WARREN STEWART

Warren Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke D. Stewart, 1062 11th street, honor student, graduated in the top 2 percent of his class at Tech High. He is a member of Kiwanis Key Club and letterman's Club. Warren plans to attend University of Iowa, with interests in computer programming.

Arthur Tillman, Viet Nam Soldier

Saigon, Vietnam — Seaman Richard Tillman, 19, son of Mrs. Arthur B. Tillman of 933 18th, is fighting a different type of war in Vietnam. It's naval war at close-in, point blank range; a throwback to the Civil War days of river patrols. It is usually boring and tedious, but at times exciting, and Tillman, 1965 graduate of East High School, has been fighting this kind of war off the coast of Vietnam along with the other men of Coastal Division 12, on patrol aboard high speed Navy "Swift" boats searching for the enemy.

Although the Swift is small and light, it carries as arsenal of twin 50 caliber machine guns and a combination of a 50 caliber machine gun and an 81 millimeter mortar. In addition, each crewman carries an automatic rifle as well as hand grenades.

Days may pass with nothing unusual happening—days of doldrums and frustrations. Then a sampan or junk makes for the beach in an apparent attempt to avoid inspection.

Coastal Division 12 is part of the Navy's Market Time, the operation designed to prevent infiltration of men and supplies to the enemy ashore in South Vietnam.

Negro Democrats Gather In Washington, D.C.

Washington, D.C. — Polk County Representative A. June Franklin was among those Negro Democrats who attended the two day conference here on strengthening the Negro Democrat and expanding ways to acquaint the Negro on voting processes.

Over 175 Democrats attended, including the eight Negro Mayors across the country. On Friday morning Rep. John Conyers, of Detroit, Mich. spoke, and in the afternoon guest speakers were Sargent Shriver, Director of the Anti-Poverty Program, Ramsey Clark, Attorney General, Secretary of Agriculture Willard Wirtz.

In a brief session with President Johnson, Mrs. Franklin said the president touched on the various achievements made, specially by Mrs. Franklin in housing legislation. Mrs. Franklin said that Iowa was much farther ahead than any other state represented in housing bills, since California and Illinois housing bills had been defeated.

She also revealed that she, Gov. of Iowa Harold Hughes and Republican Rep. Cecil Reed had written the president concerning the possibility of locating the atomic energy site in Iowa. The site had originally been scheduled for Illinois, but too many housing problems cancelled the plant's location.

Dymally

Mrs. Franklin said that California Sen. Dymally was scheduled to speak here in August as part of his tour, and remarked that she will be speaking in Delaware, Michigan and California on the success of the Iowa housing provision.

Another resolution set up at the conference was a planned meeting in Chicago, Sept. 6, among Negro Democrats to set up a legislative program to demand more voice in their respective legislation. She denied reports that the fall conference was associated with the Black Power Third Party conference set up by Black Power advocates.

Noted for Outstanding Accomplishments as Negro American Citizen, Senator

New York — Edward W. Brooke III of Massachusetts, the first Negro ever to win popular election to the U.S. Senate, has been named this year's recipient of the coveted Spingarn Medal, awarded annually by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for distinguished achievement by an American of African descent.

"The medal is presented annually to the man or woman of African descent and American citizenship, who shall have made the highest achievement during the preceding year or years in any honorable field of human endeavor," Mr. Wilkins noted in announcing the award on June 6.

Breakthrough

In 1966 Sen. Brooke scored a political breakthrough in Massachusetts—where the Negro population is under three per cent—when he swamped his opponent, former Governor Endicott Peabody, by 1,213,473 to 744,761 votes. He had previously the face of the John F. Kennedy landslide of 1960 in Massachusetts and again in 1964 when Lyndon B. Johnson won his overwhelming victory.

The purpose of the medal is twofold, first to call attention of the American people to the existence of distinguished merit and achievement among American Negroes, and secondly, to serve as a reward for such achievement, and as a stimulus to the ambition of colored youth.

