Gentry Named To Model City Project

Nolden Gentry, 32, a Des Moines attorney, has been appointed an assistant Des Moines city attorney and will be assigned to the Des Moines Model Cities project. City Corporation Counsel Philip Riley announced the appointment to the Des Moines Model Cities Planning Board at its meeting last Wednesday night.

Gentry will be paid an annual salary of $9,500 a year in the part-time job, the amount budgeted in the Model Cities program for legal counsel. He will continue his association with a private law firm.

Riley said Model Cities work will increase greatly within the next few weeks as the agency begins negotiating contracts with various local agencies, such as the Des Moines School Board and Area 11 Community College, which will implement Model Cities projects.

He said Gentry, a former assistant Iowa attorney general and FBI agent, will be responsible for executing the contracts.

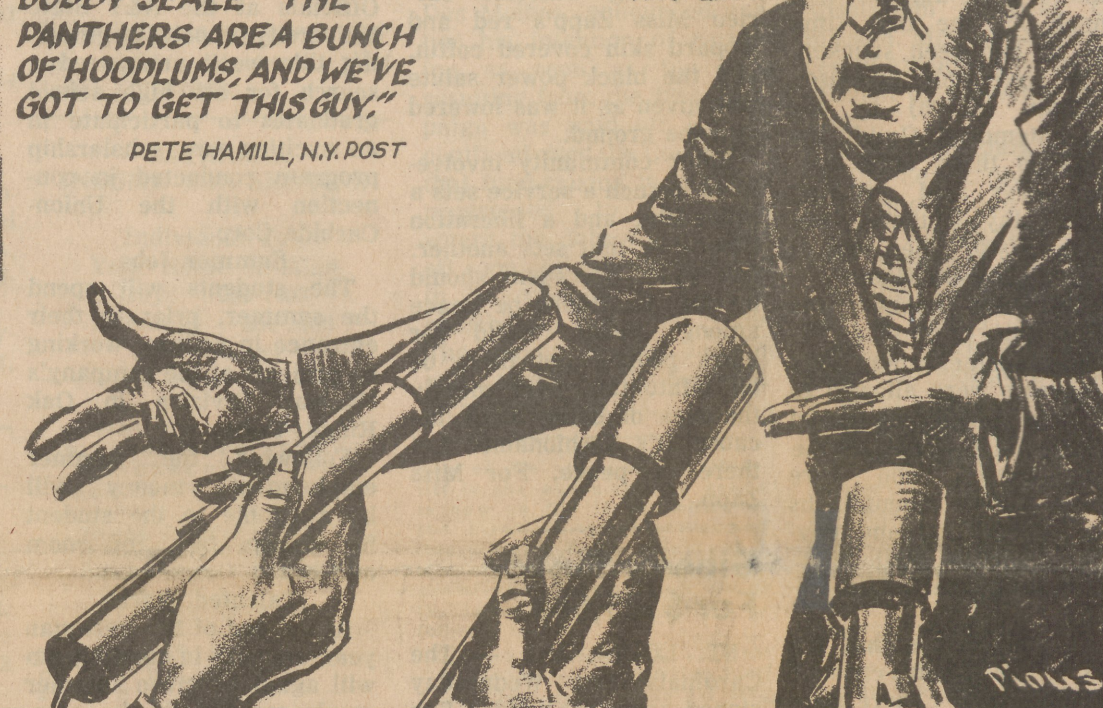

BUT, ARE THE FACTS ALREADY ESTABLISHED..?, MR. MITCHELL

"ATTORNEY GENERAL MITCHELL BELIEVES THE BLACK PANTHERS ARE A MAJOR THREAT TO NATIONAL SECURITY, AS DOES J. EDGAR HOOVER, AND JERRIS LEONARD, THE CHIEF OF THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT, CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION, WHO HAS BEEN QUOTED AS SAYING ABOUT BOBBY SEALE 'THE PANTHERS ARE A BUNCH OF HOODLUMS, AND WE'VE GOT TO GET THIS GUY.'"

PETE HAMILL, N.Y. POST

WE WILL HAVE THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT TO INVESTIGATE AND ESTABLISH THE FACTS.

ATTORNEY GENERAL MITCHELL

Mississippi May Bar 1,500 Black Children from Education

WASHINGTON, D.C.—More than 1,500 black children in grades 1-4 in Coahoma County, Miss., may be barred from public school. The reason: they refuse to take part in a testing program which would allow only a small fraction of them to attend formerly all-white schools.

Mississippi's most recent attempt to block desegregation is to force children in grades 1-4 to take a standardized achievement test in order to determine which pupils would be assigned to previously all-white, or previously all-black, schools. Since the all-black schools have often been considered inferior to the white ones, it is assumed that test scores for black children will be lower than those of the white children. As a result, school officials believe less than 25 per cent of the black children would be allowed to attend the formerly white schools, leaving the previously all-black schools virtually segregated.

