9 Mississippi Districts Integrate Churches Launch Job Bias Barrage

Nine Iowa Groups Ask Employers to Sign State Pledges

Under a nationwide program called Project Equality, nine religious denominations and groups representing nearly one million Iowans, launched a new program to "actively combat job discrimination."

Identified

The nine religious groups are The Roman Catholic Diocese of Des Moines, the United Methodist Church-Iowa Conference, the Des Moines Jewish Welfare Federation and Synagogues, The United Presbyterian Church-Iowa Synod, the American Lutheran Church-Iowa District, the Lutheran Church in America-Iowa Synod, the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary of Dubuque, the Iowa Council of Churches and the Iowa Society of Christian Churches.

Better Jobs

Project Equality is a nationwide program under which the church groups ask employers to provide more and better jobs to members of minority groups, particularly to Negroes.

The program includes a threat, at least implied, that the participating church groups will stop doing business with firms that do not co-operate with Project Equality.

Named Director

Director of Project Equality in Iowa will be Howard E. Hayes, a VISTA (Volunteers in Service To America) supervisor at Tama for the last six months.

Hayes, 34, who lives in Grinnell, will be moving to Des Moines within six months to open the permanent Iowa offices. Until that time he will work from his home. Temporary Des Moines offices will be maintained at the Iowa Council of Churches headquarters at 317 E. Fifth st.

Federal Law

The Rev. Herbert Mardis of Chicago, national Project Equality president, said in Des Moines Monday that the 1964 federal law prohibiting job discrimination has "lured people into complacency."

He added that "deprivation of work and income (to minority groups) is still rampant."

The Rev. Mr. Mardis pointed out that the black rate of unemployment is double that for whites and predicted that "if nothing more is done than is being done now," the black

Housing Bias Ban Widens Covers 34 Million More Single Family Homes

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- The third and final stage of the 1968 open housing law went into effect Thursday, Jan. 1, 1970, extending antidiscrimination coverage to approximately 34 million additional single-family homes.

The combination of the fully effective Fair Housing Act and recent Supreme Court rulings provides virtual blanket federal jurisdiction over discrimination in the sale, rental, advertising and financing of all types of housing, officials said.

Newly covered under the statute in 1970 will be single-family houses owned by an individual who uses a broker to sell or rent, or who uses discriminatory advertising.

Total Coverage

The extension will provide total administrative coverage over some 54 million housing units of an estimated 69 million in the country, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) said.

The 15 million units still technically excluded under the act largely would be single-family houses rented or sold by an individual without a broker and without discriminatory advertising.

Technical

"But I would caution that the exclusion is only technical because of possible action under last year's Supreme Court ruling," said Kenneth F. Holbert, director of HUD's Office of Equal Housing Opportunity.

The high court in 1968 interpreted an 1866 federal act as outlawing racial discrimination in all housing without exception.

JUST PULL TOGETHER

I'm Not Guilty---Accused G.I. Testifies on My Lai Massacre

Washington, D.C. -- "I'm not guilty."

This was the emphatic statement issued by Staff Sgt. David Mitchell, one of two soldiers charged in the alleged My Lai massacre. The 29-year-old Mitchell spoke to newsmen after he came to the Pentagon to testify before a special army board.

The nine-year-old veteran from St. Francisville, La., is charged with 30 counts of assault with intent to commit murder.

The other person charged is his former platoon commander, 1st Lt. William L. Calley, jr., of Waynesville, N. C. Calley is accused of murdering 109 civilians at My Lai 4 on Mar. 16, 1968. Twenty-four other soldiers or former soldiers are under investigation, the Army says.

Calley went before the special investigating board earlier.

Mitchell was hustled into the Pentagon and down two flights of stairs to the secret war room where the closed hearing is being held.

He was accompanied by his civilian attorney, Ossie Brown of Baton Rouge, La., and his military lawyer, Capt. James Bowditch of Bradenton, Fla.

Asked in a brief running news conference if he would answer questions asked by the board, Mitchell said: "It depends on what they ask."

