3 Youth Held in Murder at Football Game

Coroner Slow With Autopsy Report

Three youths have been charged with murder following the death of 50-year-old Marion Milligan growing out of an altercation at the football game Friday night between East High School and D.M. Tech. They are held without bond. (Under Iowa law persons charged with murder are generally held without bond.)

They are Thomas Sylvester Wright, 18, of 1111 Tenth St., and Freeland Walker, 16 and his brother, Richard Lavern Walker, 15, who live at 1341 Fourteenth St.

The altercation grew out of the request by one of the boys for a dime.

Heart Victim

Police said Milligan, a press foreman at Meredith Publishing Co., underwent heart surgery about two months ago and was heard to complain of chest pains as he arrived at the stadium before the start of the game.

Conflicting accounts of how the fight began were later given by Freeland Walker and Mike Milligan.

Conflicting Stories

Walker told detectives he was walking with his brother and Wright when Wright asked Mike Milligan for a dime. He said young Milligan answered by saying "something derogatory" and the two began to fight.

Marion Milligan then jumped over a railing and kicked Freeland Walker in the chest, according to Walker's account. Walker said he struck Milligan, who grabbed him by the knees, causing both to fall.

Mike Milligan, an East graduate, and a Drake University junior, said he attempted to ignore the three after Wright asked him for a dime and he told Wright to "beat it".

Await Autopsy

A report on an autopsy on the body of a 50 year old man, Marion Milligan, has not yet been completed, according to the Polk County medical examiner's office.

Police said they filed murder charges in the assumption that the youths had caused the heart attack by attacking Milligan.

Information for prosecution of the boys has been turned over to the Juvenile Court.

Both the Des Moines Education Association and the Des Moines Federation of Teachers have pledged their support of the $10.5 million building program.

Petitions supporting the program are presently being circulated by school personnel and PTA representatives.

NCCJ Donates $3,000 to Soul Village

The members of the Local Board of the National Conference of Christians and Jews presented Soul Village a check for $3,000.00 on Tuesday. Judge Luther T. Glanton when commenting about this award stated that "the Conference's concern with Soul Village shows a deep interest on the part of white citizenry in the progress of the black community, in particular Soul Village. It likewise indicates that the youthful administrators have merited this consideration. In addition, the black adult community members should show more interest and give personal attention to the efforts of these young people."

Ia. Rights Unit to Probe Reluctant Companies

It was announced at the October 3rd meeting of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission that forty-eight (48) establishments located throughout the state have been selected for investigation whose patterns of utilization of minority people in their workforces indicate that they may be using unfair employment practices. The establishments were chosen in connection with an employment project being conducted by the Iowa Commission in cooperation with the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. The employment project represents a concentrated effort to examine the practices of companies throughout the state who employ few or no minority people. Stress is being placed upon using legal means to effect significant changes in employment practices.

48 Establishments

Chattanooga, Tenn. — Chattanooga attorney, William T. Underwood, Jr., has announced his resignation from the state Democratic circles. On the Campaign Trail

Des Moines, Iowa—F. Stuart Templeton, president of Plumb Supply Co., Des Moines, has been named Polk County coordinator of Citizens for Nixon-Agnew, it was announced today by Robert R. Rigler, New Hampton, state Nixon Chairman, and Polk County Republican chairman Allen Donielson.

Senator Stanley, speaking to the Breakfast Club of Des Moines, noted, "Serious crimes increased 16 per cent last year, while police solutions of serious crimes declined 8 per cent. The criminal forces are overwhelming the peace forces. I do not agree with those who ignore or explain away this dangerous trend. I am frightened, as you are."

Des Moines, Iowa—Ben J. Gibson called today for a "substantial increase" in the amount of state tax money returned to the cities as the "only practical way" to ease the revenue crisis of Iowa cities and towns. Gibson is the Republican candidate for the state House of Representatives in Polk County's 11th District.

Gibson said the idea of permitting cities to pass local taxes in order to increase revenue is "naive."

