Urge Party to Stop Ignoring Poor Why Students Protest--Dr. Forrest Answers

Caught Up in Student Movement, She Says

ELEANORA E. TATE
The recent black student upheaval on Iowa's campuses is due to many factors, and not only racial, according to Dr. Audrey A. Forrest, Drake University Sociology professor.

Student protests at Grinnell, Coe, Iowa State, University of Iowa, Iowa Wesleyan and Drake may be triggered by the uncertain flexibility of complexities in race, religion and moral standards, she said.

"This is similar to other periods in history and people get caught up in this. There is no absolute set of ideologies which anyone can say is eternal or absolute. Black students," stated Dr. Forrest, "are caught up with the general student movement the world over. Integration can be very cruel to a Negro student as a result of the formal discrimination by faculty and informal discrimination from students, and this is happening right here on the Drake campus.

Impatient

"Some groups have their own unique problems and certainly Negroes do throughout the country. If we look at our own Negro students, these same things hold true. There has been no other minority in the United States who have had the same experiences as the Negro. One major and unique factor is that we have been alien so long from the level of success that we become impatient."

Dr. Forrest explained that many

Dodds Will Run For Secretary of State

Senator Robert R. Dodds, Democrat of Danville announced May 16 that he will seek the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State in the September Primary.

"I have decided to seek this office because I believe that my twelve years of experience as an Iowa legislator can bring sound judgment to the executive council and also to the administration of the statutory duties performed by the Secretary of State."

Dodds, 43, was first elected to the Iowa House of Representatives in 1956 and served until 1962 when he was elected to the Iowa Senate. He was re-elected in 1966 to a four year term. During the 1965 session of the Legislature, he served as Chairman of the Governmental Affairs Committee and also as a member of the Industrial and Human Relations Committee. During the 1967 session he served as Chairman of the Commerce Committee, a member of the Industrial and Human Relations Committee and Ways and Means Committee.

Dodds

NAACP Directors Back Poor March Goal

New York—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week announced its endorsement of the legislative goals of the Poor People's March.

A resolution adopted by the Association's Board of Directors at its quarterly meeting here, Monday, May 20, re-affirmed Executive Director Roy Wilkins' memorandum of May 1 to all units of the Association's endorsing these goals, which the NAACP has long advocated, and calling for assistance by the branches to the marchers en route to Washington.

Met With Abernathy

Meanwhile, Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, has met with the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy and other leaders of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference on the legislative aspects of the march. Mr. Mitchell, an experienced and successful legislative representative, has agreed to serve as a consultant to a bi-partisan committee of Representatives and Senators which was set up to work for enactment of bills designed to aid the nation's poor by providing needed jobs, income, housing and services.

NAACP Attys. to Defend Columbia Univ. Students

New York — Organization of a panel of 31 Negro lawyers "to assure the meaningful representation of Negroes involved in mass arrests of various kinds in the City of New York," was announced here today by Robert L. Carter, general counsel of the NAACP.

The initial task of the panel will be representation of the 82 Negro students arrested as a result of their occupation of Hamilton Hall during the recent disorders on the campus of Columbia University. The students had occupied the building in protest against the construction of Columbia gymnasium in Morning-side Park.

Organization of the panel followed a visit to the NAACP National Office by a delegation of Columbia students seeking legal assistance in their confrontation with the university.

Objective

They will be represented by members of the NAACP panel not only in court, but also at any disciplinary hearings set by Columbia University, Mr. Carter said.

"Our primary objective," the call said, "is to enable lawyers associated with the NAACP to be prepared where necessary to play a significant role in defending the Negro community in any major confrontation with city authorities . . . where such representation will serve the purpose of asserting or defending basic civil rights questions, the resolution of which will benefit the Negro community in general."

Chester Lewis Speaks To NAACP Audience Sun.

Chester Lewis of Wichita, Kansas, speaking at the kick-off membership meeting of the Des Moines Branch NAACP at Willkie House Sunday said that for two years the power structure of communities had polarized Negro leaders into tranquility in return for which a few jobs and recognition here and there were metered out to them.

He defended the militant black power movement in the country reasoning that depredations carried on by them will be the only thing the white power structure feared. Critical of the NAACP, which for years relied on court action, telegrams to legislators and marches, he said they were passe.

Questioned about the apparent lack of responsibility and observance of law and order by most black power groups, he said that it did have a tendency to make them law unto themselves and disregard of the rights of others.)

Mr. Lewis said the usual things carried on by college students and their demand for separate facilities were designed to create pride and would level off as the years go by.

He cautioned that schools must have more Negro teachers and administrators and include in their curriculums studies about the Negro and his history.

Paul Danforth, chairman of the membership committee, presided. The program included a solo by Miss Alberta Bates accompanied by Mrs. Loretta Reeves. Rev. Henderson Davis gave the invocation. John Estes Jr. spoke of his activities as president of the branch. Robert Wright, chairman of the state conference, introduced the speaker, Mr. Lewis.

All captains, workers and finance committee are to meet six Mondays, beginning May 27.

Des Moines branch goal is 1,000 members.

Captains, Workers

Captain Danforth's workers are: Mary Ruth Simmons, Clara Bayles, Turner W. Bell, Thelma Clark, James Campbell, Geraldine Ayers and Preston Love. John M. Estes, Jr., is branch president, captain: Monroe Colston, Louis Riffe, Harold Quick, Frank Robinson, Jr., Silas Catherine Williams, John E. Ewing.

A. June Franklin to Run for Re-election

A. June Franklin, Democrat of Des Moines, announced her candidacy for re-election as State Representative from the Ninth Legislative District of Polk County Thursday.

