Miscegenation Laws Held Invalid

Mixed Marriage Ban Overturned In Fifteen States

Washington, D.C. — The Supreme Court Monday ended its 1967 term by declaring unanimously that state laws banning mixed racial marriages are unconstitutional.

The ruling struck down miscegenation laws in 16 states on grounds they violate one of the "basic civil rights of man, fundamental to our very existence and survival."

Virginia Case Ruling

The decision striking down laws prohibiting mixed marriages came in a Virginia case but it also had the effect of nullifying similar statutes in 15 other states. They are Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia.

Civil Liberty

The American Civil Liberties Union took the issue to the Supreme Court on behalf of a white construction worker Richard P. Loving and his Negro wife, natives of Caroline County, Virginia. They were married in the District of Columbia in 1958 and returned to Virginia to live in violation of state law.

TSU Students Charged In Murder of Texas Cop

New York—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will defend four Texas Southern University students indicted in the slaying of a policeman last month when rioting erupted on the campus of the predominantly Negro school.

Rampage

In the aftermath of the riot which broke out on May 16, NAACP officials requested that Federal, state and local authorities launch an investigation of Houston police who "engaged in a vengeful and destructive rampage" against students and property when they entered the university buildings with axes and "smashed doors, destroyed personally-owned radios and television sets, ransacked closets and cupboards, and ripped tile from hall ceilings."

NAACP General Counsel said the NAACP would provide legal counsel for Trazawell Franklin, Jr., 20, of Houston; Floyd Nichols, 25, Dallas; John Parker, 20, Galesburg, Ill., and Charles Freeman, 18, Port Arthur, Tex., all charged in the slaying of patrolman Raymond Kuba.

Also indicted in the slaying is Douglas Wayne Waller, 21, of Houston who is reportedly being defended by a family lawyer.

Supreme Court Stays Firm on Rev. Martin L. King Conviction

Washington, D.C. — The Supreme court upheld the contempt-of-court convictions of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and seven other civil rights leaders for their refusal to obey a court injunction against a 1963 Birmingham (Ala.) demonstration. The 5-to-4 decision let stand the sentence of five days in jail and a $50 fine for Dr. King and his co-defendants. When King was in Pella, Ia., he said he was optimistic the court would reverse the decision.

Solicitor General Replaces Justice Clark; Has Long Federal Courts Record

Washington, D.C. — President Lyndon Baines Johnson has named a Negro for the first time as justice to the Supreme Court.

He is Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, Baltimore, Md., born, who served 23 years as counsel for the Legal Defense and Educational Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

MARSHALL

It has been said that Marshall, who replaces Associate Justice Tom C. Clark, will set the pace in keeping liberalism in the Supreme Court and representing minorities in procedures and appeals. His appointment may thus become the traditional seat for a Negro judge.

President Johnson, in announcing the appointment, said that Marshall has lost only eight of the 52 cases he argued.

Desegregation

Thurgood Marshall was instrumental in the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision in 1954.

Marshall, who attended Howard University, attended on the funds of his mothers' engagement ring, which she sold for his education.

Circuit

The late President John F. Kennedy named Marshall as a judge of the U.S. Circuit Court in 1961, but Congress did not confirm the nomination.

Opposition

Southern senators opposed the nomination, however, saying that Marshall's interpretation of the Constitution was too liberal. One refused to comment fully on the issue, merely saying the appointment was "bad."

Civil rights leaders from all over the country hailed the appointment as the "most significant event in our generation," and "a momentous step toward a color-blind society."

Jessie Vann, Courier Publisher, Dies Wed.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Pittsburgh Courier publisher, Mrs. Jessie Vann, 82, died June 7 after being stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage Monday.

Mrs. Vann took over the publication of the Pittsburgh Courier upon the death of her husband in 1940. The influential newspaper was at one time the most widely circulated weekly in the country.

Alternate

She was alternate delegate at large to the Republican National Convention in 1956 and 1960, and former President Eisenhower appointed her a United States representative to the inauguration of William V.S. Tubman as President of Liberia. She was also appointed an alternate delegate to the United Nations in 1953, but declined because of her business responsibilities.

She had also played a tremendous role in expanding the Links, Inc. service organization.

