Task Force Meets; Reports Upcoming

After Much Debate, Committee Is Formed

Members of the Governor's special task force met Friday night at Ft. Des Moines Hotel to discuss means for combating minority problems in Iowa.

Co-chairman Harold Dymally of Clinton said at the meeting "that prejudice and bigotry flourish at the crossroads as well as metropolitan areas" to the study group, composed of NAACP leaders, lawyers and businessmen throughout the state.

After much debate, the group decided to set up special committees to look into grievances as police relations, housing, employment, education and community relations.

Members

Members of the police relations committee are Dr. Warren Nash, president of the Waterloo NAACP, Frank Boshe, Cedar Rapids Safety Commissioner, James B. Morris, Jr., of the NAACP Legal Redress, Milton Schael, mayor of Burlington and president of the Iowa Municipalities, Harold Gartner, of Tatonka, president-elect, and Dymally. Discussion centered around the particular breed of enforcement set up by the police department.

On education, members of which are Mayor Hubbard of Iowa City, Dr. Eddie Easley of the NAACP, William Cropp, Russell Pounds, teacher at Iowa State University, Mrs. Warren Nash, and Ft. Dodge mayor, Albert Habbah, Mrs. Nash said education was like living in "a multi-poor society."

On Housing are Perry Hooks, executive secretary of the Des Moines Human Rights Commission, Mayor of Waterloo, Lloyd Turner, James Thomas of the Civil Rights Commission; James Lowe, William Cribbs, president of Davenport's NAACP and John Estes, Jr., president of the Des Moines branch NAACP.

Robinson, of the Manpower Development Council, Leo Griggs of the Cedar Rapids NAACP, Robert Jackson, of the Polk County Community Action Council, and A. June Franklin, Polk County Representative, Democrat.

Poverty Workers Win In Kentucky's Bias

Pikeville, Ky. — Pike County officials and business leaders have been charged with violating the civil rights of three poverty workers accused of sedition.

Joseph Mulloy and Alan and Margaret McSurley filed formal complaints with the Kentucky Human Rights Commission and U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark, Washington.

The three charged that county officers, the Chamber of Commerce, and coal industry "conspired and planned to use the police power of the state" to deprive them of their civil and human rights.

Home Arrest

"This conspiracy was testified to by Pike County Sheriff Perry A. Justice on the witness stand," the poverty workers said in letters to Clark and Galen Martin, director of the state commission.

The McSurleys and Mulloy were arrested in raids on their homes the night of Aug. 11.

Mississippi Election Was "Rigged" Say Leaders

Jackson, Miss.—In a telegram of protest to President Lyndon B. Johnson, leaders of the Mississippi State Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People charged that elections held in some counties were "rigged" to defeat an unprecedented number of Negro candidates.

Assistance

NAACP State Field Director Charles Evers told newsmen that Negro voters had been forced to obtain assistance from white election officials, who marked the ballots for white candidates.

In calling for new elections, Mr. Evers said Federal officials sent to observe the voting had "sat around note that Booker T. Washington and the minor scientist George Washington Carver are often singled out—both of whom held attitudes about race relationships least disturbing to conservative whites." The pamphlet went on to say that "equally or more worthy of inclusion" are men like "Denman Vesey, Nat Turner, Frederick Douglas, W.E.B. DuBois and the Rev. Martin Luther King."

Supplements

Prior to the most recent textbooks, each history American book was supplemented by books such as "The Negro in America," the "American Negro" and the "Negro drinking coffee and grinning with all the racists."

The telegram sent by Mr. Evers and Dr. Aaron E. Henry, NAACP state conference president, urged President Johnson to "use your influence and call for new elections in many sections of Mississippi and send representatives from Washington and across the country to make certain that Negroes and Negro candidates are assured justice and fair play in all elections."

Negro candidates were defeated by white opponents in 21 contests in nine counties across the state. Many of the losses were by large margins.

