Howard University Names New President

Dr. Cheek, Former Shaw President, Named By Trustees

WASHINGTON, D.C. (June 5, 1969) - Dr. James E. Cheek, a 36-year-old president of Shaw University in Raleigh, N.C., was elected today as president of Howard University.

Judge Scovel Richardson of the U. S. Customs Court in New York and chairman of the Howard Board of Trustees.

tees, said Dr. Cheek was the unanimous choice of the selection committee and the Board.

The new president is expected to assume his duties later this summer, Judge Richardson said.

Renewed Shaw

Dr. Cheek, a scholar of theological history, took over the presidency of Shaw University in 1963 at a time when it was on the verge of bankruptcy, enrollment was down, financial support was meager and educational standards were so low as to jeopardize the school's accreditation. The institution faced a $280,000 debt including its food bill. Dr. Cheek appealed directly to community and business leaders and in six months raised $325,000.

The enrollment this year is 1,078 students from 20 states and four foreign countries. In 1963 the enrollment was 598.

Develop Physical Plant

Dr. Cheek's administration at Shaw has been highlighted by what is described as a "Renaissance Program" which had as its major goals redevelopment of the physical plant, complete reorganization of the institution's internal organization and the development of a new curriculum for an educational program based on the concept of "meeting students where they are, but graduating them only after they have developed to where they ought to be" as graduates.

A native of Roanoke Rapids, N.C., Dr. Cheek is married and the father of a son and a daughter. His wife is the former Celestine Juanita Williams of Newton Grove, N.C.

Dr. Cheek attended elementary and secondary schools in Greensboro, N.C. and graduated with a bachelor of arts degree from Shaw University in 1955. In 1958 he received a bachelor of divinity degree from Colgate Rochester Divinity School. He received a Ph.D. degree from Drew University in 1962.

His other positions have included teaching assistant at Drew Theological School, Madison, N.J.; instructor at Union Junior College, Cranford, N.J.; visiting instructor at Upsala College, East Orange, N.J.; and assistant professor in the School of Religion at Virginia Union University.

Support Anti-Bias NAACP Challenge

LEESVILLE, La. - More than 150 persons participated in a vigorous rally here, sponsored by the Louisiana branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, "to eliminate fear in Leesville."

Although the state police had been alerted to stand by, there were no other outbursts than the chanted cry, "learn, baby, learn!"

Addressing the rally, June 1, Emmitt Douglas, NAACP state president, charged discrimination against black servicemen stationed at nearby Fort Polk. "If Commanding General Charles Mount, Jr., doesn't act, we're going to ask the Defense Department to put off-limits to soldiers at Fort Polk every place in Leesville that won't serve black and whites together," Mr. Douglas declared.

These developments followed the arrest of 18 Negroes, all NAACP members, May 17, on charges of "investigation of vagrancy" when they came to Leesville to record the complaints of black soldiers. Those arrested were held without bond for 24 hours until Gov. John J. McKeithen and the Louisiana Commission on Human Rights interceded to effect their release.

The meeting was held peacefully after U.S. District Court Judge Edwin F. Hunter received assurances from local law enforcement officials that the meeting

Seek 450 Jobs for Hard Core Unemployed

DES MOINES, June 4 - A campaign to find meaningful employment for 450 of Central Iowa's Hard-core unemployed was launched today by the Merit Employers Council-National Alliance of Businessmen (MEC-NAB).

At a Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce news conference, Watson W. Powell, Jr., metropolitan chairman of MEC-NAB, announced an area-wide effort to encourage local employers to find jobs for unemployed or underemployed persons "based on a hire-first principle, followed by on-the-job training and remedial counseling to retain hires as productive employees."

Praised by Officials

Governor Robert D. Ray and Mayor Thomas N. Urban, both of whom participated in the news conference, praised the effort by the business community to actively seek a solution to one facet of the poverty problem in the Des Moines Area.

