Sitin Cases Before U.S. Supreme Court

Says Suits Involve Important Issues Since 1954 School Decision

Washington, D.C. — On Monday, Nov. 5, the U. S. Supreme Court was scheduled to begin hearing oral argument on seven crucial race relations cases which grew out of the southern sit-in movement.

The cases involve demonstrations by Negro youths from six southern states — Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana and Maryland. They were to be heard successively for 10 hours, with argument expected to conclude on Wednesday.

Since 1954

Jack Greenberg, Director-Counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, said the arguments involve "the most important civil rights issues since the school desegregation cases of 1954."

"These cases involve governmental enforcement of racial discrimination, and may well influence the future course of protest demonstrations against such discrimination," Greenberg added.

3,000 Students

Approximately 3,000 Negro and white students are still under conviction in the south for demonstrations of the type which the Court will hear this week. The NAACP Legal Defense Fund is appealing all of the cases now pending at various stages in southern state courts.

The Solicitor-General of the United States Justice Department had an hour of argument in support of the petitioner's (NAACP) position in the cases as a Friend of the Court.

In December, the Supreme Court will hear an appeal in Edwards v. South Carolina, a similar protest case involving convictions of 187 Negro youths for marching on the state-house grounds in Columbia, S.C.

Two Children Walking Hand-in-Hand Hit by Car; Thrown on Hood

Two children are in Broadlawn Polk County hospital suffering from injuries they sustained when they were struck by a car Sunday at East Dixon street and University avenue.

Victims were Vernon Webb-Bey, 7, son of Mrs. Evorna Webb-Bey, 1529 E. 19th street and Rosemary Smith, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, 1477 E. 19th street.

Witnesses told police that the youngsters were walking hand-in-hand, in a crosswalk but against a red light when they were struck by a car driven by Richard E. Parts, 28, of 1332 Buchanan street. The impact threw the children up on the hood of the car.

Parks said the children stepped from in front of another car and that he veered to avoid hitting them, but was too late.

Negro School Rate Up in Washington, D.C.

Washington, D.C.—School population in the District of Columbia has risen 5,893 above last year, and the percentage of Negro students also has increased.

The school census made public Friday showed 134,375 students in Washington public schools of whom 112,095

People You Know

Kenneth Whitney Started a 'Miracle' at Woodward

BY FRANCES E. HAWTHORNE

This is the second in a series on "People You Know." They may be outstanding in church or community affairs, hold an unusual job, hobby or activities, or just a little known co-worker, neighbor, or friend who has received recognition for charity, fraternal or job service. Whoever they are, they are people you know, people that makes the community and the world go round.

Kenneth Whitney, teacher at Irving Junior high school, has always had a keen interest in the field of special education, and this summer he had a chance to work at an idea that just about performed "miraculous" changes in the patients at Woodward school.

Camp Sites

He had recently resigned his position as athletic director at Willkie House, where he spent some 10 years in that position and also at several times as acting and assistant director, and was attending the State University of Iowa. He had a research idea for creating a camp site some three miles from Woodward school for its patients. The Superintendent gave him the go ahead sign and he began in June with the help of some 1200 patients ranging in ages from 12 to 40 years.

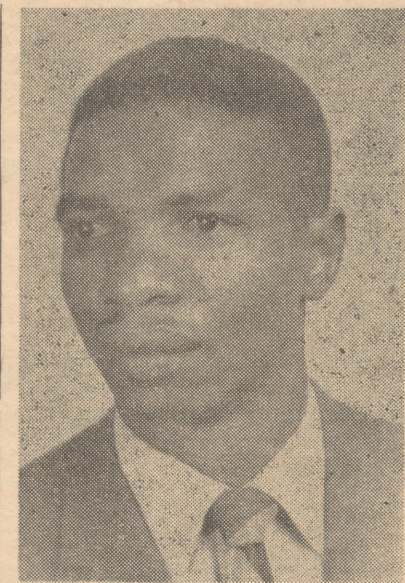

Timber Cleared

They build fjords across the river, swinging bridges, tractor crossings and cut down and cleared the heavily timbered area. They built three fireplaces, set up tents, working from a blueprint prepared by the staff. Swings were put up, badminton sets and tether balls and Coleman lanterns were donated.

When the camp was completed and serviced they took the patients by buildings about 150 each time, for cookouts and other camping out recreation.

Worked Like Miracle

"It worked like a miracle," said Mr. Whitney. "Many of the patients were those with broken family ties, and the camps gave them an opportunity to get outside their immediate areas, into the open; it was a complete change for them."

Mr. Whitney who has been doing the research work toward his master's degree in the field of special education, said work and recreation at the camp site was finished just shortly before the opening of public schools.

He received a professional certificate for 10 years. A native of Orange, N.J., Mr. Whitney served in the Army in special services assigned to Fort Francis E. Warren in Wyoming. After his discharge he returned to New Jersey, and after six months came to Des Moines to study at Drake. Following graduation he had a chance to take a coaching job in Ankeny but turned it down in favor of the position at Willkie House under the late Mrs. Lillian Edmonds which he held Hughes in Upset, Other G.O.P. Incumbents Win; Negroes Win in Ga., Mass.

Election day proved to be a good day for Republican incumbents in Iowa state offices, with the exception of Gov. Norman A. Erbe, who was defeated in an unexpected upset by Democrat Harold E. Hughes of Ida Grove. Leading the Republican slate for re-election was Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Cedar Rapids, defeating his Democratic challenger, E. B. Smith. Since Lt. Gov. W. L. Mooty, Grundy Center Republican was re-elected, the two top state offices in Iowa will be mixed.

Other state Republican winners were Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst, State auditor C. B. Akers, State treasurer M. L. Abrahamson, Secretary of agriculture L. B. Liddy and Attorney General Evan Hultman.

Democrats

In Polk County, largest in Iowa, the Democrats swept all offices, national, state, county, with the exception of Everett Arnel, veteran member of the Polk County Board of Supervisors.

