personnel office and in cooperation with the participating agencies establishes a system of personnel administration based on merit principles and scientific methods governing the appointment, promotion, transfer, lay-off, removal, discipline and welfare of its civil employees.

Agencies Involved

Participating agencies involved in the system are State and County Departments of Social Welfare, Employment Security Commission; State Department of Health; State Services for Crippled Children; Mental Health Authority, Civil Defense Administration and Office of Emergency Planning.

Practicing Attorney

Mr. Morris has been a practicing attorney in Des Moines since 1949. He holds degrees in political science and jurisprudence from Iowa University. He is married to Arlene Roberts of Rock Island, Ill. who is also a graduate of Iowa U. They live at 1600 Hickman Road and have three sons, one of whom James Braddie III, is a sophomore at U. of I.

Mr. Morris is an officer of St. Paul A.M.E. Church, a member of Lincoln Post American Legion, the Roosevelt Club, Inc. and the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. At present he is serving as chairman of the Des Moines Park Board and is a member of the Board of the Y.M.C.A. He served as an Intelligence Officer, General MacArthur's headquarters in the Southwest Pacific during World War II and as Assistant Polk County Attorney in 1950. He is a Republican.

Willkie House Sponsors Afro-American Art Exhibit, Bus Ride

Saturday - 6:45 a.m. - and children walking from all directions - converging on 17th and Crocker for another of those Willkie House Bus Trips.

Bright eyed and eager, thirty three of them (only one stayed in bed) were put on a seven o'clock chartered bus for Ames and a day at Veishea. The trip was a courtesy to Willkie House children - seven to twelve years - of Mark Lilly and fellow members of Sigma Chi fraternity at Iowa State University. The day included visits to displays, good view

Charleston Strick Gain Support

CHARLESTON, S.C.-For the second time in more than a year, Gov. Robert E. McNair has imposed a curfew to prevent disorders stemming from Negro demands for rightful consideration. Currently, demonstrations for the right to union membership on the part of hospital employees here has led to numerous arrests. The curfew was imposed to stem "the danger of fires, vandalism, break-ins and other harm which may come to persons or property."

Rights Groups

Fourteen civil rights leaders have given their full support to the strike of more than 500 Negro workers at State Medical College Hospital and Charleston County Hospital, the two largest hospitals in this seaport city. The unanimous statement was signed by Mrs. Coretta Scott King, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, Roy Wilkins, A. Philip Randolph, Whitney M. Young, Jr., Roy Innis, Bayard Rustin, Dorothy I. Height, George A. Wiley, Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, Congressman John M. Conyers, Mayor Richard G. Hatcher, Mayor Carl B. Stokes and Julian Bond, member, Georgia Legislature.

Similar Curfew in 1968

Early in 1968 Gov. McNair ordered a similar curfew in Orangeburg when students at two predominantly Negro colleges demonstrated in protest of the killing of three Negro students following an attempt to integrate a local bowling alley.

The recent statement by civil rights leaders says the strike "tells much about what is wrong in America today." And the stand by Gov. McNair puts him in direct opposition to the signers of that statement who view the strike as a "fight for human rights and human dignity."

First Two Parties

The first two political parties in the United States were the Federalists, who followed Hamilton's lead, and the Republicans (later Democrats) who accepted the leadership of Jefferson.

"Franklin Cent"

The Fugio cent, an early American coin, is sometimes called the Franklin cent. Although the design and mottoes on the coin are often ascribed to Benjamin Franklin, there is no direct evidence to link him with it.

Wolverine Parkas

Eskimo parkas are made of wolverine fur because it is the only type of fur that does not mat and freeze when the temperature drops to 60 or 70 degrees below zero.

145 Negro Candidates Seek Office In Miss.

JACKSON, Miss. - One hundred and forty-five Negro candidates are seeking election to office in 48 communities in Mississippi, an NAACP survey indicates. The primary elections are scheduled for May 13 and May 20 with the run-off contest set for June 3.

