4 Marines Face 86 Years in Brig

Changes "Get Off Campus" to Probation For 16 Black Students

Viet Nam Vets Charged With Riot Conspiracy

Memphis, Tenn. — Four black marines are facing 86 years in the brig, in a conspiracy case unfolding at a naval air station north of here.

The men have been charged with conspiracy, rioting and some 25 counts of conspiratorial assault. The charges stem from a clash between white and black marines on July 21-ten days after a major marine uprising at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Their trials are scheduled to start November 17. A fifth marine, who was to have gone on trial with them, died under mysterious circumstances October 31.

Served in Viet

The men all served in Vietnam. All were wounded, and one was awarded the bronze star. They were brought here to recuperate. After stays in the hospital, they were transferred to the "casual company" to await transfers or in the case of two men-discharges. The four marines are: Perry Backstrom, 21, Meri-

Order 30 Mississippi Schools Districts to End Dual Systems

New Orleans, La.—The 5th U.S. Court of Appeals told 30 Mississippi districts to end dual school systems by Dec. 31, thus rejecting a Justice Department plea for delay.

A Justice Department proposal that the appeals court hold off a little longer to enable the school boards to draw up their own desegregation plans, with HEW assistance, was rejected.

The Supreme Court, in a decision Oct. 22, ordered immediate desegregation of the districts.

Reassignment

Judge Griffin B. Bell of Atlanta, the spokesman for the three-judge appeals court panel stressed that school officials should begin the reassignment of pupils and faculty, the revamping of school bus routes and other services and facilities as soon as the formal order is issued.

By Dec. 31, the judge said, the plans should be in complete operation.

"I think it will be impossible to implement the plan by the Dec. 31 deadline," said Supt. A. R. Koon of Nodaway County. "I seriously doubt we can continue public education as they have presented it here in this court."

Mississippi Atty. Gen. A. W. Summer, pleading for more time, asked the court to give the boards a few days to prepare questions about the changes ahead.

Immediately
"We have been ordered by the Supreme Court to act immediately," said Judge Bell.

The judge also noted that the HEW plans for desegregation were submitted to the school boards last summer and should be familiar to the officials concerned.

Washington, D.C.—Senator Jack Miller, Ia., announced Thursday, Nov. 6 that he will vote against the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr.

to the U.S. Supreme Court. Sen. Miller's announcement came only weeks after the Des Moines Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had sent him a telegram urging him to cast a negative vote. Sen. Miller had replied that he had not made up his mind yet.

In last week's announcement, which came in a Senate speech, Sen. Miller said, "I believe I have a duty, as a member of the Senate, to do what I can, through the confirming power of the Senate to see to it that public confidence in the Supreme Court is fully restored. Unless it is, all of our democratic institutions are threatened...I have concluded that the confirmation of Judge Haynsworth would delay the restoration of public confidence in the Supreme Court which is so necessary and urgent. Accordingly, I cannot vote for his confirmation."

Dubuque, Ia. — After a tense confrontation between black students at Loras College and the school committee, the president, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Justin Driscoll made an about face which reversed the decision to suspend 16 black students.

The reversal came hours after announcement last Saturday in which Msgr. Driscoll approved the suspension saying, "We cannot tolerate the flagrant violations of serious college regulations."

Saturday evening the situation grew tense because the black students had been given until 8 p.m. to leave the campus, but they refused to go. Instead, they were joined by students from Clark College, a women's institution, and the University of Dubuque, plus students from other colleges in the area, including the University of Iowa at Iowa City.

They assembled in a section of the third floor of Keane Hall where the black lived together. The 150 to 200 black students would let no one in their section and remained together until news of President Driscoll's decisions reached them Sunday afternoon.

The students fortified in Keane Hall received support at about 7 p.m. Saturday from a crowd of 250 students, Loras Alumni and sympathizers from the city.

IWA Conference Called Most Exciting, Informative

The IWA Annual Conference whose theme was "Iowa Social Services Kaleidoscope '69" was believed to be one of the association's most informative, interesting and exciting. In addition, James N. Bethel conference chairman, revealed it was a financial success which is as important to this agency as to any other welfare or business organization.