Under this plan the court order provides that students scoring in the top 25 per cent would attend previously all-white schools and the rest would remain in previously all-black schools which are understaffed, overcrowded, and lacking in facilities, books, and other educational materials.

On the committee which is handling the dinner are Iowa State Representative A. June Franklin, Udell Cason, president of the federation and Mrs. Shirley Woods, chairman of the federation's scholarship committee.

Tickets are $10.00. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Ione Lloyd, 279-1293, 913 Maple street, West Des Moines before the deadline, on Feb. 10. The dinner will be held at Younkers tearoom, at 7:30 P.M.

High Court Overturns Lower Tribunal; Tells Dixie "Do It Now"

Washington D.C. — The Supreme Court last Wednesday, Jan. 14 ruled 6 to 2 that public schools attended by about 300,000 students in five southern states must be desegregated by Feb. 1.

The decision reversed a Dec. 1 ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans that the 14 school districts involved could postpone desegregation until next fall.

Unanimity Broken

Chief Justice Warren Burger and Justice Potter Stewart objected, saying the court should have heard argument before acting, so that "the varying problems" of individual school districts could have been explored.

The court's usual unanimity in school desegregation cases broke, although none of the eight justices opposed in any way the court's holding that racially separate public schools are illegal.

Burger and Stewart, in a "memorandum," said they disagreed with the summary reversal of the Circuit Court, which, they said, "is far more familiar than we with the various situations of these several school districts, some large, some small, some rural and some metropolitan."

Without Hearing

Burger and Stewart said it seemed unsound to them to peremptorily reverse the lower court decision without a hearing before the high court.

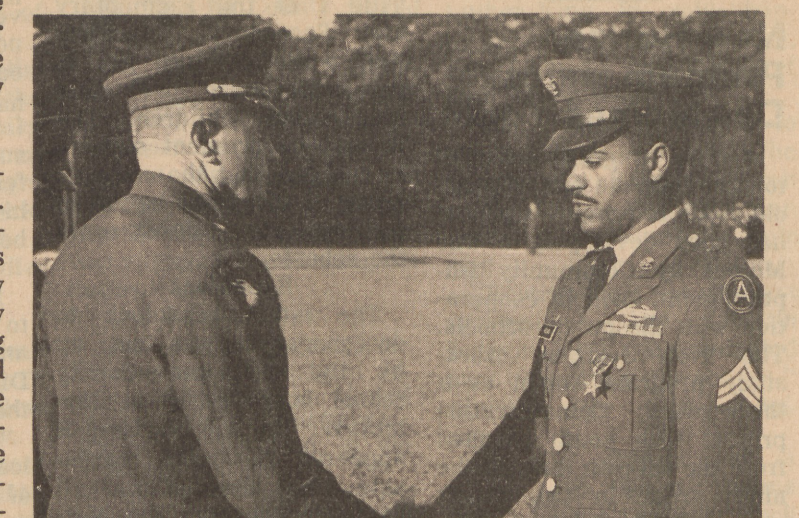

Justices John Marshall Harlan and Byron R. White said they joined the reversal and declared that "graduated implementation" of desegregation "is no longer constitutionally permissible."

Strongest Position

However, they said the "yardstick" should be that once a federal court finds school districts are not complying with the high court's general disapproval of freedom-of-choice attendance plans the officials should have a maximum of eight weeks to desegregate.

Justices Hugo Black, William O. Douglas, William Brennan and Thurgood Marshall took the strongest desegregation position.

Sgt. Roland Gets Bronze Star

Army Sgt. Darryl N. Roland, 22, has received his second Bronze Star Medal with "V" device in ceremonies at Ft. Benning, Ga., where he is stationed as an infantry instructor.

Roland earned both awards as a squad leader near Phan Thiet, Vietnam, from May 1968 to May 1969. He also has earned the Commendation Medal and two air force medals.

A graduate of Des Moines Tech High School, Roland attended Peru State College in Peru, Neb., before entering the service in January 1968.

He has been joined by his wife, the former Cathy Fowler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Fowler, and their two sons. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Roland of 1268 Stewart street.

Drop Most Charges Against 6 Waldorf Blacks

Forest City, Ia.—Assault and battery charges against six black students at Waldorf College here have been withdrawn by the white students who filed the charges, Justice of the Peace Fred McGrath of Forest City said last Thursday, Jan. 15.

The charges resulted from a "fight-swinging" racial disturbance on the campus last Friday night.

One of the six blacks, Carl Anderson of Waterloo, still faces a charge of carrying a concealed weapon

(a straight razor). He is free on $500 bond after being bound over to District Court earlier this week by McGrath.

