchestra of Rufus Spates.

Young ladies of the Puella Legatoes club are hoping to open another port of entry to some other part of the world at some future date. However, they and their guests are assured their "evening in Paris" will not be soon forgotten.

Puella Legatoes Members Pose Beneath "Arc De Triumpe"

Our three youngsters, having asked for one, went to pick out their choice last week, to their sheer delight. After much discussion and concession finally on the part of one, they decided upon a fluffy grey one. Now, they are having a time deciding what to call it. One boy is holding out for "Pussycat," and the other for "Smokey," with their sister, using both names sometimes, but most often, just plain "Cat."

Coming next week The Bystander anniversary edition. Among its special features is a scheduled group picture of delegates and officers attending the Iowa Association of Colored Women at Council Bluffs last week end.

Overheard at the notion counter of a department store, a woman wearing dark sunglasses inquiring of the clerk about the color of some buttons. The clerk told her the particular pastel shade and the would-be-customer proceeded to argue the fact after which the clerk suggested the woman remove her sunglasses.

READ THE BYSTANDER EVERY WEEK

School is out and most local residents are breathing a sigh of relief and are sitting back to take stock of their sons and daughters who marched down the aisles in their graduation caps and gowns in high schools or colleges and universities. It has been another long hard pull but now it is over and many are looking forward to a much needed and anticipated vacation.

Among some vacationers are Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Spates of 1244 13th street and their nine-year-old daughter, Peggy Ann who left earlier this week for Texas for their annual family reunion in the home of Mr. Spates' parents.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Woods, and four daughters of 1239 10th street left the day after schools closed to visit friends and relatives around the mid-west. They plan to be gone a week. A son also a June graduate returned behind with his grandmother.

New Neighbors: Mr. and Mrs. George W. Robinson, Jr., and his family just finished moving to their new home at 1134 14th street place. Their son, George M., was the only Negro to graduate in the upper 15 per cent of his class this time.

Taking advantage of the nice, summery weather which finally got to Iowa, was Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Carter of 911 16th street. They spent most of the day fishing at Hartford Monday. Mrs. (Bernice) Carter reports they had no luck, and only caught one blue gill on this their first trip out this year, but "it just nice to get out and relax."

More new neighbors: The Rev. and Mrs. Granville Williams of Mason City, Ia., who pastored the St. John

Baptist church there, will be moving to Des Moines soon. He is already working here and of course, is pastoring the new Masedonia Missionary Baptist church in the city.

He dropped in the office last week for a little chat with the Bystander publisher and staff.

While she was in Kansas City, Mo., over the weekend Mrs. Samuel C. Miller of 1440 14th street, called and chatted briefly with Marie Ross, now of the Kansas City Call staff.

Mrs. Miller said Miss Ross reported she was quite tired after helping the Call staff get out a 65-page city anniversary edition last week and work on another special edition this week.

Mrs. Miller was in K. C., as a singer with the Richard Allen chorus of St. Paul A.M.E. church, which makes its annual exchange tour to that city.

One of the busiest marching bands in the mid-west is the Junior Herd Drum & Bugle corps under the direction of the Hawkeyes Elks Lodge No. 160. Recently, the group participated in Hospital day at Knoxville, Ia. Then they appeared at a program at Veterans auditorium before they marched in the Des Moines Memorial day parade. The night before the parade they participated in the "Stylerama," beauty style show, sponsored by the Morrow School of Beauty.

Last Sunday they performed at the fifth annual Hawkeye Futurity auto races at the Iowa State Fair track.

Before Mrs. (Edythe) Spates left for Texas with her family, she completed helping her daughter give away a litter of four kittens to persons to whom they had been prom-

Speaking before a group in Washington, D. C. Monday, President Eisenhower admonished that those who seek improvement in civil rights must not look too much to laws prohibiting racial discrimination but that the hearts of men must be changed.

As much as the Bystander admires and generally supports President Eisenhower, it must disagree with him very definitely here.

If the enjoyment of full citizenship had waited for men's hearts to change, the Negro would be fifty years behind his present position.

Apparently, the advisers of President Eisenhower have not informed him that all the gains Negroes have made in the South and checking discrimination in the North since the turn of the century, has been primarily the result of laws and not the change of the hearts of men.

Men and nations have tried for two thousand years to settle differences by mutual agreement, but the fact remains that great standing armies, new military devices and new defenses against the enemy are being maintained. And why? Because nations, as yet, have not been changed—materially.

Murder, kidnapping, arson, rape, burglary, larceny are all dealt with in the criminal statutes, but men continue to violate them. They are all moral questions but a change in the hearts of men is too slow to permit the elimination of the use of a large number of enforcement offices today.

