Membership Chairman Lists Objectives

The Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (N.A.A.C.P.)

opened its 1969-70 membership drive Monday with a review of goals sought for the black community in the coming 12 months. A goal of 1,000 new members has been set.

John M. Estes, Jr., chairman, said that despite a good beginning, "in all honesty, we should not have to bow down to remind certain people what a great job they have done on our behalf."

"These people should really look and see that the black problem is still here and the inner city problems are the same—economics, education, housing and social," he said.

Objectives

He listed these objectives:

1. Work for basic right-to-work legislation.
2. Request of the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training a periodic report on the number of blacks placed by the agency during 1969-70.

3. Continue to oppose de facto segregation in schools and support the community busing program; work to upgrade individual schools.
4. Make a concerted effort to deal with inner-city problems in education, housing, employment and social conditions.

5. Continue a working relationship with the mayor's task force on housing in order to create a new city housing code.
6. Work through the mayor to create a rumor control center.

7. Continue efforts to promote better police-community relations.
8. Implement a realistic welfare program.

The N.A.A.C.P. membership drive goal is 1,000, Estes said. Membership is not limited to blacks.

Klan Harrasses Negro Mother

NEW YORK -- The Justice Department was asked to protect a South Carolina mother of five whose children have been beaten and whose house has been shot up and burned. Jack Greenberg, Director-Counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF), sent a telegram to Attorney General John R. Mitchell in which he asked federal protection for Mrs. Victoria DeLee who has been fighting for school desegregation in Dorchester County, South Carolina since 1965.

Kill Tory
Ridgeville is a small town northwest of Charleston in Dorchester County South Carolina. There are four roads leading into Ridgeville, and on all four of these roads is written in big red painted letters "Kill Tory, Kill Tory."

Kelly New Davenport NAACP Pres.

Thomas Kelly, Davenport lawyer, was elected July 23 to succeed Powell Owens as president of the Davenport branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Powell resigned last month for personal reasons.

Kelly said there would be no administrative changes at this time. He added that "the branch needs to be ever aware of its purpose, which is to eradicate the injustices that exist in our community."

Kelly has been chairman of the legal redress committee three years and has been an executive board member since 1965.

At its next regular meeting, Aug. 4, the chapter will discuss charges by Rev. Charles Smith that all Quad-City commercial banks, except one, are not extending guaranteed low interest rate student loans to moderate and low-income families.

TOM WICKER—NEW YORK TIMES

Symposium Conducted at Drake U. By Bishop Thomas

Iowa Bishop James S. Thomas of the United Methodist Church is conducting a three-week sociological symposium at Drake University. Titled "A Study of American Society," the symposium was designed to help participants understand certain social realities which provide insights for understanding American society.

Social Change

Patterns of social change have also been discussed. The three factors considered in the study of social change were the scientific revolution and its continuing "fall out," the radical shift in institutional norms and expectations, and the emerging freedom which involves renewed assertion for rights, the counterplay of extremist groups and the challenge and defense of institutional norms. Bishop Thomas, also commented on the Apollo 11 landing and moon walk, for the Bystander this week.

ment said, "This trip to the moon was an undeniably great achievement. It opens new vistas for man's exploration of the universe. My chief concern is that this will not mean a continuation of exploration in the physical universe without the same kind of attention to the human problems of over-population, world peace, racial harmony and poverty."

Train Porters Given Another Opportunity to Test Job Bias

ST. LOUIS -- Ten Negro train porters who sued the Missouri Pacific Railroad on charges of racial discrimination in wages and conditions of employment have been granted another opportunity to challenge the railroad in court on violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Suit Dismissed

An opinion handed down by the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit here, July 16, vacated the District Court judgment which dismissed the porters' suit on the ground that the 1964 Act was not applicable in light of the Railway Labor or Act which does not prohibit the racial discrimination.

