Dr. William Bell: Busy Man at Ia. St. University

Ames, Ia. — The playing career of William M. Bell ended on the football field long ago, but he's the newest man-in-motion on the Iowa State University campus.

Dr. Bell arrived on campus in mid-September, preceded by a reputation as a successful football coach and athletic director at North Carolina A and T and Florida A and M. He immediately swung into his many-faceted job as associate dean of students and professor of physical education.

Education

First there were meetings with the staff of the Dean of Students Office and with the dean's steering committee on which he will serve. Then he had a get-acquainted meeting with the Athletic Council and began his duties on the council's facilities committee. He met with the chairman of the men's physical education department and with the staff of the Counseling Service, both being areas in which he will work.

Although early news stories about his appointment at Iowa State referred to him as a counselor for black athletes, the description is not at all accurate. His duties in the Dean of Students Office, the physical education department and the Counseling Service will bring him into contact with all types of students, white as well as black, non-athlete as well as athlete, coeds as well as male students.

In the time he could call his own, he took up residence at 2324 Knapp St. in Ames and prepared for the arrival of his wife, Harriett, Mrs. Bell, a ninth-grade teacher in Greensboro, N. C., arrived in Ames Oct. 14 and began at Roosevelt High School.

That the NAACP is fully in accord with peaceful, intelligent protests aimed to up grade Negroes, was expressed in the meetings.

A nominating committee for the election of officers in November was appointed consisting of Frank Robinson, Jr., Chairman, A. P. Trotter, Marsh Houston, A. L. Garrison and Arthur L. Prosser. This committee will give its report at the Nov. 26 meeting.

"Black men had armies that couldn't be beat, it is important that black men realize this. When the black man gets his identity he's not going to let me like the Klan and Governor Wallace scare him," he said, in reference to the teaching of Afro-American history in public schools.

Demands

The original list of demands presented to the School Board last Tuesday afternoon at a regular Board meeting which was attended by some 100 Negro students called for African and Afro-American history; control of the schools by community control board people; more Negro teachers; reference to students of African descent as Black or Afro-American; involve students in decision-making in matters affecting their education; provide adequate representation of minorities student councils; re-evaluate the Department of Pupil Personnel services; elimination of the track system; inform all high school students of scholarships available; remove teachers who are racists; overhaul in-service teacher training; provide more academic freedom in the schools; give the teacher a decision-making role in education; allow student representatives with voting power on the school board or abolish the board; information about students should not be released without consent of the student.

HEALTH FOR ALL

There are lots of jobs in the health field—interesting, productive, satisfying jobs—waiting for young people to fill them. Jobs such as medical technologist, physical therapists, X-ray technologist, laboratory assistant, and many, many, others.

There are lots of young people eminently fitted for such jobs. But somehow the jobs and the young people don't get together often enough. Result: health career positions unfilled, promising capabilities unfulfilled.

What's wrong? One of the basic troubles was pinpointed by three physicians, whose opinions on an important phase of it were sought and published in a recent issue of Medical Tribune. They were asked, "How can health careers attract more women?" Appropriately, two of the three were women doctors.

The problem, thought Dr. Marion M. Larson, of Tacoma, Wash., is one of communication. "The health professions don't really advertise what they have to offer. By advertising, I mean talking to the high school girls before they begin to look around for a career."

Dr. Irene M. L. Kossove, of Charlotte, N. C., generally agreed and called for "a change in attitude on the part of the educators, the counselors, and the physicians."

Dr. Gerald William Nice, of Topeka, Kans., added a suggestion: "exposure to the medical environment." This has worked well in his home town, where many high school seniors divide their time between classes and hospital work for which they receive school credit. "It is interesting," he remarks, "that almost 75 percent of the Cooperative Industrial Training students remain in the medical field."

Your Christmas Seal association, actively interested in the subject of health careers, will be glad to provide information.

Utopia

As I live, as I die
I shall not want, I shall not cry
For in this earth is hidden beauty
And to find it is my duty.
If not the crime and the violence
There would be naught but silence
For the world revolves around hate
There is no love, only rebellion's fate.
In the world, filled with war

Time only for the rich and not the poor.

The rich filled with greed
The poor filled with need.
There are those of the dedicated few
Who work so hard and expect no due
If more were like this, then the world would be

A much better place for you and for me.
Black, yellow, red and white
They live in the same world but always fight.

People complain about the other man
But if they look in the mirror, they will understand.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD C. HARRIS share with us this week moments from their two-month visit to Mrs. Harris' homeland, Copenhagen, Denmark.

