Tells Democrats Enforce 1964 Committee on Racial Delegates Cites Miss.

New York — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has called upon the Democratic National Committee to require "firm compliance with" the Committee's 1964 commitment that state delegations to the party's national conventions must have "fair and representative inclusion of Negroes."

Wilkins told Chairman Bailey, "is a clear rejection of the national party mandate of 1964 for fair and representative inclusion of Negroes in delegations to the national convention. Democratic regulars in Mississippi seem to believe they can make up of their 1968 delegation.

4 Named

"Four years ago, the Democratic party made a solemn pledge, not solely to its partisan adherents but to the entire citizenry, that no racial discrimination would be countenanced. The NAACP expects nothing less than firm compliance with this pledge.

In Mississippi, Charles Evers, one of the four Negroes designated as members of the state delegation, declined the designation when the state convention refused to enlarge Negro representation.

In a telegram to John M. Bailey, committee chairman, dispatched July 3, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins cited refusal of Mississippi Democrats to provide more than token Negro representation in its delegation and alluded to the seven half-votes allotted to Negro Democrats among New York State's 65 at-large delegates.

S.E. Bottoms Youths Clean Neighborhood

People who set back and say young people are going to the dogs are to some such end have another think coming. At least young people in the Southeast Bottoms are showing young and old alike how to help themselves, have some fun doing it and have a world of pride in accomplishing the job.

An organization called Youth vs. Poverty composed of Negro, whites and Spanish Americans, who are willing to work and live together are embarked on a massive cleanup, paint-up campaign in the area where they live.

Painted Seven

According to latest reports they have painted seven houses. In addition they are cleaning up lots. The youths are paid a nominal fee by the N.Y.C.

The idea was thought up by the youths on the Southeast side and is under the direction of the Rev. Arthur Duby. It is also one the Suggests New Facility for 2 Schools; Ungraded Studies; Public Hearing Set Tues.

Sweeping measures—including closing one school with a high concentration of Negroes and bussing them to other schools with a high concentration of whites—was recommended Monday to the Des Moines School Board as a means to correct racial imbalance and eradicate de facto segregation in the Des Moines educational system.

The recommendation was given in a final report of the Special Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity in Des Moines schools appointed by the School board over a year ago.

Bus One Way

The report suggested that bussing be only one way . . . that the Negroes be bussed to and from the other schools. According to the report "the committee would suggest that the Logan Elementary School is an example of the type of school with a high concentration of Negro pupils . . ."

Other Schools

Logan school has the highest concentration of Negroes attending in any Des Moines school—92 per cent Negro, of a total enrollment of 269 pupils. Other schools cited were Nash, 76 per cent of 597 pupils; Grant, 62 per cent of 185 pupils; Moulton, 60 per cent of 587; Bird, 48 per cent of 325 and Casady with 33 per cent of 461.

Pilot Program

The committee also suggested that "a pilot program be initiated to gain experience with the operation and problems of transporting pupils."

Bussing is not new to the Des Moines School system. For a number of years some pupils have been transported to other schools to take advantage of curriculums offered or vacant classroom space.

In-Service Program

Other recommendations from the committee suggested "that the Board and the administration provide an in-service program for teachers and auxiliary personnel to instruct them in the needed special skills and to make them aware of the frustrations that disadvantaged children experience. Such instruction should include special communication skills . . ."

In addition "the committee recommends that a pre-kindergarten program such as Head Start should be included as a part of the regular curriculum for all children from disadvantaged backgrounds." This would also include a "pilot program for some three years olds."

New School

The committee also recommends "that the Board construct a new elementary facility to replace Bird and rGant schools. The committee also recommends that the Nash Elementary School be relocated on a site different from the present Nash-Irving site at 16th and Forest."

Ungraded Curriculum

The fifth recommendation asks that the "Board and the administration consider a new organizational structure in the elementary schools. A study of a program of ungraded primary education (K through 3) in a few pilot schools and the development of a special program for those pupils who are not sufficiently prepared to enter fourth grade at approximately nine years of age . . ."

ways, he says, in which relationships between the youths and senior citizens are being improved.

The organization also sent a notification to the mayor and the press of their efforts. They were featured on the news program of a local television station this week.

