Denounce Actions As Sell Out to The Deep South

Washington. — Ignoring a plea from civil rights leaders, 149 Republican members of the House of Representatives joined 79 southern and western Democrats to kill the Voting Rights Act of 1965 by a narrow vote of 208 to 203.

In a joint telegram to all House Republicans, civil rights leaders Roy Wilkins, Whitney M. Young, Jr., Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, A. Philip Randolph and Bayard Rustin called for extension of the Voting Rights Act which, they said, has the united support of Negro citizens.

Black Voters

The telegram, dispatched before the roll-call vote, Dec. 11, said that any amendment of the Celler-McCulloch bill extending the 1965 Act "will strike a blow at the nation's black voters. Support for such amendments must be interpreted as opposition to civil rights and as under-cutting our efforts for peaceful change by democratic means."

Passage Denounced

Passage of the Administration bill was promptly and vigorously denounced by Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, as "a cataclysmic defeat for civil rights engineered by the President." He said the NAACP and other civil rights groups would mobilize a campaign to reverse the House action in the Senate.

500 Blacks Elected

Under the 1965 Act, which will expire in August, 1970, if the House action prevails, registration and voting of Negroes in the South were vastly increased, contributing to the election of nearly 500 black public officials in that region. The law now requires Justice Department approval of any changes

Court Orders Immediately Desegregation

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Supreme Court Saturday, Dec. 13 ordered public school officials in six Deep South counties to prepare immediately for complete student desegregation.

The court ordered these "preliminary steps" begun while it considers whether to set Feb. 1 as a deadline for student desegregation.

The six counties are East Feliciana, West Feliciana and Concord Parishes, La.; Burke County, Ga.; Mobile County, Ala., and Marshall County-Holly Springs, Miss. The court acted in the cases of the Louisiana parishes. Justice Hugo L. Black acted separately in the cases of the three other counties.

The U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans on Dec. 1 had given the six counties - and 10 others in the Deep South - until next fall to desegregate their student bodies.

Planning Board, Go Adopt Model Cities Org. Plans

In an effort to meet last minute requirements of local and federal agencies, the Des Moines Model Cities Planning Board and Greater Opportunities, Inc. adopted an agreement to co-operate in the formation of a Model Cities grassroots Organization.

The Des Moines City Council met with the Model Cities Board Monday and threatened not to sign a contract for a $2,065,000 Model Cities grant if the board didn't reach agreement with GO promptly.

The agreement is required by the two federal agencies that pay the bills for the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), which funds Model Cities, and Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), which funds GO, have signed agreements for co-operative action at the national level.

Guarantee Against Waste
They are requiring similar agreements at the local level in an effort to guarantee that federal funds won't be wasted by duplication of effort.

A strong element of the experimental Model Cities program is citizen participation. The premise is that if citizens become involved in government firsthand, they will understand it and anti-government attitudes among residents of such areas will diminish.

Goal

A goal of the agreement worked out Tuesday night is to create a neighborhood organization that would include participation by representatives of all 200 city blocks within the Model Cities area and representatives of 67 organizations that already exist in the area.

About 16,000 people live in the Model Cities neighborhood, which is immediately north and west of the downtown business district.

One of its first major applications will be made during the awarding of contracts for a recently approved $18 million building program in the Des Moines School district.

Superintendent Dr. Dwight M. Davis said the board drew up the policy not only to discourage discriminatory hiring practices, but also to encourage more young people to seek employment in the skilled trades and services.

Shootout Erupts Sunday Quiet! Man Charged

A shoot-out between two men erupted the peace and quiet of last Sunday afternoon in the 900 block of 26th street.

Charged in the shooting was Williams B. Whitfield, 23, of 719 Laurel street who allegedly shot Oscar Gaddy, Jr., 28, of 810 26th street, in the face with a shotgun. Whitfield was charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

The incident took place after an argument between the two at Gaddy's home. Gaddy was treated at Broadlawn Polk County hospital for multiple face and head wounds, and then released.

Police said Gaddy's pregnant wife, Celestia, 26, who witnessed the shooting, was treated at Broadlawn for shock and released.

Whitfield pleaded innocent to the charge and was being held in City Jail Sunday night in lieu of $2,000 bond.

CHICAGO, ILL. — The body of Black Panther leader Fred Hampton was flown to Louisiana for burial Dec. 10, a mid mounting clamor for a full-scale investigation of the police raid which ended his life.

RALPH ABERNATHY

After a funeral service Hampton's body was driven to the airport where it was put aboard a plane for the flight to Haynesville, La., where burial was scheduled to take place later Wednesday.

6,000 Filled

Almost 6,000 black people who filed past Hampton's open coffin in a Baptist church in the western Chicago suburb of Melrose Park Tuesday night were told he was the victim of "Nazi tactics" by police.

Nazi Charge

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, successor to the late Martin Luther King as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, made the charge during an emotional funeral service for the 21-year-old slain Panther chief.

"The nation that conquered Nazi Germany is following the same course as brutal as Nazi Germany," he declared.

NEW YORK. — Police killings of Black Panthers — 28 within two years — are "spreading fear and resentment at all levels in the national Negro community," Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said in a telegram to U.S. Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

Aroused Suspicions
The telegram, urging a Justice Department investigation of the police killing, Dec. 4, of Fred Hampton and Mark Clark, youthful officials of the Black Panther party in Chicago, cited "the conflicts in the stories of the shooting by police and the location of bullet holes in the premises," which, the NAACP leader said, "have aroused suspicion in the minds of many persons who may not subscribe to the Panther ideology or methods."

100 Black High School Students Visit U. of I.

IOWA CITY — More than 100 black high school students from Waterloo, Des Moines and Chicago made a visit to The University of Iowa campus Friday and Saturday, (Dec. 12-13), under the sponsorship of a bi-racial student committee called Keyhole Opening the Door to Opportunity.