Contrast

This was in sharp contrast to Negro victories in the first primary on Aug. 8. In that election Negro candidates swept to victory in 16 contests.

Mr. Evers said the setback suffered by Negro candidates in the second election stemmed from his belief that "The whole thing was rigged."

Nearly 200,000 Negroes were eligible to vote as a result of the Federal Voting Rights Act of 1965. Prior to this year's election only about 25,000 Negroes were registered to vote, mainly because of fear and intimidation and the antiquated poll tax.

NAACP officers in the state had urged Negroes to seek public office in their drive to gain Constitutional guarantees and political representation.

(LDF) cited extensive riot analysis in a brief filed with the U.S. Supreme Court today asking that "neither stops nor frisks" of citizens on the streets be constitutional "without probable cause." Hopefuls Say "Isolated" Case; Cunningham Most Puzzled Over Incident

If burning a cross on a family's lawn is someone's idea of a prank, then there are some members of society who believe in sick, sick humor. E. T. Cunningham, of 1703 E. 21st street, was the victim of such a prank Monday evening after, according to neighbors, some white youths planted the cross on the front lawn and fled.

Crank Case

According to police, the cross was made of two pieces of two by four, quite old wood, about three and one half to four feet long. They, in forming the cross, symbol of the still raging Ku Klux Klan terrorism, were wrapped in cloth. The figure had been placed in a Maxwell House three pound coffee can which had been filled with old oil from a crank case of a car.

This incident of arson is not the first of its kind, police say, but to their knowledge, a Negro home has not been the victim of such an occurrence. A similar situation happened on a lot last year on 42nd street, when a cross was erected.

Trouble

Cunningham had said that he had had some trouble with young kids who got into his apple (trees), but that these children had no older brothers who might "get back" at him, or in this fashion.

The burning, sources say, hopefully, is an isolated case. Cunningham, who is a fairly recent resident of that area, had contacted all the neighbors of his intention to move in, and that no one had been hostile to him since living there.

Black Power Leaders Attempt To Dominate Political Meeting

Chicago, Ill.—More than 2,000 representatives of some 200 independent political, peace and civil rights organizations met in Chicago this week to develop political strategy and alliances of the left.

The convention, "New Politics—'68 and Beyond," sponsored by the National Conference for New Politics, dealt with political strategy for the 1968 presidential elections as well as long-range organizational planning.

Black Power advocates boycotted the meeting soon after its opening to set up an ultimatum, also charging the United States with deliberate genocide of the Negro. The charges stem from speculation that the United States had not signed a major anti-genocide pact, the war in Viet Nam and murders during city riots.

The convention itself was kicked off Thursday with a rally keynoted by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Ticket

Sources predict a national presidential ticket of Martin Luther King and Dr. Benjamin Spock.

Panelists included Floyd McKissick, national director of CORE.

Topics

Topics included rebellions, the police, the Army and the Black community; welfare recipients' movements and guaranteed income; tenants' movements; slum rehabilitation; organized resistance to urban renewal and model cities; congressional campaigns in suburbia, cities and rural areas; and political action of the black movement.

A panel on Black Liberation which heard testimony from residents of rebellion cities. Panelists included Floyd McKissick of CORE; Julian Bond, Georgia legislator and former SNCC official; Fannie Lou Hamer, Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party; and George Wiley, head of the Poverty-Rights Action Center in Washington, D.C.

Ask Shriver to Reinstate Houston Univ. Students

Employment

New York — The Executive Director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Roy Wilkins, has called on the Office of Economic Opportunity to reinstate three college students dismissed from poverty program jobs because of their alleged involvement in riots last May at Texas Southern University in Houston, Texas.