Committee Members

Reading the main points of the report Monday was committee chairman, Harry Prugh. Other members are Dr. Paul Sharp, Bishop Gordon Smith, James Thomas, Robert Patrick, Jesse Durden, Mrs. Florence Myers Wallace, Jesse Hawkins, Harold Bown, William Carron, Murray Work and Mrs. A. Louise Mays

Responsibility

This committee was assigned the responsibility of making recommendations to the Board of Directors regarding the equality of educational opportunity with particular emphasis on—(1) Improving inter-cultural relations and inter-group relations and reducing pupil isolation; (2) Changes in present practices and policies to improve integration without handicapping any child's educational opportunities; (3) School building programs, either new plans of organization or replacement of older buildings, and sources of revenue to finance needed capital improvements that would reduce imbalance.

Public Hearing

The Board recommended that the report be received and that as far as possible the suggestions be put into immediate action. After commending and thanking the committee it announced plans for a public hearing on the report for Tuesday, July 16.

One of the members of the audience who commented briefly on the report was Jerry Bolden, 2620 Rollen street, who commented that it "was not the school buildings but school teachers who give Negro pupils inferior education."

Phillip Jones Named Counselor at U. of I.

Iowa City — Phillip E. Jones, an alumnus of The University of Iowa, has returned to his alma mater as an admissions counselor.

Jones, who is 27, began his new position July 1 as a counselor specializing in the identification of socially, financially and educationally disadvantaged young people who are prospective students at the U of I.

Chicago Native

A native of Chicago, Jones graduated from Tilden Technical High School there. He earned a bachelor's degree at the University of Illinois in 1963, and took a master's degree in physical education at the U of I in 1967.

During the 1967-68 academic year he taught at Northern High School in Flint, Mich. He served as counselor for the Chicago Youth Center in 1963-64, and was a student assistant for the U of I's Upward Bound program in 1967.

Responsibilities

Among Jones's responsibilities will be contacting disadvantaged high school students who are members of minorities about becoming Martin Luther King scholars in a five-year bachelor's degree program at the U of I. The King scholarship program was established by U of I President Howard R. Bowen in a memorial address shortly after the assassination of Dr. King.

Minority Development Center Near Waterloo

BY ELEANORA E. TATE

Cedar Falls, Ia. — The possibility of a minority development center located in the region of Waterloo could become a reality.

Daryl Pendergraft, executive Dean at the University of Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls said in a letter to the Bystander last week that "members of the new committee on university responsibility for minority group education has discussed the idea of the development of a center to be located in the region of Waterloo."

Uses

Pendergraft said that the specific uses of the center had not been defined. "Over the long pull, the center could well become quite a different thing than it would be in the initial year or two. In the beginning, we would have in mind that this would be a place, located in rented facilities, in which the university would offer certain adult education work in such subjects as Afro-American culture, the problems of the disadvantaged groups, minority group relations; and in which we could also serve other functions, including a place for tutorial service by our staff . . . and hopefully, counseling such young people to try to raise their educational aspirations."

Metropolitan

Pendergraft said the university was "particularly concerned" to have a facility of this kind that would enable them to give the student teachers a chance to develop a "better understanding and to become better acquainted with black people. So many of our students who are becoming teachers have had no such contacts, and yet, in increasing numbers, they will be teaching in metropolitan areas where they will have colored students in their classes."

Iowa Law Grad to Rights Commission

A 1968 University of Iowa Law School graduate has become the Iowa Civil Rights Commission's Compliance Director.

Miss Dorothy Wilkerson, 24, a native of Donalds, S.C., who last summer was legal intern in the civil rights division of the U. S. Department of Justice, last Wednesday told the Bystander that her work with the Justice Department concerned closing out old files in employment and education which were moot. The division in which she worked contained the states of South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

As compliance director her duties will be to decide on racial grievances which are not formal complaints and decide whether there is a basis for formal complaint.

When asked if James Earl Ray, accused assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. would ever come to trial, Miss Wilkerson stated that it is "so important that all procedure steps and all of his constitutional rights are protected."

Even a minor legal step ignored during the entire case may lead to Ray's constitutional rights being violated; he may be set free on a technicality.