The students attended classes, observed a drama workshop, visited the Field House, and made a tour of the campus. They were guests at a party Friday evening at Iowa Memorial Union, and attended discussions at the Afro-American Cultural Center Saturday morning before returning home. The students were from Des Moines; and Chicago. Mae Colleen Thompson, a Kansas City sophomore, and Katherine Duchon, a Des Moines senior, chairmen of the project, thanked the donors of more than $500 needed to pay for food, lodging and bus transportation for the visitors.

17 Leaders Jailed In Rights Boycott

Seventeen civil rights leaders, indicted as the result of mass school boycotts called by a Negro coalition, surrendered Wednesday after a downtown march to the county jail.

Nine were released after posting $1 bonds and eight others decided to go to jail to protest the indictments.

The boycotts were called by Negro leaders to force a stronger black voice in the administration of city schools and in support of a strike by a predominantly Negro union against St. Joseph hospital, a Catholic-operated institution. The strike is continuing.

W. LAWRENCE OLIVER
(A Living Legend)

"If you know how to spend less than you get, you have the philosopher's stone."—Benjamin Franklin.

Today our literature is replete with theories concerning the black man in America. By the mid-1960's problems of poverty and race in the nation's cities had reached crisis proportions. Today, statistics indicate that 1 out of every 4 families is below levels of income.

The question is a natural one — Why or How did a black man, born in poverty and reared by an ex-slave, survive the terrible depression years, attain professional status and is today reputed to own assets in excess of $1 million.

Certainly, there is no one answer. But, among the many variables we must acknowledge the importance of early childhood experiences.

Process of Identification:

The delineation of the crucial years of growth and development are not clearly set forth in the social-psychological literature. However, in W. Lawrence Oliver's case, it is clear that the years spent on a farm with a grandfather (an ex-slave) whom he both loved and respected played a significant part in the values he learned and the goals he set for himself.

NO CLOCK

"We were early risers—just before dawn was our clock. And most chores were done by lantern light," he said, as if reminiscing.

"I learned early to love the land and to value time; my life had a purpose and I was always goal-oriented. Work was looked upon as being important—it provided a sense of achievement for all tasks had to be completed and I learned early to waste nothing."

The Importance of Challenge

School days in the deep south were through 10th grade. However, although

Cincinnati Store
Gets Black Santa

CINCINNATI, OHIO — One department store agreed to install a black Santa Claus here Friday, Dec. 12 in compliance to demands by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (S.C.L.C.), but not until next year.

The S.C.L.C., which has been picketing downtown department stores over the issue, called for a meeting of all department store officials this week to discuss the issue further.

Paneling Quicker
With Adhesive

Paneling walls nowadays is a cinch, compared with the hammer and nails method. Cartridge-type adhesive such as Masonite brand general purpose adhesive makes the difference, many amateur and professional craftsmen have learned.

Panels of any type can be made to adhere permanently to existing walls, furring strips or studs without nailing. The adhesive sets quickly, but it allows ample time for the applicator to position the panel exactly where it should go. Matching moldings may be applied in the same manner.

thing to invest in when I bought the land I now own. It wasn't considered a good investment by many of my friends but I believed that in any developmental project the first and by far the costliest item should be a building site. Today land prices are soaring faster than any other component. Zoning does not create land values but rather determines whether landowners (or which landowners) may reap the values.

"For several years I have had to fight in my attempts to get zoning for most of my projects," he stated.

Today, on land he purchased over 25 years ago, the Shopper Fair Center at 2300 Euclid avenue now stands.

Most recently the Oliver Plaza directly across from Shoppers Fair was completed. Arlans will probably be the largest lease.

Mr. Oliver's new law offices will be situated in the shopping complex.

These are truly monuments, often the result of multiple endeavor—in this case the realization of a goal, carefully thought through and executed by one man, W. Lawrence Oliver and his lovely wife, Hazel, who for many years worked by his side and helped a dream to come true.

Truly the Olivers, Lawrence, Hazel, Barbara and Beverly, have left an impact on our total community—and well demonstrate the concept that Black is Beautiful!

NEW TRICKS STRETCH
CLOTHING DOLLAR

With today's steadily rising costs, homemakers everywhere are faced with the problem of trying to make an ever-shrinking dollar go farther. And no matter what she does, sooner or later every mother faces the problem of children's clothes that are simply no longer wearable—either because the youngsters are growing out of them or because the fabric just hasn't lasted as long as expected.

Children grow so quickly that their clothes sometimes seem to become smaller by the minute. Long sleeves become too short on both dresses and shirts, and every mother has experienced that sinking feeling that comes when her little one tries on a favorite dress that was new just a few months ago but is now too tight. Even worse, maybe the garment hasn't been outgrown, but the fabric has

Youth on Parade

This is the sixth in a series of special features on junior and senior high students in Iowa. If you have a candidate please pass on the name, picture and story to us.

This week the Bystander presents Victor Hawthorne, 17-year-old North high senior, who has a special interest in creative writing and hopes to pursue the profession. Currently, he is a school reporter for the Oracle.

At North Victor participates on the track team, earning a letter this semester. Last weekend he was among a group of black students who visited the University of Iowa campus.

He also was among four North high students who accompanied Kenneth Whitney, North's black History instructor and head track coach, to Northwest Missouri State college.

Last spring Victor represented his school on the annual United Nations trip to Washington, D.C. and New York City.

He is active in the teen

For example, the booklet reports there are ingenious ways of "stretching" clothes by adding gores and side seams and by turning long sleeves into short. Activities of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission

Many people -- both blacks and whites -- have the mistaken idea that civil rights laws are geared toward giving PREFERENCE to the Negro whether he measures up to the qualifications or standards expected of everyone else. The truth is that civil rights laws are geared toward assuring EQUAL OPPORTUNITY for Negroes (and members of other minority groups). In other words, a Negro who is qualified for a job can not be denied a job just because he or she is a Negro -- while a Negro who is not qualified does not have to be hired just because he or she is a Negro.

