$1.5 Million Grant to Aid Minority Employment

Project in Selected Cities for Skilled And Unskilled

New York, Nov. 14 — The Ford Foundation has announced grants totaling more than $1.5 million to assist the advancement of Negroes and other minority-group members at all employment levels: unskilled, craftsmen, professionals, and entrepreneurs. They include:

—$110,000 to Project Upgrade, in Oakland, Calif., a breakthrough for craftsmen with previous construction experience who will now have an opportunity to attain the well-paid journeyman status.

—$317,006 to the Manpower Assistance Project, a nonprofit consulting center that will train administrators and otherwise expedite the comprehensive local manpower programs now being developed throughout the country.

—$144,000 to the United Planning Organization, of Washington, D.C., for training the hard-core unemployed for jobs in the roofing business and in beauty-shop work.

—$175,000 to Jobs Clearing House, Inc., to expand its services to industrial firms in the Greater Boston area that are committed to upgrading under-employed Negro workers.

—$65,000 to The Real Great Society, Inc., an organization with its genesis in street gangs on New York's Lower East Side working to combat poverty and juvenile delinquency, for a project aimed at providing both jobs and recreational space in East Harlem.

—$290,000 grant, administered by the Potomac Institute, to assist local urban coalitions in their efforts to stimulate Negro business development through applying the "package" approach.

Project Upgrade, supported by the U. S. Labor Department and the Foundation, will train 100 minority craftsmen with previous construction experience to qualify as full journeymen within the next year. It is being carried out jointly by the Alameda County Building and Construction Trades Council, AFL-CIO; the General and Specialty Contractors Association of Oakland, composed of sixty minority contractors; and large white contractors in Alameda County.

"Although other programs have been attempted to upgrade minority craftsmen, no other project has been so closely tied to both contractors and unions," said Mitchell Sviridoff, a Foundation vice president. "Negroes have long been in construction, but the majority have had non-union jobs. Full admission to the craft unions represents to black workers the best in the job market and acceptance in an area where opportunities for them have been limited. In this program, all participants will benefit: the minority workers, who will achieve full status as union journeymen and financial rewards; the contractors, who will be able to give concrete evidence of their compliance with Federal equal-employment regulations; and the unions, who have been seeking a systematic method of bringing minority workers into their organizations while preserving their traditional standards of craftsmanship."

Commenting on the announcement, C. J. Haggerty, president of the Building and Construction Trades Department, AFL-CIO, said: "We heartily endorse the intent and purpose of this program."

Breakthrough In Testing Job Potential of Disadvantaged Announced by Sec. Wirtz

Washington — A breakthrough in testing disadvantaged people unable to take paper and pencil tests has been announced by Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz.

The new method, called work-samples, will soon be put into effect in nine cities and one rural area, Secretary Wirtz said. They will aid in placing the hard-core unemployed in permanent employment.

Work-samples are real job tasks, not formal tests. They substitute job production tools and materials for written testing. The technique works on the premise that disadvantaged people who have a history of failure in school and fear taking written examinations, will perform better and can be gauged better by this method.

Standard

The work-samples simulate activities encountered on a regular job. Standard tools and equipment such as screwdrivers, saws, adding machines, typewriters, needle and thread, soldering guns, pipe couplers, blouse patterns, and many other work-a-day items are used. The work-sampling environment is a typical setting with work benches or a business office and its equipment.

Wilkins Urges Nixon to Tackle Minority Problems

New York — Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, on Nov. 6, issued the following statement on the election of Richard M. Nixon as President of the United States:

Although the overwhelming choice of Negro Americans for President was Hubert H. Humphrey on the basis of his consistent and longtime advocacy of equal rights, justice and equality for all Americans, they need not regard Richard M. Nixon's election with despair.

But Negro citizens, including many thousands of Negro Republicans, hope that President-elect Nixon will continue to meet the nation's complex minority and urban problems with the sense of urgency which the times demand.

During his campaign Mr. Nixon pledged himself to mobilize the private sector of the economy to aid ghetto residents in their self-help efforts. His record as a member of the House and Senate and as Vice President indicates an awareness of problems confronting black Americans.

