Against Haynsworth Confirmation

Labor Union Heads Join Opposition

NEW YORK — Within minutes after President Richard M. Nixon announced his nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth for the United States Supreme Court, Aug. 18, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins dispatched a telegram to the Senate Judiciary Committee requesting opportunity for an Association representative to appear before the committee in opposition to the nomination.

His Dissenting Opinions
Immediately thereafter, the NAACP leader told newsmen at a conference in the Association's National Office here that "Judge Haynsworth's dissenting opinions in some key civil rights cases show clearly that he is not for pressing forward" to insure equality for the nation's black population. He announced that the Association was mounting a campaign to block confirmation of Mr. Nixon's nominee.

As early as July 19, Mr. Wilkins launched the campaign to avert the nomination of Judge Haynsworth. In a telegram to the President he warned that elevation of the South Carolina judge to the Supreme Court "would spell disaster to the entire racial equality program now embodied in law" and urged Mr. Nixon, "most respectfully but most emphatically to abandon the nomination of Judge Haynsworth."

Protest to President Nixon
In a later telegram to President Nixon, Aug. 12, the NAACP leader expressed "the earnest hope that Judge Clement Haynsworth will not be named. On his record Negro Americans and their friends would not only resent but actively oppose his elevation."

Meanwhile, the Virginia State NAACP, in collaboration with the Virginia Council on Human Relations and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, sent a letter to President Nixon, Aug. 6, stating: "We vehemently oppose the possible appointment of Judge Haynsworth. We believe that his appointment would seriously impede the movement for racial equality."

On Aug. 14, Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld, president of the American Jewish Committee, sent a telegram to President Nixon saying that Judge Haynsworth's record in the area of civil rights "raises serious questions" and suggests that free of the restraint of a higher court, "as he would be on the Supreme Court, Judge Haynsworth would vote to reverse the present trend toward prompt and effective desegregation."

Meany Opposes
Two days after Mr. Nixon announced his nomination, George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, announced that the labor organization would actively oppose confirmation of Judge Haynsworth on the ground that his record as a member and chief judge of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit reveals him as "hostile to workers and Negroes."

At his news conference,

Aug. 18, Mr. Wilkins said he was designating Samuel W. Tucker, a Virginia attorney and a member of the NAACP national Board of Directors, to testify on behalf of the Association against the Haynsworth nomination before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

WASHINGTON D. C.—Paul Jennings, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio & Machine Workers, issued the following statement on President Nixon's nomination of U. S. Court of Appeals Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr., to the Supreme Court:

President Nixon has made a poor choice in nominating Judge Haynsworth, to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Based on his opinions as a member of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, Judge Haynsworth stands among those who oppose civil rights progress and the rights of working people.

Court Action Against Segregated Prisons

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The government filed a first-ever suit Monday — an action to force desegregation of a penal system. The civil complaint is against Anderson County, S. C., which was the defendant earlier this year in the Justice Department's first suit to desegregate a country home for the aged.

The latest action charges Anderson County is in violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act by operating a segregated jail and prison farm, and hiring only white guards and supervisors.

Defendants in the action are Sheriff James H. Williams, members of the county board of commissioners and the county itself.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox have five children who have attended Adams, Wallace and Lucas elementary schools, Goodrell Jr. High and East High School in Des Moines.

Mr. Cox's major emphasis and concern will be that the quality and equality of education in Polk County continue to be improved. He feels that all students, regardless of their environmental, religious and/or racial background be given every opportunity to become better citizens through education.

Probes Bias in Military Bases

NEW YORK — Following on-the-scene investigation of racial disturbances at the Marine Corps' Camp Lejeune and the Army's Fort Bragg, both in North Carolina, Julius Williams, in charge of veterans and servicemen's affairs for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, recommended non-military legal assistance for the 26 men being held under arrest in connection with the disturbance at Camp Lejeune on July 20.

In his recommendations submitted to NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins, Mr. Williams particularly cited the need for full investigation of the charge of murder filed against five of the black marines as the result of the death of a white marine following the clash of July 20.