Willkins

Roy Willkins, executive director of the NAACP noted that as owner and publisher of The Courier for nearly a quarter of a century until her retirement in 1963, Mrs. Vann "contributed significantly to the progress of the Negro press."

blue lemons
by E. Tate

It's been a big weekend, a big weekend. The Sophisticated Sissy is on its way, I hear the Supremes are definitely scheduled in this area, and that's a quote, Shirley Ellis has put out a decent album and Carla Thomas captured Washington, D.C.

Yes, Carla and Otis Redding played to a capacity crowd at the Bohemian Caverns in Washington. It's part of an advance preview of the King and Queen of SOUL Revue. Think it could get here? By the way, I'm working to get Carla Thomas to come to Des Moines. Promised her a blue lemon. Her latest hit—Stop Thief—is really tough, it's worse than a t-r-a-m-p, it's foul, it's feeling good to you, it's an upshot before the downbeat. Turn your bass on the stereo up real high for this one.

Shirley Ellis Soul Time album is more understandable than her others. In fact, Shirley hasn't done too much by way of hits since "Nitty Gritty." But the "Shingaling" side sounds fairly good, where most of the hits are.

Franklin

The Supremes were in Washington, too, to give a party with the Negro Democrats and A. June Franklin. Remember when I elected them to give a White House party? They came to pass, I guess . . . They were called the high priestesses of platterdom, but this was their ending of a ten-day engagement at the Shoreham Hotel . . . dedicated an outdoor swimming pool for low-income youngsters at the Frederick Douglas Homes . . . Would you believe that VP Humphrey jumped to his feet applauding after the Big SS' wound up with "Baby Love"?

See this page for my interview with the four Tops . . . coo-pub.

Four Tops Thrill Crowd at Ice Arena

by E. Tate

When you see them offstage, not surrounded by screaming fans, these gentlemen do not seem to be quite as awesome, but put them on a platform and give them the beat and they'll captivate you every time.

Before their appearance Saturday night at the Ice Arena, I sat and chatted with Obie Benson, Levi Stubbs, Lawrence Payton and Abdul Fakir, known otherwise as the Four Tops.

Golf

Abdul seems to be the tenser one, who could not quite relax as easily as the others, but Obie said that all the Tops, formerly known as the Four Aims before they joined Motown, got the kinks out by golfing, watching sports shows and eating, last of which is done more by necessity than desire—Lawrence and Obie say they lose two-five pounds during a gig like Saturday night's.

Tampa Trampled in Young Negro Rioting

Tampa, Fla.—National Guardsmen were called up Monday to quell new Negro rioting after police reported that snipers were shooting at cars and mobs of youths had stoned police cruisers.

Pleaded

Hillsborough County Sheriff Malcolm Beard pleaded "Yesterday we had one crucial area. Today there are four. I would not be able to deal with this crisis without someone getting hurt."

Angered by a report that a Negro youth fleeing the scene of a burglary was shot by a white patrolman, the 400 attacked and beat whites, exchanged shots with police, and sacked and burned a block of white-owned stores in a Negro ghetto.

Shot

It began when 19-year-old Martin Chambers was shot as he ran from Patrolman James R. Calvert.

Robert Gilder, 36-year-old president of the Tampa chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said: "I stopped a potential riot there weeks ago," he said, "and I could have stopped this one. But the police didn't call me."

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Should every woman be a blonde?

Blonde hair is beautiful for those women whose natural coloring it flatters. But not everyone should be a blonde.

Expert beauticians know that complexion and hair color must complement each other to glamorize and bring out all the natural beauty that was meant to be. They also know that very coarse and dark hair often is resistant to drastic color changes. However, there's no doubt about slightly lighter hair adding excitement to a woman's appearance. And hairdressers know there is no better product to add a whole new appeal to every woman's look than Miss Clairol® haircoloring—extra rich Creme Formula or new extra easy Shampoo Formula.

Both Miss Clairol products lighten and color at once, combining vibrant new color with the natural pigment of the hair. So even those shades that look blonde on white hair (as shown on most color selection charts) give a variety of flattering red-to-golden brown shades on women whose hair was black to begin with.

Beauty salons are equipped to answer questions and help with hair color selection. Depend on your hairdresser to have the professional skills and the total family of fine Clairol products to make every woman's experience with haircoloring completely personal and glamorous. Should you be a blonde? If you don't really know, ask your expert hairdresser.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Acute respiratory conditions — colds, coughs, sore throats and other short term diseases of the breathing system — are commonly thought of as the major villains in childhood illness. Recently a team of U. S. Government medical investigators set out to chart the actual experience of a large group of children and see how it compared with the prevailing notion.

