Marshall Confirmed for Supreme Court

Solicitor Gets More Than Two-Third Vote
Of Senate Members

Washington, D.C. (Special) — The highest ranking Negro in government since the appointment of Robert Weaver was confirmed Wednesday when the Senate cast 69 deciding votes for Thurgood Marshall, Solicitor General to become assistant justice to the Supreme Court.

MARSHALL

Opposing the appointment were 11 votes, all cast by southerners, with the exception of one.

Marshall was appointed Solicitor General on Aug. 11, 1965 and in his former job directed all governmental litigation before the Supreme Court.

In 1962 he was confirmed to the Second Circuit Court of Appeals of Connecticut, New York and Vermont by President J. F. Kennedy.

He is married and has two children, Thurgood, Jr., and John W.

Senate In Turmoil
Over Marshall App't.

Washington, D.C. — Although most of the Senate's Judiciary committee announced that Thurgood Marshall, Solicitor General, is "uniquely qualified" to become Supreme Court justice, several congressmen criticized him sharply.

They were Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., of North Carolina, Sen. James Eastland, of Mississippi and Sens. John L. McClellan, of Ark., and Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina. Four of these are Democrats and one is Republican.

The majority said: "It will be a most historical occasion when the Senate confirms (Thurgood) Marshall as associate justice . . ."

Ervin

But Ervin said: "I have been driven to the conviction that . . . Marshall . . . is a constitutional iconoclast . . . the American people will be ruled by the arbitrary notions of the Supreme Court justices rather than by the precepts of the constitution."

Order Police Who Committ Crimes to Negroes Arrested

New York — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has called on a Federal court in New Jersey to appoint a receiver to operate the Newark city police department in the aftermath of "police violence and intimidation to keep the Negro community in a second-class status."

The suit names as defendants Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio, Public Safety Director Dominick Spina and Police Chief Oliver Kelly. The suit was filed Thursday, August 24 in behalf of 18 Newark Negroes. In addition to a Federal receiver, NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter told newsmen, "the Negro plaintiffs ask for a court order directing the Newark police from engaging in police brutality, using racial and obscene epithets, compiling dossiers on civil rights groups and arresting persons for exercising their First Amendment rights."

They also ask for a court order directing the police department to arrest policemen who commit crimes against Negroes.

The plaintiffs are also being represented in the unprecedented court action by attorneys for the American

Nashville, Tenn. — After being arrested last Tuesday in Tennessee because he said that "Black People should gain power . . . including violence", George Washington Ware says he will find his freedom from the pokey through a writ of "habeas corpus."

Ware, close associate of Stokely Carmichael, Black Power advocate, was told by the State Department Aug. 24 that his passport would be revoked on grounds he made an unauthorized trip to Cuba.

Candidates Announce Run For School Board

Third and fourth candidates for election to the Des Moines School Board were announced recently.

Rev. Burnette is the unsuccessful candidate twice to the City Council.

Gentry served as legal advisor to the State Department of Public Instruction and was responsible for providing the department with guidance in its relationships with school

NEWS
In A Nutshell

Washington, D. C. — The Department of Housing and Urban Development, in an effort to provide more decent and safe housing for low-income families, is seeking a greater involvement of private industry, James G. Banks, Director of HUD's Office of Community Development. The program would extend into the construction and management of public housing.

In a pamphlet published this week by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai and B'rith, Mario D. Fantini and Gerald Weinstein, consultants in the field of cultural deprivation to school systems and universities, call the standard school curriculum process "inconsistent" with the task at hand.

Chicago, Ill. — The entire staff of the "Chicago Sound" has joined in the Chicago Daily Defender's "Keep A Cool Summer" campaign to keep violence from the streets of America's number two city this summer; including the Dells, Radiants, Billy Stewart.

New York, New York — The President of Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute said in New York Sunday that "there is much more competence in the (Negro) colleges than sincere and friendly supporters outside the colleges now acknowledge." Dr. L. H. Foster said "money is the chief and vital need and it is time to assist the colleges substantially in their efforts to achieve individual independence as well as their cooperative interdependence."

Crime Commission
Begins Their Work

James P. Hayes, Director of the newly formed Iowa Crime Commission said Monday that members of the four divisions of the Commission — prevention, enforcement, courts, and corrections, have begun their work.

Governor Hughes recently appointed sixteen prominent Iowans, including lawyer Nolden Gentry, to the Iowa Crime Commission to conduct new studies and "focus a new effort on reducing crime by eradicating its causes, treating its symptoms and curing its ills."

Talk On Playhouse
Slated For Sept. 7

The Women's Department of the Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce will meet at Younkers Tea Room, Thursday, Sept. 7, for a 12 noon luncheon.