ED AND HANNE'S FIVE YEAR OLD DAUGHTER, ALLISON'S FLIGHT to Denmark three weeks prior to their departure—phase one of their long-range plans—came off without a hitch! Hanne's observation "I guess the time to do things is when you are young" was evidenced by her daughter's enthusiastic response to the decision that she would go first: "When?!" A masterful packer, she filled her little beauty box with her favorite possessions and off she flew to the awaiting arms of her grandparents and uncle.

PHASE TWO—ED'S AND HANNE'S flight to Chicago, then New York and the steamer, M/S. Bergersford was next! So, too, was a tornado which resulted in the closing of the airport and its restaurants—you name it! Realizing that their luggage—because of the storm's resulting chaos—was not on their plane, upon reaching New York, the couple abandoned a planned overnight stay there (a night on the town). Having hastily corralled the luggage, they boarded the M/S. Bergersford—this at the end of a 20-hour span without a meal. Meals aboard ship are served as per schedule, the ship's schedule! Aboard the liner the meals quickly irradicated all gains resulting from the Harris' 20-hour weight-loss. Nine days aboard ship meant absolute leisure, no schedule—time in which to do as one pleased!

CZECHOSLOVAKIA! The Harris were on ship when the wireless was read over the loud AP System that "Russia Invades Czechoslovakia!" People were stunned. There were homeward-bound Czechs not knowing what to anticipate. There were the Americans and persons from all parts of the globe completely baffled! So few words raised all the greater anxieties. And these were the only words for two days. Hanne stated "this was worrisome, for so little could mean more involvement and possibly a third world war. How was one to know? Then came more detailed information appearing on a printed sheet. This cleared matters somewhat in that there wasn't all-out war and that President Johnson was meeting with world leaders!"

ALLISON had captured all the advantages. The most charming was the well-entrenched practice of accompanying her grandmother to the store, manning a food cart, and moving from aisle to aisle selected her choice of the good things to eat. Needless to say, this gain was not happily released.

AMONG THE CASTLES VISITED were Frederiksberg, in Hillerød; Hamlet's Kronborg Castle in Helsingør; and Rosenborg Castle where lie the crown jewels encased in glass, surrounded by an iron rail. With a bit of effort this can be reached by hand. Should you succeed, this case sinks and doors close over it while bells clang, whistles blow and the ring of royal guards housed just before the building, respond to the alarm. Hanne observed "Oh, the rubies, emeralds, sapphires and diamonds so big, they appeared to be fake!" Allison, also touring the castles would inquire "Where is the king?" Always the answer was "He's dead!" Back home overhearing talk of televised programs dealing with President Johnson or our Governor, the child finally admonished "Shhh! Shhhh!" "Why" asked her puzzled parents? "Don't talk about him, he might die!" was the sober response. (As did the kings, y'know!) The family also visited Norway, Sweden and Germany.

WHETHER IN THE HOMES of government servants—Denmark has a king and queen, remember—whether in the homes of the wealthy, people in the sciences, arts, business or say 20 or 30 kilometers out in the country, the welcome was always the same—genuine! Summing his reaction, Harris declared "The unchained feeling of a Negro in Denmark is the most priceless experience of even 60 days in that country! To anticipate stares and not finding them, suspecting within oneself that they exist but are somehow escaping detection. However, after weeks of pleasantries, the most social and the most casual, still finding warmth and goodwill, one had to concede. Not once 'I have nothing against Negroes.' 'I have many Negro friends.' 'I went to school with one!' One gives up! What else where people have gone out of their way to do everything they could to welcome you. It became a joke 'Welcome to Denmark!' with great mirth and warmth.

Tells of Trip in Europe's Italy

Dear Editor: It is really a pleasure to read your news and hear about the happenings to those you know in and around Iowa.

I, the former Rebecca L. Wilcoits—daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Wilcoits, am formerly of Des Moines. My husband, SSGT John W. Anderson, is formerly of Waterloo. We have been stationed here in Heidelberg, Germany for ten months.

We recently returned from a 15-day tour of Italy. Visiting such sights as St. Marks Square in Venice, the art galleries in Florence, the Colosseum—Vatican City and other sights of Rome, the fountains in Tivoli; Pompeii, Naples, the Isle of Capri, and the leaning tower in Pisa.

We have just four more weeks of duty here in Germany, and we will then be transferred to a two-year duty station at USA SEATAF in Vicenza, Italy. This is a small Villa at the bottom of one of the Alp Mts. This Villa is in a very good locale. By way of auto it is only 45 minutes to Venice, 3 hours to Florence, and 8 hours to Rome. These cities we will undoubtedly visit from time to time, for there is so much to see it is impossible to see everything with just a few days in each place.