Powell, a vice-president of the Chamber, said that during the next month virtually every employer in greater Des Moines will be contacted personally by loaned executives from firms already participating in MEC-NAB. "It is our hope that we can have a minimum of 900 job slots pledged to the program. July 1," he said, "and that by June 30, 1970, we can have at least 450 unemployed in meaningful jobs."

Some 270 of the area's larger employers attended a dinner meeting at the Savery Hotel. Governor Ray, Mayor Urban and several MEC-NAB officials encouraged those attending to join the 100-plus firms already working actively with the hard-core unemployed through MEC-NAB.

Ford in New Move For Job Equality

LOS ANGELES, June 5 - Ford Motor Company has established targets, priorities and timetables aimed at achieving equality of opportunity "in every area of our operation," Henry Ford II said tonight.

The Ford board chairman told a meeting of the National Conference of Christians and Jews here that the systematic use of proven business techniques to achieve social goals is part of the company's involvement in a "hidden revolution" which already has become a powerful, constructive force in our society.

Mr. Ford said the company has established an Office of Urban and Community Affairs to plan, coordinate and help implement its "many varied activities" in the equal-opportunity area.

Mr. Ford said the hidden revolution, already well under way, "amounts to a revolutionary change in our thinking, in our attitudes and in our social consciousness."

"This is a great human movement that cannot help but result in a better, more satisfying future for

NEW YORK, June 9 - Teddy Kollek, the outspoken mayor of Jerusalem, said today that integration in Israel between Jews and Arabs is slow and difficult, but faster than what's happening in New York.

Kollek, quoted in an article appearing in the current issue of Look magazine, referred to the long and painful effort to achieve racial harmony between blacks and whites in New York City.

West Lafayette, Ind. - Establishment of a new Black Cultural Center, approved Friday by the Board of Trustees, is expected to have far-reaching results in alleviating any potential future black student unrest at Purdue University.

Also adopted by the board as part of the long-term program for black students will be the start of a new doctoral fellowship program for black students, establishment of a Center for Afro-American Studies, greater efforts in the recruitment and retention of black undergraduate students and faculty members, and general orientation of faculty and students with respect to black student problems.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June, 1969 - That generation gap everyone's talking about pulled a fast disappearing act in the Upper Midwest during April and May.

Its closing, according to the American Red Cross, can be attributed to the way the high school and college generation pitched in to wage battle against floods that endangered a 500,000 square mile area stretching from St. Louis north to the Canadian border.

The court rejected, 5 to 3, claims that Negroes have a right to refuse induction orders issued by all-white, or virtually all-white, draft boards.

The issue had been raised by Cleveland L. Sellers, Jr., 24, a former program director for the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, who claimed draft boards in South Carolina and Georgia were powerless to induct him.

The majority made no comment in deciding not to hear the case, but Justice William O. Douglas, joined by Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice Thurgood Marshall, declared the issue was one that the court should consider.

New York, June 5th: The New York Urban Coalition announced today the creation of a Communications Skills Bank to help members of minority groups find editorial jobs in the communications industries.

Coalition Vice President John Murray, who announced the program, said the Skills Bank would have two key functions:

all of us," he added. "In effect, we have joined in a declaration of interdependence calling for the creation of a more just and equitable society, a society in which all of us will understand and practice faithfully the spirit of common brotherhood."

Among First Four Named By National Agricultural Memorial

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Dr. George Washington Carver, the scientist, noted for his work in soil science, chemistry, botany and conservation, has been named to the Agricultural Hall of Fame with George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Cyrus McCormick and Justin Smith Morrill. They are the first to be honored by the national agricultural memorial at Bonner Springs, Kan., near Kansas City.

Dr. Carver, who was head of the Agriculture Department at Tuskegee Institute, Ala., for more than 40 years developed new products that could be grown locally, working especially with peanuts and sweet potatoes. A plaque honoring Dr. Carver was presented to the U. S. Department of Agriculture in 1965 by the Carver Commemoration Committee.

