Civil Liberties Defends Powell

The American Civil Liberties Union and its affiliated New York Civil Liberties Union declared that "only the constitutionally enumerated standards for membership in the House of Representatives should form the basis for judging Adam Clayton Powell's eligibility to assume his congressional seat. Congress has no broader discretion since there can be no proper exercise of a power to review a decision which in a democracy belongs exclusively to the electorate."

The Union announced its support of Representative Powell's right to be seated after meeting the Constitution's qualifications of age, citizenship and inhabitancy, in submitting a legal brief to the Select House Committee appointed to determine Powell's eligibility.

The organization linked its position to the right of the voters in Powell's congressional district to be represented, declaring, "The right to representation in legislative bodies in accordance with the mandate of the voters is among the basic principles of a democratic republic. When so intrinsic a right is challenged, concern is occasioned for our most precious institutions."

In making the announcement, the civil liberties spokesman stressed that questions concerning Powell's

God Is Dead Theory Like Rights Myth

Atlanta, Ga.—Civil rights leader Andrew Young said the American economy has developed into a system of "socialism for the rich and free enterprise for the poor."

He said the idea that the Civil Rights Movement is "dead" is as much a myth as the idea that "God is dead." "As long as there is a little boy going hungry in Atlanta, and slums in our cities, and inferior education in crowded classrooms, and other injustices, there will be a Civil Rights Movement," he declared.

Rev. Young is Executive Director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

In a luncheon speech to the Hungry Club at the Atlanta YMCA, Rev. Young said the struggle for human rights and self-determination in America and throughout the world is becoming a contest between "haves" and "have-nots."

He told his integrated audience: "You must decide which side you are on."

saulted him because he refused to go in his cell unless he was satisfied.

Locked Up

They told Gerhart that if he would go in his cell, they would give him his diet, so he did, and was locked up, but he didn't receive his desires.

Later the deputies returned, put him in solitary confinement and ordered him to strip. Gerhart said there was no bed (in 10, 5 degrees above zero). When he refused, all eight knocked him down, where Tucker kicked him, stepped on his head, fracturing his ear drum and cutting his eye open.

Henry T. McKnight, chief counsel for Gerhart, stated that unless a settlement is reached, the case will last from five days to two weeks.

The sheriff and his deputies are represented by Ray Fenton and Theodore Duffield.

Carmichael to Speak At Iowa University

Ames, Ia.—Students and faculty members might have a chance to participate in an informal workshop with Stokely Carmichael, president of the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee, on Feb. 11.

The workshop has been only tentatively planned, and will be open to a limited number of people. Whether or not it will be held will depend on Carmichael's schedule.

Series

The Black Power advocate is scheduled to be on campus Feb. 10 and 11, as part of a Civil Rights Series, which is being sponsored by the University Lectures Committee with the support of a number of student groups on campus.

Carmichael will open with a speech in the Armory on Feb. 10, entitled "The Crisis in Black and White." The next day, before the proposed workshop, Carmichael will take part in a panel discussion with three faculty members.

This discussion will be open to the public.

personal behavior or his conduct as chairman of the House Labor and Education Committee have no bearing on the central question of his qualifications to be seated.

R. Wilkins Receives 1967 Freedom House Award

New York—Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, will receive the 1967 Freedom Award for "courageous and responsible leadership in the civil rights movement."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will make the presentation address March 29 at a dinner at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria.

Decision

The decision of the board to honor Mr. Wilkins "is intended to reaffirm the deep interest of Freedom House in finding just solutions for inter-racial problems of a human relations as well as legal character." The board singled out Wilkins "because he has steered a precise though difficult course, taking persuasive action under law, while rejecting the disruptive tactics of the extremists."

Vice President Humphrey will present the traditional symbol of the Freedom Award, a sculptured bronze plaque which this year bears Mr. Wilkins' name and the inscription: "He counseled wisely, guided firmly, withstood the storms of many seasons in the struggle for human rights."

This is the fourth Freedom Award in nine years with strong civil rights overtones. The Arkansas Gazette was honored in 1958 after its courageous editorial position; Medgar W. Evers, the slain NAACP leader, was port-

Triplets Doing Fine; Are First Children

New York, N.Y.—The three surviving Brooklyn quintuplets were reported "doing fine", at last reports. The quintos—the fifth was still-born and the fourth died Tuesday—were born to Mrs. Lionel Harris Wednesday night.

The father, a 31-year-old postal clerk who makes $106 a week, said he is hunting a bigger apartment.

The children were the first for the Harris couple. Mrs. Harris, who is 31, had been taking a fertility drug.

Three of the infants became bottle babies Friday, while the fourth and smallest, a girl, was being fed intravenously.

Wilkins is the first civil rights leader to receive the Freedom Award and the first member of the Freedom House board to be selected. Another member, Paul G. Hoffman, joined the board after he was honored in 1951 for directing the European Recovery Program.

Grambling College Receives HEW Grants

Grambling, La. (Special) — Grambling College has been awarded $12,600 by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D.C., for fellowship and traineeship grants to assist in the preparation of professional personnel in the education of handicapped children.

