1 Die, 2 Hurt as Fire Trucks Crash

Units on Way to Scene of Fire Hit Broadside

One fireman was killed and five others injured here late Monday when two firetrucks collided on their way to the scene of a fire. The crash occurred at 19th street and Forest Avenue.

One Black Dead was John P. Leto, who was riding in the cab of one of the trucks. Among the injured was Walter Williams, 28, of 1424 Sampson street, one of the two black firemen serving at Fire Station No. 15 at 9th and University avenue. The station was draped in black Tuesday in honor of Leto, who was thrown through the windshield of the truck.

Investigation into the crash, which was cited as one chance in a possible 100, was still continuing. However, Fire Chief Lee Williams cited "error" in not following a route policy of two trucks following each other instead of taking separate routes as were the case in Monday's crash.

Williams and two others were released Tuesday morning after treatment at Mercy hospital. Three others are listed in "satisfactory" condition at Mercy hospital.

Will Reopen Bias Hearing

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission said Tuesday it will reopen the discrimination case hearing against William M. Reed, business agent of Des Moines Local 67 of the Ironworkers Union.

The announcement came from Alvin Hayes, Jr., executive director of the commission. He said the request came from the Iowa attorney general's office to present testimony of federal equal-opportunity compliance officers.

A commission panel heard testimony in the case last month. Reed was accused by John J. Hart, vice-president of the Weitz Co., of excluding Negroes from the union crew at the site of the postoffice project at 2nd and University avenues.

Club Rebuffs Col. After He's Named "Man of the Year"

Pensacola, Fla. — Less than 24 hours after the Pensacola Kiwanis club gave him its "Man-of-the-Year" award, Air Force Col. Daniel (Chappie) James Jr., was refused admission to a bar because he is a Negro.

Col. Daniel James, Jr.

Melvin Laird announced earlier last week that Col. James has been appointed, effective in March, as assistant deputy secretary for public affairs. He will be the first of his race and first military man to hold this post. He will also be promoted to brigadier general, making him the highest ranking of his race since the retirement of Air Force Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, who retired Feb. 1.

Col James who commands Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya, remarked on the rebuff later in Washington, D.C. he "did not make a big noise about it at the time."

Jack Horne, owner and operator of the lounge, said he denied admission to Col. James "because it's always been a custom with us" not to serve blacks.

Dissidents Picket Griger's Market

A group from Gateway Opportunity Center at 13th and Center is picketing the grocery store operated by Mr. and Mrs. David Griger for the past week.

They charge that the Grigers misused Richard Johnson while he was making a purchase at the store last month.

The long-awaited $2,065,000 letter of credit from the federal government grant for Model Cities projects arrived in Des Moines earlier this week. Funds will be drawn through the Iowa-Des Moines National Bank.

It's arrival cleared the way for the final steps in the signing of at least three contracts for programs that will get the self-help projects "on the road".

Wednesday The contracts, calling for expenditures of nearly half a million dollars, were submitted to the Model Cities citizens board at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

They are for occupational upgrading, which the Model City staff considers a keystone to the entire program; a public defender program and a community corrections program.

225 Jobs If the citizens board, approves the contracts, they will be forwarded to the Des Moines City Council for completion. The three programs are expected to generate about 225 jobs.

Plans call for about 200 individuals to be trained in the occupational-upgrading program. The contracting agency will be Concentrated Employment Program (CEP), which is sponsored by the City of Des Moines and manages other federal job-upgrading programs. The budget for that project is $300,000.

Corrections The corrections program will be operated by the Iowa Chapter of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. It will be aided by the Iowa Department of Social Welfare, Des Moines Area Community College and Iowa Vocational Rehabilitation agency. The budget is $158,590.

The public defender program will offer legal assistance for indigent residents of the Model City neighborhood for all felony and misdemeanor cases.

It will be operated by the Legal Aid Society of Polk County. The budget is $33,122. The community corrections and public defender programs combined are expected to generate about 25 jobs.

The contracting agencies will hire their own employees, but will be required to give preference to residents of the Model City neighborhood.

Extend "Philly Plan" To 20 More U.S. Cities

Washington, D.C. — In a surprise announcement Arthur A. Fletcher, assistant secretary of labor, said the controversial "Philadelphia Plan" will be extended to 20 more cities.

The "Philly Plan," is a Nixon Administration program which set goals for the hiring of minority workers on federal construction projects.

Fletcher made the announcement at a labor-management conference on collective bargaining in Tucson, Ariz. He said the list of the new cities will be made public sometime this week.

In October, Fletcher said the department was responding to the appeals of community organizations for extension of the plan to nine major cities. These were New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Boston, San Francisco, St. Louis, Los Angeles and Seattle.

What is the Philadelphia Plan?

(Editor's Note: The following article explaining the Philadelphia plan is being reprinted from the Minority Manpower Digest.)

Because of widespread misunderstanding of "The Philadelphia Plan" the following information by The Office of Federal Contract Compliance is provided for all Digest Readers:

"The Philadelphia Plan is an equal opportunity compliance program that requires bidders on Federally-assisted construction work exceeding $500,000 to submit affirmative action plans setting specific goals for the utilization of minority employees. The Plan went into effect on July 18, 1969 in the Philadelphia area.

