The Story of Louisville: Man Punched in Mouth

Louisville, Ky.—City officials tried to shift the blame for recent uprisings in this city onto black militants and their white friends.

However, black and white activists joined hands and beat this effort. They also forced the power structure to cut bail bonds for three black leaders from $175,000 to $25,000.

The trio were accused of plotting to dynamite oil refineries and gasoline-storage tanks in the West End, where most of Louisville's 100,000 black people live. The men declared that their arrests were part of the city's plan to blame black people for the rebellion.

Those charged were James Cortez, Washington, D.C., a volunteer worker for SNCC, and Sam Hawkins and Robert Sims Kuyu, officers in the Black Unity League of Kentucky (BULK). Kuyu and Hawkins are also Vistas.

Rally

Cortez, Kuyu, Hawkins, and Charles X of the Muslims spoke at a street-corner rally on May 27, the day the uprising began. Their main complaint was about Patrolman Michael Clifford, white, who had punched Manfred Reid, a black realtor, in the face May 8.

The Police Department fired Clifford but the Civil Service Commission ordered him back to work. Mayor Kenneth Schmied had the power to reject the commission's action, but he delayed.

About 500 people were peacefully leaving the May 27 rally when three police cars roared into the intersection with red lights flashing. A bottle hit the windshield of one of the cars, and six policemen leaped from the three cars waving pistols in the air. Soon six more police cars arrived. More bottles and some bricks fell and police began firing into the air.

Then young black men began tearing up sidewalks to get bricks to throw, breaking store windows, overturning police cars and setting them afire. The rebellion spread over the West End and into the downtown section of the city. Gov. Louie B. Nunn sent the National Guard into the city within two hours.

White activists formed the White Emergency Support Team (WEST). Its aim is "to act immediately and effectively in support of the black community as crisis situations develop." WEST reached thousands of white people with the truth about the uprising through television, radio, newspapers, leaflets, and picketing in the downtown section.

James Earl Ray Flees to London; Caught on Way Out

London, England — The accused killer of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. has been apprehended by British authorities as he passed through London immigration offices, but word is that James Earl Ray may fight to stay in Europe.

Ray was caught Saturday as he tried to make his way in Brussels, Belgium, carrying a loaded pistol. He was then charged by Scotland Yard with using a false passport and carrying a concealed weapon.

James Earl Ray, or Eric Starvo Galt, Harvey Lowmyer, John Willard, James McBride, James Walton, W. C. Herron, James O'Connor or Ramon George Sneyd, the aliases by which he has gone, was placed under maximum security arrest.

Since the black civil rights leader and Nobel Prize winner had been cut down in Memphis Apr. 4, the FBI, comparing latent fingerprints uncovered in the King case against fingerprints of over 53,000 persons determined that Galt and Ray were identical.

Fugitive

A Federal warrant, issued at Birmingham, Ala., on Apr. 17 charged

Ray, under the Galt alias with conspiring to interfere with a constitutional right of a citizen. His long criminal record also includes convictions for burglary and forging U.S. postal money orders, and at the time of his arrest was one of the "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives."

He made a brief appearance in a London court Monday and indicated he would fight the United States government's attempt to bring him to an American court on charges of interfering with King's civil rights.

Ray, who had served seven years of a twenty year sentence for armed robbery when he escaped a Missouri prison, reportedly had told an inmate that he would be willing to kill King for $1 million.

The widow of the slain rights leader and late president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Mrs. Coretta King, had been attending the funeral of Sen. Robert Kennedy in New York when she was told of Ray's arrest.

Ray was transferred Tuesday to a maximum security cell on London's south side. He was put in an isolation cell under two-man guards.

Congaree, S.C.—In the 19th century, the underground railroad delivered black people from Southern slavery to freedom in the North.

Now, it's the other way around, according to W. Frank Threatt, local steel mill operator, who says his "underground railroad" is returning Negroes from the North to the South.

The black people are being taken to this small community, where they're being put to work at the Congaree Iron and Steel company. Founded in 1937, the firm currently has 425 employees, mostly Negroes.

"Is Man Evil?"