We are enjoying our stay over here, but our anxiously looking forward to our return to the States in the Fall of 1970. We have two children—John W. Jr. 5 yrs. (who resides in the States with his grand—Mrs. John Anderson Heidelberg, Germany

Clarks Entertain Guests in Fish Fry

On Friday, Oct. 18, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Clark and son, Jerry, were hosts to a fish fry at their home, 1602 Walker Street.

Among the guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Ralph Parker, Harold Welch, and Leonard Wade; Mesdames Ella M. Burke, Catherine Moore and Nancy Jackson; and Eugene Wilson.

The Clarks served fish caught during their vacation in Hampton, Va., with Rev. and Mrs. Seymour Gaines.

Some of the fish were sea mullet, chicken of the sea, flounder, crab and spot. The fish creating many comments was chicken of the sea, also known as blow fish. Mr. Clark stated that this small fish got its name from its ability to blow itself up like a balloon to ward off attacks.

The Clark table was decorated with seashells from the James River and crab shells from Chesapeake Bay. After the feast guests viewed pictures taken on the trip.

3. Urging all parents to: a. Hold open house from 6:00 to 8:30 p.m. for the youth of the neighborhood, and be prepared with suitable "treats" that are available only after being earned; b. Show appreciation for costumes;
4. That organized groups plan something for Halloween for celebration that will interest youth and keep them in their own neighborhood groups.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Can your hair be damaged from brushing, alone?

All hair becomes damaged from exposure to sun and natural elements. Certain greasy compounds and many chemicals, improperly used, also take their toll...not to mention simple attempts at beautifying the hair with any brush not made of natural bristles. The results are brittleness, breakage, dry and dull looking hair.

Your professional beautician knows how artificial bristles actually brush away a great deal of the "lubricants" of the hair that give it body, lustre and protection. And trained beauticians claim that nothing beats Clairol® condition® Beauty Pack Treatment for overcoming brittleness, dryness and breakage... leaving hair lively and easy to manage. condition® is an easy-to-work-with creme which can even be applied during a chemical straightening retouch to prevent drying of hair that has been previously relaxed. condition® is the ultimate in repairing deep-down damage. And, when time is a factor for their customers, hairdressers turn to new Clairol® Hair Dew®—the lotion conditioner. When applied regularly by your beautician, Clairol Hair Dew adds body, softens and gives a glowing new look to your hair that many friends will notice and admire.

Damage can come from using brushes with artificial bristles. But damage to every woman's hair comes from so many other causes that all human hair (including wigs) needs to be revitalized periodically. Visit your professional beautician and ask this expert to check the condition of your hair.

Only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

DON'T PANIC OVER
STUDENT PROTESTS

The Des Moines School systems, like that of many other cities, has been presented a list of demands by Negro students which they feel should be adopted in order to afford better opportunity to secure an adequate education. With it should go more responsibilities.

Crude as they were, it must be said that following a cooling off after a bad start at North High Monday night, the meeting proceeded fairly orderly.

Whoever drew the demands evidently is not acquainted with what the board can and cannot do. The board is created by law, the members elected by the people and thus their job is only to administer the law. At times vacancies occur which necessitate filling the vacancy. It is here that the board should keep in mind and appoint a Negro when these vacancies occur. Other towns even in the south do.

We felt these youngsters who flicked their muscles by raising their fists and otherwise demonstrating signs of racism acted as a group from the Ku Klux Klan would and which we would have criticized or wearing their hats while in the building or worse yet while seated with the board.

The board was accused of bad faith when they did not provide seating for the committee with the board on the stage. Later the board, after many of the students walked out, provided seats along with the members.

We feel that the board was wrong in making this concession for it is not done in hearings with others appearing before them or by other bodies similarly situated. The board should follow customary rules as a lesson to the students.

Another demand was for more local control of schools by neighborhoods. This is just what former Gov. Wallace of Alabama is preaching. This local control has been responsible for the inequality of education heaped upon Negroes in many southern communities and have been partly corrected because the courts forced them to do so.

The board should include on any committee to iron out the legitimate differences others than students and parents. After all, we are all interested in the course this program takes and judging from what they have to work with a broader community base must be bad.

There are those who proposed that the standards be lowered in some instances—counselors and teachers—in order to hire more Negroes. This is wrong. There is no point in demanding equal education and also demanding unqualified people to teach and counsel that education.

Unquestionably some of the student's demands have merit. Some are being put in motion already; some the board has no authority to concede to. The By-stander is always fearful that even though the cause is right, that protest is conducted in such a manner as to lose more in the end than is gained.

However, kept in an orderly area of discussion and good faith, compliance with what is agreed up will help and strengthen all concerned.