First

Sen. Brooke, the first elected official to receive the Spingarn award, repudiated Barry Goldwater's candidacy in 1964, and later published "The Challenge of Change," a book highly critical of the GOP's approach to the electorate for the past 50 years.

A graduate of Howard University in Washington, D.C., and the Boston University Law School, Sen. Brooke saw combat action in Italy and won the Bronze Star while climbing to the rank of captain.

When he receives the 52nd Spingarn Medal at the NAACP's annual convention in Boston, July 10-15, Sen. Brooke will join a distinguished list of past winners, including Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Thurgood Marshall, A. Philip Randolph, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Roy Wilkins, Langston Hughes, Leontyne Price and John H. Johnson. The Spingarn Medal was instituted in 1924 by the late J. E. Spingarn, then chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors and later president of the Association until his death in 1939.

Mrs. Greene, Mrs. Spivey Tell of Experience In Parental Apathy

"We have to give them incentive, we have to trust them. They want so bad for something to do," Mrs. Beatrice Spivey voiced the hopes of teenagers in the Forest Hills Opportunity Center as she sat in the Bystander office.

"We're trying to get live music in here for the parking lot dances at the Center on Saturday nights. The Center will be open two nights a week until twelve midnight."

Mrs. Spivey defended Des Moines young people. "These kids aren't really bad, but people expect them to be. Their parents don't trust them, so they think weel toward themselves."

Hit Hard

The lady from Denver, Colo., hit hard at the parents of young people, especially of those whose children roamed the streets at all times of the night. "You have to give the children something constructive to do, so they won't be destructive. They think one child's misdeeds are examples of all kids."

Workers

She said that young college students were on hand at the Center, working with the teenagers, trying to help orient them toward being responsible citizens, even if the parents weren't. "If we can get persons outside to come in, why can't the parents?"

Mrs. Greene

Mrs. Spivey's talk is an excellent evaluation on many child-parent relations throughout the city. An appropriate example is that which happened to Mrs. Guye E. Greene one Saturday when she was driving between Carpenter and Forest on 18th street. It was fortunate that she was not speeding because she saw in her amazement two toddlers in the street, lying in the street. Somehow she got them out of the street and drove a way when looking back, she had found that they had returned and were again in the street. Mrs. Greene was positive that the little boy and girl were no older than three.

Mrs. Spivey summed up: "Some parents are so rushed and busy with their own life that they can't see how they are hurting the child."

Charleston, S.C. — The NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) last week asked the Federal Communications Commission and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to investigate circumstances around the reported delay of telephone service for Negro political candidates in Charleston, South Carolina.

You thought you'd never make it, after fighting in the halls, pulling off people's wigs in class, sleeping in study hall, doing English in math class, and doing math in history. But you graduated.

At the risk of scaring some of the paper peepers, here goes: Miss Eleanor E. Tate, daughter of Mrs. Lillie M. Tate, of 683 25th street, graduated in one way or another, from Roosevelt High School. Miss Tate participated in Scribblers' Club, was part-time poet for the Round-up newspaper, was a national Thespians, and would be still if she'd pay her dues. Miss Tate, who recently refused membership at Famous Writers School, plans or thinks about going to Drake sometime in the future, give or take a few centuries . . .

Big-time

Esther Kelly, from Grambling, La., tells me about some of the rhythm and blues people she frequently saw, like Aretha Franklin and her father minister. Aretha was lead singer in her dad's Choir at that time, and on some fine day groups like the Staple Singers, Aretha and the Original Blind Boys Gospel Choirs would convene and really tear up.

On her school paper, she interviewed Otis Redding . . . used to go with Booker T. of the Booker T. and MG's Group . . . has a friend called Betty Swan who gigs in California now, has a record or two out.

Ed Perle, of Motown, has confirmed the Tops coming to DM, but I heard that if the advance sales aren't high enough by June 6, they won't show. So get out there and buy them tickets.