Iowans
The outstanding speakers, with the exception of two persons, were all Iowans. This, too, is another exceptional feature of this the '69 conference. Program participants numbered approximately 61 persons. The non-Iowans were Jack Kirkland, Assistant Professor of Social Work, St. Louis University; and Ozzie Edwards, National Coordinator of the National Federation of Social Service Employees, Washington, D.C.

Black Showcase
James Bethel, a dynamic and creative personality can be expected to do the unusual. In this, his second effort, as conference chairman, (and "his last"), he excelled himself. A percentage evaluation reveals that this conference was surely "a black show case." There were eight black individual program participants and the J.P. Modeling and Charm School, a black-owned Des Moines business directed by its owner, James Piggee, nationally known photographic model. (See page 5).

Achievements
Conference achievements
The planned luncheons and conference banquet, a feature of the annual meeting for 68 years was so severely undersubscribed this time that complete elimination of these meals for the future is a definite possibility. Like major socio-civic meetings over the nation, this conference was not without its upheavals in its closing moments.—Marri Johnson.

Welfare Banquet Halted Police Respond to Call; 3 Arrested, Then Jailed

In response to an 'anonymous' telephone call that there "was some trouble" at the Iowa Welfare Association banquet. Nearly two dozen police officers converged on the Hotel Savery where they arrested three persons out of a group of 15 welfare mothers who were reportedly making an unscheduled and unsanctioned solicitation for funds for their children.

During the confusion that followed several of the mothers said they were roughed up; two of the persons arrested were sprayed with chemical mace and one was treated at a hospital before being taken to jail. When it was over, no one admitted making the original telephone call to police and Des Moines Police Chief Wendell Nichols admitted that the dispatch of 20 policemen "may have been excessive."

Members of the association attending the banquet, passed a resolution asking for all the charges to be dropped. James N. Bethel, an employee of the State Department of Social Welfare, was chairman of the conference.

Arrested were Mrs. Katherine Bryson, president of the Mothers for Dignity and Justice, who lives at 2025 Washington avenue; Charles Knox, of 1210 University avenue; Mrs. Pat Auch, of 1551 12th street.

their scholarships. Most of the blacks are on academic or athletic scholarships.

Thomas Jackson, a senior from Chicago and leader of the blacks, said the news of President Driscoll's Sunday decision "did not really surprise us."

"We felt we were in the right all of the time," Jackson said. The victory is not just a victory for us, but for student rights in general.

The 16 black students were suspended for their 13-hour seizure last Monday and Tuesday of a campus office building.

The students said they seized the building to protest what they termed the administration's failure to act on their request for a black culture house.

"Cannot Tolerate"

A college committee on discipline had recommended the 16 blacks be suspended indefinitely but also recommended clemency be considered.

Dubuque, a city of 65,000, has only 30 permanent black residents. In addition, there are 22 black students at Loras, 35 at the University of Dubuque and eight at Clarke College.

Assistance

Monsignor Driscoll said in the past year Loras has made available additional black student scholarship assistance, added more black studies to the school's curriculum, and hired a part-time black counselor.

It was reported that the Loras regents at an October meeting turned down a request for a black culture house because of the expense involved.

Loras is a Roman Catholic liberal arts college of 1,600 students.

Convict Woman Of Bootlegging

Mrs. Marie Irene Williams has been convicted by a Polk County District Court jury of being a bootlegger by selling a double shot of bourbon last June 13 to Des Moines police officer Angel M. Cardona at 1311 11th street.

Mrs. Williams, 51, who gave her address as 828 25th street, was released on $1,000 bond, with sentencing set for 9 a.m. Nov. 21 by Judge John N. Hughes.

Tradition

Black marines here had established a tradition of getting together most evenings to drink, talk and listen to music. It is illegal to drink on the base but they had never been ordered to stop—although it was done quite openly.

On the evening of July 20, they drank till about 10 p.m. in a field behind the hospital and then started back. About eight or 10 of the men headed toward their barracks. When they were about 20 yards from the door, they heard someone shout: "Here come them drunken niggers, now."