Speakers will be Larry and Marian McKeever, of the Des Moines Community Playhouse. The topic will be "The Playhouse—A Community Effort."

First Formal Complaint
Filed With Rights Comm.

There is reasonable basis for the first formal complaint filed with the Iowa Civil Rights Commission, said James Thomas, director.

The complaint which the Commission had been working with since late July was accompanied by the required $500 bond, provision in Iowa's most recent Fair Housing

THOMAS

Law, which according to the law, would protect the party which had been accused of discrimination perhaps wrongly, or without reasonable means.

Thomas was required to withhold any of the details concerning the case, such as defendant and plaintiff, name of the city and the step-by-step by which the plaintiff had encountered discrimination.

Large Cities

Although Thomas had not mentioned the city or section of Iowa in which the act of discrimination had occurred, he said that more complaints of discrimination come from larger cities where minorities are larger.

"It is not as easy to define or develop definite ghettos in some small towns," he said, due to the fact that Iowa's Negroes throughout the state's villages are interspersed throughout the neighborhoods. But he said that there could be patterns drawn in neighborhoods in which the Negro might be able to just buy the "poorest" home on the block in the community.

"I am not familiar enough with the pattern in small towns."

As college campuses re-activate, the 1967 Housing law will be in force more than ever, since "the new crop of students looking for off-campus housing will bring something."

Pattern

If, in this complaint, negotiations in conciliation are not successful and reasonable means show a pattern of discrimination, the case will go to a public hearing.

Few times have cases of discrimination come to a hearing. The first one was Mr. and Mrs. Willis Haddix of Mason City versus the owner of the Mobile Home Trailer Park last year. Most recent the scheduled-but-postponed-and-cancelled public hearing of the Civil Service Commission on hiring two Negro firemen.

Ia. Fair Boycott Falls
Through; Gen. Miller
Explains N.G. Training

The Iowa National Guard's training in riot control and civil disorder is part of routine training and not necessarily for the control of racial disturbances, said Adj. General Junior Miller, Thursday.

He said that the training was a state mission, and that the Guard was available for natural or man-made disaster. "At the moment there is nervousness throughout the nation, and it is necessary to refresh the Guard because of criticism leveled at the manner that the Guard employed in larger cities."

Miller explained about the Harlan strike rioting earlier this year in Iowa, at which the National Guard had not been called out to quell, saying that they had not been advised of the severity of the situation until it had been nearly subdued.

Not Potential

The General did admit that Iowa was not a potential racial rebellion state and that he did not really expect to send the Guard to Iowa villages, with Negro population in most towns being as low as 168 or less. He re-iterated that "the greatest percentage of our Negroes are good people" and "H. Rap Brown was a nobody until the press began their thorough speech coverage and made him an international sensation."

Miller revealed that there had, indeed, been rumors of a boycott at the Iowa State Fair, that persons were going to "burn, baby, burn" it down . . .

Monday, Aug. 21 — A source told the Bystander, that he, along with other persons had planned a boycott at the Iowa State Fair.

He said that he had passed out over two hundred pamphlets urging it.

Excerpts of the leaflet read " . . . a call to all those who feel a demonstration is necessary . . . show you are not satisfied. Nothing has been changed to make you aware of the United States . . . wear Black Power shirts if you have one or come anyway . . . $50 a week will not show you your identity." It was signed Militant for Black Power.

The source said last Monday that he had been fired by the Polk County Community Action Council, who thought the boycott would do more harm than good.

The source, said the reasons was that he had used CAP (Community Action Patrol) time to make up the handbill.

blue lemons by e. tate

Soul kids, time to hit the books again, sharpen the pencils and write in the textbooks. Another nine months of hating the person who sits in front of you, of sitting by the hottest radiator in school, or by the north window in the winter.

Education

College education, is indeed important, as Miss James says, but only if it will personally be rewarding to you. If you aren't a grinder, if you could just barely make it in school and had your interests in a different field, like dance or an L.P.N., you won't be actually helping yourself by signing up for four years in college of liberal arts when you could be elsewhere, working with the people or with a typewriter or with babies. As Miss Griffin says, many of the high-paying jobs can be found in the clerical field as easily as from college. But, society demands a degree.

The man who sets up plans for a city sewer system, is applauded but the man who has to work in the sewer is looked upon with disdain, too many times. The job might pay just as much. The guy who loves machines goes to college because it might give him prestige while, if he had gone to mechanics school, he might be making all kinds of money

now. And be happier.

Geared

It is unfortunate, as Mr. Cecil Reed said, that our society is geared this way, pressing for mass commercial conformity of educated neurotics to be brought about, rather going to college because you want to broaden your horizons. Too many of us say this while we go to colleges so we can make a sack of money at a white collar job we probably dislike.