Seek Observance Of King Birthday

New York, N. Y. -- A call for the observance of Jan. 15, 1970 as "Martin Luther King Day" was issued here Dec. 30 by a citizens committee and church groups interested in an annual observance of the late civil rights leader's birthday.

The call for voluntary action came after efforts to have Congress set aside the date as a legal public holiday failed to achieve that goal by 1970.

200 Schools Open Doors For Both Races As Federal Troops Watch

Jackson, Miss. -- With out violence and relative fanfare, 11 Mississippi school districts opened their doors to Negro pupils Monday under federal court order.

Federal marshals looked on as Negro pupils entered schools that once were predominantly white, and white pupils went to classes in formerly all-Negro schools. There was no incidents as classes resumed after Christmas vacation.

In one school the presidents of students bodies, one white and one Negro, spoke before an assembly. This may have helped to contribute to the calm acceptance of the court order.

200 Schools

The U. S. Supreme Court had ordered total desegregation in 30 districts to take effect after Dec. 31, 1969.

Eleven districts opened Monday with the remainder scheduled to open later in the week.

More than 200 schools with a total enrollment of about $135,000 are affected by the court order.

State civil and religious leaders appealed over the weekend for calm and reason as some 50 additional U.S. marshals moved into the state to monitor compliance with the court mandate.

Urged by Governor

Gov. John Bell Williams asked for non-violence and patience in an address on television and radio.

However, Williams told citizens it is still their decision whether to send their children to public or private schools, or keep them home.

"With God's help," the governor said, "let us make the best of a bad situation."

Private System

He said 100 new private schools had been established in the 30 districts and that he would back a movement to build up a private school system as a "workable alternative" to public facilities.

Some church and parent groups called on their members to accept the high court's Oct. 29 decision that the systems must be desegregated immediately.

There has been talk among other groups and individuals that the state should offer massive resistance.

Reaction

Public reaction to the desegregation order varied widely across the state. In some areas parents are paying an average of $30 a month to support private schools. In Yazoo City, State Senator Herman Decell led a drive to get white parents to pledge to keep their children in the desegregated schools. Some 200 parents signed.

A group of interfaith church leaders issued a statement in Jackson last week urging that the state be a "model of racial harmony in her schools."

Dolph Pullman

A Russ Van Dyke (KRNT) Protégé

It is easy to see why major business firms, schools, civic and social organizations, and other groups made every effort to employ DOLPH PULLMAN as soon as he was graduated from Drake in 1969: young men of his caliber are hard (rare, that is) to come by these days.

But even without a college education, Dolph would have "made it," for he has the very important quality of relating well with people—the major factor employers are concerned with now.

Early Childhood Experiences
Dolph gives credit for his basic philosophical learnings to an aunt and uncle who reared him and his six brothers and sisters after they were orphaned during early childhood. It was through them that he (1) developed a deep and abiding faith in God. He believes that our youth are closing a door to a valuable experience by not participating with or engaging in religious activities.

To him the church provides a meaningful setting for learning how to better understand, respect and have tolerance for persons with both strengths and weaknesses. He observes not only a lack of courtesy, but confused and distorted role-expectations by many of our young people. (2) learned to fully appreciate the concept of freedom ... "it is from within that we become free," he philosophized. It saddens him that the term "Black" as perceived by many young militants is proving to be disruptive rather than cohesive ... "they are hung-up on this term and it is dividing us rather than unifying us because it lacks purpose and fails to provide a consensus ..."; (3) recognized the value of a good education and the willingness to earn it; (4) the importance of developing alternatives; (5) the need to compromise if one is to move forward; (6) the art of being flexible and allowing for another's point of view.

Such values have played a significant role in Dolph's career development. They enabled him to successfully handle the severe problems he encountered along the way (from the 10th grade on) to complete his education. Many young people would have given up - dropped out. Dolph had every reason to do so: his aunt whom he loved and adored and depended upon passed away when he was 15; His uncle was unable to adequately support them; he had two younger brothers to care for in addition to himself. But he found a way to keep the house clean and in order, wash, iron, scrub, sew, cook, prepare his uncles lunch, and carry a full load of college preparatory courses.