Superseded

The Appeals Court sustained the contention of the porters through their NAACP attorneys, Miss Barbara Morris of New York City and George Howard, Jr., of Pine Bluff, Ark., that the Civil Rights Act of 1964 superseded the earlier Railroad Act. The railroad, the court ruled, "is not exempt from the provisions of Title VII." Accordingly, the case was remanded to the lower

KRNT-TV To Carry Black Heritage

"Black Heritage: A History of Afro-Americans," the series now being shown on 87 affiliates of the CBS Television Network, moves into the dynamic period of the 40s and 50s during the month of August. The program is shown locally on Station KRNT-TV at 6:30.

Subjects

A look at the subject matter covered, reveals the explosive nature of the Afro-American fight for rights in this period. Beginning with "The Expansion of the Ghetto," the topics range through music, religion, politics, economics and the 1954 Supreme Court decision on education.

Period Includes

The period includes the provocative and exciting "Freedom Movement" including the Montgomery, Alabama bus boycotts and the rise of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the sit-ins and mass marches, and, the organization of the rural South.

New York-Columbia University has announced the election of five Trustees—a community restoration expert, a current Paris peace talk negotiator, two university heads, and a Harlem community leader.

The announcement was made by William E. Petersen, chairman of the University Trustees.

The five are: -- Dr. Andrew W. Cordier, acting president of Columbia; -- Franklin A. Thomas, president and executive director of the Bedford-Stuyvesant Restoration Corporation; -- Lawrence E. Walsh, first deputy to Henry Cabot Lodge, chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks; -- Dr. W. Clarke Wescoe, until recently chancellor of the University of Kansas; and -- Dr. M. Moran Weston, rector of St. Phillip's Episcopal Church in Harlem.

Mr. Thomas is the first Trustee to be nominated in consultation with the interim Executive Committee of the new University Senate. It is the first time that representatives of faculty, students and staff have had a role in the election of a Trustee. In accordance with the proposal of the Executive Committee of the Faculty for a University Senate dated March 20, 1969, the term of Mr. Thomas will be for six years.

First Negroes

Mr. Thomas was graduated from Columbia College in 1956 and the University's School of Law in 1963. He is presently the president and executive director of the Bedford-Stuyvesant Restoration Corporation. Mr. Thomas and Dr. Weston are the first Negroes in the history of the University to be named Trustees.

Navy's Top Negro Officer Lauds Troops in Viet Nam Operation

Washington, D.C. -- Sitting placidly back at his desk in Washington, the assistant to the Chief of Naval Personnel and assistant to the Chief of Chaplains for Plans said American troops in Vietnam are of a different breed from those serving stateside.

and his brother in Saigon attended church. They came in such droves that the chaplain had to move the location because the old site was not large enough to hold the number of servicemen attending services.

Feels Danger

Now far away from bat-

Capt. Parham

tle-torn Vietnam, the 49-year-old Navy veteran said he felt danger during his visit there.

"I would get up in the morning and hear people talking about where the bombs and the rockets hit the night before," said Parham. "And on several trips in country, I had to wear a flack jacket and helmet as a safety precaution."

Chapels Destroyed

Parham, added, "I also learned that the Viet Cong have very little respect for chapels and places of worship in Vietnam. While in the South, I was shown a place where a chapel was blown down just a week prior to my arrival, and I learned that the terrorists will strike anywhere they can, and kill anyone who may be there, I guess this includes Chaplains."

Commissioned in the first class of Negro staff officers in 1944, Parham was the first Negro to attain the rank of Navy Captain since the Civil War. He was advanced to his present rank in March 1966.

These days, recipes handed down from mother to daughter wind up as freezer wrappings.

25 Day Visit

Capt. Thomas D. Parham, Jr., Chaplain Corps (CHC), the Navy's top ranking Negro officer, made the statement on return from a 25-day visit to the Western Pacific area.

As a representative for the Chief of Chaplains, Parham visited several countries in the Pacific, including Japan, Korea, Guam, Taiwan, the Republic of the Philippines and the Republic of South Vietnam. (He also visited in Des Moines earlier this summer.)

For Freedom's Cause

Speaking of his visit to Vietnam, Parham said he found that the men serving there have a true sense of their mission, dedication, direction and purpose that is not common in other places he has visited.