"The more the racial situation is talked about and exposed, indeed it becomes more involved and foolish. In a recent radio and television poll the subject was 'Is man evil, was he born evil?' The answers were astounding. Most seem to think man was born evil. At the close of the program my final analysis was that he was born with a certain amount of evil tendencies for his self preservation, worsened in some cases by the evil systems of society. Every man is evil to his own immediate needs, even a newborn child for survival.

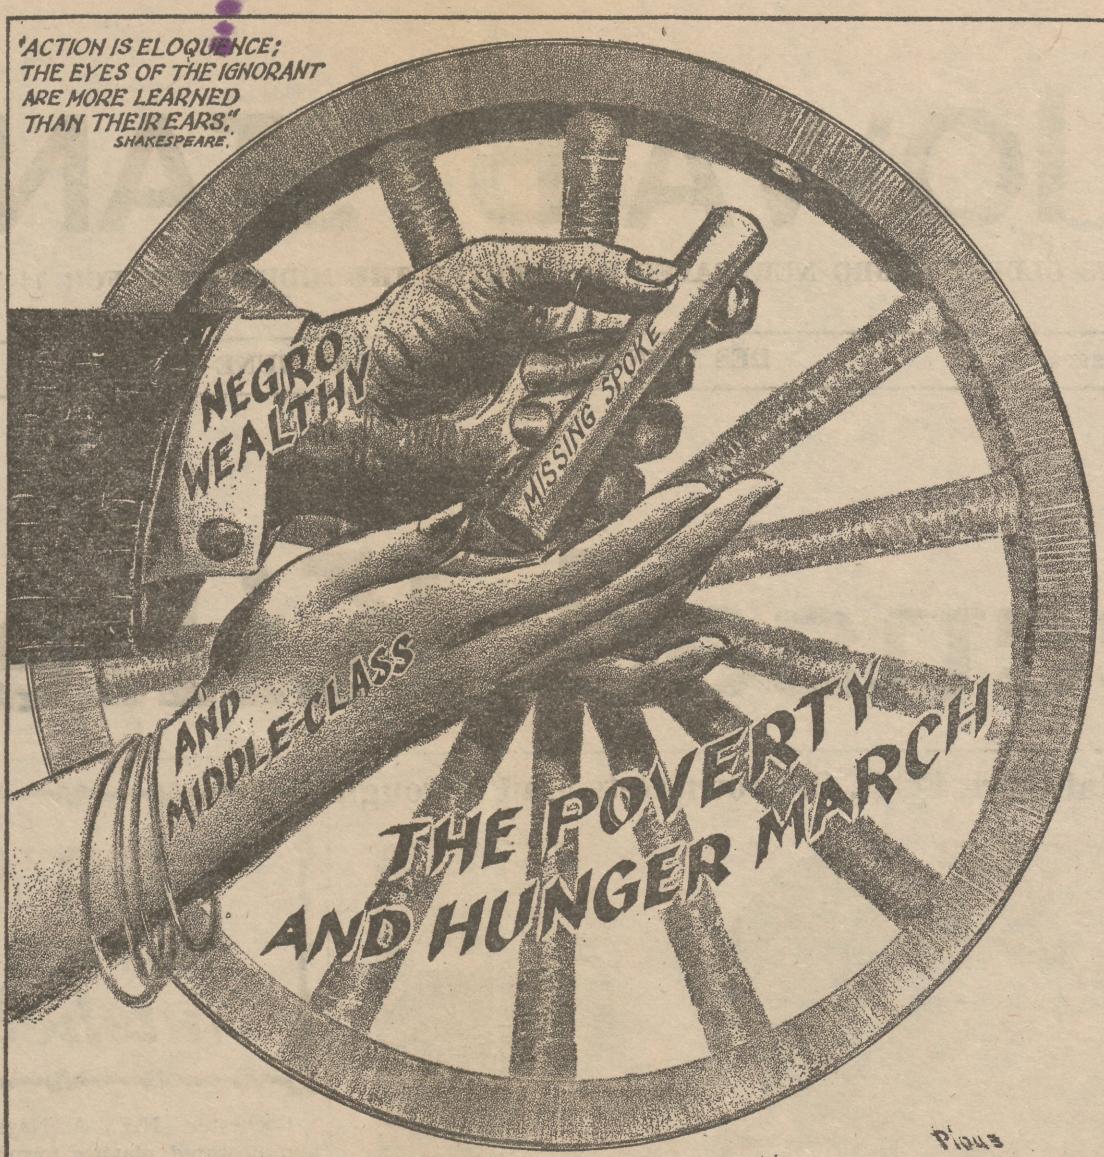

Power

"The white American seems to be evil for power and the black selfish for his need for freedom, etc. How does one differ from the other? In reverse it would be the same. The only difference, which really isn't the issue, is their color.

"After years of slavery and being under the foot of the white American, the black has inherited many of the white man's traits; but remarkably he has maintained his self-tolerance of his fellow man. He accepts into his heart and home people of all walks of life, of all national origins. He must never let the second hundred years of persecution drain him of this asset.

"For truly if the shoe were on the other foot the white man could never stand the pressure in which the black survives. He would have exploded long ago. His self-control would no have been so lasting. To feel and be superior to a man whom one has to invent myths about shows a positive fear on his part for reason of his own. Reasoning that in reality is his own conscience screaming for peace of mind and rest.

"Not to be able to forgive the wrongs done in the past is the white man's real burden. The white must now be wise enough to swallow his

Good

"For he has done much good, meaningful or not; his wisdom seems to excel but he should put the fears of the past out of his heart. For the general attitude behind a deed done in good faith is really what is important. For even in the black hell he keeps us in, we cannot find hate for this our brother whom we wait to accept with love and understanding. Never hate... Only mistrust and pity."

Alimate Weapon-Rock

Not since the cave man chipped a wheel from a chunk of granite has the rock been looked upon so reverently.