The most widely known of these candidates is Charles Evers, NAACP field director, who is running for mayor in Fayette where 60 per cent of the population is black. Negroes are running for mayor in 11 other communities including Jackson where William E. Miller, Esq., is the candidate.

Other positions for which Negroes are competing are alderman, commissioner, councilman, city commissioner, city tax clerk, town marshal, town clerk and membership on the National Democratic Executive Committee.

ship Fund. The group is one of those holding club memberships in Willkie House and the breakfast was served from 7:30 to 11: a.m. We aren't sure of the menu but the delightful aroma lingered when we opened the door again at 1:30 p.m. for setting up the Afro-American Art Exhibit. This event was sponsored by the Education Department of the Parliamentary Law and Culture Club. The club is a member of the Iowa Association of Colored Women's Clubs and sponsors scholarship awards for worthy students. They are also one of the groups holding club membership at Willkie House.

An important aspect of this event was its all-inclusiveness; people came from all over Des Moines of course but the chairman, Mrs. Rose Johnson had especially invited participation on the part of Willkie House neighborhood young people. Gayle and Carol Williams and Debbie Eubanks assisted at the registration and refreshment tables and Marvin Butts entertained on the primitive drums which were part of the display of African

Wilkins Asks N.J. Governor to Avert Crisis

NEW YORK --- Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has called upon New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes "to take prompt and effective action to avert a serious racial crisis" in southern New Jersey.

Mr. Wilkins' call for action, dispatched to Gov. Hughes, April 30, followed the conviction of Mrs. Irene Smith, president of the New Jersey State NAACP, on three counts. Mrs. Smith was arrested on March 29 while leading a demonstration protesting the refusal of local authorities to remove a junkyard and a motor vehicle inspection station from the Negro area of Woodbury.

After the arrest, NAACP leaders and other community supporters pledged to strengthen selective buying campaigns against Woodbury merchants in an effort to line them up behind the NAACP demands.

Bishop Bright was elected at the 1960 General Conference in Los Angeles, California and was assigned bishop over the Seventeenth Episcopal District in Africa. He also served as presiding bishop over the Twelfth Episcopal District (Oklahoma-Arkansas) before coming to the First District.

In Defendent Takes Verdict In Silence; Sentence Set for May 14

Following a trial of 6 days in the court of District Judge J. P. Denato, Anthony Erthell Williams, 25, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury for the slaying of Pamela Powers in the Des Moines YMCA last Christmas Eve.

Pamela was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin K. Powers of Urbandale. The family had come to the Y to see their son, Mark Powers, 14, compete in a wrestling match. Pamela left the parents to go wash her hands and never returned.

Williams was said to have left the Y with a bundle appearing like a mannequin which turned out to be the body of the child.

Surrendered to Police
Williams later surrendered to police in Davenport upon advice of his attorney, Henry T. McKnight. Much of his defense was based upon the charge that Williams' constitutional rights had been violated when officers, enroute from Davenport to Mitchellville and where the body was found, talked without the benefit of the presence of a lawyer.

As He Expected
Williams seemed resigned to the verdict, concerned only for a speedy end to the trial. Through his lawyer, Henry T. McKnight, Williams asked District Judge J. P. Denato for a swift sentencing. The judge said that he usually delays sentencing for at least two weeks after a verdict is announced. At Williams' request, he set sentencing for 9 A.M. next Wednesday.

Williams had entered a plea of not guilty because of insanity stemming from his incarceration in a mental institution in Missouri for sex offenses. However, Williams refused to permit evidence of his insanity to be presented.

Iowa Law

Jurors elected a foreman, decided Williams' fate and had lunch sent in all in about an hour and 40 minutes.

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Denato said that Williams' status as an escaped mental patient could be considered in weighing the testimony. But the crime was such that the jury evidently disregarded any defense to insanity.

Under Iowa law the maximum penalty for first degree murder is life imprisonment, the death penalty having been abolished several years ago.