The award was announced by Dr. E. L. Cole, dean of the college, after terms and conditions of the HEW William Rioux, acting associate commissioner, Bureau of Education of the Handicapped, Washington.

Six senior trainees will receive stipends of $1,600 for full-time study.

NEWS in A Nutshell

El Monte, Calif.—L. W. Mullane, Chairman of the Board of Watts Manufacturing Company, announced that R. H. ("Dick") Owen has been elected a Vice President by the firm's directors. A well-known manufacturing executive, Owen has played a major role in the starting up and staffing of the Watts firm, which was formed by Aerojet-General Corporation last Fall to manufacture tents for the Department of Defense while providing jobs in an area of critical unemployment. At peak operation, Watts Manufacturing will employ some 250 persons.

Frankfort, Ky.—Negro leaders in Kentucky are looking favorably on a move to investigate possible racial overtones in the state's official song, "My Old Kentucky Home." The song is familiar to millions of Americans who hear it played each year just before the running of the Kentucky Derby. The controversy came to public attention Tuesday when complaints were sent to the state's Human Rights Commission, Gov. Edward T. Breathitt and the state tourist and travel division.

Kinloch, Mo.—Families of Kinloch whose homes were destroyed by the tornado will receive emergency housing in St. Louis Public Housing Developments. Irvin Dagen, Acting Executive Director, of the Authority stated that the Authority is working diligently to provide emergency housing immediately for all of the Kinloch families affected by the disaster who apply.

Richmond, Va.—Founders' Day exercises will be held at Virginia Union University Friday, Feb. 10 at 9:30 A.M., in Barco-Stevens Hall. Union was founded in 1865 by the American Baptist Home Mission Society and this year, will celebrate its 102nd birthday and the beginning of the 103rd year. Convocation speaker will be President Emeritus Charles H. Wesley of Wilberforce University, Ohio. Dr. Wesley is a native of Louisville, Ky., where he received his early education. He earned the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from Fisk, Yale and Harvard Universities, respectively.

Washington, D.C.—Textbook treatment of Negroes and other minorities will be considered at a national conference here Feb. 9-10, the National Education Association announced. The conference will be a prelude to the 41st annual observance of Negro History Week, Feb. 12-19, sponsored by the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History in cooperation with the NEA. The NEA has promoted a series of activities leading up to the special week observance.

New York — The NAACP annual Lincoln Day radio program, to be broadcast locally this week-end, Feb. 11-12, by NAACP branches in more than 100 cities, features NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins and U.S. Education Commissioner Harold Howe in a discussion of current educational problems with special reference to the schooling of minority group children. The 15-minute program commemorates the 153rd anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln and the 58th anniversary of the founding of the NAACP.

Crew Denied Shore Leave: Vessel Departs Before Named Scheduled Date

New York—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has strongly protested the State Department's highly controversial decision that allowed a U.S. Navy aircraft carrier to make a four-day stop at Capetown, South Africa.

In a telegram to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Feb. 2, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins declared, "Our country should have no dealings with South Africa whatsoever," and insisted the visit of the South African racist policy. "Those (Negroes) who remain on board rather than subject themselves to South African racial policy will be degraded by the fact that their country consented to the arrangement by which they and their patriotism and citizenship are scorned by South Africa," Wilkins warned.

Leader

The civil rights leader said that those Negro soldiers who venture ashore "will have their every step dogged by the hated policy which decrees where they may not go. The United States had no right to lacerate brave men in this fashion. We protest for them. We weep for them. We are ashamed as are they."

The State Department, in a statement issued announcing its plan to go ahead and allow the carrier to make a refueling and reprovisioning stop-over at Capetown, Feb. 4-7, said its agreement specifies that the government of South Africa interposes no objection to racially mixed personnel performing any military duties ashore.

However, it was also reported that while on liberty the Negro and white crew members must strictly observe the apartheid policy of South Africa. However, shoreleave for all soldiers was withheld during refueling at Cape Town Harbor.

South Africa

South Africans had prepared for weeks to welcome the Roosevelt, en route home from Vietnam, but after U.S. congressmen objected it was announced that the sailors would be kept on board.

The South African Press Association reported South Africans of all races were stunned by the news.

Communists Free Victims After 17 Month Jail Term

New York — Two Negroes were among the four Americans released from prison in Communist East Germany Friday night.

They were Moses Reese Herrin, 26, of Akron, Ohio and Frederick Matthews, 24, of Ellwood City, Pa. Herrin and Matthews, a pair of former G.I.s, were given eight year sentences each on conviction in a one-day trial just before Christmas in 1965. They were tried on nine counts of trying to help refugees escape to the West.

Herrin and Matthews spent about 17 months in jail.

Along with the G.I.s were Mary Hellen Battle and William Lovett. All had been in East German prisons for more than a year and were released before serving their full sentences.

In Akron, Herrin's mother sobbed,

From Capitol Hill

The House and Senate will have to work out agreement on a resolution urging Congress to set up a revenue-sharing plan gaining attention as a partial solution to the money needs of state and local governments.

The difference between the chambers came about when the Democrat-controlled Senate passed a watered-down version of a resolution approved earlier by the Republican-controlled House. The Senate majority, all Democrats, amended the House resolution, stripping it of its urgency and directness.

