Commission Hearing On Complaint of Bias Postponed to June 27

Monday was no different from any other day, except that this was the day that the Civil Service Commission's records would be aired to the public and perhaps present reasons why two Negro boys had twice been rejected in the last year as firemen.

Too Nice

One board member on the panel even remarked that it was too nice a day to have a hearing, and he was almost accurate in his prediction, for the hearing, set at 10 a.m., was postponed several times in fifteen minute intervals until it adjourned completely and was reset for June 27.

Tense

Outside the room Mulford Fonza and Walter Williams sat, their hands on their knees. Williams was at ease, but Fonza seemed tense. When asked what the delay was, Walter replied that the commission was discussing the possibility of "going on and hiring us."

Lawyers

Lawyers for the two applicants are Julian Garrett, assistant Iowa attorney general and city unit's lawyer is John Connolly III of Des Moines.

Accused on the Civil Service Commission is Wilton Seymour, chairman, Richard Hankinson, personnel director of Blue Cross, Blue Shield, Marion B. Cunningham, supervisor with Iowa Power and Light Company and Leo J. Danziger, former member.

Formal statement issued after the last delay was that: "Additional information has been made available during conferences since the setting of the hearing . . . both parties have tendered each other full co-operation in ascertaining the facts . . ."

Fruit

James Thomas, executive director of the Civil Rights Commission, said that they had come up with something "which might bear fruit." In the meantime, Des Moines goes on without Negro firemen.

New York—A major civil rights organization has announced it will appeal the State Commission for Human Rights dismissal of a complaint of discrimination filed by a group of prominent Negroes, including former baseball star Jackie Robinson, against an upstate country club.

Robert L. Carter, general counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, filed the original complaint with the anti-bias agency in January, 1966, following charges by Mr. Robinson and Harlem banker William R. Hudgins that they were discriminated against when they sought to purchase the $1,400,000 Putnam Country Club in Mahopac, N.Y.

Cough Syrup Sale Ranks High on DM Drug Count; Teenagers Vulnerable

By Eleanor E. Tate

The problem of narcotic cough syrup sales appears to be increasing at an alarming rate, but there is little that can be done now to curb the buying. This is the opinion concluded in a recent letter from Dr. Julius S. Conner, Director of the Des Moines, Polk County Health Department.

Conner said that "Prescription drugs . . . barbiturates, amphetamines, syrups, salicylates . . . are involved" city-wide and are more of a problem to handle than hard core drugs such as morphine, heroin or marijuana.

"The Negro community does appear to have an increased reported incidence of illegal drug sales and possession as compared with other ethnic groups. Non-prescription, narcotic containing cough syrup, used among teenagers and young adult Negroes is next in magnitude" after alcoholic beverages sold in the home.

Crowley

Sgt. Scott Crowley of the Police Department Vice Bureau, agreed that it was hard to catch individuals who bought narcotic — containing cough syrup, that, in fact, there was nothing that could be done. He said anyone could go into a drugstore, fill out a prescription giving his correct name and address and purchase the cough syrup. Pharmacists he said, could attempt to control the sale, by limiting the purchase to one at a time. Some did sell beyond one bottle a day, which Crowley said, was more than enough for medication.

Contestants

Among contestants are Miss Joyce Daniels, 17 year old junior at East High, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daniels, sponsored by Tawasi Club; Jennifer Bethel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bethel, Mary Church Terrell No. 1; and Miss Diana King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert King, Parliamentary Law and Culture Club.

Hosts of the convention is the City Association of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Gertrude North, president, and chairman is Mrs. Georgine Morris. State president is Mrs. Emma Turner of Cedar Rapids.

Mrs. Brown is a resident of East Chicago, Ill.

Prevent

Conner said that the Negro community and city should take preventative action in the area of prescription drugs, and regulated sale of alcoholic beverages and cough syrup, particularly among teenagers and young adult Negroes.

The problem, Crowley said, in curbing the sale of the cough syrup was that in setting the medicine on prescription by doctor would constitute a price rise and limiting legitimate cough syrup users.