I'm all for college, especially for the Afro-American, because he has to have education, degrees and everything else, and be superior on top of that to get anywhere. It would be nice, however, if one could take on a commitment in order to satisfy his own soul, rather than society's.

From New York: favorites there are Knock on Wood by He and She (Otis and Carla) and Big Bad Shing-A-Ling, Flamin' King. On the top ten are For Get It, by the Sand Peppers, Its Got to Be Mellow, Leon Hayes, and smash hit, Martha and the Vandellas, Leave My Heart Alone.

Judy Clay is a low-voiced, torch singer. I bet Lolita Fonzca or Cookie Martin or maybe even Carolyn Clinton would love to get a hold of some of her songs to add to their repertoire.

The V-Tettes could do a good job with the Chamel's Flipside hit of Lovin' Material.

School Board Hits Adm. For Busing Procedure

The issue on housing students in a government program from one school to another came to a head last week when the Des Moines School Board, in a 6-1 decision, rejected a proposal to send 22 kindergarten children from Bird School to Cowles School.

The proposal was one of a part of programs and experiments to see if poor children who participated in the Head Start program, by attending better schools in a city, would benefit more.

However, the School Board chairman Arthur Davis said he received material concerning the proposal Aug. 14 and had not time to discuss the plan nor take it up with the committee on Equality of Educational Opportunity, a committee named last month to study the racial issue in education.

Don't Know

Davis cast the dissenting vote. He said he didn't know how he would have voted if the material had come to the board at the "appropriate time." Davis said that the Committee should have been informed of the provision in order for a thorough investigation to be made.

He disputed Donald McKenzie, executive director of the Community Action Council, who said that the Board had received word of the program May 16. McKenzie made this statement at a meeting of the poverty program last week.

Detriment

John M. Estes, president of the Des Moines branch of the NAACP, said "There appears to be a struggle between the school administration and the board, and this has been a detriment to the Follow Through program."

Although Bird is only one of three schools in the program, Bird is the only school to transport students.

Miss Olive DeVine, principle at Bird, said she was not at the meeting when the Board rejected the proposal, but that she was welcome at any time.

Landlords Criticized, Officials Listen in The Large Cities Meeting

In an address to the Iowa Large Cities Group of the League of Iowa Municipalities, Thursday, state NAACP president Robert A. Wright, using himself and the NAACP as chief spokesmen "for the Negro in the community," said: "We feel that to have a meeting of the Large Cities Committees to discuss racial unrest in our communities is not enough" . . . and with that, the meeting moved on to what could be done to permanently improve the plight of minorities in Iowa in areas of housing and jobs.

Wright listed property discrimination: instability of jobs, particularly low-paying; closed craft unions; inadequate educational opportunities; "insensitivity" of white citizens and the police department; and ignoring Negro elected officials in policy-making groups as major grievances.