Following the Friday night disturbance, seven Negro students were suspended by the college's discipline committee. Now the suspensions of all seven have been lifted and they have been placed on probation — along with four white students. Three other students, all blacks, were absolved by the discipline committee.

has served as director of the Political and Social Sciences Division of Tennessee A. & I. State University and as social research consultant for the Pew Foundation in Philadelphia. An

All-American gridiron star in his Cornell undergraduate class, Dr. Holland is a member of the National Football Hall of Fame.

What Is Going On In Model Cities

Model Cities Incorporated

A proposal involving "a citizens participation" element was filed with the Model Cities Planning Board last Wednesday night by David Pickett, a member of the planning board.

Pickett's plan asks that control of the citizens organization be placed with a new organization, Model Neighborhood Evaluators, Inc., which was incorporated last Friday.

The new organization lists three incorporators who are members of the Model Cities Planning Board. A fourth member of the planning board is listed as a member of the group's board of directors.

Incorporators
The articles of incorporation filed for Model Neighborhood Evaluators, Inc., with the Iowa Secretary of State list Pickett, G. Lawrence Davies and Herman Lewis, all members of the Model Cities Planning Board, as the incorporators. Named as a director is Mel L. Boyd, another planning board member.

Others listed as members of the new group's board are Harlan H. Thomas of 937 Twenty-third place, Albert A. Brewer of 3509 8th place, Paul Halley of 1618 8th street and Henderson Davis of 1209 Crocker street.

Jan. 28 Discussion
Theoretically, the grassroots citizens group that HUD and OEO regional officials want set up would communicate the actual needs and desires of area residents to the board and prevent it from embarking on programs that were neither needed nor desired by the residents.

Pickett's proposal will be discussed by the planning board at its next meeting on Jan. 28.

New Horizon Program Helps Des Moines Youth

A work program designed to encourage 14 and 15-year-old youth to remain in school has been developed in Des Moines by Community Improvement, Inc., in cooperation with the public schools. The "New Horizons" work-study program began as a three-year demonstration project with youth enrolled from the seventh through the ninth grade in two target area junior high schools. The program now operates in three high schools and serves more than 400 youth.

Students enrolled in "New Horizons" attend school in the mornings and hold part-time jobs in the afternoon for up to three hours a day. Northwestern Bell Telephone, Equitable Life Insurance Company, and several city offices provide work sites, supervision, and salaries for the youth.

Named Manager In New York Co.

NEW YORK, — Gerald T. Davis has been appointed corporate manager of community services of Atlantic Richfield Company.

Davis, of Philadelphia, formerly was eastern area affirmative action coordinator of the company with offices in Philadelphia. A graduate of La Salle College and a former captain in the U.S. Marine Corps, Davis joined Atlantic Richfield in 1967 as a training and safety assistant in the employee relations department.

Kappa Affiliate
He was later named personnel advisor and became affirmative action coordinator in October, 1968. Davis is a member of the Philadelphia Junior Chamber of Commerce, Philadelphia Investors, Inc., and Kappa Alpha Psi.

INTO A NIGHTMARE TUNNEL

The Dimerys Fight for Son's Life, Own Sanity

This is the second in a series of feature articles on the Porter Dimery family who lived through nearly two agonizing years of seeing their son, Ronnell, stricken with a rare disease, transverse myelitis.

For the Porter Dimery family, 2572 S.E. Harriett St., Christmas 1969 "was the happiest ever" because a "piece of their house was back in place." But the days of nightmarish pain and anguish, emotional exhaustion and agonizing worry was still too close, too sharp to un-remember.

The Day It Began

The day the nightmare began, was like any other normal day. Ronnell and his brothers ran off to school. About 9:30 a.m. the school called Mrs. Dimery. Ronnell had collapsed. He had tried to walk and his feet wouldn't move.

"We rushed him to Broadlawn," Mrs. Dimery recalled. "At first he had no pain, but as paralysis progressed, the terrible pains began. It was awful. He lay there screaming and there was nothing we could do. Sedative shots didn't help him."

Inch from Death

He lay there just an inch from death. They took all kinds of tests, but they couldn't find out what was causing the paralysis and they couldn't stop it. Specialists from Iowa City, and Mercy and Methodist Hospitals in Des Moines were consulted," she remembered.

The paralysis was signaled by the pains. When the pains moved up in his chest, back and head, they put Ronnell, who was screaming almost constantly, now in an iron lung. After a week they realized he was close to dying and put him in a fast ambulance for Iowa City.

Diagnosis

It was at Iowa City that they pinned it down to transverse myelitis. They diagnosed that it must have been caused from a virus Ronnell had suffered three days before he was stricken. They surmised that the virus infection had not passed out his body, but settled at the bottom of his spine.

Back to Broadlawn

In July he was returned to Broadlawn. And terror of another kind stalked the Dimerys. Their son just lay there unconscious.