Their findings, as described in the monthly publication of the American Thoracic Society (medical section of the National Tuberculosis Association), didn't overturn any accepted ideas. But they shed some interesting light on just what is apt to be ailing Junior when he stays home from school.

Sampling

The research team, seeking a more or less representative sampling of U. S. school children, chose the city of Omaha, Neb. as the site of its operations. A study was made of the frequency and causes of absences on the part of 3,102 pupils in grades from kindergarten through high school. Acute respiratory diseases came out at the top of the list, thus confirming through actual observation the estimates made by health experts on a national level.

Respiratory infections caused more than a third of all absences. Unlike those in adults, which attack the nasal passages mainly, illnesses among the school children were divided about equally between head colds and throat or tonsil infections. Incidentally, only two per cent of absences were caused by "childhood diseases" such as measles and chicken pox.

Leaflet

Though it didn't enter into the study, most doctors would agree that home was a good place to be for the youngsters with acute respiratory disease. "Sharing" is a great idea in many things, but it's better to be miserly with your coughs and colds. Your TB Association has an informative leaflet called "Common Cold, the Facts." Ask for it—it's free.

IRV WHITE AND MORRIS ROSENFELD together bring us the best. And let's not omit Curt Page, Jack Drucker and others in the background but ever so much a part of the driving force. Sunday night's Jazz On a Summer Evening, attended by some 300 persons was better by far than before. Admitting utter emotional and physical exhaustion resulting from months spent planning the show, Irv was radiant over its reception adding "I couldn't possibly thank all of the people, I couldn't possibly reach them all, but I do thank everyone."

CARL VAN ADAMS (the tallest man) whom you saw assisting on stage is our Jennie Kordick's husband! Oh, no, you didn't know it! And you didn't know Jennie planned the costumes worn by her and her two girl assistants. She designed the cute tops.

"JAZZ ON A SUMMER EVENING" will drive me to drink," claimed one friend laughingly. I don't drink but I want to go to all these places and hear these people! I drink only ginger ale! How do I do it? Can't we find some alcoholics and go? We assured her she had no problem—just go! We'll be seeing her there!

Columnist's Talk With Vocalist

I dropped by Joan Jackson's apartment to share the warm, wonderful memories of Jazz on a Summer Night. I was interested in an artist's thoughts.

She said "First of all I enjoyed doing it, but I wish this: I think it can become almost as big as the Kansas City festival. It has the potential. I think they could invite other musicians as well. From talking to other musicians I find that they think it is great because the audience listens. Whereas when they are in a club everyone is drinking and having a gay time so that actually the music plays the part of being background. Last night everyone was interested and I am sure everyone heard it—heard almost every note that was played. Therefore, I am sure that a lot of people were surprised that we have such good music in Des Moines."

Response

"I was impressed by the response the audience gave me." At this point her cousin, John Hicks, injected "They must have been drunk!" To which Joan, thought laughing, pointed out "But that is what was so great! Everybody was sober!"

"I was talking tonight to my brother (Bob Jackson, a fine drummer) and we got this idea: if it could become city-wide—no statewide—what I mean is that the State itself could take it like the Iowa State Fair. Have it really become a part of Iowa. Have an award given for the best music or the most improved musician. That would really be great! They would really want that! But we played at the festival for the joy of playing—the personal satisfaction. But let's face it, an award would give an incentive for greater participation. Actually this was mainly Bob's idea."

I then queried Joan as to what was going on last night between Sam Anthony, organist, and Bob. Whatever it was, it enhanced the audience but it was a new experience, an unknown experience for me: the continual playing apparently precipitated by some overtone by first one and then the other of these two players, or so it seemed to me.