Mrs. Franklin, who is serving her first term, was a member of the powerful committees on Appropriations, Schools, Cities and Towns and Tax Revision during the last session of the Legislature.

MRS. FRANKLIN

Problems

She pointed out her concern with our crisis in the Cities, and after her recent visit to Resurrection City and a tour of the riot area of Washington, D.C., she stated she is firmly convinced that new and far reaching legislation is not only needed immediately on the national level, but also at the State level to combat the cancerous growth of poverty and waste of human resources in this nation. She feels that the State must take a realistic financial approach to the many problems we have in our Cities here in Iowa, and that there must be a coalition of urban and rural legislators to solve our problems. She feels that this coalition could make Iowa a model state for the nation.

She is married to C. Frank Franklin and the mother of three children, and is employed as an Insurance Agent with the John Hancock Insurance Company. Mrs. Franklin and her family reside at 1124 14th Place and are members of St. John's Catholic Church.

Rap Brown Is Convicted

New Orleans, La.—Black Power militant H. Rap Brown drew a five year prison sentence and a $2,000 fine Wednesday night after a biracial federal court jury convicted him of violating the national Firearms Act.

Fire Destroys 17th Street Homes

Fire of an unknown origin destroyed the homes of Mrs. Zenobia White at 925 17th and Sam Love at 923 17th last Wednesday evening. Mrs. White was not at home at the time and Mr. Love was asleep.

Firemen reached the properties after the fire was out of control. No one was injured.

Washington — A look behind the headlines into what has been happening in Detroit, the scene of the country's most violent civil disorder last summer, will be the focus of the 1968 Annual Meeting of Urban America Inc., June 5-7.

New York — Where is black power today? An exhaustive analysis by Robert L. Allen in the May 25 "Black America" issue of the Guardian, a leading national weekly published in New York City, discusses the "death" of the black power movement as it has been conventionally defined.

Chicago — From five to seven hundred Black teachers and school administrators are expected in Chicago June 6-9 to attend the first National Conference of Afro-American Educators. The conference will be convened by the Association of Afro-American Educators, which has national headquarters in Chicago.

New York, N.Y. — The daughter of Whitney M. Young, Jr., director of the National Urban League will be married in August to Robert Boles, a writer and author. Boles is scheduled to teach at the writers workshop at the University of Iowa, Iowa City in September.

Cruise Announces Treas. Candidacy

John H. Cruise, City Clerk of Corning, Iowa, announced Thursday that he will seek the nomination for State Treasurer on the Democratic ticket in the September Primary. In making the announcement Cruise said, "if elected, I pledge to continue the investment policy implemented by State Treasurer Paul Franzburg as it is my judgment that all Iowans not only expect, but also deserve to have idle funds invested at interest and I intend to carry out this program."

Cruise, 41, was born in Omaha, Nebraska, and attended Creighton Prep. from which he graduated in 1944. He served aboard the Battleship U.S.S. South Dakota during the Second World War. After his discharge, he attended Creighton University of Omaha where he majored in English.

Clarence Mitchell Speaks To Republican Governors

Baltimore — A committee of six Republican Governors May 16 was told that anti-poverty programs neglect poor people who are "normal humans who want to get a job that pays a decent wage, live in a home where the roof does not leak and rats do not come in to bite the children."

Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, declared that the majority of the poor "do not make good news copy so the public relations men use the brick throwers, the looters and the arsonists to portray the poor."

Calling for a "massive program of assistance" rather than "fast action" to keep the disruptive element quiet, Mitchell said that the job can only be accomplished as a partnership between the Federal, state and local governments and private enterprise.

Mitchell appeared at the invitation of the committee—designed to help draft the 1968 Republican platform—at a meeting in this city's Friendship International Hotel. Governors attending the session were Spiro T. Agnew, Maryland; Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York; George W. Romney, Michigan; Norbert A. Tiemann, Nebraska; Raymond P. Shafer, Pennsylvania, and John H. Chafee, Rhode Island.

Suggestions

Describing himself as an "independent voter," he discussed ways Republicans could help the cause of civil rights, among his suggestions were: appointment of a Republican task force which will make certain that there will be no racial discrimination in the selection and seating of delegates to the 1968 convention; pledge to change the filibuster rule and to end anti-civil rights domination of key committees; attempt to increase Federal aid to education and health care programs without racial discrimination; help rescind the 90th Congress' action of "virtually turning over local anti-poverty programs to city halls and local court house rulers;" take the war against crime out of the arena of partisan politics.

To illustrate this point, Mr. Mitchell cited the example of one politician's "foolproof scheme for getting elected" by talking about "crime in the streets in the white community and about civil rights in the colored community."

$3,000 Grant Made to Negro College Fund by Newton Maytag Co.

Newton—A $3,000 grant to the United Negro College fund has been made by the Maytag Company Foundation, Inc., it has been announced by J. D. Cox, foundation president.

This is the 16th year that the 36-member organization has received a grant from the foundation, whose sole source of funds is the Maytag company, Newton.

Patten Will Manage Campaign for Jepsen

James Patten, forty, a Bettendorf Republican was appointed Wednesday to manage the campaign of State Senator Roger W. Jepsen, R-Davenport, who is running for the Republican nomination for Lt. Governor.

Patten grew up in Mason City. He is president of E. G. Staats Co. in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa and Midwest Publishing Company, Davenport. He has been active in Republican work for many years.