The Plan was issued under Executive Order 11246, which charges the Secretary of Labor with responsibility for administering the government's policy requiring equal employment opportunity in Federal contracts and Federally-assisted contract work.

Seven higher-paying trades in construction are affected.

LET'S MEET

By: Maude Esther White

"the world is only beginning to see that the wealth of a nation consists more than anything else in the number of superior men that it harbors..." William James (1906)

Alvin Hayes, Executive Director of Iowa Civil Rights Commission is probably a product of a revolution in our society's attitude toward men and women of high ability and advanced training. For the system which produced, confirmed and held his parents in a place of obvious limitation began to change on or about the time he was ready to enroll in college. He believes that such a change is a direct result of not only his prayers but the prayers of many Blacks who have prayed for guidance and direction in helping them to overcome the circumstances conducive to smother talent rather than nourish it; and poverty which was not only handicapping, but perpetuating in erecting obstacles to higher opportunities.

Alvin Hayes, Executive Director of Iowa Civil Rights Commission

prenticeship-type training. It took the benevolence of a Jewish man - a Mr. Robert Friend, manager of a downtown building, to provide the space for him to practice law - and at a reduced rate. "...you can pay me the regular rate when you are able..." he said. One year later, Mr. Hayes began to pay the full rate.

Clientele
Mr. Hayes was the only Black lawyer in Sioux City, but his clientele was 95 per cent white. Sioux City does not attract black professionals because of the learned attitudes on the part of the Black population - they do not trust members of their own race to assist them in legal matters. The percentage of Black incarcerations, however, is considered by many to be relatively high.

Effects of Childhood Experiences
Born in Cedar Rapids, he and his 8 brothers and sisters were reared in South Sioux City, Neb., where education was completed. Early childhood experiences included the trauma of the insults to his father's manhood and self-dignity; instability of employment; and the general lack of environmental opportunities which serve to motivate one toward institutions of higher learning. But by the time he entered high school he had made up his mind that he was going to go to college. How - he knew not; but he was determined and had faith that this would become a reality.

Sports Letters
While in high school he lettered in football for three years and in track for 4 years; was a member of the All Stars Jr. Legion Baseball Team. Athletic's provided a one-year scholarship to Morningside College - but admission proved difficult. However, his coaches, who had learned to respect him for both his athletic and academic achievements, took a position that if he was not admitted to Morningside, they would not recommend other students to enroll. Such pressure worked, and in 1953 Mr. Hayes began his college career. This was interrupted by the draft. He served his term in the U.S. Army and subsequently re-enrolled - graduating in 1958 with a History Major.

Mr. Hayes' first professional dream was to become a doctor; however he switched to law when he learned that it, too, offered many opportunities for helping others.

At the expiration of the one year scholarship he was forced to find odd jobs to complete his education. Such work included night jobs (from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. then directly to class) with the Northwestern Railway. He slept and studied when he could - but he persevered and was graduated.

Help From Caucasians
It took pressure from three Sioux City Caucasian lawyers to get him into the all-white University of South Dakota Law School at Vermillion, S. Dak. Again it was necessary to engage in night work. He not only worked the night shift in the Sioux City post office, but commuted to school each day. The LLB was awarded in June, 1961.

At the time Mr. Hayes was ready to enter law practice, space was a real problem for black professionals in Sioux City. Also, there were no law firms with whom he could engage in ap-

"Hello, Sunshine," Maceo Woods and the Christian Tabernacle Baptist Church Choir in Concert. Soul gospel fans will appreciate having this album in their library. The Rev. Mr. Woods, it is said, has long been considered as the finest exponent of gospel and spiritual music as played on the organ. But that's not all he can do. With the Choir the Rev. Mr. Woods presented "Hello Sunshine," "I'm Mighty Grateful," "I'm Going to Live the Life I Sing About," and "Amazing Grace," a song for which Woods was made prominent. It's from Volt Records, a division of Stax.

Enterprise Records has introduced "Moloch," with "People Keep Talking," "Maverick Woman Blues," and "Gone Too Long."

Also on tap is "January Tyme," first Time from Memphis. The back cover is interesting enough. The gentleman (or lady, I'm not sure) is facing you. His (or her) finger is sticking in his (or her) nose. Anyway Side one shows "Rainy Day Feeling," "Ancient Babylon," and "Hold Me Up to the Light." Highlights of Side two are "Down to the River," "Take This Time," and "Love Surrounds Me." It's an Enterprise album.

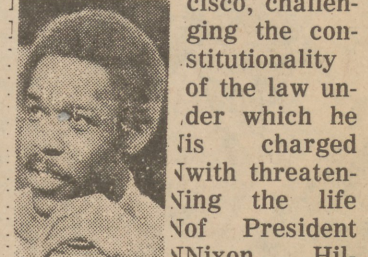

Iowa State University's modern dance club, Orchestras, will bring its annual concert, "Barjche," to the stage of the new C.Y. Stephens Auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 13.

Files Suit In Threaton Nixon

David Hilliard, Black Panther party chief of staff, has filed suit in San Francisco, challenging the constitutionality of the law under which he is charged with threatening the life of President Nixon.