Don't forget Mrs. Spivey. She's planning summer parking lot dances at the Forest Center for you.

Here's a new one—the Sissy, or the Sophisticated Sissy, sweeping underground with Rufus Thomas making the new dance known. Watch for it.

To Our Readers

News from out-of-town correspondents should reach the Bystander no later than Wednesday morning. If you can possibly get your news in earlier the staff would greatly appreciate it.

"STILL A WEAPON FOR FREEDOM!"

From Capital Hill

A few odds and ends collected as the Legislature entered the home stretch following the Memorial Day recess. In the House, the stage was set for full-scale debate on several which earlier passed the Senate. The proposals would replace the present three-member State Tax Commission with a one-man director of revenue and place all collection of state funds in one department.

Merge

Another proposal would merge the State Department of Social Welfare, the Board of Control, which handles the state's mental and penal institutions, and the Board of Parole into a newly-created department of social services.

Aim

The aim of reorganization is to streamline the government to make it more economical and efficient. During the last election campaigns, some Republicans said effective reorganization could save the state around $10 million a year. Such plans are usually controversial. Some oppose the plans because they are unsure how the new, enlarged departments will work.

Accuses Post Office Of Discrimination

Washington, D. C. — Ashby G. Smith, President of the Nation Alliance of Postal and Federal Employees, charged the United States Post Office with gross discrimination and called for immediate action to provide equal employment opportunity for all postal employees. Smith called the U. S. Postal Service "one of the most politically oriented operations in the Federal government", and said Negroes do not play a significant role in the "politics" of the system.

Oon

Stating that only one Negro in the Post Office today holds a policymaking position, the NAPEE official said the postal agency is guilty of making well-publicized appointments to create a false illusion of equal opportunity.

"The Department is playing a game of percentages," Smith said, "and has created an Equal Employment Opportunity Unit which is entirely inadequate and which is apparently devoid of any corrective authority."

Violated

He said present complaint procedures are violated, thus, creating "endless delay" and that the EEO program is understaffed and poorly funded. Calling for a full-staffed and well-funded program manned by intelligent and dedicated personnel, Smith said his group is seeking enforcement regulations that can shorten the period between complaint and relief, and provide disciplinary action against violators.

Dad is in for more than his fair share of ribbing come Father's Day, June 18. The studio type greeting cards, for example, proclaim all sorts of true things about Dad. For example:

"To Dad who is always calm, cool, and... collected from!" Or, "Happy Father's Day to the man who has everything..." Inside caption reads: "Mortgaged to the hilt!" And then there is always the Dad "who fixes everything... so that we have to call the repairman!" Dad rates an "A" for effort in all endeavors, however, and come his big day, many Dads will be receiving special recognition with this card from Rust Craft. "Dad, you deserve a special award." Inside is a cut-out gold leafed medal inscribed with: "A-1 type Daddy-O, Winner of Bread, Lender of Automobile, Deer-of-it-Yourself, and Long Suffering Martyr."

Phyllis Griffin Tells Horror of Fisk Rioting

By ELEANORA TATE

Phyllis Griffin, student, home for the summer from Fisk University, tells this story of the Fisk riots incident:

"It started out last summer when a young man had gone to a tavern, drawn his gun on the owner. There nue, back of Jubilee Hall, students on one side, the police on another.

Studying

"I was in my dorm studying at the time, but as soon as I heard the ruckus, I was down there in the middle of it."

Miss Griffin said that every dorm on campus had been hit by at least one bullet.

In Carmichael's speech, she said that he had not basically said anything about going out to riot. He did say that Negroes should stand up for their rights, however. On Carmichael, with whom she has had the honor of talking, she said that he was "a very knowledgeable person, very intelligent. He can convince you he knows what he's talking about. Very sensitive."

Miss Griffin will return to Fisk, a junior, to be a history major.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Griffin, 1608 44th street.

LDF Defends Worker In Draft Evasion

New Orleans, La. — The U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit here was asked by attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) to reverse the draft evasion conviction this week of a civil rights worker.