Comprises

It was during this period that he set an alternative and compromised his first goals: he wanted to be an engineer but recognized that he would have a hard time making the grades in science and math and play football. It wasn't that he was sports-oriented-but he saw the need for an athletic scholarship if he was to attain any kind of profession. He learned to compete with Blacks for he was attending a segregated school (Geary, Indiana.) His achievements: He was elected vice president of the student council; a member of the speech-drama club; member of the honors society; and was finally made captain of his basketball team. Dolph believes his most valuable experience was in basketball for it proved to him the importance of working together if one was to succeed. "Group cohesiveness, and/or working together is of prime importance in team effort," he said.

PULLMAN

As a result of an athletic scholarship, Dolph found himself at Drake where he quickly adjusted to an integrated class situation. He made Varsity in his sophomore year but was not happy because Drake had not yet emerged as a ranking team. Later he was made co-captain of his team and they tied for 3rd place in the Missouri Valley Conference. His senior year highlighted his athletic career - their main goal was to win the Missouri Valley title. And they succeeded - this was a first for Drake and Dolph takes real pride in this achievement.

However, he does not attribute the success to just the skill that is needed to win; he gives credit to his coach who had the ability to form a cohesive group - each recognized the interdependence required for winning. Later, this same year, Drake played in the Manhattan Regional Tournament and for the first time went to the NCAA in Louisville, Ky. where they played against UCLA and lost by only one point. They came back to defeat UCLA in a consolation game with North Carolina.

Dolph wears a gold watch which was presented to him after the NCAA Tournament. He was nominated to the All Missouri Valley Team; was drafted by the Boston Celtics in the NBA; to the L.A. Stars in the ABA; and to the Dallas Cowboys in the NFL.

40 Firms Sought Him

Over 40 different firms and agencies tried to employ Dolph but it was because of his respect and admiration for Russ Van Dyke of KRNT that he accepted their offer to work for them as a Radio-TV Broadcaster and Reporter. He holds a teacher's certificate in Speech and Drama and is constantly engaged in speaking engagements throughout the state. A member of the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity; Circle K Speaking Group; Honorary Chairman of Cerebral Palsied Board of Directors; and is Recruiting Chairman for the Boy Scouts of America. His hobby is People - and to him home life is one of the most important factors in a person's life.

"...parents play the dominant role in all aspects of life whether social, cultural, educational or other," he remarked.

We have chosen Dolph as our subject this week because we believe the standards he set for himself, his basic orientation, and his philosophical outlook should be helpful to our youth if they will identify with it.

D.C. Jobs Center Closes

Washington, D.C.--The highly touted Washington Jobs Center is closing. An official of the Department of Labor, which financed the project, said last week, "They didn't have the kind of success they wanted to have in terms of placing and keeping people on jobs."

The department has refused to renew its funding of the program. The Washington Jobs Center was a joint venture between Northern Natural Gas Co., of Omaha, Nebr., and the Washington Board of Trade.

In its nearly two years of operation, the program trained 2,700 persons, many of whom had never held a job. About 1,750 were placed in jobs, and about 900 are still at work, according to a project official.

The Department of Labor said that the void created by the ending of the program, the largest in Washington, will be taken up by other job training contracts.

Under the novel concept in the contract, the program was paid not only to train and place its trainees in jobs, but to keep them on the job for a year after they joined the program.

Cleaver Suggests A Referendum

ALGIERS, ALGERIA -- Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver suggested a referendum among black people in the United States so they could decide on their future, according to an interview published by the newspaper El Moudjahid Wednesday.

In response to a question on "secession or integration" of blacks in the United States, Cleaver said he would like to see "a referendum, under supervision of the United Nations, so that our people can make its will known on a question of its national destiny by democratic means."

