Clamp Down on Ga. Janitorial Service

Washington—City Wide Janitorial Service, Inc., of Atlanta, Ga., has been prohibited from receiving Government contracts for the next three years by Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz.

The action resulted from a recent decision of Hearing Examiner John B. Mealy which found City Wide in violation of the McNamara-O'Hara Service Contract Act after an investigation conducted by the Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions.

The Service Contract Act requires that workers under public service contracts be paid prevailing wages. This Act applies to contracts awarded by the Federal Government in excess of $2,500 providing principally for the furnishing of services in the United States through the use of service employees.

In the same decision, City Wide was ordered to pay $45,000 in back wages to some 600 employees for work which they performed at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Grounds.

The Act additionally forbids any firm, corporation, partnership or association in which City Wide has a substantial interest from further contracts with the United States for three years.

The principal office of City Wide is in Atlanta, Ga.

FIFTH DIMENSION HERE: TOURS SOUL VILLAGE, INC. FRIDAY MORN

FIFTH DIMENSION

Eleanora E. Tate
While many persons were worrying this year about Des Moines being a "long, hot summer", the youths were enjoying a cool summer, by way of the Fifth Dimension who appeared at this year's Iowa State Fair.

The Fifth Dimension, shown here, have appeared all over the country, and are scheduled for a European tour later. They also sang at the Minnesota State AFir.

Members are Florence LaRue, Ronald Townson, Marilyn McCoo, LaMonte McLemore and Billy Davis, Jr. Although they do not classify themselves as strictly rock or soul or folk singers, their latest hit, "Stoned Soul Picnic" is termed by some as being definitely soul. To this Miss LaRue says, "We have geared our act so we will stay together. We have a regular night club act and concert act (without limiting our range of songs), because we know the teenagers will grow up, and we want them to listen to us five years from now".

Miss LaRue, who eventually wishes to teach elementary education, was, as of last Thursday, a flute player of two days. Her musical instrumental interest, however, lies in her nine-year background of violin.

In a special appearance Friday, the Fifth Dimension graciously accepted an invitation to visit Soul Village. During the visit sponsored by the Iowa Bystander and Soul Village, Inc., the group toured the center which officially opened Sunday, Aug. 18 and signed countless autographs for the estimated 200-300 fans.

Another record will be in the making for the Fifth Dimension, which will probably be released in September or October, Miss LaRue said, one from their current hit album "Stoned Soul Picnic".

First Afro Fashions For Black Tuesday

She was attired in a floor length, satin waist gown, long-sleeved, with velvet knotty green skirt, and matching turban.

This was one of several fashions shown at the Black Panther's second Black Tuesday Aug. 27 at the Coronet Blue Lounge. Along with the fashion show were plays, African music and poetry readings. This week the program was dedicated to "Huey Newton and all other political prisoners." Approximately 200 persons attended.

Another lovely outfit was a multi-color blue, pink satin culotte dress with satin sash, and cutout back, and matching earrings; a black, above the knee Nehru-African fashion dress, with standup collar complemented by two buttons on each side of the neck, sleeves slit with matching buttons; a two piece crepe floor length gown of yellow, purple, green, pink and orange with an orange satin turban. This was originally designed and modeled by its owner; a long sheath robe of brown and lime green, the neckline held a deep clutch and it had a front slit opening for easy walking, and was also worn and designed originally.

Male models wore muted multi-color hip length shirts with matching turbans.

Orders for any of the outfits modeled may be made by contacting the Black Panther workshop Mondays through Thursday at the Center, 1207 11th Street.

Complain That Trailways Driver Discriminatory

Three Des Moines ladies reported to the Bystander Monday an incident which they feel is discriminatory involving Continental Trailways.

Mrs. Hurley Wyatt, of 808 25th Street said she, Mrs. Ruby Cooper, Mrs. Lora Worden and Mrs. Reba Higgins were returning to Des Moines Aug. 16 from Quincy, Ill., after attending the Iowa Missionary and Educational Baptist State Convention. When the bus reached Ottumwa, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Worden and Mrs. Wyatt wished to enter the depot. Mrs. Worden, Mrs. Wyatt said, asked the driver if they would have time to get off, and the driver said, "ten or fifteen minutes." Mrs. Worden asked him again, and he replied ten or fifteen minutes.