Williams had been living in Des Moines but a short time during which he was active in Maple Street Baptist Church and worked in several parking lots and clean up jobs.

HUD Secretary To Speak Housing Producers

NEW YORK --- Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney will head a task force from HUD which will participate in the NAACP National Housing Producers Conference at Washington's Hotel America, May 9-10.

William R. Morris, NAACP director of housing programs and acting chairman of the newly-formed National Housing Producers Association, disclosed Romney's acceptance of an invitation to address the nationwide meeting of builders, planners, contractors, developers, engineers, architects, financiers, realty brokers, insurance agents, attorneys and others interested in producing shelter for low- and middle-income families.

Mr. Morris said that Secretary Romney welcomed the opportunity to meet with black entrepreneurs in the housing field. An attendance of 400 is expected.

Model Cities Election May 10

Election for membership on the Model Cities Planning Board will be held May 10.

Barnacle Goose
In medieval times the fact that no eggs or goslings of the species were ever found gave rise to the legend that the barnacle goose emerged, fully developed, from barnacles, hence its name.

Slides To Be Shown At Walnut Hill

Mark Engelbrecht, one of the architects hired by Model Cities Planning Board will show slides which have been shown at the Julia B. Mayer Center and the Walnut Hills Center Friday, May 16, at 7:30 P.M., at the Walnut Hills Opportunity Center, 1127 13th Street.

There has been discussion as to location of schools, playgrounds, homes for the elderly. Plans are calling for a senior citizens home between 12th and 13th and University and Carpenter; a playground between 11th and 12th and Enos and Laurel; a large apartment complex between 12th and 13th and Enos and Ascension.

These plans have been called to the attention of the Walnut Hills Improvement Board.

See Rights Bill For Council Bluffs

Council Bluffs, Iowa. Backed by the NAACP and many right thinking people including the clergy in Council Bluffs, it appears that the City Council will pass a human rights ordinance patterned after the type suggested by the State Human Rights Commission.

A small ad hoc committee of the John Birch Society appeared to be the only concerted opposition. Robert Jordan, president of the local branch, said that Negroes haven't had any problems with the local police but there were areas of housing and employment where Negroes were discriminated against and that passage of such an ordinance would help to alleviate the situation.

The illegibility of the signature seems to be directly proportionate to the importance of the position held by the signer.

Conceited people generally have faulty vision. They can't see themselves as they are, or they'd go to an "I" doctor.

If some gals would carry rear-view mirrors, they'd never again wear slacks.

For most of us, by the time we get to ride in a custom-built auto we're too sick to enjoy the ambulance trip.

The next time you object to the doctor's fee, recall—you're still around to pay it, aren't you?

Turnpikes

Control of early American highways was given to the individual states, which levied tolls for their maintenance. Toll houses were equipped with long pikes to stop travelers for the collection of tolls and, after collecting the fees, the gatekeeper turned the pike. The roads thus came to be called "turnpikes."

Swept Overboard, He Saved His Ship

Captain Charles P. Low awoke with a start that night of January 14, 1848. Had he dreamed that his ship was going down in a heavy sea or was it really foundering? As the Clipper Ship "Houqua," his first command, cut the placid waters of the Indian Ocean on the run from New York to Hong Kong, he awoke at 2 a.m. with a premonition that something was wrong. The barometer read 29.80 as it had for several uneventful days. But within minutes it fell four-tenths and Low knew trouble was brewing.

Within two hours the "Houqua" was running before a furious gale. The sky was massed with black clouds, red lightning forked to the sea on all sides and St. Elmo's fire or balls of electricity lit up the masts and the yard-arms. By 6 a.m., according to the famed Disaster Books in the Marine Library of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, the fury of a full hurricane descended upon the "Houqua."

The foresail and main-topsail were torn to shreds, every furling sail was lost; three masts soon followed overboard. For hours the ship pitched and rolled.