Like his brother the bottle (time was when Drink-O and Fuzz-Up were regarded as respectable drinks, but now their transparent containers are deplorable weapons, the neighborhood breaks out in suburban sweat when they see a young boy conspiratorially pulling a cart of bottles to some unknown destination and arm themselves for the would be assailant; the milkman must give the password before he is allowed to set a bottle of milk on your door; the rock has once again been called upon to play a prominent part of society. No longer is the sword, knife and bullet the master of man's fear, but now the pebble, brick and bottle daily make the news. "Rock attacks Idaho, Country in Turmoil, Reeling from Shock."

How many times throughout history has a country been torn by three six-year-olds with these treacherous grains until today, when the president in a heat tells the nation to beware of the monstrous pebble?

Time was when rock-throwing contests were an afternoon pastime behind the barn, but now you might get ten years for it, with perhaps six more tacked on to weaken your pitching arm if you hit the horse.

Guns seem to be only second to the deadly art of rock-throwing, but there is one bright hope—it may be a while before you are arrested by a policeman armed with a double-barrelled rock.

Soul Village, Inc., held its Friday night dance contest. Were you there?

An editorial with the title "Why News Editors Get Headaches" has appeared in a number of publications. It's a good summary and points up the facts that YOU ARE WRONG IF YOU DO AND YOU'RE WRONG IF YOU DON'T; IF YOU ARE RIGHT NO ONE REMEMBERS; IF YOU ARE WRONG, NO ONE EVER FORGETS. And that just about sums it up correctly. Thanks, Mr. Mapp.

Note page six's editorial by Stanley Hawkins.

Take it slow and tighten up.

Co-hosts to the spiritual affair will be Des Moines' Wings of Grace, Viduals and Harmonettes. Following the workshop, dinner will be served.

Speakers will be the Rev. Percy Burt of Waterloo, Rev. Gresham of St. Matthews Baptist Church, Omaha and the Rev. George Parrish, pastor of Maple Street Baptist Church in Des Moines.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Are you a sleep-wrecker? The cause—despite yourself—of dark circles under your spouse's eyes? Maybe you are and don't know it!

Snoring

The best known disrupter of the peace of wedded nights is snoring. But for all its fame, your lowly snore may not be the only culprit. Medical journals now report another rouser of weary mates: the grind of teeth.