Both Sides

Whenever someone files a complaint with the Iowa Civil Rights Commission charging that he or she was discriminated against because of his or her race (creed, color, religion, or national origin), the Commission has the responsibility of investigating both sides of the story to determine whether discrimination was in fact the determining consideration in the case at hand, or whether the person did not measure up to the general qualification or standard applied to everyone else. Sometimes, however, the problem arose simply because of lack of communication between the parties in dispute and thus the Commission then serves the function of getting the parties together to discuss their apparent differences.

Decisive Action

Whenever the Commission determines that discrimination occurred, it takes decisive action to eliminate the discrimination. Whenever the Commission determines that discrimination did not occur, the Commission has still provided valuable services to the minority community by providing people (who feel that they have been discriminated against) with an orderly way of finding out for sure whether they were discriminated against and a way of determining their rights in the matter.

Where to Check

If you feel that you have been discriminated against in employment, housing, or public accommodations because of your race, creed, color, religion, national origin, or ancestry -- then contact the IOWA CIVIL RIGHTS COMMISSION immediately.

Address: State Capitol Building, Des Moines, Iowa 50319.

Telephone: (Area Code 515) 281-5129. It costs nothing to have a discrimination complaint investigated and resolved.

We are required to hold prompt hearings for all those persons who were convicted this month (November) of charges stemming from what transpired on this campus, Nov. 4, 1968. On Drug Abuse

McQueen's Pharmacy, 6th & Forest (288-3323) makes its bread selling drugs. Yet, we are hung up over the drug abuse bag. As we stated last week, many people who should take medicine do not; but, many other people overdo the thing with heroin, pot, diet pills, sleeping pills, even aspirin. Drug abuse occurs, not just with hippies, criminals, and young people, but also with hard working, everyday, "straight" people like you and me. Not necessarily as a conscious effort to get "high", but through lack of knowledge of drug use.

We suggest that you examine your drug taking habits. Are you taking the medicine you should in the necessary amounts, and at the appropriate times?

Your pharmacist at McQueen's, the family pharmacy, knows drugs. Consult him about drug usage. He will, if appropriate, refer you to your physician for diagnosis and treatment. At McQueen's Pharmacy, we care because we groove on good health.

The nicest Christmas trees ever are those trimmed with garlands of popcorn and cranberries and home made cookies. It's an old-fashioned idea that few mothers take time for any more. It adds a warm and hospitable aroma to the house and gives children an inner happiness that can never be bought or forgotten.

A Christmas Story

By ELEANORA TATE

Beads of snow stung his neck and mingled with his black skin, then melting, traveled down his back and finally spotted his shirt. Now and then he shifted his slight weight from one foot to the other in an effort to bring life to his feet freezing in grey tennis shoes.

The hawkish wind flung itself around the corner to where he stood staring at the blonde woman packaging doughnuts in the brightly lit bakery shop.

It was nearly 10:30 p.m. this Christmas night, and in the back of his mind he knew the sports was being broadcast on TV. He wondered whether his team had won the football game played today. He wished he had won the Christmas sweepstakes and had been able to watch the game in person, eating New York candy and drinking New York pop. His eyes traveled the length of the shop—to the counter, past the boxes of still warm and wet doughnuts, then back to the blonde's hands busily stashing doughnuts in their boxes. Then, turning his face toward the black wind and the snow, he ran across the street.

He walked bent over like an old man, then ran across another street and entered an alley leading to his home. The mud sucked at his shoes and splattered on his bare legs as he trotted up the alley and then cut through the back yard of a neighbor.

He leaped up on the porch and knocked on the door, brushing snow from his hair. Presently the porch light came on, and a robe-clad man opened the door a crack. "What you want?"

"Is Tommy home?"

"He's in bed, boy, where you should be. Go on home, before I call your folks."

The boy jumped off the porch and began to run again. He wanted to tell Tommy's father that his own parents were at a party somewhere, that he didn't want to stay at home all by himself on this night. He returned to the doughnut shop where the woman was still stuffing doughnuts into boxes.

With a slight gesture the blonde pushed back a strand of hair from her face, then swore at the heat in the shop.

And it was 31 degrees outside.

Her feet ached, and so did her head. She wished she were in California or maybe Miami with one of her sisters instead of packing doughnuts in a dismal stuffy sweet shop. There were still three hours and 200 doughnuts left before she could leave for home to her own shallow Christmas.

Out of the corner of her eye she saw the boy again outside at the window, shifting his weight from one foot to another. She was thankful that he was still a kid instead of being 15 or 16 making plans to rob her. The kid should be in bed, she thought, but those people let their kids stay out to all hours, even on Christmas night.

She pushed back the strand of hair from her sticky face and looked at the boy again. Then she pulled a napkin from its box, removed a plump doughnut from the platter and wrapped it in the napkin.

She went to the door. "Sonny, if I give you this doughnut, will you go home? It's too cold for you to be standing out here this time of night."

The boy stared at her. She waved her finger at him. "C'mon inside, where it's warm. I can't stand to see you out there with your mouth hanging open." She held the door for him until, slowly, he walked in, staring still. She handed the doughnut to him, and, watching her, he bit into its moist fluffiness. "Well, sit down, sit down. Here's a chair. Where're your folks?"

"Partying," he said, his mouth full, eyeing the boxes of doughnuts.

"Partying?" She thought of happy voices, gay laughter, soft music, smiling faces. "Oh, I see." She looked out the window. Then she reached under the counter and pulled out a bottle of soda. "Have some. Maybe we can have our own little party."

And she smiled, a bit self-consciously, and went back to packing doughnuts, glancing at the little black boy on the stool.

He took a pull from his drink, then chewed on his doughnut. Maybe it wasn't such a bad Christmas night after all.

NWB Calendar Features Artists From Iowa 6

James A. Graham of Norwalk has been selected as a featured artist for Northwestern Bell's 1970 appointment calendar.

Graham's painting titled "Country Auction" illustrates the calendar's February page. It was painted from a scene near Winterset in Madison County near the farm where he grew up.