Murder

The three students were employed in early July 1967 in Project Go, a Houston, Tex., poverty program. Their employment was terminated in late July, Mr. Wilkins said, when local politicians and newspapers disclosed that the three students were among the five charged with assault and first degree murder in the death Stein, Jr. and the panel members of one policeman and injuries to two are Mrs. David Kruidenier, Jr., Mrs. others during the riots at TSU on Leo Tapscott, Mrs. Lewis James, May 16, and Mrs. Alvin Kirsner. The students were released on bail. The panel will be presented by and their trial on the assault charges. Miss Jane Alexander and Miss Joyce scheduled for Nov. 27. NAACP Lenihan, co-chairman of the Even-legal counsel is defending the five students. Meeting Committee.

Find City's History Books Do Include Negro History

by eleanora e. tate
The Des Moines Public Schools' 1967-68 integrated history books may well be the first such ones in Iowa's educational system.

This was the observation made in a discussion with John H. Kilgor, superintendent of the social sciences of the Des Moines Public Schools.

Fight for Rights

He said that all social science books were suggested by a teacher committee, appointed by him. The committee then sent the list of preferred books to the School Administration who passed it on to the School Board for final say.

A typical junior year American History book for general track, U.S. History, contains innumerable references to Afro-Americans, from the time they arrived, until the year the book was published, with particular emphasis on social problems, the fight of the Negro for freedom since coming to America, and racist abuse by whites.

Full Life

According to Bulletin No. 2 of the Social Science Department—a pamphlet issued periodically on the Negro in American History Textbooks—"It is our obligation to seek materials that portray the Negro's life fully, accurately, and without sentimentality or condescension. Outstanding Negro figures to be portrayed should be selected by the same criteria which apply to non-Negro figures. It is interesting to

Freedom House in Flames At Milwaukee; Housing Demonstrators March On

New York—Civil rights leader Roy Wilkins has forwarded checks to the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in a fund-raising drive to relocate the group's headquarters which was burned out during an open housing march that was marred by violence.

Flames broke out, Aug. 29, at the Freedom House headquarters of the Youth Council as demonstrators were returning by bus from their South Side march. Police said the fire apparently had been ignited by arsonists.

More than 30 persons, most of them white, were arrested as a result of violence which erupted during the open housing march into a South Side park.

Rejected

The Rev. James E. Groppi, white Roman Catholic priest and leader of the demonstrations, had asked Mayor Henry Maier for National Guard protection. Mayor Maier rejected the request.

Police broke up a civil rights rally in Milwaukee on Aug. 30 and arrested more than 50 Youth Council members who had organized a rally at the charred remains of the Freedom House. The arrests came after Mayor Maier proclaimed a state of emergency in the city.

It was reported that city officials had contacted the Most Rev. William E. Cousins, Archbishop of Milwaukee, in an attempt to curb the civil rights activities of Father Groppi.

A series of civil rights marches have been held to protest the Common Council's refusal to consider a proposed open housing ordinance for Milwaukee. The state has an open housing law, but owner-occupied dwellings of four units or less are not covered.

The proposal for a tougher law was offered by Vel Phillips, the city's only Negro alderman.

Books

in American Life," since, Kilgor said, too many times the teacher himself does not have adequate background on the Negro.

On the junior high school level, several books can be found on African heritage, great rulers in that country's past, with some books listing the three greatest African empires.

Watermelon

For elementary children are stories of Negro and white families who are completely amiable, enjoying the same sports, encountering similar domestic problems, eating the same foods. One picture shows two, small, white children eating watermelon.

The pamphlet continued: (According to a panel of historians) "each school book should contain a full account of the life of the slave . . . (including) slave marriages (which) made for an unstable family life . . . students should be told that slaves often ran away, committed sabotage, and plotted revolts, and that on one occasion a slave, Nat Turner, led a bloody general insurrection against the masters."

Intentions Good

Accompanying the books in various classroom studies will be film strips: The Negro in America, Life in Harlem, Making a Living (in Harlem), etc.

Since Mr. Kilgor does not handle material going to smaller cities, such as Muscatine, Clinton, Mason City and others, he did not know whether integrated books would be circulated there, since "the books are sometimes selected by the superintendent."

"The most important thing is to remember that the schools are aware of the problem," Kilgor said. "We have good intentions."