Civil Rights Record Of Governor Agnew

In order for Iowa voters to have accurate information as to the Civil Rights record for Gov. Spiro Agnew, The Bystander prints it here that there may be a full valuation of the Republican candidate for Vice President.

1967 AFRO-AMERICAN NEWS-PAPER SAID:

"Maryland's Governor Spiro T. Agnew has amassed an impressive civil rights accomplishment record since taking office eight months ago on January 14.

"His record in this area at this early stage of his four-year term outshines such accomplishments of any other of the State's governors."

1964 Banning Discrimination in Public Accommodations

As Baltimore County's chief executive officer, Agnew is remembered for backing and signing into law an ordinance barring discrimination in some public accommodations, one of the first such ordinances in the nation.

1968 Limited Open-Housing Bill

In 1966 Agnew waged an aggressive primary campaign for Governor; he supported a limited open-housing bill, one which would cover "only new housing developments or new apartment-ventures."

1966 Won Election

In what was regarded as a victory over the "white backlash," Agnew lost. Follow up meeting will be held in other communities throughout the state late this fall.

Mrs. Anderson is an Iowa State Employment Service employee and in the wife of Dr. Paul Anderson who is employed by the Department of Agriculture.

won the election over George P. Mahoney.

1966 Human Rights Committee Named

As governor-elect, Agnew appointed an Advisory Committee of Human Rights "to analyze pending legislation as well as to develop and recommend new legislation in the field of civil rights."

Jan. 1967 Named First Negro to Governor's Staff

Agnew appointed the first Negro to a Maryland governor's personal staff.

Feb. 1967 Endorsed Fair Housing Bill

The Human Rights committee endorsed a fair housing bill stronger than the one which had been rejected by the Maryland House of Delegates Judiciary Committee in 1966.

April, 1967 Ban Bias in Sale, Rental of Housing

Agnew signed the bill which prohibited racial discrimination in the sale or rental of housing having more than 5 units. It was passed by the Maryland General Assembly. It was the first state open housing law south of the Mason-Dixon line.

1967 Calls for Law Expansion

In a television interview Agnew called for the expansion of the law to cover all apartment houses and added that he might eventually advocate "total open housing."

Dec., 1967 Code of Fair Practice

Agnew issued a comprehensive "code of fair practice" banning racial discrimination in state employment practices, employment practices of private contractors doing work for the state, and services provided by state agencies.

1968 Session State Program

At the opening session of the 1968 session of the Maryland General Assembly, Agnew called for a broad-based attack on sub-standard housing conditions and expansion of public accommodation statutes.

Jan., 1968 Named First Negro to Supreme Bench

Within months of his election, Agnew appointed Judge Harry Cole to the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City.

May, 1968 "The Ghetto"

Agnew said, "The Republican Party offers an answer to the despair of the ghetto. We propose to build initiative, not to perpetuate despair and dependence. Our solution is not black power but green power, the power of the purse—Negro enterprise and industry."

June, 1968 Help the Poor

Agnew proposed that the Federal Government take over the administration of all state and local welfare programs. He supported such a standardization of welfare programs because "all too often the well-intentioned but frantic giveaway schemes never help the poor because the money is intercepted and perverted to build militant political organizations."

July, 1968 Black Capitalism

Agnew said, "Individual initiative and private enterprise, in most cases can be more effective than government. In resolving the problems of the ghetto this means black capitalism, Negro ownership and management of commercial enterprises."

Aug., 1968 Private Enterprise

In Agnew's Acceptance Speech he said, "I believe there is a greater place for private enterprise in meeting the problems of prejudice and poverty in our cities."

Aug., 1968 Pro Civil Rights Statement

Agnew said, "I am pro civil rights. I am for the implementation of civil rights not just the elaborate programming and distribution of money which is intended to bring about the equal opportunity and the justice that everyone talks about."

"On the other hand, I expect fully that no civil rights can be realistically achieved without the restoration of order without the abandonment or the condoning of civil disobedience."