Two other Iowa artists are represented in the calendar on the January and March pages. A painting by Ronald Larson of Council Bluffs, "Snow Trap," appears with the month of January. Ray Frederick of Marshalltown illustrates the calendar's March page with his painting "Industrial City."

ONE GOOD THING ABOUT WINTER

There is one good thing about winter—he brings Christmas. Through the bleak December the thought of the coming festivities is pleasant—like the reflection of a fire on our faces. We taste the cake before it is baked, and when it is actually before us we find that it is none the worse for the fond handling of imagination.

CONTINENTAL FEATURES

First Decorations Were Quite Varied

The early types of decorations for Christmas trees were as varied and as characteristic as the nationalities of the people creating them.

The farm-folk in Lithuania designed windmills and bird-cages of straw; the fisher-folk used fish nets; some Scandinavians formed strings of small flags, and the Poles favored feathers, bright ribbons, and colored papers tied onto the trees.

Our use of tinsel stems from an enchanting legend of dingy cob-webs woven by a spider around a tree on Christmas Eve which miraculously turned to silver in the morning.

From the simple fruits and wafers, each generation added ingenious improvements to their decorations; red cranberry strings and gilded nut shells, colorful paper chains and sparkling stars, striped candy canes, and spiced cookies shaped like animals, bells and gingerbread men. The apples wrapped in bright papers evolved into today's scintillating Christmas ornaments.

Bill of Rights Wk Proclaimed

Phi Delta Kappa Sorority has presented its National Citation to Mrs. Ruby S. Couche, supervisor of public relations on staff of District 28, Queens, for "outstanding contributions" in areas of human relations, education and community involvement. Notable among Mrs. Couche's achievements is participation in the "Big Sister's Education Family Service Program," an anti-poverty project. She has been on city school staff since 1950.

Bill of Rights Wk Proclaimed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Nixon on Dec. 10 proclaimed Dec. 15 as Bill of Rights Day and called for observance of the week beginning Wednesday as Human Rights Week.

The proclamation noted that the Bill of Rights was ratified 178 years ago and incorporated as part of the Constitution and that the United Nations General Assembly adopted more than 20 years ago the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

100 End Sit-in At Harvard

Cambridge, Mass. — Nearly 100 Negroes quietly ended a sit-in at Harvard's University Hall late last Thursday, Dec. 11 after being confronted with a court order prohibiting a continuation of their protest.

The University earlier had suspended those among the protesters who were Harvard demonstrators that they could be charged with criminal trespassing unless they vacated the building.

The blacks at first seized all of University Hall, Harvard's main administration building, but later they moved into one section of the building.

Wins Custody Of Dark Tot

Lansing, Mich. — The Michigan Court of Appeals has awarded a white Port Huron man permanent custody of a dark-skinned, 3-year-old boy who was born to his former wife while she was a patient in a state hospital.

The ruling, issued Dec. 11, overturned a Circuit Court decision and permits little Scott Damaschke to remain with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Damaschke.

Circuit Judge Halford Streeter had ruled Frank Damaschke was not the physical father and could not claim the child as his own. Hospital officials said they believed the father was a Negro patient.

HOW TO KEEP YOUR

Christmas Poinsettia

Let's get those Christmas plants off to a good start. It's much easier to keep them in good health than it is to nurse them back after they begin ailing.

Take the poinsettia — with red, pink, or white bracts. It is very sensitive to changes in temperature, so keep it out of drafts. Use water at room temperature. Bracts will last longer if the plant is kept at lower temperature, particularly at night. If it is near a window, move it back at night so it won't get a chill. Give it bright light but no sun. Gradually withhold water after the plant is through blooming. Store in a cool basement until April or May, watering it once a week.

When the weather warms up, cut back stems to about 6 inches and sink the pot in a protected spot in the garden; prune it back in July or August — or a couple of times during that period. Before the weather turns cold, bring the plant to a South window; water and feed regularly; give it total darkness about twelve hours a night during October and November. Bracts should show color by Thanksgiving and you can discontinue the artificial darkness. The prized part of the poinsettia is the colored bracts or leaves, and not the true flower, which often falls soon after the plant is purchased. If the small flower parts do fall, the showy bracts still remain attractive.

or honeysuckle; July, larkspur or water lily; August, poppy or gladiolus; September, aster or morning glory; October, calendula or cosmos; November, chrysanthemum; December, narcissus or holly.

The most recent available statistics show 1,927,954 male babies born in 1965 and 1,833,304 girl babies. Not yet tabulated according to gender, 1966 birth figures total 3,629,000, with the California registering the greatest number, 350,091.

Ever since 1940 more males than females have been born in the United States, each year.

THE POINSETTIA

The Poinsettia plant was brought to the United States by Joel Robert Poinsett, first minister to Mexico. Poinsett successfully grew the wild scarlet plant on his estate in South Carolina, and American botanists named the plant the poinsettia. The name stuck, in the U.S., even though it was later discovered that a German botanist, Karl Willdenow, had earlier described and cataloged the plant as Euphorbia pulcherrima, or "the very beautiful Euphorbia." In other nations, it is known as the Fireplant, Mexican Flame Leaf, Shepherdess, and Lobster Plant.

voting statutes or regulations. Also the Act provides for the assignment of Federal registrars to supervise voter registration in areas where there is racial discrimination. These key provisions are lacking in the new Administration bill.

Sold Out

The new bill extends the ban on literacy requirements to all 50 states but has no strong enforcement powers. In backing this bill, the Administration, Mitchell charged, "sold us out in order to get the segregation vote in the South."

WOOD UTILITY POLES

BY TOM CUNNINGHAM
AMERICAN WOOD PRESERVERS INST.

BEAUTY AND THE POLE

Since wood is one of the most workable design materials, it was only a matter of time before the old "cross-trees" look gave way to some high-wire happenings!

Noted industrial designer Henry Dreyfuss came up with the "Sunburst" pole design, popular in Southern California—the top spars that carry the wires flare out like the sun's rays.