The four prisoners were driven into West Berlin via the Invaliden street wall crossing point between East and West Berlin.

Herrin said he and Matthews "were treated very good because we are Negroes. The Communists told us that we were being mistreated back in the states. They tried to make the most of it."

The aim of the House version is simple—the states should be guaranteed that a certain percentage of the federal income taxes collected in each state be returned to the states without any strings on how the money is spent.

Senate Democrats amended the statement to give the states "more discretion and responsibility in using the money."

Iowa Republicans, as well as many in Congress, contend no strings should be attached to the use of this money because it belongs to the taxpayer. The return of the funds for the last two years. Ella Fitzgerald finished third. Playboy readers also selected the following as their favorites: trumpet: Miles Davis, Louis Armstrong, Dizzy Gillespie; alto sax: Cannonball Adderley, Paul Desmond; guitar: Charles Byrd; bass: Charles Mingus; Miscellaneous instrument: Lionel Hampton; Instrumental combo: Dave Brubeck Quartet. . . Shirley Ellis' single "Soul Time" is giving every indication of becoming her biggest hit yet. Soul Time follows the hits of "The Nitty Gritty," "The Name Game" and "The Clapping Song." . . . Nina Simone was the first woman to receive the Jazz Cultural Award, and by doing so she was enshrined along with great Jazz Artists such as Duke Ellington, Jimmy Smith and Clark Terry. . . . Otis Redding's "Try a Little Tenderness" needs a lot of atmosphere to enjoy it, like a blue light in the living-room. You have to sit (or lie) down and just think hard about it and identify with it. . . . Eddie Floyd's album "Knock on Wood" has so many coo-puds on it. They nearly all have the same beat as his single. . .

From Stan's Record Review: Jr. Walker's "Pucker Up, Buttercup" still sounds good; "Barefootin'", an instrumental this time, with a bad, bad organ; "Everybody Needs Someone to Love," by ripping Wilson P.ickett; "I Been Lonely too Long," by the Young Rascals, believe it or not. "Waitin' and Watchin'," by Sugar Pie DeSanto.

Measles Are Still Deadly; Can Kill

It's time to stop thinking of measles as a slightly humorous childhood disease, says the American Medical Association.

Many people don't realize two important things about measles:

First, it's a crippling and killer. Measles strikes millions of children, but the ones left with deafness or mental defects or encephalitis—or even the ones who die—seem to be forgotten by the public. Measles isn't at all a funny disease; it's one whose tragedy isn't fully realized.

Second, measles could be eliminated as a major health threat. Some medical officials believe it could be eradicated in this country within a year. There's no doubt that it should be. Several types of anti-measles vaccine are available. They are easily administered by your physician and have been proven safe and effective.

Art Center Displays Chicago Art Feb. 11

The first large-scale Iowa exhibition of contemporary Chicago art will be held at the Des Moines Art Center Feb. 11-March 5. A total of 51 works of painting, sculpture and construction, by as many artists, have been selected to represent the variety of modern art in Chicago today. The range of styles is from realism to abstraction, and from a distinctive kind of fantasy, to calculated optical paintings.

A Talk With Two Iowa Representatives: June Franklin and Cecil Reed

BY ELEANOR TATE

"When I first came to Des Moines, the major companies wouldn't even speak to me."

These words came from A. June Franklin, now Polk County Democrat to the Iowa House of Representatives in an interview recently.

She was talking about Des Moines. On race relations, he commended ten years ago, when she took tests at local companies.

But this is 1967, a year in which there are two Negro representatives—Mrs. Franklin and Cecil Reed, Republican, from Cedar Rapids.

There are interesting contrasts between the two, with the most obvious being that one is a man, the other a woman; one is Democrat, the other Republican; one is totally against Black Power, the other gives historical examples of it.

Housing

But both will push fair housing and defend federal programs, although they point out some of the problems. Adam Clayton Powell would find sympathy with them.

Some of the goals June Franklin will work for are the fair housing bill, the minimum wage law and to establish a civil rights commission in each city and town.

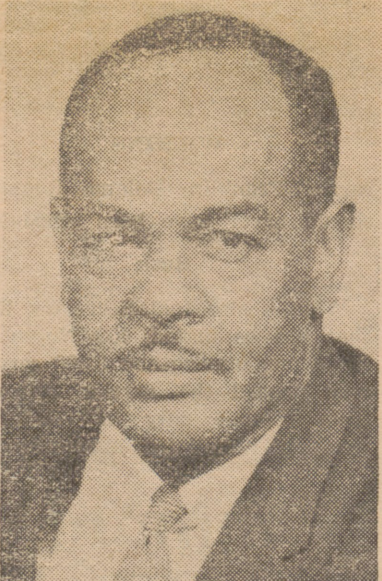

MRS. A. JUNE FRANKLIN

She has written to Kenneth Metcalf, president of Scott County Ministerial Alliance, as she has to all alliance president. "I asked them to have the people send letters and petitions to their representatives, urging each to vote for the bill."

"The people should vote for (civil rights Commission), because it doesn't concern them. They (people in small towns) have no problem with minority groups." She told of the Atlantic, Ia., situation in which a minister wanted to help by importing Negroes.