Negro citizens do not intend to slacken their pressures for complete equality of opportunity in every facet of national life. We believe that whatever methods he may propose, a Republican President wants to bring "common opportunities for all within a single society." He can hardly wish to delay any longer re-deeming the pledge of equality originally made by the Republican party in 1860.

No Convictions in Texas Southern Students Trials

Victoria, Tex. — An all-white jury failed to reach a verdict in the trial of Charles Freeman, a Texas Southern University student, charged with "assault with intent to murder" a Houston policeman during a two-day disturbance on the university campus there last May.

The trial was brought to this city after the prosecution had requested a change of venue. The jury was dismissed by Circuit Court Judge Joseph Kelly on Oct. 31 after failure to reach a verdict. The Freeman trial was the first of what could become a series of 12 cases involving four NAACP-defended TSU students under indictment for assault and first degree murder in the death of a 25-year-old policeman during a campus disturbance. Mr. Freeman was represented by NAACP attorneys Barbara Morris and Thomas Ashley of the Association's legal staff and Houston counsel Weldon Berry and Ned Wade, Jr.

New Theory

The prosecutions in these cases are regarded as significant in that they represent a novel and dangerous theory of criminal culpability; namely, that any person who allegedly encourages a riotous situation is guilty of any crimes committed during the disturbance regardless of whether he actually committed the offenses for which the defendants were indicted. On behalf of the state he contended this lack of evidence was immaterial to the state's theory.

Mr. Freeman was alleged to have made certain statements which encouraged violence on the campus and as a result of this violence a patrolman was wounded. The defendant was indicted for the shooting even though the state was unable to prove that he was on the campus at the time of the crime.

Successful prosecution of this case would have meant that any individual, who at some time before a civil disturbance, made allegedly inflammatory statements could be indicted for any and all crimes committed during the disturbance.

Des Moines Prisoner Escapes--Again

A brazen escapee from a deputy sheriff in Des Moines Wednesday, eluded police in Rockford, Ill., Friday night when they attempted to nab Lawrence T. Holmes in a tavern.

Holmes, 24, leaped from a second-story window in Corky's Restaurant and Lounge as Rockford detectives raided the tavern in an attempt to capture him, Rockford police disclosed Saturday night.

Rockford police believe Holmes may still be in the Rockford area. It is reported that Holmes has a sister living in Rockford.

Holmes escaped from Polk County Sheriff's Deputy Bernard Coply Wednesday morning at Seventh and Walnut streets here as Holmes was being returned to the Polk County Jail after medical treatment at Broadlawn Polk County Hospital.

Holmes had been sentenced Oct. 24 to 25 years in the Iowa State Penitentiary at Fort Madison for the Aug. 1 armed robbery of the Ward Drug Store, 3510 University Ave.

Explains SBA Plans for Loans to Minorities

Speaking before a group of bankers and civic leaders in the federal building in Des Moines Tuesday, Einar Johnson of Washington, D.C., director of financial institutions for Project OWN and Lloyd Kalder of Chicago financial assistance coordinator for small business administrations, urged Iowa bankers and civic leaders to cooperate in the development of the project to make loans to minorities to go in business or to improve their business.

Mr. Johnson said that 1 in 1,000 Negroes was in business while the ratio for whites was 1 in 40. The SBA is designed to help close the gap. The SBA has set out on 26 target cities to implement the program which is designed primarily to help minorities in ghettos own and operate businesses and thus create a more solid effort to better the community.

Loans Through Banks

Bankers will make these loans following compliance with certain requirements of the SBA which have been liberalized with the administration guaranteeing 90 per cent of the loan.

The SBA office is located in the federal building, Conrad Lawler is area director.

In addition to representatives from the banks, other attending were Perry Hooks, Nolden Gentry, Marion Williams, Mrs. A. June Franklin, Rev. James Shopshire and James B. Morris. Mrs. Willie S. Glanton, an attorney in the SBA, was an observer.

1st Woman Among Group; Named from Brooklyn; Teacher, Rights Worker

Americans of color will have a bigger representation at Capitol Hill when the 91st Congress starts business next January.

In addition to the six incumbents, voters this year elected three more new Congressmen.

For the first time in the nation's political history a colored congresswoman will join the ranks of those respectable men and women who make up the Legislative Branch of the American government.