Joan explains: when you are playing comes from your soul—from your heart. You do things you have never

ARTIST SUBJECT OF PHOTOGRAPHIC ART may very well inscribe some of the photographs made by travelers as they caught sight of petite Nancy Samcoe painting out of doors at Gatlinburg in Eastern Tennessee. She had a chance meeting with a famed artist of that area—Mrs. Elizabeth O'Neill Verner—who does exquisite drawings of historic buildings and sites there. Finding herself passing the artist's studio, Nancy dropped in and was wholly delighted with her visit there. The hostess seemed to be equally pleased. On canvas Nancy Samcoe, but in private life Mrs. Larry Link, she is a pleasing addition to this community and augments its assets by establishing an at studio at 1001 31st street. (Elsewhere in this paper is an announcement of Wednesday and Saturday classes.)

DOGGY BAG TALES: The first told of a mother asking for one in which she planned placing the remainder of her steak. Overhearing her request, Junior squealed "Ohh, mother, are we getting a doggy?" Needless to say Mom was too stunned to reply. Still another mom wishing to save the balance of her dinner called for a doggy bag. Her favorite waiter, courting her goodwill, added a few scraps and extending the bag informed her of the extra goodies. Too shook to do otherwise, she thanked him warmly for his thoughtfulness.

HAIL IN HER BOURBON: One friend finding herself completely out of cubes recently, invaded her sons' refrigerated hoard of hail. These were captured during our May hail storm. He was as furious over the theft as she was pleased with her innovation—putting hail stones to pleasurable usage.

done before or you hear things—much is done spontaneously, therefore, if you are playing and you feel that you have a solo to do—you want to express yourself, you show the other musicians by giving something like a challenge or a bid. So you challenge and when the other fellow finishes his solo, it is then your turn—everyone does his solo—you are speaking to each other like: "Let me in, man, I've got something to say." Then they sort of take over the background and they let you say it! So my brother made his bid. He kept making little bids, then when it came time for fulfillment, he froze! And passed it up! Finally, however, in the last song he did make a challenge and fulfilled his solo and it was magnificent really!

All in all it was a great night from every standpoint and from each group and individual players.

John Hicks Leaves For California and N.Y.

John W. Hicks, a State University of Iowa advertising major, is in the city this week visiting his cousin, Mrs. Joan Jackson, before leaving for Los Angeles, Calif. After a month's stay there he will visit relatives in Albany, N.Y.

Mr. Hicks, now a senior, feels that most persons waste at least a year of college life taking unnecessary courses—of no help to their chosen field. It is time which might be better spent on a subject related to his field. He also thinks everyone should get an education if possible and recommends a junior college for those in financial need. He feels the expression "work your way through college" is outdated: he supports this contention with the fact that the universities recommend only a 20 hour work week when carrying a full course. This pays an average of $1.25 an hour. Without help from home, you may as well forget it, he insists.

PRESIDENT COURAGEOUS IN MARSHALL APPOINTMENT

President Johnson has appointed Thurgood Marshall an associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. This is undoubtedly the most outstanding appointment of a Negro ever made by a president.

A more able appointee could have not been made. Marshall has had a successful tenure as a constitutional lawyer, experience on the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and as solicitor general.

The President is to be congratulated upon his courageous action in the appointment of Marshall, and Marshall whose training and experience justify the action.

This appointment comes as riots are reported in several cities where Negroes are burning, looting, destroying other people's property and otherwise placing the Negro as a lawless irresponsible individual.

The participants in these disturbances are letting President Johnson and others, who believe in justice and equality for all men, down and makes it harder to do many of the things that are needed to bring them up in good citizenship.

DON'T JUDGE ALL YOUNGSTERS ALIKE

For several years, the By-stander has published the picture and a short sketch of most Des Moines Negro high school graduates. Later, it has also included some college graduates and high school students outside Des Moines.

At times some semesters there listed two or three; this year there were some who did not see fit to participate.

It is hoped that all subscribers read about this in last week's edition. Certainly, it was an inspiration to read about these youngsters. Some included were among the top scholastic group in their class. Practically all had plans to further their education or had taken positions in various concerns in Des Moines.

Today, youth has incurred much disgust and bad publicity because of the conduct of the few who make it appear that the young people are going to the dogs.

And for the first time, all copies of the issues were sold out which indicates that their parents and friends are proud of their accomplishments and want the public to know about it.

The parents of these youngsters deserve a hand for directing their youngsters toward a better life recognizing that in these days of scientific knowledge and basic education requirements, they need education to prepare for it. Far different from earlier years, these youngsters have openings awaiting them. They have opportunity to move up to heights unavailable until recently.

An excellent example of this is a program evolved by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company encouraging youngsters by showing what is being done by others and calling "I want you".