The NAACP investigator further recommended that nearby NAACP branches maintain closer contact with the military establishment, including enlisted men as well as commanding officers. Also, he recommended that the military be called upon to provide equal job opportunities, at all levels, for local civilian personnel employed on the base.

Accompanied by Charles McLean, NAACP field director for North Carolina, Mr. Williams spent two days, Aug. 15-16, at the bases interviewing more than a score of enlisted men in addition to high ranking officers. The servicemen at Lejeune complained that only Negro and Puerto Rican marines were arrested although white marines were also involved in the fracas.

Generally the complaints reflected basic gripes common to all servicemen, Mr. Williams reported. However, "there is deep-rooted feelings that undue discipline has been exacted

Former NAACP Attorney in Big Law Firm

NEW YORK N.Y. — Robert L. Carter, who resigned last fall as general counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will become a senior partner in a leading law firm here next month, it was disclosed Monday.

Carter, 52, a Negro, left the N.A.A.C.P. last November during a dispute over the group's discharge of a young white lawyer on his staff.

In joining Poletti, Freidin, Prashker, Feldman & Gartner, Carter will become one of the few black senior partners in major New York law firms.

Carter won 26 to 27 cases taken to the U.S. Supreme Court by the N.A.A.C.P. during his 20 years with the group.

The situation at Fort Bragg, Mr. Williams found was better than that at Lejeune. Programs have been initiated to resolve some of the difficulties, particularly off-base problems in nearby Fayetteville.

Pittsburgh, Pa. — Negroes in Pittsburgh are demonstrating in support of more Negroes in the building trades. They constitute only 2 per cent of the total force. Construction is at a boom and they want a share of the money being spent in the building program.

The appointment of Miss Renee Du Jean and Mr. Julius Johnson to the staff of the National Urban League, with assignments in the Fund Department, was announced by William R. Stung by criticisms over the years by neighbors, interested citizens and organizations, Polk County law enforcement officers showed Tuesday that systematic evidence gathering has been going on with the result that the Polk County Grand Jury presented indictments against vice operators.

Twenty-four persons were arrested Tuesday on 29 charges with more arrests expected.

Violations cited in the charges ranged from last January to June. Nearly all the grand jury indictments are based on purchases made by Des Moines policemen or made by police informants and witnessed by police.

Plead Innocent
Twelve persons pleaded innocent at arraignments before District Court Judge A. B. Crouch Tuesday afternoon. Judge Crouch set bonds for those arraigned and they were out of jail within hours after their arrests.

SECRETARY OF LABOR
GEORGE P. SHULTZ

Labor Department operates wide variety of job training and placement programs

Programs of the Department of Labor are far reaching and many, with a variety of titles.

How does someone sort through all the program titles and find the one that is right for him? He doesn't have to do it alone.

An integral part of the Department of Labor projects is finding the men, women, and youth who need jobs and helping them get situated in the job training project or job which is best suited for them.

Involved in finding jobs, screening and interviewing are the United States Training and Employment Services (USTES), which includes state employment offices; The National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB); Youth Opportunity Centers (YOCs); Concentrated Employment Programs (CEPs); Model Cities Programs and Neighborhood Service Centers.

Training programs in which thousands of Americans enroll include:

MANPOWER DEVELOPMENT AND TRAINING (MDTA)—which helps the jobless or underemployed be trained for existing jobs through institutional training in the form of classroom instruction; pre-apprenticeship training; on-the-job training (OJT) or "coupled training"—a combination of institutional and on-the-job training. JOB OPPORTUNITIES IN BUSINESS SECTOR JOBS—a program to hire and train 614,000 disadvantaged persons by June 1971 through the joint effort of the Department of Labor and the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB). It involves a commitment by business to hire disadvantaged workers and train them on the job.

APPRENTICESHIP TRAINING—helps men and women, ages 17 to 26 (veterans may add their years of military service to the 26 age limit), become apprentices to learn one of the more than 350 skilled trades and crafts. The Labor Department promotes the program among labor and management groups.