While the five men are noted for other contributions to American history, their selection by the Hall of Fame's board of directors was for their achievements in agriculture alone. For example, George Washington, who had 12,000 acres of land under his control at the age of 40, successfully demonstrated that farmers could be self-sufficient and independent of foreign markets. Jefferson was noted for his invention of the seed drill, a hemp rake and a threshing machine. McCormick helped settle the west with his invention of the plow and reaper. Morrill introduced the bill that President Lincoln signed into law that granted to the states on the basis of population, 30,000 acres of public land. Proceeds from sale of the land were used to establish the Land-Grant university system.

Romney To Address N.A.A.C.P. Convention

NEW YORK - George W. Romney, Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, will address the 60th anniversary convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people meeting in Jackson, Miss., June 30 - July 5. The Cabinet member and former Governor of Michigan will address the 2,000 delegates on "Meeting the Need for Shelter" at the July 3 afternoon session.

The convention will be opened Monday night, June 30, with the keynote address by Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors. The following night the 54th Spingarn Medal will be presented to Clarence Mitchell, the veteran director of the Association's Washington Bureau.

Convention Speakers - Other convention speakers, announced here this week by NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins, include the Rev. Gladstone Mxolisi Ntlati, executive director of the chief Albert Luthuli Memorial Fund; Samuel H. Johnson, U. S. Bureau of the Census; and Dr. Dorey A. Wilkerson, professor of education, Yeshiva University.

Sessions of the convention will be devoted to such issues and problems as the role of government in civil rights, schools in crisis, the Afro-American experience, and employment.

READY-TO-INSTALL KITCHEN REPLACEMENT WINDOWS

Andersen's easy-to-install packaged casement units are designed especially for remodeling kitchens.

Because they open easily, casement windows are a must in kitchens where you have to reach over a counter or sink. Casements also have efficient ventilating qualities and their graceful lines add to the attractiveness of any home.

The Andersen Corporation, Bayport, Minnesota, has packaged casement window units designed as replacements for out-dated double-hung windows, especially for kitchen remodeling.

The Andersen casement window comes completely packaged and ready to install, in four different sizes to fit most standard double-hung openings in older kitchens.

Housewives have long complained that kitchen windows in older homes — homes due for remodeling — are a major headache, often not compatible with the overall scheme of the kitchen's design.

Andersen's factory assembled unit is designed to solve this problem, and because of its convenient packaging can be installed with a minimum of time and work.

A choice of single-pane with removable storm panel or double-pane welded insulating glass is offered for all units.

Savory Steak Roll-Up

Here's a budget-wise way to serve steak that smacks of old-fashioned flavor. When winter winds sharpen appetites at your house, serve this stuffed flank steak as a hearty entree. Although the majority of delegates will come from the Midwest, some from Germany, Venezuela, India, Peru, Mexico, Korea and Canada have sent requests for accommodations to Convention Headquarters.
The Kansas City assembly is one of 7 such meetings in the United States this summer, with 25 scheduled in various countries around the world. They all have the theme: "Peace on Earth." The convention's major address, "The Approaching Peace of a Thousand Years," reflects their belief that true peace will come to this earth in the near future. It will be delivered by N. H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Society, the organization which directs the worldwide activities of Jehovah's Witnesses.

There are today nearly 1 1/2 million Witnesses in 200 countries of the world and their ranks are increasing at the rate of 1,200 new active members each week.

Why does some hair break off when combing?
Your hair is precious and delicate... and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does? Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New® spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs. Visit your expert hairdresser, who cares about your hair care and your comfort. Whatever the nature of your hair problems, only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure. © Clairol Inc. 1967 Courtesy of Clairol Inc.

WORK DECORATING MAGIC WITH VERSATILE WOOD PANELING
A young boy's room—designed for the rough-and-tumble activities of a growing youngster—can become a frill-filled hideaway for your teenage daughter, or a guest bedroom, study or rumpus room. And with little more effort required from you than simply changing furniture and furnishings. At the same time, you can give the room a different decor, whether it's contemporary, traditional or period.

It's decorating magic, performed with adaptable Weyerhaeuser Forestglu prefinished hardwood paneling.