At 4 p.m. a dreaded spoon-drift—a mass of water 30 feet high—smashed the "Houqua" on her beam ends and washed the captain overboard. He somehow hauled himself back on deck and managed to cut the lanyards of both the mainmast and mizzenmast. The lightened ship slowly righted herself. Had Captain Low been two minutes later, notes Atlantic Mutual's Disaster Books, the ship undoubtedly would have foundered.

All that night and early the next day, the Captain bandaged the injured, encouraged the frightened, and helped keep the pumps going.

By afternoon the hurricane had blown itself out, leaving a dismasted "Houqua" and a weary, but gallant captain, whose devotion to ship and men added an illustrious chapter to the annals of the sea.

But the chapter was not quite finished yet—he sailed the battered ship some 3,500 miles to Hong Kong for repairs, in itself an amazing feat.

Captain Charles P. Low was only 23 years of age!

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Is peroxide needed to color unwanted gray hair?

Hair care and beauty experts know that the first traces of gray hair—and even slight fading of natural color after chemical relaxing—can dull a woman's appearance and make her look older than she feels. While most women hate these premature aging effects, many are hesitant about using permanent peroxide haircoloring which may change the natural hair color while coloring gray.

ST. PAUL A.M.E. CHURCH NEWS

A Mother's Day message will be given at the 10:45 A.M. service by the pastor, Rev. Henderson Davis, "To Mother With Love".

The stirring, old-fashioned sermon by Rev. James Lenhart of Plymouth Congregational Church last Sunday was a joy to the congregation with the inspirational music of the combined choirs. Services were followed by the Feast of Seven Tables in the lower level of the church. The tables with cloths and centerpieces presented the seven colors. Rev. and Mrs. Lenhart were impressed and fascinated because they had never seen such a project before and were very much interested in the details of the planning.

A meeting of importance of the official Board will be held Monday, May 12, at the Parish House. Plans for the progress of the church are being formulated.

Members and friends of St. Paul are urged to mark Sunday, June 15, as the day of an old fashioned basket picnic at 1:30 P.M. at McHenry Park, 1012 Oak Park Avenue. The affair is sponsored by the Laymen's Organization.

A WORD TO MARCA HOGAN: "Beyond the hospital walls surrounding you, are the townspeople awaiting continuing good news of your progress. Work away, girl 'cause we're with you!" Marca, injured in a car accident, you will remember is the daughter of the Malcolm Hogans.

HEARD ABOUT THE MON-ARCHES' ANNUAL DINNER PARTY for their wives and other friends held at the Kirkwood Hotel this past weekend! As always it is one of the most talked about club affairs. Carol Jackson is president.

MILTON AND DARLENE FLORENCE had Better Homes and Gardens redo their home and guess what? Their home is featured in the May issue of Better Homes and Gardens.

LOVELY CHARLOTTE LINDEY IS PURSUING A J. P. MODELING COURSE while attending Grand View College. This is real smart planning. Visiting with her and her girl friend in James Piggee's well-appointed studio, I sensed "here is a sure winner!"

MET ATTRACTIVE NOLA BLACK, formerly of Waterloo, Iowa, who attends American Institute of Business. She plans becoming a key punch operator. Miss Black is a graduate of East Waterloo High School, and is a pleasing addition to our young career women.

"THE BOYS FROM SYRACUSE" playing at The Drama Workshop brought us Lori Gallogly again. Her voice is tremendous, and her acting both lively and pert! John F. Kintz, Dromio of Syracuse, a delightfully devilish comic, gave a fine performance. Diane Eddy played Luciana and gave an excellent performance. She has a lovely voice.

JACK MISHLER? A MOST TALENTED PERFORMER has demonstrated his unmistakable mastery of the stage in "The Boys From Syracuse". Mishler on May 1 was asked to step into the role of Dromio of Ephesus, thereby replacing David Mullin, who was taken ill. Mishler's first appearance was three days later on Thursday, May 3! He is tremendous in the part. (It is expected that Mullin will get to play his role on this weekend.)

