Griger's Boycott Ricochets in D.C. Pay Tribute to Judge Glanton

Overflow Crowd Attends $10-Plate Scholarship Dinner

By Frances E. Hawthorne
Appropriate to the holiday, heartfelt, flowery but very enduring words cascaded over the head of Municipal Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., on Saturday, Feb. 14.

The occasion was a $10-a-plate testimonial dinner honoring Judge Glanton, Iowa's first Negro judge and national statesman coupled with a benefit for the scholarship fund of the United Black Federation, of which the honoree is one of the founders and chairman of the board.

An overflow audience of personal friends, admirers, and professional admirers, crowded into Younkers Tea-room to pay tribute to the Tennessee black, who in the words of his sister, Mrs. Myrtle Glanton Lord, Murfreesboro, Tenn., "was born

Senator Hughes Promises "No" Vote for Carswell

By Frances E. Hawthorne
At the testimonial dinner Saturday evening honoring Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., guest speaker Harold E. Hughes, (Dem., Ia.), announced that he will not vote for the confirmation of Judge G. Harrold Carswell for the U. S. Supreme Court.

Senator Hughes stated: "In evaluating the nominee's record, my legal advisers and I are in full agreement—that Judge Carswell's record reflects neither the high professional qualifica-

SENATOR HUGHES tions nor the freedom from bias that are expected from an appointee to the nation's highest tribunal."

Senator Hughes also praised the United Black Federation for its efforts to build a better community and improve race relations.

"Once it is understood that black citizens are willing to take their share of the load in community affairs, there will be more mutual respect between the races and better relations in all respects," Hughes told the overflow crowd.

Carswell Approved By Senate Committee

Washington, D.C. — The nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell to the U.S. Supreme Court was approved by the Senate Judiciary committee Monday by a vote of 12 to 4. The report was filed in the Senate later in the day.

President Nixon nominated Carswell Jan. 19 after his earlier selection of Judge Clement Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C., was rejected by a 55-45 Senate vote.

Opposition has centered on a white supremacy speech Carswell made 22 years ago, his judicial record in handling school desegregation and other civil rights cases and his role, which he described as minor and short-lived, in organizing an all-white country club in Tallahassee in 1956 to take over a municipal golf course.

Carswell has recanted on the 1948 speech, saying the remarks, made during a legislative campaign speech, now were repugnant to him, and he had denied anti-civil rights bias since being named a federal judge.

1966 Sale

However, another element was entered in the racial controversy late last week when a Florida newspaper reported the deed to some property Carswell and his wife sold in 1966 contained a white-only clause.

According to records filed at the Wakulla County, Fla., courthouse, the clause said "ownership, occupancy and use shall be restricted to members of the Caucasian race."

Carswell has made no comment on the white-only clause. The White House and leading congressional Republicans have defended the judge with the presidential press secretary saying: "I think if you look across the country at various real estate documents you would find that this particular incident is not isolated at all."

Store, Target of Black Protest, Given 10 Days To Come Up to Standards

A store boycott that reverberated all the way to the nation's capitol climaxed here Monday when 20 youths rampaged through the store, and started a small blaze which caused some $250 damages.

Object of the boycott, which began about 10 days ago, and scene of the incident, was Griger's Food Fair at 1307 Forest Avenue, which has been owned and operated for a number of years by Mr. and Mrs. David Griger.

Police Protection
According to the Grigers about 20 persons entered the store about 7 p.m. dumped food products in the aisles, knocked over vending machines and started a small fire, which was put out by the Fire Department.

In answer to a request from the Grigers a plainclothes detective and a uniformed policeman were stationed in the area. However, pickets continued their orderly patrol in front of the store.

Investigation
When City Councilmen who were meeting Monday at the time of the incident, heard about it, they called a meeting to launch their own investigation of the boycott. Represented at the meeting was the Des Moines Human Rights Commission, and Greater Opportunities, Inc.

Council Report
According to acting Mayor Charles Vanderlinden those attending the meeting agreed to uphold a Polk County Health Department inspection team who gave the Griger's 10 days to correct sanitation faults. They would take action if there were further disturbances in the area.

A group of blacks met behind closed doors Tuesday at Gateway Opportunity Center, an OEO building, half a block from the Griger store.

LET'S MEET

By: Maude Esther White

John Melvin Estes, Jr.

Most of us recognize that a large reservoir of significant leadership in our society lies outside of government - Often efforts are made to tap such a resource in attempts to resolve the crucial issues facing our nation.

A case in point is JOHN MELVIN ESTES, Jr., who has lived in Des Moines most of his life; a product of our public schools, an astute entrepreneur, and one who symbolizes many things to many people, particularly our Black youth.

Like many others, Mr. Estes completed both elementary and secondary schools with better than average grades and lettered in most of the major sports. But unlike many, he - at the same time - was elected vice-president of the Student Council while a Senior at North High School (long before it was heavily populated with Blacks); and was quite active in other extra-curricular activities involving the more academic aspects of school life. While a student at the University of Iowa he majored in pre-law and but for a serious accident he might have entered the Law profession. But John (as he is known to most of us), did not allow his accident to handicap him. Rather, he reassessed his future and took another course of action. This reassessment served as a crucial force in his life. For while economically, socially, and culturally secure - he never before took time out to "sort out" black community problems and black-white relationships.