"There was a lack of dedication, we felt, on the part of the nurses. They gave him medicine. But he needed so much more, constant watch. One nurse even told me that we are tired of taking care of him," Mrs. Dimery said.

More Problems

"I know that Ronnell's case was rare. They weren't used to anything like it, but they just did not seem to want to do the extra case demanded," the father added. "He had to be outfitted with a catheter. He developed kidney infection, bed sores. It was unbelievable the additional things that went wrong with him," Mrs. Dimery to 1964. In 1964, he was named director of the Institute of Human Relations at the University of Wisconsin, where he served for three years before becoming vice president of the Danforth Foundation in 1967.

He is a member of the National Advisory Committee of the Teacher's Corps, the Committee on the Disadvantaged of the National Council of Graduate Schools, a consultant to the United States Office of Education and a trustee of St. Augustine College, Raleigh, N. C.

A widely published writer on economic and educational matters, he has also written on the status and the rights of the Negro in American society.

"I even had an attorney listen in once, while I called to find out why Ronnell had been moved out of a nice room," Mrs. Dimery said.

"She said it wasn't until after we talked to Dr. DeGravel, that he finally was taken out of Broadlawn after two months and sent back to Iowa City. In September when they took him out of Iowa City, he was placed here in Younkers Rehabilitation."

It was at Younkers Rehab. that his sisters and brothers were able to visit Ronnell for the first time since he had been stricken. "We were only promised a month ($1,500) by the Blank Memorial Guild, but he stayed there until Feb. They never said anything so he stayed there. His bill was $4500," they said.

Convalescent Home

From there Ronnell was placed in the Children's Convalescent home, where only his parents were allowed to visit him. This increased the emotional strain on the entire family, who were sinking under mountainous debt, and mental and physical exhaustion, while striving to keep themselves together.

"He was always that minority group, one in a crowd," his father said. "There were many foundations; we tried them all, but there was none for Ronnell's case."

Family Struggled

As the family struggled for their son's life, and his slow doubtful recovery, there were many Iowans, individuals and groups, who learning about the family's predicament, rallied to come to their rescue. In between, the father, an Iowa Packing employee, had become the victim of job automation and was in the midst of job retraining, having to seek a new career.

It is the story of that valiant rescue, that will end this series next week.

NEXT WEEK: From the first Des Moines residents came to the aid of the Dimery family, but the exorbitant costs of their son's medical needs and hospitalization were astronomical.

BLUE LEMONS.....

The death of Selina Zapp in Milwaukee removes a great talent from not only that community but throughout the midwest. Selina, a Milwaukee Courier staff young adult editor, was killed in early January following an automobile collision. She was 19 years old.

In tribute to Miss Zapp members of the Black community at Milwaukee participated in a liberation funeral. The funeral began with congo drums as did the wake held for her Poetry and songs in the black tradition were given in memory to Miss Zapp. Instead of the traditional obituary, in its place was read Miss Zapp's first story which described the beginning of her recognition of herself as a black woman.

Among the words spoken by the Rev. Canon Lee M. Benefee to the congregation were these, in the tradition of a liberation funeral: "Let us be free, black people. Make a world, black people. Make history, black people as Selina made history... Tell death how tough we are. Call him a pig. Call him a 'nigger.' Be bad with him. Let there be peace among us and build for black people...."

Six young 'warriors' carried Miss Zapp's red and leopard skin covered coffin, and the black power salute was given as it was lowered into the ground.

Black community involvement in such a service sets a precedent, and a liberation funeral at that sets another. One more precedent should be set: Let there be peace among blacks. Build for black people. Let there be no infatuation with merely the idea of being black because it's fashionable. Let there be peace. For Miss Zapp.

Gibson Signs For $125,000

ST. LOUIS, MO. — The Cardinals last Wednesday signed ace right-hander Bob Gibson for $125,000, second highest in the major leagues.

Only San Francisco center fielder Willie Mays is believed to top the salary figure of Gibson, who ranks with Dizzy Dean as the only Cardinal to win 20 games in four seasons.

Career Strikeouts

Gibson, who has neared the National League career strikeout record of 2,583 held by Warren Spahn, is holder of six Cardinal records.

He struck out 269 batters in 1969, ranking second to the Chicago Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins, and has 2,119 strikeouts for his 11 major league seasons.

Scholarship News For Minority Students

ENGINEERING
GREENSBORO, N.C. — Officials at the A&T State University School of Engineering this week announced a search for six high school graduates to participate in an exciting new scholarship program conducted in connection with the Union Carbide Corp.

Summer Jobs
The students will spend the summer, prior to their entrance in college, working on projects at the company's Nuclear Division in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Following the summer employment, money will be available to the student for tuition, fees, and room and board.

Talented Blacks
At the end of the freshman year, students in the program will again be given summer employment with the company, with a salary range beginning at $475 per month and extending over a period of three summers to $600. "We are pleased to be involved in this new program designed to bring more talented blacks into the engineering field," said Hardy.