Damages at Drake to Be Paid by White Students

About thirty black Drake University students picketed Illinois Hall Friday afternoon preceding a meeting with Dean Arthur Casebeer. The students, carrying signs reading "Black to Black" and "We support Black Students", were picketing the Hall following nearly a week of controversy after Negroes observed the birthday of Malcolm X, slain Black Muslim leader, on Monday, May 20.

Damages

According to reports the students held ceremonies Monday, and that evening at Hubbell Dining Hall, some were reported to have broken glasses after a toast. The Black Student Forum, who sponsored the program, was blamed for the incident, and the Administration reportedly ordered the Forum to pay for damages originally estimated from $12-$15. The Forum, however said it was not responsible for actions taken by individuals. At the time of the Malcolm X program, the Forum set forth a list of demands necessary for the welfare of black students on campus.

Friday Casebeer told about 40-50 Negroes at the meeting that the "bill was under negotiation". He later said damage concurred was under $12, and said the Administration was considering designating a meeting room for the BSF as an alternative to a cultural center since it was against University policy to set aside special housing facilities for various organizations, and also would make available a student display for Negroes to show various aspects of the black culture.

Bill Paid

Following the meeting Friday, it was announced that the bill would be paid by an "ad hoc group of white Drake Students" if the University will "make all other Drake students pay for any damages caused by them (specifically broken windows during a recent party raid), and, to present us with an itemized list of damages with a cost per item list from the manufacturer or distributor."

In view of the Friday meeting, concerning black students on campus released this statement: "We the Black student community of Drake University feel that events of the past week on the part of the university administration have been totally degrading and de-humanizing to Black students. We feel that any disciplinary action against students should be based solely on fact at issue, and not based on circumstantial evidence of skin color. Therefore, since we are persistently confronted with the incident of last Monday (May 20), we assume no responsibility nor wish to be insulted with this issue again."

Actor-comedian Bill Cosby was in town Friday to play two performances at KRNT theater. Sporting a full moustache and Afro-hair style, black corduroy suit and told of his trials and tribulations as a child, and of raising them.

God to Fish

And the two-year-old. Ever eat with them, he asked? The milk always misses their mouth, gathers in their navel and is sucked in. My father never understood me, he said, because I never explained myself to him. When I was a boy I was crazy about Wolf Man. When the moon was full I'd be in the bathroom trying to grow hair on my face, he never understood. "Like the time I fell in love with the milkman's horse. See, I didn't like flies, and the horse was cool, he just flicked an old muscle and the fly flew away. So I watched the horse for a while then went into the house and took off my clothes, lay down on the floor and waited for a fly." Then his father came in.

And cats. Cosby said that cats had never done anything for him but sit on the couch and shed.

"I remember when I used to play God. I took the fish out of the fish-bowl and put it on the floor and watch it flap around. Then I'd say, Now I shall save you, and put him back."

Fat Albert

Cosby, currently idolized for his childhood characters Fat Albert who weighs 2,000 pounds, and Old Weird Harold, 7 years old, 6' 9", weighing 139 pounds and the rest of the street football gang will soon be featured in a cartoon, as produced by Cosby and Schell Silverstein.

Special guest star was folksinger Leon Bibbs. Bibbs, a veteran singer who helped get his start from Harry Belafonte was magnificent with his renditions of "Suzanne" and "Joey."

I hope to have a special for you next week, but on the other hand, I may not.

Students around the state may be disillusioned with integration and the painful process of bringing its existence about, although "traditionally we have accepted the notion of integration."

Invisible

It is not necessarily the black student from an eastern ghetto who is initiating protests on universities today, it may be the integrationist student from a middleclass family who suddenly is hit by the invisible wall of discrimination.

Therefore there are some who say, "let's see if we can go it alone and find meaning within their own group, becoming segregationist black power advocates or the white segregationist."

Negroes and white students in this day will go in three general directions: the integrationist, who will work toward this goal no matter what; the Culture pluralist who wants his basic rights but feels he has a right to belong with his own group; and the Segregationist. Filtered within these three are a variety of ideas—the moderate liberal, the conservative integrationist, the black power advocate, the black and white separatists.

Chitterlings

Again, too often many things "we regard as racial is actually a part of the Class system; I'm sure some whites have gotten so poor that they have eaten greens and chitterlings, commonly thought of as being Negro. It's culture which holds people together, not race. America has the same culture, white or black."

What will happen to these black students who finish their education in Iowa and go into the business and social world? Will their attitudes change?

"There are too many factors involved, the situation of black student protests has had no precedent which we can turn back to. There has not been a pattern by which to follow. Taking things in view, he will fall into one of the three major groups of Integrationist, culture pluralist or segregationist. Most will fall in the first groups, but not all.

Rights Commission
Hopeful for Bussing

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission met with the Ft. Dodge School Board in Ft. Dodge to discuss problems facing minority students.

Donald Mullin, acting Director of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission said Monday that they were in Ft. Dodge not "as a fact-finding meeting, but as a general discussion."

While there they also explored placement of students and stressed the importance of including books by and containing material of Negroes, and whether there were black teachers and counselors on the staff, and brought to their attention ideas and information that could benefit them.

The Commission has also met with officials in Waterloo, and though Mullin said the Commission, he felt, was not directly responsible, the Board has begun bussing students from more concentrated areas to the suburban areas for schooling.

Mullin stated he would recommend the same thing to cities which they will be visiting in the future, including the Des Moines School Board.

Lawyers Gather for Poverty, Race Conf.

New York—Some 1300 guests attending the LDF's Institute on the Uses of Law in Combatting Racism and Poverty here this week heard an assessment of the late Martin Luther King's contribution to American law.

Jack Greenberg, director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) made the statement.