In the Detroit area, a new line rises—two laminated wood members aesthetically separated to provide a "see-through" opening—is "digging in" as a favorite.

Streamlined poles in colors that blend best with natural or residential landscapes have found a warm reception in Florida.

Round or square, more and more utility poles will be carrying their 90% share of the nation's electricity through new high-capacity wires that cut down on pole-top clutter. By 1975, it is estimated that half of the nation's millions of utility poles will be delivering high-power in high-style!

Abernathy Signs Appointed Colonel Panther Lease N.Y. State Guard

CHICAGO, ILL. — The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (S.C.L.C.), signed a lease Dec. 10, for the Chicago headquarters of the Black Panther Party. Eight Others

The Rev. Mr. Abernathy and eight Negro community leaders signed the lease as a protest to plans by Edward V. Hanrahan, Cook County (Chicago) state's attorney, to investigate Alderman A.A. Rayner, who signed the lease with Panther officials last year.

$1,000 Donation

The minister also announced a $1,000 donation by the S.C.L.C. to establish a scholarship fund honoring Fred Hampton, chairman of the Panther Party in Illinois who was killed in a Chicago police raid last week.

10, that the Wilkins telegram was dispatched, a Justice Department spokesman in Washington announced that the Department's Civil Rights Division "is considering a request to make an investigation of allegations that undue force may have been used by local police in carrying out their obligations."

Apprehension

Many persons, Wilkins said, "are extremely apprehensive over the police action and its possible employment against any other individuals or groups suspected of some infraction of the law ... We are sure your Department realizes the danger inherent in any considerable segment of the population becoming convinced that harassment and summary execution will be visited upon dissenters and protestors by police and law enforcement officers."

Justice Department findings "of more than a routine nature could do much to quiet the alarm and bitterness that are spreading rapidly across the nation," Wilkins said.

Ask Grand Jury

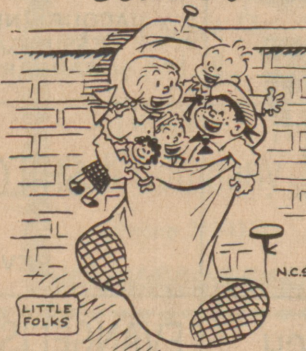

Meanwhile, the Chicago NAACP unit has called upon Attorney General Mitchell "to convene a special Federal grand jury to determine the truth in the matter of how Fred Hampton and Mark Clark met their deaths.... Many unusual circumstances exist in this case that would lead a cautious and prudent individual to believe that, perhaps, a conspiracy existed or exists" to deprive the victims of their constitutionally guaranteed civil rights.

Modern Lynchings

To Hampton, a former leader of the 750-member NAACP youth council in Maywood, Ill., police abuse was certainly no novelty. He had encountered it in his nearby hometown when, in 1967, he led a protest and demonstrations against racial discrimination in the public high schools. He and other members of the youth council were picked up by police in a mass arrest.

The NAACP in Chicago called the slayings a "modern-day lynching" and announced plans to undertake a thorough investigation of the tragedy.

Seek Release Of 13 Panthers Jailed in N.Y.

Washington, D.C. — Release of 13 members of the Black Panther Party — confined to New York City jails since last April — was sought from the U.S. Supreme Court this week.

Attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) assert that this case "represents a particularly blatant example of the prevention of the money bail system."

Trial Appearance

In this instance, they add, in a friend of the court brief, the bail system "serves the purpose of preventive detention of the allegedly dangerous."

That system was originally intended to "increase the likelihood of appearance at trial," the attorneys argue.

High Bail

By detaining the Panthers on prohibitively high bail, the LDF stresses, because of their alleged dangerousness, New York is violating their rights under the 8th and 14th Amendments.

Ten of the 13 Panthers are being held on bails of $100,000 each.

New York's bail system, the LDF says, arbitrarily and irrationally confines the Panthers, and others similarly situated, because of their poverty.

THE CHRISTIAN CANDLE

The Christian candle, symbolic of Christ, "The Light Of The World," originated from sacred Roman and Hebrew Customs. Tapers of tallow from animal fats later were candles made of beeswax, as it became more plentiful. In many nations these were held erect by metal holders clamped onto the branches of the Christmas tree. Sanctified they were believed to radiate love and friendship, to dispel hatred and discord, just as our electrified counterparts today.

General area of the Capitol District includes the Oak Ridge area, the model cities area, part of the East Side and the Southeast bottoms. Geographically it is West 30th

The Magic of Christmas

The happy anticipation you feel when a friend or relative opens that gift you so carefully chose is part of the magic of Christmas. The pleasure is even greater when you know the gift is just right.

But shopping for something that sets off that "just right" spark can be frustrating and tiring — especially during the busy holiday season.

Shopping early is the best way to meet the "what will I get for so and so" blues. Unfortunately, it's too late for that now, but there are some tips to make it easier.

- Take an hour or so to write out a complete shopping list.
- An estimate of how much you want to spend for each person on the list saves time and trouble of looking over a myriad of products either over or under your price range.
- Scan magazines, catalogs, newspapers and pay attention to radio and TV ads for gift ideas or suggestions that might give you an idea.
- Keep in mind, usually, it's the simple, useful, non-gimmicky gifts suited to the individual, that give the most pleasure.
- Don't spend all your shopping time in the traditional gift sections of stores. A visit to the housewares department, or hardware store, for example, might prove most worthwhile.

Two inexpensive gifts from the not-so-mundane world of housewares that are fun to give and great to receive are the Rubbermaid Tool Caddy and Sewing Susan.

The two-tiered Tool Caddy revolves on a turntable base and holds a hammer, pliers, screwdrivers, files, and drills — the bottom tray is compartmentalized for nuts, bolts, nails, tape — all the odds and ends that accumulate in a tool box. A Tool Caddy for Dad, uncle or grandfather is sure to please — and that young man on your list who is turning into quite a handy-man will be thrilled with a caddy filled with shiny new tools.