No Resentment

"I found that the men throughout the Republic of Vietnam and particularly those in the hospitals where the doctors, nurses and corpsmen were working—that even with their 12 hours a day, 7 days a week schedule—they had no resentment or personal remarks about the time they serve (on duty) to accomplish their mission," he said.

According to Chaplain Parham, the servicemen's overall attitude in Vietnam is that they are convinced that their jobs are helpful and necessary in the pursuit for freedom.

Religion Upheld

The chaplain also stated that, percentage-wise, more servicemen attend religious services in Vietnam than in the United States.

Citing an incident during his visit to the Navy headquarters in Saigon, Chaplain Parham said, "One Sunday, while I was there it seemed that everybody

Dynamic, vivacious, and charming - who gets the job done! are my impressions of KATE GOLDMAN in my several visits with her, the most recent one to gain an insight concerning COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENT, INC. which seems to be one of the nearest and dearest things to her heart these days. Known to most of her friends as "Kate," her concern for youth is genuine. We share a common belief: that "...all learning is NOT obtained in the schools' classrooms. That jobs are an important key for helping young people on the threshold of adulthood to help themselves. Jobs are an extension of the learning process and an introduction into the responsibilities of the adult work world...."

Kate Goldman

1500 youths. In addition to the jobs, the young people, both black and white, are learning that a meaningful experience can be gained from doing a job well.

Her Idea

The program was the idea of Mrs. Kate Goldman, who felt that a job was one of the best ways to get a youth to use his time wisely, earn money and, above all, learn how to work harmoniously with other individuals. In 1967, the program began with an initial budget of $131,547 in contributions. The budget has increased to $181,849 in 1969, enabling a greater number of youth to be employed and involved in the program.

Job Range

The program is built around jobs and types of employment that are many and varied. The jobs range from office work to manual outdoor labor, and just about everything in between. According to Udel Cason, CII project director, the youths work four days a week with the fifth day reserved for "Action Day" activities.

Bright Future Seen

The future of CII looks bright for the coming year. CII is committed to support the already established New Horizons Program with job development and financial support through 1971. The program is scheduled to move into three high schools with the present ninth grade class as participants.

CII-More Than Just a Job

Two years ago, Community Improvement Incorporated (CII) was a hastily-initiated program with the purpose of giving Des Moines youth jobs to keep them off the streets. It gave some 500 young people something to do and some idea of how to handle a work experience.

Today CII has grown threefold, employing some court for proceedings on the merits of the charges of discrimination.

Long Complained

The train porters, an all-black corps of railway workers, have long complained that, although they perform essentially the same tasks as the brakemen, a lily-white contingent of railway employees, they receive less pay, enjoy less favorable working conditions and are denied equal promotion opportunities. Litigation initiated by the porters to correct this discrimination by the railroads and the unions dates back to 1946.

Originally Filed

The present case was originally filed Dec. 30, 1966, in the U.S. District Court sitting in Little Rock, Ark. In response to a motion filed by the Missouri Pacific, the lower court dismissed the complaint, June 27, 1968, on the ground of lack of jurisdiction. One month later, the NAACP filed a notice of appeal. This was followed, Aug. 2, 1968, by a motion for injunction and for stay of order of the U.S. District Court. The appeal was argued in the Circuit Court in St. Louis, last April 16.

New York - Black militants who demand that colleges create separate study programs and living accommodations for Afro-American students "are beating their heads against the wrong wall," in the view of a distinguished black educator.

Writing in the August Reader's Digest Sir Arthur Lewis, professor of economics and international affairs at Princeton University, charges these leaders with "deficiency of thought" in demanding that colleges and universities be used to "eradicate the inferiority complexes of young black adults."

Will Not Hire

"Employers will not hire the students who emerge from this process," he says. "And their usefulness even in black neighborhoods will be minimal." A more rational goal, he says, is for Negroes to focus on education that will build their economic power. "While we are 11 percent of the population, we have only two percent of the jobs at the top, four percent of the jobs in the middle, and are forced in to as much as 27 percent of the jobs at the bottom," he writes. "Clearly, our minimum objective must be to capture 11 percent of the jobs in the middle, and of the jobs at the top."