Congressman Neal Smith, former Des Moines attorney, staved off a strong bid by Republican Sonja Egenes of Story City, to win his third term in Congress from the fifth district. About 80,000 voters went to the polls in Polk County.

Around Nation

Elsewhere around the nation, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and George Romney of Michigan, were

Negroes Win

For the first time in 92 years Georgia received its first Negro senator when LeRoy R. Johnson, Atlanta attorney and Democrat, won over another Negro candidate, T. M. Alexander. In Massachusetts a Negro Republican, Edward Brooks, was elected attorney general.

87 Unions to Sign Programs For Fair Practices Nov. 15

Washington, D.C.—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson announced today that 87 international and national unions affiliated with the AFL-CIO have accepted an invitation extended by him as chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity to join the Committee in a "Union Program for Fair Practices."

Joint Agreements

Joint agreements will be signed by the Vice President and appropriate officers of respective unions at a White House ceremony Nov. 15.

The number of unions signifying their willingness to participate was reported to the Vice President by William F. Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO and chairman of its civil rights committee. Mr. Schnitzler, a member of the President's Committee, was instrumental in developing the "Union Program for Fair Practices."

Pledge

The agreements pledge the unions to accept all eligible applicants for membership, without regard to race, creed, color, or national origin, and to refuse to charter any local unions in which membership would be segregated as well as to end segregation in any locals where it now exists.

Management

Under the agreements, each union and its locals agree to obtain management agreement to a nondiscrimination policy in hiring, tenure, work assignments, training programs, opportunities for promotion and transfer, use of employee facilities, and all other terms and conditions of employment.

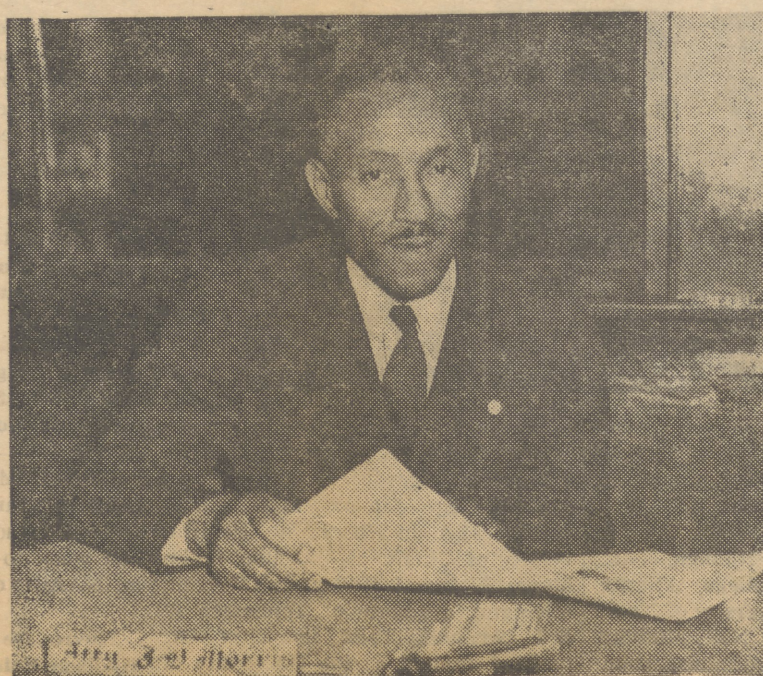

A further undertaking, applicable to those unions participating in joint union apprenticeship programs, provides for efforts to secure management agreement to nondiscrimination clauses in such apprenticeship programs and for insuring full and effective administration of such clauses.

Forty Years of Service As Editor of The Bystander

JAMES B. MORRIS

Working in Cooperation with others Produced Excellent Results in Human Betterment

When I assumed the ownership of the Bystander in 1922, I found that many unwholesome situations prevailed and should be cleared up in order to improve the economic and political status of the Negro in Des Moines. To permit them to continue was a denial of the rights of a first-class citizen and offered no opportunity to create sufficient wealth to properly educate the family and to enjoy things that the state offered other people. I felt that a newspaper could lead the way in helping to change the situation.

1. Negroes were able to secure menial jobs only. Only one Negro woman worked in an office, public or private; one clerked in a store, one was postmaster at the state house and one a chief clerk to the city engineer.
2. Negroes were denied accommodations in hotels, restaurants and segregated in some theaters.
3. No Negro teachers were employed in the school system.
4. Negroes participated in but few civic organizations of interest to the whole population.
5. Civil rights of Negroes were not particularly well regarded.
6. Decent housing for Negroes was not available.

I felt that a solution of these problems would help the Negro group and thus the whole city. The Bystander has given the program unlimited support. The Bystander was dedicated to this task. Today, tremendous strides have been made because interested groups, along with many right thinking white and Negro citizens, as well as the Bystander, have worked hard to bring these results about.

1. Today most large insurance companies, the telephone company, and light and gas company, several stores, the city, county and state offices, the U. S. government agencies employ many women as clerks, stenographers and general office workers.
2. No first-class hotel and restaurant practices racial discrimination in Des Moines. Negroes use them freely. And while some off-beat establishments attempt to do so, they are changing their practice.
3. The school system employs many Negro teachers; grade, junior and high school.
4. Membership on most United Campaign boards includes Negroes. They are called in generally to help advance new projects. Membership in the senior and junior chamber of commerce is fully open to all groups—some have participated.
5. No longer do Negroes need have fear of their civil rights. While violations may arise in some few instances, when brought to the attention of proper person they are handled properly and successfully.
6. Negroes can and do purchase property in all parts of the city because individuals are willing to sell. Thus, many beautiful homes have been built and purchased and occupied with little fanfare. Low cost housing is still a problem due to the shortsightedness of the city fathers and some selfish lobbies.