HENRIETTA KAGIN (MRS. ARTHUR K.), make-up artist, is much involved with Jack Mishler's surprise appearance in the role of Dromio! You may recall that Dromio of Ephesus and Dromio of Syracuse turn out to be twins. As twins John Kintz and David Mullin had grown beards and equally long heavy sideburns. It was Henrietta's task to give Jack a beard perfectly matching that of John! And that is what she did! One might say that if Mishler's appearance on stage was a surprise, for Henrietta he was equally surprising backstage! Henrietta enjoys a reputation as an actress that equals her skill as make-up artist.

ROSA CHAGNON AS LUCE in the same production gave one of her best performances - in my humble opinion! Somehow she always stars irrespective of the role's status. As Luce she is a star and displays great warmth as well as humor. Incidentally, Rosa served coffee in the Community Playhouse Green Room Sunday night a week ago during the run of "Raisin in the Sun". To see her serve as hostess, so quiet a role, was startling to me! The gal is never quiet!

THERE ARE BOMBINGS AND THEN THERE IS THIS: From a window of Newark's Park Lane Hotel, Mrs. R. L. Baynard's two Friends told her of having seen her belongings on the sidewalk below. This couple were Buffalo, New Yorkers and in Newark for an annual church affair. When last I talked with her, she stated the hotel was offering her $50.00 (fifty dollars)!!

Cereal and Ice Cream... A Winning Breakfast Team

If the family's hankering for something different for breakfast this Spring, but you dare not blow that tight morning time schedule, consider jellied cereal with ice cream. This is an easy way to entice youngsters and adults to the table for their morning energy and nutrition.

Current jelly sauce drizzled over corn flakes provides an interesting flavor accent. A scoop of vanilla ice cream on each serving replaces the customary milk. To save time, make the sauce a day ahead. Then the cereal a la mode will be ready by the time the toast is buttered and orange juice is poured.

Jellied Corn Flakes A La Mode

1/4 cup currant jelly	1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1/4 cup light corn sirup	4 cups corn flakes
1/4 cup orange juice	1 pint vanilla ice milk or ice cream, softened
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine currant jelly, sirup and orange juice; heat, stirring constantly until jelly melts and mixture comes to a boil. Stir in spices. Chill. Arrange each serving of cereal in a serving dish. Drizzle 1/4 of sauce over each cereal serving. Top with ice milk or ice cream. Yield: 4 servings.

Set Your Table With Vegetables From Your Own Garden: Vegetables Are The "In" Plants Among Young Gardeners

If the latest statistics are correct, more people will be growing vegetables in their home gardens this year than in the past ten years or so.

Vegetables are "in" and the American housewife put them "in" the home garden.

Over the past few years, the "little woman" of the household has made some startling discoveries. First, the average size of new home plots today is larger than ten years ago and there is room for a vegetable garden. Next, she discovered that the old belief of vegetables being less expensive in Summer doesn't hold up. Home-grown vegetables are a saving on the food budget.

There is no denying, either, that vegetables coming from the garden are much fresher and more nutritious, and you can grow varieties and types which are not generally available in stores.

Finally, she discovered that healthy, insect-free vegetables are not difficult to grow.

In the Spring a wide assortment of already-started vegetable plants is available from garden shops, nurseries and other stores. Setting out started plants is much easier than sowing seeds indoors and hoping they will be suitable for outdoor planting.

Weeding and watering the

Don't forget home fruits. A few apple trees keeps a family well supplied. Use same lawn and garden spray to keep bugs away.

vegetable garden are no more difficult or demanding, than the rose or annual border. In fact, if the vegetable garden is situated where it is not in view, and most are, a mulch of straw, salt hay or other material around the plants will curb weed growth and help the soil retain water.

Insects present no problem, either. When one chemical insect control can be used for vegetables and flowers, such as Spectracide, lawn and garden insect control, all spraying can be done at one time. Also, there is no need for taking extra time to mix individual sprays for vegetables.