Harvey P. Watermelon, presidential candidate, completed a swing through the South last week where he received a rousing reception among the poor and the rich alike.

Harve comes from a long line of politicians, and he knows the problems of the American people. One of the ways he will eliminate "poverty", he says, will be to round up all of today's literature and scratch out the word. Therefore, the children of the next generation will never know the word "poverty" and therefore it will not exist.

As for the rocketing population, he plans to make two gigantic reservations, one on each Coast of the States, the women on one coast, the men on the West. At a simultaneous starting shot, each side will run barefoot across the country, and the few fatigued ones who do meet will only be able to fall down in exhaustion for the next twenty years after which they will be placed on

Patriotism

As for patriotism, he will design a new American flag, replacing the stars and stripes with his wife's picture. The flag will be so ugly that no one will bother to look at it, let alone try to burn or tear it down.

The national song, he says will be Tighten Up, possibly in reference to the cutdown in wage benefits to labor unions, and as for foreign policy, there will be none: he plans to hire a little fellow of low mental capacity Bojangles or possibly Sweetmeat to be the universal whipping boy, and in that way, disputing nations can stomp Sweetmeat to work out their frustrations.

Vote

A vote for Harve is a vote for Me, Harve stated, and on that, he returned to his home in West Over-shoe, Ia., to plan more campaign strategy.

Invalid Burned by Fire Set by Smoking in Bed

A multiple sclerosis handicapped, 36-year-old woman was burned over the upper half of her body Monday, according to police, when her nightgown caught fire as she was smoking.

Mrs. Kathrine Sommerville, of 1089 Twenty-eighth st., was listed in fair condition at Broadlawns Polk County Hospital but is improving.

Abraham D. Sommerville told police his wife was lying on a sofa about 12:15 p.m. when her nightgown caught fire as she lighted a cigarette. She put the fire out herself, police said, then telephoned her husband at work at Armstrong Rubber Co., who called an ambulance.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Lead poisoning continues to present some persistent and vexing problems to the medical profession. While it affects some industrial workers and other adults, its most spectacular and tragic effect is on children living in dilapidated dwellings who ingest lead by eating dried paint peeled from the walls and ceilings of rundown and neglected dwellings.

When detected early, lead poisoning yields readily to treatment. Because the effects are very gradual and cumulative, their presence in children often is not detected for years. Symptoms, which typically become manifest about the age of 12 or a little later, are very severe: they include repeated convulsions, coma, and extreme difficulty in breathing.

Disorders

Recently a professional society called Scientists' Institute for Public Information launched a campaign to enlighten the public on the subject of lead poisoning in children. According to the Institute, from five to ten percent of children between the ages of one and six who live in dilapidated homes in the United States have lead poisoning in some degree. Of those who develop severe symptoms, 25 percent die and 25 percent of the survivors develop mental disorders.

In large urban centers the great majority of child victims of lead poisoning are usually found among nonwhites. The late Dr. Harold Jacobziner, a noted pediatrician, pointed out in "Clinical Pediatrics" magazine that the ratio of nonwhite deaths to white from lead poisoning in a recent year was three and one-half to one. "The disease," he commented, "is inextricably linked with poor housing. It is a community problem . . . Lead poisoning will be entirely wiped out only when old housing is eliminated and lead-free paint is universally employed."

Governor Agnew's Civil Rights Record

to cover all apartment houses and added that he might eventually advocate "total open housing."

Dec., 1967 Code of Fair Practice

Agnew issued a comprehensive "code of fair practice" banning racial discrimination in state employment practices, employment practices of private contractors doing work for the state, and services provided by state agencies.

1968 Session State Program

At the opening session of the 1968 session of the Maryland General Assembly, Agnew called for a broad-based attack on sub-standard housing conditions and expansion of public accommodation statutes.

Jan., 1968 Named First Negro to Supreme Bench

Within months of his election, Agnew appointed Judge Harry Cole to the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City.