7. Most banks and other financial institutions make loans to Negroes based on the same conditions as those required of other borrowers.
8. Hospital facilities, which years ago were restricted as to room occupancy, have generally discontinued the separation policies by liberal room assignment.
9. Employment for men in better jobs is still a serious problem. Some plants offer chances of upgrading them while in most skilled trades they are relegated to menial jobs only. It represents a sore spot in the community.
10. Gains have been made in political activities in that while only a clerk in the city hall, a bailiff in the district court and a postmaster at the state house constituted early political achievements, Negroes are employed in most federal, city, county and state offices. A municipal judge and a member of the state board of parole are serving.

11. Practically every Negro girl beginning an office career received her first employment at the Bystander office. This is no longer necessary. Some of them are holding excellent positions today.

Most of these changes and opportunities have come as a result of a continued effort upon the part of a more aroused citizenry and a change of attitude upon the part of the public generally. In this the Bystander is recognized as one of the leading forces in these changes. They have not produced a large newspaper but have made a better place in which to live.

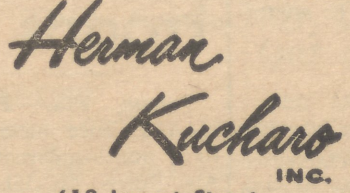

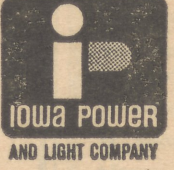

As President of the Des Moines Branch, NAACP; a charter member and former president of the Des Moines Interracial Commission, a member of the first Mayor's Commission on Human Rights and as a member of the Advisory Committee of the Civil Rights Commission, a member of a close-knit group of a few Negro citizens along with the YWCA, YMCA and a few of the churches all have cooperated to the end that most of these proscriptions in the life of the City of Des Moines have been wiped out.

The Bystander has made many friends and to all of them goes a load of thanks. Participating in the program of improved status of Des Moines' largest minority for forty years has been a source of great satisfaction.

Student of the Week

This is the first in a series featuring youth in our junior and senior high schools throughout Iowa, who are setting wholesome examples not only in their schools, but in their homes, churches, sports, jobs, and other activities. They are the reasons why the leadership of the world will be in good hands in the decades to come.

On Tuesday evening a Negro youth became the first of his race to be presented with the Eagle scout award in the Sunrise district. He is William C. Robinson III, 14, 1223 Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Robinson, Jr.

He received the award, highest in scouting, at a court of honor at 7:30 p.m. at Logan school. A ninth grade student at Amos Hiatt junior high school, he is a member of Boy Scout Troop 5, sponsored by AM-VETS Post No. 7.

His achievements in school include officiating at intramural sports at school; he also plays the bassoon in the school band and orchestra.

William has been a den chief, patrol leader, assistant senior patrol leader and junior assistant scout master. In addition he is Troop scribe and a brotherhood member of the honor society of the Order of the Arrow, Mitgwa scout lodge. He has attended Camp Mitgwa four years and has earned 28 merit badges.

In later life he hopes to be an architect.

Master of ceremonies for the program Tuesday was John Finley, with welcome by Eugene Harris and Tenderfoot Investiture by William Robinson, Jr.

Presenting the court of honor was Mr. George Cook.

HEALTH FOR ALL

So Tired!

Get home from work all tuckered out? That's perfectly normal. But do you wake up in the morning after a good night's sleep still feeling tired? That's not so normal.

Some fatigue is a natural part of the rhythm of living. Your muscles get tired after heavy work—you rest and your muscles aren't tired any more. You do a hard day's work at your desk and your nerve cells get fatigued—you relax at home in the evening, sleep all night and your nerve cells are ready for another day at the office. Or they should be.

Symptom

When rest and sleep fail to relieve tiredness, you have a symptom you should take to your doctor.

Persistent tiredness may be a symptom of a disease, such as anemia or tuberculosis. It can also be a sign that you are emotionally out of whack. The blues are often accompanied by a tiredness that hangs on though you might be sleeping ten hours a night. Persistent tiredness also goes with boredom, lack of activity, a job you dislike, or an unhappy situation at home.

Chronic Loss

True chronic loss of pep, whether its cause is physical or psychological cannot be relieved by taking vitamin pills, pick-up drugs, tonics, exercise or any other simple cure-all. Fatigue is not a disease in itself. It's a symptom of disease.

If you are tired all the time, regardless of how much rest and sleep you get, see your doctor.

Halts Segregation of Negro Troops in Tampa Hotels

Tampa, Fla.—Protests by the NAACP here have brought a halt to a quasi-undercover operation by Air Force officials in segregating Negro and white Air Force personnel brought to Tampa during the recent Cuban crisis.

Original assignment of troops to hotels and motels in the Tampa area had been on a non-segregated basis.

—or 83.4 per cent—are Negroes. Last year the percentage was 81.5.

Total

Figures for Washington and the suburban school district showed a total of 424,197 students, of whom about 30 per cent—131,281—are Negroes. Outside of Washington the percentage of Negroes ranged from 1 in Falls Church, Va., to 15 in Alexandria, Va.

Later, however, the troops were separated and Negroes were assigned to a Negro hotel.

Protects

Rev. A. Leon Lowry, president of the Florida NAACP State Conference, wired Air Force officials protesting the failure of MacDill Field officials to insist on housing of troops on a non-segregated basis. Commander Barney L. Johnson of MacDill Field denied any discrimination in the assignment of personnel but interviews with Negro servicemen refuted this statement.

Off Base

According to Col. Johnson, "personnel residing off base are on a per diem basis and free to select the hotel or motel of their choice." However, a clerk at the Negro hotel told NAACP officials that telephone calls had been received from MacDill and reservations sought for Negro troops. Rev. Lowry also reported that mimeographed copies of hotel and motel accommodations in Tampa had been seen on base divided into "white" and "colored" categories.

Marine Corps Anniversary

Saturday, Nov. 10, marks the 187th anniversary of one of the most famed military organizations in the world—the United States Marine Corps.

Born in 1775, four months after the birth of this nation, the Marines have emblazoned their Corps on the pages of history with such immortal places as Tripoli, Montezuma, Belleau Wood, Chateau Thierry, Wake, Guadalcanal, Iwo Jima and Chosin Reservoir.