Cleaver said he would like "to find a friendly country, a member of the United Nations, to start the process."

Telephone Trucks Take on New Color

"It's clear to see that Northwestern Bell is bolder and brighter these days," said R. A. Reed, telephone company district manager.

The company has taken on a new design for the traditional Bell seal and a fresh contemporary look for its company trucks and vans.

The first of the new trucks for Des Moines will be on display in front of the telephone building at 9th and High this week.

Instead of the present dark green vehicles, the new version is two-tone: white on top, grey-green on the bottom. Designed by artist Saul Bass, the trucks feature Bell blue and gold striping separating the two body colors. "The colorful stripes are duo-purpose - not only are they more attractive, but they increase the safety of the vehicle. The reflective stripes increase visibility," Reed said.

IRS Vamps Duke Ellington For $90,000 Back Taxes

I.R.S. rejected large business expense deductions claimed by the musician and also disallowed some of his deductions for charitable contributions and medical expenses.

I.R.S. also ruled that the income of Tempo Inc., a music publishing firm, was actually Ellington's.

On April 29 Ellington was guest of honor and featured performer at a tradition-shattering jazz concert at the White House, marking his 70th birthday.

Ask Freer Hand For Model Cities

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- A presidential task force has recommended that City Halls be given a freer hand in hammering out agreements over the role of citizens in the Model Cities program, government sources said Dec. 30.

The recommendation, if implemented, would help ease one of the most vexing of a host of problems plaguing Model Cities, an experimental program seeking a concentrated assault on social and physical blight in decaying centers of 150 U.S. cities, including Des Moines.

Sources said the report is critical of what task force members consider excessive federal regulation of the Model Cities program on the local level.

Aliens Must Register Now

W.R. Wilson, District Director of the Omaha, Nebraska Immigration and Naturalization Service has again reminded all aliens to report their addresses during January.

Cards with which to make the reports are available at Post Offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service throughout the country. The reports must be submitted to one of those offices.

Parents or guardians submit reports for alien children under fourteen years of age.

Wilson urges all aliens to report before the end of January, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious consequences.

This is the eighth in a series of articles featuring junior and senior high school students in Iowa. No particular specification is required other than being a good, deserving young citizen.

Sidney Poitier to Star in New Film

Hollywood -- Negotiations have been concluded between Columbia Pictures and Sidney Poitier for him to star in "Kane," an original screenplay which Poitier's company, E & R Production Corp. will film early next year.

James Goldstone will direct the film, his second theatrical effort. He made his directorial debut last year with "Winning."

Joel Glickman will serve as producer on the project with Ernest Kinoy writing the screenplay which tells the contemporary story of a black man who returns to his small home town in the South to be with his family during a troubled period.

Poitier's most recent films for Columbia, "To Sir, With Love" and "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," are two of the company's all time box-office hits.

"Kane" is scheduled to go before the cameras March 16 on location in a California community.

THE FAMILY SHOPPING CENTER

Downtown parking meter rates are higher; and, in the bitterly cold Des Moines winter weather, you want to shop where you have to make as few stops as necessary.

The shopping center -- everything in easy walking distance, and no parking meter to feed; but, most shopping centers are too far to be convenient.

McQueen's Pharmacy, 6th & Forest (288-3323) is the center of the convenient neighborhood Family Shopping Center. Within a few steps, you will find a restaurant, beauty salon, music studio, supermarket, clothing store, pizza parlor, appliance store, bookkeepers, laundromat, tavern, dry cleaners, gas station, and McQueen's, your family pharmacy.

We are so much a part of the neighborhood that many folks refer to us as The Pharmacy. Like the other tenants of this shopping center, we take great pride and pleasure in giving each patron our individual attention.

Ours is the shopping center that cares.

why don't you stay down there with them?