An architect of the Black man's future - we can honestly say that John is NOT hung-up on the black-white dilemma. Rather he has realistically appraised the situation and believes that the existing barriers, whether individual, environmental, or institutional, should be constantly assessed and efforts made to overcome them in order to develop a resource of both black and white manpower - in a highly sophisticated manner - if the needs of the community (and society) are to be met. He believes that the dimensions of needs include all the factors that contribute to the development of every individual; fundamental are three major areas - the home, the school, and our community institutions, including the political structure.

School-Home: John sees a relationship between these two institutions and believes that a diagnosis of children's needs must begin early so that such educational programs draw upon the psychological as well as academic needs of the child. Individual differences are basic considerations in analyzing and defining educational programs.

Community Institutions: This subject would require an entire thesis, so we will try to convey to you what Mr. Estes believes is crucial in the attempts to resolve basic racial problems. He places much of his emphasis on the political structure and believes that unless both parties take a good, hard look at the black man's economic situation - i.e. his relative standing in today's economic structure - social problems will increase rather than decrease. Basically he believes that black people still lack accessibility to sufficient cash outlays which would enable them to enter the business world in such a way as to realize a return on their capital investment. "This is, essentially, no different from the problem facing all small business concerns," he said. "However," since the concept of Black Capitalism is facing our nation it is important that we understand why there is a real problem in such an approach to solving the black man's economic plight. Entrepreneurship is important - but how can black men form corporations of sufficient size and with sufficient capital outlay to enable him to compete with the large holding companies that rule the economic world?" "Is Standard Oil or Goodrich Rubber going to revise their business plans in such a way as to enable the black men to get a piece of the pie?" "Will our social structure and policies allow the black man to assist American black man to invest in and develop markets in such countries as Africa and other black-dominated areas?" To John these are pragmatic problems and must be dealt with pragmatically if the so-called Black Capitalism is to be implemented.

John believes the political parties can play an important role in solving many racial problems. First and foremost he believes that they must reconcile their thinking - the days of the "elite few" are past-gone! A realistic appraisal should enable them to see that the masses of blacks can be just as effective as exercising their voting right if the concentration of the blacks are in one party only. Given these variables, a beginning point could include black persons into policy-making level positions and career-ladder types of jobs leading eventually to professionalization. He believes that many local Republican organizations have tried to do this, but at the state level there is a real problem - to say nothing of the national. For 17 years he worked in the Republican Party and has held many executive type positions. We have said before that he is to be considered a constructive-activist: he is a member of the Corinthian Baptist Church - chairman of the Social Action Group; currently the president-elect of the Council of Churches; and member of the Executive Board. He is active in his fraternity, Kappa Alpha Psi, Black federation, NAACP past-president; Board of Directors of the Greater United Way, Boy Scouts of America, Big Brothers, Black Mobile Workers, City and County Drug Addiction Committee, and serves on a number of crucial committees which affect the Des Moines Independent School System. Public Officials call upon him constantly on matters affecting the black community life as it relates to the larger community on such matters as Employment and Housing, and he often serves as an Advisor to Black students.

Nine Forty-Four Ninth Street is well known - not only for its antique sumptuousness, but for the gracious hospitality enjoyed by many of us as well as top officials from around the country. It is here that he and his very vivacious and charming wife, Elaine, (nee Graham) serve as a dynamic influence to the total community - they are known as artificers of a new approach to community development.

Sang and Dance does take you back to the ancestral stampin' grounds. It's a good satisfying sound after listening to rock-hard, soft, loud and too often, mediocre these days.

Very frank song: "No matter what you think of me, I can think the same of you."

An African Epic Unearthed

Like all proud nations-like Greece with the Iliad and Rome with the Aeneid-the ancient kingdom of Mali had its epic story about how it had come to be. How thrilling now to rediscover a gripping 13th century African epic! SUNDIATA will be available to American children for the first time when it is published by Thomas Y. Crowell Company on February 20.

Here is the story of a grotesquely ugly, ridiculed prince, Sundiata, who vanquished the oppressor and founded a dynasty, thereby fulfilling a prophecy. It is a story that has everything children love: a serpent that talks, an owl who is a demon, an evil sorcerer, and a thunderous battle that brings about the fall of the great city of Sosso.

Roland Bertol has retold this grand and imaginative tale in the manner of a Muslim storyteller; the language and syntax remind the reader that the story of Sundiata happened long ago, far away, and under the influence of magic. The drawings are by noted artist Gregorio Prestopino.

History Making Appointment to Missouri Court

A history-making appointment was made in Jackson county Monday, Feb. 9, the first day of Negro History Week, when Governor Warren E. Hearnes announced in Jefferson City that he had selected Judge Lewis W. Clymer as the new judge on the Jackson county circuit court bench. Judge Clymer, a municipal court judge for 10 years, is shown here at his desk in the Municipal court, 1021 McGee St., where he will continue to serve until he is sworn into his new position on March 6. Judge Clymer is shown amid law books, flowers offering congratulations on his new appointment and the United States flag. Judge Clymer is the first Negro ever to be appointed to the circuit court bench in the history of Jackson county. St. Louis has had a black circuit judge since 1956 when Judge Theodore McMillan was appointed.