Question

—Does a return have to be filed for the year a taxpayer dies? If so, who has to file it?

A—A return must be filed for the year of the taxpayer's death. It is due on the same date it would have been had he lived.

The executor or administrator of the taxpayer's estate, or his legal representative, should file the return.

Q—I have moved. Will the refund I'm expecting be forwarded to me?

A—Mail should be forwarded to you if a change of address card has been filed with your post office.

Q—I just divorced my wife. Will I have to make any change in my tax withholding?

A—If you have been claiming a withholding exemption for your wife, file a new W-4 withholding certificate with your employer dropping that exemption. You are no longer entitled to claim her exemption since you are divorced.

If you have children and are claiming their exemptions you should drop them too unless you expect to provide more than half their support this year. If your wife is supporting them she will be entitled to their exemption, not you.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Can your hair be damaged from brushing, alone?

All hair becomes damaged from exposure to sun and natural elements. Certain greasy compounds and many chemicals, improperly used, also take their toll . . . not to mention simple attempts at beautifying the hair with any brush not made of natural bristles. The results are brittleness, breakage, dry and dull looking hair.

Your professional beautician knows how artificial bristles actually brush away a great deal of the "lubricants" of the hair that give it body, lustre and protection. And trained beauticians claim that nothing beats Clairol® condition® Beauty Pack Treatment for overcoming brittleness, dryness and breakage . . . leaving hair lively and easy to manage. condition® is an easy-to-work-with creme which can even be applied during a chemical straightening retouch to prevent drying of hair that has been previously relaxed. condition® is the ultimate in repairing deep-down damage. And, when time is a factor for their customers, hairdressers turn to new Clairol® Hair Dew®—the lotion conditioner that penetrates so fast many think of it as an instant conditioner. When applied regularly by your beautician, Clairol Hair Dew adds body, softens and gives a glowing new look to your hair that many friends will notice and admire.