The answer is, I have an aunt and a sister in Waterloo. Although my sister fusses at me all the time about women she is the last close relative I have. But, I am giving her advance notice I haven't changed a bit. I am eight years older than when I left Waterloo. But the women are wearing their skirts eight inches shorter so that keeps me right into the race. I am getting older but I am not dead. Also, by me being eight years older than she I think I know when to stop chasing and start looking.

We made the college of his choice, the college of our choice.

What do you do when you've got everything it takes to be a good college student except money? Put your dreams in your pocket and settle for something else? That was the question facing Bobby Hicks.

His case came to our attention and we looked into it. He had all the qualifications: good grades, desire, and ambition. So we supplied the one thing he lacked. Money. Through a grant to Winston-Salem State University from the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Bobby was able to hold onto his dreams and make them a reality.

The R. J. Reynolds grant provides scholarships each year to deserving students like Bobby. It also supplies funds to attract highly qualified faculty members to Winston-

Salem State University and broaden the school's curriculum.

This educational grant to aid the cause of Black students and teachers is only one example of our commitment to equal opportunities for all Americans. But it's one of which we're especially proud. Because we believe, that, ultimately, education is the key to unlocking the shackles of poverty and bringing Black people into the picture of American prosperity.

Historical Calendar Features Prominent Negroes of Past

New York, N. Y. -- The second annual Negro Historical Calendar has been prepared for 1970 by Seagram Distillers Company to again focus attention on the contributions of black Americans to the development of the country. The calendar will receive broad initial distribution to individuals and black organizations.

Highlights
Each month the calendar highlights a distinguished Negro man or woman who has enriched America and the world in such fields as science, the arts, statesmanship, medicine, exploration, education or charity. There is a portrait of each individual, accompanied by a sketch of the subject working at the occupation in which he is most renowned.

Robert Singstacke Abbott
Pioneer black newspaper publisher Robert Singstacke Abbott is remembered for his influential, hard-hitting editorials demanding justice for blacks and encouraging Negroes from the South to leave and seek better lives elsewhere. He is one of 12 prominent blacks featured in Seagram's 1970 Negro Calendar.

There are two periods in a man's life when he doesn't understand women — before marriage and after marriage ...

We'd all be happy to pay as we go, if we could only catch up paying off where we've been ...

If you like riddles, here's one confounding some of our best business minds:

What could induce a comfortable resident of this area to spend $600 or more for a product and some accessories — just to spend hours in sub-freezing temperatures with 35-mile-per-hour winds cutting into his face?

The answer, of course, is the snowmobile.

Why have snowmobiles captured the imagination of North American consumers?

The recreation experts at Mercury snowmobiles, working with consumer motivation specialists, believe this popularity stems from two basic human urges which the snowmobile fulfills in uniquely modern ways.

First is the natural desire for outdoor recreation, in any season, fulfilled by the modern snowmobile with unique comfort and mechanical reliability. Stated another way, more people might ski — except for the physical exertion and the chance of feeling foolish after a spill. Yet these same people confidently seek winter recreation, comfortably astride an easily steered snow sled with its familiar gas engine.

Second, there's the inborn urge to "challenge nature" — but most of us don't want to do it too seriously! Again the sturdy snowmobile permits the average guy or gal to confront nature at its blustery worst, confident a warm hearth is only minutes away.

So if you have an urge to enjoy and challenge winter, you're merely normal — and probably susceptible to winter's happy new malady, "the snowmobile bug."

Space in Wall Holds Cabinet

A between-the-studs built-in cabinet is highly practical for home medical and first aid items, since most of them come in fairly small containers.

A tall, narrow built-in, just the width of the studding, will store ample supplies, without subtracting a single inch from a room's dimensions.

Even a "hidden" door is possible if the wall is paneled with boards and the door is made of the same boards and hung with "no-show" hardware.

Adjustable shelving provides space for jars and bottles of varying heights.

IRV WHITE PLAYS THE LEAD IN ARTHUR MILLER'S "INCIDENT AT VICHY" starting this Friday at the Des Moines Community Playhouse! Girls, the cast is made up of 21 men! Back to Irv. He is an Austrian prince, Wilhelm Johann VonBerg. The whole play is built around the prince and let's say is a revelation of his life. This play will be done without intermission because the emotion builds up so! Instead, intermission follows the show's end after which there will be a symposium of experts in various fields discussing the play. The evening promises to be tremendous!