NEIGHBORHOOD YOUTH CORPS (NYC)—is for young people in or out of school, 14 to 21 years. The in-school program includes young people who work 15 hours a week, and in the summer, 40 hours a week out-of-school young people, 16 and over, get on-the-job experience so they may step into the job after NYC training.

WORK TRAINING IN INDUSTRY (WTI)—is part of the NYC out-of-school program and gives work experience and training in private industry to young people not ready for placement through the usual channels.

WORK-EXPERIENCE TRAINING—for poor adults and youths, which prepares them for regular

Busy Days in Oskaloosa
The month of August seems to have been a month of activity among residents of Oskaloosa.

It started around July 9 when Mrs. Robert (Cora) Franklin celebrated her 100th birthday. There have been many footsteps going and coming from 515 E. Avenue. Her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren have been here from Michigan, California, Iowa, and Indiana. Her many neighbors and friends of both races have called to pay her homage. Mrs. Franklin is fortunate to be efficiently cared for in her own home by a daughter, Mrs. Luella Johnson.

Other visits during August have been: Myron Tillman who owns a (re-modeled) home on 3rd Avenue W. had as guests his son and wife, Myron Tillman, Jr., and Robert (Bobbie) Nelson of Chicago, Illinois, and Mrs. Ollie Potter (sister of Mr. Nelson) of Rock Island, Illinois, Pet and Jack Hudson and Carl Taylor of Des Moines.

Mrs. Etta Battles and sons had as her guests her mother, Mrs. Gracie E. Simpson of Clinton, Iowa, Mrs. Iola Holliday of Omaha, Nebraska and her uncle, George Welch of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams of Chicago were in town to see their Auntie, Mrs. Mary Turner of the Nursing Home in University Park.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walker of 3rd Avenue W. have returned after several days in Chanute, Kansas, on business. Mr. Gregory Peniston left for Waterloo, Iowa, where he is now employed in the public school system. Most of the out of town visitors phoned or called in person to see Mr. and Mrs. James (Lillian) Walker, 501 S. 2nd Street. Thanks to our friends for remembering us. "Come again". We like other old soldiers, shall never die, we'll just fade away. Lillian Walker.

HURRICANE CAMILLE destroyed the seven room home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCathen of Pass Christian, Mississippi. The couple was among those evacuated to Jackson. The loss included all of their possessions. McCathen is retired and will rebuild their home. The McCathens are the parents of Hubert McCathen who with his wife resides in Des Moines, and is a therapist in the Veterans Administration Hospital Physical Medicine Department.

LYDIA AND HARBON MERRETT'S LOVELY SPACIOUS HOME was a lively place last week as their daughter, the former Donna Merrett and her husband, Jesse C. Hendricks of Columbus, Ohio, accompanied by their children, Miriam 9, Carol 7, and Diane 5 gathered with the Des Moines members of the family. The little girls have the lovely clear voices of the very young and on this occasion willingly for their Grandfather Merrett's tape recording. Their mother's exciting alto, together with their father's fine bass, made the young family's contribution a memorable one. Other tiny people present on this particular evening were Donna's nieces Lydia 5, Andre 5, Tanya 2, and 1 month old Charrell. This lively group's parents and aunts on hand were Mrs. Sandra Gibson, Miss Sally Merrett.