What Is Going On In Model Cities

The Des Moines Model City Citizens Board voted Wednesday night to recommend that the City Council approve contracts for two Model City projects - an occupational upgrading program and a community corrections program.

The two programs, costing a total of $523,500 during the first year of the five-year Model City experiment, are the first approved by the citizens board.

Job Upgrading

Samuel Stampely, senior planner on the Model City staff, said a primary aim is to locate jobs that will offer opportunities for advancement to more responsible positions and include fringe benefits such as insurance plans and paid vacations.

In some instances the job upgrading will be combined with educational upgrading at the Des Moines Area Community College or at a university, he said.

More Staff

In other business, Model City Director William Snyder announced the appointment of three individuals to the Model City staff.

Melvin (Bud) McElvogue of Des Moines has been named accounting supervisor at an annual salary of $10,200 a year.

Will Make Sure All Blacks Are Counted in '70 Census

NEW YORK, N.Y. - A coalition of civil rights groups says it will conduct a drive this spring to make sure all black persons are counted in the 1970 census.

18 Group

The Coalition for a Black Count, made up of 18 groups, including the National Urban League, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, announced the drive Tuesday.

The Census Bureau estimates that in the 1960 census about 2 million Negroes, or roughly 10 percent of the nation's Negro population, were not counted.

Cheated

Whitney Young, jr., executive director of the National Urban League, said as a result of the 1960 census black communities were "cheated of representation in Congress, in state legislatures, in city government, in new schools constructed and in community services."

Mayor Evers Will Not Make All Black Speeches

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Charles Evers, a Negro and mayor of Fayette, Miss., says he has refused an invitation to address an all-black gathering and will never again address any audience from which members of other races were excluded.

"I'm not going to be part of any group that believes in separatism," he said Thursday, "and I hope my black brothers will understand me."

He said the decision was based on his belief in the cause of racial integration. He did not specify who had issued the spurned invitation.

Second Chance

For the past few weeks, we have sponsored the "Family Pharmacist" column, a column so unusual in style no one knows whether to call it ads, editorials, or articles. We chose this method of communication, not for the sake of being different, but because we think it is the best way to get our point across.

In our efforts to provide the best possible service, we have dared to do things hitherto deemed unrealistic - the fact that we are here in the first place, introduction of the family pharmacy concept, overall low prices, after hours emergency service, open display and advertising of prophylactics, emphasis on service, instant individual patient records, overall low prices - including our publicly announced prescription pricing policy, and more. And you ain't seen nothing yet!

Homer McQueen, owner and chief pharmacist of McQueens Pharmacy, 6th & Forest (288-3323) writes all of our articles. Doing his journalistic thing, he has made "McQueen's" and "family pharmacy" household words. For the benefit of those who missed them, we shall, during the next few weeks, reprint our best articles, as we continue to bring you new thoughts of "The Family Pharmacist".

Mrs. Inez Ware, 1144 Carter is a fifth grade teacher at Saratoga School. Saratoga is an elementary school in Omaha, Neb. with an enrollment that is mostly Negro.

In letters to the Omaha World Daily newspaper she told of her problems in trying to inspire Black Youngsters and in showing them that they too could be a part of the American dream. Her letters showed that a young mind thinks early about who one is and of his relations to with others. She felt it is all important that Negro youngsters have heroes within their own race if they are to be stimulated to become better educated and to become better equipped for jobs and citizenship. She contended that both Blacks and Whites ought to know the role Negroes had played throughout history and that this role had too long been neglected in writing and teaching. The paper suggested that she write a series of articles pertaining to Negro History. The first article appeared Feb. 8th and continued until Feb. 15th.

Mrs. Carter was born in Council Bluffs, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fitz, Sr. Her father was a student of Black History, her mother a concert pianist and music teacher. She graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School and the University of Omaha, majoring in music and education.

She is the widow of James B. Carter and has two daughters, Angel, a freshman at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln and Sherri, a preschooler. She also instructs a class in Black and minority history at the Omaha Opportunities Industrialization Center in the evenings. Over the past four years she has presented Black heritage programs on KETV.

Testimonials Besides occupants at the speaker's table, testimonials came from Mrs. Lord, his sister; Henry T. McKnight and Vern Lawyer, fellow attorneys and longtime personal friends of Judge Glanton.

History Giving a history of the federation was Joe Miller, who noted that the federation was incorporated in May 1968, "a congealed idea" from Judge Glanton, that at first would involve education but later "Encompass the entire black community."

Students in College Nolden Gentry, board member and Model Cities attorney, noted that the scholarship fund, one of Judge Glanton's most special interests, has helped to place "45 youngsters in college and processed applications for 31 seniors in August 1969. Mrs. Shirley Woods, chairman of the scholarship committee of UBF came in for her share of commendations, also.

Membership Drive

Following the acceptance by Judge Glanton, an announcement of the federation membership campaign to begin Mar. 6 was made by John Estes, Jr., board member.

Pastor, Members Locked Out of Waterloo Church

Waterloo, Iowa — The pastor, Rev. Percy Burt and members of Mt. Calvary Baptist church, were barred from holding services last Sunday when a court restraining order was served on them the day before by Black Hawk County attorney.