Also, Crowley pointed out, that parents don't keep a close enough

NEWS In A Nutshell

New York, N.Y. — Denouncing widely circulated "smears" against a Negro farmers self-help project in Alabama, leaders of national Protestant, Catholic and Jewish organizations are supporting the decision of the U.S. Economic Opportunity Office to allocate $399,967 to the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association. The grant was made public last week and has come under heavy attack from Alabama political leaders.

Washington, D.C. — Ernest Ray Jennings, Jr., and Donald Joe Martin, have been accepted as Midshipmen by the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., and will enter the school June 28.

In a document submitted to the White House last week and made public by the AFSC in a Washington news conference today, the American Friends Service organization charged that it has found "inertia, obstruction, and lack of sympathy" toward equal opportunity throughout both the Federal Housing Administration and the Veteran's Administration. Thirteen case histories illustrating this charge, and twenty-nine recommendations for correcting the abuses, accompany the report.

Dallas, Tex.—Five students from Bishop College here have been selected for a special form of summer scholarship at Yale, Harvard and Columbia Universities. Over 650 applications from students in predominantly Negro colleges and universities all over the country were received, and of the 80 scholarships which were available, Bishop's record of five successful candidates is considered a tremendous tribute to the academic attainments of Bishop College.

World Leaders Will Receive Howard U. Honary Degrees Soon

Washington, D.C.—Three distinguished international figures were named today by Howard University to receive honorary degrees during the University's 99th annual Commencement Friday, June 9.

They are Angie Elizabeth Brooks, assistant secretary of state of Liberia; the Reverend Dr. Franz Von Hammerstein, minister of social concerns of the Protestant Church of West Berlin; and the Reverend Dr. James H. Robinson, founder and director of Operation Crossroads Africa. Miss Brooks will receive the Doctor of Laws degree, while Dr. Hammerstein and Dr. Robinson will be honored with the Doctor of Humane Letters degrees.

check on their children, though most, he explained, would not like to see them resorting to the habit-forming medicine.

New York, N.Y.—Poet laurette of Harlem, James Langston Hughes, died Monday night in a hospital after entering two weeks ago for surgery.

Hughes, playwright, author, literary minstrel, was born Feb. 1, 1902, in Joplin, Mo. and attended schools in Chicago, where Hughes said that he had been chosen poet of his class, and therefore had to produce some work regularly. This was the writing stimulus which helped him develop literary fame.

He gained further recognition when he took first prize in a poetry contest for Negro writers sponsored by Opportunity magazine in 1925.

It has been said that Hughes was one of the first Negro writers who encouraged others to write about the Negro race rather than to copy the whimsical style and situations of white writers.

He urged young writers to look around them in the early twentieth century and put down on paper what they saw, rather than what they would like to see.

His love for Harlem was often illustrated in his writings, when he told of "strolling on Broadway", the Cotton Club, where Negroes were not allowed, the Joe Louis identification, Charles Lindbergh's flight and the neighborhood reaction to it, the intimate slang used by Harlem-ites.

Hughes' initial employment included jobs as a cook, bus-boy and seaman. A scholarship enabled him to complete his education at Lincoln University, from which he was graduated in 1929.

Articles, poems, or stories in volume by Mr. Hughes have been included in numerous anthologies. He authored a two-volume auto-biography, seven books of verse, two novels, two books of short stories, a photo essay, three books of humor on the fictional Harlem character, Jesse B. Simple; three books of biography, two anthologies, and five books for juveniles and numerous other works.

Source

Recalling the source and inspiration of his writing, Mr. Hughes once said: "There is so much richness in Negro humor, so much beauty in black dreams, so much dignity in our struggle and so much universality in our problems, in us—in each living human being of color—that I do not understand the tendency today that some American Negro artists have of seeking to run away from themselves."

Hughes, who passed away in Poly-clinic Hospital here at the age of 65, had been a regular contributor to the NAACP's official magazine, THE CRISIS.

Spingarn

In accepting the NAACP's coveted Spingarn Medal in 1960, Hughes said he did so "only in the name of the Negro people who have given me the materials out of which my poems and stories, plays and songs, have come; and who over the years, have given me as well their love and understanding and support. Without them, on my part, there would have been no poems; without their hopes and fears and dreams, no stories; without their struggle, no dramas; without their music, no songs."

Hughes' mother was a school teacher and his father was a storekeeper. He was graduated from Central High School in Cleveland and later went to Mexico to collect material for future works.