Best of all, wood paneling doesn't require kid-glove treatment to maintain its rich and natural hardwood beauty. A special finish protects the wood against scratches, marks and scuffs. Cleaning is accomplished as easily as waving a magician's wand: simply wipe the panels with a damp cloth or sponge.

Prudent homeowners choose Forestglu for a number of reasons. The most obvious is bringing luxury hardwood into their home at moderate prices. Wood paneling is also an investment which adds value to a home.

And there's no need to re-decorate a wood-paneled room every three or four years. Every homeowner who has had to paper and repaper a room, or apply fresh paint, knows that this is arduous and time-consuming work, and often expensive, too.

Sturdy and durable wood paneling has to be installed just once, and it keeps the same lustrous look for years.

With Forestglu genuine hardwood paneling, you can choose from a variety of colors in walnut, cherry, elm, birch, beech, pecan, oak, hickory, myrtle and ash.

The big, 4 x 8-foot Forestglu panels install quickly and can be applied directly to existing walls. Panels are V-grooved at irregular intervals to give the appearance of random-spaced planks, and a groove falls every 16 inches for nailing. You can fill the nail holes with color-coordinated Putty-Stik.

BUGS AWAY!
Summer brings flowers, picnics, baseball, outdoor fun and bugs! If you've wondered where all the flies and mosquitoes come from, it's because they breed so rapidly.
It has been estimated that if one pair of houseflies started a family in May and every member of each generation lived and bred, the entire face of the globe would be buried a foot deep in flies by September!
Birds, bad weather and other insects keep the crowd down, but there are still enough left over to be a nuisance and danger to man. Bug Spray, available from Amway Corporation, has a 90% kill formula and is safe to use around humans, animals, and food.
Additional advantages of Amway's Bug Spray are its fast action on contact with insects, its lack of toxic residue and the fact that insects do not become resistant after repeated use.
Another feature of Amway's Bug Spray is the scent. Amway has been able to dispense with the familiar insect spray odor, and substitute a more pleasant scent.
Amway suggests that insecticide users to not be confused with the term "organic" in relation to safety of insect sprays. Many of the most toxic sprays are "organic" compounds. The safety of a spray depends on the ingredients in the formula, the amount of each ingredient used, and the way it is dispensed.
The use of Amway's Bug Spray, with its correctly balanced formula of the safest ingredients known, dispensed in a true aerosol mist, is the safest insect spray Amway knows of for general use.

LOOKING SOMEWHAT LIKE A MUMMY, John Monroe Branch is nicely settled at home after his recent fall at the Federal Building construction site. Hospitalized for almost a month, Monroe is now happily settled with his wife, Ogeretta, three year old Anthony, and six week old Johnna. The Branches reside at 1511 E. 17 Street Court.

CORINNE ADAMS' (MRS. CLARENCE) CAT AND KITTENS STORY must have appeared in "Lines" long, long ago judging from how her statistics now read! She is the proud owner of ten cats and twenty-one kittens! They include as many colors as I've known in my lifetime. The invitation to share her pets is still open—providing you promise a good home for the pet!

DOOR KNOBS CAN BE QUITE INTRIGUING! I have in mind some of those in the home of Ola Williamson (Mrs. S. J.) Just owning the door knobs would make one a proud owner of her home! Then there's the door knob on the private office of the two attorneys, Judge and Mrs. Luther T. Glanton, Jr. See what I mean about door knobs? Last week I stopped for a chat with Mary Clark (Mrs. Luther). As with the Glantons, there was this sole door knob. It graces the inside of her front door. It isn't overly large but its half circle background combined with the knob, makes the lock arrangement most ornate. I simply have to include those in the Roberson domain (she is Orzealyea R.). The home was formerly owned by the late Edith Webb Souers—she resided there until she was 100 years old. Her father was one of the pioneers of Des Moines. The door knobs in this place range from assorted sizes of China to the most unusual brass knobs!

MET YOUNG RITA FAYE SHARP shortly after her return home from a visit in New York City, Miami, Nassau and Freeport, Bahamas. It goes without saying that the 5'8" lovely had a most enjoyable time. Rita is the daughter of Mrs. Malie Sharp and Harold Sharp. In her travels she acquired a "daringly" fabulous wardrobe. The adjectives are the contributions of her friend, Mrs. Ann Bell.