The injunction was served on the 48 adult members of the church which boasts a membership of 100 including children. Approximately 35 persons attended services conducted Sunday in a private home.

Congregations Split

For several months, the congregation has been split—one faction headed by the Rev. Mr. Burt and the other by the church's five trustees.

A dispute, apparently involving church finances, came to a head Friday night during a meeting called in an attempt to settle the issue.

Instead, tempers flared and the Rev. Mr. Burt later told Waterloo police that at least two members of the rival faction threatened him with physical harm.

Church Established

The Rev. Mr. Burt said he established the church on Jan. 19, 1969, and mortgaged his home to raise $5,000 to purchase a church building abandoned by another congregation.

Another $5,000 was borrowed later by some church members to repair the roof on the small building and make other improvements, he said.

Next Move

Mt. Calvary Baptist is an all-Negro church located in Waterloo's black residential area. The Rev. Mr. Burt for several years has been a member of the Waterloo Human Rights Commission and has been active in other organizations here.

Asked what the next move would be in the church dispute, the Rev. Mr. Burt said, "We'll just let things stay like they are for a while."

16 Black Colleges To Seek Ties with Industry

Greensboro, N.C. — A non-corporation of 16 predominantly-black colleges and universities, aimed at stimulating the training and employment of blacks by business industry, was organized here this week.

Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of A&T State University, announced the formation of the new program, the Corporation for the Advancement of Experiential Learning Programs, at a noon luncheon at the Albert Pick Motel.

Board Chairman Earlier at a meeting of the college presidents and representatives, Dr. Asa T. Spaulding, retired president of the black-owned North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company of Durham, was elected chairman of the board of the corporation.

"This corporation will represent some 45,000 students," said Spaulding, "and we hope it will help to narrow the credibility gap that apparently still exists between the black institutions and the business community in terms of programs and student quality."

Dowdy said the cooperative program, believed to be the first of its kind among black institutions, was designed to give business and industry more knowledge about students from these institutions.

Not Full Access "In many instances," he pointed out, "our students have generally not had full and free access to the all-important world of business. Some students have misgivings about the career opportunities in business. They need an opportunity to find out what is going on."

Large firms

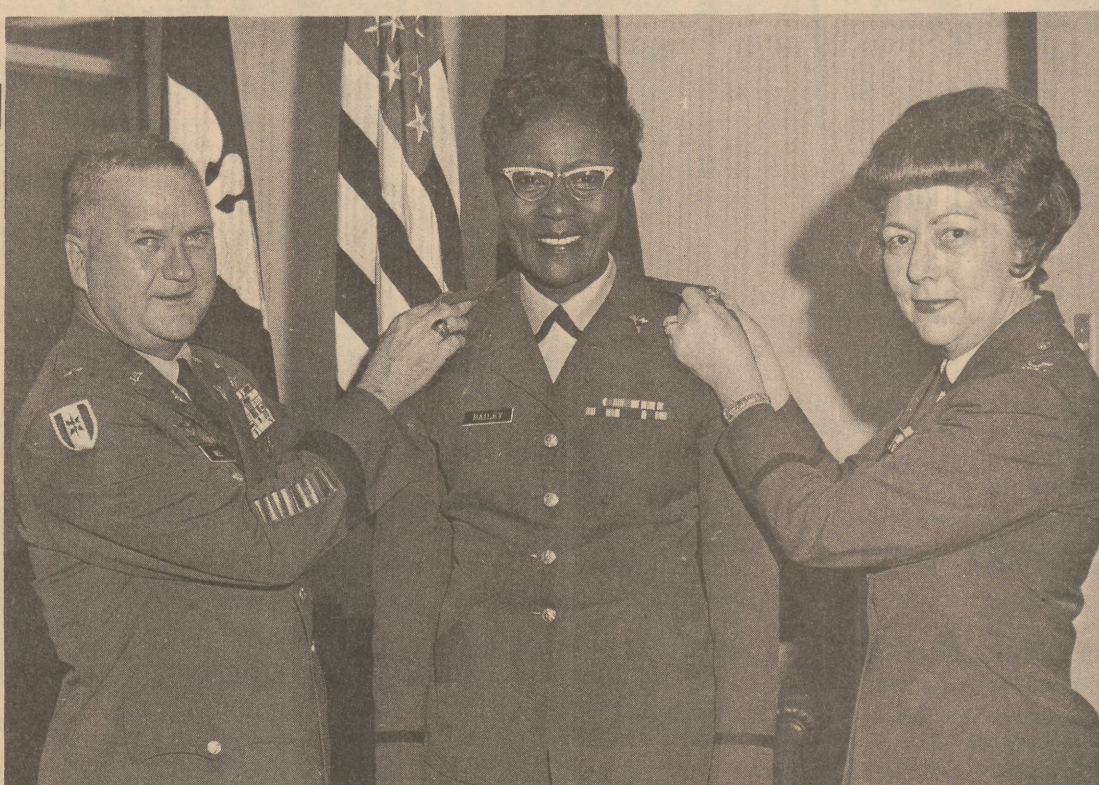

Dowdy said that some of the nation's largest firms like Western Electric, General Electric and the Tennessee Valley Authority, were directly involved in the formation of the corporation.