Hilliard's attorney, Charles R. Garry, asked for a three-judge federal court panel to rule on the question. A federal grand jury indicted Hilliard, 27, Dec. 3 on the basis of a speech at an anti-war rally in Golden Gate Park Nov. 15.

Phone Co. Gets Twin Trailers

"Twin trouble trailers" -- that's what you might call Northwestern Bell's two new emergency vehicles.

Constructed for use in Iowa at a cost of more than $150,000, the 17-foot trailers are identical. They are designed primarily to bridge the gap between communities when a disaster separates telephone lines.

"The trailers in effect act as a big 'splice,'" said R. A. Reed telephone company district manager. "They work as a team, and are effective up to about 100 miles apart," he said.

The trailers have fiberglass bodies and oak frames. Each interior is fitted with the latest telephone equipment and contains both a heater and an air conditioner. Soon to be installed are radios which will allow communication not only between the vehicles but between them and other nearby radio units.

4 Black Marines Win in Memphis

Memphis, Tenn.—A combination of black and white support has resulted in a victory for four black Marines charged with rioting and conspiracy. They were accused of attacking 15 white Marines at the Millington Naval Air Station north of here.

After hearing evidence for two months, a court martial reduced the charges to breach of peace and assault. The men, all veterans of Vietnam, had expected to get 86 years in prison.

Instead, a six-month sentence was ordered for Perry Backstrom, 21, Meridian, Miss.; four months for Arthur McCall, 20, Birmingham, Ala.; two months for Oscar Terry, 19, Paducah, Ky., and one month for Charles Nickson, 23, Memphis.

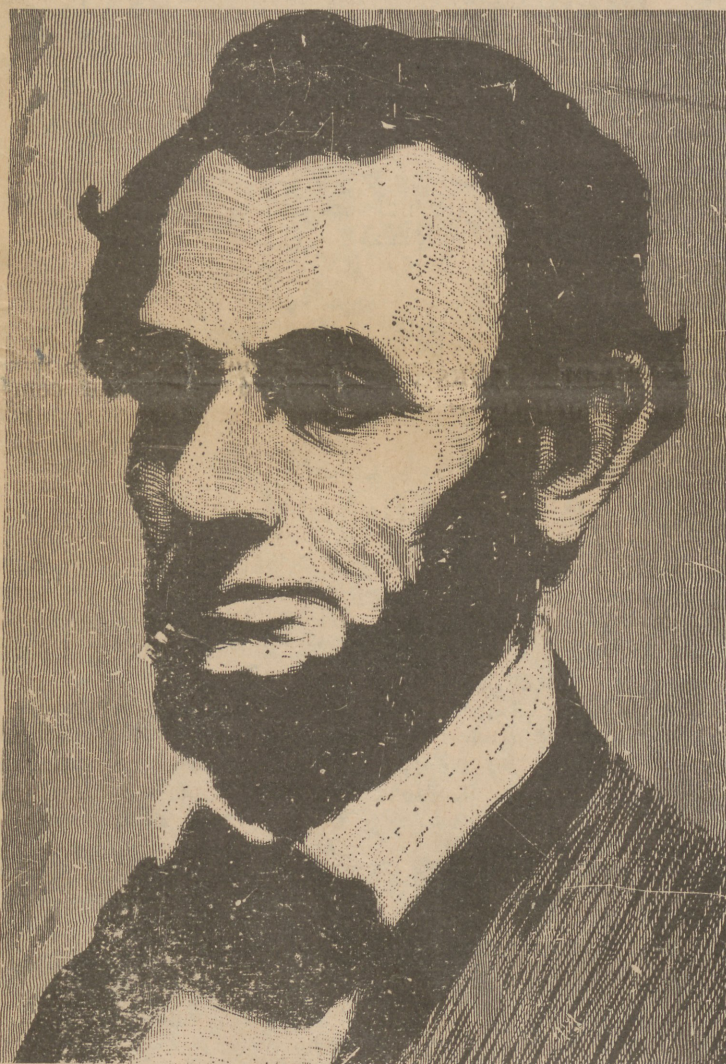

Protests had poured into the air station after the case became known throughout the United States. Black and white attorneys joined forces to fight the charges.

problem, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird Feb. 3, ordered creation of a special task force and other measures to promote racial harmony and close a communications gap between blacks and whites in uniform.

Frederick Douglass was born a slave. At an early age, he escaped from his owner and went north. He soon identified himself with William Lloyd Garrison, the great abolitionist. LINCOLN'S GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We are met to dedicate a portion of it as the final resting-place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work they have thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom, and that the government of the people, for the people, by the people, shall not perish from the earth.

In Memory of My Mother, Mrs. Emma Warfield, Who Departed this Earth One Year Ago, February 2, 1969

MRS. EMMA

The bright and radiant sun had initially been yours. But suddenly and without warning — the thunder sounded — the lightning struck — and the rains came. A fast, tormenting, and fatal storm it was, — our fight for your young life. The storm moved so quickly and shuddering that there was not a moment even for saying "good-bye."

But now the storm has ceased, pain and agony, no longer shall your body know.
The icy and cold February night as we watched you take your final breath of life, I knew that the storm of life had raged and ended — for peace and serenity had encumbered your soul in the autumn of your life.

Your lamp of life was lifted so many years ago by the Creator, so as He also chose to lower your flame, but I give grateful thanks to Him for letting me have shared life with one of His creations.