Claims Goal; Upgrade Quality of Ghetto Life

Atlantic City — "It is now the law of the land that black Americans shall have the right to buy whatever a white man can buy and to live wherever a white man can live," William R. Morris told the 59th annual convention of the NAACP.

Morris, the recently appointed director of housing programs for the NAACP, declared that the June 17 decision of the Supreme Court "will take its place alongside the historic school desegregation decision in 1954" by rendering ineffective the exceptions permitted by the 1968 Civil Rights Act.

KRESGE'S

"For One Stop Family Shopping and Savings" DOWNTOWN: 7th & Walnut
MERLE HAY PLAZA
58th & Douglas

Dean Pendergraft stressed that the "whole matter of the center has been merely in the discussion stages," but "perhaps at the September meeting (of the Board of Regents) a concrete proposal for the establishment of such a center would be appropriate."

Housing

He said that "racial discrimination in housing, in all of its forms, and applicable to everyone, is now illegal." The task of the NAACP now "is to insure that white Americans respect and obey that law."

The NAACP seeks "large-scale improvement in the quality of life available to ghetto area residents—combined with the substantial movement of Negroes out of racial ghettos into the mainstream of American life."

Warning

The former urban renewal appraiser and consultant warned that America "can no longer afford the ever-increasing growth of racial isolation of black Americans from the rest of society. The frustrations, despair and bitterness resulting from life in the ghetto poses a constant threat of racial conflict."

"White America must recognize that black Americans have to be part of the decision-making process in all matters affecting where they shall live and how they shall live."

Bahais to Present Governor Gift

A delegation of the Baha'is of Iowa called upon Governor Harold E. Hughes today to present him with a gift volume of The Proclamation of Baha'u'llah, containing Baha'u'llah's summons to the kings and rulers of the world, the world's religious leaders and the great announcement to mankind.

The letters contained in the book are without doubt the most remarkable documents in modern religious history. The essence of Baha'u'llah's summons is the unity of the human race. "O ye children of men," He writes, "the fundamental purpose animating the Faith of God and His Religion is to safeguard the interests and promote the unity of the human race . . ." And He warns, "The well-being of mankind, its peace and security, are unattainable unless and until its unity is firmly established." Baha'u'llah's message is one of hope, of love, of practical reconstruction.

Rethoric, of course, plays an important part in communication, which is in itself a brilliant statement. If I were to say that Harvey Watermelon is a clean rabbit, some would interpret this to mean that Harvey is immaculate and shines his paws. A policeman might think it meant that Harvey had no narcotics in his possession. If Harvey is cool, you could say that Harvey is gelid (look it up), aloof or frigid; or that he needs a sweater to keep the goose pimples off his arms. If Harvey is hot, the possibility is valid that he is a smooth dancer, has a fever, is angry or having a good luck streak in carrot poker. If Harvey is swell, he might be a great guy, or somebody has chopped him in his eye and it is rapidly closing.

Swinger

If Harvey is a swinger, that may mean he is from the ape family or lives on the playground or dances the Horse out of sight. What if Harvey were pruned? Then he might be agitated, or like prunes. If Harvey is turned on? Then he could be a water faucet or a car, stimulated or angry.

Slick

Of course, there is the slick Harvey: greasy slick, falling down slick, slick as witty, conniving or slurring. Harvey might be funny: like funny and funny, strange, comical, queer, odd, etc.

If Harvey is out of sight, Harvey would be hiding behind a rock or gone off the deep end. Or clean, which brings us right back where we started from.

By the way, the chickens are coming, so watch out and tighten up.

Sorry to have missed the deadline for July 4 issue. Not enough "get up and go", I guess.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reed, Paula and Mark, accompanied by Duane Carter, nephew of the Reeds, visited relatives in St. Louis. Returning with them was Deborah Johnson, 11, great niece of Freeman Reed. While in St. Louis they enjoyed browsing through Forest Park and the zoo.

Mrs. Clarence Frazier still improves after a trip to the hospital.

Mrs. Lillie Ellis and brother Thomas Gordon were in Terry, Miss.
to visit their brother Willie Gordon.
He has been ill, but is improving,
and expected to come to Waterloo.