Top Jobs

Pointing out that most of the top jobs in the great American corporations and institutions go to people from some 50 or 60 colleges and universities, he says: "The breakthrough of the Afro-American into these colleges is therefore absolutely fundamental to the larger economic strategy of black power."

Barriers

Sir Arthur also criticizes trade union barriers, which he says "keep our people out of apprenticeships in the building and printing trades, and prevent our upgrading or promotion in other industries. "Probably the greatest contribution to black advancement would be to break those barriers," he says. "In terms of numbers, our greatest task is to conquer the middle - getting into skilled posts, foreman's posts, supervisory, and white-collar jobs - through

A Drill For Those Who Grill

For an outdoor party that's sure to be "in" and inexpensive - here's a quick drill for preparing the perfect barbecue grill. In Charlotte Adams' new book, The Heublein Party Guide, she suggests that while you're still in the planning stages, check your grilling accessories. Then if utensils are missing you'll have plenty of time to purchase them.

For your steaks to sizzle - and not your hands - have both tongs and a long-handled fork for flipping. It's wise to use asbestos gloves as well.

If you'll be cooking meats that need basting you'll also need a long-handled brush that you can keep next to your grill with the salt, pepper, A-1 Sauce, and other "secret seasonings."

Next, make sure your grill is clean, and you have a handy supply of charcoal. Only steaks grilled to a T will set your party on fire, so for tender, tempting T-bones, light your charcoal at least 30 minutes before serving time, letting the bed of coals glow until you begin cooking.

There must be no flame whatever when the cooking starts, thought some sparks will fly initially when the grease begins to drip from the meat.

Now, as your guests begin to arrive, start them mingling with a cocktail. By having Heublein bottled cocktails on hand for daiquiris, whiskey sours, martinis, manhattans, old fashioned, and margaritas, you can serve drinks by just pouring.

MISSISSIPPIANS

CLARKSDALE, Miss. - Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was the principal speaker at a rally called here, July 20, by Aaron Henry, president of the Mississippi State NAACP. Prior to the public meeting, Bishop Spottswood met with presidents of local branches throughout the state to map plans for intensified NAACP action in Mississippi.

better use of apprenticeships, of the high schools and of technical colleges."

Outnumbered

"Blacks in America are - inevitably and perpetually - a minority," writes Sir Arthur. "In all administrative and leadership positions we are going to be outnumbered by white folks, and will have to compete with them. The only way to win this game is to know them so thoroughly that we can outpace them."

To insist on separate studies and separate dormitories thus becomes for black students "folly of the highest order," he declares.

Russell Pounds Leaves Model Cities

The outgoing director of the Des Moines Model Cities project Friday criticized the federal government for failing to make implementation funds available sooner and the state government for failing to participate in the rehabilitation effort.

Russell Pounds, who has been at the helm during the project's planning year, will leave next week to resume his work on the research staff of the Department of Economics at Iowa State University at Ames.

He was granted a leave by the university to launch the federal program, which is designed to restore and upgrade aging neighborhoods populated by low-income groups.

Money from the $231,250 planning grant for the first year, which ended May 31, has been used up and federal funds for the first year of implementation haven't been authorized by the government.

The city is seeking $2,063,000 for the first year of the five-year implementation program for the 1,000-acre area north of downtown Des Moines. Another $1,148,065 will come from an assortment of other sources for a total proposed expenditure of $3,211,065.

Nannie Burroughs School Elects New President

Cincinnati, Ohio - Historic Nannie Helen Burroughs School located in Washington D.C. elected the third President in its 62nd year of history on July 8. Founded by the late Dr. Nannie Helen Burroughs, sainted Baptist Leader of Women, as the National Trades and Professional School for Women and Girls in 1907, this historic school has been renamed to honor her memory.