The Rubbermaid Sewing Susan will spin joy into the heart of any lady from nine to ninety. Taking a cue from its lazy namesake, the Sewing Susan revolves on a turntable base to bring all contents within easy reach. The bottom tray of the two-tiered Susan has compartments for pins, buttons, measuring tapes, gauges, tracing wheels, chalk and even sewing machine attachments.

Both items, available at housewares stores everywhere, will fit anyone's budget — and may be the "just right" gift for someone on your list.

Black Trucker Humiliated At Boston ICC Hearing

Boston, Mass. — A black trucker was publicly humiliated at a recent Interstate Commerce Commission hearing in Boston, Mass., by attorneys representing 80 white carriers protesting his entry in the national market of hauling refrigerated commodities.

Filed Year Ago

The hearing on Wesley Howard's application for 21-state authority to haul refrigerated commodities was held for two days, Nov. 17 and 18, at the Interstate Commerce Commission in Boston, Mass. President of Fast Fleet Freight, located at 15 Bancroft, Worcester, Mass. President of Fast Fleet Freight, located at 15 Bancroft, Worcester, Mass., Howard filed his application on July 16, 1968, more than a year ago. He requested authority to transport fish and fish products westward from the Boston-Worcester area to the Midwest and to return by hauling meat and meat products westward.

Witnesses Unnotified

None of Howard's witnesses appeared at the hearing. Among those expected to attend the hearing were Senator Edward Brooke, Senator Edward Kennedy, Mayor Joseph Casdin of Worcester, Mayor Kevin White of Boston, representatives from various community organizations and companies expressing a need for Howard's services. The Interstate Commerce Commission deliberately failed to send a notice of the hearing to his supporters, most of whom are white shipping customers, Howard said.

Examiner Insisted

The hearing examiner (name withheld) insisted on conducting the two-day hearing even after Howard's lawyer protested on the grounds that his client would not get a fair and impartial hearing.

The examiner said that he would recommend to the ICC a decision to deny Howard's application for 21-state authority because Howard's witnesses failed to appear at the hearing.

Loner in Mass.

The 45-year-old Howard is the only black trucker in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. He has been under constant pressure from the trucking industry and from the citizenry of Worcester, who fear reprisals resulting from his action to move into the national freight hauling market. The trucking industry in Worcester is one of the largest in the nation.

Howard is also the first black businessman in Worcester to become eligible for a loan from Small Business Administration. Although

Cleaver To End Exile

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. diplomats in Algiers have told Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver he could have papers to let him return home, where his militant Negro party is in the throes of a leadership crisis, the State Department said last Friday.

Recent shooting deaths, arrests and party purges presumably heightened pressure on Cleaver to end his self-imposed exile that began a year ago when he fled

Navy Recruiting Has New Policy

The Navy Recruiting office has announced a new policy which allows qualified applicants to be enlisted into a Navy reserve status for up to six months prior to reporting for active naval service. This program is referred to as the "Cache Delay Program" and was designed primarily for graduating high school seniors and college students to ensure their acceptability into the navy and to reserve an opening for the month the applicant desires to report for active duty. Time spent in this reserve status is deducted from his total military obligation and also counts as in-service time for military pay purposes.

The Navy also announces that applicants being enlisted for immediate active duty after Dec. 15 will be given the opportunity to take up to 14 days of annual leave over the holiday period prior to reporting to recruit training.

For further information contact the Navy Recruiting Office in Room 132, of the Federal Building at 310 Walnut, or call 284-4149.

ROBIN LEGEND

Robin red-breast, perennial harbinger of spring, has been associated in legend with Christ, and thus with Christmas.

It was told long ago that the bird attempted to ease Christ's suffering on the way to His crucifixion by pulling a thorn from the crown. According to the legend, a drop of blood fell on the robin's chest and remained there forever.

This explains why the robin was a familiar decorative touch to Christmas cards in the late 19th century.

Make Your Own Inexpensive Holiday Ornaments

A new hobby is intriguing women handicrafters, and it's perfectly timed for Christmas.

Called resin-craft, it allows you to make an endless array of colorful and exciting ornaments for your tree, windows, doors and all around the house to spark your surroundings with the festive look.

Basically, the ornaments are made by molding quick-drying resin into many interesting shapes. You can make the molds and buy the ingredients or get complete kits that contain all the materials.

Making the molds is easy. You draw or trace the outline of simple holiday items - a Christmas stocking, a poinsettia leaf, a tree ornament, a bell or star for instance.

Affix this design to a piece of cardboard by taping a piece of smooth cellophane over the entire area of your sketch.

Then glue a length of heavy gold cord around the outline. You may have to pin the cord to the cardboard until it dries solid. All Purpose cement No. 527 is good for this purpose. Leave several inches of excess cord to act as a bow.

The cord becomes the mold. Now you mix casting resin with a polyester hardening liquid and spread the substance over the surface of your mold, up to the cord outline.

Let it dry for two to four hours, then remove from the mold and cut away excess glue or resin with scissors.

Tie the excess cord into a bow. Glue small metallic ornaments to the surface if you care to, and hang from the tree or on a wall.

If you do not want to purchase the various elements separately, there are excellent complete kits available that give you a wide variety. You can make quite a number of Christmas ornaments for very little money.

One source for a great many such ideas - not only in resin molding but in many other hobby and handicraft directions, is LeeWards.

Their catalog has pages and pages of suggestions for things to make. And it is available without charge to any interested woman.

As the Christmas and New Year holiday season approaches it is a wonderful time to do, as in the words of the Negro National Anthem, "LIFT EVERY VOICE AND SING." Let's sing our thanks and our praises; let us rejoice that we live in a land where it's possible to lift our voices and efforts for freedom for all men. Peace on Earth, Good Will toward All men.

--M.J.

LIFT EV'RY VOICE AND SING
Lift ev'ry voice and sing,
Till earth and heaven ring,
Ring with the harmonies of Liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise,
High as the list'ning skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.

Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us.

Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us;

Facing the rising sun of our new day begun,
Let us march on till victory is won.