May, 1968 "The Ghetto"

Agnew said, "The Republican Party offers an answer to the despair of the ghetto. We propose to build initiative, not to perpetuate despair and dependence. Our solution is not black power but green power, the power of the purse—Negro enterprise and industry."

June, 1968 Help the Poor

Agnew proposed that the Federal Government take over the administration of all state and local welfare programs. He supported such a standardization of welfare programs because "all too often the well-intentioned but frantic giveaway schemes never help the poor because the money is intercepted and perverted to build militant political organizations."

July, 1968 Black Capitalism

Agnew said, "Individual initiative and private enterprise, in most cases can be more effective than government. In resolving the problems of the ghetto this means black capitalism, Negro ownership and management of commercial enterprises."

Aug., 1968 Private Enterprise

In Agnew's Acceptance Speech he said, "I believe there is a greater place for private enterprise in meeting the problems of prejudice and poverty in our cities."

Aug., 1968 Pro Civil Rights Statement

Agnew said, "I am pro civil rights. I am for the implementation of civil rights not just the elaborate programming and distribution of money which is intended to bring about the equal opportunity and the justice that everyone talks about."

"On the other hand, I expect fully that no civil rights can be realistically achieved without the restoration of order without the abandonment or the condoning of civil disobedience."

blue lemons

by eleanora e. tate

Harvey P. Watermelon, presidential candidate, completed a swing through the South last week where he received a rousing reception among the poor and the rich alike.

Harve comes from a long line of politicians, and he knows the problems of the American people. One of the ways he will eliminate "poverty", he says, will be to round up all of today's literature and scratch out the word. Therefore, the children of the next generation will never know the word "poverty" and therefore it will not exist.

As for the rocketing population, he plans to make two gigantic reservations, one on each Coast of the States, the women on one coast, the men on the West. At a simultaneous starting shot, each side will run barefoot across the country, and the few fatigued ones who do meet will only be able to fall down in exhaustion for the next twenty years after which they will be placed on old age benefits. That takes care of all that hanky panky, and, for the most part nursery schools, diaper problems, juvenile delinquency and crime in the streets, according to the distinguished candidate.

Patriotism

As for patriotism, he will design a new American flag, replacing the stars and stripes with his wife's picture. The flag will be so ugly that no one will bother to look at it, let alone try to burn or tear it down.

The national song, he says will be Tighten Up, possibly in reference to the cutdown in wage benefits to labor unions, and as for foreign policy, there will be none: he plans to hire a little fellow of low mental capacity Bojangles or possibly Sweetmeat to be the universal whipping boy, and in that way, disputing nations can stomp Sweetmeat to work out their frustrations.

Vote

A vote for Harve is a vote for Me, Harve stated, and on that, he returned to his home in West Over-shoe, Ia., to plan more campaign strategy.

Invalid Burned by Fire Set by Smoking in Bed

A multiple sclerosis handicapped 36-year-old woman was burned over the upper half of her body Monday, according to police, when her nightgown caught fire as she was smoking.

Mrs. Kathrine Sommerville, of 1089 Twenty-eighth st., was listed in fair condition at Broadlawns Polk County Hospital but is improving. Abraham D. Sommerville told police his wife was lying on a sofa about 12:15 p.m. when her nightgown caught fire as she lighted a cigarette. She put the fire out herself, police said, then telephoned her husband at work at Armstrong Rubber Co., who called an ambulance.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Lead poisoning continues to present some persistent and vexing problems to the medical profession. While it affects some industrial workers and other adults, its most spectacular and tragic effect is on children living in dilapidated dwellings who ingest lead by eating dried pant peeled from the walls and ceilings of rundown and neglected dwellings.

When detected early, lead poisoning yields readily to treatment. Because the effects are very gradual and cumulative, their presence in children often is not detected for years. Symptoms, which typically become manifest about the age of 12 or a little later, are very severe: they include repeated convulsions, coma, and extreme difficulty in breathing.