Defeats James Farmer

No newcomer to politics, the 'first' lady of Congress is New York's Mrs. Shirley Chisholm.

She won election Tuesday over her Republican opponent, James Farmer, by a vote of 35,239 to 13,615 in the 12th Congressional District, Brooklyn.

Farmer, former head of CORE, was the first major civil rights leader to seek a political office.

Her record as Assemblywoman during the past four years, coupled with her popularity among her people in Brooklyn was the main factor in her success.

Unlike her opponent, Mrs. Chisholm was born, raised and educated in Brooklyn.

At 43, the former school teacher had come a long way from a 'first' in New York's State Assembly (after 19 years of active politics) to a 'first' in Congress.

The three new congressmen brought a number of firsts, including the first Negro woman ever elected to the House.

Mrs. Shirley Chisholm, 43, a Democratic state legislator with a reputation for fighting hard and speaking her mind bluntly, easily defeated James Farmer, former chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, in a newly reapportioned Brooklyn, N. Y., district.

Mrs. Chisholm joined Cleveland's Louis Stokes and William L. Clay of St. Louis, both Democrats, to break the old high of seven Negro congressmen serving in 1873-74.

Powell, Again

Harlem's absentee congressman, Adam Clayton Powell, said he will present himself to the House in an effort to regain the seat he was ousted from in 1967. He easily defeated free-lance writer Henry Hall.

The election of Louis Stokes over Republican Charles Lucas marks the first time that Negro brothers have served a city as congressman and mayor. Louis is the brother of Carl Stokes, the city's first Negro mayor. The six incumbent Negroes, all Democrats, won re-election.

Chas. P. Howard, Jr., of Baltimore has been elected a judge. Details will be printed next week.

Trial of Ray, Charged With Slaying Dr. King, Is Postponed

Memphis, Tenn.—The trial of Earl Ray, accused of the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. has been postponed to March 3. The continuance was granted by Judge Preston Battle in response to a motion by Ray's new counsel, Percy Foreman of Texas on the ground that he had only Tuesday entered the case and required time to prepare his defense.

Association for Retarded Children to Meet

Polk County Association for Retarded Children will hold its monthly meeting at the Hawley Building, 700 6th Avenue, on Wednesday, November 20th, at 8:00 p.m. Kenneth Cramp, president, presiding. The program will include a speech by Dr. Conrad Wurtz, Director of the Bureau of Mental Retardation Services in the Iowa State Department of Social Services, on the topic "Planning Services for the Mentally Retarded".

City Council, Governor Fume Over Vice

Officers Know Where It Is But Pass the Buck to Mr. Citizen

The Des Moines city councilmen say they want action to clean up the bootlegging and vice in the Model Cities area northwest of downtown.

Solutions of the councilmen range from "put the squeeze" on the bootleggers to more action from County Attorney Ray Fenton.

Gambling Games

Bootleggers in the Model Cities area number is in doubt. Police say many of them also employ prostitutes and run gambling games.

Law enforcement officers say that putting the bootleggers out of business is difficult because most local police are known by the illegal liquor peddlers and can't get in to make a "buy."

Councilman Charles VanderLinden, whose ward encompasses the Model Cities area, said he wants "the squeeze put on a lot of places," but he acknowledged the difficulties the police have. He did not point them out.

VanderLinden said the "neighborhood is upset" about the bootleggers—"everybody knows where they are."

Won't Buy

But he added that "the residents are willing to turn the bootleggers in, but not to buy," which is not an easy thing to do.

Some police know that area residents are afraid of reprisals if they go too far in assisting lawmen.

Councilman Jens Grothe put much of the blame for the widespread bootlegging on County Attorney Fenton.

Grothe said that Fenton should seek a court injunction against any convicted bootlegger ordering him to stop breaking the law.

If the bootlegger was then caught again, Grothe said, he would be in contempt of court and subject to heavy penalties.

"The police will do their duty if the courts and county attorney will back them up," Grothe said.

Police have complained about the lack of teamwork between themselves and Fenton. They say Fenton seldom checks the previous police record of accused bootleggers.

The police have also said the courts often give convicted bootleggers the minimum penalty, $300 on a first offense.