As they entered the building, they encountered about 13-15 whites, holding billy clubs. One man hit Backstrom, who was in front, on the head. Backstrom took the club away and hit back.

Fighting

Fighting became general, and lasted for 10 to 15 minutes. Blows were struck on both sides. Then the black marines went into a nearby bar, the Rathskeller, and fighting began there, too. Within 15 minutes it was all over. There were no serious injuries.

U.N.I. Blacks

Present "Demands"

Cedar Falls, Ia.—A group of black students at the University of Northern Iowa here presented a list of "demands" to the school's acting president and set deadlines for meeting the demands.

The group, headed by Palmer Byrd, president of the Afro-American Society at the university, delivered the demands to Dr. William Lang at his office in the administration building and then left peacefully.

35 Students

Dr. Lang said the group, which he estimated at 25-35 students, read the demands and left the list with him, declining his invitation to discuss them at that time. Dr. Lang is acting president in the absence of President J. W. Maucker, who is on a four-month leave from the university to study administrative practices at other universities.

The list of demands was headed by the statement that "U.N.I. is a racist institution" and was signed by "members of the Afro-American Society."

The black students demanded that the university, no later than today, include certain black U.N.I. staff members on the school's admission and retention committee.

The university was given until Nov. 14 to adopt as policy a list of resolutions recently presented to the school's committee on minority group education. The resolutions call for several actions to benefit blacks at the university.

Culture Center Opens at Dubuque

Dubuque, Ia.—The University of Dubuque Friday, Nov. 7 announced the establishment of an intellectual and cultural center for the University's black students.

The university's statement said the center is a result of a request made by the black students Sept. 8. The statement added that the center would be located temporarily in a university-owned house across the street from the campus.

Black students at Clarke College here, a Catholic women's college are setting up a black culture house on campus, college officials said.

Notre Dame Names Bayard Rustin, Trustee

Notre Dame, Ind.—The University of Notre Dame today appointed civil rights leader Bayard Rustin as the first Negro member of its Board of Trustees.

Rustin's career as a civil rights leader began in 1941, when he served as Race Relations Secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation. He participated in the first Freedom Ride, designed to test laws outlawing discrimination in interstate travel, and later became director of A. Philip Randolph's Committee Against Discrimination in the Armed Forces.

Purdue Cultural Center to Wait

West Lafayette, Ind.—Development of a Black Cultural Center at Purdue University will wait until a new advisory board can be elected by the university's black students.

Development of a Black Cultural Center adjacent to the Purdue campus was proposed as part of a newly emerging black student program at Purdue. But a proposed charter for the center, authored by an advisory board of all black students, was turned down Sept. 22 in a campus black student referendum, 102-97. The total vote represented about 40 per cent of the university's 440-plus blacks.

File 2 Cassius Clay Cases Right to Box in N.Y.

Draft Deferment Asked

NEW YORK—Muhammad Ali's (Cassius Clay) right to box in New York State was called for in a suit filed this week in U.S. District Court here by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF).

The State Athletic Commission "arbitrarily, capriciously, and unreasonably refused to renew plaintiff's professional boxer's license for a reason which has no rational connection with plaintiff's fitness or capacity to discharge the duties of the boxing profession," LDF attorneys asserted.

(Meanwhile, in the U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans, LDF attorneys sought reversal of the draft evasion conviction of Mr. Ali.)

(They challenged the legality of the government's practice of wire tapping as used in Mr. Ali's case as well as systematic exclusion of Negroes from draft boards.)

These suits bring the nation's largest private civil rights legal organization to Mr. Ali's assistance.

Launches Study Of Minority Builders

New York-Ten cities across the country have been selected for in-depth study by the Minority Contractor Survey sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People under a grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Announcement of this phase of the study was made at a news conference here, Nov. 7, by John A. Morsell, NAACP assistant executive director, and William R. Morris, the Association's director of housing programs. The intensified survey will be conducted through November.

First Phase

The project, under direction of W.C. Cammack, Jr., has completed the first phase of the survey covering 50 cities. Data on some 1,200 minority group contractors in these cities reveal that they are largely confined to odd-job construction work.