VISITED WITH EMMA BETTIS LEWIS, of Chicago, this weekend. She was the houseguest of Leola and John E. Davis. It was a tremendous pleasure to chat with Emma, as it had been long, long ago that we last met. Emma was here to join the Mary Church Terrell Club No. 2 trip to Jamaica. (Note that Club's story in the social section of this issue).

THE FRANK FRANKLINS, ANOTHER OF OUR "FIRST" FAMILIES displayed solid support of their "Mom", State Representative A. June Franklin, at Simpson College's presentation of an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree. Present was her husband, Frank, who is now Human Relations Specialist with the Des Moines Human Rights Commission. In the family group was Nikki Wilson, an older daughter, who is a laboratory technician in an Iowa State University chemistry research lab. Nikki is a full-time student and made the Dean's List! She is working on a degree in micro-biology. Then there is Tanya, who just graduated from St.

John's eighth grade and will be entering St. Joseph's Academy. The charmer of the family is Charles, who will enter St. John's fifth grade next year. Not on hand was Deidra (Dede), Nikki's 2½ year old daughter. She was not allowed to attend because it goes without saying that she would have announced to the great wide world "There goes Nana!!!" The little tike is sharp beyond her age—her comments and actions are sometimes that of a 4 or 5 year old. Her advantages result from her daily care and tutoring by the wife of a Ghanaian student, who is enrolled at Ames.

AN INTERVIEW WITH A. JUNE FRANKLIN, OUR STATE REPRESENTATIVE: She expressed humility adding that she "felt real humble because the things I do for people and to get things done, I don't do them for glory and usually I work in the background. It is a great satisfaction to me to accomplish things and to know that things are happening because of something I have done whether or not anyone else knows it. The honor from Simpson has meant a lot to me because of the school that it comes from and because Simpson has always been a high quality school and has always been conservative and imaginative. They are doing a lot of things now and I feel that they are ahead and more progressive. In reality, Negro students there are ahead of a lot of other schools of comparable size. Now I am not saying that everything is all right at Simpson but I think they are making constructive efforts to do things. The President has a good attitude and progressive ideas, and most of the board members whom I met seem to be progressive. They have a twelve million dollar building program going on and when this program is completed they will have some of the most beautiful and modern buildings anywhere in Iowa or anywhere else. They have a beautiful library, a beautiful chapel which contains a fifty thousand dollar organ." She added that these are a few of the examples of Simpson College's progress.

The State Representative's thoughts then turned to Centerville's campus problems. "I am upset about what's going on down in Centerville!" I commented that Centerville is upset about it, too! She declared firmly "I think the dean is! And I think it has served to draw the white and black students together!" But you see it is going to take more than the concern of the faculty and the students! I think it is like it was in Ames. The townspeople didn't care! And after the townspeople went into action, a lot of the problems were solved! It remains, I think, that the situation is in their hands and if they sit back and quietly tolerate the actions of a few of the people in their town acting like hoodlums and practicing racism against the black people in the college, I feel that the college should be closed. This is Iowa, not Mississippi, and a black student has the right to go to any school and any college in the State of Iowa!" And so in short time, Representative Franklin had quickly resumed her role of standing for the good of Iowa's people, all of its people.

Mississippian Receives St. Ambrose Scholarship

Beautiful Jackie Tucker, an outstanding high school graduate from Clarksdale, Mississippi, has been awarded a full-tuition scholarship by St. Ambrose College on the condition that the Catholic Interracial Council raise sufficient funds for his room and board.

Tucker was recommended for the scholarship by Sister Carol Cook, B. V. M., former board member of C. I. C., and teacher at St. Paul the Apostle School in Davenport, who now teaches in Clarksdale.