Students interested in applying for one of the scholarships are asked to contact Hardy Liston, Jr. at the School of Engineering at A&T. Deadline for applications is Feb. 6, 1970.

EASTER SEAL
It is time once again for those that interested to apply for Easter Seal Scholarships for the 1970-71 school year. For students who are studying in health related or rehabilitation careers, there are a total of $2,600 in college scholarships; six $350 scholarships and the E. L. Peterson Memorial Scholarship for $500.

Applicants must be residents of Iowa, but not necessarily attending school in Iowa. They must be sophomore, junior, senior or graduate students in the 1970-71 school year.

The awards will be made on the basis of financial need and scholastic standing and the scholarship committee will select the winners.

RURAL CARRIERS
In addition a special scholarship for a visually handicapped graduating high school senior is being offered by the Iowa Rural Letter Carriers Auxiliary.

Several years ago, the IRLCA started this to help students whose physical disability somewhat restricts their being considered for other scholarships. The funds for these scholarships are raised by the IRLC Auxiliaries statewide and a minimum of $100 will be given on the basis of financial need and scholastic standing.

Evaluate
It is the responsibility of the Scholarship Committee to evaluate all the candidates and recommend the most deserving young man or woman in each category to receive scholarship assistance. The decision of the committee will be made during the Spring months and will apply to the 1970-71 school year.

Applicants interested in either of the above scholarships should write to the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults

the FAMILY PHARMACIST

Homer McQueen RPh

UNBELIEVABLE!

Now -- to our prescription customers -- McQueen's Pharmacy, 6th & Forest (288-3323) announces the ultimate pharmaceutical service. If, for any reason, you decide to have your prescription transferred, we shall give a copy of your prescription to the pharmacy of your choice, as we have done all along.

(The term "prescription copy" means exactly that. By law, a pharmacist cannot fill a copy of a prescription, except by a doctor's order, which, except for certain narcotics, can easily be obtained by calling the doctor's office.)

A few pharmacies refuse to give prescription copies because they feel that everyone should have one particular family doctor, family minister, family lawyer, and so forth. Not knocking any other pharmacy, but, for the finest service, we think all prescriptions should come to McQueen's, THE family pharmacy.

It is generally agreed that it is quite unethical for physicians and pharmacists to dictate where patients may have their prescriptions filled, irregardless. Practically all pharmacies will give to another pharmacy, upon request, a copy of a prescription, if the pharmacy requesting the copy has the name of the patient, the prescription number, and the name of the pharmacy that has the prescription. If you want us to give a copy to another pharmacy, or, if you want us to get a prescription copy from some other pharmacy, just let us know. The difference between us and other pharmacies is that we are so confident of our ability to satisfy our patients' needs, we dare to announce this

Pleads Guilty in Murder of Black Panther

NEW HAVEN, CONN. —
Warren Kimbro, a Black Panther party member from New Haven, pleaded guilty of second-degree murder Friday in an alleged kidnap-murder plot that police say took the life of another Panther member last May.

Kimbro, 35, is the second of 14 Panthers arrested in the case to plead guilty of second-degree murder.
Police have charged the kidnap and death of Alex
Rackley, 24, a Panther member they allegedly thought was a police informer. Rackley's body was found in a swamp in nearby Middle-field on May 21.

Kangaroo Court
Police say Rackley was given a "kangaroo court" trial and tortured in New Haven, and then was shot.

The first of the defendants to plead guilty was George Sams, 23, of Detroit. An affidavit signed by him was the basis for the arrest last year of national Black Panther chairman Bobby G.
Seale on a charge of murder.

Martin Luther King Profile Edited By Author

During his lifetime, Martin Luther King, Jr. was applauded and feared. He was honored, loved, misunderstood, hated, and idolized. But he could not be ignored. What he had accomplished was to free the black people from self-doubt and self-abasement - the black minority would never be silent again. He also transformed religious fervor into extraordinary social action involving and committing both blacks and whites.

Judgments

These are some of the judgments of C. Eric Lincoln, professor of sociology and religion at Union Theological Seminary and editor of MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., the latest volume in the American Profile Series under the general editorship of Aida DiPace Donald (Hill & Wang, Jan. 29).

Health for All

FOR A LONGER-LASTING TREAD

We get too soon old. And too late smart. The perfect setup, of course, is to smarten up faster. And never age.

Aging, it now appears, results from a loss of information. From an accumulation of error at the cellular level. In short, it's all a big mistake.

According to Dr. Alex Comfort of University College, London, there is the possibility that the process of error accumulation can be interfered with, protected against, or even reversed.

Health for All

Significant increases in the life span of mice—up to 40 percent—have already been achieved. Some of the same substances, antioxidants, were added to the mice diets that are used to prevent souring in lard and to preserve automobile tires. Antioxidants may be what we all need for a longer-lasting tread.