How serious are these problems? The ears of the sleeping grinder are undisturbed by the grate of his teeth. Unaware he has this automatic habit, he sleeps on—but not his mate. The next day (still unknowing), he may start grinding while awake — perhaps lost in thought, irritated, or upset.

His unconscious habit is due, says a recent British journal, to a combination of factors — emotional as well as dental. The gradual outcome can be permanent overstrain of the muscles of chewing (sometimes even severe and recurring headache, as well). But several methods are known to prevent this result. Ask your doctor or dentist if your bite needs attention.

Mouth

The long-term results of snoring are less weighty—for the norer, if not mor his mate. This sleep habit is nothing but a side effect of normal breathing (but through the mouth instead of the nose).

The air you take in through your mouth when sleeping vibrates tissues in the breathing passages it flows through. The sound of this vibration is the snore. Its cure is sure: shut your mouth (if your spouse can get you to wake!).

These facts about breathing are presented as a public service by your tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. Contact them for information and help about the serious problems of breathing, such as their continuing fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

LUTHER T. GLANTON was asked concerning the newly organized United Negro Federation. He declared that he wanted to state in the strictest terms that "the federation is not by any stretch of the imagination an anti-white organization. Its purpose is to encourage Negroes toward self-help; help them find the open doors and to open those doors which appear closed."

SUNDAY NIGHT'S JAZZ CONCERT sponsored by Drama Workshop, again played to a packed and overflowing house. Drama Workshop presentations envelope the interest of persons of all ages and multitudinous callings as evidenced by the Concert's attendance! MC Irv White had this to say of the show: "From my point of view both the artists and the audience were wonderful—wonderful under very trying conditions of heat! I enjoyed doing the show!" I'm sure most of you know that it is Irv who spends many, many hours searching and organizing the people and materials which constitute the show.

SPEAKING OF LOVE — What about Songstress Joanne Jackson's presenting her younger sister, Singer Marchell, to us at the concert. That was great both ways, Joanne and thanks! Met Strawn, Joanne's well-mannered and quite handsome young son. Always a part of his mother's conversation, Strawn seems to share a mutual admiration with her. Joanne, a fine artist, is equally intense about her role as mother.

THE CAROLYN CLINTON-ROZENTING HARDAWAY, JR. NUP-TIALS culminated in a perfect setting—a beautiful sanctuary filled with parents, relatives, loved ones and the couple's world of friends. The day was sun-filled and the weather balmy! These two lacked nothing whatsoever on this Sunday chosen for the creation of their God-blessed marriage. And may it be so!

THE CLINTON - HARDAWAY GUESTS: There were many, many tender moments for most of us as we circled among the wedding guests. Gathered here were friends of a lifetime. For me, there were friends closer than relatives. If I found this to be true, then most assuredly many of those assembled had watched the bride and groom through earliest childhood.

KRNT'S MARY BRUBAKER suggests that last Sunday's Goode Park Art Exhibit not be the last of its kind! It is a new type of display and a very catchy one. So more of the same, young people! And what about full names? Sets of initials received lots of praise but who are you and you and you?

MRS. LOUISE GLASS, now residing at 1613 Allison after 52 years spent at 1517 Second Avenue had this to say of change of address: When my husband and I purchased our home on Second Avenue, our three children were small. The area was like the country—there were chickens across the street! I would say we got our money's worth," she observed laughingly. It was sheer pleasure to hear this lovely friend chat mirthfully about the passing years, their events, and to sum up the whole with satisfaction! Her mood and outlook declared "life is good". Her new location, too is a beautiful setting; lovely lawn, shrubbery, roses in bloom, and a deep backyard. Mrs. Glass and her daughter, Katherine Glass Stewart, are the Des Moines members of the Oscar Glass family. Mr. Glass was a well-known barber. Katherine is an Easter Seal Center nursery school teacher; Irene Glass Stone, a second daughter, is a Houston, Texas, grade school teacher; Oscar, Jr., better known as "Buddy", is a United Nations employee, and resides in Roosevelt, New York.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Should every woman be a blonde?