Reed

Mr. Reed, a Cedar Rapids Chamber of Commerce man for 18 years, has had much experience for the four committees he is on: industry and human relations, road and highway, conservation and planning and development.

"We in Cedar Rapids comprise only one per cent of the population, but we have very good diversified jobs. And in the time that I've lived here, I believe Cedar Rapids has moved ahead faster than any other city in the state."

Talk

"For years we've talked with white people, but they couldn't believe their people could do it."

In the minimum wage, Mrs. Franklin plans to help pass the bill which would cover hospital, restaurant and hotel workers.

In answer to whether Democrats would be able to pass bills in a Republican dominated house, she said, "Any good legislation that is really important, which is introduced by a Democrat has to have good sponsors and a lot of backing; I think that I will have enough sponsors to pass my housing bill," she said.

Education

"Much of being hired as a qualified Negro depends on education and the area where a Negro comes from," said Reed. "We have allowed a segment of the country to deprive us of decent jobs. The rest of the country inherits this."

"I point to the social structure and say, 'See what has happened to this people.'"

He explained that thinking Negroes could point to various streets of their own and know where explosions could take place.

"But of all the riot areas, the entire nation was hurt worst by a man in a tower . . ."

Views

The representatives gave their views on these subjects:

Q. Many people complain that the federal government programs are just a waste of money. Do you think they are effective or are they useless?

Franklin: I can see progress, such as that my neighborhood center has made, especially in the High School Equivalency programs. And it helps the elderly who can now go there to read and have clubs.

Reed: I think the Head Start program is very good. I'd like to see it expanded.

Q. What about Black Power?
Franklin: There was the Alabama bus strike. I'd call that Black Power. They boycotted stores. That's Black Power, and the only definition to which I'd agree.

Reed: No, I don't believe in Black Power. I am concerned with American power. I want to see that all people are guaranteed their rights. Each Negro has a duty to his country, even if his job is scrubbing; he should be the best at it."

Powell

Q. Do you think Powell's being ousted from his chair was a just punishment?

Franklin: Adam got caught in his own trap. When they took away his chairmanship, that was reprimand enough. I do admire him for making a retribution. We have enough Senators who are just as bad.

Reed: They did the only thing they could do. He flaunted his wrong doings nationally. To me, however, he was the finest committee man we've had, white or black. And when they finish Sen. Thomas Dodd's investigation, he'll make Adam's work look like child's play."

Stenographers

The Des Moines Interagency Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners announces a new examination for Stenographers and Typists. This Civil Service examination will be used for filling jobs with Federal agencies in the State of Iowa except Pottawattamie and Scott Counties. Applicants interested in working in Washington, D.C. may also take this examination. Starting salaries are from $301 to $398 a month.

Copies of the new Civil Service announcement for Stenographer and Typist positions are available at many of the larger Post Offices and from the Des Moines Interagency Board, Old Federal Building, 5th and Court Streets, Des Moines, Iowa 50309.

Job and Training

Kermit Dunahoo
Manpower Council

A weekly bulletin detailing present and upcoming opportunities for classroom manpower development training (MDTA) and on-the-job training (OJT) is published by the Youth Opportunity Center, a division of the newly-formed Manpower Services Center here in Des Moines. The bulletins, however, contain information about training opportunities in several Iowa cities besides Des Moines. A copy of the weekly bulletins should be available at local employment service offices, city civil chapters, OEO neighborhood centers, the State Civil Rights Commission, the State Manpower Development Council, etc.

Recent bulletins list the following manpower development training opportunities. DES MOINES: (youth only) autobody repairman, service station mechanic; (adults only) clerk-typist; (youth and adults) alteration tailor, building maintenance man, business machine repairman, food service occupations, machine operator, office occupations, radio-television service and repair, sales occupation, shoe repairman, welder (combination). All of these above Upcoming MDTA courses (and their starting dates) in other Iowa cities include: DAVENPORT — autobody repairman (March 6), machine operator (April 10); OTTUMWA — key punch operator (March 13), programmer (Feb. 27); WATERLOO — autobody repairman (Feb.

20); machine operator (Feb. 13), combination welder (March 27).

High school diplomas are not required for most of the various training programs.

ANNOUNCEMENT: The starting date for a combination classroom/on-the-job training program in radio-television service and repair has been delayed. Thus, there is still time to apply for these two courses running a total of thirty-two weeks, to be held in Des Moines and Waterloo. Apply IMMEDIATELY at the local employment service offices.

courses are available periodically at the Des Moines Comprehensive Vocational Facility on Bell Avenue (2403 Bell Avenue, telephone 243-5133). Contact IMMEDIATELY the local employment service office (545-6th Avenue, telephone: 243-7661) or

• The Emancipator • Sixteenth President of the U.S.

FRED DOUGLAS

• Abolitionist • Orator • Journalist • Politician

Frederick Douglass was born a slave. At an early age, he escaped from his owner and went north. He soon identified himself with William Lloyd Garrison, the great abolitionist. Douglass contributed valuable services in behalf of the anti-slavery movement, woman suffrage and temperance, becoming one of the advisers of President Lincoln.