There are a number of "old favorite" vegetable varieties that can be grown, but the newer ones should be tried, too. Disease resistance has been bred into many new varieties, as well as improved flavor and larger size.

This year take a tip from other housewives and plant some vegetables. They are not only easy to grow, but you will be making quite a contribution to the household.

Insects are no problem in the home vegetable garden. Regular spraying with Spectracide keeps plants healthy and blemish free.

Spice CABINET

CHICKEN ITALIANO

2 pounds chicken parts, fresh or frozen (thawed)

2 tablespoons flour

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon pepper

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) mushroom gravy

1/4 cup chopped tomato

1/2 teaspoon oregano, crushed

Dust chicken with flour, salt and pepper. In skillet, brown chicken in butter; add remaining ingredients. Cover; cook over low heat 45 minutes. Stir now and then. Uncover last 5 minutes to thicken gravy. Four to 6 servings.

Most cotton knits now have wrinkle-resistant, shape-holding finishes, and are machine-washable. If you prefer to hand wash, remember to squeeze the garment without twisting, and rinse without wringing. After rinsing, blot out excess moisture by rolling the garment in a clean bath towel. Spread it flat on dry towels to dry. Smooth and shape the garment in place. If touchup ironing is needed, use a steam iron.

WHY EXEMPT
SCHOOL BOARD?

The Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination has offered its services to the school board in handling racial discrimination. Some members objected to the idea arguing that the commission was hornin' in on a territory not meant for their services.

Rather interestingly enough, when the first Mayor's Commission was established, city departments operated on the theory that they were not covered by the commission.

Of course, the assumption was not true and they quickly found out. Neither is the school board exempt now. The ordinance does not exempt anyone or any organization from practicing racial discrimination. Neither does it attempt to specify or exclude anymore. Its duties are the same as any other enforcement commission in the city government.

WILL WE CODDLE
THE FIREMEN?

The strike of the Des Moines fireman has been settled. At least, they have gone back to work and the threat of inadequate fire protection has passed.

The situation had degenerated into a pure question of "law and order." The city had secured an injunction against the union and the men; they had been found guilty of contempt of court for failure to obey the court order to return to work; the judge levied fines against the union, the officers and several of the firemen.

Mayor Urban displayed courage and good sense by demanding that the men either return to work or consider themselves without a job.

Undoubtedly, settlement will be reached. The men will not be satisfied with it as they reneged on the award of the arbitrator, a suggested procedure they had asked for.

The big question now is, "Will Judge Missilline insist that the fines be paid." Nothing was said about it when the men returned to work.

One of the things that has kept campus riots alive is the disposition of administrators to forgive students of their crimes. It has been done in labor disputes. But it is a mistake, only serving as permission for the law violators to go on and do it again. Public officials must display more backbone and insist that violators of all laws be punished.

SOUND ADVICE FROM JUSTICE MARSHALL

Speaking at a Southern University in New Orleans, Justice Thurgood Marshall told his audience that black students who defy the law should be made to suffer the consequences.

Anarchy is anarchy, and it makes no difference who practices it; it is bad; it is punishable and it should be punished," he said. "You can't use color for an excuse for not doing what you should be doing."

"Race is not an excuse for not keeping your house properly, nor is race an excuse for not keeping your children in school, even though they may still be segregated."

Marshall said he realized that "so far as race problems and minority rights go, the problems are not yet solved and I have no idea when they will be, but there has been some progress."

He urged that Negroes reject black militant leadership. Justice Marshall's career is an example of what Negro youngsters can do if they try. And his speech is an admonition to those who through hysteria or misguidance think the Negro can solve his problems by methods that require sound business, economic, political and social guidelines that have been made to work by other people excluding Negroes many themselves.

With Allen Ashby

Now we are looking forward to our visit to the annual spring practice football game at Iowa City. We got a call from a fellow who wouldn't give his name and wanted us to run his version of events concerning the black athletes. We told him we couldn't do that unless he identified himself. So he said he would see us in Iowa City May 17. By that time the whole thing will be old news and maybe not worth much.