It is headed by Everett Mays, who began with the company in a nominal capacity, but is now conducting a program over the state showing what the company has to offer.

Like many in Des Moines, the Northwestern Bell has merited the slogan "an equal opportunity employer" thus providing an incentive for youngsters to prepare for possible assignments.

SUPREME COURT VOIDS MISSEGATION LAW

The United States Supreme Court has struck down a Virginia law which made marriages between whites and Negroes a crime. It was one of many such laws on the statute books.

The court, in a unanimous opinion, speaking through Chief Justice Earl Warren said that such a law violated the Fourteenth Amendment because it violated the privilege of free choice. Marriage is a contract between individuals and to allow such a law to stand denies the parties a freedom of choice.

These statutes prevailed in all southern and most border states. They were conceived by men who sought free association between white men and Negro women, but abhorred association between white women and Negro men. Consequently, such a law encouraged the bringing up of children with no father to give them their name.

In years gone by, such a measure was introduced in the Iowa legislature on two occasions. A group of interested citizens headed by the Des Moines NAACP and which included among many the late Harvey Ingham, editor of the Des Moines Register, Casper Schenk, S. Joe Brown, Geo. H. Woodson, Rabbi Eugene Mammheimer appeared in opposition. Their presentation was so complete and convincing that the measure was killed in committee each time.

Some people spend a lot of time concocting ideas that hit their fancy but do no good. They continually emphasize differences among the races and stir up trouble.

The Supreme Court has done a great job leveling differences between the races in their enjoyment of what the law gives each citizen.

During the depression many people often said "we can't eat the constitution or the supreme court". That's true but their protection given citizens has not only helped citizens to eat but also to eat better.

June is bustin' out all over, and so are track meets. There are so many of them that one just can't keep track of them all. Those guys from Southern U. and Texas Southern ought to be getting a bit tired of all that running. They have been running since January and there is still the national AAU meet and the Pan American games to go. But this fellow Jimmy Hines seems to be improving with each meet. Maybe he will set some new marks in the hundred meters, two hundred meters and the hundred yard dash along with the two twenty.

As we watched the young man in a hurry during the Drake Relays, it seemed that he doesn't appear to be running as fast as he really is. He has a tremendous stride for his height, and this makes his speed deceiving. A lot of local well-wishers are arguing that Clyde Duncan

Cites Recruitment Problems From Southern Colleges; No To Race As Reason

New York — The Universities of Mississippi, Alabama, Auburn and Louisiana State in the Southeastern Conference have not recruited Negro athletes, according to an editorial in the current issue of SPORT Magazine.

The chancellors at these universities and other colleges that do not have Negro athletes all say they have tried or are trying to recruit Negroes. "Apparently, they haven't tried hard enough."

The case of quarterback Bill Triplett of Temple High in Vicksburg, Miss., is cited to illustrate the contention. According to the article in SPORT the athletic director at Ole Miss claimed he was interested in Triplett. But Triplett, an outstanding football player and B-plus student, never heard from Ole Miss.

Difficulties are encountered by seven-foot basketball star Otis Gil-will make the 1968 Olympic team. We hope he will. The two hundred meters seems to be Clyde's best race, maybe he does have a chance. But we would have to say that the odds are against anyone trying to make the team because of the great number of fine sprinters in the country. One bad start or even a bad step, and you are out of it. Our guess would be that the hottest and luckiest runner on the day of the finals will make it. When you realize that fellows run hundred in 9:5 and can't even qualify for the finals in meets, you get some idea of what we are talking about. Given one more year under somebody who will make the fellow train and run, one might give Jim Kirby a chance to make it. But 1968 is a little too soon.

Then these other countries aren't standing still. Some of them have imported American coaches to learn what we have they don't. Then they all seem to have great athletic programs going which are bound to make for maybe more competition than we want.

Baseball

One of the surest signs of summer is the posters advertising games between two traveling Negro baseball clubs. This is in our opinion a throwback to the days when some of the best ball clubs in the country were Negro teams. When you went out to see a game between two Negro clubs, say the Kansas City Monarchs and just anybody else, you were seeing some of the best baseball players in the country. They more of Dothan, Ala., who has offers from 115 colleges. According to a spokesman for the U.S. Office of Education, "Auburn said Gilmore wasn't good enough athletically, and Alabama said he wasn't good enough academically."