First Black and White Owned Magazine Company

Alfred Duckett and John R. Miller III

NEW YORK - The first interracial owned and staffed magazine company has been formed to produce EQUAL OPPORTUNITY, a new magazine for minority college students seeking career opportunities after graduation.

John Miller III, who is white, is the President of the Equal Opportunity Publications, Inc. publishers of EQUAL OPPORTUNITY, and Alfred Duckett, who is black, is Vice President and Editorial

Director. Both have rich backgrounds in the publishing fields. See attached biographies.

"By being interracial owned and staffed," said Mr. Miller and Mr. Duckett in a joint statement, "the magazine will be offering the best possible mix of ideas and reactions covering one of today's most volatile socio-economic problems - black man in the predominantly white business world."

60-Year Sentence To E. A. Bester

Eugene Anthony Bester was found guilty Friday, July 25 of second-degree murder and was sentenced by Polk County District Judge James P. Denato to 60 years in the State Penitentiary at Fort Madison. A previous first-degree murder conviction had been overturned.

Bester, 27, of Des Moines, was convicted by a jury last year of first-degree murder in the shooting of Carl Eugene Cooley Feb. 18, 1968, outside Hobie's Tavern, E. 16th and Walker streets.

He was sentenced Apr. 19, 1968, by Judge Gibson C. Holliday to the mandatory life imprisonment, but the Iowa Supreme Court earlier this year overturned the conviction and sentence because of an instruction Judge Holliday had given the jury.

Keep on serving. Keep on learning.

A man who serves in the U.S. Army Reserve is helping more than his Country. He's also helping himself. By keeping sharp for his civilian career through on-the-job training. Where the Unexpected is Expected
BY CANADA DRY
Unexpectedly, you're the family's favorite painter!
Without telling anyone in advance, go to an art supply store and get three inexpensive tubes of oil paint and some thinner, plus one brush and a canvas.
With your darkest paint, make three vertical lines and three or four horizontal lines, forming rectangles. With your lighter colors, fill in some of the rectangles. Add some odd title such as "Three Girls in a Breeze" hang the painting in the living room—and wait 'til the family learns, unexpectedly, that you're a painter! Just as Canada Dry never

Spotlight on HEALTH

HEALTH AND SCIENCE SHORTS

A two-day conference held at the New York Academy of Sciences dealt with a common problem that is often taken lightly, but is a frequent source of human distress: gastrointestinal gas. It has been found that 70 per cent of this problem is caused by swallowed air. People swallow air when they eat too fast or are emotionally upset. Only 30 per cent can be attributed to bacterial fermentation and food ingredients.

Dr. Jerome E. Weiss of New York City, a specialist addressing the Academy meeting, said that the distressing symptoms of distention and bloating are effectively relieved by Phazyme, a drug that contains digestive enzymes and simethicone, a specially activated defoaming agent that disperses masses of air bubbles.

Prudent exposure to the ultraviolet rays of summer sunlight has been found to help relieve psoriasis, a common skin problem. Also helpful is a daily tub bath in warm water to which a soothing bath oil has been added. And, to soften skin and speed healing, a modern version of a remedy that was known to the ancient Greeks is recommended by doctors. Called Alaphosyl, it combines a refined coal-tar extract with allantoin in a nonstaining cosmetic cream and lotion.

"Puppy dog dermatitis" may be the doctor's diagnosis when a child has an otherwise unexplainable outbreak of itchy rash.

An Indianapolis dermatologist, Dr. Arthur L. Norins, explains that problems arise when mites—often found on fondled puppies, take up residence on humans and reproduce. The physician, reporting in the American Journal of Diseases of Children, cites other recently published studies, including one by two army doctors. They prescribed for dog and for humans, an all-over, head-to-toe application of gamma benzene hexachloride lotion (Kwell).

Dr. Norins also found both Kwell and a second remedy known as crotonation lotion to be effective.

Naomi Bryant (Mrs. John W.) again invited me to join her party on its trip with West Des Moines Mount Hebron Baptist Church's chartered busload. Its destination was Paradise Baptist Church in Kansas City, Mo.