The 10 cities selected for the in-depth study and the coordinators are as follows:

Cities

San Francisco-Oakland, Calif. (Herman Williams); Los Angeles (Richard Sanchez and Joseph Grimmer); San Antonio, Texas (Odie Davis and John Sompos); Chicago, Ill. - Gairy, Ind. (William Cammack, Sr.); Dayton, Ohio (John Grey); Atlanta, Ga. (Morris Dillard); Baltimore, Md. (Nellie Briscoe); Boston, Mass. (Arif Din); Detroit, Mich. (Marguerite Evans) and Denver, Colorado (Gene Howell and Luis Trujillo).

The final report and completed National Registry of Minority Group Contractors are scheduled for submission to HUD in January.

The Ghana Dance Ensemble, a troupe of some 45 Ghanaian artists trained in the dance traditions of Ghana and neighboring African countries, will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 15 at Iowa State University, Ames. The performance will be at Iowa State's new C.Y. Stephens Auditorium.

The 45 players include male musicians and female dancers, with drummers and singers. Five players on woodwind flutes will perform interludes between production number.

The Ghana Ensemble was started in 1962 as an experiment between the Institute of African Studies, an academic institution primarily concerned with research into the arts and cultures of Ghana, and the Institute of Art and Culture, which is concerned with the promotion of art.

In establishing the Ensemble an attempt was made to create a School of Dance where Ghanians could be trained professionally to perform not only the dances of their tribal areas but also those of other parts of Africa.

The Ensemble has been described by some critics as "an experience separate from all others."

Tickets are available at the Hub Ticket Office at Iowa State or by mail from Stephens Auditorium. Ghanaian Dancers page 2

Seale Gets 4 Years

Chicago, Ill.—Bobby G. Seale, national chairman of the Black Panther Party, was held in contempt of U.S. District Court Wednesday, Nov. 5 and sentenced to four years in prison by Judge Julius J. Hoffman.

Judge Hoffman sentenced Seale to three months in prison for each of 16 indictments of contempt in the trial of the Panther leader and seven other men on conspiracy charges growing out of riots at the 1968 Democratic National Convention here.

At the same time Judge Hoffman declared a mistrial for Seale, separating him from the other defendants. He set Apr. 23 for a new trial of Seale on the charges.

The contempt finding almost certainly will be appealed the U.S. District Court of Appeals.

SAVE ON PRESCRIPTIONS

We invented the term "family pharmacist" to describe a professional whose patrons benefit more by giving him all their family's prescriptions. He is a friend you know and trust; and, he provides all the services you might reasonably expect.

At McQueen's Pharmacy 6th & Forest (288-3323) we do not price prescriptions on a "per-pill" basis because, no matter how much the other ingredients of your prescription cost us, our service, that priceless ingredient, remains the same. We therefore charge for only the wholesale cost of the drug, plus our professional fee. By having all your family's prescriptions filled at McQueen's, you can actually pay less overall for better service.

Rideout Resigns
Cecil E. Rideout, municipal court bailiff for the last 21 years, resigned following last Friday's court session. The 65-year-old Rideout, who has held the post since the court was established in 1948, said he was turning in his badge for "personal reasons."

The bailiff's early retirement will not create any problems for the court.

Rideout had announced on June 30 that he would retire after completing his fifth 4-year term on Dec. 31.

His resignation will turn bailiff duties over to Morris Brown seven weeks early.

Won Election
Brown, 48, won election to the post in the Nov. 4 municipal elections. He was to have taken over Jan. 1 but he told The Hawk-Eye Saturday that he would be sworn in before the Nov. 12 court session.

"I am real happy to be taking over early," Brown said.

Brown, who was employed at Bonewitz Chemicals, said he would have no problems starting the job early. "They Plaintiff also asks for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the mortgaged premises and to collect the rents, issues and profits arising or which may be had therefrom and to apply them as by court directed. No money judgment is asked except against such persons who executed said note and mortgage.

Reed Displays Black History Series in Office

Cecil A. Reed, Equal Employment Opportunity Officer for the U.S. Labor Department's Regional Manpower Administration in Kansas City, points to the first of a series of displays on black history, in the lobby of the Federal Office Building, 911 Walnut, Kansas City. With him is Regional Manpower Administrator William S. Harris.