Veterans Affairs

Thousands of disabled veterans—largely young veterans—are failing to take advantage of a valuable insurance opportunity, James A. Trott, VA Contact Officer in Des Moines, said today.

The VA gives disability ratings to about 7,000 veterans each month, and each man is encouraged to apply for special low-cost RH insurance. However, Trott said, currently only about 16 per cent submit applications despite premiums so low that a 25-year-old veteran, for example, can start a $10,000 insurance program for only $2.60 a month.

The Contact Officer said RH National Service Life Insurance is available only to veterans separated from service after April 24, 1951, who have been rated by the VA as having a service-connected disability. After the rating is established, VA insurance offices in Philadelphia or St. Paul inform each veteran that he is entitled to apply for low cost RH insurance. Applications must be submitted within one year from the date the disability is established.

Trott emphasized that veterans who receive disability ratings may apply for RH insurance whether or not they converted their Servicemen's Group Life Insurance (SGLI) to a private policy after they got out of military service. Even if the veteran converted his SGLI policy, the

"This doesn't scare them at all," Grothe said.

Mayor Thomas Urban said, "If we are going to change the drift of the neighborhood and make it positive, we have to close these places."

He said if the residents of the area "will come forward and make complaints, we can get together and close them down."

"I think the citizens are interested in helping the police get the evidence to close them." However this is a difficult job to do and can be accomplished by regular patrolling of known infected areas.

Councilman Leo Gross said one of the serious problems in closing the bootleggers is the shortage of manpower on the police force.

Get the Evidence

"I think a great deal can be done, if you have the proper people to get the evidence and get the conviction," he said.

"It takes a lot of manpower to keep up with the bootleggers. Maybe we'll have that manpower next year or in two years. I hope so. I think it should be done."

Councilman Richard Olson said if bootlegging "is going on and we can get the evidence, we ought to do something about it."

He said that if anyone sends him the name of a bootlegger, he will see that the police act.

Councilman Robert Scott said "the laws should be enforced all over town."

VA encourages him—if he can afford to do so—to apply for the RH insurance.

RH and a converted policy offer disabled veterans an opportunity to carry $20,000 insurance at standard premiums. Many could not qualify for other insurance or could do so only at increased premiums, he said.

Social Security

Health, Education
Welfare

When Luci Williams first became entitled to social security, his mother commented, "It's like he's been awarded an extra scholarship."

Indeed, the payments the 20-year old Kansas State University sophomore is receiving from social security work very much like an educational grant, since he would not be eligible for social security benefits if he did not remain in school.

Social security children's benefits are payable to the dependent sons and daughters of retired, disabled, or deceased parents. Ordinarily, the benefits end when the children reach 18, unless they are totally disabled. But under a 1965 change in the law, payments can be continued until age 22 to those who stay in school. Such payments—"student benefits"—continue so long as the student remains unmarried.

Williams, a former all-state athlete at Perth Amboy High School (New Jersey) is attending Kansas State University on a football scholarship. He first became eligible for social security benefits as a dependent of his mother who became disabled in 1966 and began receiving disability benefits under the social security program. His mother has since died and he now receives benefits under the program as her survivor.

"Order" Not To Act

Councilman Jack Woods expressed belief that "someone" is ordering the patrolmen not to act against the bootleggers.

Missouri Swamps Iowa State Cyclones At Homecoming

Columbia, Mo.—Missouri chalked up a homecoming spectacular Saturday that produced a 42-7 victory over Iowa State and left a king-sized impression on representatives of three bowl games that are casting covetous eyes on the Tigers.

With second-string fullback Jim Harrison scoring three touchdowns and Roger Wehrli keeping Iowa State off balance with his punt returns, Missouri rolled to its seventh straight triumph following a season-

"The Police Department can do the job, if they would just let them do it," he said.

"It's not hard to catch the bootleggers, if you put a little effort into it," Woods said.

Gov. Hughes has demanded that the mess be cleaned up. It should be but informers are hard to come by.

opening loss to Kentucky.

More importantly, the victory—coupled with Oklahoma's upset of Kansas—moved Missouri into sole possession of first place in the Big Eight Conference.

The Tigers pushed their league record to 5-0 heading into an important collision next Saturday at Oklahoma.