Oh where are the words that define the loss that we suffered? The days of that year have slipped rapidly through my fingers — yet each day is filled with gentle thoughts of you — your smile that you gave to everyone, but most of all, your heart — as big as the world itself, you gave so willingly to all, is there any reason why you would not be missed?

When we are sorrowful — perhaps we should look into our hearts and see that in truth we are weeping for that which has been our delight — yet is it true that we should be joyous of it all? Could it be that we need again look into our hearts and find that it is only which has given us sorrow that is our constant joy. So shall you remain — our sorrow and our joy.

Eternally shall you live — embedded deeply upon my mind and heart.

Cites Negro's Role Naval History: 1866 to Now

In recognition of Negro History Week, Feb. 8-14, the Navy is releasing facts on the important role the Negro has played in Naval History. Yet the achievements of black naval heroes have often been excluded or ignored. The story of Negro seamen doing their jobs has gone untold.

Revolutionary
Their participation in the Navy began during the Revolutionary War when 1,500 blacks served their country as seamen, gunners, and valuable coastal pilots. They were utilized without any distinction as to race and, in exchange for their military service, were emancipated.

Civil War
Robert Smalls was the first Negro naval hero of the Civil War. Smalls, a slave, was a stoker and later the pilot on a Confederate gunboat named the "Planter." A bloodless seizure of the gunboat was led by view towards desegregation and equal opportunity for all of its personnel. One of the first steps taken under this new policy was to tackle the long-neglected area of Negro officer procurement. During the period between the Civil War and World War II, no Negroes had been commissioned as officers in the Navy.

First Group
The first group of 12 line officers was commissioned in March 1944. A second class of 11 officers was commissioned that summer. T. D. Parham, who now holds the rank of Captain, was a member of that class. Captain Parham is now on duty at the Bureau of Naval Personnel in Washington, D.C. By 1945, a total of 60 Negroes had received their Ensign stripes.

Naval Academy
In 1945, Wesley A. Brown was appointed to the U.S. Naval Academy and be-Smalls who then turned the well-equipped vessel over to the Union Navy. For this heroic act Smalls, who later became a congressman, was given command of the "Planter" until the ship was decommissioned in 1866.

Medal of Honor
Negroes continued to join the enlisted ranks of the Navy on a fully-integrated basis during the Spanish-American War, and two more black seamen were awarded the Medal of Honor in 1898 for singular valor in combat.

Dorie Miller
During World War I, some 10,000 Negroes volunteered for Naval service during this time of crisis, but the vast majority were limited to a few ratings at sea and construction or stevedore battalions ashore.

Officers
Beginning in 1942 the Navy demonstrated an enlightened came its first Negro graduate in 1949.

Korean Conflict
By the time of the Korean conflict, the Negro officer and enlisted man were once again an integral part of all aspects of the Navy's operating forces. Among the officers who served with distinction during this period was Ensign Jesse L. Brown. Ensign Brown was the first black man to win the wings of a naval aviator. For his service in combat, Brown was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal.

ROTC
In April of 1969, a Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) unit was established at a predominantly Negro university, Prairie A & M College in Texas. The first class of midshipment at Prairie View will be commissioned Ensigns in May, 1970.

Humphrey: Push North's Integration

ATLANTA, GA. — Former Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey says school desegregation "should be enforced nationwide, in the north as well as in the south."

Humphrey, in Atlanta Feb. 3 for a speech at Emory University, said at a news conference he believes "de facto segregation is a little more sinister in the north than some open segregation."

Between the time Julius Caesar introduced leap year in 45 B.C. to correct the calendar and the late 16th century, the calendar gained about 10 days. To rectify the error, Pope Gregory XIII decreed in 1582 that the day following October 4 should be designated October 15—instead of October 5.

How about foam on your beer?

☐ none? ☐ 1 inch? ☐ 1½ inches?

You'll hear some people say there shouldn't be any head at all. They say the phooey on the foam...where's the beer?

They shouldn't. Anyway, not when the beer is Beechwood Aged Bud.

Budweiser is brewed so it will kick up a good head of foam. Those little bubbles add to the taste, the smoothness, and the drinkability. So pour your Bud with about an inch-and-a-half collar. Two inches if it's a tall glass.

Now let the foam tickle your nose...and your taste. That's the answer.

Budweiser is the King of Beers.

The group elected an eight-member steering committee to draw up a statement of purpose but most of the persons at the meeting expressed the hope that the new group would coordinate the activities of several Quad-City organizations.

NAMED TO the coalition's steering committee were the Rev. Clarence Savoy of the Rock Island Council of Churches, Phyllis Hawkins of the Quad-Cities for Peace, Ted Pfeiff of the Davenport Federation of Teachers, Stephen Thomas of Concerned Augustana Students, and the Rev. "This is," he said "the second highest NAACP membership total in NAACP history, being exceeded only by the total of 534,710 in the phenomenal year of 1963. Again, all categories of membership showed gains, and it is especially gratifying to know that 65,721 of those members are youth members."

Youths Arrested After Holdup, One Wounded

Three youths were arrested by police Sunday night minutes after the Clark Service station at 725 E. University avenue was held up. One was wounded by a shotgun blast and treated at Broadlawn Polk County hospital for shotgun pellet wounds in the leg and lower back.