The two churches make yearly exchange visits. Both tabernacles have excellent reasons to be proud. Their buildings are splendid structures and require the concentrated efforts of their memberships. As I mingled with members and guests, I sensed their enthusiasm and pride in shouldering their great responsibilities. They do so with "joy and gladness". Mount Hebron's pastor is Rev. James Harris; Paradise Baptist Church's elder is Rev. L. B. Jones.

AS YOU RECALL, KANSAS CITY, MO. means a trip to Kansas City, Kansas, which means Marie Ross, former Bystander news writer. Saw her and her mother, Marie Ross Dave, and Ashton Ross, Marie's brother. Visiting with them is a tremendous pleasure. They are a busy threesome. Each has two to three things in process at the same time.

AN UNPLANNED FAMILY REUNION resulted when the Richard and Anna Payne Clan decided individually to visit its Des Moines members recently. First came Roy Payne from Chicago to the home of his sister, Annabelle Payne Blaney; the following week came Elizabeth Payne Jameson and granddaughter, Denise Williams, from Bay Side, New York, to the home of Malinda Payne.

As you know, Annabelle, Malinda, Carrie Payne Randle and Samuel make up the Des Moines family members. Lawrence Payne resides in Frazier, Iowa; Isaac Payne lives in Chicago - he is well-known to Ebony Magazine readers. Isaac was the only absentee. Needless to say, breakfasts, brunches, lunches, dinners and outdoor activities filled their celebrations. To 15 year old Denise, the most important event was the visit to her Uncle Lawrence's farm.

She was overwhelmed by its vastness and the farm animals. It was difficult to dissuade her from taking a pig back to New York. It was pointed out that her mother, Rose Marie Williams, just might not be in agreement with her choice of a pet. Rose, is on the administrative staff of Queens College, University of New York, Flushing, New York. No one could quite see a pig being a part of her overall plans for Denise. But Denise won a fine bargain: it is that she will remain in August and spend another week on the farm with Uncle Lawrence—to race up and down the hills and to pet her favorite pig. All such pleasures unknown to most New York youngsters.

MET ROBERT G. RANDEL, son of Carrie Payne Randle and Gilbert Randle. Young Randle is a pre-law major at the University of Minnesota, Minn. During the school year, Robert's outside employment is modeling with the Eleanor Moore Modeling Agency. During the summer, the resourceful young man garners only enough free time for sleep. Day hours are spent in a public relations spot as tour guide for the Grain Belt Brewery and evenings find him working for the May Brothers Foods, Inc. He would be the lawyer of my choice—what about you?

MRS. MAETTA SHETWORTH, MERCY HOSPITAL surgical technician student, has an extra "thing" going. It is a salt and pepper collection from all over the world. Her most recent additions is a pair of donkeys which arrived two weeks ago from England. I was attracted to her first pair of fish. These were from Canada. There was a pair of caraches from Puerto Rico; I examined a pair of bronze Western boots from Lincoln, Nebraska. Mrs. Shetworth is the mother of two daughters, Christal 11 and Dawn 9.

MOLDED IN THE FRENCH MANNER

In the heat of the summer nothing looks and tastes more refreshing than a shimmering sparkling molded salad. You could make a meal of this hearty combination of veal, celery, and pickles crowned with sliced eggs and crisp crackers. Cut it in small wedges and serve it as a tantalizing appetizer. Or feature it in a buffet of potato salad, seafood casserole, green tossed salad, and

MOLDED VEAL SALAD

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1½ cups water
2 (10 ½-ounce) cans condensed beef consommé
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 (2-ounce) jar DROMEDARY Pimientos, Sliced, drained
2½ cups cooked veal, cut into bite-size pieces
¾ cup thinly sliced celery
1 (11-ounce) jar mixed pickles, drained
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
MISTER SALTY VERI-THIN Pretzels
RITZ Crackers
TRISCUTT Wafers