"The striking thing about Dr. King, particularly to his lawyers," Mr. Greenberg said, "is that his life helped determine the outer reaches, the full potential, of the law in his time."

Mr. Greenberg cited the collaboration of LDF attorneys and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference from Montgomery, St. Augustine, Albany, Birmingham, Selma, Chicago, Memphis, and elsewhere.

Law

"Out of this intimate collaboration," Mr. Greenberg added, "I learned that Martin King had a deep reverence for the law."

"The spectacular publicity given to his avowals of the right of civil disobedience was far out of proportion to attention accorded his dedication to lawful process."

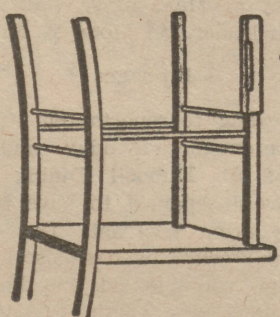

The LDF Institute brought together a national array of specialists in urban problems for a series of five roundtable discussions.

Gary Mayor Richard G. Hatcher addressed the overflow luncheon on "Three Forces for Change," which was an analysis of black power advocates, liberals (which included some Negro groups), and white radicals.

How to Even Up Chair Legs

WHEN a chair is out of level, one method of evening the legs is to trim the legs which are too long. A simple method of performing this tricky operation is described in Family Handyman.

Form a tube of paper, fastening it together with paste. Now slip it over one leg, cutting off the tube at the exact tip of the leg as the other end rests on the rug.

To assure getting each leg the identical length, slip the tube over each other, one in turn, marking them to the same length. Now adjust the length of the tube to the shortest leg and mark all others for cutting.

With whites there are terms such as hippie, flower child; and politics as the far Left, far Right; with Negroes seeking identity many seek to confirm their identity as Afro-American, Black, colored or Negro. "No matter what you call yourself, the picture of a Negro and the racial myth will remain in the white man's mind. 'Black' and 'Negro' are equated to whites."

After This Memorial Day
Where to Go From Here

This particular Memorial Day will hold special meaning to Americans, in view of past events nationally and internationally. The war in Viet Nam which has left over 20,000 American soldiers killed, the death of the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the violence left in that wake and the ever-mounting "crime in the streets" will cause many countrymen stop to ponder "where do we go from here?"

In the most recent rioting the week of Apr. 4-11 after King's death an estimated 45-50 persons were killed. According to the Report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, in its study of 75 disturbances in 67 cities, the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations of the Senate Committee on Government Operations reported 83 deaths last year. The overwhelming majority of the civilians killed or injured were Negro.

As black Americans Thursday pay homage to those who have gone beyond it is still unknown whether they have died in vain, either here in America or in Viet Nam. We may never know. Yet, in both these instances, the future's one hope is that the death toll, black and white, may never repeat itself.

Here at home we gather on this national day set aside to honor the dead and wish that there will come a time when it will not be necessary to mourn the loss of loved ones caught in racial and political strife.

The Washer Woman

Do you remember the washer woman
Who used to collect your dirty laundry,
The remnants of your cleanliness?
Remember how she wouldn't be mad
Cause God Almighty, you hadn't Gotten paid and the least she could Do was your wash without having to Pay for it this time.

Cause God Almighty, you'd paid
Every other time.
She'd just sort of nod and say,
"Some had honey and some had beer

But the Lord wouldn't forget you
If you didn't have neither."
Then she'd waddle down the stairs
To the door and you'd feel like

Shouting obscenities at the top
Of your lungs cause you had the Beer and she didn't have neither.
Everytime she picked up your laundry

She had to say that.
Guess God Almighty got to thinking
About the choice, so there's one less Many like us—He took her up and gave her
The honey Himself.

LITTLE MOTHER OF HAMILTON, IOWA
MRS. FAYE ST. JOHN, MY WIFE

She had only one law to guide her,
Her Savior's own law of Love,
But she followed it well and as wisely
As one of His Angels above.
Her days were all given to service,
Tireless, loving and true,
And the little ones how much they loved her,
And Oh, how she loved them, too.

She owned neither land nor jewels
As she toiled to support her own,
But her sweet life was richer and better
Than any good Queens on a throne.
And each day she walked through our township
So quiet and smiling and sweet,
That nobody noticed how weary
Were growing her poor tired feet.

But the Saviour she loved so dearly
As she modestly did her best,
He called her away from the Children
To a glad and triumphant rest.
So there passed from our little Township
The dear Little children's friend,
And the grown people wept with the children
For they, too, they had seen the end.
But no, in the future the children
Will lovingly breathe her name.
And in manhood's and womanhood's battle's
Her Law of Love will reign.
We called Her our little "teacher,"
A name very worthy, I ween,
'Tis a happier, more blessed mission
Than can come to any queen.
But I would bring her a token
More grand than a laurel crown;
Though she bore no children, I hail Her
"Little Mother of Hamilton Town
Marion County Iowa, U.S.A."

Memory of a "Great"
Grandmother Written

This essay was written in memory of her great grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Bush, by Maeve Cooper, Miss Cooper, 13, is the daughter of Mrs. Clea McQuerry, of 1250 E. 17th Street Court, and granddaughter of Mrs. Clarabell Casswell, of 1322 E. 17th Street Court.