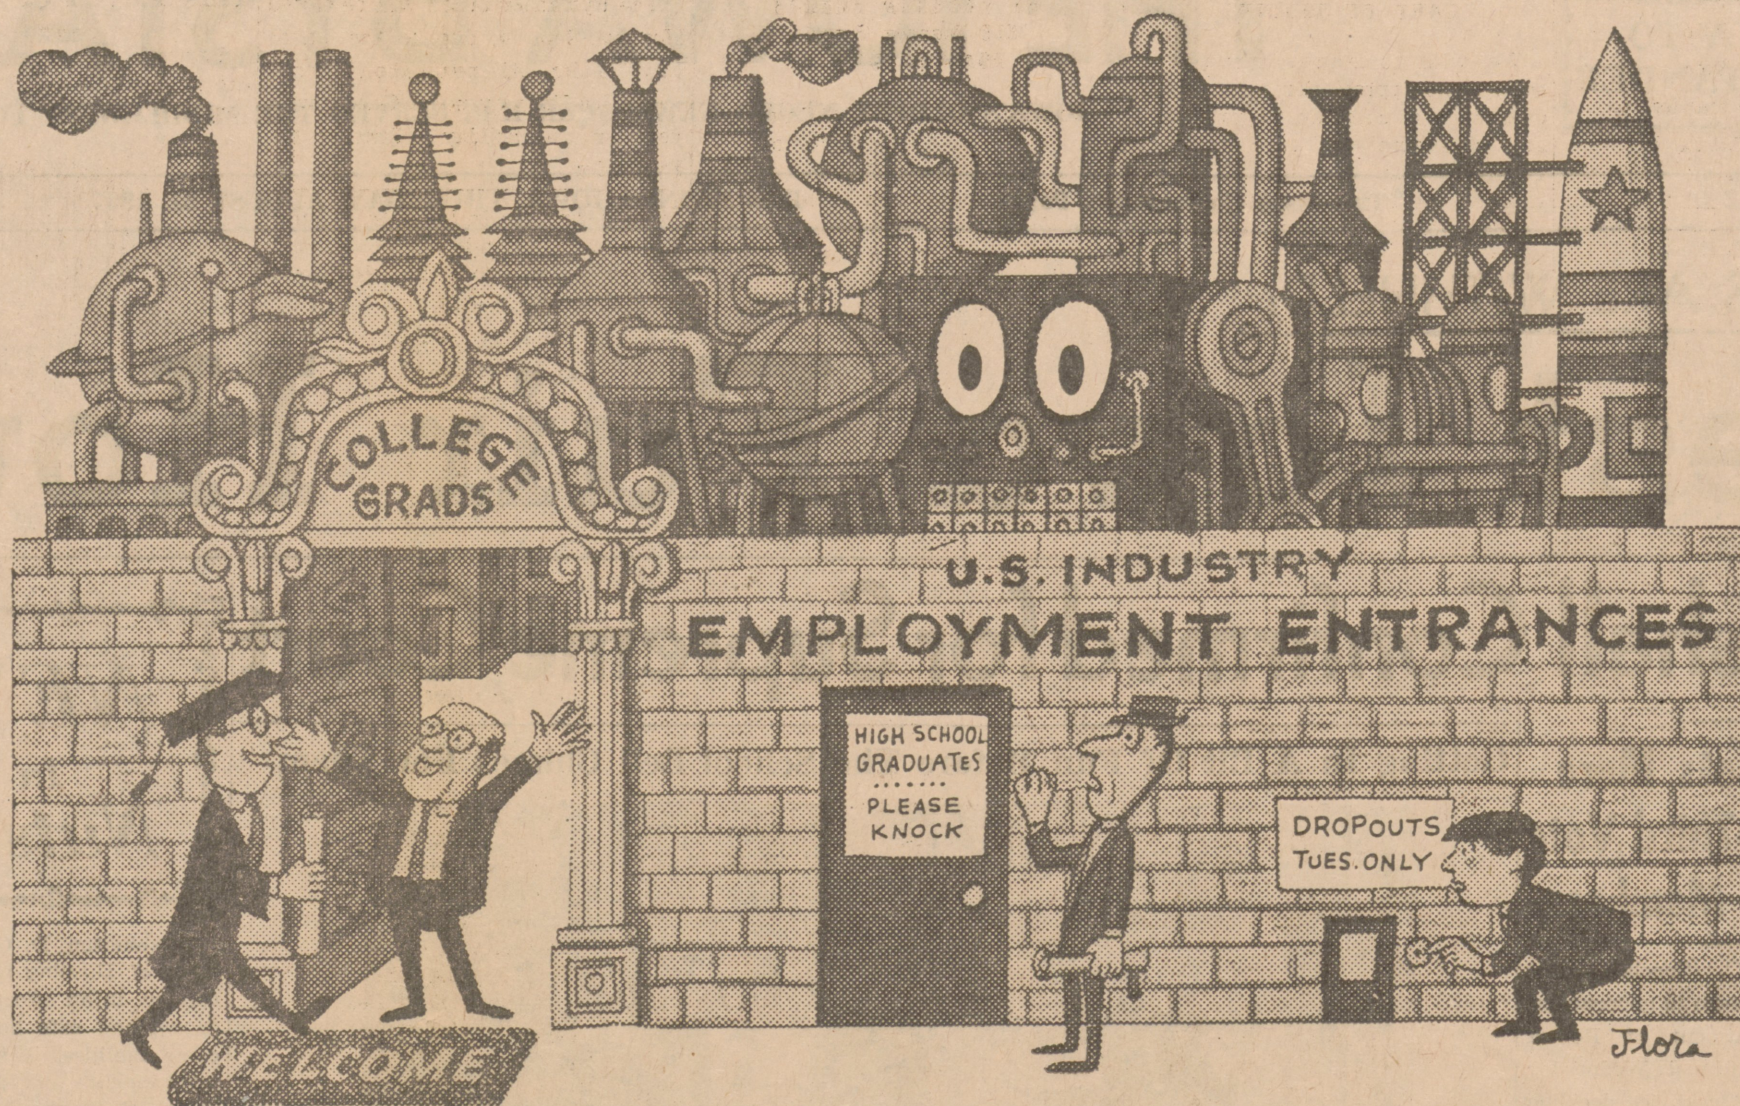

Some of the Negroes present released their thoughts; as did Paul DeVan, with the Los Angeles Economic Youth Opportunity, calling the meeting apathetic. "Nobody here can start a riot. It's also true that nobody here can stop one."