Ladies Day Committee of Payne
Memorial AME Church honored Herbert Cox with a banquet on June 29. 65 persons attended. A plaque was presented to him by Dr.
Robert F. Harvey, on behalf of the women. Mr. Cox had raised the largest amount of money to be applied on payment of church mortgage.

Plans are well under way for burning of mortgage ceremonies at Payne AME on July 21. At 3:00 p.m. that afternoon former pastor, the Rev. I. V. Tolbert, of St. John AME Church, River Rouge, Mich.
will be guest speaker. He brings with him a choir. The public is invited to join in this observance.

Mrs. Grace Potter, Mrs. Bertha
Holt, Valetta Fields, with Mrs.
Frank Spencer at the wheel motored to Amana Colonies on Mrs. Holt's birthday last month. Mrs. Spencer's children, Jolene, Diane, Francine, Claudia, Frank, Jr. and Raymond went along in the station wagon.
The trip thru the woolen mills was interesting, also the visit to the furniture shop.

Went to see Mrs. Neil Mabry
the other day and she showed me her sewing equipment. A recent graduate from Hawkeye Institute of Technology, from the tailoring class, she is set up for work at home on machine, steam iron, and sleeve board. Altering garments is her specialty.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton Lewis, with their son David, were in the city from Detroit last week. Telephone visit with them was all that we managed this trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Holt entertained Mrs. Bertha Holt at birthday dinner. She was presented "Happy Birthday Mom" cake decorated also with red roses icing. As senior citizen of Mid-Town Center, another cake was received by her.

Karen Phillips, Paula Reed and Susan Dunn, all Bystander sales girls, left for YVCA Camp Wahpaton on Sunday. They will spend 1 week, Deborah Johnson, visiting Paula from St. Louis, enrolled in this period of camp and went along.

THE MOST WORSHIPFUL PRINCE HALL GRAND LODGE OF IOWA'S celebration of its 81st Annual Session which convened Thursday through Saturday at Hotel Savery is the most talked about event of the week! This includes Friday's banquet and Saturday's dance.

"MRS. J. B. MORRIS IS SO BEAUTIFUL and she is the most!" says Delores Peguese (Mrs. Charles). Her enthusiasm was in praise of Mrs. Morris' appearance before the Grand Lodge when she presented its NAACP Lifetime Membership Plaque. "She wore a black coat dress with white ruffles at the cuffs! She is elegant." We understand her appreciation of Mrs. Morris, who for a lifetime has been our "image." A devoted wife and mother, a careerist, a social and civic leader, and most importantly a dedicated civil rightist, she remains foremost! Delores' warmly expressed admiration stems from her own ambitions seen in those already achieved by Mrs. Morris. Delores is an achiever in her own right—a dedicated church worker and lodge member! No task too great or too small for her in either of these areas! And she, too, is a lovely! So we agree with Delores and about her!

SONGSTRESS JOANNE JACKSON heard and enjoyed for so long at The Urban Lounge, left the States this past weekend! Her picture and story will appear in this column next week describing the latest turn in her career.

JIMM DUNN HAS NOW RETURNED TO DES MOINES for a short while. He left in April and went first to New York where he spent about 3 weeks. He attended the Interreligious Foundation for Community Organization to equip himself to start such a training project here. Among other organizations visited were Welfare Right Organization. He visited Columbia University where he talked with Dr. Richard Cloward, Professor of Sociology, nationally known for his work in welfare. He then went to California. The New York and California trips were made possible through a grant from IFCO. In California IFCO was setting up an organizer training project. This was organized through a body called the Los Angeles Black Congress. It is an umbrella organization of all the civil rights groups ranging from the NAACP to the more radical types. This lasted for one month and awarded certificates of completion. Jim has started local classes for organizers. In fact he has had to postpone a portion of his too large class. One does not have to be in accord with Dunn, but one has to be exceptionally efficient to equal his self-direction and application!