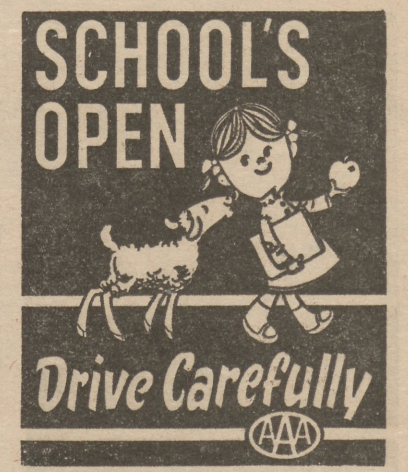

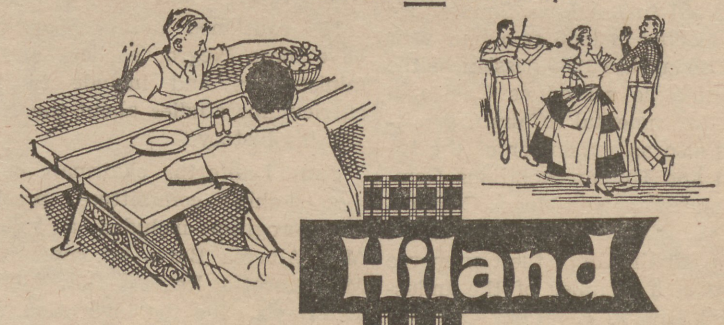

"I consider myself very lucky to have had a great grandmother like her. I couldn't have asked for a nicer person to have . . .

"She was a warm, understanding person and she was always interested in any and everything we did. Everytime it got close to grading period, I'd remember how proud she would be if I made good grades. If they weren't very good, she'd give me the encouragement I needed to work harder.

Cool

"Every day when I went to school, she'd be sitting in her chair by the window and wave to me. Now, I still see her hands waving to me. Her hands, although wrinkled, were as soft as the wind on a cool summer day.

"I used to go to the store for her almost every day and she always gave me change and told me to save it, for I might need it someday soon. Now, when I go to the store for myself, no more will I hear that familiar knock on the window pane. "So, I'll try not to cry, and I hope someday I'll go home to be with her forever."

Mrs. Velma L. Lewis
418 South Starr

Mrs. Verla Lewis was named
"Woman of the Year" of St. John
AME Church at the annual Mother-Daughter May Fete. Mrs. Lewis was honored for her many outstanding contributions to the Church and Community. Mrs. R. F. Williams, wife of the Minister, was "Mother of the Year" and as mother-in-waiting, she was showered with gifts both personal and for the expected heir. A special Appreciation award was presented Mrs. Yvonne Kay Stinson. Mother of four children, she is a Sunday School teacher, pianist for the Youth choir, clerical secretary for the church and Advisor to the Youth Council of the NAACP. The program was MC'd
by Mrs. Charlotte Weldon and Mrs.
Helen Berry made the presentation speeches. The general Committee which makes this a unique affair annually was composed of Eva Nelson,
Malena Ray, Evelyn Rideout, Elmyra
Benhart, Gladys White and Geraldine Brown, general chrmn.

Rev. R. F. Williams, Minister of
St. John AME Church and the Youth
Choir were participants at a special musical program at the Salvation
Army Church May 19th. The Rev.
Williams was speaker of the evening.
This was an inter-denominational program.

Among the sick in our community
are Mrs. Doris Johnson, Mrs. Velma
Lewis, Ross and Quintin Palmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Weldon were in Iowa City to see the basketball Great, Sam Williams receive his presentation from the University.
They also attended the theater and enjoyed popular comedian, Bill Cosby and folk singer Leon Bibb.

The NAACP Tag Day was a success and the Branch thanks the youth for their co-operation, including the Girl Scouts who are under the supervision of Mrs. Elmyra Ben-hart and volunteered their services.
Mrs. E. T. Hicks will be delegate to the National convention at Atlantic City in June.

St. Elmo Chapter #3, O.E.S. will observe Esther Day with Divine service at St. John AME Church on Sunday, June 2. Following the service a Reception will be held in the Dining Room for Mrs. Virginia
White, Grand Lecturer of Electa Grand Chapter, State of Iowa. The public is invited to attend the service and also to participate in the honoring of Mrs. White.

Cherry Cream Cheese Pie
Is a Spring Delight

SPRING MAY MEAN DAFFODILS and SUNNY BLUE SKIES
but it also means unexpected company weekends when friends and relations out for a drive decide to drop in on you generally just before dinner.

One familiar sight on the pantry shelf that comes in very handy at a time like this is a 15-ounce can of sweetened condensed milk. With it you can make a mouthwatering Cherry Cream Cheese pie in a wink because the filling requires no cooking at all. It is made by putting a layer of red cherries on the bottom of the pastry shell and then pouring in a fluffy filling made from sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, cream cheese and 2 eggs. This luscious pie filling can also be combined with strawberries, raspberries, bananas or crushed pineapple for the sake of variety.

CHERRY CREAM CHEESE PIE
(Makes a 9-inch pie)

1 baked 9-inch pastry shell, 1 3-oz. package cream cheese cooled 2 egg yolks
1 1/2 cups sweetened condensed 2 egg whites milk (15 oz. can) 1 1/2 cups (No. 2 can) cooked pitted sour red cherries, well drained
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
Put sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice into mixing bowl; stir until mixture thickens. Soften cheese at room temperature; beat with spoon until fluffy. Beat in one egg yolk at a time.
Fold into sweetened condensed milk mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold a peak; fold into milk-cheese mixture. Spread 1 cup cherries evenly on bottom of pastry shell.
Top with milk-cheese mixture and decorate with remaining cherries. Chill. (ANS)

HEALTH FOR ALL

For tips on efficient housekeeping, your nearest Eskimo is the man to see. From a practical standpoint he's "got it made." Scorning roundabout methods, he solves all heating and cooking problems by building a fire in the center of his igloo. The smoke rises and exits through a hole in the top; Mr. Eskimo has clean, warm air to breathe, and heat on which to prepare his dinner.