No Question

In the Atlantic Coast Conference, whose academic standards are similar to the S.E.C.'s, league commissioner Jim Weaver points to a number of Negro athletes on scholarships and says emphatically, "As far as this conference is concerned, race is no longer a question."

"Race should no longer be a question in the S.E.C., either," states the editorial. "It's time the Southeastern Conference Colleges stopped dragging their feet. It's time for them to face up to the law of the land, or face loss of federal financial assistance," concludes the article.

couldn't make the majors because of you know what.

But with the coming of Negroes into organized baseball, things changed for our big club owners. In the old days you played for them if you wanted to play ball or else. When the owners saw what was coming, they reaped a small harvest by selling what players they could to the majors, and then settled on these tours to other team cities, trading on the reputation of the former great clubs. This worked for a few years, but now even that has worn thin. Just about every Negro who wants to play baseball, football or basketball and who is any good is in some form of organized play. So our traveling Negro clubs are made up of kids who can't make it because they aren't quite ready or don't have the ability, or old fellows who are long past their prime.

Paige

Such as Satchel Paige. No one doubts that the great Paige, in his prime, would have rewritten the pitching record books. But now the guy is at least sixty, although in remarkable condition for his age. We all know that he will come out and throw a few balls and that will be

Francois Pavilla Downed By C. Cokes In Dallas Battle

Dallas, Tex. — Curtis Cokes battered Francois Pavilla with left jabs to score a 10th-round technical knockout Friday night to retain his World Welterweight Championship.

Cokes' managers jumped into the ring, but referee Pat Riley tried to keep the fight in progress, yelling to Kanter he could not stop the fight in that manner.

Left

The end of the fight came just as the 10th round was ending.

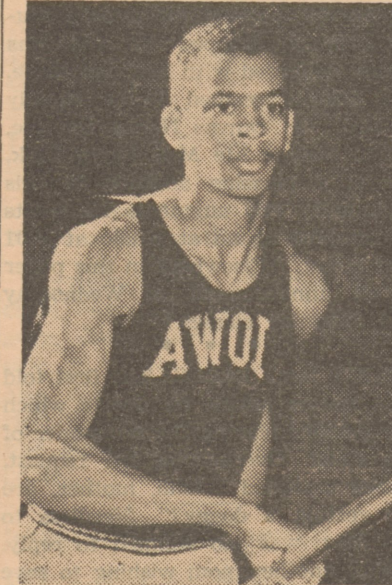

A smashing left by Cokes sent Pavilla against the ropes, and the challenger sprawled to the canvas, his head cracking the ring floor.

Cokes was awarded the TKO after 2:50 of the ten, in the scheduled 15-round.

his appearance. But as long as people want to see him, we don't blame him for getting all the mileage he can out of his reputation. Maybe that sort of takes the sting out of what might have been, although we doubt it. One would think some team would sign Paige as a coach. Surely in his fifty years of pitching against all sorts of hitters, they learned something that could well be passed on to young hurlers. We think the team that took him on would have one helluva pitching staff. But we wouldn't spend a couple of bucks to see an old guy lob baseballs at hitters who couldn't even carry his glove when he was really pitching.

Mile Failure Spurs Bill Burnette To Vault Record Here

Iowa City—"How To Succeed By Failure" would be an appropriate title for the life story of Bill Burnette.

Burnette

netto, the University of Iowa's record-breaking pole vaulter.

ord-breaking pole vaulter.

The fact that he would rather switch than fight also detracts somewhat from the athlete's code of "if at first you don't succeed . . ."

Has Potential

But a goal like this takes lots of ability and hard work. Bill has the potential to be a 16-foot vaulter. But as for work, well, perhaps that is another story.

But why work excessively after your life has been marked by having success through minor failures?

Progress

Burnette has progressed steadily since his sophomore year. He now is the holder of the Iowa indoor record of 15' 1" set in 1967 and the outdoor mark of 15' 4". He won the Big Ten outdoor championship in 1966 and in 1967 his tie for second place helped his team to win the conference title. In 1966, he was fifth in the National Collegiate outdoor meet.

Burnette still thinks he can reach the 16-foot level although this spring he has been stuck around 15 feet. He would like to try for the 1968 U.S. Olympic team.