Christopher

James Christopher, who has lived in Milwaukee, Wis., and in California, but now living at 1139 9th street, said Friday that the meeting held with the officials would not be effective until sincere, dedicated persons got together to rectify various appalling situations, including the rat problems in Davenport and widespread cock roaches, illegal wiring, in health-condemned buildings.

He attacked the landlord, particularly the absentee landlord, as one of the main perpetrators of Negro housing problems, and suggested the tremendous need for them to fix up multiple dwellings.

Christopher, recently elected President of Walnut Hills Opportunity Center, said the Governor, had lit the fire of concern, but that he needed continuous fuel or the fire would go out.

Even a machine needs a good education to get a good job today. So the message should be clear to you.

Jobs are becoming much more complicated. Much more demanding. And that's why more and more employers are insisting on a good education as the number-one job requirement.

Now more than ever, a good education isn't some kind of luxury. It's an absolute necessity!

The plain fact is . . . to get a good job today, you need a good education. So don't let anything stop you from getting one.

If you're in school now . . . stay there! Learn all you can for as long as you can. If you're out of school, you can still get plenty of valuable training outside the classroom. For full details, talk to the Youth Counselor at your State Employment Service. Or visit a Youth Opportunity Center.

To get a good job, get a good education

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council.

Young People Say Why They Continue in School

Jobs demand it. Employers insist on it. So you'd better plan on having what it really takes to get the kind of job you want.

Today, there's no fooling about schooling. You honestly need a good education to get a good job . . . a good paying job . . . a job with a good future.

So, if you're in school now . . . stay there! Learn all you can for as long as you can. If you're out of school, there are plenty of ways to get valuable training outside the classroom. For details, visit the Youth Counselor at your State Employment Service. Get a good education . . . you can't get ahead without one.

This year the youngsters listed below are telling why they choose to stay in school. Others may well follow their example. It pays.

GIRTHA THOMAS, attending Central College in Pella, Iowa—Oh yes, the Negroes should definitely try and further their education. It's kind of stupid for them not to. They almost have to with the types of jobs offered to them today. Sure, they can get a job without high school education but it's becoming more difficult.

KEN WHITNEY, freshman at Southern University, Carbonville, Ill.—Here in Des Moines and in any city throughout the nation, in order to get a break in the white man's world, the Negro must get an education. The white man has in general been down on the Negro, so the Negro particularly needs a college education.

PHYLLIS GRIFFIN, Fisk University, now engaged in a poverty program in Chicago, Ill.—A college education is demanded by today's society, but non-college jobs, such as computer programming and secretarial positions can bring as much money. Actually, education is very poor in the U.S., because it is limited in representing different views and topics, such as sex and race.

LINDA BOWMAN, honor student from North, now freshman at the University of Iowa, majoring in art: The Negro should go on, in any way that is financially possible, particularly since there are so many scholarships.

CECELIA THOMPSON, freshman at the University of Kansas, at Lawrence: It is an individual thing, with some not cut out for college, like those who like to do things with their hands. But the Negro should receive some type of higher education.

LENORA MILES, Freshman at Grandview College . . . Negroes should take advantage of the opportunities offered to them, especially with so many grants offered to them by clubs, certain groups, and businesses. They almost have to with the way things are now.

MARSHA FANT, freshman at Grandview: The white man looks down on those who don't have an education and the proper qualifications. Rioting isn't helping us at all. Without education you can't go far.

BRENDA BETHEL attending a college next fall—Yes, Negroes should further their education beyond high school. I feel it is necessary to be able to get some place in life.

STANLIE JAMES, freshman at Spelman College, Atlanta, Ga.—From what I've been able to read on Negro history as well as that which I've seen, in the present day riot-torn situation, many of the problems that the Negro faces stem from the basic problem of lack of education—he can't get a better job, he can't move out of the ghetto, his children can't get a better education. There are unlimited opportunities now for scholarships for Negroes that are being wasted. In our society, more important than before, everyone should get the most out of education.

WARREN STEWART, University of Iowa—It's all up to the individual as to what he plans to do with his future. It depends upon what he wants. As for me I am going to continue my education.

MARK HAYNES, Wesleyan University, Middleton, Conn.—Oh yes, definitely. The opportunity is there, all they have to do is use it and have the ability to take hold of it. I feel there is much more in store for me and I eventually hope to become a lawyer and later help Americans by entering politics.