It works very nicely most of the year. But sometimes in the spring, just before breakup, wet snow may fall into the fire or wrong-way winds disrupt the ventilation system. Then the igloo walls get black with soot; eyes, noses and lungs fill up with smoke; and Mr. and Mrs. Eskimo and all the little Eskimos have to go choking and stumbling into the fresh air outside.

Air

Down here on the mainland we, in our supposedly advanced civilization, do a more efficient job. We smoke up not single dwellings, but whole cities. Not all of our smoke fumes are bad for health; just a major part — sufficiently major to sicken or possibly kill whole segments of the population if given sufficient time. If air pollution control continues at its present funeral rate of speed we may all have to go choking and stumbling into outer space. The trouble is there's no air there, either.

Fumes from residential and industrial chimneys, car, truck and bus exhausts, bonfires of burning trash, and tobacco in various forms continue to fill the air with waste gases and particles. Some good control laws have been passed, but they require follow-up. Needed most of all is vigorous enforcement. Air pollution control is now high up on the list of your Christmas Seal association's goals. You can help. Write, call, or drop around and ask what you can do.

SINGER ROBERT DIXON, JR. completely thrilled his listeners in a concert sponsored by Corinthian Baptist Church's YWA on last Sunday. His clear enunciation, skilled voice control, and singing style were pleasurable! His voice is very good. Among his numbers were: I'm Going to Move On Up A Little Higher; I'm Too Close; I Need the Lord To Guide Me; I Believe He's A Wonder; Stand By Me. He gave a rich and song-packed concert!

MUCH IS SAID ABOUT THE ATTIRE OF TODAY'S MALE and the best can be said of Dixon's taste in this regard: his plain white shirt with French cuffs and slim black tie were topped by a double-breasted burgundy jacket with approximately 8" side vents. His trim cut slacks were black worn with black alligator loafer style shoes. His only jewelry was a cuff link and tie tac set the stones of which matched his jacket. His handsome hair style was nicely conservative.

MRS. ROBERT DIXON, SR. m.c'd the program and Robert Dixon, Sr. proffered solid support to his son by singing a most beautiful hymn! The family possibly best known for their "Dixon Wonders" is much beloved in the community and completely committed to church affairs.

MARGARITE BUTTS WIDELY KNOWN DES MOINES MUSICIAN appeared on program with young Dixon. A member of Shiloh Baptist Church, she plays organ and piano for the Young Adults Choir and The Men's Chorus. She has enjoyed a life-long career as a professional pianist. She is a sales person with Wright-Jones Music firm where she sells organs and pianos. She also teaches music.

SONGSTRESS CAROLYN CLINTON DELIGHTED THE YWA audience when she sang How Great Thou Art. These are busy times for her—June 2 is the day, you know. Fittings, rehearsals and plans fill what remains of her day after her duties as secretary to one of the business managers of AT and T—American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Drake University Community College student.

MISS MARVA KEYES, pianist of Shiloh Youth Chorus, for the past ten years, was honored Sunday for this fine service as the choir celebrated its 10th anniversary. In spite of her busy day and personal achievements, she accompanied her friend, Carolyn Clinton, as special guests in Dixon's concert.

TALKED WITH LANCE CORP. ORAL ROZENTING HARDAWAY, JR. newly arrived from Camp Pendleton, Calif. He is Carolyn's fiancé, you know! He has been in the Marines 28 months. His best man, Corporal Terry Reed, was expected to arrive on Tuesday. Hardaway laughingly observed "I never realized that a wedding could require so much preparation." We certainly wish the couple much, much happiness!

FREDA NAHAS' SATURDAY NIGHT PARTY for Lee and Mae Brown was lovely! A group of some 35 friends—with streaming banner and all—had greeted the Brown's at the airport upon their arrival Friday night. Freda's affair brought together these and other friends who feasted and visited the night away. Lee is a former Des Moines Veterans Administration attorney now transferred to a post in Hawaii! Both Lee and Mae are in love with the place but "very glad to be home!" Their presence is still missed in Drama Workshop undertakings and at First Unitarian Church where they were a part of the nucleus of all activities.

JACK MASTROFSKI, well-known artist and art instructor, clad in an Afghanistani holiday costume highlighted Freda's party. Matching olive colored shirt and pants, and elaborately embroidered bolero made up his attire. His shoes, handsome hand-sewn leather were upturned at the toes—Turkish style. Mmmmm he was handsome. (Our hostess suggested the outfit)

Silas Ewing Family To Toronto, Canada

Mr. and Mrs. Silas S. Ewing, 1133 Burlington Terrace left the city Thursday evening, May 23 for Toronto, Canada. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Meslin, Downsview, Ontario, to attend the Woodbine Spring Horseracing meet. They also toured many places of interest including Yorkville which is Toronto's hippeland.

A candlelight dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rogers, and Mrs. Ida Ginsberg, mother of Mrs. Meslin, entertained the Ewings with a lunch.

In early spring the Meslins and sons, Eric and Brad visited Des Moines and were houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Perry W. Hooks. They were entertained at a reception in the Ewing home.

The Des Moines couples met the Meslins last summer in Toronto, Canada while attending the National Human Rights Convention.

Mrs. M. Bagby Has Returned from Ala.

Mrs. Magnolia Bagby, of 2713 Cleveland Avenue has returned from Clanton, Ala., after attending the funeral of her cousin, Miss Eva Mae Williams on May 12.