Arrested

Arrested were Maurice Wilson, 18 of 724 26th street; Alvin J. Richardson, 18, of 937 38th street and Ronald J. Frazier, 18, of 2715 Center street. Frazier was treated at the hospital.

Shotgun

The attendant at the Clark Service station, Mike Fisher, 22, told police three youths came into the station about 7:40 p.m. and one of the youths pulled a handgun and demanded money. After they were given $6 by Fisher, the three left, police were told.

Fisher said he got a shotgun from a back room and fired it at the fleeing youths. A passerby followed the three to their car and reported the car's license number and description to police, officers said.

Police soon saw the vehicle in a driveway at 1635 E. Walker street, entered the house and arrested the three youths.

Arraigned

All three were charged with robbery with aggravation and were arraigned before Municipal Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., on Monday. They pleaded innocent and were released on their own recognizance with a hearing scheduled for Monday, Feb. 9.

Enforced Work for Black Mothers Hit in President Nixon Welfare Proposal

the FAMILY PHARMACIST
Homer McQueen
RPh

Greensboro, N.C. - A nationally known welfare administrator took President Nixon's proposed family assistance plan to task Wednesday night, stating that "enforced employment of mothers is no way to reduce welfare rolls."

Criticizing the welfare reform bill, now before the Congress, was Dr. James R. Dumpson, dean of the Graduate School of Social Work at Fordham University.

Dumpson told his audience of more than 200 persons at A&T State University that "there are some positive features about the bill, but these are offset by negative features."

Mother's Decision
"My most serious objection," he said, "is that the bill has a built-in assumption that enforced employment of mothers is the way to reduce welfare rolls. Are we prepared to say that the primary duty of a mother is not caring for her children?"

"A mother," added the educator, "is the only one who can decide if she should go to work, that is if the welfare of her children is paramount."

First Black Man
Dumpson, former commissioner of welfare in New York City, was the first black man to hold such a position in a major city.

In his talk, he also questioned whether the proposed guaranteed income would be enough for needy families.

"The President in his message to Congress talked about the concept of equity," said Dumpson, "but apparently his advisors didn't talk to him about adequacy."

As an example, he cited the fact that the proposed bills calls for a guaranteed income of around $3,300 for a needy family of four. "I don't know the situation in North Carolina," he added, "but studies in New York show that a moderate income requirement for a family of four is $11,000."

Discriminatory
Dumpson said the new proposal is also discriminatory, in that it excludes completely single individuals and couples without children, unless they are aged, blind or disabled.

He also hit another feature of Nixon's plan, training programs for the unemployed. "To transfer training programs to state employment bureaus is disastrous," said Dupson, "because these bureaus are not people-oriented."

"Who is going to determine what is adequate employment," he asked? "What is an adequate wage?"

Federal Call For Librarians

A nationwide examination for professional librarians, grades GS-7 ($7,639 per year) through GS-12 ($13,389), has been announced by the Civil Service Commission.

For the first time, an applicant can file one time and receive consideration for jobs throughout the country and overseas. In the past, exams have been announced locally and lists of eligibles have been established at a number of locations.

Candidates who qualify under the new announcement will be listed on a central register maintained in Washington. Their qualifications will be coded in such a way that they be matched against the requirements of a given job wherever the vacancy might be. Applicants wishing to specify the geographic area for which they wish to be considered may do so.

Most of the positions to be filled will require a master's degree in library science. Some may call for an appropriate amount of education and experience in another field.

Complete information and instructions for filing are contained in Announcement No. 422 which may be obtained from any major post office, or the Federal Job Information Center, Room 191 - New Federal Building, 210 Walnut Street, Des Moines, Iowa 50309.

Soul Pharmacy

We have all heard someone say "So-and-so makes me sick." If the statement is corrected to read "My dislike of So-and-so makes me sick," then you have a basic fact of health. Hatred, jealousy, fear, anger, and other "ill" feelings directed toward a person or group of people can result in stomach ulcers, insomnia, alcoholism or other drug dependency, headaches, nervousness, neurotic behavior, all sorts of psychosomatic ailments, even psychosis.

For treatment of these conditions, your family physician can provide therapy, or he will refer you to your minister, a psychiatrist, or some other appropriate authority.

We of McQueen's Pharmacy, 6th & Forest (288-3323) feel that a good way to avoid freaking out is by the expression of love. Sure, love your enemy; it would blow his mind, and it would make you feel good. Valentine's Day, Saturday, February fourteenth is a good time to strike. Send a valentine card, a box of chocolates, or a bottle of perfume or men's after shave to a relative, spouse, lover, friend, enemy, stranger, the Internal Revenue Service, or anyone else who might make you sick.

For your health's sake the family pharmacy has stocked the finest valentine cards and gifts. We want you to stay healthy. We love you.

The difference between Black and White is Green.

When you get right down to it, money is the great equalizer. And what makes the difference in earning power is education. At R. J. Reynolds, we see education as one of the solutions to the problems of Black Americans. Trouble is, most Black families can't afford to send their children to college. And we look on that as a waste of this country's most valuable resource.