Sports' Paradise

Last Saturday was a sports viewers' paradise. It was all there on the tube; horse racing, baseball, football and basketball.

First the horse racing - it was one of those things where if you looked away you missed the race. Hope you had a winning horse, at least one that ran third.

Iowa State Football

The football game was a game type practice by Iowa State gridgers. Now what we saw of that we must say that the Cyclones aren't going to be shut out much this year. Not if they can hold the other guys down. Young Tesdale could become one of the outstanding quarterbacks in the Big Eight if he can stay in one piece all season.

Baseball

Now about baseball. This was about the time the St. Louis Cardinals were to be so far out in front in their division that they could start giving the regulars vacations. Well, they are having trouble just staying in there. But it is a long season so don't count them out yet. And over in the other half of the national leagues, the Cubs act as if they came to play. But again, it is a long season.

As we look at the American league anybody in either division has a chance at those two top spots.

Iowa Baseball Team

Here at home our Iowa team is doing all right in our Triple A league. They just might win the thing. Anyway they are playing good ball.

Negro Jockeys

Did you know that there was a time when some of the greatest horse racing jockeys in the country were black? And they rode Kentucky Derby winners too! Wonder if they can stage a comeback.

Speaking of comebacks, there is a really enlightening article on Cassius Clay or Mohamed Ali. It seems the guy had to quit boxing before people admitted that he could fight. Wonder if he will try to come back!

The Black Athletes

Editorial by Jim Zabel

WHO Sports Director

The cost of misunderstanding was never more evident than in the case of the 16 black athletes who left the University of Iowa football squad. Coach Ray Nagel says the 16 were "self-dismissed" because they failed to report for the opening of spring practice. Spokesmen for the Black Students Union says the group merely intended to protest - not to "leave" the athletic program altogether. (Be that as it may, the 16 are not on the football team this spring...and it is problematical, according to reports from Iowa City, whether they will be on it again.) There is no question the 16 had, and have legitimate grievances. The fact that the Athletic Board agreed to look into them and try to solve problems in at least 5 specific areas - is proof of that. There also is no question that a coach must maintain discipline; if a team does not have that, it has nothing. The tragedy of this situation is not that these young men may not play football at Iowa again; the tragedy is that they may be deprived of the means for an education. Without an athletic scholarship a number could not afford to stay in school...thereby destroying the very thing that was at the root of their demands...the desire to graduate. Perhaps the dispute is beyond the point of mediation - perhaps feelings run too deep on both sides. Our hope is that the waters eventually will calm, cool heads will prevail, and serious talk can begin on a solution.

Until this happens, the events in Iowa City should serve as an example to everyone of the terrible price of misunderstanding - a few ill-chosen words, a few impetuous decisions can explode overnight into lasting bitterness. Let's hope the Iowa City situation has a happier ending.

Health for All

HEALTH FOR ALL
TB AND STEROIDS:
BAD MEDICINE

At first glance, the idea of any relationship between TB and arthritis seems about as unlikely as a culinary merger between spaghetti and ice cream. Yet there is an important link between the two hazards (TB and arthritis, that is). It's a matter of treatment methods.

Arthritis is commonly treated with steroid drugs; and these drugs can reactivate tuberculosis in a former patient. Steroid drugs can also cause breakdown into active TB on the part of one who is infected with the tuberculosis germ but so far has not actually been ill.

The implications of all this are sufficiently plain-and-ominous. The activation of TB by steroid drugs can be particularly unfortunate in one who lives or works closely with numbers of people—for example, a school teacher or an institutional worker. Local epidemics of TB have been traced to school employees under treatment for arthritis who have a past, half-forgotten history of tuberculosis.

The American Thoracic Society, medical section of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, recommends that no patient be given steroids without a prior checkup to find out whether he has a history of TB or is currently infected. This information can be gained through a tuberculin test or a chest X-ray; the ATS recommends both in such cases. It also recommends that anyone who has been receiving steroid treatment, and has positive reaction to either test, be given the highly effective anti-TB drug isoniazid while steroid treatment is in progress and for six weeks thereafter.