Blonde hair is beautiful for those women whose natural coloring it flatters. But not everyone should be a blonde.

Expert beauticians know that complexion and hair color must complement each other to glamorize and bring out all the natural beauty that was meant to be. They also know that very coarse and dark hair often is resistant to drastic color changes. However, there's no doubt about slightly lighter hair adding excitement to a woman's appearance. And hairdressers know there is no better product to add a whole new appeal to every woman's look than Miss Clairol® haircoloring—extra rich Creme Formula or new extra easy Shampoo Formula.

Both Miss Clairol products lighten and color at once, combining vibrant new color with the natural pigment of the hair. So even those shades that look blonde on white hair (as shown on most color selection charts) give a variety of flattering red-to-golden brown shades on women whose hair was black to begin with.

Beauty salons are equipped to answer questions and help with hair color selection. Depend on your hairdresser to have the professional skills and the total family of fine Clairol products to make every woman's experience with haircoloring completely personal and glamorous. Should you be a blonde? If you don't really know, ask your expert hairdresser.

AMERICA HAS MADE ITS OWN BED

The late Booker T. Washington told the American people that they were lynching Negroes without bringing the perpetrators to answer for their crimes; that the day could come that white men would be killed likewise. They were poor, defenseless people.

Today, we are killing both white and Negro men of distinction because they hold beliefs contrary to that of dangerous persons.

Judging from the outpouring of the American people over Senator Robert F. Kennedy's death, it would appear that he did not have an enemy in the world, other than political enemies. But like the rotten apple in the barrel, rotten ones contaminate and ruin all of the fruit left to the owner.

It is pitiful that a young man of Kennedy's talent and other attributes of a successful career should be cut down at such an early stage in life. But he was bold, exacting, ruthless and to the point where millions admired him, yet a hard core element was bitter against him and in the end revengeful.

This country has reached the stage it never contemplated. We have been rich, free and strong, but too many people have misread these privileges and have taken them to justify their violence and irresponsible conduct.

Surely it was sad and unfortunate that Senator Kennedy should meet such a fate. It is a terrible blow to a family that has had more than its share of grief. On the other hand, it is worse on the American people who have seen such a tragedy occur time after time.

In the name of freedom, we have permitted a little more and a little more liberty that has brought the country to a pitiful state. When the President's commission on civil disorders spoke of the hate that existed in the white people toward Negroes, a lot of people criticized the statesmen violently. But as the serious imperfections continue to show up clearly, against whites and Negroes, the charge is justified.

Following the death of President Kennedy, a great rush was on for gun control. It died down and of course Congress shirked its responsibility and refused to do but little about it.

Now the rush is on again to curb the sale of guns, and in spite of the appeals by President Johnson and a majority of the American people, Congress now comes up with a very weak bill.

Of course, gun controls can help but like stopping sin, it won't prevent these crimes. What this country needs is a new birth of respect by man to man and equal consideration for all.

YOUNGSTERS ARE MAKING THEIR WAY

It happens all too often that we give much attention to the trouble makers in this community and overlook the hundreds of youngsters who are doing an excellent job, who are taking their place among those who are making their way.

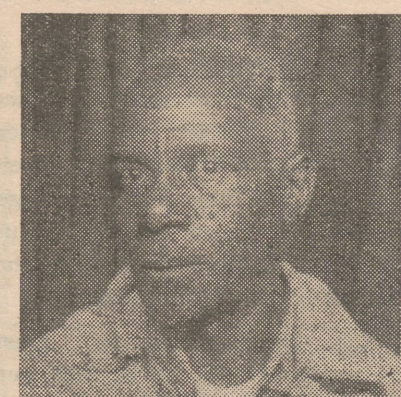

Last week, the Bystander published pictures and articles concerning Negro high school graduates of North, East, Roosevelt, and Tech. More than a hundred graduated.

Then, too, several Iowa Negro students were enrolled at Iowa University, Iowa State University, Simpson, Coe and other colleges. Most of these youngsters are employed in summer jobs. When we began publishing these features, there were less than a dozen while practically none attended the institutions of higher learning.