Students Forced to Lie in Glass While Police Rip Up Rooms

Houston, Tex.—Student leaders at racially-tense Texas Southern University have called for the release of all students jailed and compensation for personal property damaged by police during a riot which swept the predominantly Negro campus on May 17.

Cleve McDowell, a spokesman for the campus chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, released the student demands to newsmen in a five-point program "to bring justice to the TSU campus."

Investigation

The National Office of the NAACP has called on the U. S. Attorney General and state and local officials to launch a "vigorous investigation" of the riot and "wanton destruction" of student property by Houston police.

The five-point program presented to city officials and backed by the eight Houston NAACP branches called for the release "in reasonable bond" of those students being held on suspicion of riot or assault.

The student demands also called for the elimination of police records against the 488 students arrested in the aftermath of the riot, and an "honest and thorough" investigation, "using forces other than the Houston police" to determine the cause of the flareup.

NAACP Assistant Executive Director John A. Morsell, who was joined by NAACP Special Field Director C. Anderson Davis in a personal inspection of the riot-torn predominantly Negro campus, charged in telegrams to Attorney General Ramsey Clark, Texas Gov. John Connally, and Houston Mayor Louis Welch, that:

Manhandled

"Students were pulled out of dormitories, forced to lie on grass strewn with glass from gun-shattered windows, all the while subject to verbal and physical abuse."

Mr. Morsell, in his call for an investigation by Federal, state and city officials, said Houston police entered the university buildings with axes and other implements and "smashed doors, destroyed personally-owned radios and television sets, ransacked closets and cupboards, destroyed mattresses, and ripped tile from hall ceilings."

Sacramento, Calif.—State Senator Mervin M. Dymally (D-Los Angeles), a member of the Senate Education Committee, called for positive creative alternatives to the type of disturbances which occurred at the University and recently at Jackson (Mississippi) State College.

blue lemons

by a. tate

We see many terms in the news media, but what do they really mean, Harv?

Black power—head of the household. Credibility gap—what time did you really get home? Escalation—from the Twist to the Shingaling to the Charge.

The 1968 elections: President—Aretha Franklin, who could bring respectability in; vice president, Carla Thomas or Sugar Pie DeSanto; secretary of State, Joe Tex, the Thinker; sec. of Defense, big Jim Brown, of the Browns; Sec. of the Interior, Tina Miller, who follows the sun; Sec. of Soul, Sam and Dave; Sec. of Human Relations and social gatherings, the Supremes, they'd have a White House party that would be blue; Sec. of appointments and keeping them, Lou Rawls.

Captain Beefheart—George Clinton—how about a 'blue hearse' . . . Oscar Brown, Jr., is trying to get a Chicago gang, the Rangers, into show business. Buy their records or else . . . Carla and Otis got here pretty quick. Do you know anyone straight out of the Georgia Woods? Someone, have you ever picked up Wolfman down in Nashville, Tenn., about three A.M.? This guy is out of his wedge. I think the station is WLAB or something.

Joe Tex: "Show me a man who's got a good woman" and I'll show you a man who has a whole lot of black power. Coo-pub.

Movie: The Happening

The Happenings, movie currently showing at the Galaxy Theater, has much going for it—the Supremes singing the theme song, the brilliant photography, even colors for colors sake, but there are a number of flaws.

George Maharis, actually a good actor, seems to be a puppet pulled by the strings— "He's here, he's there, he's everything, so beware" type of gentleman, and it is this ferociousness that makes him absurd.

The whole movie, unfortunately, doesn't actually begin to make much sense until it is three-fourths done. You spend that time trying to figure out how a car in the middle of a traffic jam could, in the next instant, be stopping in front of an abandoned house far, far away.

See it for yourself, but find a solution for the traffic jam.

"VIET CONG BULLETS "WE, TOO, ARE AMERICANS". PLAY NO FAVORITES"

"HUMAN BEINGS—SHOULD WE, TOO, ARE AMERICANS"

Leadership Conference Statement

On Anniversary of 1954 Supreme Court School Decision: Arnold Aronson, Sec.

Scarcely three years after Congress undertook to end racial discrimination through law, we face a mood in Washington that seems intent upon wiping out whatever progress has been made. Today, on the 13th anniversary of the Supreme Court school decision, May 17, we witness the most disheartening manifestation of this mood: a drive in Congress to halt the few steps we have taken toward school desegregation.