Soften gelatin in ½ cup cold water. Heat remaining water with 1 can beef consommé. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice and remaining consommé. Measure ½ cup. Pass through electric blender with DROMEDARY Pimientos. Sliced, until smooth. Pour into a 1½-quart mold. Refrigerate until set. Refrigerate remaining consommé mixture until it mounds when dropped from a spoon. Stir in next two ingredients and ¾ cup mixed pickles, chopped. Spoon into mold and refrigerate until set. Unmold onto serving dish; garnish with egg slices and remaining pickles. Serve with MISTER SALTY VERI-THIN Pretzels, RITZ Crackers and TRISCUTT Wafers. Makes 6 (1 cup) servings.

Social Festivities Continue for Wimberlys

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wimberly were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Clinton and Mr. and Mrs. Loyatus Clark on Thursday afternoon, July 25. After a social hour at the Clinton home the party enjoyed dinner in the Steak House at the Fort Des Moines Hotel.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate... and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does?

Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New® spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

Visit your expert hairdresser, who cares about your hair care and your comfort. Whatever the nature of your hair problems, only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

A NEW SCHEME
IN HOUSING

Ever since the United States Supreme Court declared housing segregation illegal and restrictive covenants and deeds as unenforceable, most professional real estate operators have tried one gimmick after another to prevent the sale of property to Negroes.

The latest gimmick is the use of the tactic "choose your neighbor plan." And thus, when a house is found to be for sale in an area neighbors are asked to send cards to their friends informing them of the fact and asking them if they would or some of their friends suggest a purchaser for the property.

These cards are not sent to minorities and thus they have no opportunity of the first chance to purchase homes in the particular neighborhood.

The plan is a reminder of the grandfather clause qualification or other plans used in the south to keep Negroes from voting. Fortunately the NAACP, aided by other groups, fought these provisions through the courts and secured their nullification.

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission is working with the Real Estate Board and others to induce real estate men to cease such actions. They should for no devious scheme to keep a man from buying a house of his choice should be allowed to stand. Of course, Negroes, too, have a responsibility to help maintain good neighborhoods just as is the case with many people in Des Moines and elsewhere today.

THEY MADE THEIR WAY-GREAT

Anyone who watched the all-star baseball game and the announcement of new faces added to the baseball's hall of fame must have been highly inspired at the ovation given Willie Mays and Roy Campanella.

Mays, a player discovered in the back woods of Alabama and Campanella who grew up in the tenements of New York, are greats in their field and are so recognized. And along with their honors both men carried their share of the responsibility and their fans and the public liked them for it.

There are a lot of Willie Mays and Roy Campanellas over the country. Some might not be so great, but have made their mark.

THE JACKIE ROBINSON
BOB FELLER FEUD

Jackie Robinson and Bob Feller got involved in a bit of hassling over the latter's attitude toward Negro baseball players in the field and their future. Jackie contended that organized baseball should utilize Negro players, who reach the end of their career of their achievements as active participants and reward them with managerial and coaching jobs just as is being done for white players.

Sentiment was not so good just when Jackie first entered the big league games. Feller said, at the time that Negroes would never make it in the big leagues and yet near the end of his career he and Satchel Paige became great friends.

Feller grew up in a small community with no Negroes living in the county. He had no contacts with them and like his older neighbors cared little of them.

The argument between Robinson and Feller, while unfortunate in a way, has helped bring to the attention of the public, the baseball fans and management, that Negro baseball players deserve a future in their later years as do the white players.

WHERE LIES THE TROUBLE

Sylvia Porter, brilliant columnist whose articles appear in many newspapers including the Des Moines Tribune, says the hard core program is one of the most mixed up in the whole opportunity program.

Des Moines readers can testify to this because of the lack of results being attained.

Today, a rather silly flareup is going on in Des Moines. The whole trouble with the program is the foolish notion that people with no business experience don't know how to handle millions of dollars. The idea is altruistic but not businesslike.