JAMES B. MORRIS, III, freshman at Iowa University this fall: As today's society becomes more and more specialized, a person without at least a high school diploma has little future. Technology does away with many jobs previously held by unskilled and semi-skilled laborers. In the future, our society will be so specialized that a college diploma will be as necessary as a high school diploma today. The people who drop out of school today become tomorrow's unemployed and unemployables.

CLYDETTE BRADFORD, honor student at Drake University: Definitely everyone, regardless of color, should make the best of his education, especially now. It is so important, you can understand yourself and develop a better personality.

Finds Negro Athlete Not Used Enough In The Television Ad

New York—Negro athletes are being overlooked by makers of the television commercials aired during sports events and related programs, according to a survey released here this week by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF).

The LDF has asked the Federal Communications Commission to investigate.

Findings

The LDF drew the following conclusions about the appearance of Negroes in commercials during sports programs as a result of its survey:

Half the appearances of Negroes consisted as an "extra"; of the eight commercials monitored which utilized Negroes for personal endorsements only one featured a Negro, Louis Armstrong; beer companies used more Negroes than others; there was not an appreciable difference in the use of Negroes in commercials aired nationally and locally.

Gustav Henningburg, assistant to the president of the LDF, stated that the way in which Negroes appear on television has become an important issue as the United States struggles to achieve new patterns of relationship between the races.

No Men?

DON'T JOSTLE, GIRLS! — Right now there are about four million more women than men in the U.S. But the situation isn't all that desperate, figures released by a leading insurance company indicate. Because women live longer than men on the average, the imbalance increases with age. At 18 the ratio is only 1,067 to 1,000. At 65, it's 1,276 to 1,000. By the year 1980, according to the figures, the ratio in the over-65 group will be 7 to 5. (At least the odds are best at the age when it matters the most!)

Willkie's playground facilities were improved recently. The playground was black-topped and two new outdoor basketball goals were installed. Plans call for laying a full basketball court.

Also, there will be a volleyball court. The poles have already been installed.

Further plans call for a four square court for the smaller children, and the tether ball games, jungle gym, sliding board and swings have been re-painted.

The summer program was concluded last Friday in a surprise treat of hamburgers, French fries and beverages for the children and teenage counselors.

LINDA WALKER has just returned from Europe, I am told! Tried unsuccessfully to reach her and Mary Ruth Sunday eve! More later about this fabulous young lady!

DR. AND MRS. LEO SUBOTNIK AND DAUGHTERS, MAXINE AND JESSICA, were feted by a small world of friends at the WILPF's feast and fest held at the home of Katy and Louis Bertin last Sunday evening. The evening began with a feast and included a play, an auction, games and films.

MAXINE AND JESSICA, supported by their chums Hope and Paul Tinker stole the show in their presentation of a play written by Maxine. Entitled "The Princess Who Raised the Sea" it dealt with a petulant princess who wanted the sea raised—the play actually made this happen. The story was delightful and the performance by each cast member quite, quite good.

TIMOTHY SCHEMP, two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schemp, joined the cast of "The Princess Who Raised the Sea", laughed merrily and spoke a couple of lines. His debut was a surprise to everyone, especially Mom and Dad.

MRS. MARK (LESLIE) ENGLEBRECHT, a guest at the Sunday night affair, made a beautiful picture—a dusky beauty, she was excitingly attired in a gold tailored minidress and wore a pair of the new long, long boots.

MINIARTIST NANCY LINK AND HUSBAND, LARRY made the party, too. Nancy had just collected her violin painting from The Iowa State Fair. Did you happen to read about the painting in last Friday's Register. It was one viewer's favorite in "What Do You Think?"

Holmes Family Has Returned From Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holmes and daughter Pattie, of 6224 Forest recently returned from their vacation in Chicago, Ill., Gary, Ind., and Detroit, Mich.

In Chicago they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Randle Davenport, and were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Johnson. Later, the Holmes family traveled to Kalamazoo, Mich., to Detroit, where they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cabbell, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cabbell and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cabbell.

The Iowans then journeyed back to Chicago where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Davenport. In this city the party attended the horse races, dined at the Court-house, gourmet restaurant, and the Johnsons hosted a trip to Chinatown.

On Aug. 20, the Holmes joined Mrs. Audrey Penn and the Cabbell family in Waterloo for extensive chatting and renewing friendships.

Archer Family Are Back From Vacation

Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Archer and children, of 663 26th street, returned home Aug. 20 after visiting friends in Three Rivers and Detroit, Mich.; the Expo '67 in Montreal, Canada; friends in Kittery, Maine and New York City.

CYNTHIA TURNER AND DAUGHTERS, CAROL, CARLA AND CAMERON left their chateau long enough to join the throng. Formerly I referred to Cynthia's daughters as her brood. Now that each girl has her own neatly furnished room in their enormous two story brick dwelling, each rates special notice. Boy! But they're growing up! Always at mother's side, too.