Funds

In the appropriations committees of Congress we see efforts to legislate by appropriation. Funds badly needed for civil rights enforcement are cut back. Bargains are exacted from government agencies that are doing no more than trying to carry out the responsibilities placed upon them by the Congress in the Civil Rights Act of 1964. We find further evidence of the retreat in the Senate, where the Civil Rights Act of 1967 is quite clearly bogged down.

The most glaring example of the tendency in Congress to placate Southern segregationists occurs ironically on this anniversary. It is the attempt to use the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) as a means for reversing court decisions and Federal law and halting the efforts to end segregated dual school systems. We sense a willingness in some quarters to accept as a price for defeating the Quie amendment other amendments that may be even more destructive of civil rights enforcement.

Leadership

We in the Leadership Conference do not believe that the people of this country are ready to turn back. We call upon the President to exercise the leadership he has supplied before, by backing the government officials and agencies that are trying to carry out their responsibilities and exerting his full influence to block amendments to ESEA that would have the effect of destroying Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Can your hair be damaged from brushing, alone?

All hair becomes damaged from exposure to sun and natural elements. Certain greasy compounds and many chemicals, improperly used, also take their toll . . . not to mention simple attempts at beautifying the hair with any brush not made of natural bristles. The results are brittleness, breakage, dry and dull looking hair.

Your professional beautician knows how artificial bristles actually brush away a great deal of the "lubricants" of the hair that give it body, lustre and protection. And trained beauticians claim that nothing beats Clairol® condition* Beauty Pack Treatment for overcoming brittleness, dryness and breakage . . . leaving hair lively and easy to manage. condition* is an easy-to-work-with creme which can even be applied during a chemical straightening retouch to prevent drying of hair that has been previously relaxed. condition* is the ultimate in repairing deep-down damage. And, when time is a factor for their customers, hairdressers turn to new Clairol® Hair Dew—the lotion conditioner that penetrates so fast many think of it as an instant conditioner. When applied regularly by your beautician, Clairol Hair Dew adds body, softens and gives a glowing new look to your hair that many friends will notice and admire.

Damage can come from using brushes with artificial bristles. But damage to every woman's hair comes from so many other causes that all human hair (including wigs) needs to be revitalized periodically. Visit your professional beautician and ask this expert to check the condition of your hair.

Only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

Fruit with Cereal and Milk Adds
Variety to Reducing-Diet Breakfast

Nutritionists recommend that dieters divide the day's caloric intake into three meals of equal size, starting with breakfast. A good breakfast is the key to successful weight-reduction plans. If you skip breakfast, you are more apt to resort to between-meal snacks or to overeat at the other two meals of the day.

Research at the State University of Iowa has demonstrated that young and old alike not only felt better, but they performed better, especially in the late morning hours, if they had eaten an adequate breakfast. To ensure an adequate breakfast, doctors and dietitians recommend a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. This breakfast pattern provides 1/4 to 1/2 of the daily nutritional requirements for most people. It is also the basis for an adequate breakfast in a reducing diet. Here is a 400-calorie breakfast which is 1/2 of a 1200-calorie diet commonly recommended in weight-reduction programs.

400-Calorie Breakfast

Corn Flakes (1 ounce) with Sliced Bananas,
Blueberries, or Apricots
Milk, nonfat, 1/2 cup for cereal
Toast, 1 slice, with Butter, 1 teaspoon
Milk, nonfat, 1 cup for beverage
Coffee, black

Wide variety is possible in the fruit, cereal, and milk serving. There are more than two dozen varieties of breakfast cereals, hot and ready to eat, both regular and pre-sweetened types, available at your grocery store. Fresh fruits will soon be in season in quantity. You will find that a breakfast planned according to a 400-calorie basic breakfast pattern is satisfying, inexpensive, and offers variety in your reducing diet.

Family Finances

by John Roberts
Insurance Counselor
Old Equity Life, Evanston, Ill.

You can budget without being a bookkeeper. All that is needed is a little common sense and nine envelopes (marked Food, Clothing, Rent, Operating Expenses, Health, Savings — Insurance, Educational and Recreation, Church and/or Charity, and Miscellaneous).