To brighten basement stairs, carpet them with deck canvas, an extra-tough cotton fabric available at awning shops or marine supply houses. It comes in 31 to 33-inch widths. Glue canvas down with fabric cement. To give the natural-colored fabric a bright look as well as more durability, paint each step a different eye-catching color.

Cotton spurred the Industrial Revolution in England.

Quilted cotton pads will protect your mattress and insure its long life. Choose an all-cotton mattress pad with quilting stitches that are closely spaced. Cotton pads are highly absorbent, a must for keeping a mattress fresh. And the closer the quilting pattern in a pad, the more durable it will be.

BUSINESSMEN POSE EMPLOYMENT PROJECTS

Most schools are out for the summer. Thousands of youngsters either have found work or will continue studies which will keep their minds busy; thousands are free to do nothing - not all of their own choosing.

Last summer, Des Moines businessmen raised the funds and set in motion a project to give employment to idle youngsters. The demand for jobs far exceeded what had been expected. The project supplied a need which enabled many youngsters to occupy their time and at the same time make some money.

This year the project has been started again. In addition, the businessmen have gone further and set up a plan to secure employment for 450 hard-core unemployed. They have asked business firms to employ these people.

These projects are of value to the city and to those who are recipients of these jobs.

However, we believe there is more which must be done if this latter project is to succeed. Many of these so-called "hard core" people have long been on the perimeter of being allergic to work; many have had little training in the elements that make a good steady employee and thus do little and carry on their old habits which have made them "hard core" employees.

There should be a period of instruction and counseling preceding the assignment of these people to jobs. This would prevent - to a great extent - assignments which are failures from the start. People who keep busy generally stay out of trouble. The project is commendable and should command the support of the good people of the community even for their own personal satisfaction and peace of mind.

"LAW AND ORDER" CANDIDATE WINS IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minnesota had a municipal election Tuesday. Candidates for mayor commanded the most attention for one ran on a so-called "Law and Order" platform; the other candidate, while not opposed to law and order, knew that this type of issue was geared to a division of liberal and conservative people.

While the race issue was not brought out in the open as in the Los Angeles race, "Law and Order" meant disorder in the streets and on campuses and pointed clearly at the Negro.

It is unfortunate that campaigns in city elections have come to this but disorderly people have made it so. In many cities, citizens find it unsafe to walk the streets and often those who have been apprehended have been dealt with so lightly that others so inclined do the same thing.

We hope this type of campaign runs its course quickly. It will be done as hoodlums are forced to quit flaunting the law.

CAN'T STOP VIET NAM WAR WITH A STROKE

In the course of President Nixon's visit with President Thieu of Viet Nam, it was agreed that 25,000 American troops should be withdrawn from Viet Nam as a show of faith to the enemy in the desire to stop the war.

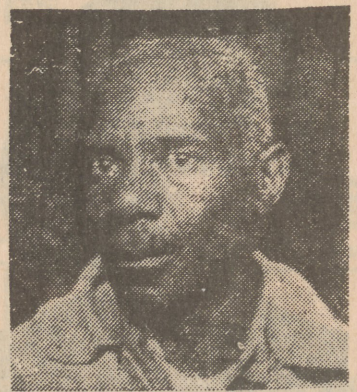

Certainly, this is a beginning and a challenge to the other side to do the same.

Some critics of the administration have labeled this move a token act which amounts to nothing, arguing that the United States can pull out of the conflict by one stroke. Of course, this cannot be done without the enemy taking the same action. Even in an ordinary fight between two people, this is not easily done.

America got into the war gradually: first by sending observers, later by sending instructors on how to fight, and later by participation in the actual fighting.

The American people are sick of the war; men are

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

An Old Guy

We were talking with a former famous athlete the other day. We asked him about his son who was doing pretty well in a different branch of athletics than his dad starred in. The old guy was proud of his son and said the boy could have done well in football or boxing, the old fellow's sport. "Did you teach him anything?" "No," the fellow answered. "I wanted to but I always thought a boy has to want to be taught. I volunteered my services a couple of times and he never accepted or rejected my offer. So I figured he meant for me to let him work out his own problems. If he had ever asked me just once I would have taught him everything I knew about either of the games." And that, we know, was a lot.