NOTED ARTIST AND ART INSTRUCTOR KARL MATTERN, his wife, Mary, tells me "worked from 14 years of age until the age of 72 earning his own living without help from anybody! No scholarships, no fellowships, no nothing!" She makes these statements with such pride in his success! One job consisted of unwinding spider cocoons—the threads from these were used as cross hairs for surveyors instruments! At one time he was a mule skinner—worked all over Denver as a laborer, or whatever he could pick up in odd jobs. During World War I he was treated as a German alien—which to many of us can best be described by pointing to our WWII treatment of Japanese Americans. Karl undertook all these tasks to finance his art education. At one point Mary developed tuberculosis and so they spent the years of her recovery in Denver, Colorado, Arizona and California. In Mary's words: "You name a job, and he has had it!" Her views of life, encourage one to pursue their life's interest, be prepared to work, and success is assured. Her philosophy gives one a great feeling!

Plan Daily Check of Oakridge Project

Plans for daily construction inspections of the Homes of Oakridge housing project was presented to the Des Moines City Council at its meeting Monday.

The councilmen, after trying unsuccessfully to prevent controversial Omaha builder Don Decker from serving as construction manager of the $4 million project, demanded on June 17 to know what inspections are planned to insure proper construction.

The Rev. James W. Lenhart, president of Homes of Oakridge, Inc., a group set up by the Des Moines Area Council of Churches to sponsor the project, described the planned inspections in a letter.

Dr. Lenhart said a representative of R. Bruce Widstrom Associates of Omaha, the project architect, will inspect the project each working day. The Widstrom firm is under contract to the church group.

The firm in the past has designed housing projects built by Decker, who was hired as construction manager by Lloyd Clarke of Des Moines, the church group's builder.

The architectural firm said its inspection will be made to see that all contract agreements are carried out and to guard against possible defects in materials or workmanship.

The report to the City Council also mentions other inspections to be made periodically by city inspectors and by the Federal Housing Administration.

No Hunger Worth Going to Jail for

Washington, D. C. — Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, National Director of SCLC's Operation Breadbasket, issued the following statement from the office of National Mobilization of the Poor People's Campaign on the task of mobilizing for the next phase of the Poor People's Campaign:

"No more hunger in America is worth going to jail for in Washington. Dr. Ralph Abernathy went to jail on Monday, June 24th, to dramatize America's unwillingness to close the gap between surplus food and starving stomachs.

"We have found that the Department of Agriculture pays farmers over $2.5 Billion not to grow food or fiber while 40 million poor people feel the pangs of hunger daily in this rich land.

"The Poor People's Campaign will focus upon the economic structures of America with simultaneous and collective boycotts in 40 cities as the means of redistributing the hurt from hunger. While children's brains are destroyed by malnutrition, we shall stop buying goods and services in those major cities. We are focusing a laser beam on the dark recesses of oppression that are now excluding the poor from America's benefits."

ROY WILKINS STAYS
ON SOUND GROUND

Speaking at the convention of the Congress of Racial Equality last week, Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP said it would cooperate with the CORE as long as they refrained from violence as a means of carrying out the civil rights program.

Whitney Young, Jr., secretary of the Urban League, has announced that he was supporting the black power movement. Heretofore, the NAACP and the Urban League have moved ahead on the same front. However, the untimely remarks of Young signal a parting of the ways of these two great organizations and bowing to the expediency of supporting what people of sound judgment know is not for the best interest of Negroes.

If the objectives of black power meant cooperating with each other for economic, political and civil rights of Negroes backed by integrity, responsibility and observance of law and order, no right thinking person could object to it. But those things they don't do.

The best proof is that everywhere there is a gathering it winds up in lawlessness. And this is true even as peaceful operations are commenced or organizations have tried to conduct meetings or as hoodlums are arrested for violating the law.

Unfortunately, too many people spend their time excusing this misconduct or justifying it on the ground that times are different. Sure they are, but there are some principles that never change and without them no people, race or nation can survive.

Roy Wilkins stays on sound ground.

ABILITY IN ATHLETICS COUNTS MOST

The Thirty-ninth all star baseball game Tuesday was an exhibition of science among athletes that was hard to watch. Watched by millions over the world, it brought to the television audience players who had reached the pinnacle of perfection.

Athletics have lead the way in affording Negroes an opportunity to make big money. And with the thinking of coaches and managers today that they play the best man regardless of his color, the example they set is good for the rest of the people.