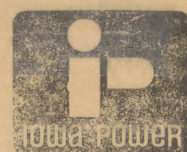

First to execute an amphibious landing, first to raise the American flag in the Old World, first to use the airplane in direct support of ground troops, the U.S. Marines are known as the "first to fight" in the defense of their country.

Family Finances

Rugs and carpets probably take more of a beating than any of your other home furnishings. However, there are several things you can do to make your carpets stay beautiful and last years longer—and save yourself the money it would cost to replace them.

Use an inexpensive carpet sweeper every day to pick up lint, crumbs and dirt from the surface of your carpet. A few minutes a day will keep dirt from being ground deeply into the carpet. Use a vacuum cleaner once a week. A good vacuum cleaner removes deep-down dirt, as well as surface material. When the carpet begins to look dull, use a rug shampoo to get rid of dirt that your vacuum cleaner can't get to. Modern rug shampoos require little work and are well worth the effort to keep your rugs and carpets beautiful. Once a year is the minimum for shampooing every carpet in the house.

IT'S-A-BREEZE...

with an
AUTOMATIC CLOTHES DRYER!

... and here are the facts to prove it!

A DRYER saves you work. Saves lifting and lugging over two tons of wet clothes per year for the average family!

A DRYER saves you time. Saves as much as 20 work days a year because 4 minutes in the dryer equals an hour on the line!

A DRYER makes clothes last longer. Gentle tumbling won't weaken fabrics. Whipping winds and brittle ice can do it!

A DRYER laughs at weather. Dry when it's convenient—because every day's a good day when you own a dryer!

A DRYER dries clothes cleaner. They can't be soiled by children's hands, paws of pets, or blowing street dust!

A DRYER means less ironing. Clothes are softer, wrinkles fewer—beats drip-drying for crease-resistant clothes!

A DRYER preserves colors. Strong rays of sunlight quickly fade bright colors, but a dryer never will!

A DRYER makes things fluffy. Towels come out 56% fluffier—all your washables dry soft and fresh-smelling!

These Pretty Babies Want A Home

These pretty, bright-eyed babies above seem to be saying, "Do you have a home for us?" They are among hundreds of babies and toddlers being cared for and available for adoption throughout the Holt Adoption program, which operates its orphanage center in Korea.

These babies are of mixed parentage, Korean and Negro. The Holt adoption program is seeking homes for the children they care for through churches. They have available films, pictures and slides of Negro babies, that will be shown free at the request of churches, their auxiliaries or other organizations anywhere in Iowa. If you are interested in seeing the film and slides contact Mrs. Beulah Stronczek, 1230 15th street.

Mrs. Harry Holt, wife of the owner-operator of the Holt orphanage in Korea, was in Des Moines several days last week, and appeared on Don Soliday's TV program and showed several pictures of the Korean orphans. A potluck dinner was held in her honor and she also appeared at several local churches.

Object of the Holt adoption program is to secure homes for the orphans.

Mr. Clarence Adams Out of Hospital

joyed a dinner party on Saturday in the church dining room. Also present were Rev. and Mrs. I. V. Tolbert and directors and supervisors, Mmes.
Cuba Tredwell, James Tyson and James Sisk. Each choir member was presented a token by their director.
The choir presented Mrs. Tolbert a necklace and bracelet set. A short program was rendered and officers were elected.

Mr. Gene Holt was surprised on his birthday when some of his hunting and fishing buddies came in for dessert and games. Present were Mr.
and Mrs. Charles Green, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Green, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis
Austin also Mrs. Frank Spencer, Mrs.
Bertha Holt, Gretchen and Jimmy Barber. Mrs. Holt arranged the surprise.

Mrs. Mary Harmon, 306 Cottage, is at home after a few days at St.
Frances Hospital, where she went for observation.

Mr. William Burkett, 711 Beech, is a patient at St. Frances.

Mr. James Robinson, 700 Cottage, is at home after a short stay at the hospital.

Mrs. Isadore Harmon, 408 Newell, was in a car accident recently. She is at St. Frances Hospital to learn the extent of injuries, which we trust are not serious.

Miss Charlene Western was the guest speaker at the fall tea of Fifty persons attended the first fall meeting of the Fort Dodge Interracial Commission, which was held Sunday afternoon in the social hall of the Riverside Methodist Church. The Rev. Dick Watkins, host pastor, told of the three weeks

he spent this past summer as pastor of the Kansas City St. James Methodist Church of the Central jurisdiction, (Negro). During his stay, the Rev. A. Cecil Williams pastor of the St. James church, was pastor of Riverside church here.

Rev. Watkins showed slides of the Kansas City church, its Sunday school classes, and a social center of a Kansas City Presbyterian church, with facilities for large group meetings, dances and dinners.

Richard Fellman of Omaha, Neb., who had been scheduled to speak,
was unable to be present. Rev.
Watkins gave the invocation. Mrs.
Annell Banks, president, presided
during the business session.

Women of the Riverside Methodist Church served refreshments.
Mrs. Anna Bell Brown has been sick in Lutheran hospital for two weeks but is better now, and at home.

Mrs. Maggie Johnson is in University Hospital, Barrack 116, Iowa City, Iowa, and would like to be remembered to all her friends and would like for all her friends to remember her with their prayers and a card.

Mrs. Lettie Thompson is home from the hospital.

To Straighten Records

SINCE warped phonograph records are useless in that condition, Popular Mechanics offers a suggestion for straightening them. Simply immerse the record in hot water, 140 to 160 degrees, in a cake pan or similar shallow,
flat-bottom container.

Over the record invert a dinner plate of a diameter permitting its edge to contact only the edge of the record. In other words, don't let the plate touch the grooves of the record.
Place a one-pound weight on the plate, leaving the record under pressure until the water has cooled to room temperature.

Can She Bake A Cereal Pie?