Disorders

Recently a professional society called Scientists' Institute for Public Information launched a campaign to enlighten the public on the subject of lead poisoning in children. According to the Institute, from five to ten percent of children between the ages of one and six who live in dilapidated homes in the United States have lead poisoning in some degree. Of those who develop severe symptoms, 25 percent die and 25 percent of the survivors develop mental disorders.

In large urban centers the great majority of child victims of lead poisoning are usually found among nonwhites. The late Dr. Harold Jacobziner, a noted pediatrician, pointed out in "Clinical Pediatrics" magazine that the ratio of nonwhite deaths to white from lead poisoning in a recent year was three and one-half to one. "The disease," he commented, "is inextricably linked with poor housing. It is a community problem . . . Lead poisoning will be entirely wiped out only when old housing is eliminated and lead-free paint is universally employed."

HARRY BELAFONTE: The public, described by writers as the most fickle of lovers, was all of this and more in its reaction to Harry's Thursday night, October 5, appearance at Veterans Auditorium. Without a single dissenting voice those interviewed expressed great admiration but disappointment for not having heard more of his calypso music. They enjoyed the excellent supporting artists—however, always adding the desire for more from Belafonte, meaning calypso and folk. Citing the singer's fantastic artistry, they likened his use of his voice to that of a painter and his brush. They were lavish in their praise. His superb showmanship was lauded. He demonstrated exceeding skill in the updating of his materials. What his audience lacked in numbers was more than excelled by its warmth and love of Harry. People came from great distances for this one night!

MET THREE MEMBERS OF THE DELORES HALL SINGERS—Glynna Session, Robbie Drye and "Cleon". The girls were marvelous singers but at a disadvantage in their large setting, it seemed to me. Their gowns were most attractive.

JACKIE DE SHANNON, Belafonte's featured vocalist, was as fine a performer as her recordings lead one to believe. She communicated such warmth! Her gown was precisely right!

SHARON P. ANDERSON (MRS. DALE), whose husband is an Iowa State University golf coach told of requesting Belafonte's "Concert at Carnegie Hall" as a birthday gift. Husband Dale obliged by presenting the album and a stereo to go with it!

MR. AND MRS. HARRY POMERANTZ entertained Harry Belafonte in their home following his performance. Among the guests mentioned were Mr. and Mrs. Nolden Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Toby) Robinson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Estes, Jr., and Judge and Mrs. Luther T. Glanton, Jr. Mr. Pomerantz added "not a great many people, but those people whom we thought he would enjoy visiting for even a short while."

HARRY POMERANTZ, RESPONDING TO MY EFFORTS to prepare a few lines regarding the star, gave a bit of background information as he knows Belafonte. For example, he and Mrs. Pomerantz met the performer through Ed Rissien, formerly of Des Moines and who managed the singer's career for a time. Their association developed into a fine friendship—"Eddie is now a Hollywood director." Pomerantz described Harry as a great person, somewhat shy really, and possessing exceedingly fine traits not usually displayed in entertainers. He doesn't exploit people, tending to avoid mixing business and social situations. He prefers being social in a purely social setting—one would say he is genuine in this regard. Belafonte spent more than half his time in the Pomerantz home visiting their children. He loves children, is definitely a family man. Once you meet him, you place the singer in a different category than that of most entertainers. Through Belafonte's graciousness 40 children and the 8 chaperones accompanying them were given seats to the show. (Without Mr. and Mrs. Pomerantz's "graciousness" the writer could not have presented the above very fine view of our star!)

BELAFONTE'S SHARING OF HIS SPOTLIGHT with new performers is not new. This is the way of life he lives and the way of life he loves. (Borrowed this approach from some of my very young friends!) Wish we knew some of those whom he has so beautifully assisted in this way!

THOUGH HARRY BELAFONTE enjoys tremendous admiration wherever he goes, the entertainer's greatest followings are on the country's college and university campuses. He is their favorite and he is extremely fond of them—existing between them is a very special rapport.

Former Des Moines Girl Makes Big

By WARREN GERDS
Press-Gazette Writer,
Green Bay, Wisconsin

A gal with a background similar to "Lady Soul" Aretha Franklin is singing with The Soul Intentions at the Tropics.