Mrs. Bagby also was a guest at the high school graduation of another cousin, Miss Flossie Wilson, also in Clanton. Miss Wilson will attend the Tuskegee School of Nursing in the fall.

Clarke Yeager Talks With Casey Stengel

Having the honor to talk with former Major League player and manager of the New York Yankees and Mets, Casey Stengel, was Clarke Yeager, of 1519 Lyon Street. Stengel was in the city to speak to the Iowa Bar Association at Hotel Ft. Des Moines and was introduced to Yeager, former star ball player of the city and employee of the hotel. Stengel mentioned Bullet Rogan, pitching great of the Kansas City Monarchs, and also told of the style he had when pitching. Another mentioned by the Mets manager was Moore, star shortstop whose career was cut short when he was shot in the leg. The two played during the 1920's. Yeager said he had been a Yankee fan since 1920.

Yeager was a star athlete for Des Moines Independent semi-professional teams Scotch Giants, city champions in 1926-27, Capital City Giants and also traveled with the Omaha Gobblers, professional team.

Hawkeye Futurity At Fairgrounds June 9

The winner of the 1967 Hawkeye Futurity, Jim Moughan of Springfield, Ill., has entered the Fifteenth Annual Hawkeye Futurity at the fairgrounds here on Sunday afternoon, June 9.

Moughan, an interior decorator in the off season, swept onto the International Motor Contest Association's sprint car scene in 1964. He won rookie of the year honors that year and has been a consistent high finisher ever since.

His victory in the Futurity last year was in the famous black deuce owned by the now retired Hector Honore of Pana Illinois. Honore will be honored at this year's Futurity by his many friends and former drivers.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Should every woman be a blonde?

Blonde hair is beautiful for those women whose natural coloring it flatters. But not everyone should be a blonde.

Expert beauticians know that complexion and hair color must complement each other to glamorize and bring out all the natural beauty that was meant to be. They also know that very coarse and dark hair often is resistant to drastic color changes. However, there's no doubt about slightly lighter hair adding excitement to a woman's appearance. And hairdressers know there is no better product to add a whole new appeal to every woman's look than Miss Clairol® haircoloring—extra rich Creme Formula or new extra easy Shampoo Formula.

Both Miss Clairol products lighten and color at once, combining vibrant new color with the natural pigment of the hair. So even those shades that look blonde on white hair (as shown on most color selection charts) give a variety of flattering red-to-golden brown shades on women whose hair was black to begin with.

Beauty salons are equipped to answer questions and help with hair color selection. Depend on your hairdresser to have the professional skills and the total family of fine Clairol products to make every woman's experience with haircoloring completely personal and glamorous. Should you be a blonde? If you don't really know, ask your expert hairdresser.

the Camera Guild

There's nothing like a good photograph to back up your story that the fishing was really "topnotch."

Back Up Your Fish Story

According to the latest statistics we could track down, about thirty million people—and that's roughly one-fifth of the total population—go out to try their luck with rod and reel every year.

We'd like to make this suggestion if your weekend or vacation plans include a fishing trip: Be sure your camera goes along with your tackle when you set out for the "big catch."

You know we frequently mention how much help your camera can give you in the pursuit and enjoyment of your other hobbies. We feel that this is especially true in the case of fishing—for what better way is there to keep a record of the catch (yes, including "the big one that got away!") than in pictures you take with your own camera?

In many of the album collections we've seen, some of the most successful picture stories have been those that carried the title, "My Fishing Trip," along with details on when and where it took place.

The real beginning of such a story usually goes back to the day in early spring when Dad first ferrets his old fishing hat out of its winter hiding place and sets about putting rod and reel in peak condition for the workout to come. This "dry run" provides the first chapter of any angler's story—and some fine picture material, too, whether you choose to shoot it in color or black-and-white.

But this is only the beginning! When the "great day" finally arrives, there's loading the equipment into the car, getting final instructions and good wishes from the family, picking up the friends who've been planning this trip together all year. Your camera should catch these pictures, too, as well as scenic views of the site the anglers choose when they reach their destination.

Of course, the actual "catch" deserves feature billing—and the full color treatment. And don't forget to get a shot of supper sizzling in the skillet over a roaring campfire—whether it's fish or bacon and eggs will depend on who's doing the casting!

We personally feel that a camera is a real "must" for anybody setting out on a fishing trip.

RACIAL DISCRIMINATION
AT FORT MADISON

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission has received complaints from some inmates at the Iowa penitentiary at Fort Madison, alleging racial discrimination. They charge that chances of advancement and release from prison were less than that of white prisoners, that "name calling" was prevalent and that work assignments were not available on the same basis as white prisoners.

Prisoners, like anyone else, are entitled to their rights and their cause must be dealt with as any other group of people.

Warden Bennett, who has worked at the institution for many years, said that he knew of no discrimination in the prison. We are aware that he has had complaints before but they have been ignored. It would be unnatural if none existed — a euphoria in administration. Of course, there is some discrimination and the job of getting it out of the inmates should be pursued diligently.

It would have been better for Warden Bennett to have come clean in his answer and promised to investigate and eradicate it. The complaint is generally made by some who have been discharged.

WIDEN BREACH
BETWEEN THE PEOPLE

There is a tendency among some Negro leaders to embrace the black power movement, placing various interpretations upon its goals. Chester Lewis, Wichita attorney, a long time official in the state and national NAACP activities, did just that in his address here Sunday.

He reasons that threats to burning the white man's homes and buildings had been a lever to push through many reforms that had been attempted by legislation, letter writing and legal action years ago.