She can bake a cereal pie in the twinkling of an eye—and the aroma brings Billy Boy and his father chasing to breakfast. This pie is first cousin to Apple Betty, and a quick new way to add excitement to a back-to-school breakfast.

This version of an apple pie is so easy to make that even an eight-year old can easily prepare it. It's a variation on the basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. This quick cereal apple pie served with milk on top and to drink combines most of the essentials of a basic breakfast pattern into a delightful new creation which adds variety to that all-important meal—Breakfast!

Why don't you encourage your young daughter to bake a cereal pie during September—the 10th Anniversary of National Better Breakfast Month? Better Meals Build Better Families—Better
Meals Start with Better Breakfasts.

Quick Cereal Pie
1 can (1 pound 6 ounce)
apple, peach or blueberry pie filling 3 cups corn flakes, crushed to make 1 1/2 cups crumbs
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Spoon pie filling into an 8-inch pie pan. Combine and tightly mix corn flakes, butter or margarine, brown sugar, and cinnamon; sprinkle over pie filling. Bake in moderate oven (350°F) until cereal is lightly browned and filling is heated, about 15 minutes.
Serve with milk. Yield: 6 servings.

Quotes and Quips

"We will continue our struggle. When we 'sit in' we are standing up for the American dream. We are prepared to sit in, ride in, stand in, walk in and wade in. If we are beaten, we will endure it with the strength of the spirit. If we are jailed, we will turn the jails into havens of freedom and dignity. If we face death, we will try to do so calmly with our thoughts on our great purpose." — Martin Luther King.

"A Barclay Heights resident claims his neighbor doesn't like TV much. He just sits and glares at it all evening." — Donald S. Fellows, Saugerties (N.Y.) Catskill Mountain Star.

"After you've heard two eyewitness accounts of an auto accident, you begin to wonder about history." — H. R. Smith, Brookville (O.) Star.

"A merchant friend advises that while business isn't what it should be, it's less worse." — Robert O. Gauger, Whitehall (Wis.) Times.

CORE Gandhi Award To Eric Weinberger

New York, N.Y.—The Congress of Racial Equality's Third Annual Gandhi Award will be presented to Eric Weinberger at the Hotel Commodore here Nov. 8. The announcement was made today by the Gandhi Award Chairman, Shelley Appleton. He said that A. Philip Randolph, President of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters would present the Award.

Eric Weinberger will receive the Award for his work with evicted sharecroppers in Haywood County, Tennessee. A year ago, the 30-year-old New Yorker went to Brownsville, Tennessee with a scheme for developing a home industry. The idea was formed with the hope of aiding those Negroes who were evicted from their farms for attempting to register for voting.

at the Val-Air.

We have been getting some response for candidates for the new series, "People You Know." Due to unforeseen circumstance and scheduled sequences, we have missed several weeks, but we will get it going again with few breaks in between, we hope.

We are still appealing—to you for likely persons for the series as well as Student of the Week."

Ohioan Returns Home After Des Moines Visit

Mrs. Alice Williams of Cleveland, Ohio, returned to her home Sunday night, Oct. 28, after a 12 day visit with relatives and friends in Des Moines.

While in the city she was the houseguest of her sister, Mrs. Marguerite A. Biley, 2527 Onawa Street, and was entertained by three other sisters, Mesdames Amie Jackson, Bessie Bagby and Audrey Smart. She was also the recipient of courtesies extended her by her three brothers, Messrs. Granville Williams, Arzanla Williams and Paris Williams.

Sunday afternoon, Oct. 28, a family reunion was held at the home of Mrs. Bailey in honor of Mrs. Williams. Family and friends in attendance were: Messrs. and Mesdames Frank L. Bailey, Paris Williams, Henry L. Bagby, Herbert L. Smart, Frank Bailey, Jr., and sons, Arzanla S. Williams and Son, Theodore Wheat and Fred Hardiman.

Mrs. Williams, a former Des Moines resident, had not visited in the city for the past 15 years and was indeed happy to see her many relatives and friends. Another sister, Mrs. Blanche Allen resides in Canton, Ohio, and another brother, Mr. Earl Williams, resides in Chicago, Ill.

Film on Brazil At North High

"A STORY OF BRAZIL," filmed and narrated by Curtis Nagel, will be presented by the Department of Adult Education of the Des Moines Public Schools at North High School auditorium, Thursday, Nov. 15, at 7:45 p.m. Doors open at 7:00 p.m. with an organ prelude beginning at 7:15.

Opening with the breath-taking and almost unbelievable beauty of Rio de Janeiro—the Paris of our western world—this newest color-quest explores every facet of fabulous Rio. Traveling on by air, we fly over rivers, mountains and jungles to visit Sao Paulo, Santos, and the capital city of Brasilia. Seemingly hidden from the world, in the deep jungles of Brazil, is the stupendous and magnificent Iguazu Falls—five times the size of Niagara. The scenic grandeur of the country, the gaiety and the way of life of the people make this an unforgettable experience.

Beauticians in Des Moines and Waterloo, Ia., members of Cosmetiste Clubs No. 1 and 2, Local 102, are to be commended for bringing to their 11th annual educational clinic and style show last weekend, Carl M. Hamilton, and his Vogue Esquire models from Chicago, Ill.

With 28 changes and in four memorable scenes at the Val-Air ballroom Mr. Hamilton and his models, wowed a packed audience with their professional class modeling of high fashions in the clothing industry. Most will agree that it is easy to spot a professional and a vast portion of the Negro residency in Des Moines has had opportunities to see professional models at work, with the exception of those who saw the appearances of models of Ebony Fashion Fair. True there have been models and more models but in Mr. Hamilton's words, there are people who take charm courses, models, semi-professional models and professional models. There is a distinction he declares and he and his models, with the capable, sparkling commentating of another staff member, Mrs. Elizabeth Power, proved it Sunday night.

However, Mr. Hamilton proved that he is also a professional at teaching charm courses and giving helpful hints for the ladies in informal sessions; Monday morning he held a session for beauticians and visitors and espoused on the small things, the 'do's and the don'ts' of correct walking, sitting, dressing and make-up.