She goes by the stage name of Lita.

Like Aretha, Lita is a Negro from Des Moines.

Like Aretha, Lita began singing gospel music in Baptist churches when she was a child.

Like Aretha, Lita, is beginning her career in the pop field.

Of course, Aretha is one of Lita's idols. The 22 year old vocalist said she wants to style herself after Aretha and another top singer, Nancy Wilson.

Likes Wilson Style

Their influence on her sprouts up in some of the songs she offers—Nancy's "Face It Girl, It's Over" and Aretha's "Think." Lita's sprightly, clear voice is one of the best that's been heard in a city night spot.

At present, Lita said she is leaning toward the style of Nancy

"I like them because they're quiet and soft, and you don't have to do a lot of screaming," she said.

Since she prefers ballads, doesn't singing with a rhythm and blues and rock combo hamper her? "Singing with a rock and roll group will give me a chance to be exposed to the club route. Then I can do what I want."

The rest of The Soul Intentions consists of lead B. B. Brown, bass guitar; Don Marsh, lead guitar; Lou "Tiny" Edwards, organ, harmonica and vocals, and Red Williams drums.

The Group, which has been together for nine weeks, hopes its next appearance will be in the Bahamas. What it plays is greatly influenced by such Negro stars as James Brown, Sammy Davis, Jr., Ray Charles and Lita's heroes. Lita is Lolita Fonza.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Can your hair be damaged from brushing, alone?

All hair becomes damaged from exposure to sun and natural elements. Certain greasy compounds and many chemicals, improperly used, also take their toll... not to mention simple attempts at beautifying the hair with any brush not made of natural bristles. The results are brittleness, breakage, dry and dull looking hair.

Your professional beautician knows how artificial bristles actually brush away a great deal of the "lubricants" of the hair that give it body, lustre and protection. And trained beauticians claim that nothing beats Clairol® condition® Beauty Pack Treatment for overcoming brittleness, dryness and breakage... leaving hair lively and easy to manage. condition® is an easy-to-work-with creme which can even be applied during a chemical straightening retouch to prevent drying of hair that has been previously relaxed. condition® is the ultimate in repairing deep-down damage. And, when time is a factor for their customers, hairdressers turn to new Clairol® Hair Dew*—the lotion conditioner that penetrates so fast many think of it as an instant conditioner. When applied regularly by your beautician, Clairol Hair Dew adds body, softens and gives a glowing new look to your hair that many friends will notice and admire.

Damage can come from using brushes with artificial bristles. But damage to every woman's hair comes from so many other causes that all human hair (including wigs) needs to be revitalized periodically. Visit your professional beautician and ask this expert to check the condition of your hair.

Only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

RESTRICTING TRADING HAS PROBLEMS

A good bit is being said these days about Negro business; that it engenders pride, self sufficiency and respect. The late Booker T. Washington advocated this during his lifetime. And to a great extent, it succeeded where there was a large concentration of Negroes as was found in many southern areas but as they began to settle over the country and faced stiff competition, it pretty well died out.

The advent of integration had its telling affect on Negro business in that the Negro purchaser found class, beauty and comfort in areas where Negro business could not compete. As a result, there is not a first class Negro operated hotel in the country; few restaurants and few anything where the competition is stiff.

There is little reason why some Negro business, located in an almost exclusive neighborhood could not succeed. On the other hand, take the neighborhood grocery store. They are owned by Jews and a few whites. The chain store continues to drive them out of business because a fellow looking for low prices finds it difficult to spend more for what he eats to help a Negro or a neighborhood merchant.

On the other hand, there is no Negro business that can operate without some kind of dependency on white business because of banking, wholesale houses, insurance needs, etc.

For instance Des Moines has some Negro business or successful business men who don't draw their trade from Negroes alone. Some would go out of business otherwise. In the professions, and some other business ventures many white people no longer hesitate to use the services of Negroes having been convinced that they can get their job done.