Most reasonable people will agree that if black power meant cooperation for betterment observances of law and order, responsibility and a regard for the property and rights of others, there could be little objection to it. But in spite of denials by its leaders, many followers too often have interpreted black power to mean disregard for the rights of others, burning even their own people's property and a license to do as they please.

The Bystander recognizes that young people cannot be satisfied with what was fifty years ago. But there are some fundamental obligations that every citizen must observe if he expects to make progress and better the conditions in his surroundings. Among these responsibilities are regard for the rights of others and the full utilization of the tools offered him to become and remain a substantial citizen. And this is true whether we're professional men, laborers, officers or just citizens of the community.

"POOR MARCH HAS SOME MERIT"—LAWRENCE

David Lawrence, one of the old prominent newspaper men, has been most critical of the Supreme Court and Congress for their effort in securing for minority groups a fair share of what this country has to offer.

He opposed the Supreme Court school decision, anti-lynching and voting measures and the 1964 civil rights bill and all measures which Congress passed doing for the people what the states could not or refused to do.

In his article in the Des Moines Evening Tribune on May 27, Lawrence actually said the march of the poor on Washington had some value in that the plight of poor people was brought out in the open for many who did not realize what is going on. He concluded that the march was to the wrong capital; it should have been made on the 50 state capitals.

Well, it is worth something to have Lawrence say one good word about the rights of the poor. However, the trouble with the 50 state capitals is that some, will do little or nothing just as had been the case with millions the federal government has been throwing out for years.

We hope that the leaders can keep the people under control so as not to spoil the good the march can do.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

So far the sportsyear is going about as expected. The penit races are closer than ninety nine is to one hundred, golfers lose strokes off what might be a winning total because they forget to check their score cards. It happens to professionals and high school players. Arthur Ashe is our main Davis cup hope, and just might bring the big mug back over here. Then he will probably turn pro. The outstanding high school sprinter at one hundred yards for the seventh straight year was a Negro, but he didn't go to North this time. It was Larry Miller of Roosevelt, and he never lost a race all season. But there weren't too many Negroes on the local high school squads who were outstanding as compared with other years. Negro tennis players were scarce as hens teeth but there were enough wrestlers to make a good showing all around. The lack of outstanding material was prevalent in the Big Ten. For the first time in years there was really no outstanding sprinter in this conference. The winners of the various events in the Big Ten meet didn't post any great marks. The caliber of the midwestern athletes wasn't up to the rest of the country, but still the best of the crop were black.

Swimming

We are looking for one of the boys to crash the big time in swimming. Just as soon as we can get into pools on a year around basis as often as do the white boys, look out. Now we don't mean isolated cases. We mean on a national scale. This will likely apply to hockey also. The theory now is that Negroes displace too much water for their weight to make good swimmers. We argue that when we can get into the pools often enough in sufficient numbers, we will give the lie to that story also. And now to get back to tennis. We would like to see a good black tennis player at Iowa U. or Iowa State.

Racial Dating

Your humble scribe doesn't claim to be a student of sociology, or a student of anything else. But we have noticed a pretty good argument behind almost all of those protests by Negro athletes in the various colleges. Behind just about all of the protests lies the problem of dating. We know that for years in some colleges it meant sudden dismissal from the school to be caught on an interracial date. Lots of times the athlete left school it was said for personal reasons, and the fact was his choice of dates. We don't know the solution to the problem, and we think nobody else does, either. We would suggest that such matters be the prerogative of the people involved. But so many times well meaning faculty members, and sometimes assistant coaches have advised against such goings on, and have applied pressure to get the guy kicked out of school.

From this sore spot come other gripes such as wanting recognition by the faculty members, and all the rest of them. The matter of dating in college is one of the oldest problems, existing since probably the first Negro went to a coeducational school. What do you do? You are walking across the campus, and some girl comes up to you and starts talking, and this does happen. Do you break out running? Too many people try to read the worst possible meaning into what usually is nothing more than a friendship, based on mutual interests. Sure a few of them get beyond that, people being human beings. And do you know, this is probably one of the reasons why southern schools fought integration so bitterly. Now that we have kicked the issue around, what do you think about it?

Henry McKnight Ends Successful Season

Henry McKnight, Jr., of Des Moines will conclude his most successful season with wins including the Regional Mens Doubles and the Early Bird Open Doubles. Nine other titles were also won this season.

Although sticking mainly to doubles, McKnight finished second in the Omaha Open. In doubles, together with his partner, gained a split with nationally ranked Sokoloff and his mate Barnes and Flansburg and partner Ickoff. In the recent Nebraska State Championships, they defeated Matt and Paul Polson in the semi-finals (this team finished third in the 1967 National Junior Doubles Championship).

However, their bid to win three straight Nebraska Mens Doubles fell short by five points, losing in the finals to Flansburg and Ickoff.

McKnight has won over 45 championships, including 7 Iowa titles, 6 Nebraska titles, the Regional Junior Doubles, Regional Mens Doubles, two Illinois Open titles and the Heart of America Open title. He will bypass the team championship to be

New York — Bob Foster, contender for the light-heavyweight title was victorious over Dick Tiger Friday night with a knockout in two minutes, five seconds of the fourth round.

Foster's next big fight may be with Floyd Patterson, former two-time heavyweight champion or George Chuvalo in about two months.

It was Tiger's first knock-down in 77 bouts.

Los Angeles, Calif. — Billy Joiner of Cincinnati was bounced to his loss last Thursday night by former world heavyweight champ Sonny Liston. The contender was knocked down in the third round. Referees stopped the match in the seventh of the ten round bout.