He was quick to emphasize that there are many small, overall things one can do to be correctly dressed, according to the fashion world. During the few minutes we listened in we heard these pointers:

Gloves are worn at all times unless one is eating in public; kid gloves, 12 or 8 button, are always worn with furs, be they stoles, jackets or a full length mink. When gloves are not on the hands they are carried inside the purse, never in the hand.

Handkerchiefs, no matter how expensively trimmed with lace, are carried, when not in use, inside the purse (all the way), not partially hanging out.

When sitting a woman never crosses her legs; it is not considered good taste in posture; crossing of the ankles is permitted. Also, she never, never places her handbag on the floor, no matter how large the purse. Instead it is placed in the lap with the handle, pointing inward not outward. Stressing posture as one of the main assets toward looking beautiful Mr. Hamilton, said "Never slump while standing or sitting. If you slump while standing or sitting. If you slump or lean physically it means you slump mentally. Beauty is a matter of raining."

Contrary to popular belief he said smaller persons need foundations more than larger persons, because the smaller person, citing a size seven, tends to flabbiness.

"Some of the most graceful persons you see are tall and big," he noted.

Demonstrating how to sit down correctly Mr. Hamilton said most women when they sit, smooth their dress as they are about to sit or grasp the back of the chair with their hand. Correctly, they should step back to the chair, feel it with the calf of their leg, then all in one motion sit down on the edge of the chair and slide back with one foot remaining slightly in front of the other; then when they wish to stand they can come up in one fluid motion, one foot balancing their weight.

"Beauty is a matter of training he emphasized, saying most of us can acquire it by doing a little at a time until it becomes a part of you.

Speaking especially to beauticians, he said "you have a wonderful opportunity to elevate the standing of the Negro women," by keeping abreast of changes in your field, and by setting an example.

The weekend was quite a memorable occasion for us personally, when we were among charter members installed in the Des Moines chapter of Jack and Jill of America, Inc. In addition we were winner of the beautiful centerpiece of pink roses when place cards were placed in a hat and drawn by our national president, Mrs. Margaret E. Simms, St. Louis, Mo. We have been so unlucky at winning anything in past years that we could hardly believe our good luck when our name was called by our local president, Mrs. Edythe Cawthorne.

It was quite a hectic but enjoyable weekend for Mrs. William (Edith) Sharp, also. She was also installed as a charter member of Jack and Jill, attended the banquet celebrating the occasion, then she and her husband left to serve as host for the beauticians party at their home, 1800 Crocker street. Sunday was spent at the Crescent Beauty school, and of course at the style show and dance

FORTY YEARS WITH THE BYSTANDER

Since 1922, the Bystander has observed many anniversaries with special editions. However, in 1952, at the thirtieth anniversary of the tenure of James B. Morris as editor and publisher was observed with a special issue. This week the fortieth anniversary is being observed.

This is a long span of service by a business — particularly weekly newspapers — for many have been started during this period only to discontinue after the publishers found that the job is not as rosy as they had anticipated.

With the Bystander, the task of maintaining its publication has been no less easy as others. However, judging from the sponsors of this anniversary edition, it is not difficult to understand that a lot of people have recognized the value of a Negro newspaper in Iowa and have shown their interest by their support year in and year out.

Many of these sponsors are among some of Iowa's most substantial business institutions and individuals. On the other hand, there are many individuals and business concerns less able to join in this anniversary ad but year in and year out have given moral support to the management, paid their subscriptions or participated in such advertising program as they were able to handle.

Newspapers are a distinct force in a community. They go a long way toward moulding public opinion as well as keeping the people aware of what goes on. The columns are open to the public for expressions of individual thoughts as well as those of the editor.

Of course, newspapers make mistakes which they are glad to correct. But they reserve the right to edit copy and otherwise make it conform to accepted practices of the profession.

Operating a business for such a long period produces many acquaintances — some valuable; some otherwise. And working in a field, which for many years, was not so popular might have tended to lessen the zeal and vigor that the Bystander has displayed in the matter of human rights. Some toes have been stepped on, some people rubbed the wrong way. This is to be expected. But those who found themselves stepped on because of a forthright stand on human rights were thoroughly expendable any way — their defeat was not regretted.

It is interesting to have lived and worked with people during the past forty years — one of the most challenging periods in history.

TUESDAY VOTING
PRODUCED SURPRISES

The election Tuesday produced many surprises. In some instances Republicans were the victors; in some instances Democrats. This was particularly true in Iowa where Harold Hughes, a state commerce commissioner, upset Gov. Norman Erbe.

That different issues had their weight in different states is exemplified in the Iowa race. Undoubtedly, the liquor by the drink made a lot of votes for Hughes while Erbe just about ducked the issue.

The defeat of Congressman Judd in Minnesota, who campaigned as an extreme conservative, surprised many people. He championed the conservative cause and opposition to communism. His defeat and the small margin by which some conservative Republicans won serve notice that the majority of the people are not willing to support candidates who place their appeals on the balanced budget, concentration of power in the federal government and a construction of the constitution which places the protection of human rights in a straight jacket.

Of course there is the danger of those politicians and voters who go overboard spending the taxpayers money for services the people themselves should provide and with recklessness far beyond what a good business person would do.

2 Previous Iowa Defeats Set Stage for Stunning Upset of Ohio State, 28 14

By Staff Writer

Iowa City, Ia.—The Iowa Hawkeyes in their surprising victory over rough, tough Ohio State, must have considered the adage, "We ain't gonna take it sitting down . . . this time."

After three decisive defeats this season the Hawks regained their composure, whetted their spirit and desire to razor-edged sharpness, that exploded into an early bang-bang-boom 21-7 half-time lead over the Woody Hayesites.

The Hawks, with revamped personnel beat the Buckeyes at their own game in moving the ball on the ground (243 yards) throwing only four passes, completing three.