Then too if young Negroes expect to secure better and bigger jobs in industry, in insurance, in finance they must go where the business is. They don't have time for such developments to absorb them later on.

We must not advocate trading with Negroes only, the shoe might get on the other foot.

So that instead of restriction to Negro business, we should teach Negroes to go into business. Jews have made a big success in business because they were not Jewish supported business. And those catering to Jews only are the little Kosher markets.

It is easy to talk about this separate Negro this and that particularly those who don't know how it works out. We are still sold on the solid ground that Negroes must participate in the whole program of making this country click rather than by a side line which can get them very little.

YOU CAN'T TELL WHO THEY ARE

Few people would have expected that a man of the stature of retired air force General LeMay would align himself with former Gov. Wallace and thus become a party to building up a hate government in this country the like of which he fought against in other countries.

His friends say that the air force where he served was the first unit of the armed service to desegregate and that the general does not harbor race prejudice.

But the fact that he has become a part of a machine which thrives on race prejudice makes him a believer in what they advocate.

During the hey day of the Ku Klux Klan, many people joined the movement just to be counted. They blasted the Negro to the Jew, the Catholic to foreign born to Americans. In other words each hated somebody and this made him eligible.

Unfortunately, with good intentions, the New Deal created a great deal of dissension between various segments in the country and yet its strength was built on the number of separate groups. Wallace is intentionally driving wedges between groups by creating hate one of the other and thus offers a desservice to his country.

We hope the masses of Wallace supporters will come to recognize that they are courting trouble for America and that they make a bad situation worse rather than helping it.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

Anyone who saw the Iowa-Notre Dame game last week would have to say the Hawks are on their way up. They were facing one of the nation's top teams, probably the best college offense in the country and they made an exciting game of it. The one thing they seemed to lack was a big bruising fullback. Halfback Green hits hard and is hard to bring down, but he isn't quite big enough to command respect up the middle. The Iowa team has poised and picked their plays with the confidence of a winner even though they were behind. We would guess that the fifty eight thousand four fifty got their money's worth.

Notre Dame doesn't have any great running backs but they have as smooth and as well coordinated offense as Iowa will face this year. Maybe better individual players, perhaps, but no better or as good an offense as Notre Dame has with the teams Iowa will meet. We think they will win one conference game and maybe more. They just might beat Indiana or Minnesota. Maybe you could include Wisconsin, Northwestern and Illinois. Yes, we would say things are looking better at Iowa.

Iowa State didn't do badly with their collection of sophomores. They really scared the pants off Colorado once they got going and we would wager a small stipend that Tindale will be the number one quarterback next year. Why should he tough in '69, and should waylay somebody this year.

Drake

And while Iowa and Iowa State were having their problems Drake was pulling out a game at Wichita. Whatever you say about Drake games you have to admit they are never dull—win, lose or draw. The Drake games are exciting.

High School

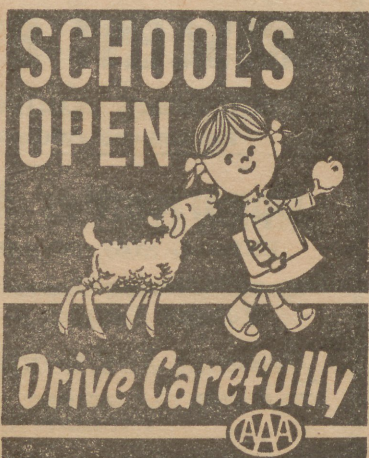

And here at home East High had its hands full with Tech and yet Dowling managed to stay unbeaten. Valley ran past its opponent, Lincoln and North plays Dowling which is still unbeaten. This city league thing seems to draw pretty well. Maybe it is a good thing although when it was first proposed we had our doubts.

East Waterloo

Oh yes, East Waterloo continues to show that they don't care where they play, there are still tough.

World Series

By the time you read this the world series will be over. Hope your team won. As we write this we would guess Lou Brock as the player who won the honor as the most valuable player. But this might have been times appeared by the time this gets out.