Certainly, President Eisenhower, and those who dream like this, are inconsistent when they chance all kinds of conflict in their quest for the rights of free people abroad, but beg the Negro to sleep while the heart of men change.

This advice of President Eisenhower is unsound and cannot be accepted. On the other hand, the intelligent fight which has waged heretofore must go on even though it steps on some people's toes.

SUPPORT THE DES MOINES
BASEBALL TEAM

Des Moines baseball teams have been exceedingly poor during the past few seasons. Either a poor group of players had been assigned or the management was not able to put together a good aggregation. Maybe, it played teams out of its class. In any event, baseball has been at a pretty low ebb.

This year, Des Moines has an entirely new aggregation—young, anxious, hard workers and they are doing a good job. They are drawing crowds. They deserve it. (Of course, good sports should support the home team, good or bad.)

There was a time when justifiable complaint was made that Negroes were not on the team rosters. This is no longer true. In fact, most of the teams do and the boys are carrying their share as members of their respective aggregations.

Baseball games offer fine entertainment and recreation which most people should enjoy in these busy days. Let all good sports, all baseball fans go out and support the Demons.

LET'S BE FRANK ABOUT
CITY GOVERNMENT

When mayor Illes issued the proclamation calling for the City Manager election on June 23, the Bystander called attention to the fact that the time was too short to give the people a chance to debate the issues adequately and/or inform the average voter what the whole thing is about.

Both sides are making inaccurate statements and charges which neither seems willing to challenge adequately. The same people who have argued for fair reapportionment in the legislature are opposing fair reapportionment in the city.

No system of government is better than those who are chosen to operate it. And it must be admitted that the towns with aldermanic systems of government (Chicago is not the only one) are more corrupt than those with commission form. On the other hand, some cities (Minneapolis, for instance with the aldermanic form of government) are model communities.

The people in Des Moines who support good government should realize that too many in high places in Des Moines have used their positions to block Negroes from securing a fair share of employment and that if they expect Negroes to support the good government cause, that goodness should trickle down to them.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

We may be a year late, but here we come with observations on the fight situation and various other happenings around the land. It looks as if we will have two middleweight champions, one in New York State and one just anywhere else. We can't blame Basilio for taking on Fulmer in the NBC version of the title bout. He will likely win and won't have nearly as much trouble as he would have with Sugar Ray in a bout that he wouldn't have to win, and if he did, would have to take a terrific beating. Then later on, the two champions can get together and draw that million dollar gate that everybody is talking about.

Fight Purse

A lot of people have the idea that the fighters get a lot of the money they are drawing. But, actually their take figures out to be about fifteen percent of the whole purse. So, if a boxer gets a $100,000 as a purse, he figures to take down around $15,000 for himself. Not a whole lot when one considers how much the handlers and hangers-on get and they don't get any smashed noses or cut eyes.

Heavyweights

Now in the heavyweight ranks the Swede Johanson, having beaten Eddie Machen twice, once in the ring and once in court, will go on with his preparations to meet Floyd Patterson for that crown. This bout reminds us somewhat of the fight between Jack Dempsey and the Frenchman Georges Carpentier.

Georges was so bad that it took all the buildup plus a war feeling against Dempsey to keep interest in the battle. The Frenchman trained in secret, they said, to prepare some lethal trick, but really to keep the public from finding out how bad he was. Now, we are not saying that this is the same setup. But you see how things look to us. We hope we are wrong.

Tennis

The Hilltop Tennis Club has got themselves in a Central Iowa Tennis league, involving Cedar Rapids, Waterloo, Marshalltown, Des Moines, Newton and somebody else. The Hilltoppers are going to take on Indianola in a couple of weeks. The Hilltoppers are short of men's singles players because most of the veterans have gone into semi-retirement, but will be pretty good in the doubles. Your illustrious scribbler may drag himself out onto the court to try his hand in the doubles.

Investments

Business and financial analyst Sylvia Porter writes: "Let's say that back in 1950 you received a cool $10,000 and had this lovely lump sum free to invest as you saw fit. If you had put the whole $10,000 in a 'typical' one-family house, your investment now would be worth around $15,000. If you had put it in the U. S. Treasury's 2-1/2 per cent bonds due 1967 (the marketable bonds sold by the government in the war loan drive of 1942) your $10,000 now would be worth only around $8,800. If you had put it in 'typical' farm land, your nestegg's value would be up to more than $25,100."