On payday put the amount you think you need to cover each of these expenses in the proper envelope. Keep this up for several paydays, trying to use the money in each envelope wisely.

At the end of a month or so, examine your "budget." You'll probably find that you have money left over in some envelopes, while others are empty.

This will tell you where you need more or can get along with less or where you need to spend more wisely. Adjust the amounts you need to place in each envelope accordingly.

Even if you pay by check, the same system will work except that you will have to do it on paper. ©

Protect Your Children Against Measles, Says The AMA

CHICAGO—Now is the time to have your children immunized against measles if they have not already received this protection, says the American Medical Association.

Many parents are surprised to learn how dangerous this common childhood disease really is.

An estimated 250 American children died from measles in 1966. More than 150 suffered measles encephalitis, sometimes called sleeping sickness, or brain fever. Encephalitis frequently leaves children with permanent disabilities, including mental retardation, deafness, and blindness.

Future tragedies can be prevented, because safe and effective measles vaccines are now available. In the past four years, these vaccines have helped cut the measles death rate in half.

It's possible that measles could be eradicated in the near future if more parents protected their children with immunization.

The AMA recommends that every infant be vaccinated when he is about one year old. All children over this age who have not been vaccinated and who have not had measles, should be immunized now.

It is especially important that children in nurseries, kindergartens, and the first two grades of elementary school receive measles immunization. These young-

Measles immunization is safe, inexpensive, and easily performed. See your doctor for his recommendations.

If enough children are protected by immunization, measles will disappear. It's time to get rid of this familiar, but often dangerous, and sometimes deadly childhood disease.

How to Even Up Chair Legs

WHEN a chair is out of level, one method of evening the legs is to trim the legs which are too long. A simple method of performing this tricky operation is described in Family Handyman.

Form a tube of paper, fastening it together with paste. Now slip it over one leg, cutting off the tube at the exact tip of the leg as the other end rests on the rung.

To assure getting each leg the identical length, slip the tube over each other one in turn, marking them to the same length. Now adjust the length of the tube to the shortest leg and mark all others for cutting.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Should every woman be a blonde?

Blonde hair is beautiful for those women whose natural coloring it flatters. But not everyone should be a blonde.

Expert beauticians know that complexion and hair color must complement each other to glamorize and bring out all the natural beauty that was meant to be. They also know that very coarse and dark hair often is resistant to drastic color changes. However, there's no doubt about slightly lighter hair adding excitement to a woman's appearance. And hairdressers know there is no better product to add a whole new appeal to every woman's look than Miss Clairol® haircoloring—extra rich Creme Formula or new extra easy Shampoo Formula.

Both Miss Clairol products lighten and color at once, combining vibrant new color with the natural pigment of the hair. So even those shades that look blonde on white hair (as shown on most color selection charts) give a variety of flattering red-to-golden brown shades on women whose hair was black to begin with.

Beauty salons are equipped to answer questions and help with hair color selection. Depend on your hairdresser to have the professional skills and the total family of fine Clairol products to make every woman's experience with haircoloring completely personal and glamorous. Should you be a blonde? If you don't really know, ask your expert hairdresser.

Homemade Peach Conserve is Ideal Gift

Each time you make a batch of this rich-flavored, quick-cooking peach and pineapple conserve, pack part of it in some interesting way for gift use.

For a bridal shower, for example, fill a measuring cup with the conserve and tie the recipe onto the handle. Or fill a couple of tall drinking glasses and give them, complete, with straw jackets or coasters.

For a hostess gift any time, or for Christmas giving (yes, Christmas is coming sooner than you think) pack a cute breakfast jam jar with the delectable spread.

Peach Conserve Tropical
Dice coarsely enough ripe peaches to make 6 cups (it will take about 4 lbs., or 8 to 10 medium-size peaches.) Mix with ¾ cup canned crushed pineapple (not drained) in large kettle and cook 3 or 4 minutes, to soften the peaches slightly. Then add 4 cups C and H Pure Cane Granulated Sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. And also, if you like, 1 or 2 tablespoons finely chopped candied ginger. Boil hard, stirring about 20 minutes, or until as thick as you like it. (Test by cooling a spoonful quickly on a cold saucer.) Let conserve cool in kettle, or pour into a shallow bowl. Stir occasionally while cooling, so fruit will absorb syrup, and won't float. Pack cold in small jars or glasses. Cover with thin coat of melted paraffin. Put on lids; label and date jars. Store in cool, dry, dark place. Makes 5 or 6 glasses.