LOYATUS AND THELMA CLARK'S HOME IS BURSTING AT THE SEAMS as their son, Theodore (Ted) Duncan of Denver, Colorado and daughter, Delores Frelot of Los Angeles, California, were at home at the same time for the first time in twenty years. With Ted was his charming wife, Betty, and their four children, Thelma 19, Ted 16, Clark 14 and Kevin 12. The clan enjoyed wonderful summer feasts, barbecues, and get-togethers with their many relatives and friends. They are beautiful people and a busy crowd! Ted, as you may know, is a foreign pay supervisor—his career is a story in itself! Delores, former Veterans Administration Supply Division secretary is now secretary to the Los Angeles Veterans Administration Chief of Out-patient Service. Betty, too, enjoys a fascinating career: she is an OR in the University of Colorado Medical Center—that is, she is an operating room technician and works where they do all the transplants. This Center is noted for its kidney and liver trans-

JEAN JOHNSON SIDER (MRS. ARTHUR E.) accompanied by Aaron and Allison arrived at 10:00 P. M. Sunday night and left at 4:30 A. M. Tuesday morning. Aaron 2½ and Allison, 14 months old, took a back seat to a beautifully reupholstered chair which rode on the right side of the front seat along with Jean! The chair's new beauty was the creation of Wilson's Upholstery. It was a gift from her mother-in-law and special to Jean. It is only fair to say that Aaron and Allison still sleeping were transported from their beds at "Granmarri's" to the big, wide bed-like conversion their mother had arranged on the back seat. They arrived in St. Paul at 9:00 A. M. Scarcely a visit? Just a peekview! But a pleasure.

Narvin Kimball, widely known New Orleans banjoist, was again a guest of The West Des Moines Kiwanis Dixieland Band in its Sunday night appearance at the Iowa State Fair. The artist gained additional prominence when his composition "My Memphis Baby" was a part of the theme of the dedication of Beale Street as a federal landmark. The creation of this song earned him membership in the honorary musical society, The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Kimball's performance backed by the exceedingly talented Kiwanis Dixieland players was ecstatically received by the Fair's Sunday night listeners. Kimball again rendered the crowd's favorite, "Just a Closer Walk With Thee" as in his appearance at the Kiwanis Jazz and Art Festival in July. The audience response was warmly enthusiastic.

The Dixieland group and their guest took over the closing minutes of their show for their own enjoyment. Forgetting the audience, each performer did his magnificent thing. This last was a beautiful gift to their listeners who went wild with them. Kimball in every way a great showman remained totally involved with the other performers.

Kimball was given a plaque making him a member of the 1969 Iowa State Fair Staff for enhancing its theme, "Our Roaring 20's Heritage". The gift bore his name.

With Kimball was his wife, Lillian, who shared the role of the Kiwanis Club's guest.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church sub-level with hundreds of United Methodist Church officials, laymen, relatives and friends of the Thomas and Randle families going through the receiving line to greet the wedding couple. TOO MUCH DODGING
IN LABOR DISPUTES

Strikes and other forms of applying pressure have come to be our way of life these days. And in spite of laws against strikes and no strike clauses in labor contracts, dissatisfied people go on as they choose and get away with what was once called misconduct.

History shows that in some instances employees have struck in spite of a law against strikes and when courts have been called upon to protest the public, they join the conspiracy by agreeing to dismiss charges or remit fines as a part of the strike settlement.

This has been done. It is being done in the present firemen's wage dispute.

City officials are crying from the house top because the tax levies do not produce enough revenue to pay for the goods and services the public demands. And yet they bow to every display of pressure by organized groups to get more pay.

Most city employees are paid pretty well for what they do. And coupled with the security, holiday pay that comes without losing pay, they are far ahead of the fellow who works on the outside or in plants where legitimate layoffs without pay come almost every year.

It does seem that the wage dispute between the city and firemen should have been settled long ago. At least the city should know what they are willing to pay and the matter should stop there. But on the other hand fruitless conferences, so-called promises, mistaken agreements, political bickering, all of which have simply kept the controversy alive and settled nothing.

The council should settle this matter promptly in the light of its budget and let the chips fall where they may. And if the firemen cannot work for the wages that have been fixed then let them find work elsewhere.

Today everybody is crying about the high cost of living but few people have the courage to tackle the real cause. And that cause is the power of the pressure groups which demand and receive pay for the services and goods only to have the next fellow push a little higher.

We seem to have lost the power to say no, to make a decision in the interest of the whole community and stay with it.