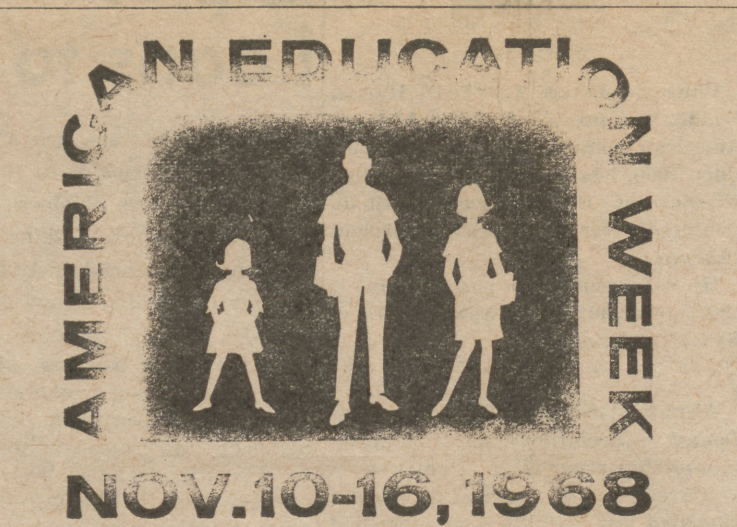

The defeat here was Iowa State's fourth in succession, but it was nothing new at Columbia. A Cyclone team hasn't won here since 1938 and hasn't beaten Missouri anywhere since 1955.

Iowa State actually owned a 7-7 tie after one quarter Saturday. But it was short lived as the score wound up 42 to 7.

While in training, the men will receive prevailing union wage rates and the fringe benefits normally provided a union journeyman. Contractors will receive reimbursement, decreasing every three months, to compensate them for the lesser proficiency of the trainees as compared to regular journeymen. Their progress will be evaluated every three months by the review committee.

Union journeymen, paid at the negotiated foreman's rate for each trade, will instruct the trainees in more than a dozen specialties, ranging from brick-laying to sheet-metal work.

Cooking Thermometer Shelf
THERE is a growing trend in American kitchens to keep many utensils out in the open where they are easy to reach. This is particularly valuable in the case of often-used instruments and those which are apt to be damaged if left to roll around in a drawer with a lot of other tools. For instance, if you have a fine set of cooking thermometers, as so many good cooks do today, it is a very simple matter to construct a small, handy shelf to display them and protect them.

First take a rectangular piece of one-inch board and two rectangular pieces of Masonite Presdwood. This is a particularly versatile material which can be used for innumerable jobs around the home. The dimensions of these pieces are up to you, depending on the available space and the number of cooking thermometers you wish to display.

These two pieces will actually make two shelves. Into the piece to be used for the top, drill two small holes, into which you can insert the stainless steel stems of your roast meat thermometer and your candy-jelly-deep fat frying thermometer. The round, clock-like faces of the thermometers will prevent them from slipping through the holes, and the thermometers will be always within easy reach if you attach your shelf to the wall or cabinet near the range.

Name Negro Minister To Model Cities Church

Des Moines has a new minister—heralding a new experiment here in the appointment of the Rev. Alvin B. Moore, 42, of Council Bluffs, to Trinity United Methodist Church; Eighth and College streets to serve a racially mixed congregation, a first for Iowa's Methodists.

REV. ALVIN B. MOORE

The mile-square area north of the business district has been designated for federal assistance under the Model Cities program.

The Rev. Dr. Everett H. Staats, superintendent of the Des Moines district of the United Methodist Church in Iowa, described the action as a move "to make our ministries really meaningful—not just to our members, but to a community as well."

"Instead of letting our three churches act independently of one another, we're trying to coordinate their efforts so they can be of greater service to their area as a whole."

He cited as "unique ministerial problems" in the Model Cities area the high percentage of "transient apartment dwellers" and the "rapid change of racial complexion."

Practical Effort

Part of the practical effort of the new Methodist ministry will be "to attempt to assist Model City organizers as much as possible," the Rev. Dr. Staats said.

Until a month ago, the Rev. Mr. Moore was a minister in the African Methodist Episcopal (A.M.E.) denomination, having served as pastor of the Bethel A.M.E. Church in Council Bluffs since 1966.