Talking Then we began to talk about parents who tried to help their sons and too often spoiled them. We recall a former baseball pitcher whose son was pretty good. Before every game, Dad would come to his son and say, "Now you are going to pitch to these fellows thus and so." Then he would outline every detail the boy was to follow. When the kid made one mistake he got chewed out in front of everyone. Of course, the result was that the boy stopped playing baseball. Then we had the case of the father who couldn't play any of the games too well, but who used to go to his son's basketball games and argue with the officials until the boy was embarrassed. He could have been a fine cager but he lost interest in the game.

Bragging And we must not forget the fathers who bask in the reflected light of their son's athletic prowess. "That's my son" or "I'm so and so's dad". Then maybe dad couldn't care less what Johnny does until Johnny suddenly turns up in the finals of a big tennis meet. Then Dad is there fussing over the boy, pushing aside coaches and people who brought him to the finals. Dad takes over the coaching so everyone can see he is the boy's father. Well, the chances are that son soon drifts away from tennis.

Over Zealous We have seen over-zealous fathers and mothers ruin so many fine prospects that when we watch parents act like nuts at a little league ball game, we would like to introduce a rule that parents have to be a half block away from the playing field and any violation would get the parent barred from all future games.

Now don't get us wrong. We are all for the proud parent who has a son who is good in sports, but we would guess that that parent's job would be to keep the kid going and encourage him when he has a bad day as he surely will have. To teach the boy to respect the rules and accept all decisions whether dying each day with little being accomplished which the average man can see. But, like the hand in the lion's mouth, it must be removed carefully, otherwise further complications can arise.

Undoubtedly, the Nixon administration is following the only practical course to bring the conflict to a close.

they are for or against him in the same spirit. Then that father is making of his son an athlete and a man.

VETERANS

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q - How many semester hours are required for full time training in graduate school?

A - An accredited graduate course will be considered full time when 14 semester hours or the equivalent are taken unless it is the established policy of the school to consider less than 14 hours or the equivalent as full time enrollment. A school official must so certify.

Q - I have a G.I. loan on my home. I want to borrow money on my equity in the home for my children's college education. Is it necessary to obtain the approval of the Veterans Administration for such a loan?

A - No. However, a G.I. loan cannot be obtained for this purpose.

Q - My brother received an honorable discharge from his Korean Conflict service. He later received a bad conduct discharge from his Post-Korean service. Does this bar him from all veteran benefits?

A - No. Benefit entitlement earned during your brother's honorable wartime service is undisturbed by his subsequent Post-Korean service provided there was a break between the two service periods.

As far as the bad conduct discharge is concerned, the Veterans Administration will determine, after a review of the facts, whether the discharge was under conditions which would preclude benefit entitlement.

Social Security

Health, Education Welfare

The IOWA BYSTANDER has made arrangements with the Des Moines office of the Social Security Administration to answer questions for our readers about social security and medicare. Send your questions to Field Representative Room 293 Federal Building, 210 Walnut Street, Des Moines, Iowa 50309.

QUESTION: I am working as a waitress and my income is mostly in tips. How do I get credit under social security for the full amount of my earnings?

ANSWER: If you receive cash tips amounting to $20 or more in a month from any one employer, you must furnish him with a written report showing the total amount of tips you received. Your employer will then report these tips for social security purposes at the same time he reports your wages. You will have to give him the money needed to pay so-

Health for All

HEALTH FOR ALL TB: 25,000,000 TO GO

"Twenty-five million persons need to be treated before their disease becomes active."

Twenty-five million! What disease? The author of that startling observation, Mrs. Shirley Ferebee of the U. S. Public Health Service, was talking about tuberculosis - a disease sometimes referred to as "vanishing."

The twenty-five million aren't ill with the disease, but are infected with the germ that can make them ill. As infected persons, they must be dealt with before the goal of TB eradication is within hailing distance.