He said that initial projects of the corporation will be concerned with implementing off-campus learning experiences in conjunction with participating firms throughout the nation.

Work Experience One project will be a cooperative education program, in which students alternate periods of college attendance with periods of paid work experience usually related to his chosen field of study.

Industries will also be asked to furnish summer traineeships for students, industrial internships for college professors. They will also be asked to aid in developing new learning programs and to furnish making a profit." Inspection City Health Department records show the store was inspected Feb. 5 by sanitarian Gary Stitzell. His reports says the general appearance of the meat department was "not good" and there were sanitary faults in the dairy department and other parts of the store.

Last Friday with the picketing in its third day, Stitzell and two other inspectors checked the store again. This time, a formal list of 11 violations was drawn up and on Monday the owners were given 10 days to improve conditions.

Washington Angle

The Washington angle came in when the Grigers and City Councilmen protested the use of rented U.S. vans being used to transport prospective customers away from Griger's and to other stores in the area. The vans are rented by Greater Opportunities, Inc., and used by its opportunity neighborhood centers. Order Halt Tuesday the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) officials ordered a halt to the use of government-leased vans. The announcement was made by a spokesman for U. S. Representative Neal Smith, (Dem., Ia.), Representative Smith's office said regional OEO officials in Kansas City, Mo., have informed the local anti-poverty agency, GO, that using GO-leased trucks in the boycott "does not come within the poverty program."

IOWA'S NUMBER ONE NEWS TEAM

In every major community one television station is known for its News leadership. In Central Iowa it's Channel 8—KRNT-TV.

This station has had the Newsman "most people watched" for many years. Both major rating companies—American Research Bureau and Nielsen Station Index—continue to show overwhelming viewership at both six and ten o'clock.

Channel 8 maintains this leadership because it continually expands its technical facilities and adds more professional Newsmen. Channel 8 grows larger, wiser, yet younger, in its News gathering and reporting.

If you haven't been watching these 18 News Professionals lately, we suggest you switch. At 10:00. At 6:00. At Noon.

BROTHERHOOD = DEMOCRACY AT WORK

Brotherhood should be practiced the year around: where we worship, where we live, where we work, where we play. Taking it lightly tends to shake the foundation of our daily living and weakens the cohesiveness which our country needs to survive. It is needed now more than ever before.

Brotherhood
begins with

A BROTHERHOOD YEAR

The new decade begins with the tormenting awareness that social problems in our land remain unresolved.

Each of us, in the words of Charles Lamb, is unconsciously a "bundle of prejudice". But it is within our power to rid ourselves of such a load ... an unnecessary burden which only halts our personal progress as well as that of our fellow men.

If we can but set our sights on the goal of true brotherhood ... the belief that one should act brotherly toward one another regardless of race, creed, or nationality ... the load will lighten.

The National Conference of Christians and Jews calls this the "brotherhood commitment". They ask us to establish our own Brotherhood Week this week and next week and the next, all through the year.

This need not necessarily be an act of love, but of respect. Brotherhood begins with respect. As a human being simply engaged in the act of living in these difficult and divisive times, each of us is entitled to respect.

Yes, give us this day our daily bread and give us this day our daily dignity.

Brotherhood Begins with Respect — the respect that we want for ourselves. "White supremacy," "black racism," religious bigotry, and other scornful attitudes destroy respect. They create disunity, injustice, and repercussions that cripple our nation.

The historic documents of our democracy prescribe equal treatment for all. But each generation must strive to extend equality in areas where it has not yet been attained. There has been too little progress and it has come too late.

The Time for Constructive, Positive

Action for Brotherhood, Is Now

To turn respectful attitudes into respectful conduct we need personal commitment and community cooperation.

How well are you doing? How well is your community doing? With the aid of this NCCJ check list you can audit your own attitudes and the extent to which equality of opportunity is a reality in your community.

Mission Lacks Funds, May Curb Free Meals

The Forest Avenue Mission, Inc., operated at Forest Avenue Gospel Temple, 1121 Forest Avenue, may have to cut down on the free meals it is providing for children and adults in the Model Cities area because of a lack of funds, officials said Saturday.

Mrs. Zenobia White, secretary to Bishop A.B. Carter, manager of the mission project, said staple food commodities such as flour, butter, dried milk and cereal are provided periodically by the U.S. Department of Agriculture but money is needed to purchase meat and vegetables.

Contributions of food from local merchants have been cut down because of inventories, Mrs. White said. She said the mission has been serving breakfast to about 100 children, lunch to about 50 children and adults and dinner to about 100.

An application for a federal grant has been approved, she said, but the money will not be forthcoming for about six weeks.

Besides offering free meals for low-income families, the mission has a tutoring program and offers assistance to transients. It has been in operation for three years, supported by donations from individuals and organizations.

Increased Federal Pressure in Job Bias

Washington, D.C.—William H. Brown III, Chairman of the U. S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, declared that "the attack upon job discrimination intensified during the past year," and predicted "no let-up in sight."

Speaking before the Organization Resources Councilors in New York City, on Jan. 21, 27, Brown said, "The pressure is going to increase greatly against those who think they can ignore or get around the law."