LINCOLN'S GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We are met to dedicate a portion of it as the final resting-place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work they have thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom, and that the government of the people, for the people, by the people shall not perish from the earth.

Rev. R. Joseph Parker, pastor of Grace Methodist exchanged a portion of their congregations on last Sunday. At Payne a coffee hour followed and many remained to fellowship, after morning worship.

Two places in our neighborhood are taking on a new look. The Jesse Cosby Neighborhood Center and the B and M Grocery.

Senior Citizens who have time on their hands that they do not know what to do with, may drop in at Jesse Crosby Neighborhood Center any afternoon and play dominoes or whatever. Call there for further information.

There is among other things a class in hat making in progress at the Center. Mrs. Venella Byrd is instructor.

Black Hawk County NAACP will have regular monthly meeting on Saturday at Jesse Cosby Center at 8 p.m. The regular meeting time is to be the second Saturday of each month unless otherwise designated. All are invited to come.

Negro History Week is observed each year about the second Sunday in February, the objective being to select the week which will include both Feb. 12 — 14. The week is meant to embrace the birth dates of Abraham Lincoln and Frederick Douglass. Douglas calculated that his birth date was Feb. 14. Sometimes the celebration can include only one date and at such times the selected date must include the Negro Frederick Douglass.

Mrs. Katie Croket is now a patient at Allen Memorial Home.

We are always happy to print your news. Please see that your Waterloo correspondent has it before Monday noon in order that it can be published the same week. Thank you.

The Quad-City Area Missionary of the Illinois Conference Branch of the A.M.E. Church met Saturday, Feb. 4 at Gaines Chapel, East Moline, Ill.

Devotions for the day were conducted by Mrs. Grace Clay, Mrs. Lillie Jackson and Mrs. Beatrice Rose. The Area Chairman, Mrs. France Hopkins, of Davenport, presided over the short business session.

For the noon-day meditation, the Rev. Thelma William of Moline, spoke on the theme "Something Within."

Solo was by Mrs. Harriford of East Moline, Ill.

The skit "What do I Have in My Hand" was presented by various missionaries kneeling around the altar which concluded with "Christ has no hand but our hands" in part.

This was the first program of the recently appointed co-chairman, Mrs. Lotricia King, of Wayman A.M.E., Rock Island.

The area was saddened by the death of Rev. B. T. Hassell of Hassell, or Rock Island.

A delicious dinner was served to 21 area missionaries by the Gaines Chapel society. An appreciation of the fine hospitality was expressed by all who attended the meeting.

Persons attending from Davenport Bethel A.M.E. were Rev. Max Traylor, Mrs. Virginia Nicholson, Mrs. John Dixon, Mrs. Althea Freeman and Mrs. Velma Phillips.

MARY LOU COOK, featured in this column last week, has a very special gift for you and for me — examine it carefully: Some part of every day should be given to doing something creative. The use of ideas and imagination add fun and interest to living! Creative activity is food for the soul! To foster one's creative outlet, every home should have a work table. A table where the family can have creative activity is just as important as the table where food is served. Why? Again, creative activity is food for the soul! These words I have taken as an added guide in my daily living and I wanted to share them.

KAREN PIGGEE held her final beauty instruction class — or charm class — with a girls' group from the Church of God and Saints of Christ. The girls are enraptured with Karen's own liveliness and are drawn by her quiet, relaxed manner and understanding of their problems. She has a wealth of answers to their problems and gives of herself most willingly.

MRS. EULA MILLER participates fully in the local OEO program even if it takes her into a center other than her own. She is wonderful with young people and graciously consented to chaperone my girls' Saturday night party. (The girls will settle on a name for their group later and we will tell you the pleasant news!)

MARY BRUBAKER, best known to most of you as an actress and director, wore a fascinating bit of jewelry recently. It was a lovely brass necklace worn on a black ribbon. Guess what? It is a brass ornament used in England to decorate horses. This one was small and very distinctive looking on the black ribbon.

NANCY LINK'S ART WORK on display at the Unitarian Church is interesting and is on various subjects. Mrs. Link, a native of Buffalo, N.Y., first studied the techniques of oil painting with Carlos Nesita at East Aurora, N. Y. In 1960 she was invited by Eggar Kowalski, a prominent Western New York artist to study landscape and still life painting with him. It is said that Mr. Kowalski's oil techniques reflect the influence of the French Impressionists of the late Nineteenth Century and that Mrs. Link's work shows much of this influence.

Mrs. Pauline Humphrey Attends Jamaica Conf.

Mrs. Pauline Humphrey, owner of the Crescent Beauty School at 1407 Center street, attended the executive board meeting and international hair-styling show in Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 26.

While there, she and some 100 other beauticians stayed at the Sheraton Kingston Hotel.

Governor

Some of the Kingston highlights were the Victoria Crafts Market, with its enormous display of native goods, then they drove to visit the Jamaican Governor General, Clifford Campbell. Shortly afterward, they reached Hope Garden, the island's botanic showplace in the foothills of the Blue Mountains.

On Friday, Mrs. Humphrey browsed and shopped, picking up various novelty gifts and some of the many souvenirs of her trip—a large straw basket, dresses in the customary brilliant colors, hats, hand worked linens and mohogany pieces.