PAM SUDDHEIMER (Mrs. Louie) was trying to locate Carol Hedges' Art Celler. On her tenth attempt she entered a shop to inquire. The A member of Craft-ette Guild, she has won three of the club's seven 1967 winnings in Valley-wide hobby competition. Her three winnings were first place for a baby quilt, second place for her stole, and first place for a punch rug. The quilt she brought East and gave to her brother and sister-in-law, Judge and Mrs. William Parker for their young-est.

KEY LARGO, last Saturday night's Film Club's presentation was a real thriller. An oldie, it presented Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall so you know that it was excellent. shopkeeper took her out the back door and directed her to The Art Celler. Pam had a marvelous time browsing and admiring Carole's collected works—but she has yet to meet Carol. (She liked what she found, Carole!) Fame seeks some people!

KATHERINE MAJORS' beige knitted stole worn on her visit here last week is a rare creation. Katherine, you will remember, is the former Katherine Parker (sister of Ralph, Sam, William and Percy) and is a resident of Pamoima, Calif. The stole won second place in her City's Dexter Park Women's Guild.

PYNE: Hopeful Start For Young Negroes

A young people's social organization, some sources say, badly needed in the city, managed by young people and specifically for young people, has come into being: PYNE, or Progressive Young Negro Enterprises.

Since the two months that they have been organized, at least three dances can be credited to them, two at the YMCA, and the most recent one last Sunday night at Ft. Des Moines Hotel.

Goal

Harvey Lloyd, member of PYNE, said the goal of PYNE is to upgrade the Negro, and through its work, make the young person become proud of his race. "A lot of kids I know don't have pride in their race," Lloyd said.

He said that future plans call for

Cecilia's Nutshell On European Tour

Cecilia Thompson, who recently returned from a summer European tour, made these comments about each country that she was fortunate to visit:

There is no prejudice. Everywhere I went, everyone was so nice. In Paris, I read an American paper about the Detroit riots, and I thought: so silly, since in Europe you have so many small countries living close together, getting along.

Glimpse

England: I saw either extreme, the conservative or the ultra-extremist. I didn't meet an average person. Denmark: It was great, especially Copenhagen.

Italy: That is the country you go to for fun.

France: Paris: It is so international. I met American Negroes, Italians, Africans. But the Negro is so unfriendly. I was surprised. They think the only reason another Negro can be in Paris is that she is rich.

Ireland: So quaint, and the countryside so green. They are a very proud people.

Germany: Very domineering, as compared with the U.S. They are not as courteous.

Sweden: Very nice.

Miss Thompson, who will be entering the University of Kansas this fall, became friends with a young woman who is completing her master's Degree in economics. She plans to visit with Miss Thompson next August.

VIETNAM COMMISSION IS NOT NEEDED

President Johnson has appointed a commission of distinguished citizens and by now are in Vietnam to witness the election which is to be held Sunday.

It is generally understood that should the election be dominated by Communists and elect their candidates, America may re-examine its commitments and may feel free to allow these people to settle their own civil strife.

As high sounding as this may be, we do not feel that such a step is justified and can produce little results. And we are trying to teach other people to do what we have not been able to accomplish.

America is carrying the burden of the fighting now and undoubtedly is spending a lot of money helping the civilian population.

It is hoped that we don't get more foolish in an effort to embarrass the communists by importing Viet refugees to this country as is being done for Cubans.

Seemingly United Nations could well have handled this assignment rather than we continue alone to correct the world.

BACK TO SCHOOL IS IMPORTANT

This week, in the Bystander's "Back to School" ad, young people have been asked why they stayed in school; some what they plan to do and where they plan to continue their studies.

The last few years have brought to light the fact that too many youngsters dropped out or failed to pursue their studies with a definite objective in view. And as new openings came, the demand far exceeded the supply.

Recent campaigns, new jobs secured and adequate scholarships and scholarship loans have made it possible for almost any youngster to remain in school. Fortunately, these incentives are paying off.

Many firms that are sponsoring this ad are "equal opportunity employers". Some of the laws designed to level the racial bar have had their impact.

Even though much has been done, much is left to be done. Conditions will improve, as young people prepare themselves by completing their education or by otherwise pursuing apprenticeships in trades that lead to more lucrative income.

THERE IS SOME SMOKE HERE

Gov. Hughes has come under some criticism because of remarks that his investigation and information given him in a report by the Employment Security Commission (it was found to be a year old) and by individuals in several Iowa towns.

The commission claims that the discriminatory practices complained of in the report have been corrected.

Gov. Hughes made his survey less than a month ago and if the complaints given him are true, the conditions of which they complain still exist and the report is still valid.