Stony the road we trod,
Bitter the chast'ning rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat,
Have not our weary feet
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered,
We have come, treading our path thro' the blood of the slaughtered,

Out from the gloomy past,
Till now we stand at last,
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years,
God of our silent tears,
Thou who hast brought us thus far on the way;
Thou who hast by Thy might,
Keep us for ever in the path we pray.

Lest our feet stray from the places, our God, where we met Thee
Lest our hearts, drunk with the wine of the world, we forget Thee;

Shadowed beneath Thy hand,
May we forever stand,
True to our God,
True to our Native Land.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate... and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does?

Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New® spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

Visit your expert hairdresser, who cares about your hair care and your comfort. Whatever the nature of your hair problems, only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

What Your Child Eats Each Day Is Important To His Health And General Well-Being

by Mary Reynolds

Rich flavorful stock or broth is frequently the "secret ingredient" in elegant gourmet dishes. Professional chefs use only the best stock, which they make from the finest grades of chicken and beef with careful slow simmering and delicate seasoning.

Canned Broth

Today it's not necessary for homemakers to go through the time, expense and bother of making broth for use as an ingredient in other dishes. Rich canned chicken and beef broths made with a real chef's slow-simmer are available able in 13 3/4 oz. cans from College Inn. These hearty broths are used undiluted and are delicious served plain as soup or used as cooking ingredients in simple as well as gourmet style dishes.

Both canned chicken and beef broths make fine bases for sauces and gravies and enhance the flavor of many other dishes when used as a substitute for the water called for in a recipe.

Add flavor to roasted chicken or turkey by basting with the contents of a 13 3/4 oz. can of chicken broth mixed with half a cup of melted butter, some paprika and a sprinkling of ginger. The result will be a moist bird with a crisply delicious skin.

Keep a supply of handy 13 3/4 oz. cans of broth on your kitchen shelves for use in any recipe which calls for stock or broth. You'll find these broths add a chef-style goodness to any dish they're used with.

GO MOD FOR THE HOLIDAYS

NEW YORK (ED) — Ever thought of going "mod" for the holidays? Holiday entertaining has always been a maddening experience for the hostess, so why not mix and match up your own parties with a touch of the mod.

In this electric era, simplicity, individuality and bold contrasts set the mood. Show your cool to holiday guests by serving a streamlined buffet with a simple one main-dish meal such as lamb stew, veal and peppers, or your favorite casserole recipe. You can touch up your serving technique with some of the latest glassware and glass cookware that are not only functional, but will guarantee you a minimum of fuss and work in the kitchen.

Mod modern sculpture can be an eye catcher as a centerpiece. Spruce it up with bright colors and traditional holiday trimmings. In your table setting, why not go "mod" in American machine made glass, with graphic black and white designs that will create interesting contrasts on a dark table cloth. "Mod" means GO, and there's no end to the creative ideas you can come up with.

Even if you're not a 100% mod, mod gal, every clever hostess appreciates time saving hints and help during the holiday season. An endless line of appliances have been designed to make your job more fun than work, but there's more to the successful buffet dinner than decorations and table setting.

The American Glassware Association has many helpful hints about giving the perfect buffet. Here are a few:

- Plan your table setting in advance, and keep a logical traffic pattern in mind.
- Prepare your casserole in advance, then freeze, reheat and serve in the same oven-proof casserole.
- Serve "one-fork" meals — butter your rolls in advance.
- Serve coffee and dessert from another table, it keeps the buffet simple and uncluttered.

Parties are made by the people, and this holiday season try mixing "mod" with your favorite people and food... it's sure to be a swinging success.

T.O.B. Club Holds Christmas Party

PULLING DOWN WRATH
ON THEIR HEADS

Over the years, those, many who know and have experienced the inequalities of segregation, have fought to eliminate it in our present day living. And they have had a lot of success.

Today, two classes of Negroes are clamoring for segregated facilities; the young Negro who does not know or appreciate what has been done for him, that he enjoys facilities almost undreamed in years gone by and those Negroes who, for selfish reasons, sell white people on segregation. And they find a fertile field among many white people who are glad to support separate facilities because they believe in it or those who just don't know and go along with "What they think is good" because some Negroes want it.

Last week, the Iowa Board of Regents (the board which controls public education on higher learning) authorized Northern Iowa University to set up a Negro center on or off the campus. Some members opposed it from the beginning contending that they had no right to set up separate facilities for one group with tax supported funds. With this, we agree fully plus the fact that such arrangement violates the civil rights act of 1964 in that, no doubt, the schools receive some federal funds.

In the hearing before the board, only Afro-American students favoring the project appeared. None appeared against it. In this, we feel that the board makes a grave error in that they hear from one side, most of whom don't live in Iowa, while in any other involvement of school policies the alumni is asked for their opinions. Students who have gone through Iowa schools, are taxpayers, many of whom are sending their youngsters through school, might well be heard. The opponents shy away from such hearing because of intimidation by the militants.

In Des Moines, a movement is on foot to set up two facilities to deal with drug addicts. Through some bogus reasoning, it was announced that one would be for whites, one for Negroes. The same thing was started in "Old Alcohol Anonymous" but Negroes paid no attention to the program until the segregated policy was abolished and phased out by its own ignorance.

The Bystander repeats that it is opposed to separate facilities in any project. And for the benefit of those who sponsor or promote them, it is well to know that Negro citizens in Iowa generally oppose them. They know from experience, over the years, that separate facilities for them has meant unequal facilities - which have produced the lowering of standards in some schools, in order to give many a chance to get the education they want.

In these efforts to change the course of Negroes in the participation of what goes on, not only the folks who want segregation but also those who oppose it should be heard from.

Segregation does the Negro students a disservice, which Negro segregationists fail or refuse to recognize, in that in the big jobs in industry, in commerce, in government and in the big jobs in education they will find that they will be operating on a non segregated basis and thus must learn to deal with it in advance.