Reed, former chairman of the Iowa State Employment Security Commission, is nationally known for his work with groups promoting inter-racial understanding.

This first display emphasizes the broad contribution of Black History to American culture. It includes pictures and descriptions of the contributions of outstanding Blacks from George Washington Carver to Duke Ellington.

Reed said the theme of the display, and the others to follow, was stated by an unnamed blacksmith, who said in 1860, "Communication is the way to friendship. Every facility for exchange of words, or personal views between people removes a stone in the walls of provincial hatred and prejudices."

He said the display and other like resources are available for such events as Negro History and Brotherhood Week.

JOANNA CHEATOM, PRESIDENT OF THE WELFARE RIGHTS WORKSHOP held at the IWA Annual Conference was one of its name personalities, as far as Des Moines is concerned. With a simple, quiet, straight forward, personal appeal to nearly annual meeting banquet diners, she is said to have collected $150,000. Period! Or exclamation mark! That's our Joanna!

EVELYN HOLT, IOWA WELFARE ASSOCIATION'S GIRL FRIDAY, looked lovely at the agency's 1969 IWA Secretarial Workshop held November 5 at Hotel Savery. Looking at her, I sensed the pleasure the large gathering must have brought her. For that matter, attendance at all of the workshops was brought about by some effort on her part! Secretary's are quite vital, you know!

THE J. P. MODELS GAVE THE SECRETARIAL WORKSHOP the best of everything. Playboy After Dark Don McKee, was the lone male and served as escort to the J. P. lovelies. With Alice Clinton Boyd at the organ and television's model, Mary Hobbs narrating the show opened. Ah! Hah! the show was 1969 all the way! It was integrated! Six black models, one Mexican and one caucasian! Each was very professional but so very individualized as they glided, pivoted, and turned doing all those mystical and effortlessly beautiful things only a model can do! The room was packed and at the back of the room secretaries stood, making certain of a full view.

FRED NAHAS, WELL-KNOWN IN LITTLE THEATRE CIRCLES, again gathered about her a Dowling High School cast and gave the community a delightful showing of "Damn Yankees." Presentation of the play was fulfillment of a promise Freda made last fall to Dowling's late George Cordora. The musical was George's favorite because sought to instill in youths—"courage" in sports. The cast was excellent and above all their oneness was felt by the show's on-lookers. The costuming reflected Freda's special talent for creating beauty and believability!

LIFTED STRAIGHT OUT OF THE DAMN YANKEES' program are these lines: The gentle moral of this modern twist of the Faust Legend is that many wives can take a lesson from Meg's kind of understanding. (Meg is the wife of the principal character, "Baseball fan, Joe Boyd, who after wishing aloud "I'd give my soul for one long ball hitter, was mysteriously whisked away for six-long months. During this period he gained fame as a baseball star.) When Joe comes back, after disappearing, she doesn't ask him where he has been; he's back, and that's what counts. —Okay, girls???

DOWLING HIGH'S FATHER SPOKE doing the double piano accompaniment with teenager Teresa Edney, was never too busy in his role as "Maestro" to enjoy the show's performers. His high spirits after undoubtedly weeks' of rehearsals, set the pace and continued good humored appreciation of the young actors.

NOTED ON STAGE MARY NAHAS, Freda's niece and Teresa Tedrow, daughter of Veterans Administration's long-time and well-known technician, Harvey Tedrow. He is now retired but every now and then we note a young "Tedrow" in the canteen. Teresa is now to be found at Merle Hay Plaza Bishop's Cafeteria, where she is a charming little waitress. Mary Nahas is readily identifiable as a member of this town's fabulous Nahas' clan! It is not surprising to find her making her way before the public. A Nahas is always "up front" and each one nets his and her following!

ROBERTA CAVIL, APPEARED ON STAGE AT DOWLING HIGH SCHOOL November 8, 9, 10 in the school's presentation of "Damn Yankees." In a true "the show must go on" spirit, Roberta remained in the cast though dissipated over the illness of her mother. Roberta, baseball fan and sinner in the show displayed a flashing personality. Pretty, she is!