Barry J. Wallace, a voter-education worker, is currently under the maximum sentence of 10 years in jail and a fine of $20,000 imposed by a district court in Savannah, Ga.

Attorneys charge that the sentence is excessive since the evidence in the case shows more of a misunderstanding than any criminal intent on the part of the defendant to evade the draft.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Should every woman be a blonde?

Blonde hair is beautiful for those women whose natural coloring it flatters. But not everyone should be a blonde.

Expert beauticians know that complexion and hair color must complement each other to glamorize and bring out all the natural beauty that was meant to be. They also know that very coarse and dark hair often is resistant to drastic color changes. However, there's no doubt about slightly lighter hair adding excitement to a woman's appearance. And hairdressers know there is no better product to add a whole new appeal to every woman's look than Miss Clairol® haircoloring—extra rich Creme Formula or new extra easy Shampoo Formula.

Both Miss Clairol products lighten and color at once, combining vibrant new color with the natural pigment of the hair. So even those shades that look blonde on white hair (as shown on most color selection charts) give a variety of flattering red-to-golden brown shades on women whose hair was black to begin with.

Beauty salons are equipped to answer questions and help with hair color selection. Depend on your hairdresser to have the professional skills and the total family of fine Clairol products to make every woman's experience with haircoloring completely personal and glamorous. Should you be a blonde? If you don't really know, ask your expert hairdresser.

Current

Evers who joined the staff of the NAACP in 1954 as field secretary for the State of Mississippi, was shot down from ambush on June 12, 1963, as he stepped from his car in front of his home.

The 3 p.m. Arlington ceremonies will jointly be conducted by the District of Columbia Branch and the NAACP's National Office. The Rev. R. L. T. Smith, vice president of the NAACP's Mississippi State Conference of Branches; Gloster B. Current, the NAACP's director of branches and field administration, will be featured speakers at the graveside wreath-laying ceremonies.

LAMB STARS IN SKILLET MEAL

Like to relax a bit before dinner? Take the long-time partners—lamb chops and pineapple; add a covered skillet—old favorite heavy iron, colorful new porcelain-coated cast aluminum, or versatile automatic electric skillet; and there you have it—thirty precious minutes of freedom from the kitchen at a time you are usually chained to the range. 9 This easy-to-do skillet meal makes use of low-cost, meaty, full-of-flavor shoulder lamb chops. Tender enough to be oven-broiled or pan-fried, accommodating as oven and casserole meals, these shoulder chops are a good buy any time of the year.

LAMB SKILLET MEAL

Using 1 lamb shoulder chop for each serving, melt small amount of butter in heavy skillet and brown chops over moderate heat, turning once. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, a dash of powdered thyme, minced parsley. Add half slices or cut pieces of canned pineapple, and, if desired, raw carrots cut in finger-sized strips. Pour in ¼ cup of the pineapple syrup, more if liquid cooks low. Cover tightly and cook very slowly until fork-tender, about 35 minutes for ¾-inch thick lamb chops. Serve hot with steamed rice and a tossed green salad.

DANNY SMITH

Daniel Maurice, son of Mrs. Jennie Smith, 1170 8th street, excelled in Cross Country and was one of the top runners at North this year. Olive Baptist, he is interested in auto mechanics and crafts and will go to school at a local business college.

An Open Letter To High School Grads

Some of you have been going to school for twelve, thirteen years, others less, but all of you are now high school graduates. At least that's what the diploma says.

All of a sudden you're 17, 18, 19 and everyone keeps telling you that the future is in your hands. They're right. It is smack dab in your hand which may now have turned sweaty when you stop to think about it. Will any of you be mature enough to make decisions that young Lantson Hughes or Ida B. Wells did in their youth by pen? Are there any Julian Bonds among you, any Martin Luther Kings? Are there among you any urges to really work for and believe in your people, your community, your state? Or are more hands raised to go out and break windows if a rock and roll group does not appear here this weekend?