All of these youngsters deserve great credit. They are using their time and effort to learn more and to better themselves and prepare for careers of their chosen field.

These youngsters will have little trouble making their way. There is always somebody to help if a youngster tries. On the other hand, these youngsters are not like those idle people who complain of no job, no place to go, police brutality and a lack of opportunity.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

This was a tragic weekend, but still, a profitable one for black athletes. The two track meets held over the weekend looked like Olympic tryouts. Did you notice the picture in newspapers of the finish of the two hundred meters? Just about everybody in the race was black. So if black athletes don't compete in the big show United States will be hard put for runners from four hundred meters down. There will also be a scarcity of hurdlers and jumpers. But our guess is they will be there. Arthur Ashe became the big gun in the Davis cup zone finals. Every time we got to the semifinal matches, Ashe has been held out, and we have proceeded to lose. It will be interesting to see what happens this time. The present Davis cup coach has adopted one idea that we have long believed in. Running the fellows into condition. You can't really play any game unless you are in tip top shape. Then you play well without knowing it. Just as a fighter in shape can punch real hard without knowing it. We can't think of one big fellow that we used to tell he wasn't really in shape, and he never would believe us. Then Uncle Sam got him, and for the first time in his life the guy knew what it was to be in condition. He has said a thousand times that he would have given his right arm to have played in a tennis meet then. But, you see, Jerry wasn't tossing tennis balls at them.

Golf

Then there was the golf meet. This Charlie Sifford guy doesn't get into the really big money, but we bet he won't have to be on relief this winter. He wins some money in just about every meet he is in, and most of the time it is over a thousand dollars. Wonder if there are any young black golfers ready to break into the tour?

While we are thinking about tennis, we wonder how our Hilltop Open is going to fare this year. There has been so much unrest around, that we wonder if people will be afraid to come here. We recall one year we were a bit nervous about what would happen at the Park, and nothing happened. In fact every year the people couldn't have been better in their deportment. So we are expecting another great year if we can get the people here. This meet has been a success because nobody has every played up any racial angle on it. Just tennis players, and the only problem we are trying to solve is who are the best tennis players on that particular weekend.

Every now and then we hear some father talking about his son in the little leagues. We would like to recognize all of the little fellows if we could only get news of them. As big as the daily papers are, they have some news sent into them, so it would seem that somebody interested in Little League baseball could let us know who some of the outstanding players are. The team results don't really matter so much. We would like to learn who the stars are and what they are doing. If one of the teams wins a title, fine. Let us know about. Now please don't wait until football season and then ask us why we didn't give this or that team a writeup.

Baseball

So far we haven't seen any posters of the baseball games between two of the Negro league teams as they are called. We hope this practice has finally ground to a halt. Organized baseball has made it possible for every black boy who wants to play the game, and can play it, to get on some club. These barnstorming teams often have the Devil's time beating local semipro teams, and even these aren't nearly as good as they used to be.

Ward and Allen Win

At the North High track meet Saturday Doug Lane of Cedar Rapids and Bruce Hammer of Des Moines qualified for the National Amateur Athletic Union championships. Lane is the state shotput champ.

In track, Naomis Ward of Tech won first place in the hundred yard dash, in :10.1. In the 220 yard dash, Marvan Allen of Tech in :22.8 was victorious over Bob Hutchins, 2; and Naomis Ward, 3rd.

Charges Against Jim
Brown Are Dropped,
But Faces Cop Charge

Hollywood, Calif. — Charges were dropped against actor Jimmy Brown this week, after he had been booked on charges of suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

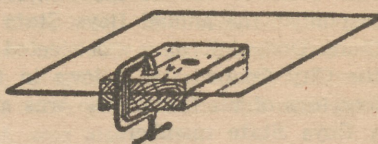

The 6-foot-two-inch Brown had been accused of assaulting Eva Marie Bohmchin, who was reported in good condition at an L.A. Medical Center with minor injuries. Authorities had found Miss Bohmchin sprawled beneath the second floor pavement of Brown's residence.