That's why we made a grant of $390,000 to Winston-Salem State University. The R. J. Reynolds grant provides scholarships for Black students each year. It also supplies funds to attract highly qualified faculty members to Winston-Salem State University and broaden the school's curriculum. During the past decade, R. J. Reynolds has also supported The United Negro College Fund with grants of more than one quarter of a million dollars.

These educational grants are just an example of what the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company is doing to aid in the struggle for equal opportunities for all Americans. But we think it's an especially important one. Because the next generation of Black people, armed with a college education, will have the "green power" that only education can give.

People have helped R. J. Reynolds by buying My-T-Fine Desserts, Chun King Oriental Foods, Vermont Maid Syrups, College Inn Chicken and Tomato Products, Davis Baking Powder, Winston, Salem, Camel and Doral cigarettes and our many other fine products. We're just returning the favor.

This column is being guest written this week by Mrs. John M. (Elaine) Estes, Jr., who is a member of the Des Moines chapter of Links, Inc. - M.J.

"FREEDOM THROUGH THE ARTS"

The Des Moines Chapter of Links Inc. presentation of the James A. Harris one-man art show opened Sunday, Feb. 8 at the First Unitarian Church on Bell and Casady Drive. Mr. Harris is a Des Moines native, and art teacher in the public schools exhibited his very fine and latest paintings (examples of the artist's involvement with new materials).

One of his large wood sculptures was used on the intergroup relationships; to help women to provide opportunities and develop techniques for the enrichment of personal friendship.

These purposes are to be carried out through the areas that have been chosen by the National Assembly as being relevant in today's world, and being innovations in an era of dynamic dimensions. Links involvements are Services to Youth - Freedom Through The Arts-National and International Trends and Services. It is our belief that by working together toward common goals we will be able to contribute toward universal unity, peace, goodwill and understanding. The new thrust of Freedom and the Fine Arts in 1968-1970 is its plan to work toward the presentation of exhibitions of the works of both past and contemporary Afro-American Artists. The climax of our new thrust will be directed to a gala exhibit at the 17th National Assembly in Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Harris has been invited to participate in this.

Links' policy also embraces the support of established organizations with proven expertise by contributing whatever financial assistance they can. Thus the Des Moines Chapter gave full scholarships for two semesters of classes at the Des Moines Art Center for two financially deserving youth.

refreshment table for the day. Some of the exciting and revealing titles of the paintings, d'art shown included: Burning Bush, Cities are planned, White Intruder, Watermelon is Chickenfeed, Escape to Prison, Night Riders, Victim Maker, Black Wave.

These titles somewhat reflect Mr. Harris philosophy that "contemporary art should not only address present day issues but should use present day materials. This does not discredit the past but pays tribute to where it has lead."

We will leave it to your curiosity to visit the show thru Feb. 28, nine a.m. to four p.m. Sunday to Friday, nine a.m. to twelve noon Saturdays, to observe and discover the use this artist has made of new materials. The artist is a modern realist. His work frequently portrays his comments on social issues.

These factors were among the reasons the Des Moines Links chose to present Jim Harris. National Links, Inc., threefold purpose is: to help women better understand, assume their civic responsibilities, locally, and nationally; to encourage cultural appreciation through the arts and to develop enriched

The show is enjoyable and enlightening. Don't miss seeing it and join the happy crowd who were very favorably impressed. Both non-artists and artists alike were enthusiastic. We're happy that such artists as representatives from the Iowa Arts Council, Drake University's Art Department Head, Edward Thomas, H. Mel Willis, Frank Dickinson, Theo. Stroud, Martin, and Dishman visited. The members of the Des Moines Links were culturally and emotionally enriched through the fine association they had in planning this show with Mr. Harris. His personality is clearly manifested in the works on exhibit.

Writer Questions If "Uncle Tomism" Cause Disunity

Second in a Series
BY MRS. LOUISE GLASS

It would be hard to contradict Mr. Wheelin's assertion that this "Uncle Tomism" can cause disunity among blacks.

But after all, at president, unit is mostly a high ideal. Where is there very much unity? Perhaps, in all the world there is no American Negro. Every facet of human nature is embraced: The illiterate to the highly intellectual, from the strictly conservative to fiery fanatic from the abject poverty-stricken to the millionaire. In fact any way people are classified.

TOLERANCE

At this point it might be practical to put less stress on unity but to emphasize tolerance—a respect for the rights of everyone to have his own viewpoint but not necessarily to accept that viewpoint.

It would be impossible to establish unity until more common ground is found. Those who advocate following one leader are unrealistic. Those of very limited educational could not follow someone like Dr. William E. DuBois. The scholar would not follow one of limited learning no matter how practical he might be.

Childish

It seems that the demand of today is to attack what may appear to be a wrong idea but not tear the person to shreds. Name calling is childish and can contribute nothing of benefit to a terribly confused situation such as we face today.

Who Owns The Zebra?

This little puzzle is designed to test the logical mind. Both logic and deductive reasoning are necessary to find the answers. The solution will be given in the next issue.