While Mrs. Higgins remained on the bus, the three ladies went into the depot. Mrs. Wyatt said they had only been off the bus about "six minutes" and when they came out the bus was gone.

Mrs. Wyatt told the Bystander that they could not figure out what had happened and discussed the matter among themselves, and then asked the depot attendant, who said, according to Mrs. Wyatt, "Looka here, I don't want to hear another word, I'm sick and tired of hearing worded concerning the incident from Trailways."

Walt

Meanwhile, Mrs. Higgins had asked the driver to wait when he began to drive off, but said the driver told her that he hadn't told them to get off. When Mrs. Higgins wanted to know what he would do with the missing ladies' luggage, the driver dumped them in a seat.

The Des Moines women were stranded in Ottumwa from 11 a.m. until about 3 p.m., and in that time Mrs. Wyatt tried to contact Lee Crayton, president of the Ottumwa NAACP. Unable to contact him, she contacted Rev. Marshall Smith, pastor of Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church.

At the Des Moines Continental Trailways terminal the manager told Mrs. Wyatt that the company had had a lot of trouble with that particular driver and with the attendant in Ottumwa.

Rev. Smith later wrote to Mrs. Wyatt, and his letter said in part that they had looked into the matter. "It was deplorable," the letter stated, but that this person had done this same thing from time to time to blacks as well as to whites.

To date, Mrs. Wyatt has not received word concerning the incident from Trailways.

"The Desegregated Heart," a program of dramatized excerpts from the book by Sarah Patton Boyle, will be presented on "Look Up and Live" Sunday, Sept. 1 on the CBS Television Network.

Mrs. Boyle, who appears on the broadcast, was born and raised on land which was a Crown grant to her father's family. Her book tells of her aristocratic Southern thinking and of the gradual change in that thinking beginning in 1950, when the University of Virginia refused to admit a Negro as a student.

Actors performing in the dramatizations are Tom Scott, Eugenia Rawls, Elizabeth Thurman, John Marriott and Hilda Haynes.

Ghetto Youngsters Get Their Newspapers

New York, — Ghetto youngsters in a 50-city photographic poverty program can now communicate with each other and show results of the program to the white community through their own national newspaper. Called LIKE IT IS, the first issue was published recently through the National Photography Task Force of the President's Council on Youth Opportunity.

Call on Demo to Commit Selves for End to Poverty

Chicago — The Democratic National Convention has been called upon to commit itself to a coordinated program "to end the outrage of poverty in America within a decade."

This challenge was made here, August 22, by NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins on behalf of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights before the convention's resolutions committee.

Wilkins indicated that the "Freedom Budget for All Americans," issued by the A. Philip Randolph Institute of New York, provides the basis for attacking all the major causes of poverty — unemployment and underemployment; substandard pay; bad housing; inadequate social insurance and welfare payments for the unemployable; deficiencies in health services, education and training, and regressive income distribution.

The "Freedom Budget," Wilkins said, considers resources, needs and priorities and combines them into "a unified program of implementation on which public attention can be focused and around which the necessary public support can be mobilized."

Wilkins said that the budget can be translated into legislative terms by enacting a bill supplementing the Full Employment Act of 1946. "We urge this convention," he added, "to make enactment of such a bill its first domestic legislative priority."

King, Sr. Speaker At St. Paul Church

St. Paul, Minn. — Approximately 1,000 persons overflowed the auditorium at Shiloh Baptist Church last Sunday night to hear Dr. Martin Luther King, Sr., of Atlanta, Ga.

The Atlanta minister told the audience he had been preaching fifty years, and offered an apology to the press for his point-blank refusal to discuss the April assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., saying that the shock was still with him, and he just felt unable to cope with queries which brought back to him and his family the tragedy of their loss.

MAPLE STREET AND UNION BAPTIST CHURCHES HOLDING JOINT COMMUNION

Two Baptist churches are currently holding joint communion services.