Errors in cell-copying increase with age, Dr. Comfort speculates, and the body's self-recognition process is changed. With advancing age, he says, the defense mechanisms of the body also get their signals crossed and end up fighting the cells they should protect instead of the invaders.

Human Aging
If sufficient resources are brought to bear on the investigation of human aging Dr. Comfort feels we can "achieve a useful measure of control" within the next 10 to 15 years. It is possible, too, that some of the clues to aging may shed light on the problems of disease.

In the meantime, we shall have to cope with the too-common combination, aging and disease. To find out more about respiratory disease, check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association.

It's a matter of life and breath. At an age.

THE "OLIVER PLAZA" W. Lawrence Oliver, ATTY.-LOCAL MAN OF THE YEAR celebration was one of the most admirable and worthy events held in Des Moines. Henry Hammett and Marion Williams, prominent local business men created and executed the splendid idea. To them must go great praise.

IOWA STATE UNIVERSITY'S MADRIGAL DINNER'S PROGRAM carried these lines from its "Book Of Curtasye" as observed in the 16th and early 17th centuries:

Cotton will not cling.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Can your hair be damaged from brushing, alone?

All hair becomes damaged from exposure to sun and natural elements. Certain greasy compounds and many chemicals, improperly used, also take their toll... not to mention simple attempts at beautifying the hair with any brush not made of natural bristles. The results are brittleness, breakage, dry and dull looking hair.

Your professional beautician knows how artificial bristles actually brush away a great deal of the "lubricants" of the hair that give it body, lustre and protection. And trained beauticians claim that nothing beats Clairol® condition® Beauty Pack Treatment for overcoming brittleness, dryness and breakage... leaving hair lively and easy to manage. condition® is an easy-to-work-with creme which can even be applied during a chemical straightening retouch to prevent drying of hair that has been previously relaxed. condition® is the ultimate in repairing deep-down damage. And, when time is a factor for their customers, hairdressers turn to new Clairol® Hair Dew®—the lotion conditioner that penetrates so fast many think of it as an instant conditioner. When applied regularly by your beautician, Clairol Hair Dew adds body, softens and gives a glowing new look to your hair that many friends will notice and admire.

Damage can come from using brushes with artificial bristles. But damage to every woman's hair comes from so many other causes that all human hair (including wigs) needs to be revitalized periodically. Visit your professional beautician and ask this expert to check the condition of your hair.

Only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

Fredrick King, East High Grad, Achieves Goals as Percussionist in San Juan

Frederick King, a graduate of East High School, is achieving his goals, as professor of percussion at Pablo Casals' San Juan Conservatory of Music in Puerto Rico.

Thirteen years ago he was a San Francisco postman, having just completed three years in the Army, and was marking time until he could go east to further his music education. He had completed work in the music department at the State University of Iowa leading to bachelor's and master's degrees.

Leaving San Francisco in 1958 with his wife and two small daughters, he headed for New York City, where he pursued his studies for three years on a scholarship award at the Juilliard Graduate School of Music. His major ambition was to be a fine percussionist and for nine years he functioned in a widely diversified artistic life in New York, actively involving himself in the recording field as well as in symphonic music.

Senior Pablo Casals, the world renowned and venerable cellist, who founded the Conservatory of Music of Puerto Rico, and at the age of 93 remains its active president as well as the energetic director of the famous annual festival which bears his name, is responsible for the very exciting life which Frederick King and his family have enjoyed for the past two years in San Juan.

King was invited in 1967 to perform as solo tympanist with the Sinfonica de Puerto Rico both on the island itself and in a tour of the entire Caribbean. Last year he was named the first Professor of Percussion at the Conservatory of Music in San Juan and solo tympanist and principal percussionist with the Puerto Rico Symphony and the Festival Casals Orchestra. In this role he has performed with some of the world's leading artists, notably Sir John Barbirolli, William Steinberg, Yehudi Menuhin, Alexander Schneider and Pablo Casals himself.

King is involved in folklorical and ethno-musicological research in the Caribbean area. In collaboration with the eminent jazz artist, Garvin Bushell, he is writing what is expected to be a definitive historical social-musicological study of "The Role of the Black Man in the Music of Americas." This will be a welcome addition to the libraries of performers and music scholars alike.

Relatives King is the son of the late Charles E. King and Mrs. Sue Haywood of Minneapolis, Minn. There was a featured article in the San Juan, Puerto Rico "This Week Magazine." Fred, his wife Judy, and daughters Michelle and Katiti live in Hato Rey, Puerto Rico, a suburb of San Juan.

Sisters of Mr. King reside in Minneapolis also. Mrs. Barbara Berry, Mrs. Beverly Whitlock, Mrs. Karen Brown and Charlotte King. A brother Michael lives in Spoken, Wash. and Donald, in Des Moines.