1. There are five houses, each of a different color and inhabited by men of different nationalities, with different pets and different tastes in drinks and cigarettes.
 2. The Englishman lives in the red house.
 3. The Spaniard owns the dog.
 4. Coffee is drunk in the green house.
 5. The Ukrainian drinks tea.
 6. The green house is immediately to the right (your right) of the ivory house.
 7. The Old Gold smoker owns snails.
 8. Kools are smoked in the yellow house.
 9. Milk is drunk in the middle house.
 10. The Norwegian lives in the first house on the left.
 11. The man who smokes Chesterfields lives in the house next to the man with the fox.
 12. Kools are smoked in the house next to the house where the horse is kept.
 13. The Lucky Strike smoker drinks orange juice.
 14. The Japanese smokes Parliaments.
 15. The Norwegian lives next to the blue house.
- Now, who drinks water? Who owns the zebra?

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate... and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does?

Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New® spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

Visit your expert hairdresser, who cares about your hair care and your comfort. Whatever the nature of your hair problems, only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

OBSERVERS OF LAW
SKIP INTEGRATION

The school integration issue has been riddled through with emotions rather than considered as a legal question.

Several southern governors met Saturday to map a further fight against school integration. The U. S. Supreme Court ruled segregation unconstitutional in 1954 and the heads of some states have done nothing to even begin complying with the law.

Now that the matter has been brought directly to compliance, they not only continue to plot against the law, but also come directly to the Supreme Court and attempt to put pressure on its members to "help see their side". This is surely illegal.

Now, Senator Ribicoff of Connecticut has come forth with a charge that the North is as bad as the South about integration and that he would join southern congressmen in their fight to force the North to desegregate also.

Of course, the senator is not telling the truth and he knows it for it took legal action to desegregate in the South and in spite of 16 years since the decision, they are still fighting to "keep their way of life".

On the other hand, defacto segregation comes about by location of residence. Some areas are bussing students in order to correct this. The senator knows - or should know - that it has taken the decisions of the Supreme Court to secure for Negroes all their rights.

It is unfortunate that it has taken all these years to accomplish integration but when southern governors and northern U. S. Senators fight it for 16 years, the slow progress is understandable. The South has never quit fighting the Civil War.

HIGHER EMPLOYMENT
A KEY TO PROGRESS

The labor department is pushing for the adoption for the "Philadelphia Plan" in several cities around the country. The move is an effort to get more Negroes employed in the building trades. This would be accomplished by requiring that in construction by the federal government or that in which it has an interest by loans and grants.

The exclusion prevails in many other lines of employment.

Relegating Negroes to menial jobs has played a great part in creating and maintaining big city ghettos. And this has been aggravated by keeping them on the relief rolls much in return for their vote for unconcerned politicians.

Denied a chance, in most instances, to make the middle class citizen to save, live well, buy good homes, educate their children and prepare for old age has had their toll.

The unions have been a great force in keeping Negroes from making good wages in spite of the fact that Negroes have collaborated with them in elections.

The Nixon administration can do Negroes a great service by enabling them to earn and make a decent wage.

LINCOLN UNDER DIVIDED COUNTRY

February 12 is the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. As the years go by, the memory of those who have made great contributions tends to phase away.

Then, too, there is an inclination of some to minimize what he did by attempting to compare his early efforts to confirm and strengthen human rights, done under great pressure with some of contemporary presidents who had a pretty well united nation behind them.

Two features stand out in Lincoln's life even though other events share the spotlight.

Lincoln was born of lowly parents, was poor but got an education by his own efforts, reaching the pinnacle of what America has to offer.

In spite of the terrible division in the country, he started the ball rolling to free this country of slavery; to make Negroes free full citizens.

America came through a period following the Civil War, reconstruction days and the serious period just before the turn of the century, which left the country without the strong leadership required to steady the ship.

Men of good will can never forget what Lincoln did for the country and the things he accomplished. He will ever remain dear to the hearts of the people of this country.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

This is probably the first time anyone can remember that two of the top basketball teams in the state have a good chance to win their conference crowns. Drake has the better chance. The Bulldogs are out in front of Louisville, and if they can beat those guys over there, they will be in. They really handled the fellows here, but that home floor sometimes makes a big difference. We have thought that if Drake can break even on the road, they would win the thing.

Maybe Coach John would like another crack at UCLA minus Alcindor. Iowa has a very good chance, but they have four tough road games coming up, and they have to win at least two of them in order to be in.

They have a typical Ralph Miller team, Tough, pressing defense, and a balanced scoring attack. Then the Hawks seem to have that playmaker that a good basketball team must have. No matter what happens from now on, we can sit back and say it was a very good year for Iowa University basketball.

Iowa State has provided some exciting moments, too, in their games. Just when you think they Cyclones are going to get blown out of the gym, they come up with a win. And their wins have all been of the heart stopping variety. If you have a weak heart, don't go to see Iowa State play basketball.

North Cagers
Here at home, North finally failed to come through in the closing seconds and lost one to Lincoln. This, while it will no doubt hurt their rating, will more than likely stand them in good stead when the tournaments roll around. The longer a winning streak is kept up, the greater the pressure is on the team, and finally they blow one, and it could well be the one they really didn't want to lose.

Jim Ward

We are sorry to hear of the death of Jim Ward in California. Big Jim was a fellow who had the potential to be one of the best all round athletes of his time. The trouble was that there was a lull in amateur athletics except boxing when Jim was in his best days. Boxing, basketball, football the big fellow tried them all, and as we recall it, his best game was football. He was fast, and liked to hit people, and in a time when players often went both ways, the guy got to do a lot of hitting. We often wonder what he would have done if he had the benefit of a little league ball and the training the kids have now.