GOV. ROMNEY FACES
SERIOUS ISSUES

Gov. George Romney of Michigan, speaking at a Republican breakfast in Des Moines Saturday, said America would never be destroyed from within but was threatened from without by people who have strayed from the principles dear to the nation.

"The greatest threats facing us," he continued, "is the decline in our religious convictions, in our moral character, in family life and in the principles of personal responsibility on which our nation was founded."

With this most people will agree for officials seem powerless or refuse to enforce the law against powerful interests and at the same time call for tighter measures against the petty criminal.

We call for freedom of the individual and too many believe this means "to misuse other people and their property."

We seek security for the retired and the worker without a job and too many take this as a license to wait for Uncle Sam to take care of them.

Gov. Romney told the audience that strong nationwide unions and management take the big part of the ultimate price of what farmers produce but people in high places refuse to meet the issue squarely.

He made a strong plea for civil rights, terming it at a crucial stage and yet one of the most difficult problems we face. But Romney, like he is, insisted that law and order must prevail or none of the pressing problems will be solved.

It is not often that individuals in high places are willing to tell the truth even though true and it hurts, at times.

This speech indicates clearly his dedication to good government and fair play—all of which make him a formidable good candidate.

STALLING OVER AN OBVIOUS SITUATION

A scheduled open hearing on the complaint that two men had been denied certification to the city council for appointment to the fire department ended—was postponed until June 27th—in a puzzle.

The hearing was scheduled for ten at which time it was announced that the lawyers were trying to settle the matter—foolishness.

The public sat around during the 15 minutes when it was announced that further conferences were needed and another postponement was granted.

Again, the public and others concerned, sat around for another "lawyers' conference" and nothing came out but a request for another postponement. This was granted and everybody is to appear on June 27.

This is tommyrot and an effort to justify the decision of the civil service commission. These boys have passed both the written and physical examinations. The commission said they could not talk properly and what not and they were denied.

The Bystander cannot understand what the conference can possibly be. The boys passed or they did not. And unless some substantial reason can be proved that they do not qualify, the efforts to get together by the lawyers is a hoax.

The Bystander knows that there is ability on the commission. Some have had experience in these matters and can ferret out deceit and stalling with straight forward dealing without "waiting for better days".

These tactics hurt people who are working honestly in the field of human rights in their effort to proceed by orderly methods believing that right will prevail in the end. They know that the restless young people want something "now" rather than these stalling tactics which seldom produce results but in the meantime keep the people involved on an edge.

This past week we wished we could have been in two places at once. While Frank Massey and I were watching the big Ten Track meet at Iowa City, the high schools were having themselves a real barn burner at Ft. Dodge. We decided on the Big Ten meet because neither of us had ever seen one, and state high school meets were old stuff to us. We can't ever recall seeing a track meet where every body stuck around until after the pole vault so they could learn who won. It was that close all the way.

Best

We were not sure who the outstanding athlete was. Michigan state's Gene Washington, who won the low hurdles, placed in the 220 and ran on a relay team. Wisconsin's Ray Arrington set a new mile mark of 4:03, and ran second in the half mile. We thought he would have won that one if he had more rest between races. Then our other choice would have had to be Iowa's Bill Barnette, one of the very few top Negro pole vaulters we ever saw. And he was the defending champion. We thought the fellow had cleared the bar at fifteen-six, which would have given him a tie for first, but he couldn't get his hand out of the way of the cross bar.

But certainly the busiest guy in the meet was a fellow named Latogo Chlal, who ran in all the long races and had his first point to score. But the fellow always looked good until about the halfway mark and then he would fade.

We thought a bad baton pass cost Iowa a chance to win the 440 yard relay, and then we wouldn't have had to sweat out the pole vault.

No Pencil

It was rather peculiar, but as we sat there and watched one race, we could tell when there was a new record set. How? We don't know. We set two marks. We must have been the only writer who ever went to an event without pencil one. And we don't think anybody out yelled Frank. Whenever that guy is at any sporting event you know he is there, and you don't have to guess which side he is on, or who he is for.