LOOKING INTO THE
NEW WELFARE
PROPOSALS

President Nixon has proposed some sweeping changes in the welfare program. Many people have thought all along that the system has gotten out of hand and that instead of helping the needy ones, it has perpetuated a life of easy living without any effort to earn it.

The originally started Aid to Dependent Children was and still is a noble undertaking. Certainly children without the ordinary things of life should be cared for. Today, among many, ADC is a means of livelihood not only for the children but also some men don't want to work. It is a windfall for too many women for too many women who bear children in order to increase their ADC payments.

These situations need to be cleared up but not at the expense of the children.

Mr. Nixon says his program will not reduce the payments any family is receiving today. On the other hand, thousands of families on relief in some states receive less than half that received by some similarly situated in other states. This is particularly true of the southern states.

The plan would give all recipients a fair basic amount in all states. This could be supplemented by the states which need to keep their payments high. This would certainly help a lot of poor families in the backward states.

Unfortunately, the welfare system is geared to discourage a follow up as to how funds are spent or whether the particular family is entitled to receive them or not. In other words, the system is so loose that it chokes of its own operation.

The Nixon proposal for employment training for mothers and fathers which will take them off the rolls has merit. Many people would like this better while some just don't want to work. This appeals to reasonable people and if such a program can be evolved and jobs made available after receiving training the welfare recipients would be more independent and a more valuable citizen to the community.

Much is to be done in straightening out the dilemma, but it is worthwhile.

"NEGRO HASN'T PROGRESSED IN BASEBALL": HANK AARON

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 — The Negro has made virtually no progress in the administrative end of baseball, charges Atlanta Brave slugger Hank Aaron in an article in the current issue of SPORT Magazine.

"The Negro hasn't made any progress on the field. There are no Negro managers," says Aaron. "We haven't made any progress in the front office and we haven't made any progress in the commissioner's office."

"Even with Monte Irvin in there, I still think its tokenism. I think we have a lot of Negroes capable of handling front-office jobs. We don't have Negro secretaries in some of the big-league offices, and I think it's time the major leagues, and baseball in general, just took hold of themselves and started hiring some of these capable people."

On the subject of what baseball owes the player and what the player owes the game, Aaron says in the SPORT article: "I don't owe baseball anything, but baseball owes me everything because I have played the game just as hard as anyone else has ever played it. I feel that once I retire, one of the owners should say, 'Henry, I want to give you a job,' not as a super-scout, because I don't want to be a superscout. I want a job in the front office."

"You can't keep your mouth closed and hope everything'll be all right," continues the Braves' slugger. "They'll pat you on the back, and as soon as you get out of baseball, they'll say, 'See you later.' Nobody's said, 'Hank, once you get out of baseball, you'll have a job with us.' I'm sure people like Stan Musial and Ted Williams were assured of jobs. After spending so much time in the league, what else can a ballplayer do?"

As for becoming the first Negro manager in baseball, Aaron indicates an interest, but says: "They keep telling me to wait till the right time, but I see myself out of baseball and dead, and my kids will be waiting. I don't know what is the right time," concludes Aaron in the SPORT article.

NEW YORK — A countrywide survey and study of minority group building contractors and subcontractors has been launched by the National Association of Colored People. The program, made possible by a grant of $173,760 from the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, was initiated here, Aug. 18, with an all-day briefing session for local coordinators from 10 major cities along the Eastern Seaboard.

With Allen Ashby

At Purdue

We read with interest the beginning of a three part series on coaches possibly losing their authority to athletes. Some of the stories in the magazine differed from what we heard via the grape vine. For instance, at Purdue where the issue was whether or not the black athletes should wear mustaches. The magazine version is that the coach simply backed down and let the athletes do as they pleased. Now we were told that someone explained to the coach that mustaches have been a feature of black youth before hippies were ever thought of. Then we were told the man was shown pictures of former Purdue athletes such as LaMar Lundy and just about all of them had mustaches. Then the coach relented and insisted on only hair cuts which was agreed to. We don't know who is telling it like it is, the magazine writer or the guy who talked to us.