Deeply Concerned Brown declared that, "The Administration is deeply concerned with the problems of job discrimination...The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has never before had such strong support as it has today under this Administration...despite stringent budget cuts in most areas of the FY 1971 budget requests, EEOC will receive a substantial increase, at the President's own recommendation."

Accomplishments Brown cited the Administration's accomplishments against job bias last year, noting that "because of President Nixon's strong support, the (Philadelphia) Plan survived attempts in Congress to kill it."

He said further that the Justice Department has filed suits in Seattle against six trade unions who allegedly barred blacks from membership, and the threat of Federal Government action had effected an agreement between Chicago contractors and trade unions to put 1,000 blacks to work immediately and to train others.

Plans to Hire

Brown said EEOC plans to hire more investigators and conciliators, increase grants to state and local fair employment practices agencies, and recruit lawyers for each of its 13 field offices.

Charges

In a federal court suit filed here Jan. 29, the three teachers charged that by firing them, board members intended to "curtail and restrict" academic freedom, "chill and depress" freedom of speech, and indicate "what will happen to those under

College scholarship funds were the target of the occasion and so made her efforts invaluable! Joining forces with her Des Moines counterparts, Shirley Woods (Mrs. Edward C.), Idella Cushingberry (Mrs. W. F.), Alta Herndon (Mrs. Bonnie), Delores Reeves (Mrs. Edward), Grace Wade (Mrs. Emory), Nancy Jones (Mrs. Dan), Peggy Garr (Mrs. Kenneth), and Ione's 'Gal Friday' Pamela LaMar, and "loads and loads of other wonderful people, without whose help," she declares this marvelous achievement would not have been realized. And that means everybody! Even interested persons from faraway Mexico! Special mention was made of the UBF's dynamic, young director, Prentice (Pete) Townsend. Says Ione "That young man is really on the ball!"

STATING "THE UNITED BLACK FEDERATION is the umbrella for everybody, including the Black Panthers and other black militant groups," Judge Luther T. Glanton chuckled as he added this observation: Remembering the events of the Iowa Welfare Association banquets of last year and this fall, he phoned noted Black Panther leader, Charles Knox, and extended invitations for five of his group! "So as to make them feel wanted rather than feel left out and come and lay waste the place!"

BLACK PANTHER CHARLES KNOX, by the way, is a student at Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa, in, I believe, political science!

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate... and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does?

Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New® spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

Visit your expert hairdresser, who cares about your hair care and your comfort. Whatever the nature of your hair problems, only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

"Uncle Tomis" Rooted in "Separate But Equal" Decision

Fourth in a Series
By Louise Glass

Mr. Wheelin states that it was Booker T. Washington's famous Atlantic speech of 1895 that led directly to the United States Supreme Court decision of "separate but equal" in 1896. Many others have voiced this same opinion.

It is hard to understand how a relatively obscure Negro in the deep South in a hot bed of racial conflict, could influence this powerful, intelligent body of men.

There were some Northern Negroes, well educated and very well known who were speaking out loudly and clearly for "social equality" right now.

Among them were Dr. W.E.B. DuBois and Atty. W. Monroe Trotter. Both were New England graduates. (Booker T. Washington could not be classified as academically "well educated"). Both of these New Englanders fought for racial justice. Both fought Washington, and oddly enough they fought each other too. But doesn't it seem only reasonable that the Supreme Court would have given their opinion more consideration than the opinion of Washington? May it not be possible that the Supreme Court did just what it would have done if Washington had not made that speech?

This "let down your bucket where you are" and "the fingers and the hand" speech are "still controversial." This speech has been called a "compromise." Sometimes it is called "accommodation." There are some who seem to think that had it not been for Booker T. Washington, by this time race relations would be as they should be. Let us look closer.

Editor's Note
A statement in last week's article should have read, "Perhaps in all the world there is no group so diversified as the American Negro."

IMPORTANT

During the depression, 1934 to be exact, men of good will saw how America was divided: in race, in religion, in living standards, in just about everything we did. This division constituted a serious threat to one against the other and ate at the vitals of our democracy and equality for all men.

To combat this trend a group of liberals -- they are called a detriment by some small writers today -- in cooperation with the National Conference of Christians and Jews, established Brotherhood month. The sponsors consisted of Protestants, Catholics and Jews, Negro and white from North and South.

Keeping in mind that President Lincoln was born during the month of February, the organization named it Brotherhood month, the Sunday nearest February 12, Brotherhood Sunday and the week nearest it Brotherhood Week.

Local groups were formed which sponsored programs in the schools and churches with speakers available to publicize Brotherhood. The effort continues today but on a much lighter scale.

The Brotherhood movement attempts to create a better understanding among divergent groups and thus make the observance of law and fair play more easily acceptable and followed. It emphasizes the inherent right of all human beings to be treated as such whatever their place in life.

Its method of approach was peaceful penetration rather than force alone.

With the advent of the radical movements, Brotherhood seems to be passed by. At least the vociferous groups are making so much noise that it tends to drown out the Brotherhood approach. However, we cannot condemn all those who have taken a different approach for some have moved forward peacefully, some with disrespect for themselves or anyone else.