A FRIEND TELLS ME THIS: "Segregation makes you laugh when you ain't happy and cry when you ain't sad!" Mmmm how true! How true!

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate... and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does?

Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New® spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

Visit your expert hairdresser, who cares about your hair care and your comfort. Whatever the nature of your hair problems, only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

Grooming Tip

Gals and guys who are wearing their hair in the natural Afro look have discovered the way to give it the soft alive look. A few drops of pure baby oil distributed through the hair provides an attractive natural shine without giving it an artificial slick appearance. Racial Education Urged by NEA Exec

WASHINGTON, D.C.—An Official of the National Education Association has condemned the present "melting pot" theory designed to assimilate the races in America.

Samuel B. Ethridge, assistant executive secretary for teacher rights, proposes a unique three-point substitute plan featuring cross-racial experiences. He made the proposal recently to delegates attending the Nebraska State Education Association convention in Omaha.

Melting Pot
"The significant fact about the melting pot is that it didn't happen for all," Ethridge said. "The assimilation of the Negro in America has been impossible; he cannot change his name and move to the suburbs or go to California and become 'old Spanish.'" He noted that "housing patterns and mental and physical brutality suffered by minority children, coupled with the search for self-identity, has led Negroes, Mexican-Americans, Americans, American Indians, and even some Appalachian whites to reject the melting pot theory as a viable and relevant goal."

More Segregation
"As a matter of fact," he said, "more children attended segregated schools in 1964 than in 1954 when separate schools were declared illegal." He added that the Kerner report, which warns of America's becoming two societies, points to the psychological danger of growing up in a separate society. "A number of recent studies also indicate that white children who grow up in isolated white communities develop negative stereotypes of minorities which help them to develop superiority complexes in themselves and fear of the minority, which leads to hate," he said.

Des Moines held a city election last week - one which brought memories of the famous school board election in 1928 when the Ku Klux Klan tried to capture a majority on that body, but failed.

This year, beginning with the election in Los Angeles and Minneapolis, candidates won offices not because they were especially qualified but because of their appeal to the law and order voter - whoever they may be.

Ten years ago, nobody would conceive that candidates appealing to disunity, racial prejudice and reprisals would hardly have run for office here. But last week, the so-called silent vote showed up at the polls without much opposition from people who should know better.

Gov. Wallace got much of his support from the silent and vociferous law and order crowd much of which is in opposition to the Negro.

Unfortunately, some Negroes themselves contribute to this very opposition by their misconduct which all too often is defended by those who claim to be helping them defend their rights. We hope it's a fad which will pass along with some of the other hideous fads that are in vogue today.

BOTH IOWA SENATORS
CAN'T BE WRONG

Both Iowa Senators, Miller, Republican, and Hughes, Democrat, have announced that they will vote against Judge Haynsworth's confirmation as a justice of the Supreme Court.

Last week, Clark Molenoff was back in Iowa accusing Judge Haynsworth's opponents of being character assassins and using baseless charges to support their views.

Most Iowans believe they have two reliable men in the Senate neither one of whom would qualify under Molenoff's description of Judge Haynsworth's opponents.

Molenoff is a lawyer and knows the technique of throwing up a lot of dust when he has no case.

In addition to our already announced opposition to Judge Haynsworth's confirmation, we are more convinced now than ever that he should not be confirmed.

EMOTIONS INCREASE
CRIME RATE

Studies are being carried on today to determine the increase in the crime rate and yet a lot of people are aiding in its knowingly and or unknowingly.

Last week, the social workers of Iowa met in Des Moines. A disturbance arose at their banquet by a group who proceeded to take a collection for ADC mothers. Police officers were called and some arrests made.

The convention passed a resolution asking that charges be dismissed and proceeded to conduct a show of force when they went to the jail demanding the release of the prisoners.

Both actions were emotional violation of the law by assuming the functions of the court rather than have the matter heard in a regular trial and displaying mob violence by going en masse to demand the release of the prisoners. These two moves were not the proper course to take while charges are pending against a person.