That afternoon she attended the business meetings, in which the board planned for their August convention in Atlanta, Ga., to be held in the Regency Hyatt House, still under construction. It is said to be the largest and most modern hotel in Atlanta.

Convention

In the 45th annual convention, there will be a "Miss Institute" queen for the scholarship fund. Iowa's queen will be Lillie Keyes.

Saturday, the group toured the banana and sugar cane plantations to Port Maria and Oracabessa on the North Coast, with a stop over at Ocho Rios, where they spent a stay as guests of the Playboy Club. Sunday evening was the highlight of the trip, the Hair-style and Fashion Review.

Book Review

THE CAMERA'S CHOICE: CHILDREN

How often have you decided to take pictures of your children, dressed them up and posed them, only to have them refuse to sit still, refuse to smile on command, or perversely ham it up for the camera? And, likely as not, before finishing you're angry and yelling, the kids are tired and crying and the pictures? Well, they may go in the family album, but they certainly aren't masterpieces.

That's where The Camera's Choice: "Children" comes in. This is a delightful new book in which a different philosophy of taking pictures of children is explained. "Take them as they are," says Jo Moore Stewart, author and photographer, who rarely poses children, yet takes memorable candid shots which are endearing glimpses of the essence of childhood.

She feels that posed pictures of children should be largely a thing of the past, and while there is certainly a place for them, the shots that you will enjoy most are those where children are shown doing the things that come most naturally to them. In her book she has hundreds of just such pictures, from the newborn infant through frolicking in the snow and eating corn on the cob, to preparing for first communion. In addition to being an informative and useful primer for professional photographers and amateur picture takers, this book is worth owning solely for the wonderful pictures of children engaged in childish pursuits, in natural settings and with natural expression. Just thumbing through it is an experience which will delight the most staid of us who may have forgotten how our own childhoods were enjoyed with such zest and enthusiasm. It is obvious that Mrs. Stewart thoroughly enjoys her subject.

The text is extremely well-written with many straightforward hints and suggestions to make your own picture-taking easier and your pictures much better. It is easy to read and understand, conversational in style. Basically, this is a book for the amateur photographer who may handle a camera only three or four times a year, although she encourages more frequent picture taking. For the real camera buff, Mrs. Stewart has included an excellent appendix of technical data on all pictures in the book.

Mrs. Stewart, a native Ottumwan, attended the State University of Iowa where she was chief photographer for the Daily Iowan. After graduation she worked for the Mason City Globe Gazette during which time her photographs appeared in magazines in Germany, Sweden, Italy, England and Denmark, as well as Life Magazine, Modern Photography, Leica Photography, The Chicago Times and The New York Times.

The book is available at our leading book stores. It is published by A. S. Banner & Company.

CRYING "WOLF" ABOUT THE SUPREME COURT

There are people, even in high places, who continue to harp at the U. S. Supreme Court declaring that recent decision have tied the hands of law enforcement officers in their attempt to enforce the law.

This is untrue. What the court did was to protect innocent people and even quilty people from the brutal manner in which some law enforcement officers carried out their assignments.

What happens is that the court has laid down certain guidelines governing how arrests should be made, how evidence should be gathered and at the same time how an accused should be treated so as to observe the rights guaranteed by the constitution.

Too often some law enforcement officials have used violence against accused persons in order to secure confessions, some have denied them counsel at a time when it was important that they be properly represented rather than simply inform them that they had rights.

Of course, all law enforcement officers did not follow that pattern, but enough did that brought the abuse out in the open, and once aired in the right place, results were had.

There was a time when mob violence surrounding the site of a trial did not justify a reversal by the Supreme Court. That is no longer true for it has long ruled that officers of the court were so intimidated as to prevent a fair trial in such cases.

The cry of hampering law enforcement is but a red herring to cover up inefficient law enforcement.

The rules being somewhat new will require a while to adjust. But as officers decide to put the time they spend crying wolf against the Supreme Court learning how to enforce the law, the situation will adjust just as any change in rules.

LINCOLN ACCOMPLISHED
MUCH IN DIFFICULT TIMES

Sunday, February 12th is the birthday of President Lincoln; the birthday of Fred Douglas, the abolitionist and a contemporary, is uncertain but is generally observed the same week.

Ask the average youngster who Lincoln was and his answer will be vague, but manages to say "he freed the slaves". And yet these men did much to fix the direction of the country. And while Lincoln lived to "free the slaves" his soul marched on in men like he who carry on the job which Lincoln had stated.

On the other hand, Fred Douglas, who did much to crystallize the abolition movement, lived to see the results of the both of their efforts.

Today, there are those who seek to destroy the image of what Lincoln did. They say he was a segregationist, believed that Negroes should "stay in their place". Some attempt to compare his accomplishments in the field of human rights with Presidents of this decade.

This, of course, is ridiculous. Lincoln lived in a time when people in section of the country were glaring at each other, when men in his own party, his own section used every effort to cut the ground from under his feet.

Lincoln, like all humans, was not perfect, but he kept in mind as he lived long enough to carry out his pledge made on the trip down the Mississippi that if he ever he got a chance to hit at slavery, he would hit it hard. And while he lived but a short time after accomplishing that wish, his work was a forerunner in the struggle upward by Negroes in the enjoyment of their civil rights.