Are there some of you who actually care about going to academic or trade school, or would you rather try to crash a debutant ball? Do maybe a few of you want to work and reach some sort of fulfillment? Or does the sound of lying around the house from day to day to vegetable sound better?

This type of advice is not the typical kind which young people traditionally hear. But it makes more sense and presents more of a challenge, because this year's graduates, like those before them, welcome the challenge. All they have to do is accept it.

Co-captain of football team at North and home room treasurer and assistant treasurer, Leonard James is Des Moines City Heavyweight Wrestling champ, City shot put champ and champ of the Invitation Meet at Marshalltown. He was chosen a member of the All City First Team in football as guard and received honorable mention in all state selections. Leonard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Peavy, Sr., 1433 Center street. Leonard anticipates a professional football career and wishes to coach high school athletics following college.

Joyce A. Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Vance, 1515 Center, on Saturday.

Joyce incurred a broken leg when she was hit by a car as she streaked into the street by the vender. Driver of the truck, Robert Colley, 1308 17th street, said he had shouted at the girl when he saw the car, but she was unable to dodge the oncoming car, driven by Shirley Thornburg, 1505 University avenue. No charges were filed to her.

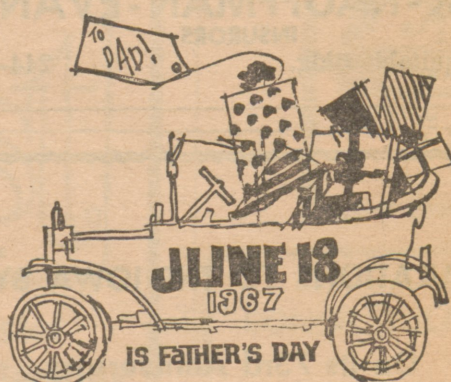

As a result, the City Council's discussion of possible restriction of ice cream vendors selling foods on the street has been tightened. As of now, the accidents include the death of one child.

IT'S A PUZZLING WORLD!!!

How do you keep up with the action in Vietnam, the Middle East, Washington, London, Paris, Moscow and the many other newsmaking areas around the world? How do you know what's happening right here at home in politics, the civil rights movement, sports, agriculture, business and the daily lives of fellow Americans? The answer is with a COMPLETE daily newspaper—The Des Moines Register. The Register has five men on the scene in the nation's capital and an Iowa staff of experienced reporters, photographers and editors—plus the full 24-hour report of the Associated Press and the news services of the New York Times, Chicago Daily News and Washington Post—Los Angeles Times. The answer to the puzzle, then, is to be a daily and Sunday reader of the COMPLETE newspaper, THOMAS AND MARSHA JOHNSON are still way ahead career-wise: Tommy continues at Iowa State where he is now a junior in Mechanical Engineering, and works parttime at United Parcel Service. And Marsha? She's a surgical technician at Iowa Methodist Hospital!

JAMES BETHEL, when asked what's new this week (I needed help, you know) responded "Well, I got my garden in!" Retrieving my pencil which jetted from my fingers at this earthshaking news, I asked what he meant. Always being the nervy one, he actually continued his story! "I'm a fair weather gardener and as long as the weather couldn't make up its mind whether to be winter or spring, I left my tools and seeds in the shed and just this weekend got the garden in!" I enjoyed this as it brought to mind my own mother's refusal to plant until the weather was in agreement and never did she have to replant or fail to have an abundant yield. Jim is a smart one!

SEVENTY-THREE YEARS
FOR A CAUSE

With this issue, the Bystander is observing its 73rd anniversary. There are few business concerns in Iowa that have operated for such a long time.

Aside from the natural attrition that goes in the business world the death of newspapers has been terrific. This is due, in part to the complexities of labor within the trade, and in some instances where management has put one paper after another out of business.

The Bystander, like all class papers, was started in order to further the cause of a definite group; a further incentive of supplying jobs for Negroes which were not available then. And too, daily newspapers printed little other than crime news about Negroes and their social columns were closed to them.