He resigned from the Negro denomination to become affiliated with the United Methodist Church. He and his wife, Betty, have nine children, including two college-age sons. Rev. Moore was formerly of Fort Wayne, Indiana. He graduated from Purdue University and has done graduated work at the Fort Wayne Bible College.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Is peroxide needed to color unwanted gray hair?

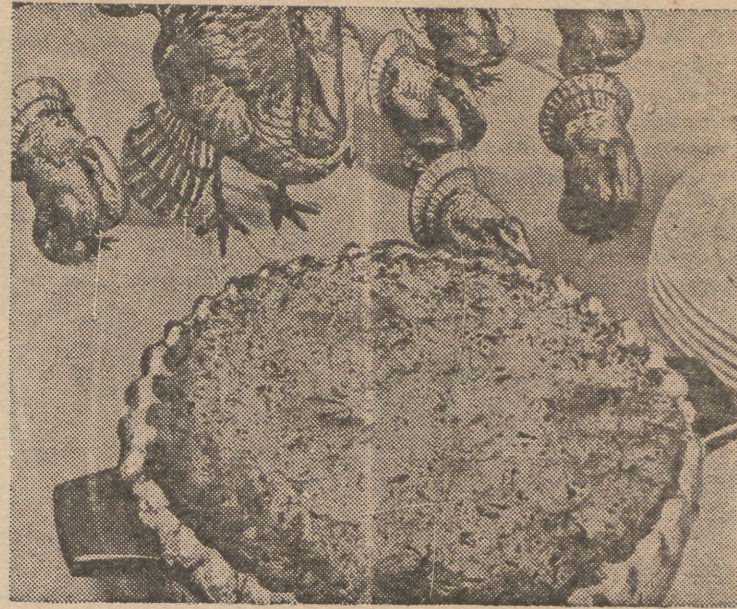

Hair care and beauty experts know that the first traces of gray hair—and even slight fading of natural color after chemical relaxing—can dull a woman's appearance and make her look older than she feels. While most women hate these premature aging effects, many are hesitant about using permanent peroxide haircoloring which may change the natural hair color while coloring gray.

Professionally-trained hairdressers know the importance of their customers' preferences when unwanted gray becomes a problem. These experts also know that Clairol created semi-permanent Loving Care® hair color lotion without peroxide... to color only the gray without changing the natural shade. They also find Loving Care blends back color faded by chemical processing. Because of its mildness, Loving Care maintains healthy looking hair and lasts through a month of shampoos. Whatever a woman's reason for wanting Loving Care for her hair, she is always wise to consult a professional beautician. Hairdressers are equipped with a family of fine Clairol products and the training to promise each patron the loveliest and most personalized haircoloring effects every time she visits her salon. If you dislike gray, and want no peroxide, why not ask your beautician to glamorize it with Loving Care?

"TURKEY TIME" Dessert!

WITH A WONDERFUL THANKSGIVING DINNER cleared away—there's still dessert to consider! Pumpkin Chiffon Pie—light, fluffy, elegant! And for a special touch, fold a half cup of tender, flaked coconut into the mixture before chilling, then glamorize the top with a drift of white flakes.

COCONUT PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) gelatin	¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ cup cold water	¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups mashed cooked pumpkin	¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ cup evaporated milk	2 egg whites
¾ cup water	1½ teaspoon vanilla
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten	1 cup Baker's Angel Flake coconut (toasted if desired)
¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed	1 baked nine-inch pie shell
½ teaspoon salt	¼ cup cream, whipped and sweetened

Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine pumpkin, evaporated milk, water, egg yolks, ¼ cup of the sugar, salt, and spices in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill until slightly thickened.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add remaining sugar gradually and continue beating until stiff. Fold in pumpkin mixture, vanilla, and ¾ cup of the coconut. Spoon into cold pie shell. Chill until firm. Before serving, top with whipped cream and remaining coconut.

Note: 1½ cups whole milk may be substituted for the ¾ cup evaporated milk and ½ cup water in the above recipe. (ANS)

FAVORABLE CONDITIONS MUST PREVAIL IN THE SCHOOL ROOM

Some teachers in the public schools in Des Moines have been too long subjected to conduct unbecoming students who have intimidated them and disrupted the class work. The situation has been so bad that teachers from Tech high have demanded that the school board take immediate steps to remedy the situation.