Hilltop Tennis
21st Tournament
Opens

The 21st Hilltop Tennis Tournament opens here at Birdland Courts Thursday at 8 a.m. with one of the smallest entries in recent years. Among featured tennis buffs will be a mixed doubles team, Cecil Brewton and Esther Myers. In the 16 and under will be the Morrow brothers, Harold and Mark.

DECORATING CANS

There are many new different, and unusual uses to which you can put empty Canada Dry cans simply by decorating them.

Thinking of new uses for empty cans and of ways to decorate them appropriately can be fun. With a little imagination and ingenuity you can cover them with just about anything.

For example: You can coat can with plaster of paris and work in interesting designs before it hardens. Or, you can soak cheesecloth on starch and apply to can surface when still wet.

Here are some other uses, when decorating can is not only appropriate but necessary.

Pebble Can—(Fig. 3) Pebbles, aquarium stones or beads make an unusual covering. First, paint top and bottom rims with glossy enamel. Apply layer of self-hardening clay to entire surface, leaving rims exposed. While clay is still soft, press in pebbles, stones or beads.

News Montage—(Fig. 2) News paper clippings about favorite people or events, will turn a can into a cool holder of odds and ends. First, paint top and bottom rims with glossy enamel. Overlap clippings. Apply with white paste. When completely dry, apply coat of clear varnish or shellac.

MODERN BATH IDEAS
OUTDO ANCIENT ROME

It was the Romans who first introduced the world to the concept of the bath as a luxurious ritual. And a ritual it truly was in those days, involving exercise, a steam room, the tepidarium of more moderate temperature, the cold room and finally a dip in an icy pool.

To the Roman the luxury of the bath was the end in itself. Today on the other hand, cleanliness is the first objective.

As years have gone by, many of the elements introduced by the Romans are still present. Sunken tubs, the rage of Caesar's contemporaries, are every bit as popular today. The tiles that covered the floors of the Roman steam room now appear in the most modern contemporary bath.

But modern science has developed bath preparations of which the Romans never dreamed. Today's laboratories have perfected skin cleansers that work scientifically to help prevent the odor of perspiration that is decomposed by bacteria on the skin. Hyper-

With Allen Ashby

Our 21st annual Hilltop Tennis meet gets off the ground this weekend and it will probably have the smallest entry list in years. But then one looks for that after the big list last year. Who are our guys in it? We don't rightly know yet, but there must be some. We have had but one finalist in the Men's singles in all these years and he didn't win. Maybe that is what has kept the thing alive.

Feud

We were a little interested in the so called feud between Jackie Robinson and Bob Feller. They are both fellows who speak their minds and in this case they apparently misunderstood each other.

Feller is saying that an ability alone should count was thinking in terms of playing field where nothing but ability does count. Robinson was arguing that too many Negroes with other skills and ability have been passed over when their playing days are over.

None?

Feller, we think really doesn't want to keep them out. He just doesn't believe there are any blacks around with that kind of ability. We think there were. Roy Campanella, Junior Gilliam, Satchel Paige, Chet Brewer and Elston Howard to men-

WATER

The eerie underwater world can be beautiful. But treacherous.

Swimming through the world has its thrills and hazards. Overbreathing is one of the hazards.

"What is overbreathing? It happens when a swimmer breathes deeply and quickly many times before diving. By this extra breathing, he hopes to build up his supply of oxygen. And, as a matter of fact, he can double or triple his time underwater.

May Be Fatal

But the swimmer who overbreathes may stay under a lot longer than he wants. He may never come up. Overbreathing can sometimes be fatal. To avoid underwater tragedy, swimmers usually should not take more than two or three breaths before plunging into the beautiful, watery world.

Two or three breaths.

Blackout

tiful, watery world. Two or three breaths. The bursting feeling in the lungs that signals swimmers to come up for air may never happen after overbreathing. And an unexpected blackout makes these swimmers lose consciousness — and drown.

Tragedies

Tragedies take place every summer on beaches across the country. Some of them overtake expert swimmers who overbreathe. Underwater disasters can be prevented if people know the facts about breathing.

More information about breathing and how the lungs work is available from your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. Before your next trip to the beach, check out the facts.