MOVING THE CLOCK
BACK IN VOTING

Up until the voting rights act of 1965, even though federal and state laws guaranteed the right of citizens to vote, some states deliberately ignored these laws. And for this reason, thousands of Negroes in these states were prevented from registering and voting.

These conditions were so flagrant in some states that Congress passed a law requiring that the southern states prove that they were not discriminating against Negro voters. The Nixon supported bill, now pending, and which has passed the house, makes discrimination illegal in all states but places the responsibility on Negroes to prove otherwise.

The 1965 law prohibits literacy tests in states with a history of voting discrimination, authorizes the assignment of federal voting examiners and provides that voting law changes adopted by the covered states and local governments first be cleared by the U.S. attorney general or U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

The fact that hundreds of thousands of Negroes are voting in these states today, that more Negroes are being elected to office today than since reconstruction days and the acknowledgment by southern congressmen that since the situation has improved the condition should be dropped is ample proof that it should not be changed at this time.

The lower house passed the Nixon plan by a vote of 208 to 203 which now goes to the senate. Three Iowa representatives, Gross, Scherle and Mayne; Schwenkel, Smith and Culver opposed it with Kyl not voting because of absence due to the death of his father.

The surprise in this vote was Wiley Mayne from Sioux City. He had generally favored liberal civil rights measures. He may have felt that to point the finger of guilt at a few states is wrong. But he is an able young man, well educated in the best institutions of learning and should feel that it is morally wrong to deny a citizen his rights because of his color. And that is just what the voting rights bill of 1965 attempts to correct.

We hope the senate reverses the house and that President Nixon quits proposing measures which reverse the trend of equality, which divide the party or curtail the enjoyment by all citizens of what this country is bound to protect.

Ron Wilson
Burlington Has
Pro-Football BidsBy DIANE PLUNKETT
WIU Student Journalist

MACOMB, Ill. - Despite bad recommendations from his junior college coach, Ron Wilson, Western Illinois University's record setting flanker, is receiving offers from seven or eight professional football teams.

Ron Wilson

Ron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kersch of Burlington, Ia.

Record
Wilson's records, all made in the two years of varsity football at Western, consists of: most passes caught in one game (13), most yards received in one game (221), most passes caught in one season (58), most passes caught in career (90), most yards in one year (1,053), most yards in career (1,576), most touchdowns by receiver in one year (11), and most touchdowns by receiver in career (11). These records are the reasons that teams from both the American Football League and the National Football League have been scouting the 6-2 senior.

Other Sports
And the records are the reasons for Wilson's being named WIU's most valuable player the past season.

Besides football, Wilson also represents Western on the basketball and track

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

As usual a bunch of old timers were trying to convince a couple of kids that football of the 30s and 40s was tough compared even with today's game in spite of the fact that the players of today are bigger and for the most part, faster. And of course, your writer had to be caught in the middle. We have been looking at football games for just about 50 years and that covers some time. Lots of people don't live that long.

Standard Defense

I would say the game was hard in the early days in spite of the almost standard defense seven man lines with one line backers and in the 30s six man lines with linebackers. This was tough because if a coach were even caught looking like he was trying to tell his team anything from the bench it meant a 15 yard penalty. Then if a substitute came into the game he couldn't even join the huddle until one play had been called. If he did enter the huddle an official was right there with him and if the player breathed too loudly or in broken cadence it was 15 yards.

On His Own

So the quarterback was strictly on his own until between halves. How many of today's signal callers call their own game all the way? They go over and ask the coaches what to do. Now, there isn't anything wrong with this because this is the way the game is played now.

Then, playing both ways the quarterback often stopped a play on fourth down and it was his turn to call signals when he didn't even know where he was.

No Telephone

There were no telephone lines to anybody upstairs and most of the time you didn't know what to expect from a team until they got on the field.

Then as now, your quarterback had to know every man's job on every play so he could check and teams. In track Wilson's specialty is in the high jump. He also participates in the broad jump and the triple jump.

PLASTIC WOMBS AND PINT SIZED LUNGS

Unborn lambs have been removed from their mothers and kept alive in plastic wombs. With the help of artificial, pint-sized lungs.

The lambs were put into plastic fish tanks filled with fluids necessary for life. Tubes were inserted into the unborn lamb's blood vessels, making a kind of umbilical cord. One tube connected to a compact artificial lung that was powered by a pump that gently transported blood.

Man-Made Lung

The man-made lung, shaped like an envelope, was seven feet long. Wrapped around a plastic spool the size of a pint bottle, it kept one fetal lamb alive for as long as 55 hours. Researchers at the National Heart Institute in Bethesda, Maryland, hope to keep lambs alive for longer times and want to show that a fetus can actually grow, not just sur-figure out what went wrong, because his coach couldn't tell him only between halves. So the last guy was really on his own.

Both Ways

With everybody playing both ways, both teams were equally tired and battered and many a game was won in the last quarter because team B had a fresh fast boy who could turn the corners and then the tired opponents couldn't catch him. The difference in equipment probably made up for the difference in size between then and now. If today's players had no more protection than did some of the old players, the casualty lists would read like a battle casualty list. The protection is that much better.

Maybe, we really went down the middle but didn't we mean to?

Basketball

Maybe we will have two top college teams in the state. Drake really seems to be coming on pretty well and Iowa University is getting better with each start. Iowa State is tough but doesn't have that big man.

Do you know that it will be the first time in umpteen years that Roosevelt hasn't had the best team or the best player in the city. North, Hoover Lincoln and maybe East should be rated.

Young Lambs

Before its use this year on 35 fetal lambs, the lung was tested on young lambs after birth. It also kept alive for a few hours two fatally ill human infants. And one adult cancer patient.

The researchers think it may be possible eventually to put premature babies into the plastic womb and to help them survive and grow in the plastic womb with the pint-sized lung. The lung, they believe, could also save thousands of infants born with hyaline membrane disease and other disorders of the lung.

Delicate

The lungs are delicate, sensitive organs. Proper lung function is a matter of life and breath. For more information about the lungs and how they work, see