As a matter of simple safety, all school employees should receive a TB checkup periodically, plus appropriate treatment where disease or infection is found. For further information ask your local Christmas Seal association.

Wall Bench Can Be Moth Proof

Wall benches in a bedroom or recreation room can be made into effective cedar closets for storage of clothing and blankets vulnerable to moth damage.

Simply line their interiors with aromatic red cedar, which is available in pre-cut packages at most lumber yards. It has tongue-and-grooved edges for easy installation.

After application, the red cedar requires no finishing, and its pleasant aroma will repel moths and safeguard your valuable garments and bedding.

In such a home improvement project, be sure to line all surfaces including the inside of the lid, as the stronger the odor the greater the moth repellency.

QUESTION: I am 25 years old and I believe I now can get disability benefits because the necessary work credits have been reduced for workers disabled while young. I applied for benefits several years ago, but my claim was denied because I didn't have enough credit.

What should I do?

ANSWER: Apply for benefits at your social security office as soon as possible. The address is listed in your telephone book or you can get it at your local post office. A worker who becomes disabled before he is 24 needs credit for 1 1/2 years of work in the 3 years before he becomes disabled. A worker disabled between 24 and 31 needs social security credits for half the time after he is 21 and before he becomes disabled. A worker disabled at 31 or later needs credit for at least 5 years of work in the 10 years just before he becomes disabled.

QUESTION: I am a retired farmer. If I rent out my farm for cash, will the rental income count against my benefits?

ANSWER: No, not unless you materially participate in the farm operation. Cash rental income does not count toward the $1680 exempt amount unless you enter into an agreement to help produce the crop. Nor would you have to pay social security contributions on this income. Your social security office will be glad to give you a complete explanation of when farm rental income affects social security benefits.

QUESTION: I have gotten several payments from Medicare on doctor bills that I had while I was in the hospital recently. Now, it looks like I may have to go back to the hospital once a week for some kind of x-ray treatments. My doctor tells me not to worry, that Medicare should pay for most of it. I am wondering how this works since I won't be staying in the hospital overnight when I go.

ANSWER: This type of treatment would be considered outpatient hospital treatment and as such the Medicare payments would come under the medical insurance or doctor bill portion of Medicare. Since you have already had more than $50 in doctor bills this year, the hospital will send in the claim for the x-ray treatments and collect 80 percent of the costs. You will need to pay the hospital only the remaining 20 percent.

End Waste;
Have 'Half'
Cedar Closet

Out-of-season clothing and bedding should be stored in a place safe from moths.

This common sense idea is sometimes difficult to carry out, as some homes lack sufficient storage space. However a diligent look around your home will disclose out-of-the-way places that may have escaped your attention.

An example is the upper part of a bedroom closet. In most cases, the space between the clothes rod and the ceiling is "just sitting there, doing nothing."

Convertible Space

This waste space can be converted into moth-proof storage for bedding. You might call this improvement "half a cedar closet," as it would be.

The project requires only covering the upper area walls with aromatic red cedar lining—a readily-available wood you buy at lumber yards—and enclosing the space at the bottom with a drop out door, on which items can be stored, too.

Drives Away Moths

The natural fragrance of cedar wood drives away moths so they will not breed and leave their larvae to "snack" on expensive furs and woolsens.

Be sure that all surfaces, including the new "low" ceiling serving as the bottom of the upper cedar closet, are lined with cedar.

Another "lost" storage space in many homes is under the basement stairs, an ideal location for a closet to safeguard off-season clothing.

A simple framework of 2 x 4-inch lumber, 16 inches on center, floor plates anchored to the concrete, a door and, on the inside, aromatic red cedar lining as shelves are the chief requirements. The home handyman can build a closet in a location like this in a couple of weekends at nominal cost.

Space for off-season storage is where you find it. A little searching will pay off in real storage-making dividends.