MAUDE ESTHER WHITE and I were making pop calls on New Years. Stopped by to see Eunice Bates Mrs. Francis. Hadn't visited with her extensively since we were tobacco girls in Finnian's Rainbow directed by Howard Orms at the Des Moines Community Playhouse. Another high spot in our acquaintance was when I first became aware of Eunice in high school days or thereabouts upon learning that she and Francis were to be married. You see even then Francis was a bass viol player and so an idol among the girls. Sitting with the two on New Years of 1970 was one of the nicest experiences in the world! Here were two in a successful marriage, a rarity in any lifetime. They have a charming home, beautifully furnished. Most importantly, in this home is warm family life. Eunice's mother, Laura Rhodes (Mrs. Kemp), resides there as does the Bates' lovely daughter, Frances (Babe). Mrs. Rhodes is a vibrant personality and so trim and filled with vitality! Her delightful conversation holds one's undivided attention. After having met Mrs. Rhodes, when I visit Eunice again, it will be with the intention of making sure that Mrs. R. is on hand, too. Mmmmm we were served huge pieces of carrot cake filled with large black walnut kernels. The cake Eunice said was a gift from her mother-in-law, Gladys Bates (Mrs. Robt.). Gladys is an unusually talented mother-in-law, believe me. She is a famed cook and known throughout Des Moines' business world. (Which also means the cake had correspondingly more calories—this cook is an artist and most creative in the work of foods).

BEAUTICIAN BERNICE CARTER (MRS. LEROY) AND HER HANDSOME SPOUSE were our hosts, too, on this New Year's Day! Her's was an invitation for black-eyed peas. (Maude's invitation! I was simply foraging! Not really, Bernice and I are old-time friends, too.)

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Can your hair be damaged from brushing, alone?

All hair becomes damaged from exposure to sun and natural elements. Certain greasy compounds and many chemicals, improperly used, also take their toll...not to mention simple attempts at beautifying the hair with any brush not made of natural bristles. The results are brittleness, breakage, dry and dull looking hair.

Your professional beautician knows how artificial bristles actually brush away a great deal of the "lubricants" of the hair that give it body, lustre and protection. And trained beauticians claim that nothing beats Clairol® condition* Beauty Pack Treatment for overcoming brittleness, dryness and breakage... leaving hair lively and easy to manage. condition* is an easy-to-work-with creme which can even be applied during a chemical straightening retouch to prevent drying of hair that has been previously relaxed. condition* is the ultimate in repairing deep-down damage. And, when time is a factor for their customers, hairdressers turn to new Clairol® Hair Dew*—the lotion conditioner that penetrates so fast many think of it as an instant conditioner. When applied regularly by your beautician, Clairol Hair Dew adds body, softens and gives a glowing new look to your hair that many friends will notice and admire.

Damage can come from using brushes with artificial bristles. But damage to every woman's hair comes from so many other causes that all human hair (including wigs) needs to be revitalized periodically. Visit your professional beautician and ask this expert to check the condition of your hair.

Only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION
Veterans and servicemen with G.I. life insurance policies issued during the World War I and World War II periods will receive some $264-million in dividends in 1970.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson, in approving the dividends, said 1970 payments will be $28 million more than last year.

The payments will go to 4,191,200 holders of U.S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI) and National Service Life Insurance (NSLI). USGLI was issued during the World War I era and NSLI during World War II.

The VA chief said the increase in dividends was made possible because of larger interest earnings in the two funds, and that payments will be made throughout 1970 on the anniversary dates of the policies.

A Primordial Metal?
Nickel in trace amounts has been found in marine organisms. Plankton sampled by marine biologists had twice as much nickel as was present in higher marine plants. Their nickel content was found to be ten times that of fish and mollusks examined. It has been suggested that this concentration of nickel is evidence that the element has some function in the growth or metabolism of plankton.