The course of conduct has existed for some time. We have heard about it. Principals and others in the schools knew about it. Apparently the board members were the last to hear about it.

Unfortunately, these conditions began with a few incorrigibles who make life miserable for everybody around and think they are cute. They have been allowed to get away with this bad conduct only to be slapped on the wrist and sent back to try even greater disruptions than before.

Of course, much of this bad conduct and disregard for themselves or those who are around is the product of "home training" and/or loose conduct which permits children, who otherwise might maintain good conduct, to be easily led by the hard core troublemakers.

Students are sent to school to learn and not to ruin the schools. All too often, school officials have not stood their ground by insisting that students must obey the rules as long as they are in school. If they are unwilling to comply there is no sense in keeping these troublemakers around.

Negro and white youngsters are involved with the former claiming additional reason to be hard "because I don't have my rights".

Granting that there have been great inequalities in years, things have changed materially. There is opportunity in most places for youngsters who prepare themselves in the trades, in professions, in the fields.

And granting that there is unrest in many places today, this is no reason why a group of dissident children should be allowed to run our schools.

PROBLEMS FACING
PRESIDENT-ELECT NIXON

Now that the elections are over and plans are in the making for change over in the national and state administrations, it is well to reflect that the votes gave President-elect Nixon the reins to help get the country back on even keel. This, of course, does not mean that we shall do away with the good programs that are in operation but that they will be conducted in a more business-like manner and with directions that will really help improve our lot.

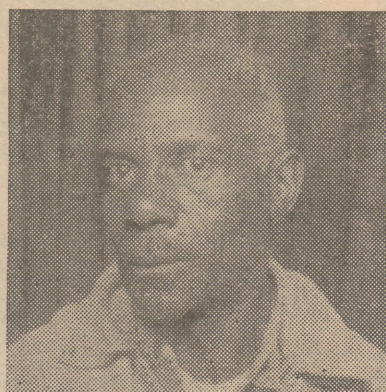

First, nationally, a must is the war in Vietnam. Here America is in an almost hopeless situation with little chance of winning a military or diplomatic victory. Somehow, these people should be allowed to settle their own differences rather than have Americans lead in making the decisions.

Second, but equally important, is mob violence in the school, in the streets, in unions and in every place where "citizens" make demands many of which are unreasonable only to discommodate and hinder others. This is particularly true of teachers, firemen and policemen. Somehow America must come back to a policy of settling disputes by conciliation and not physical force.

Third, some force must be put to work to arrest the ever increasing inflation which finds its way in every home. Prices have skyrocketed out of reason for most things everybody buys to the point where the high wages most people receive buy far less in proportion than ten years ago.

President-elect Nixon has had great experience in government. He has shown that he can pull himself out of the depth. It is hoped that he will surround himself with men who want America to pull ahead and it will take every citizen's help to do so.

Saturday

If you sat in what you thought was the wrong end of the Iowa stadium, all you had to do was wait. They'd be along and score at your end pretty soon. Everytime one looked around someone was heading for one goal or the other. We have been watching football games since 1919 and we have never seen a score like that one. Since the Hawks had a solid defense and so did Northwestern even with their best guys out with everybody healthy for the Wildcats, there is no telling what the final tally might have been. Now comes the really big one and the Hawks had better hold those Buckeyes to less than fifty five points if they intend to win that one. They are not going to score forty points on those coolies.

Iowa State

Iowa State had its usual quota of errors and got trounced in what could have been a close ball game. But those sophomores are coming along and maybe next year will really be hard to beat.

Speaking of sophomores, we hear Iowa has some elephants for interior defense, linemen and some real good recoverers. They also have Jim Kirby of North playing on defense and do you know old man Kirby hasn't missed an Iowa game this year and talks about what we did. He also has son Cordell playing with the North High sophomores who is big enough to be a good intercity prospect next year. The guy scores at least thirteen touchdowns during their season. He isn't as fast as Jim, but is a bigger boy and a real hard scorer.

High School

East closed out a dismal season as did Tech., and Dowling made a bid for the number one spot by trouncing Keumper at Carroll. East High Waterloo just got by West Waterloo, but those intracity games are always tough and records for the season don't mean a thing in them.