At Iowa

Then there was the case of the fifteen black athletes at Iowa. We had heard that one of the two boys suspended from spring football practice was nearly always into some sort of trouble. But we never did hear just what caused the boycott. That thing was to last just one day but the head coach said show up today or forget it. Nowhere in any of the stories we heard by newspapers or by the usual gossip channels was there mention of threats and intimidation attempts on the coach and his family. And nowhere did we hear of tire slashing until we read it in this magazine. We aren't arguing that these parts aren't so. But we wonder why they had to come out in a magazine six months later instead of when they actually happened, if they did.

We still don't know if any of the fellows will be back this fall. But the schedule favors the Hawks for a winning season if they have any sort of a ball club. So these guys may not be missed too much. And then there will no doubt be a big story on how the boycott made the remaining fellows so mad they went out and did in their opponents. That might do for a game or so, but not for ten games.

Now we are waiting to see how the flare up at Iowa State is handled. Now we have first hand information as to what happened there and we shall wait and see if that one gets mentioned at all and if so, how it is treated.

We might add this when you read magazine feature stories, remember that the writer has to sell his story.

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

Lawrence S. Slotsky, 48, of Sioux City, is the new chairman of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission. He was an original appointee when it was formed in 1963, and was reappointed to a four-year term in 1967. He has been the commission vice-chairman the past year, and succeeds Dr. Harry Harper of Fort Madison as chairman.

Slotsky, a native of Sioux City, is executive vice-president of the Sioux City Credit Bureau and is publisher of The Daily Reporter. His civic activities in his local community include membership of the board of directors of St. Luke's Medical Center and the co-chairman of the advanced gifts division of United Campaign; past president of the Sioux City Concert Course, and past director of the Better Business Bureau. A Republican, he is a graduate of Sioux City Central High School, and received his B.S. degree in Commerce from the University of Iowa in 1942. He is married and has three children, and is a member and vice-president of Mt. Sinai Temple.

Other newly elected Commission officers are John Strother, vice-chairman; and Mrs. Elizabeth Kruidenier, commission secretary. Strother, a Waterloo Democrat, is the assistant director of the University of Northern Iowa's Center for Urban Education, and is a new appointee to the Commission. Mrs. Kruidenier, a Des Moines Democrat, is a housewife who has served continually on the state civil rights commission since 1955 (being on the Governor's Human Rights Commission before the Iowa Civil Rights Commission was established by statute in 1963.) She was reappointed in 1967 to a four-year term.

Commission officers are elected by the commission members, and serve for one year. The other four commissioners are: Abe Clayman of Des Moines, Dr. Harry Harper of Fort Madison, Mrs. Madonna Skogstrom of Algona, and Dr. Lafayette Twyner of Davenport. Harper was appointed in 1965, and the other three in 1969. Strother, Harper, and Twyner are Negroes.

INFILTRATION BY
TB GERMS

TB germs are slipping into the country.

U.S. servicemen are exposed to TB germs in areas of the world where TB is widespread. In Vietnam, for instance, about one in every 200 servicemen and U.S. personnel in such high-incidence areas as Vietnam may be picking up the germs.

When infection is detected, there is little trouble if proper followup armed forces give tuberculin tests every year to tell if their men are infected with TB germs. If there is evidence of infection, the men can take pills—isoniazid—that prevent the development of active TB. If they already have active disease, they are put on drug therapy.

For tuberculosis infections, follow-up with pills is necessary for some time. At present, there is no clear way of being sure that men after their discharge from the armed forces are, in fact, continuing to take pills. If they do not take the pills, they can develop active disease. And they can spread their germs to others without even knowing it.

Discharged servicemen returning from abroad can contact local health authorities to arrange for tests and preventive treatment.

Now we are waiting to see how the flare up at Iowa State is handled. Now we have first hand information as to what happened there and we shall wait and see if that one gets mentioned at all and if so, how it is treated.