The early management had no experience in newspaper work. In fact most of them held regular jobs elsewhere and operated the Bystander as a side issue.

During these 73 years, the Bystander has joined with groups working for the advancement of minorities boldly supporting human rights. It has criticized groups and individuals that have worked against such a program and has praised those who have had the courage to stand up and stay put for justice and equality of opportunity.

Included in this work for human rights has been a strong bid for equal opportunity in jobs. At one time, every girl who got an office job started in the Bystander.

At the time of World War I, Negroes had practically no employment with large business institutions here while political jobs were not available. In conjunction with the NAACP, Des Moines Interracial Commission and others working in the field of human rights, the change has been even better than many expected, so far.

Most responsible companies today include in their advertisement for employees the phrase "an equal opportunity employer". And of course the advancement in the field of human rights has been a help in maintaining the Bystander.

With the advent of equal employment opportunities and public accommodation has come a demise of Negro business. As a matter of fact, there is less than existed here 20 years ago due, in part, to increased competition and the location of Negroes in sparsely scattered areas.

The Bystander has had its troubles for this reason. And while thickly populated areas work well in many instances where Negro business has thrived, we have not advocated large Negro areas but simply state the facts as they are.

However, much of the life of the Bystander could have been and can be better with more support among those for whose benefit it is run. This is true even among many who have succeeded in their work, of which much the Bystander, along with other groups, helped to create.

These years have brought many friends among all classes, some because of what the Bystander stands for; some because of personal regard. These people have our sincere thanks. Their attitude helped provide the incentive that has kept the Bystander going for 73 years.

WHAT CAN I DO?

The question is often asked "what can I do to help the Bystander?"

You can help the Bystander live 73 more years if you:

Subscribe for it and pay your subscription promptly. A newspaper must have subscribers to attract advertisers.

Trade with companies that advertise with us and don't hesitate to mention that you saw their advertising.

Acquaint the office with news about yourself or your friends promptly.

Remember we are human and are bound to make errors. We will correct those of any substance.

All these things you can do. Try.

A MEASURE WHICH SHOULD BECOME LAW

A measure is pending in the Iowa legislature which would authorize cities, operating under the council-manager system with the election of all members at large, to change either by vote of the people or the council itself. A part of the council would be elected by wards, the mayor running for that particular office.

The Bystander supported the original campaign for the city-manager form of government greatly because of its proposed efficiency and the promise of its backers that some of the unfairness toward Negro groups would be eliminated. "We would have some firemen".

When passed, it got off to a good start but as the original leaders passed on (they reneged on some of their promises) politics took over again.

Today, we would like a change to elect a part of the council by wards.

The present system has left a silk stocking system in office succeeding itself year after year with no substantial representation from some areas.

Again, the system is conducive to discouraging large turnout of votes at the polls. Too many people feel that the old gang will do as they please so why vote. As a result, Des Moines' voting record is one of the poorest.

We are not favorable to a change of government by a vote of the council. This should be done by a vote of the people.

The idea back of the manager-council form of government is that it is more efficient. But it is also more dictatorial and less responsive to the people. Like the old saying a government by a dictator is good if there is a good dictator. But once he gets a hold it is difficult to dislodge him.

It has certainly been more efficient in ducking their responsibility as far as minorities are concerned. In fact even under this council, it has not been easy to get things done.

The legislature should pass the bill with power of the people to change the system.

There was lively argument going on among a bunch of fellows. What were they arguing about? Whether the kids of today had more fun in their athletic endeavors than those of say thirty or forty years ago. And, of course, your writer, being considered an ancient landmark, we were asked to render an opinion, not that anybody would agree with it. In most of the arguments of this sort, the guy who yells the loudest is usually the winner. Well, we never did believe in trying to out yell anyone, so we didn't get in many words. As we turned away from the group, one fellow said that they would probably read our opinion here.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Even a cloud as murky as the TB problem (nearly 50,000 new cases each year) has its silver lining. Doctors have found that tuberculosis can not only be cured, but prevented. That near-miraculous anti-TB drug, isonazid, has proven up to 75 per cent effective in protecting people who harbor the germ in their bodies but haven't "broken down" into active disease.