Each has helped the other. But in the Brotherhood movement the principles of justice, honesty, responsibility and respect for others was emphasized when it began. That was important then, it will always be important. And no nation, race or religion can live and prosper without them.

NO EASY ERASURE
FOR PRINCIPLE

President Nixon's nominee for the U. S. Supreme Court, Judge Carswell, seems to have his troubles unfolded as the days go by. In view of the defeat of Judge Haynsworth for the same post, it would seem that those who investigated Judge Carswell's qualifications did not look far or carefully.

Among objections to Judge Carswell is his attitude toward Negroes expressed in a campaign speech for the legislature several years ago in which he expressed his belief in white supremacy and segregation of the races. And he never repudiated those words until it became important that he do so in order to be confirmed.

Some have interpreted this lightly. They say he should not be punished for views expressed in a campaign speech made several years ago. Maybe other men have made statements in years gone by that hurt and have gone on and done the opposite.

But Judge Carswell's decisions in civil rights cases and his conduct where civil rights have been involved have been such as to indicate no change in his views expressed as a candidate for the legislature.

In years gone by, often what a white man said about Negroes was not important because there was little that could be done about it. But now that the Negro's civil rights are legally secure, his vote counted and by education and education and influence more potent, it makes a lot of difference. And thus, more respect must be exercised in talking to or about him. Judge Parker and Judge Haynsworth found this out by painful experiences.

BORDERING ON MOB VIOLENCE

The contemptuous conduct participated in by lawyers, defendants and spectators in the Chicago trial of seven defendants for conspiracy to disrupt the 1968 Democrat National Convention was the most disgraceful display of court decorum that has ever occurred in this country.

Judge Hoffman took the time out while the jury was deliberating to sentence several of these people to varying jail terms for contempt.

The American Civil Liberties Union and other groups have instituted an immediate appeal from the sentences. Of course, if Judge Hoffman's exercise of contempt powers is wrong, the sentences should be overturned. On the other hand, the conduct displayed in the courtroom is a disgrace and an affront to our legal system, a disregard for law and order and a signal for others of their kind to do likewise.

These outbursts must be stopped or our courts will come to be ruled by a mob.

Social Security

QUESTION: My husband will soon be retiring and drawing social security at the age of 62. We have a retarded son age 28, whom we have always kept at home, but who earns no money. Can we also draw social security for him when my husband reaches 62 or must we wait until he is 65?

ANSWER: If your son qualifies as an adult disabled child, he would be entitled to social security benefits on his father's account regardless of the age at which your husband decides to retire.

QUESTION: I have been retired for several years. I will be age 62 soon. How much less would my social security benefit be if I sign up when I am age 62, rather than waiting 3 years until I am 65?

ANSWER: At age 62, your social security check would be reduced 20 per cent from what it would be if you waited until age 65

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

The basketball season is reaching the point where we may soon learn if the things we said about our favorite teams are true. Drake has painted its team into a corner where they can't afford to lose any more games. And they must beat Louisville down there, no mean task. Especially with the fellows wanting revenge for the beating they took here. We had said that the Missouri Valley winner could lose two games and make it, but maybe we were one game long. We will know more about that next week. Iowa State continues to have its up and down year, and there is really no telling where the Cyclones will finally wind up.

Title Shot

Iowa U. has the main part of the work cut out for them, too. We said they had a good shot at the title, and now all they have to do is break even on the road, and they will be almost in. Of course one of their wins really ought to be over Purdue. The Boiler-makers went to a fast break recently in order to give their high scoring Rick Mount more shots, and they liked to blow Illinois right out of the fieldhouse. So that game, if the Hawks are up, could produce a record for two Big Ten teams. And what chance does any of the teams have with UCLA, even without Alcindor? Those guys just go right on winning, and do you know, they just might make it another national championship? The odds are against it, but the UCLAans don't know that, or at least, they play as if they don't.

And here at home, North just couldn't get by Hoover, and that just about wrapped up the title for the West siders. We would like to have seen North win that one, but things happen that way. These Hoover guys may be tough in the State meet. But if they play North, that would be the third game, and they just might lose.

Willkie House

And while we are on the subject of basketball, we would like to know what is happening at the Willkie House. Time was when we could get a replay of the games the next day, but now we don't see any of the fellows. A lot of pretty good high school players came out of our earlier leagues. It might be that there are still a lot of pretty good youngsters in those setups that we don't hear about. Some guy said they weren't having basketball at the Willkie House. We hope he is wrong.

U. of I. Episode

You might know we were going to be asked what we thought about the latest cloak and dagger episode at Iowa U. Well, what can anyone think about it? By the time you read this, there may have been some more developments that have cleared up things a little. Right now as we write this, it is hard to conceive of grown men playing games to receive your benefit. The closer you get to age 65, the larger your check would be. The amount is reduced 5/9 of 1 per cent for each month you receive benefits before age 65. I suggest you contact your social security office before you reach age 62 for more information.

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

The State Legislature presently is considering several bills which would advance the cause of civil rights in Iowa. The Iowa Civil Rights Commission supports all bills concerned with the advancement of civil rights, but has assigned certain priorities of concern at this time.