A strike has been going on against the Iowa Beef Packing Co. for several days. The plants have been picketed and Saturday rioting occurred which authorities were unable to control.

Most of those engaged in these two affairs are opposed to war and yet they seize an opportunity to carry on their own private wars, illegally, of course, to secure their demands. They get away with it and encourage others to operate on the theory that laws are not made for them.

Wilt Chamberlain
Injured; Needs
Knee Surgery

Los Angeles, Calif.-Minneapolis Laker center Wilt Chamberlain was taken to a hospital during the third quarter of Friday night's National Basketball Association game against Phoenix after tearing a tendon in the right knee.

Surgery
After examination by doctors, it was learned that Chamberlain also is suffering from arthritis. The combined injuries will threaten his career, it was revealed.

A spokesman said Chamberlain would undergo surgery. It was not known how long he would be out of action.

N.B.A. Scoring
Chamberlain is second in N.B.A. scoring with a 32.1-point average and leads the league in field goal accuracy with 57.6 per cent.

Chamberlain is expected to be in a cast for about seven weeks and a team spokesman said he might not play again until March.

Stan McKenzie dropped in a seven-foot jump shot with only two seconds left as Phoenix beat the Lakers, 122-120.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

It was the usual pattern for Iowa's Hawks. Good one week, bad the next. This was their week to be good and they made the most of it. Most of us sideline coaches thought that Indiana's racial difficulties would get them really hot and they would go all out to show those guys they could win without them. But we guess the absence of some of the fellows really did hurt the Hoosiers.

Cyclones
Now to get ready for a Michigan team that is thinking about Roses and really thinks they can beat Ohio State. Iowa State had its usual offense problems. Robert Tisdale doesn't seem to have enough time to get his passes off. Maybe, he waits too long, but most of the time in the game films his opponents are back to his passing spot when he gets there. Maybe, the Cyclones can come up with something this week.

Drake
Drake pulled what we used to call a Ned Brandt finish and got out with a tie. Ned Brandt was a comic strip college athlete who was always doing the impossible and winning games for his school in the last seconds after being way behind. So did Drake. This has to give them ideas about Missouri Valley football again.

Black Athletes
A lot of people keep asking us what gives with all these black athletes boycotting and quitting or getting fired from athletic teams. If they don't like the schools why don't they quit.

Well, we really don't pretend to know the answers. But, when we were in school probably some of us would have quit and did quit because we didn't like things about our school. We recall a Drake track star who wouldn't accept a letter and never did wear a D sweater because he didn't like what today would be called racist policies. And that was in the twenties.

Gripes About Same
As nearly as we can make out, the gripes are about the same as they were when we were in school. Minor injuries were seldom treated and a lot of them didn't bother to report anything less than a broken bone. Then we were stereotyped. We remember butting heads with a white boy so hard it knocked both of us out for a few seconds. The coach picked up the white boy and turned to me saying he knew I was all right. My head

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission encourages local communities, whenever possible, to settle their civil rights problems on the local level, with the state commission standing by to lend assistance or to step in when necessary to help obtain the most effective solution. The Iowa Commission is constantly exploring ways of making its resources as a state agency more effectively available to local commissions, thus helping them to become more effective on the local level.

Eighteen cities in Iowa now have local human rights commissions by city ordinance. Des Moines pioneered in 1962 followed by Sioux City in 1963, Burlington and Iowa City in 1964, and Ames in 1966. Nine cities passed their first human rights ordinance in 1968 (Bettendorf, Cedar Falls, Cedar Rapids, Clinton, Davenport, Fort Madison, Keokuk, Mason City, and Waterloo) and four have done so in 1969 (Council Bluffs, Dubuque, Grinnell, and Marshalltown). There is no separate Cedar Falls Commission, as the ordinance authorizes Cedar Falls' participation in a Metropolitan Commission to include Waterloo and Evansdale. The two major cities with large total population and non-white population which have no human rights ordinances or commissions are Fort Dodge and Muscatine.