Problem

But a sizeable problem remains. Those "people who harbor the TB germ" have to be found—all 30 million of them—in order to give them preventive treatment. Doctors have an efficient tool for detecting the presence of TB germs—the tuberculin skin test. But to find the 30 million who have the infection, almost the entire population would have to be tested—an impossible job both physically and financially.

Answer

What to do? The organized TB forces of the nation—mainly the U. S. Public Health Service and the TB associations—have come up with

Condition

We thanked the guy for the idea, and went home to work on it, but we really don't know. We only know that we kids had fun because we didn't have much else to do. There was almost no cars in our group. No radios nor television. So we had to get together and play games in order to have any fun. Now the play does seem to us to be a bit over-supervised. We don't know when we have seen a bunch of kids just gather spontaneously and choose sides for a game or anything.

Basketball

The nearest thing to it would be the basketball games at Goode Park in the summer. And even then most of the players are fellows trying to work into condition for their school season. We played in whatever we could get to wear and with whatever equipment was at hand. Now there must be official uniforms, coaches and regulation equipment. Our coaches were a few older fellows who might be watching us, and our equipment might be just any old glove or whatever we needed to play with. Then we often walked to the field, and then walked home. Frequently the games lasted all day with passersby replacing those who dropped out. We had no referees or umpires because everybody wanted to play. But there wasn't very much answer. Under the banner of "first things first," they advocate the TB testing of people initially who are at the greatest risk of infection, such as those recently in contact with a person who has active TB. They also advise tuberculin tests for children from the age of six months through the age of entering school, and again at 14. Others recommended for tests are people who associate with groups of children, such as teachers and other school employees.

Contagious

These are the minimum recommendations. However, since active TB is highly contagious and can strike anyone at any time, it behooves the prudent citizen to see that a tuberculin test (or a chest X-ray) is included in his regular medical check-up, whether or not he is in the "high risk" group. The earlier infection is found, the better chance of preventing active disease through drug treatment.

—Information Service of Polk County Tuberculosis Association cheating because nobody wanted to play with a cheater, no matter how good he was.

Chaffed

Now, we are told that the kids have to have rides to the playing fields or they won't go. We can recall when three of us used to walk from Goode Park to McHenry Park out to Oak Park to play tennis, and then walk back to our home the other park to finish out the day. That did put us in some real condition. We suppose the program of exercises kids have today replaces that and probably puts them in the same condition. But it can't replace the fun we had going together in groups to and from the games. It is hard to say whether the kids of today are really better than those of yesterday. There are more of them playing now because there are more boys. They have better equipment, faster tracks, coaching at younger than ages the guys we see seem to be now. We worked at our games, and layed for keeps all the way. Maybe they do now, but it seems they are easily distracted by something else. Taking for example: The kids we see boxing don't seem to take the game as seriously as their predecessors did. They train and work, but they don't seem willing to make sacrifices to improve. And we would like to see the group of today's youngsters who would play football five nights a week from six p.m. until around ten and play on Sunday because they liked the game and never got a dime out of it. Just played for fun.

the young Negroes playing in sports because of the little Leagues and junior sports programs. The papers do not mention race or color. So if you don't know the fellows playing, you don't know what is going on. But do they have as much fun as we did? You answer that one.

Poor Bob

We ran into an oversized balloon the other day. Turned out to be Bob White. We have a picture of Bob when he weighed about 165. But those days are gone forever. Bob told us that he had had pretty good luck in some of the bowling meets around the country. He said he had won some money, not enough to retire on, but enough to make him keeping on trying. If Bob is as serious about bowling as he is about some sports, he'll make it big in the game some day.