OTHER PEOPLE HAVE
CRIME IN THE STREET

New York City has set the example for the most disgraceful series of strikes and tie ups ever witnessed in modern times. They include public school teachers, firemen and policemen.

The effect of the tie ups is that schools are closed and property and safety of citizens go almost unprotected.

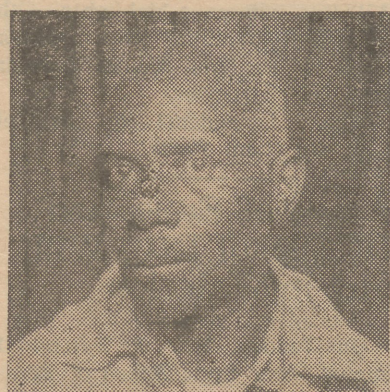

Many people say the decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court are responsible for "riots in the streets" but say little of the illegal action being carried on by these great unions which discommode the people and violate their oath of office. They never say "these strikes are communist inspired."

The Iowa educational head, at its meeting in Des Moines approved strikes as the last resort, which of course, means nothing for all strikes are presumed to occur following the breakdown of negotiations between the parties.

The situation in New York is anarchy. It is a disgrace on the people who have sat by and allowed segments of their population to do as they please and get away with it. This country can't stand much more of this.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

Well, if you were an Iowa fan, that was a very good ball game last week end. If you were a Wisconsin fan, it was a heluva ball game, and if you just looked at it from a neutral view, you'd have to say the Badgers didn't have much. They had only one fast back, and he didn't play too much. It may be that their big, hard running full-back who was injured early in the game might have made some difference. But the Hawks were ready. They charged hard, and really gang tackled as if they meant business. The backs ran hard all day and at times literally tore themselves out of the hands of tacklers. In spite of the fact that this was about the worst Wisconsin team we had ever seen, we feel that that game was a wonderful lift to Iowa. Too bad they have to meet Purdue at their homecoming. But maybe this will be a real test of their new spirit. But whatever it was, the Iowa fans were really happy, and justly so.

Mexico City — Two American Negro athletes were ousted from the Olympics (after they won medals for the United States) for "untypical exhibitionism"—that is, refusing to look at the United States flag during ceremonies and raising clenched black gloved fists last Thursday night.

They had waited a long time for this. We still think they are going to surprise somebody they aren't supposed to beat, and we are hoping it is Ohio State, so we can watch Woody Hayes. But, really we don't care who it is.

Iowa State

Iowa State reached the end of the rainbow last week and found no pot of gold. Instead they found a flock of fast, hard running backs, and a quarterback who could thread a needle with a football on that day. So they had to lose, but the fellows who saw the game say there was nothing to be ashamed of, in spite of the score.

Drake had a good day at Omaha. They couldn't do anything wrong, and the other team could do nothing right. Omaha had a brother of Gayle Sayers, and they say he was quite a show in spite of his team's loss. Maybe the Bears will get him?

Here at home things were really happening. We remarked that we had a lifetime pass to the East High games and a friend said we had better be careful what we wrote about them this week, or they might take the thing back. But it looks like the showdown battle of the year will be the game between Dowling and Roosevelt. We didn't think East had too much, but we never expected anything like that.

Olympics

Then there has been the Olympic show all week. Our Negro athletes have really been in the limelight in more ways than one. We thought the gesture of Tommy Smith and

Runners

Negro runners dominated the relay and sprint finals over the weekend: the men's 400 meter relays final went to the U.S., made up of Charles Green, Mel Pender, Ronnie Smith and Jim Hines, with a world record, 38.2 seconds; the Men's 1,600 meter relay final; and the women's 400 meter relay final, made up of Barbara Ferrell, Margaret Bailes, Mildrette Netter and Miss Tyus.

Kenyan Wins

Certainly to Jim Ryun fans, the Men's 1,500 meters finals presented an upset as Kipchoge Keino of Kenya set a new Olympics record of 3 minutes, 34.9 seconds, beating Ryun's time of 3 minutes, 37.8 seconds.

Ralph Boston was third in the Men's Long Jump final Friday. In first place was Bob Beamon, jumping 29 feet, 2 and one half inches, setting a new world and Olympic record once held by Boston. Boston jumped 26 feet, nine and one half inches.

Suing

Carlos said last Saturday that he planned to sue the U. S. Olympic committee for defamation of character, and told newsmen that according to his lawyers, "the U. S. Olympic committee acted in violation of the constitution. I am going to see to it that they have to pay," when "they said we had to get out of Mexico City in 48 hours. They must certainly have realized they did not have this power."