Jurisdiction
Jurisdiction over discrimination in areas of employment, housing, and public accommodations is granted to the local commission in 13 of these cities: Bettendorf, Cedar Rapids, Clinton, Council Bluffs, Davenport, Des Moines, Dubuque, Fort Madison, Grinnell, Iowa City, Keokuk, Marshalltown, and Mason City. Jurisdiction is limited to employment only in two cities (Burlington and Sioux City), and to housing only in three cities (Ames, Cedar Falls, and Waterloo).

Approaches
Various approaches for was supposed to be much harder than the other fellow.

Meetings
A guy could go on for weeks telling about things that happened to him that made him almost quit a school. Well, then there were usually only one or two of us, three at the most. Now, if there had been a dozen or so of us, and we all go to airing our gripes, to each other, well you can see what might have happened even then. Holding meetings with the coach, don't help unless he is talking as man to man and not down to his "boys." Getting made and firing the whole bunch isn't exactly the answer either. We would guess coach Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics had the answer when he said, "You see, first of all, these fellows are my friends."

enforcement of the ordinances are employed. Fourteen of the ordinances authorize the local commission to conduct a public hearing to "air the facts" about the complaint of discrimination, after attempts to voluntarily conciliate the dispute through persuasion or education have failed.

When discrimination is found, 11 of these commissions have the power to issue a cease-and-desist order to stop the discrimination (in Cedar Falls, Cedar Rapids, Council Bluffs, Davenport, Des Moines, Dubuque, Fort Madison, Iowa City, Keokuk, Marshalltown, and Waterloo) - whereas the Ames Commission is limited to making the discrimination a matter of public record. In two cities (Burlington and Sioux City) a penal provision makes a violation of the fair employment ordinance an offense punishable by a fine not exceeding $100 and/or a jail sentence not exceeding 30 days.

Ten of the 11 city commissions which can issue a cease-and-desist order can later seek a court order to enforce the commission order - with the Iowa City Commission directed by ordinance to turn their records of the case over to the City Council for enforcement. Eight city commissions are authorized to seek a temporary injunction from a court in fair-housing cases to prevent the sale or rental while the commission is conducting its investigation (in Cedar Falls, Cedar Rapids, Davenport, Des Moines, Dubuque, Fort Madison, Keokuk, and Waterloo).

The four city commissions (in Bettendorf, Clinton, Grinnell, and Mason City), which by ordinance have no enforcement powers of their own (i.e. authority to conduct public hearings or to issue cease-and-desist orders) refer those cases which cannot be settled on the local level through voluntary conciliation to the Iowa Civil Rights Commission, which processes the complaint under the procedures set forth by state law.

A POET'S CHOICE

To take some simple little words
And make them laugh and sing;
To catch the melody of birds
And make the echoes ring;
To bring a smile where smiles are few,
To lighten someone's tasks;
This would, I'm sure, seem vain to you,
A foolish thing to ask.

But I could seek no finer fame,
Could ask no greater prize
Than smiles and sunshine to reclaim
In sorrow-brooding eyes
It needs but gentleness and truth,
It needs scant skill or art
To brush aside the wreck and ruth
And reach the saddened heart.

Let him who will choose battle's crash,
The laurels won by might,
And proudly march 'mid war and clash,
The victor in the fight;
For me 'twere triumph greater far
Than cross bestow'd by king,
To go where gloom and shadows are
With words that laugh and sing.

Judge Reports Wide
Interest in Foster Home

Polk County District Judge Leo Oxberger said Thursday, Nov. 6 he has received a large number of response to his appeal that a Negro foster home be provided for a Negro girl.

Judge Oxberger said he had received about 25 calls from black persons indicating interest in a foster home, a group home and "big sister" and "big brother" programs for Negroes.

Judge Oxberger said the teenage Negro girl has been placed in a foster home with a Negro couple.

Household Situation
Much of the interest expressed, the judge said, was for a group home, where a young adult couple would supervise a half-dozen teenager in a household situation.

"I think this could be the answer to many of our juvenile delinquency problems," Oxberger said. "What the kids need are male or female figures to identify with. Many of them come from broken homes, where they aren't getting discipline, and they are getting into trouble."

Not Eldora
The young people who would be sent to a group home, he said, "are those