And now the fellows are getting ready for basketball. Roosevelt would like to avenge that defeat in the state meet last year. Toby Houston hasn't put on a shoe yet and he is mentioned for All American prep honors. Let's hope he really makes it.

Drake

Last year the pool hall and barbershop coaches were saying that the Drake combination of five Negroes was their best team. This year Bulldogs will probably have only four. So what now, wise guys?

Football

But football isn't over yet. We saw an article in the Cedar Rapids Gazette about Eddie Podolak of Iowa being only a few yards behind LeRoy Keys of Purdue in total yardage. The writer of this article was going to vote for Podolak. Well, the winner will likely be O. J. Simpson so stop your complaining.

Young Asks Early
Grip on Racial Problem

New York — Whitney M. Young, Jr. Executive Director National Urban League, commenting on the election of Richard Nixon said, "The National Urban League congratulates Richard Nixon on his election as President of the United States. We hope that Mr. Nixon will move quickly in a positive way, to allay the fears among black citizens that were so evident in the election returns, that he would not have the sensitivity to come to grips with the tragic problems that beset the black community."

The National Urban League, with its unique professional capabilities, and its roots in the ghettos, stands ready to assist Mr. Nixon to effectively become President, not of some Americans, but of all the people."

Turn Tables on N. W. at Iowa City Saturday

Iowa City — Saturday the Iowa football team reminded onlookers of the rosy days when Forest Eveshevski coached two teams to the Rose Bowl games and was a formidable contender for Big Ten honors each year.

Many of the 44,876 hardy spectators weren't comfortably settled by the time the Hawks had a 14-0 lead and, after a few more minutes, a great many were rudely unsettled as Northwestern roared into a 14-14 tie.

Operating against a crippled foe, which led the league in generosity toward opponents, the Hawks amassed 639 yards to break the league one-game total offense record of 607 set by Michigan State against Iowa in 1966.

Iowa's defense isn't exactly the Berlin Wall, and the Wildcats piled up 470 yards for a two-team total of 1,109 yards gained and 102 points scored.

If those aren't some sort of record, they should be. Podolak? It's going to be hard to say.

The Hawks were two-touchdown favorites after upsetting Minnesota last week, and it figured they'd be up, trying for the first back-to-back Big Ten victories since 1961 and the first winning season since the same year.

Iowa won the toss and moved 78 yards in 10 plays, the first big one being a 12-yard run by Sullivan (who had 84 in 13 tries). Sully's blocking was so spectacular it almost outshines his good ball carrying.

Sophomore quarterback Larry Lawrence joined in the rushing parade. After Podolak broke for 34 yards and got it down to fourth-and-inches on the four, Lawrence sneaked to the one, over Chuck Legler and Greg McManus. Then Sullivan blasted home behind Manning and Melvin Morris.

Bolden intercepted one of the two passes he stole in mid-third quarter and Podolak ripped off 17 yards to claim the school rushing records. The Hawks had to punt, though.

Northwestern took over here and Iowa tried for a two-point pass, Lawrence throwing, but it was intercepted in the end zone. It was 61-28, with still plenty of time for Cilek to throw a 19-yard scoring pass to Denny Green after Rod Barnhart got the ball on an interception.

Matter of fact, there was still time for the Wildcats to drive 70 yards in 12 plays and send Emmerich into the end zone for the third time. It was getting pretty dark, though, when it ended at 4:30 p.m.

College graduates:

IBM invites you to work hard helping to solve other people's problems.

Problems like dealing with the impact of the world's population on the world's food supply. Or simplifying the complexities of new high-speed transportation systems.

You'd be working for IBM's Data Processing Division, the part of IBM that designs, sells, and installs computer systems. It's a job that brings new challenges every day because every customer's problems are different.

It's not easy work. That's why we start you out with an up-to-the-minute course in the practical use of computers. But when you finish, you'll be ready to tackle some of the toughest problems in business. You'll work directly with our customers as consultant, teacher, programmer, and student.

How to start.

If hard work and constant challenge are what you want, call Paul Duffy in Des Moines at (515) 288-4835. Or write to him at IBM Corporation, Dept. BL1045, 2116 Grand Ave., Des Moines, Iowa 50312.