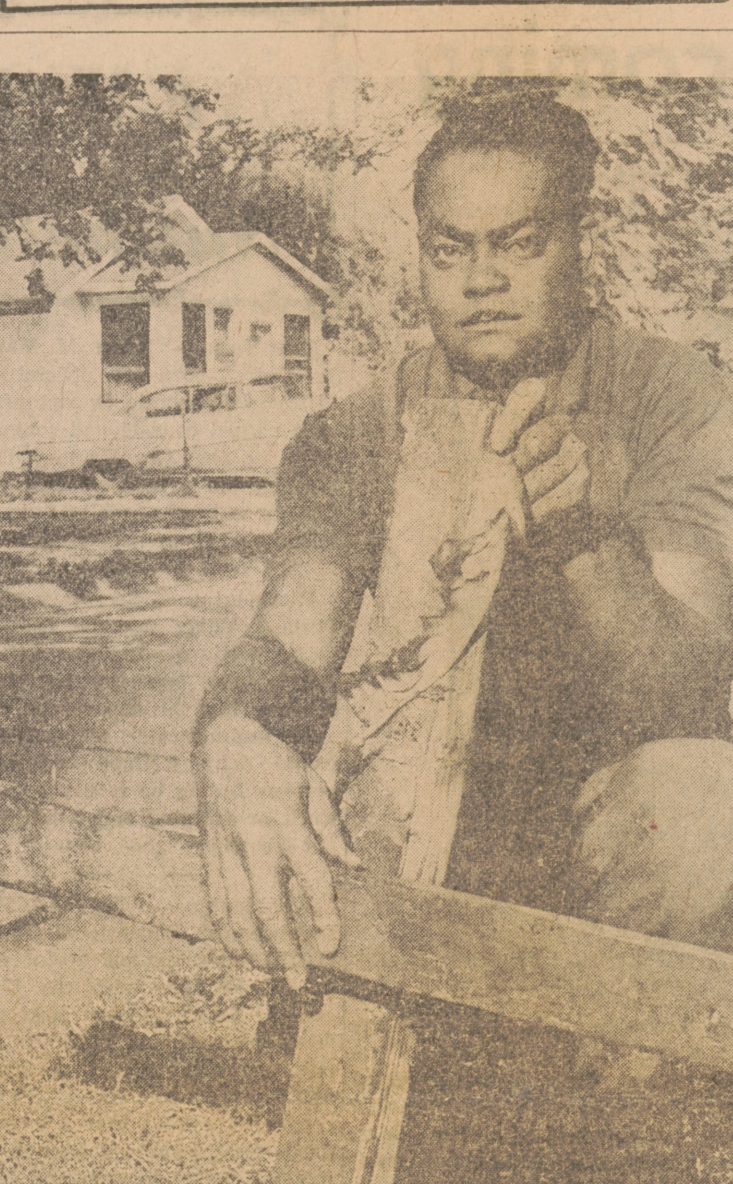

Damage can come from using brushes with artificial bristles. But damage to every woman's hair comes from so many other causes that all human hair (including wigs) needs to be revitalized periodically. Visit your professional beautician and ask this expert to check the condition of your hair.

Only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

Claim New Politics And Socialist Party Are on the Same Beam

Chicago—Socialist Workers candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, Fred Halstead and Paul Boutelle, Black Power man, respectively, announced Sunday at a press conference that many participants at the National Conference for New Politics convention support their campaign.

Boutelle said, "An alliance with any new middle class party or formations dedicated to reforming the system will only help to perpetuate the oppression of Afro-Americans. It is only on the basis of unconditional revolutionary struggle against this system that a meaningful alliance can be forged between black people and whites."

MARY FRYE HAD THE EXPERIENCE OF HER LIFE when in response to her Labor Day invitation, her cousins, Maxine and Howard Manson, of Springfield, Ill., not only made the trip but brought with them all the makings of a Labor cookout and feast. There were ribs, meat loaf, fresh green beans, potatoes, corn on the cob, homemade jelly and watermelon. But wait a minute—Howard barbecued while Claude watched! Maxine prepared and served the rest of the feast as Mary remained seated. (Shall we say) Mary was overwhelmed by this surprise of surprises. And who wouldn't be? The Mansons brought even greater pleasure by producing three unexpected guests—their three grandchildren, Mallory, Robert and Sarah Allen. Other local dinner guests were Maxine's uncle, Robert Vincent, and her cousin, Leon Vincent. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Johnson shared the festivities.

While here he is houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Loyatus Clark. Already he has been wine and dined by some of his many, many friends. And this will go on throughout his stay. Welcome home, Leroy Bird.

DR. AND MRS. EMANUEL DAVIS III added another dinner plate when I dropped by on Labor Day. The meal was the most delicious, espe-

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate...and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does?

Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New® spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

Visit your expert hairdresser, who cares about your hair care and your comfort. Whatever the nature of your hair problems, only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

Wimberlys Conclude Trip In Mich., Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wimberly, 2720 Amick, have returned from a vacation in Eastern Michigan and Chicago, Ill.

They were guests of an old friend, Mrs. Agatha Bell, in Romulus, Mich., suburb of Detroit. During their visit, they worshipped at the First Baptist Church of which Mrs. Bell and her late husband were partial organizers.

The Wimberlys were guests of the Senior Citizens Club at a picnic luncheon. This group, through its program coordinator, has been on bus tours to such places as the cereal capital—Battle Creek, and other places of interest. They were taken on several tours of the wide spread riot areas, and were dinner guests of Mrs. Samuel Ross (sister of Mrs. Bell and Mr. Ross in Pontiac, Mich.)

Carlyle Stewart, founder of the People's Community Church. Mrs. Stewart will attend the dedication of the Carlyle Stewart Elementary School this fall.