TOO MUCH PROPERTY GOES UNTAXED

The Iowa legislature is in session and like most taxing bodies is groping for funds. Officials in schools, towns and counties are getting pressure from one group after another for increased wages while other costs continue to rise.

In their search for additional means of raising money without increasing the already heavy tax load, there come suggestions that too many properties are enjoying tax exemptions and at the same time getting service paid for by tax money.

Schools and churches own a lot of exempt property, as well as lodges, clubs and other associations all operating in the name of religious and/or educational purposes. These properties enjoy police and fire protection, lighting and other services which take a large share of the tax dollar.

Proposals to tax these exempt properties have been made before but strong lobbies have cajoled legislators, many of whom are directly involved in these properties, have prevented their passage.

The situation has become desperate. Courageous, prompt action must be taken to close up these loopholes.

IT'S FANTASTIC BUT IT IS GOOD

Iowa State University has announced a new program designed to induce Negro students, deficient in their grades, to study. They propose to pay the black students. These students were recruited in order to raise the number of Negroes at Iowa State many of whom were deficient in their studies and find themselves unable to keep up with their classes not only because of their lack of preparation but also they don't know how to study.

We assume that these deficiencies are not in "black culture" but the fundamentals of education such as English, Mathematics, the Sciences and such leading to degrees. It is most unfortunate that these students find themselves unable to take advantage of the regular courses assigned or required without taking on the extra job of catching up. This program has merit for it does something to help the unprepared student make up for what he has not learned in the elementary and secondary schools.

Paying a student to learn sounds fantastic. But as long as young people are being given so much free riding at least they might help the fellow who otherwise would not complete even his freshman year.

PRESIDENT FOLLOWS HIS OWN RECOMMENDATION

Following his return from abroad on a tour for the late President Eisenhower, President Nixon, stated that one of his recommendations was that more Negroes should be sent abroad as ambassadors. President Johnson followed this with the appointment of Negro women as ambassadors.

Now President Nixon has a chance to follow his own recommendation and has appointed Dr. Jerome Holland, president of Hampton Institute, Virginia, as ambassador to Sweden.

America has not had an ambassador in Sweden for several years due to its collaboration with North Vietnam, making available credits and also harboring draft evaders and deserters from our armed services.

While these are offensive acts to another nation, President Nixon feels that better relations between the countries cannot be had without a chance to swap views personally.

Dr. Holland is well prepared as a representative; well educated and experienced in administration both in industry and the education field. The selection is a good one.

SOMETHING NEW EVERY DAY

Last Sunday the Des Moines Register on its social page carried a marvelous pictorial story of an Oriental display in color owned by Mrs. Gwendolyn Fowler in her home. Mrs. Fowler happens to be a Negro, which leads those in the know remember that this story could not have appeared on the social page of the liberal Register only a few years ago. This is progress.

But Mrs. Fowler's display of Oriental antiques merits it. It so happens that she traveled the Orient on many occasions and spent several years in Saigon as an observer and instructor for the U. S. government which enabled her to see and study these displays in their native countries.

Just as Negroes in Des Moines are going abroad winter and summer so does this display of Orientals indicate that many of our people are making progress by their own show of accomplishments rather than demanding that help be handed over because "they owe it to us."

Arthur Ashe Heads Tennis Exhibition Here

Arthur Ashe, the nation's No. 1-ranked single tennis player, is coming to Des Moines next Wednesday, Jan. 28. He will head the five-man all-star cast in a Des Moines Science Center benefit exhibition at Veterans Memorial Auditorium that evening.

The others, all members of the U. S. Davis Cup team will join Ashe in the exhibition.

tion and two clinics.

The first clinic, free of charge, will be held at the Des Moines Racquet Club from 5 to 7 p.m. A special instruction and training session will be held from 7 to 7:55 p.m. at the Auditorium.

Either a Singles match between Ashe and Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico or a doubles match will get the exhibition underway at 8 p.m. on a synthetic Auditorium court.

All matches, which probably will pair Ashe and Pasarell against Bob Lutz and Stan Smith, plus the singles, will be two out of three sets.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

Now that football is really over we can catch our breath and look back a few happenings. There was of course, the gambling furor which broke about the same time as the Super Bowl game. Most of us waited expecting daily to hear or read about hosts of crooked athletes, coaches and what not.

Maybe, the thing was squashed, but what it seemed to boil down to was that a few people who make books on games had other people who were close enough to various athletic teams so they could get information vital to betters just a little before the press came out with it.

Not Unwitting

Why, man, that practice isn't even new. In fact we personally knew a couple of fellows who have left town now, who used to keep book-makers information on the Iowa, Iowa State and Drake team. They knew all about the players and about any injuries or other problem however slight that might affect the play of the team the following weekend. And these guys weren't unwitting informants. They got paid for it and made a little cash by betting on their own information. Maybe, there was a lot more that the public didn't get, but what we saw wasn't new by any means.