Miss Bohmchin refused to press charges against Brown, making this the second time he had been arrested and cleared of assault and battery brought up by young women.

He still faces charges of assault after he knocked an intruding police officer seven feet with a sweep of his hand.

Boring Thin Material
AMERICAN BUILDER, leading magazine for builders, recently disclosed a fool-proof method of boring holes in thin material. Simply place a block of wood on each side, holding the blocks together with a "C" clamp and then boring through the blocks. This method provides a clean, smooth cut with no raveling or splinters.

SWEET POTATO TREAT

Your friends will talk for weeks about this toothsome dish once you give them a taste. A delicacy we owe to the Southland, Sweet Potato Treat is so easy to make you'll want to use it as a standard companion piece for your favorite ham recipes.

6 medium sweet potatoes
2 bottles Dr. Pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 box marshmallows
Pare and slice sweet potatoes lengthwise into half-inch strips, filling casserole which has been well buttered. Pour Dr. Pepper over sweet potatoes and dot with butter. Dust with cinnamon, top with 8 or 10 marshmallows, and bake one hour in 300 degree oven.

Letters from Our Readers

A bit of prose . . . a line or two of poetry . . . a letter now and then to express thoughts in the minds of our many readers.

let from a gun belonging to a friend of mine.

Whether or not the act of carrying a gun does or does not fit, at least to my knowledge this is the second occurrence of this type I have heard of since my 9 1/2 months in the Air Force. The first I believe was 17 year old Rodney Sellers and now Joyce Brown. Both times I received the tragic news from my wife and at each incident she would say "So and So accidentally was shot and killed". So and So excluding the names for personal reasons. Both crimes were committed by persons the same age as me or older.

Weapon

People! first of all, a gun is a weapon beyond a doubt. Who uses it? Me! for what?; to ward off the Viet Cong so I can continue to repair the air craft that comes in operable. The only reason I am being trained to shoot and work at the same time is because I will be over in Viet Nam soon and must defend myself to stay alive. Yes, the Air Force does handle guns under these existing conditions.

When I was home I carried no guns on the streets of Des Moines, nor did I carry a concealed weapon. Thank God I didn't, because if I had, I would probably be sitting here today saying "Oh! I shot her accidentally just as I shot John Doe. We were just playing with the unregistered gun at the party."

Join Army

A lot of sense this makes, fellas! If you want to carry a gun, join any branch of the service and you will get to carry a big M16 or something of that nature and when you feel like playing with it, just go out in the heavy forest and play and your friend Charlie will play along with you until somebody wins.

Listen man, leave the guns at home, then go out and have a good time. If the need for self defense comes along, lead first and if that doesn't work, use your hands, feet, trees, teeth or whatever, but don't shoot please.

It is inconclusive to group socializing and usually ends up inconclusive to living.

Think please, think and let's not have anymore slaughtering of our brothers and sisters, accident or no accident, it's still senseless.

If a gun makes you feel big or secure, come on in as Air Police. They are always big and always secure, that is, securing the outside perimeter of an Air Base with 2 or 3 guns and a vicious dog, so you bad brave gun bearers come on! Slow up and think please so we won't lose any more, O.K.?

Thanks. God bless and keep all of you.

Three in the Army

Do Not Carry Guns

According to the Armed Forces Department, in a war it's unusual to find a man not carrying a weapon. Charlie Company of the First Air Cavalry Division's First Battalion, 7th Cavalry has three.

The conscientious objectors due to religious beliefs are Sp/4 Roger W. Griffith of Nevada, Ia. and PFC Donald A. Zintz, of California, who are Seventh Day Adventists and Sp/4 Orrie J. Johnson, Jr., of Des Moines who is a Pentecostal.

Johnson, son of Rev. and Mrs. Orrie Johnson, is a platoon medic. Asked if he didn't sometimes feel insecure without a rifle, Johnson answered, "No. If we carried a weapon we'd be going back on our religious beliefs. Actually I feel just that much safer—without a weapon."

The three men admit they have a satisfying job. "To see that look on the faces of the men when somehow we're helping them out gives me the greatest satisfaction," Johnson said. "Just anything I can do to help."