Highlight

The visit in the Stewart home was a highlight for Mrs. Wimberly, who had given Mrs. Stewart music lessons when a girl in Cedar Rapids. Of Mrs. Stewart's four children, the oldest daughter, Dr. Barbara Jenkins is pathologist at Wayne County General Hospital and an instructor

A son, James, is near retirement from the Air Force and Carlyle, Jr., is supervisor in the Detroit Post Office.

In Chicago, Mr. Wimberly visited with several old friends with whom he worked during his thirty years of service on the Chicago post office. They, during their stay, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Roberson.

WE FAVOR A CHANGE IN CITY GOVERNMENT

Barring court action, which would hold up the election, Des Moines citizens go to the polls September 28 to decide whether the present council-manager government shall be retained. Under it a council of five members is elected at large. It chooses the mayor and manager.

Opponents favor a council-manager government with four councilmen elected from wards and three at large. The mayor would be elected by the voters. The Bystander was one of the early supporters of the present system. However, we believe it needs to be improved; needs new life. Wider representation is needed to more fully represent the views of people in every section. This is not being done with the results that elections almost go by default with less interest in voting each year.

A recent announcement shows that Des Moines is one of the fairly large cities in the country which lost population between 1960 and 1966. This record has not kept pace with Cedar Rapids and some other Iowa towns.

This indicates a lack of leadership which is needed to keep a community on its toes; that a small "committee" can easily keep things moving in the direction some people want.

Another bad feature is the salaries paid councilmen. When the system was first put into operation, councilmen were paid $300 per year. The idea was that since the manager was the executive officer and did all the work, that little time would be consumed making the policies by members of the council. This proved to be a fallacy. They are spending more time at city hall each year and other time consuming activities making this a full time job. Thus, people without means are not able to run for these offices even though the salaries have improved some. Now the mayor and council receive $2400 per year.

Des Moines needs a shot in the arm to make it get up and go. Maybe this change is just the kick needed to do the trick.

ELECT GENTRY TO THE SCHOOL BOARD

This is the season of city elections for in addition to municipal elections during the next sixty days, the Independent School District election will be held September 11.

Voters will be asked to choose two members to fill vacancies. There are six candidates in the field.

There are several good candidates in the race. Among them is Nolden Gentry. Gentry is a young man not long out of college and can bring the board a knowledge of what makes youngsters click in the modern education system.

He was a star athlete at Iowa University where he was captain of the basketball team; holds degrees from the liberal arts and law college at Iowa, was a one time FBI agent, served as assistant attorney general of Iowa and is now associated with one of the fine young law firms in Des Moines.

Elections at large have a tendency to make it difficult for candidates without "backing" to get elected. The board needs to broaden its base with a candidate who has come up through the ranks and already has made a fine impression as a valuable citizen. We hope he will be elected.

SCHOOL BOARD FAILS TO MEET THE ISSUE

Several days ago, by a vote of 6 to 1, the board of the Independent School District refused to approve the bussing of a few student from Bird to Cowles school in connection with the head start program. The project is paid for mostly by federal funds and is designed to test just how well disadvantaged children make progress under superior conditions.

The early vote was predicated upon the excuse that a committee was making a study of the program and had not had time to complete its work; that the board had not been consulted by the superintendent or those sponsoring the program.

A second vote was taken at the board meeting Tuesday night which resulted in a 5 to 2 vote against the proposal.

Rather interesting, the proposal is endorsed by the Des Moines Education Association and Polk County Community Action and submitted by the school staff. This is like the housing elections which were endorsed by most organizations and the good folks but lost. Here, the project is endorsed by professional educators and anti-poverty groups but lost. It is proof that when the shoe pinches "my foot" it hurts.

Few objectors to the proposal appeared at the meeting but those who spoke sounded the old cliché which while not openly expressed, feared the mixing of the races.

Mixing of the races plays its part in our great American society. The bigots cry "it's only the low class who do" but they don't know what goes on behind the scenes and which cannot be prevented.

Here the board was intimidated by catechisms and lost their sense of justice and fair play.