HEALTH FOR ALL

All up in the Air

If you think people—food faddists, deep breathing addicts, and the like—have strange ideas about health nowadays, you should rummage among old newspaper files, as we did the other day. In a story printed in a Cedar Rapids, Iowa, newspaper dated September 5, 1909, the writer asks, "When the dirigible balloon and the aeroplane have been perfected" (the Wright brothers took flight in 1903) "... will we be able to dispense with doctors?"

The story quotes an experienced flyer of the day: "He relates that at one time he was suffering from rheumatism. He could not raise a hand above his head and his blood had become blackish. Four days in a balloon entirely cured him and returned his blood to its natural color."

Awaiting Death

"He tells of a friend who was dying of tuberculosis," the story goes on. "The friend had lost all hope."

Hammerin' Hang Aaron of Milwaukee Could
Be First National League .400 Hitter Since 1930

CHICAGO—Can Hank Aaron hit better than .400?

That is baseball's most intriguing question at the moment. After the first 25 games, Aaron was batting a terrific .482 and one baseball expert calculated that the Young Milwaukee outfielder would have to bat only .383 the rest of the season to achieve the .400 mark.

Considering the way Aaron has been going, it ought to be a cinch. If he accomplishes this remarkable feat, Aaron would join the most elite company of major leaguers. Only seven have achieved the milestone since the turn of the century.

The last to do it was Ted Williams. The Boston Red Sox slugger batted .406 in 1941. The last National leaguer to do it was Bill Terry, former manager of the New York Giants, who accomplished it in 1930.

Hornsbey Thinks He Can

The greatest .400 hitter in modern times was Rogers Hornsbey, three times reaching that level of greatness. His .424 is a modern major league high.

Hornsbey, now batting coach of the Chicago Cubs, thinks Aaron has a good chance to do it this season. He predicted Hank would win the NL batting title in 1946. Aaron did, with a .326 mark.

"With the start he has, Aaron could hit .400," Hornsbey said. "He's one of the good hitters. Who are the good hitters who hit .300 last season—Ashburn, Mays, Musial, Aaron, Skinner, Banks and Copeland."

"Not all of those could ever hit .400 a season. Maybe Mays, maybe Banks, although the odds are against a free swinger."

Gained Confidence

"Aaron could. He has become a

He was awaiting death. Mr. Baldwin (the flyer) persuaded him to take a ride through the air, from St. Louis to the Atlantic Ocean. The fear of dropping to earth was a fear that he could laugh at, for he was dying anyway. He took the trip. He came back down a cured man. Instead of dying of consumption, he is still living, after a lapse of twenty years, a robust man."

Universal Cure

Enthralled by these stories, the Iowa writer visualized "the universal cure for all our ills up above the earth" and "floating hospitals in which men and women will be cured without drugs and without the knife." Unfortunately this dream has found treatment with drugs and possibly surgery. TB generally needs a stay in a solidly based hospital on the ground, even today.

FISHERMAN'S REVERIE

The Angler's lazy time is here,
When he may doze and dream.

In fancy float upon some lake
Or sit beside a stream.

Where hungry bass are looking for
The very lure he'll choose

He'll fight 'em to a finish,
And sure, he'll never lose.

He'll conjure up the darndest scenes
Where hooked fish run and leap.

But he'll outwit 'em every turn
And pile them in a heap.

For all his friends to stare and ask,
"Where do they grow so big?"

A knowing smile will curl his lips
And he'll just snap a twig.

And then he'll take his own good time.

Like Solomon of old
He'll ponder long before he speaks.

And here's what they'll be told:
"I know the clearest little stream

That wanders through a meadow,
Then turns and doubles back again

Where a high bluff casts its shadow,
There where the water's blue and deep

And lingers ere it pass,
I've found a spot—out of this world—

And it's plumb full of bass.
And every one's so whoppin' big,

With vim and fight to spare,
I know you'd like to cast a bait,

But oh, you wouldn't dare.

For just as surely as your plug
Sent ripples circling out,
A savage fish would grab your lure
And turning straight about,
He'd pull the line right off your reel,
Ere you could press your thumb.
He'd take a hundred feet or more,
And leave you feeling numb."

But right here ends his eloquence
About the fighting bass.
His wife's voice jars him from his dream.

"Now, Henry! Mow the grass!"

Uses A Heavier Bat

Cincinnati. — Johnny Temple in replying to the question asking why he uses the heaviest (40 ounces) bat on the Redleg club:

"I'm not built like a professional football tackle. When I'd hit a single to right field, I'd have to run like mad to prevent my being thrown out at first base."

"The opposition moved their outfielders in on me so close I could see the whites in their eyes... now that I use the heavier bat, I just have to remember to hold the bat tightly and not swing hard... I'm getting more wood on the ball than I ever did and the outfielders are not crowding in on me."