Maple Street Baptist Church and Union Baptist Church began holding joint evening communion services on Aug. 4, Rev. Henry Thomas, Union pastor said Monday. He stated to the Bystander that it gave members a chance to communicate and meet members of each church. At the first meeting there were 150-160 members present.

Reasons for the joint services, Thomas said, was to bring back the idea of evening worship and to also give members, not only for these two churches but for anyone wishing to attend, who had to work

Sunday morning, a chance to participate in communion, which in many churches is held Sunday morning.

While these Baptist churches are the only two holding joint communion services at the present time that he knew of on the Eastside, he suggested that churches on the westside do the same and give congregations a chance to attend evening service.

Rev. George Parrish, pastor of Maple Street, will address the Sept. 1 communion service at Union, starting at 7:30 p.m. at Union Baptist Church. The combined choirs will sing.

HAVE YOU VIEWED Representative June Franklin (Mrs. Frank), Delegate Ellaree Clinton (Mrs. Wm.), Alternate Delegate Helen Wimberly (Mrs. Joseph) on the televised Democratic National Convention Scene? They're there!

DEPUTY SHERIFF G. B. TUCKER enjoyed a whirlwind motor trip to Little Rock, Gould, Crossett and Arkadelphia, Ark. where he visited with his sisters and their families. Whirlwind? Yes, so he could settle himself before the TV August 26 through August 29. Tucker isn't planning on missing out on the political scenes. (We are living in some exciting times irrespective of one's party?)

REV. BERNARD LAFAYETTE, JIM DUNN TELLS ME, was lecturer at the GROW Workshop held at the Episcopal Retreat, Boone, Friday, Aug. 2 through Sunday, Aug. 25. GROW, meaning Grass Roots Organization Workshop, was attended by approximately 25 persons. Jim, South East Side Bottoms Project Director described Rev. Lafayette as very dynamic and his experiences with the Civil Rights Movement reflective of a genuine commitment. Lafayette is truly admirable! This minister served under Dr. Martin Luther King, you will recall, and has been involved with the movement since 1960. He helped organize the historic march from Selma, Alabama to Montgomery! He is still coordinator of the Poor Peoples' Campaign. Two years ago Rev. Lafayette visited Des Moines and helped Mr. Dunn hold a workshop which involved Southeast Bottoms residents. After a visit to the City Dump where he observed people scavenging for food and other necessities, and after scanning the outside toilets and neighborhood water trough, stated he had been in every major Southern city and had never seen anything like this. In his public address at First Methodist Church he blamed those present and other Des Moines residents as having failed to respond to their con-

SEPARATE GROUP
FOSTERS SELFISHNESS

Watching the Democratic convention in Chicago, a great turn about of events presents itself with Negroes. Here, they are fighting to be seated; years ago they fought those who claimed to be Democrats.

There appears a movement among some to form a separate group of "all Negro Democrat delegates" feeling that some states are dragging their feet in support of programs in which they are interested.

Generally speaking, those who advocate such a movement are in it to place them at the head of something in order to gain more power.

Conventions are made up of delegates from each state, most of whom know each other, have a common interest and have experience working together. On the other hand, a convention within a convention means nothing.

Sure, it is desirable that Negro delegates get together and discuss their common problems. But this would be only as the farming, labor or any other interest would do.

In this as in all other movements today, Negroes must work together with the established group, otherwise they flitter away their influence and strength to build on as others have used to succeed.

BOLD LEADERSHIP
HELPS DES MOINES

In spite of the anxiety over race conditions throughout the country, Des Moines breathes a little easier because its leadership constantly takes a strong stand and proceeds forward on it.

Two striking instances of this have occurred recently. The board of education appointed a committee several months ago to study the question of equal education opportunity for students in ghetto schools. This grows out of over crowding and defacto segregation both of which is undesirable and unwise.

The committee had as a guide the present bussing of students in the system to relieve congestion and providing desired courses not available in schools located near the home of some students.

The committee reported its findings last month and recommended that bussing of students be used in order to eliminate defacto segregation. The board has accepted the recommendation and proceeded resolutely to carry it out—and without fanfare.