MORE FUNDS FOR NEGRO COLLEGES

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has authorized a $30 million dollar increase in aid to 35 predominately Negro Colleges. This increase came about following a meeting of presidents of 10 of the colleges where President Nixon was accused of not being sensitive to the needs of black colleges.

In answer to this challenge, Mr. Nixon compiled a record of contributions to Negro colleges during his 20 months in office which are higher than in any other comparable period.

Speaking for the schools, a president of one of the colleges said the increase was too low but encouraging. This, of course, was expected because no school officials feel that they have adequate funds to operate their institutions.

Many Roman Catholic schools are closing up for lack of funds and the growing cost of education. Small private colleges are bordering on the same situation as is evidenced by closing Midwest College in Denison, Iowa, last week.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY IN PROMOTION

Give a man something to do that he likes well and with the capacity to improve and he turns out to be good at it.

This is well illustrated in the extensive share Negroes are being given in athletics and the excellent job many are doing.

The management of the St. Louis Cardinals has signed a contract with Bob Gibson, their ace pitcher, for $150,000 per year -- the largest salary ever paid a baseball player.

Gibson has been a 20 game winner for the Cardinals for several years, this year 24. Twenty games is a mark to shoot at during a season and more and more pitchers are hitting the mark.

Cardinal management is to be congratulated in that it finds a man who can produce what is wanted and they are able and willing to pay him what he is worth.

Industry needs to take a leaf from sports and not only say they are "an equal opportunity employer" but let it mean both in hiring and promotion. In other words, recognize a man's worth.

IMPROVEMENT VOTED IN SOUTHEAST

Monday night, the Des Moines city council gave the go-ahead to a housing program in the southeast part of the city. The proposal will be submitted to the voters at the general election on November 3.

The proposal calls for the construction of 250 public housing units at a final figure of $4,255,000. The average unit cost, upon completion, would be $16,900, the price of which makes the final success of the plan problematical.

While the area has been neglected and in most cases, the property run down, the area needs some improvement in the surroundings which will offer modern living.

There is little paving, curbing, sidewalks, while septic tanks and outside toilets prevail in many instances. This should be changed.

But we fear the cost per unit is far beyond the income of most families unless they are subsidized. And few families will be moving back in the area. It will take years to complete the project. Anyway, we believe a more realistic approach should be made to the proposed improvement. Anyone who chances to visit the area will agree that the proposal needs changing.

WILLKIE HOUSE NEWS

FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS - held their first meeting of the season on Wednesday, Sept. 30. Following a one o'clock pot-luck luncheon, the group enjoyed Miss Alice Davis's presentation of South American Life as she found it during four years of living in Colombia. Plans for future meetings were tentatively made to include Book Reviews, Exhibits, Speakers, Special Observances of Thanksgiving, Christmas and Negro History Week. This leisure group invites men, women and couples to join them - EVERY WEDNESDAY AT 1 p.m.

CHILDREN'S PICNIC

The Douglas Avenue Presbyterian Church treated fourteen nine to eleven year old Willkie House members to a picnic at KNOX KNOLLS CAMP near Guthrie Center last Sunday afternoon. The children played new and interesting games, ate around an open campfire and hiked through the woods. During one of the hikes, a doe and fawn jumped from the tree directly in front of the children. Excited yells frightened them away but this was an experience to be long remembered.

SATURDAY PROGRAM FOR CHILDREN - will offer a broad choice of activities, beginning this Saturday, October 10th at 10 a.m. Roller Skating and Crafts, Music and Recreation (both outdoor and gym) will fill four one-hour sessions, 10 to 11 a.m. - 11 to 12 a.m. - 1 to 2 p.m. and 2 to 3 p.m. Parents are urged to register their children for preferred activities and to arrange for TUTORING, either individual or group.