Well, the big fight is over and nobody was surprised at he results. The surprise was that Ernie Terrell was able to go the distance. We still thing that in spite of Cassius Clay's great speed a fighter who can punch and pound him has a good chance of beating the champ. Terrell was never noted for a puncher for stamina, tiring in the last round of just about all of his fights. Oh well, the people who saw it on closed circuit T.V. got their mone's worth.

Our experts say that Clay will be champ for a long time, but they said that about Patterson and Liston, too. We read of how the Heavyweight title has fallen in grace and stature because of Clay, but actually the title has never had much stature since Marceano retired. He was hailed as the greatest but we couldn't see that. But people especially have never accepted Patterson as a champion, claiming he wouldn't fight anybody. Then they never accepted Liston because he was a bad fellow. So now came Clay, a guy who talked a lot and wants to stay out of the army, but who doesn't drink, smoke or swear and who has no scandal about him. And the guy can fight. Now what does a champion have to do to be respected. His religion should be his personal business and not held against him even if you don't agree with it.

Basketball. We thought IOWA U. might take a spill against Loyla of Chicago. Those guys have a so-so record on a grey day but are capable of beating anybody. Now to get back in the Big Ten race. Iowa needs a big man. That big man in basketball is becoming almost a must for a really good team. We could see the HAWKS as champs and even now they might make it.

This is going to be a long season for DRAKE. The boys just can't seem to get together. The potential is there, but just can't get unliaded. About all Iowa State has to offer is DON SMITH.

If he had some help IOWA STATE could fight in the Big Eight scramble.

Here at home. North got even with EAST by setting them down last weekend to head for that showdown with ROOSEVELT. ROOSEVELT served notice that the City title is going to have to be won from them. They seem to have hit their stride and TOBY HUSTON seems to be handling himself well. He didn't foul out against TECH and limited high scoring PETE STEWARD to ten points and then won Saturday's game with last minute points. We like NORTH but the RIDERS are coming in the stretch and will be hard to beat.

Meanwhile back on the mat, the SHADES of TECH and LEONARD PEAVY of NORTH keep on winning, heading for a chance at state honors.

French Lick Tourney
Changed to Bob Hayes
Invitational Golf

French Lick, Ind. — "The Bob Hayes French Lick Invitational Amateur Golf Tournament" is the new name of the highly successful French Lick Invitational Tournament inaugurated in 1966.

The new name was selected as a tribute to Hayes, who sparked the Dallas Cowboys to the Eastern Division title of the National Football League in 1966, and who as a second-year player, earned All-NFL first team honors at split end.

Hayes, of course, won two gold medals in the 1964 Olympics, and as holder or holds or co-holder or virtually every sprint record, is one of the world's truly great super athletic personalities.

The Bob Hayes Invitational Amateur Golf Tournament will feature both 36 hole gross and net competition for men and women. Awards will be in the form of trophies and merchandise.

Muhammed Ali Proves: "I am
The Greatest" Monday Upsets
Ernie Terrell; 15 Rounds

Huston, Tex. — A crowd of 37,321 at the Astrodome, an indoor record, watched Muhammed Ali score a unanimous 15-round decision over Ernie Terrell Monday. Referee Harry Kessler scored the fight, 148-138, Judge Jimmy Webb, 148-133, and Judge Ernie Taylor, 148-137. Under Texas' scoring system, each of the officials awarded Muhammed 13 rounds.

Muhammed, who recently said he will move to Huston and assume Muslim ministerial and recruiting duties in the southwest, had kept warning Terrell to call him Muhammed Ali, his name in the black racist sect.

Terrell

When Terrell would respond, "I met you as Cassius Clay, I'll leave you as Cassius Clay," the champion promised him the same kind of slow punishment he had administered to Patterson more than a year ago. It did not seem likely in the very early rounds. Muhammed weighed 212½ pounds, only one-fourth pound less than Terrell. But Terrell was 6 feet 6 inches, 3 inches taller than Clay.

Third

In the third round, Muhammad's own jab began to slip through Terrell's guard. When Terrell covered up more carefully, Clay pounded at his gloves, driving Terrell's own thumbs into his eyes.

Terrell had to be assisted to the dressing room and was unable to make a statement for 45 minutes. Then he stumbled out of the back of the dressing room where the physician had sewed up the cut, and told newsmen, "I want to fight Clay again and I'll beat him next time."

"I definitely will fight him again and I'll beat him if he doesn't use dirty tactics," said Terrell in a voice so low he had to be asked to repeat it. "He was chocking me and rubbing my eyes, and the fight was very dirty on his part."

Tax Questions and Answers

Q—Do I add the percent tax surcharge mentioned by the President in his State of the Union address to what I owe on this year's return?

A—No, the surcharge must be approved by Congress before it becomes law.

Q—I started work on my '66 tax return and find the new withholding rates have left me greatly overpaid. Is there anything I can do to reduce my withholding?

A—Yes. When the graduated withholding rates were adopted by Congress last year, provision was made to allow additional withholding allowances to taxpayers with large itemized deductions. These allowances take into account the size of the taxpayer's income and deductions as reported on 1966 tax returns as well as income and deductions expected for 1967.