There wasn't any messing around this time. The second time Iowa got the ball they ramrodded 91 yards and soon later captured an Ohio State fumble on a kickoff, and banged over another tally for 14-0 first quarter lead.

Buckeyes

The never-say-die Buckeyes came back like wounded animals and Back Paul Warfield returned the Iowa kickoff 65 yards, then covered the remaining yardage to pay dirt in seven plays, making it 14-7. Then it was the Hawks' turn. Halfback Paul Greir returned the kickoff to the Iowa 36 and in a sustained 66-yard march that almost bogged down near the goal, Quarterback Matt Snykowny carried the ball home from the 1-yard line. The conversion made it 21-7.

Halftime

At halftime 58,400 spectators were delirious with the sweet taste of impending victory. It was defense, as much as offense that won for the Hawks against the powerful Buckeyes. They were held to only 174 yards rushing, 20 in passing. Sophomore fullback Vic Davis was the mainstay in Iowa's potent ground attack. The hard running, powerful fullback gained most of the yardage along with halfback Captain Larry Ferguson.

Score Early

As is Iowa's forte, which is to score early in the game and hold defensively, however, they failed to thwart the Buckeye might as they came roaring back in the third quarter, received the kickoff and took it all the way, covering 60 yards in 13 plays with their fullback, rounding up the yardage, with power plays. This made it 21-14.

Controlled Ball

From here on it was predominantly a defensive battle for the Hawks which in the end proved that they were up to the task. Because once the Buckeyes moved to the Iowa 10, but failed to score. The Hawks got the ball and their conjured strategy was to play controlled ball which they did handily, moving the ball from their own 44 to the Ohio State 18 before a holding penalty slowed them to punt. Finally, in the waning minutes of the game Fullback Bill Perkins recovered a fumble on the Ohio 1-yard line. This time Iowa received the break. This time it wasn't the Hawkeyes that did the fumbling.

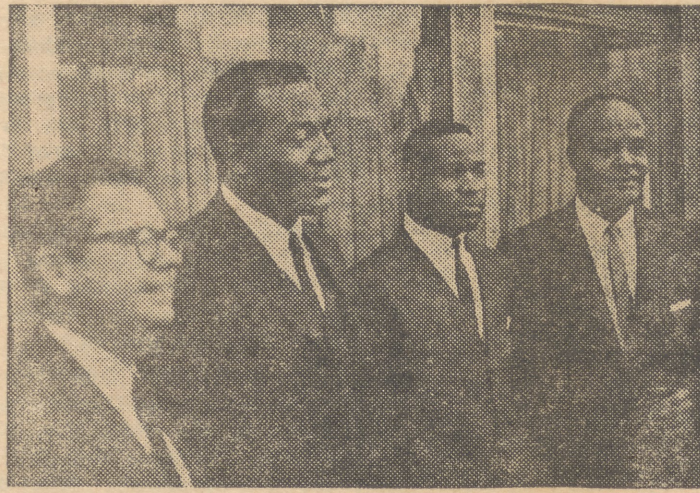

Impetus

Bucking a strong Buckeye forward wall, the Hawkeyes carried to paydirt in two tries. This win, with its sweetness, lifted the Hawks and their coach, Jerry Burns, out of the abjectness of successive defeats into the blissful heights of victory. The Hawks may have gathered the impetus and momentum they needed against defense-minded Minnesota Gophers next week at Minnesota.

Dallas Players Fined

Dallas, Texas—Abner Haynes of the Dallas Texans, was one of the three players fined $50 each for their part in the brawling that punctuated the October 21, Dallas-New York game in the American Football League.

Voters turned out far beyond predictions such as is customary in a non-presidential election year. This, of course, is a good sign indicating that issues and candidates are being studied more closely and greater interest is being taken in exercising the privilege of choosing the people who run the government.

Arch Rivals on the gridiron—co-workers in Business are Jim Brown (Cleveland Browns) and Bobby Mitchell (Washington Redskins). Both men also work for Pepsi-Cola. They are seen here at a staff meeting recently held in New York. (Left to right) John Soughan, Marketing Services vice president; Jim Brown, Pepsi-Cola Marketing services; Bobby Mitchell, Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., Washington, D. C. and Harvey Russell, vice president-Special Markets.

We wonder if anything can be said that hasn't already been said about the game at Iowa City last week. We recall that when coaches of the top Big Ten teams were about to play a bottom division team, they never liked to say they would clobber the weak team. So they came up with the most overworked statement in the Midwest, "on a given day any Big Ten team will beat any Big Ten team." Looks as if that given day was last Saturday.

Upsets

Aside from Iowa's upset of Ohio State which may be rated as the upset of the year, there was the defeat of Purdue, by Illinois a team that hadn't won a game in nearly two years. Another winless team, Indiana had the season's biggest upset of the year in the making for three quarters and 11 minutes but the Hoosiers couldn't quite pull it off. Northwestern got out but was too tired to brag about it.

Combination

We have always argued that just about all contest efforts are decided by a combination of luck, spirit and skill. Given two of those three things going for a team that team will win. Last Saturday Iowa had all three on their side. They have always had the ability to our way of thinking. Last week they had the spirit and they got some breaks. They will probably need all three against Minnesota come this weekend.

Drake

Drake came a cropper at Idaho State. The pool hall quarterbacks are saying that Billy Harper might have been able to make the difference had he started instead of going in behind. Maybe so. We were too far from the scene of action to have an opinion on it.

Craddock

We heard some fellows talking about Nat Craddock of Parsons college who will likely set a new state scoring record, breaking Johnny Kights, mark. The fellow said that whatever honors Craddock got he earned. They say he really worked all summer at building his strength and condition and it has really paid off this fall. Maybe the guy could make it in pro-ball. He is certainly big and fast enough.

High School

The high school season is over and it was a long one for East and Dowling. Tech finally put together a healthy team and looked like they were supposed to have looked all season. North didn't do a thing in its last few games but give Clyde Duncan the ball and get out of his way. Paid off, too. He ran at least one score against the last four teams North played and really sank two of them.