And that desire to present the best is further displayed in the selection of players for all star games. The players themselves select all but the pitchers. The managers select them. And as one athlete after another was presented, it is easy to see that race had no place in the selections, or naming the most valuable player, Willie Mays.

As we view instances like this, there is hope, hope that others will eventually see how shortsighted they have been all along.

SUPREME COURT APPOINTEES SHOULD BE CONFIRMED

President Johnson has nominated Justice Abe Fortes to be Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court and Judge Thornberry of the Fifth Circuit Federal Court of Appeals as a justice of the Supreme Court.

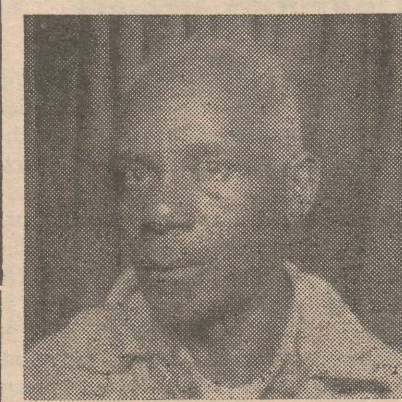

Both men have been confirmed by the senate before for high federal judicial posts and there is no reason why their confirmation should fail this time.

There are those who object to these appointments on the ground that since President Johnson is not a candidate to succeed himself, these are lame duck appointments; that they should be delayed until after the election to see how the trend of the electorate will be reflected.

The objectors have no substance to stand on. President Johnson will be President until his term expires and thus has the right and responsibility to exercise his duties until then. And to wait for the election is equally foolish for to do this places too much politics on the court.

Both are able men and should be confirmed.

With Allen Ashby

There was a lot of action on all fronts over the weekend. We had just handed all the praise we could to Charlie Sifford, the pro golfer. By the way the guy won nearly two thousand bucks Sunday. But there was another young fellow, Lee Elder who grabbed off twenty-five hundred dollars. What we don't know about golf would fill a fairly good sized book but this Elder fellow seemed to know what he was doing. Keep that name in mind. Lee Elder. You will surely be hearing from him and about him.

Then at Wimbledon the first real big open tennis meet went off and Arthur Ashe looked real good even if he was beaten in the semi-finals by the number one pro. We think this could be the year for the Americans to bring back the Davis Cup. Ashe should play a big role in that one. Then will he turn pro? Ashe the fellow.

Harold Morrow tells us there were a couple of kids at Ames last week who were really good. There was a little kid named Foxworth who might have won his division but for an injury. Morrow says his day was a former boxer who coaches his children in tennis. There were a few boxers around St. Louis who were good enough to fight for championships but who used their skill to make money to go into something else. We recall a Bob Fox, a middleweight that all the guys were dodging. He could be the fellow. Would sure like to meet him. Then Morrow mentioned a girl Pamela Steward, we think who was one of the better small fry. Wish we could get them up here for our Hilltop Open.

And Harold's own hopes are learning about tournament tennis in a way they can only learn experience. He was shocked at the unsportsmanlike behavior of some of the kids. Well that comes as no surprise to us. One must be tough spiritually, mentally and physically to play tournament tennis all summer. No wonder a lot of kids get tired of it and quit when they could be really good. We can think of a couple of girls who just couldn't take the constant pressure and retired at an early age when they were about to get on the big time.

So much for that. With the sports pages full of talk about our Olympic boycotts by Negro athletes why doesn't someone come up with a boycott of the all-star football game by Negroes. That would really shake things up.

The new N.B.A. champions will be the Los Angeles Lakers if Wilt Chamberlain plays.

We got our Kinbys mixed up. The one playing little league baseball is John Kinby. He and young Robinson are on their league all star team.

College Campus A Well of Loneliness for Black Athlete Find Deep Prejudices Even on Playing Field

New York — "Stay away from with a white girl. University of Washington Basketball Star Bob Flowers says he was reprimanded for chatting with a white girl while waiting for the team bus to depart. Percy Harris enrolled in a physical education course (at Southwestern Teachers College) which included social dancing. At the first class he was told not to come back—that he would get a passing grade.