Coaching Position

Then there was the fuss about black coaches in the all-star football games. It would seem odd that coaches would be asked to recommend black players and yet not be considered for a coaching position on the squad. When coach Royal of Texas really put his foot in his mouth when he said black coaches didn't really know what they were doing. Royal said, "Not scienced enough for big time ball," but it still means too dumb. We believe most of our major black schools could compete in white competition and win a majority of their games.

Black Schools

Nearly all of our black schools have coaches who played on good teams in larger colleges and they majored in their field at places like Iowa U, Ohio State, Minnesota, to mention a few. These guys could coach anywhere if they had a chance. This recalls the feud between Bob Feller and Jackie Robinson. Robinson said black baseball players should have the same chance to continue in the game after their play-

Activities of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission

This week's article consists of some more examples of how the Iowa Civil Rights Commission eliminated discrimination in public accommodations during the past year. The Commission also has jurisdiction in matters of employment and housing, which were reviewed in last week's article.

PRIVATE EMPLOYMENT AGENCY

In one case, the Commission itself initiated a complaint against a private employment agency - which was accused of agreeing on the telephone to include no blacks, Indians, or other minorities in a job referral for typists - was conciliated. The owner signed a conciliation agreement that the agency (a) would not accept or make discriminatory job referrals; (b) would report to the Commission anyone requesting that it make discriminatory job referrals; and (c) would make quarterly reports for a year regarding the agency's disposition of minority applicants for referral services.

HOTEL

In another case, a hotel owner signed a conciliation agreement after a Commission investigation found probable cause for the charge that racial discrimination was involved when a black professor's room reservation made over the telephone was cancelled when he appeared at the hotel to check in. He agreed to not use discriminatory criteria at the hotel in renting his rooms, and to report monthly for six months regarding the disposition of any minority customers.

BOWLING ALLEYS AND TAVERN

After the Commission investigation found probable cause for the complaints, the respondents in 3 other conciliated complaints signed conciliation agreements that they would in the future offer their services on a non-discriminatory basis. These including days as do the white players. Feller says black players don't have that ability. But then Feller also said Negroes would never make it in major league baseball.

RESULTS??

Now, comes Coach Royal who says the same thing about black coaches. We guess this fuss will result in after or maybe one or two being picked for some games. Now, how come there never has been a player from a black school or anybody old American squad?

Bob Florence

And here at home there was Drake's sixth straight win and Bob Florence's scoring so many points against Tech, they couldn't add them up fast enough! Then there was the underwood boys of Valley winning their respective divisions wrestling titles and oh, yes, at 19 below zero it was a helluva weekend.

JUST WHAT SHE EXPECTED

You may scale the highest pinnacle a mortal man may reach;
You may build, produce, invent, convince, may heal or teach or preach;
May unfurl from fame's fair summit triumph's banner bright and free;
May strike off a nation's shackles, be as great as great can be;
Clothe the naked, feed the hungry, succor many a needy brother;
But the greatest thing you ever do will not surprise your mother.
You make your former neighbors at your triumph stand aghast;
You may make your name resound in every marital triumph blast;
You may make the wondering people of the whole world shout your praise,
While the men of the deepest view you with a wondering gaze.
Those who knew you had thought of you about as any other,
But no matter what the rest may think, you can't surprise your mother.
When she held you to her bosom, when you played about her knees,
She was dreaming triumphs for you, each as great as great could be;
She had known, through all your childhood, all the world may ever know;
From her lips your crowning deed will but evoke, I told you so.
She had marked you, ere she bore you, as the greatest of

WEEKLY WISDOM

A TRUE GENTLEMAN

A man that's clean inside and outside; who neither looks up to the rich nor down to the poor; who can lose without squealing, and who can win without bragging; who is too brave to lie, too generous to cheat and too sensible to loaf; and who takes his share of the world's goods and lets other people have theirs, is my idea of a true gentleman. --Unknown.

"Hue and Cry"

The phrase "hue and cry" originated in early English common law with the practice of pursuing a criminal with horn and village. When a felony was discovered, the victim raised a "hue and cry" and his neighbors were bound by law to join in the pursuit of the suspected criminal.

Florence Knocks Over Records

Bob Florence, 6-foot 2-inch star basketball player for the North High Polar Bears, went wild this week. He scored 97 points in the Valley and Tech games, Friday and Saturday night respectively, enough to send him over the 1000 mark, joining a select club of only three other members. His 58 points not only broke his own single scoring record, the school's single scoring record, but also the city scoring single record set by Pete Steward, four years ago on the Tech high floor.

The Polar Bears, who are No. 1 in the city with a 11-0 record, are looking toward the city championship and a chance at the state title.