Cyclones Get Back
On Winning Track, 34-7
Over Oklahoma State

By Staff Writer

Stillwater, Okla.—Following last week's predicted loss to Missouri, the Iowa State Cyclones got back on the winning trail Saturday by trouncing Oklahoma State, 34-7 before 15,000 fans.

The Cyclones, with Dave Hoppmann, Tom Vaughn and Dave Hoover each romping for more than 100 yards rushing, scored the second time they owned the football and never let up.

Iowa State ground out 405 yards on the ground as Hoppmann broke Iowa State and Big Eight Conference career records by gaining 144 yards on 22 carries. His yardage boosted his total to 2,370 rushing in his third season.

Dwight Nichols, who finished in 1959, held the Iowa State record of 2,232 yards and Clendon Thomas of Oklahoma held the conference mark of 2,282.

Iowa State scored four of its touchdowns on marches ranging from 76 to 92 yards and cut Vaughn loose on a 53-yard romp for one of its two fourth-quarter scores.

Idaho State Topples
Drake Bulldogs from Unbeaten Ranks, 33-14

By Staff Writer

Pocatello, Idaho—The Drake Bulldogs were toppled from the unbeaten ranks, when Idaho State put on a display of power football, defeating the Bulldogs 33-14; the stint also flattened any Sun Bowl hopes of Drake.

Drake, overwhelmed by the fiery defensive play of the Bengals, handcuffed itself with a pair of fumbles that led to Idaho State's 12-0 lead in the opening quarter.

Before the onslaught was over the Bulldogs provided Idaho State with a third touchdown because of a bobble and at the finish had little to show for an afternoon of old-fashioned head-knocking football.

Karl Kassulke's 95-yard touchdown return of a kickoff in the tag end of the first quarter and a 56-yard scoring march finished by Quarterback Bill Harper, were Drake highlights.

Sweetwater Rejoins
Harlem Globetrotters

Chicago—Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton, veteran Harlem Globetrotters star who played with the Chicago Majors last season, rejoined his old teammates here last week. The 6-8 Clifton returned to the Trotters on transfer from the Majors of the American Basketball League. Clifton has been one of the Trotters leading stars for the past many years.

Liston to Appear
In Honolulu, Japan

Honolulu — Sam Ichinose announced last week that World Heavyweight Champion Sonny Liston would appear in an exhibition here on Nov. 19. The show will be staged at Honolulu Stadium. After the exhibition, Liston plans to fly to Japan for another exhibition in Tokyo Nov. 24.

Mr. J. B. Morris, Sr.
The Iowa Bystander
223½ Locust Street
Des Moines, Iowa

Dear Mr. Morris:

It is indeed a great pleasure to pen this note to you and say "Happy Fortieth Anniversary."

Forty years may not be long, but is indeed a long time to serve the people in the manner that you have.

Every week the Bystander is in the mail box with news and doings of those in and out of the State of Iowa. Better still we are informed about incidents and happenings that we would not know if it were not in the Bystander. May we say in closing, continue your good work and a sincere wish for many more happy anniversaries.

We shall look forward to reading your Fortieth Anniversary Edition.

Your friends,

THE ENERGY OF LOVE

The energy of love; we know, encouraged

Never ceased to grow; and growing, Shed its' gentle light, to quell

A harsh and stormy night Dispelled the threat upon a face

Banished fears that haunt a place Where eldritch voices may resound

And rise above unholy ground . . . The energy of love can win

A world-wide battle over sin, Bring peace in place of constant strife:

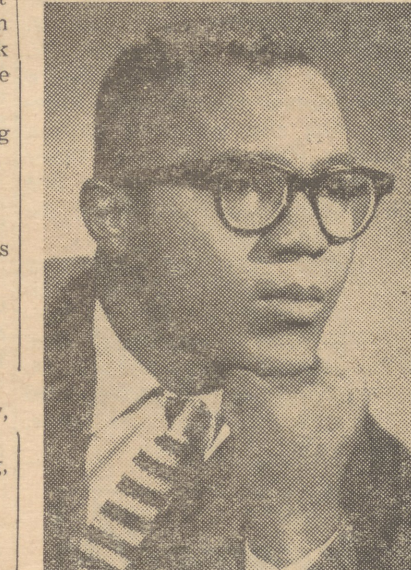

If love is first, foremost in life.

The power of unselfish love Transcendent in His realm above: Can cure the lame, the halt and blind And every ill that plagues mankind. —Glenn A. Gallagher. First American Serial Rights Only.

Craddock Sets Point
Mark As Parsons Wins
Third Straight Title

Fairfield, Ia.—Nathaniel Craddock set an Iowa Conference scoring record as unbeaten Parsons won its third straight title here Saturday, belting Simpson, 53-13.

The Des Moines senior scored

CRADDOCK

three touchdowns to lift his season total to 102 points. The mark of 94 points was set by Simpson's Moco Mercer, now University of Dubuque track coach, in 1924.

Craddock, second-ranked scorer nationally, turned in touchdown runs of four, 13 and 32 yards to give him 17 for the season, another Iowa Conference mark. The record of 15 was established by St. Ambrose's Bob Flanagan in 1951 and equalled seven seasons later by Luther's John Pake.

A former athlete and student at North High in Des Moines, Craddock is the grandson of Mrs. Edna M. Craddock, of 1109 19th street, with whom he makes his home.

Champions In Little League Football

The 1962 season of Little All American Football League has come to a close with the Northwest Colts gaining the lightweight title and the Southwest Packers winning the heavyweight crown.

In lightweight games last week end, it was the Northwest Colts 19, Southeast Rams 13; Southwest 49'ers 18, Northeast Giants 12. In heavyweight, it was the Southwest Packers 7, Northeast Lions 6; Northwest Cardinals 19, Southeast Bears 0.

There is one more Little League event this year, that will be the awards presentations to be held Dec. 8, 2 p.m., at the Des Moines Y.M.C.A. Details for the program have not been completed as yet.