Student Relations

Student-to-student relations are usually somewhat easier on the campus Negro, says Olsen, but the small incidents which occur continually, "amount to shocking brutality when viewed in terms of the human spirit." And even good team relationships often fade away from the field. University of Kansas Flanker Don Shanklin told Olsen "... if you run into one of the white players downtown with his date, he doesn't know you."

Much More

And, Olsen reports, the truth is that there is nearly as much racial prejudice after the opening whistle blows as before. Not only does the Negro athlete have to be much better than his white counterpart to get the post, he has to be almost impervious to injury (the black athlete frequently is sent out to play with serious injuries), to insult and to injustice. He must accept his role as a "hired performer" being permitted to help out in a white man's pursuit, and to know and to keep his place.

Every Situation

The cruel expressions of this racial prejudice, Olsen reports, reach into every social situation—and onto the playing fields as well—regardless of geography and, with rare exceptions, regardless of person, making of the Negro's college experience a drowning well of loneliness, a "time of social isolation from all but a handful of other black athletes." The article cites examples from the University of Texas at El Paso, Seattle University, U.C.L.A., the University of Oregon, University of Washington, Kan., and Southwestern Teachers College in Oklahoma, and of such athletes as Elgin Baylor, Walt Hazzard, Harold Busby, Junior Coffey, Maurice Stokes, Percy Harris, Lew Alcindor, Lucius Allen, and Mike Warren.

Pressures

The pressures are put on in many different ways, some direct and some indirect, according to Olsen. Seattle Husky sophomore Fullback Claude Roberts says he was fired from the squad for being seen out

King Scholarship Fund at $38,000

Iowa City, Ia. — Contributions to the University of Iowa's Martin Luther King scholarship fund have reached $38,000, it was announced Saturday.

A drive among Iowa City townspeople and university faculty and staff members starting Tuesday is expected to add several thousand dollars more.

University President Howard Bowen said annual contributions of $50,000 to the fund, plus modest grants and part time work opportunities, could bring about 50 disadvantaged students to the university.

The fund was established shortly after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., to help provide educational opportunities for students from minority groups. Dr. Bowen is the fund's executive secretary, and it is managed by the University of Iowa Foundation.

SELF-CONTROL

It may be hard to keep your head amid confusion, And when men doubt you, pay no heed at all; To wait, if wait you must, without impatience.

To trust yourself—to come at others' call. It may be hard, when lied about, to hold your silence, When hated, not to hate but send good will;

To hear your words of truth reduced to fiction, And not grow angry when you should be still. But if you learn to place yourself above contention, And do not try to be too good or too wise,

There is no one in all the world can hurt you; You need not fear—your star will surely rise.—Carl De Voe

REQUIEM

By Ruth McKee

Mourn for him that had no day To grow white and hoary like the rest.

See his life come short— Then gone.

Mourn for him that came back home Hurt and silent deep within. For his days are endless— Cries unheard.

Mourn for me, my time is near— Not ready for such a final move. Feel life in gulping breaths,

Take care . . .

Atlantic City — By a unanimous voice vote, delegates at the concluding session of the 59th annual convention of the NAACP here, June 24-29, selected Minneapolis, Minn., as the site of the 1971 annual meet. The Association met in its sister city, St. Paul, in 1960.

Next year, the nation's oldest civil rights organization will meet in Jackson, Miss., for the first time in its history. This city was chosen unanimously when delegates met in Los Angeles two years ago.

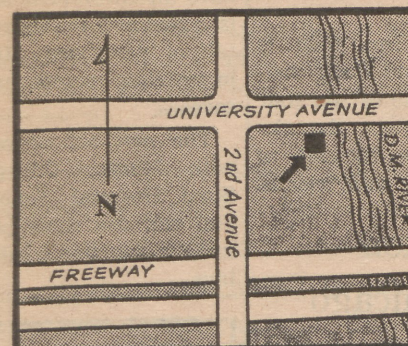

In 1970, the NAACP will return to Cincinnati, Ohio, where it last convened in 1946.

A final total of 2,381 persons was announced as the official registration tally from 45 states and the District of Columbia. This total included approximately 600 youth delegates.