What can be done? On the surface the answer may look easy: effective drugs are now available to remove TB infection. But the finding and treating of that many infected persons, most of them presently unknown, would be a wildly expensive project, feasible only with the support of public funds. Could public funds be marshalled for the job? That's a problem too. The need for such projects is usually measured by the number of annual deaths and new cases. Where TB is concerned those figures, fortunately have been growing smaller. Just the same, the 25 million infected persons who are potential patients and spreaders of tuberculosis aren't going away.

Government and voluntary anti-TB forces are trying to cope with the problem piecemeal on various levels-local, regional, and national. But unless it is tackled head-on in a comprehensive campaign, those 25,000,000 will continue to loom in the background for a long, long time.

Mrs. Ferebee, spelling it all out in the monthly Bulletin of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, points to the necessity of convincing public-health purse string holders that this job needs to be done if TB eradication is to become a realistic hope.

cial security taxes on your tips

QUESTION: I am getting ready to file an application for social security benefits since I will be retiring soon. What do I need to bring with me when I visit the social security office?

ANSWER: When you apply for your social security benefits, you should take your social security card, birth certificate or other evidence of your age, and, if available, evidence of your total earnings for your most recent year of work. However, if you do not have all of these documents, do not delay filing your application. Any evidence needed can be submitted after the claim is made.

QUESTION: I started receiving social security after I retired several years ago. My son, who is age 28, has been disabled since birth. I failed to mention him when I applied for social security for myself.

Is it too late to apply for benefits for him now?

ANSWER: It is not too late to apply for benefits which may be due your son. You should get in touch with your social security office right away. If possible, take your son into the office. If he is unable to leave home, the social security office will send someone to your home to complete the necessary papers.

QUESTION: I will be 65 soon but do not plan to retire yet. Is there anything I have to do about social security?

ANSWER: Even if you plan to keep working, you should file your social security application two to three months before 65. This will give you protection under Medicare as soon as you are 65. Also, it is possible in some cases to pay benefits for at least part of the year even when you work full time all year.

Send Yours Today

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q - I didn't have to file an estimated return in April but you mailed me a reminder notice about the June installment. Do I have to pay anything?

A - If you do not meet the requirements for filing an estimated tax declaration please ignore the notice. Reminder notices for the June 16 installment were sent to all those who were mailed the new estimated tax packages in February based on possible liability for payment.

Briefly, an estimated tax declaration may have to be filed and installment payments made if you expect to have a balance due of $40 or more when you file your 1969 Federal income tax return. You can obtain details on filing requirements by sending a post card to your local district office. Ask for a copy of Publication 505, Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax.

Q - I teach and plan to go to summer school. Can I deduct the cost of my courses?

A - Generally, educational expenses are deductible if they are expressly required by your employer or if they are necessary to maintain or improve your skills in your present position. No deduction can be taken for courses needed to meet the minimum standards of employment or to obtain a new job.

For additional details send a post card to your district director requesting a free copy of Publication 508, Tax Information on Educational Expenses.

Q - I bought some stock five years ago that has tripled in value. Is it true that if I give the stock to my son I won't have to pay income tax on my profit?

A - Yes, tax law permits you to make a gift of this sort. Note that if the fair market value of the stock plus any other gifts to your son is over $3,000 in any one year you will have to file a Federal gift tax return.

Your son will have to report as income, dividends received on the stock during the time he owns it. Also, if your son sells the stock, his cost basis will be your cost basis plus any gift taxes paid.

Q - We are expecting our first child next month. When can we start taking a withholding exemption for the baby?

A - You can make a change in your withholding anytime after the child is born by filing a new Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Exemption Certificate.

Keep good records of your medical expenses this year as well as any reimbursements you receive from insurance. They will be helpful if you decide to itemize deductions on your 1969 return.

Q - What records do I need for tax purposes on gifts to charity? A - To substantiate a charitable contribution deduction, you will have to show the amount of the gift, the date and the name of the organization. If you make a gift of property, keep a record of its description and how you figured the value.

Cancelled checks, receipts and other records will be needed for this substantiation. When you make a cash contribution to charity ask for a receipt, so you will have a record of the gift.