Teams

But Saturday was a day for yelling for we don't ever remember a track meet where the issue was in doubt between four teams all the way until the last two events. Then we went from the track meet to the baseball field where we saw the last part of the one of the best college games we ever saw. Ohio State beating Iowa 1 to 0 to clinch the Big Ten baseball title. The boys from Ohio won the first game 2-1 and the second as we said. That had to be the finest doubleheader played in the Big Ten all season. Yes, it was a fine day. The weather ideal for outdoor sports, and the surprisingly large crowd made the most of it.

State

Then up at Ft. Dodge our local boys were having their troubles as Sioux City Central grabbed off top honors in the state high school meet. We were hoping Jim Kirby could make it a triple crown for the third time, but they say he missed the 440 crown by inches. The race was so close that both were clocked under the old record. But the fellow did tie the hundred mark and nearly led the 220 record.

To the Editor

A lot has been written about the Negro in America, the problems they face and the solutions. In my search for knowledge I have come across many interesting things about the people I am supposed to be equal to, one of them is the fact that an acute inferiority complex is present in them, and the ones who suffer from it must do many things to overcome this and put on a big act to cover it up. While in college I see students who make a big effort to be liked by everyone who they come in contact with and make some sort of intellectual impression on them at which many fail. The general patterns of these people are to drive a big car with about 400 horsepower or better and be hip to all that going around. Another pattern is to make it hard for the Negro to move into their society by placing phoney qualifications (that we don't have) on us. In other words jump through the hoop regardless how high. It is a bad idea, because Negroes continue to get further away from who they really are, (and I can't answer the question of who we are) and to continue to try and identify with the "Whites" is a waste. If you don't believe that we don't exist in America, try and see how many holidays

Buzz Barton Enters
Hawkeye Futurity

Buzz Barton, the ageless veteran of sprint car racing, has entered the Fourteenth Annual Hawkeye Futurity, scheduled for Sunday afternoon, June 4, at the Iowa State Fairgrounds.

The 51 year old Tampa, Florida charger won the 1961 Hawkeye Futurity and this past winter smashed out an impressive victory at the Florida State Fair in Tampa.

East's Jock Johnson must have been disappointed when he failed to qualify for the low hurdles but he made up for that by tying the mark in winning the high barriers.

Although North High was the best of the local schools, we thought they would finish higher, and that both East and Tech would get more points. Maybe we should have had Frank to spur them on.

more or less a closed chapter in this country when midnight bells ring out the current year.

This medical triumph has been in the cards since an effective and safe vaccine was developed early in the decade. Until that time, between 400 and 500 children died each year because of measles and resulting complications. Aside from the death toll, these complications caused severe and widespread illness, including ear infections, deafness, blindness, or other disorders associated with encephalitis. Respiratory illness such as pneumonia and croup also can result from measles.

Vaccine

Measles can be wiped out if the vaccine is given to every child who needs it. To achieve this goal in we have, like St. Patrick's day for the Irish. It might be a good idea to have the day Lincoln emancipated the slaves to start off with.

Adore Me

You don't have to say a thing,
Just listen, when you can!
You don't have to lead the way,
But gently hold my hand.

1967, the Public Health Service has advanced a four-point program. It calls for (a) vaccination of all children at the age of one year; (b) vaccination of all children in kindergarten or the first or second grade who are not yet protected; (c) improvement of case reporting systems so that better control measures can be applied wherever measles is found; (d) forestalling epidemics by general vaccination of children in places where too few have been

Congress

To expedite this program, Congress passed an act last year making free vaccine available to 80 per cent of preschool children. The National Tuberculosis Association, which combats all respiratory diseases including TB and works for general health improvement, has registered its enthusiastic support of the PHS campaign to wipe out measles.

For, adoration is so good
That even love does not surpass.
'Cause, love is just a hurting thing,
And most often, does not last.
You, sipping from my glass of scotch,

Your fingers playing in my hair
Are just a few of the things to do
That let me know you care.

Softly whispering my name
In the dimness, warm and blue;
Offering me a cigarette, and then
Lighting it for me, too.

These, are the important things,
To make it plain for me to see...
Your eyes, your hands, your lips
Tell me you adore me.