Boxing

Speaking of boxing, it won't be long until Joe Frazier and Jimmy Ellis decide which one of them owns the entire heavyweight boxing crown that was taken away from Cassius Clay. While we don't think either of them would have much chance with Mohammed (wonder if that is spelled right) fellow, at least one of them can maybe challenge that fellow to see who really is champ. We hadn't thought to pick a winner, but we believe that if Frazier hits Ellis as often as he has been hit in his earlier

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission has the authority under the Iowa Civil Rights Act to file a Commission charge when the Commission becomes aware of a discriminatory practice and no particular person wishes to file a complaint on an individual basis. This week's column deals with two examples where a white, who was not being discriminated against himself, nevertheless did not feel that a general discriminatory practice where he worked should be allowed to continue.

Allegation

A Commission charge relating to a union member's allegation that union officials made discriminatory remarks at a union meeting that Negroes were not welcome in the union was conciliated - with the union officials signing a conciliation agreement to post in four plant locations copies of the fair-employment provisions of the Iowa Civil Rights Act along with a statement that the union will drop from its membership (with no chance of reinstatement) anyone making discriminatory comments or practicing discrimination.

MANUFACTURING

In a companion Commission charge, a manufacturing company affiliated with the union just discussed signed a conciliation agreement to have the union's bulletin (containing the fair-employment law and the union's support of that law) posted at four locations in the plant, and to post its own statement in support of the fair-employment law with violators subject to disciplinary action. The company also agreed to adopt the Commission's suggestions regarding affirmative action in recruiting minorities, and hired two blacks during the investigation.

KEEP YOUR COUGHS
UNDER COVER

"Cigars, cigarettes. Cigars, cigarettes." The standard sales pitch of cigarette girls in posh nightclubs. Somehow the pitch has lost a lot of appeal.

A recent cartoon in Good Housekeeping magazine takes an up-to-date twist on the old, hackneyed situation. In an elegant nightclub, a sultry cigarette girl provokes some surprised stares with her new pitch. "Cigars, cigarettes.. Cough syrups."

Probably not a very profitable way to sell cigarettes. But a good chance to cash in on the need to soothe smoker's hack.

Chronic Cough

By now almost everyone knows that smoking causes chronic cough and chronic bronchitis as well as other respiratory ailments. And cough syrups don't help a bit. The best break for your lungs is to quit smoking. Smoking, of course, is only one cause of coughs. There are others. And if a cough hangs on for more than a month, it means something is wrong with your breathing system. Taking cough syrups is no remedy for the root cause. The smart thing to do is to see a doctor and find out what's wrong.

Tests

A doctor can give you tests to find out which respiratory disease is causing your cough. Then he can start treatment.

Coughing-and sneezing-is one of the ways that infectious respiratory diseases, such as the common cold or tuberculosis, are spread from one person to another. To protect other people, cover your mouth and nose whenever you cough and sneeze. And always see a doctor if your condition lingers.

To find out more about all kinds of respiratory disease, check with your local respiratory disease association.

It's a matter of life and breath.

A VALENTINE CLASSIC
How do I love thee? Let me count the ways.
I love thee to the depths and breadth and height
My soul can reach, when feeling out of sight
For the ends of being and ideal Grace.
I love thee to the level of every day's

Most quiet need, by sun and candlelight.
I love thee freely, as men strive for Right;
I love thee purely, as they turn from Praise.
I love thee with the passion put to use
In my old griefs, and with my childhood's faith.
I love thee with a love I seemed to lose

With my lost saints—I love thee with the breath,
Smiles, tears, of all my life!—and, if Good choose
I shall but love thee after death.

TO LINCOLN
Out of a lowly cabin,
After a humble start,
You carved your name
forever
Deep in your country's heart.
Vision and love of freedom
Burned in your stalwart breast;
Love for your fellow mortals,
Freedom for all oppressed.
Lincoln—it is your birthday.
E'veh though your day has sped,
You are a might beacon
Lighting the road ahead.

TIPS ON CAR CARE

Are Old Drivers' Tales True?

Did you ever rub onion on your windshield to keep it from fogging?
Or put pennies on battery terminals to hold down corrosion?
Or let air out of tires when you were stuck in sand, mud or snow?

Or coast with the car out of gear to save gasoline?
As long as there have been automobiles, people have been coming up with such odd-ball solutions to their car problems.

Many of these remedies are so well-known and so widely used they are practically folklore. But do they really work?

It is hard to disagree with the horse sense of so many old drivers, but experts do not recommend any of the above practices.

Not that they are completely useless. All of them have some value, if no other remedy is available. In most cases their use is ruled out by undesirable side effects.

For example, letting air out of tires will often help you get unstuck, especially in loose sand, but unless you have some way to put the air back in the tires immediately, you may cause damage that would cost more than calling a tow truck.

B.F. Goodrich experts say thousands of tires are ruined every year by the practice of "bleeding tires."

"Bleeding" is the word tire men use to indicate the practice of letting air out of tires

When you stop and think about it, energy is really quite a bargain.