Discrimination is a weird thing often hard to track down and hard to put the finger on it. This is well demonstrated by the manner in which the Des Moines city hall has been able to maneuver to keep its employees almost "lilly white."

It is interesting to note that even in Des Moines, no factory has elevated a Negro to foreman or supervisor jobs of any importance, even though some have worked in them for years. Building trades have held their grip on apprenticeship training with the result that, so far, we have no bricklayers, no plasterers, no electricians in the unions. And when they have assumed to police plants have been filed then died without concluding successful results.

It is unfortunate that public officials get into these squabbles over equal employment when the time spent by it could well be used to clean up the deficiencies.

The Sports Today

With Allen Ashby

We shall be reading and talking about which baseball manager or football coach is the best when teams don't win. They think the easiest thing to do is fire the guy who leads the team. This usually evens up for a lot of other short comings.

But as one wise guy put it, there is really only one rule to successful coaching or managing. That is get some guys that can play the game you coach or manage. One Notre Dame coach said it in a little different way. He was asked if his team and he prayed for victory before each game. He replied yes and added that the prayers worked much better when the players were big and good.

We have often heard it argued that the managers of the Big League baseball teams or the coaches of the professional football teams could be assigned to each club blindly with no one knowing where he was going and the result wouldn't change the team standing but very little. Good teams make good managers and coaches. There is always a lot of talk about how a coach or manager built his championship teams out of the air. But if you will look into the thing a little closer you will see where he'd acquired a key player or two who really brought the team out. Some fellow asked us how we would like to have the college all star football team of last year together for about four seasons and be their head coach. We replied that we would be a helluva coach. Might end up lecturing at high schools and other sports gatherings. Could even get into a National Magazine.

Strategy

But really as we have always argued, there is just so much basic strategy in any of the team games. The top coaches and managers know it all or they would not be big league. Their problem is getting the men who can execute the strategy when the time comes to do so. Then there is the element of luck. It was said of Napoleon that he would rather have a lucky general than a good one. One stroke of good luck can erase a whole lot of mistakes. And by the same token one bad break can wipe out a whole lot of brilliant planning.

So the next time you hear about a great coach or manager, just ask yourself if he would be that great with the last place team.

Here at home the crowd had a lot to cheer about as the Des Moines Warriors won their first league game. With Nate Craddock for a drawing card the team ought to pull some pretty good crowds if they can win often enough.

A lot of the fellows who are supposed to know say the new Hoover High will surprise a lot of the schools this year and surely next year.

That track meet out at Drake University last week was well attended considering the time of the year and the fact that there were no outstanding local boys, but Jack Johnson of East to help pull people in.

Fonza To Appeal
Disturbing Peace
Charged to Him

Milford Fonza, first Negro to be hired by the Des Moines Fire Department in over 40 years, says he will appeal the guilty-charge of disturbing the peace.

Fonza posted $200 bond last week after he was charged and found guilty of disturbing the peace at the Esther Apartments, where his wife lived.

Fonza earlier said that the reason he was charged with the offense was that the landlady Ann Willett, discriminated in the rental of apartments, and he planned to file such charges at the Civil Rights Commission. He said that the woman beat him to it, however.

"She was making all the noise," Fonza said the day after he was charged.

Johnson Might Name
Negro To Head D.C.
9 Man City Council

Washington, D.C. — According to the Washington Post, Walter E. Washington, 51, chairman of the New York Housing Authority, may be promoted to the position of the new commissioner of the District of Columbia.

The Post says that the FBI checked Washington out during his tenure as NY Housing chairman, and speculators feel this is one of the steps toward President Johnson's appointment for Washington. Washington would be head over nine city councilmen in the possible new job.

Work—once man's penance, now his high reward!

For work to do, and strength to do the work,

We thank Thee, Lord!
Since outcast Adam toiled to make a home,

The primal curse a blessing has become,

Man, in their less find truer happiness,

And all, in work, relief from bitterness.

Robbers Get Higgins
Drug Wed., Get $800

Robbers described as Negroes escaped last Wednesday night with $800 and narcotics from Higgins Pharmacy, 122 Locust street.

Police were told that the two men came into the drugstore about 8:45 p.m. where only Higgins and Margaret Mayer, waitress were. One of the duo, a revolver in his hand pressed the gun against the man's side and asked for drugs, but when Higgins hesitated, the guy took all the money from the cash register, took Higgins' store key and wallet and told him to go downstairs, where Mrs. Mayer was.

250 dollars worth of morphine, codein and Emperin compound had been taken from the safe.

Employees of the store say the men have not been found, but that they would continue to view mug shots, and perhaps recognize the thieves.