Procedures for claiming these allowances are outlined on Schedule A (Form W-4) available at local IRS offices. This schedule and a corrected W-4 must be filed with the taxpayer's employer who will make necessary withholding adjustments. These allowances cannot be claimed until you file your 1966 return.

Q—I just turned 65. Will my boss stop withholding Social Security taxes from my pay if I go on working?

A—The law requires the employer to withhold Social Security taxes on the first $6,600 in wages paid each employee during the year. The age of the employee does not change this requirement.

Q—I support my daughter who was recently divorced. Can I claim her baby as a dependent?

A—You probably can if you provide more than half the baby's support. Check the dependency requirements listed on page 4 of the 1040 instruction booklet.

Q—There is one deduction I forgot to claim when I filed my 1965 return. Can I include it when I file this year?

A—No you cannot. An amended return or claim Form 843 must be filed for 1965 to claim the deduction.

Q—Too much was withheld for Social Security tax as I had several jobs last year. Can I get this refunded or credited to any income tax I might owe?

A—Yes, you can. A special line has been added to Form 1040 where you can list excess Social Security tax withheld.

This is Line 19 on Page 1 of the 1040. If you had two or more employers, use it to list amounts in excess of $277.20 withheld for Social Security taxes.

Q—I understand that the first $100 in dividends is not taxable. Does that mean I don't have to list that on my return?

A—All dividends received should be reported on your return. Page 2 of Form 1040 has a line where you may take the exclusion you refer to. Note that this is $100 for dividends of qualifying domestic corporations. On joint returns where both husband and wife receive dividends, each may exclude up to $100 of such dividends.

Q—I moved and didn't get my 1040 tax package. What should I do?

A—Copies of forms and instructions are available at any local IRS office as well as at many banks and post offices.

Q—How should I make out my check for the balance of tax I owe?

A—Checks should be made out to the Internal Revenue Service. Never send cash through the mails. Use a check or money order.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The many Americans who think Tuberculosis is a "conquered disease" will not take comfort in government estimates that 50,000 United States residents will come down with TB this year.

Nor is there a rosy outlook in the prediction that additional thousands who thought they had licked the maul will in fact have a relapse during 1967.

The Health Insurance Institute analyzed data and reports published by the U. S. Surgeon General's Task Force on TB Control, the U. S. Public Health Service and other health organizations. It noted, however, that in spite of the upsurge in TB in recent years, it may be possible that the disease could be reduced as a major health hazard in the next 10 years and perhaps eliminated by the year 2000.

The main fact is, the dread disease is still with us despite dramatic success through anti-TB control campaigns in the United States over the past 25 years.

Authorities estimate that about 35 million Americans are today infected by dormant Tubercle Bacilli. However only a small percentage will eventually come down with the disease.

The major problem in dealing with Tuberculosis is its stubbornness. The infection can remain dormant for many years, without noticeable damage to the infected individual, and then break out. And a "cure" must continue for many years before the patient can safely be said to have stopped the disease.

Figures provided by the U. S. Public Health Service and the World Health Organization show that the obvious evils which exist in most big cities—poverty pockets, overcrowding, inadequate housing—are providing fertile ground for TB to flourish.

A report published in the Journal of the American Public Health Association states: "This condition prevails in nearly every big city in the nation with the rare exception of cities in the most predominantly agricultural states with nontransient populations."

Furthermore, the report indicates that in addition to big-city upsurge in TB incidence, new cases are regularly reported in over 2,000 of the nation's countries.

Probably the most important tool in the fight against TB is chemotherapy—drugs capable of destroying tubercle bacilli when they are multiplying. Since the Bacilli can survive in a dormant state for years, drugs must be administered continuously for long periods.

If, however, the drugs are discontinued before most of the Bacilli

They say it is better to be POOR and HAPPY than RICH and MISERABLE: But couldn't something be worked out, such as being MODERATELY RICH and just MOODY?

To the Editor:

Don't you think the captain of the Des Moines police force should get put down in the rash of burglars in the city by putting on 20 more policemen on the night shift? This brings the night shift to 40. This also cuts down on the moonlighting by the men in blue but at least we know where they are at night. It amazes me of the intellect it must have taken to come out with a statement, "if we catch any one in the building and they run, some one is going to be hurt" or something to that effect. I don't see how this is going to be possible if they're all in cars or restaurants drinking coffee.

It kind of reminds you of the story of some Arabian and his forty something years past. I am not trying to say that there is something wrong going on again, but people in glass houses shouldn't throw rocks.

are destroyed the residual Bacilli may begin to multiply again.

Elimination of the disease is considered possible with adequate detection, care, chemoprophylaxis, and improvement of socio-economic conditions.

Watching out for the "human element" is important, as well, that is, the TB outpatient's diligence in maintaining his schedule of medication and care so that he does not become a source of new infection.

The debates brought out that under the present system the federal government is operating 170 aid programs authorized under more than 400 appropriations administered by more than 20 departments. This has led to lengthy regulations, additional costs, and, in too many instances, confusion over administration and carrying out of programs.