For some time, the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination, recognizing that the present ordinance was ineffectual, asked the city council to pass a new ordinance providing injunctive power and otherwise strengthening the measure.

The ordinance was before the council Monday night on the third reading. Amendments deleting the injunctive provision, requiring the filing of a $500 bond with a complaint, and a few other crippling provisions were offered.

A majority of the council stood solidly behind the commission beating down one effort after another designed to cripple the work.

The amended ordinance had its first reading Monday night and will undoubtedly pass in its present form.

There are those who think a simple statement of principles on the law books is all that is needed to deal with the problem of human rights. It is not so enough. If the proponents mean business, they must provide the means of making the law work and this is just what the board of education and city council have done providing effectual leadership and doing a bold constructive job. They are to be commended for it is this type of action that gets things done.

With Ahen Ashby

If the late Bill Ashby could have been at Good Park last Sunday, he would have been a happy man. For years the guy worked to make the Park what he called the tennis center of the city. You see, the folks who planned the setup of tennis courts and swimming pool at the park didn't really know what they were doing. They unwittingly made that place the best place in town to hold special matches. From what we have seen, it may be the best in Iowa. The Cedar Rapids setup is bigger, but not as close to the courts as are the spectators at Good.

For around twenty-five years we held special matches, the finals of our Hilltop open and our own closed meet at the park. Just about everyone who played there was impressed by our spectator setup. But Ashby worked hard to develop it and introduced the use of microphones in the officials' stand. After Bill passed on, Cecil Brewton stepped into the place. He hung around the office of the park board so much they thought he was an office employee. His efforts paid off in four of the best maintained tennis courts on town, lights for night play and his own innovations of a trophy tent and umbrellas for the line men.

The promoter and manager of just about every tennis meet around here except the Hilltop was so impressed that he decided to try it for the finals of the Hawkeye open, probably the biggest major meet in Iowa. Our club was asked to host the day, and we did. Cecil made everything he had available to the meet and the thing was a sight to behold.

There were perhaps two hundred spectators with not over a dozen Negroes among them. They saw some real tennis in all the matches. They also came away with a new image of Good Park instead of a place where bricks and rocks are always thrown.

We won't bother now with the results of the matches because by now everyone who is interested in tennis knows them.

But this happening had no racial implications and occurred only for one reason.

We had the best tennis setup around. The Des Moines Tennis Association members and the Hilltop Club members have a mutual respect for each other that is based on our respective abilities to get things done in tennis matches. And this is as it should be in everything. Maybe someday.

Ashby

And meanwhile on the U. S. National amateur meet, Arthur Ashe won, becoming the first Negro to win a national tennis title. The guy finally made it and maybe the Davis Cup will come back here. Now, our American Tennis Association meet will have to be called

Negroes Continue Attack
On Rep. VP Spiro Agnew

Annapolis, Md. — The Board of Directors of the Maryland State Conference of NAACP Branches, in an Aug. 17 meeting wired John Bailey, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, that the action of the Republicans in selecting Governor Spiro Agnew to be the vice-presidential candidate was an effort to appease the forces of bigotry in America.

In another telegram to Congressman Gerald Ford, chairman of the Republican National Convention, the Maryland State NAACP deplored the selection of Governor Agnew and declared that their Governor's current policies and practices are totally unacceptable to the thinking citizens of the state who are concerned with the constitutional goal of equal treatment under the law.

just that. There can't be a Negro National Champion out of that meet unless Ashe gets in and wins the thing or gets beaten.

Intolerable

Signed by Johnnie L. Stubbs, state president, the NAACP commended Dr. Gilbert Ware, recently resigned Negro administrative aide to the Governor, for his courage in giving up a $19,000 a year job and his forthright disclosure of the working conditions under Governor Agnew which made his continuance in office intolerable.

Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, Maryland NAACP legal chairman, commented that the NAACP felt that Governor Agnew had retreated from a forward-looking position on civil rights which he assumed when he first took office in 1966, largely with the help of the Negro vote. She said that NAACP leaders across the state feel that he has become a political opportunist catering to the backlash vote.