The Sports Today

With Allen Ashby

One of our readers stopped us the other day and challenged our last week's statement about luck playing an important part in big time athletic contests. He insisted that the better team wins nine times out of ten. Well, such discussions usually turn into shouting matches which we don't like and try to avoid whenever they come up. So rather than argue with the guy we told him to read our next column. This one.

Teams

Now to begin with, about seventy percent of all athletic contest teams or individuals, are lost rather than won. Lost because somebody did something he shouldn't have or didn't do something he should have done. When we speak of lucky generals, we don't mean untrained green generals or players. They have to be trained in order to be where they are.

We speak of luck as meaning injuries to key players or at critical times in the game. And it works both ways.

Football

There was an incident a few years ago in a professional football game. The teams were tied at the end of the regular playing teams and went to a sudden death playoff.

The first team to score, no matter how, wins. Well, one team won the toss and in a game where ball possession is all important elected to kick off to the other team. If it wasn't a bad call, it surely wasn't a good one. It turned out that the receiving team set back by a couple of penalties tried a long pass. The intended receiver intercepted and went onto score and win the game.

Then there was that Iowa-Purdue game which if the strategy of Coach Jerry Burns had worked might have saved his job at Iowa. No matter what one thought of Burns, he was a brilliant tactician. So with Iowa leading 14-7 and the ball on Purdue's 15 yard line, he sends in his place kicker on 4th and about eight. Well, the play was a fake kick, well executed and the Iowa man got the ball to the one foot line. But instead of first and goal an Iowa player was called for holding. The play was called back and it was fourth down and a game of yards. So the Hawks lost, 17-14.

Surely you will recall the opening game of the 1966 World Series with one out and a runner on third. The Dodger batter had a count of two balls and one strike. Well, the pitcher let one go and it probably would have been a wild pitch as it went behind the batter's head. But it hit the bat and was a foul ball. Instead of a base on balls, the count was now three and two. So the fellow popped out. If they get the edge they can't lose and become hard to beat.

For this year's National League pennant race the St. Louis Cardinals have had a combination of good breaks and good playing at the same

Victors Walk Off With Honors
At French Lick Golf Tourney

French Lick, Ind. — They honored Alfred "Tup" Holmes here at the French Lick Sheraton recently. It was the highlight of the second annual Bob Hays French Lick Invitational Golf Tournament.

Top

The top golfing prizes went to Dave Wilson of Dayton, Ohio, who came in with a 153 for 36 holes to top the gross score honors while Dr. George Rawls of Indianapolis, Ind., was the winner of the low net honors.

In the women's division, Elizabeth Standfield of Indianapolis was tops in the gross scores and was also wedalist while Velma Hammock of Atlanta, Ga., was the low net winner.

But the real hero was "Tup" Holmes, the little, hard-hitting Georgian, who not only played a great game of golf, but also put himself on the line when it counted to open up golfing to all people.

FIXIN-UP TIPS
For the Home

• To Lubricate a Lock
If A LOCK becomes stiff and hard to operate, a temporary cure is available in any home in the form of a soft lead pencil. Simply rub the key until it is heavily coated with the graphite, and then turn it in the lock a few times. This treatment should make the lock work like new. Of course, you can use powdered graphite, which is available in most hardware stores. This lubricant is blown into the lock through the keyhole by squeezing the tube. Most golfers know the story of "Tup" Holmes, but many may have forgotten it. It was "Tup" more than any other individual who led the campaign to break down the color-ban against Negroes on public courses in the South.

Cancer

Now "Tup" Holmes is a dying man. He is suffering terminal cancer and knows that his days are numbered. The diners at the testimonial sat silently as "Tup" in an amazingly easy conversational style, told them how the first sign came when he stooped over to place a golf ball on a tee . . . and later was told after an operation that nothing could be done, the cancer had spread throughout his system, uncontrollable and he would live but five months. "Tup" told this story as if he were explaining why he three putted a green because he misjudged the roll.