NAACP LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERSHIP RENEWALS NEW YORK. - Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has called upon local units of the Association to mount a massive year-end nationwide campaign to assure enrollment of at least 450,000 NAACP members by December 15.

The campaign concentrates on getting persons whose annual memberships have lapsed to rejoin the organization before the end of the year. A two-month fall renewal campaign, Oct. 15 to Dec. 15, seeks a 1970 enrollment approximating that of 1969 despite a 100 per cent increase in the minimum annual membership from $2.00 to $4.00.

New York City...Amalgamated Publishers, Inc., Advertising Representatives for Black newspapers, has appointed S & L CONSULTANTS of 1555 Lakeside Drive, Oakland, California, as West Coast Representative.

Norman W. Powell, API General Sales Manager, in making the announcement, said the new office will establish an important West Coast base for sale and more efficient servicing of clients in that area. API now has General Offices in New York City with Branches in Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland.

OFF ON PREDICTING

As predictors, we aren't exactly setting the world on fire. We thought this would be a good year for Tech High and they ain't won one yet. We argued that Iowa would win at least five games, and they better hurry if they want to make it. In fact, if they win five now, the Hawks will be pretty well up in the Big Ten race. We felt sure they would win one of the pre-conference games, and we thought they should have won the Arizona battle. They seemed to have had plenty of chances, but just couldn't come up with the play when it really counted. But even then it took a kickoff return to beat them. How many times will that happen?

Bright Spot

The one bright spot seems to be that the team has finally found a passer who might make a difference the rest of the way. When we consider that Wisconsin seems to think that they can beat anybody, now, it would seem that the Hawks have a job for next Saturday. We would give them a chance against Purdue, Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, with an outside chance of upsetting Michigan State. And if they do that, in spite of the Nagel haters, the man might keep his job.

Drake's Loss

We had tabbed Drake for an unbeaten season, so they really got the tar whopped out of them last weekend. Some of the fellows who were in the Bulldogs' corner are saying that they spent too much time reading their clippings and believing them. If that is true, they may be especially tough the rest of the year.

Iowa State

Iowa State, who wasn't supposed to win a game, has won three. But with the Big Eight race starting, the boys are to have to hustle to three more. They don't have to beat Colorado, Iowa, Kansas State or Nebraska. They could squeeze by Oklahoma, maybe.

High School Race

Here at home, our high school race is finally back to normal. Everybody has lost one game but Dowling, and our Dowling watcher says they will lose two. With the Maroon schedule getting

Health for All

Dirty air, like war, is not healthy for children and other living things. And Cleaner Air Week comes the last week in October.

Thousands of people -- spurred on by their tuberculosis and respiratory disease associations as well as other groups -- will put the pollution plague center-stage that week. They will organize meetings, see their Congressmen, fly balloons, have dirty pictures (polluted air) contests, and create some ingenious spectacles.

Researchers have clearly established the relationship between air pollution and increased death rates, particularly among men aged 50 to 69 who have lung disease. But new evidence shows that pollution also has damaging effect on the very young.

shorter, they better go into a slump soon. Our football expert may be right when he says that North's Kelly Evans is the best quarterback in the state. Certainly, he is the best in the city by a long shot.

Lincoln Game

We listened to the Lincoln game last week. Trying to keep the ball, with second and one, they came up with one of those plays where forty guys handle the ball, and wouldn't you know it, the thirty ninth fellow fumbled, and the other team came up with it. But the Railsplitters won anyhow. A fellow said that he thought that the reason why Tech was having trouble was that the fellows worked instead of going out for football. Those who didn't work were interested in what they were learning there, and just didn't have time for the game. Sounds like the best explanation we have heard yet.

Little League

As we listened to a couple of fellows talking about their little league football teams and heard some of the things they pull in order to win, we wondered how much fun the kids are having. It would seem that most of the team coaches use their experience and pull to come up with a winning team. Oh, well, maybe they are having fun.

We were asked why we didn't coach one of the teams. Well, we have never been asked to, and we wouldn't have the time if we're asked.