3 Bills

We most actively support three bills which would render more effective the operations of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission. These include: H.F. 202, which would empower the Iowa Civil Rights Commission to seek temporary injunctions from the district court to halt sale or rental of a housing accommodation during an investigation of a discrimination charge; H.F. 468 which would repeal the requirement in the law that district court hearings from appeals of Iowa Civil Rights Commission cease-and-desist orders be heard de novo (that is, from the beginning again; the bill would require the court to accept the findings of fact made by the Commission at its public hearing); and H.F. 478 which would empower the Iowa Civil Rights Commission to subpoena records during an investigation instead of having to wait, as now, until a public hearing is set before any records can be subpoenaed.

Sex Bias

We also support: H.F. 251, which would make discrimination on the basis of "sex" a discriminatory employment practice; H.F. 591 and S.F. 320 both of which would require the State Department of Public Instruction to prescribe rules to insure that the history and contributions of minority groups be taught in the public schools; and S.F. 542, which is an all-encompassing bill containing over a dozen proposals.

We also support H.F. 543, which would insure that the proportion of non-Caucasian pupils would not exceed 50 percent of the total number of pupils in any attendance center within the school corporation, with the school board required to remedy any such racial imbalance within 15 days following commencement of classes for the school year. However, we feel that more study is needed on how to accomplish a change in the balance.

Not Original Author

Robert Burns said that he took down the words for the well-known song, "Auld Lang Syne," as he heard an old man sing them. But Burns is usually given credit for writing them.

like that. Someone has a very fertile imagination, or else someone is sillier than anyone thought they were.

Heavyweight Fight

And we hoped you were satisfied with the results of the heavyweight fight. And if you weren't what do you plan to do about it? We just wish there were some way to get professional boxing here again. The amateur boxers could learn so much. You don't always learn by actually boxing with a pro. You can pick up valuable tips by just listening to a couple of them talk shop as they swap tricks. Then, maybe we could send a Golden Gloves team out here that would have a chance to do something. We have some pretty fair boys around here but they don't have anyone to watch day after day. The fellows who work with them are good men, who really want to see the kids develop, but they can go only so far without a living example. One thing that was good was the early Gloves date here to give the winners time to really get ready. Maybe they will be.

Health for All

So you've never felt better. Never mind. It's time for your annual medical checkup. Go.

Nobody has to make a case for annual checkups anymore. The case has already been made -- convincingly. You can pick up infections and not realize it. Like TB, for instance. Anyone can get TB by breathing in the germ from the air. At any time.

Early Stages

There are no symptoms in the earliest stages of active TB. You may not know you are sick and spreading germs to others. And if you are infected with TB germs, you can avoid getting sick with active TB by taking pills called isoniazid.

Your doctor can find out if you are infected with TB germs by giving you a tuberculin test. And he can give you the results in a matter of days.

Smoking

Don't be surprised this year at your medical checkup if your doctor asks you about another matter that affects the condition of your lungs -- smoking. More and more doctors these days are asking their patients about their smoking habits.

Letters from Our Readers

A bit of prose . . . a line or two of poetry . . . a letter now and then to express thoughts in the minds of our many readers.

Send Yours Today

Dear Editor:

As you know, I am the first Black woman ever elected to the United States House of Representatives. As one of the small group of Black Members of Congress I feel it is my particular responsibility to try to make the concerns of minorities heard on Capitol Hill.

When I was appointed to the House Veterans' Affairs Committee, the Chairman told me he hoped I would be able to provide him with special help and insight on the problems I know about best.

From letters and conversations, I have become aware that Black, Puerto Rican, Mexican-American, and other minority-group Americans have encountered serious problems of discrimination and other problems in dealing with the Veterans' Administration and Veterans' organizations. I intend to investigate these problems in depth.

In order to do so, I will need substantial evidence to show that patterns of such discrimination exist, and it would be most helpful if any of you readers who have first-hand knowledge of such incidents would write me and include all the details. I need complete and factual information, not just general and unsupported charges.

I am not able to get into the questions of discrimination against persons currently on active duty in the Armed Forces, since this is in the jurisdiction of another Committee, of which I am not a member.

Neither can I offer to take any personal action to intervene individual cases, because my office staff is already working at a level greater than its capacity to assist the residents of my own Congressional District in Brooklyn. For the same reason, I cannot undertake to answer the letters I hope to receive. I am asking your help to get information.

Any of your readers who take the time to answer this appeal may be sure that their letters will be carefully read and considered, and that they will be helping me in an effort to correct past grievances and prevent future wrongs arising from unjust discrimination in dealings between the Veterans' Administration and Veterans' organization and American veterans who belong to the historically oppressed minorities.

All letters should be addressed to: Veterans' Re-

WEEKLY WISDOM

Time is the one thing that can never be retrieved. One may lose and regain a friend; one may lose and regain money; opportunity once spurned may come again; but the hours that are lost in idleness can never be brought back to be used in gainful pursuits. Most careers are made or marred in the hours after supper.

BUILDING CHARACTER

To live as gently as I can,
To be, no matter where, a man,
To take what comes, of good or ill,
And cling to faith and honor still.

To do my best and let it stand
The record of my brain and hand,
And then if failure comes to me,
Still work and hope for victory.

To have no secret place wherein
I stoop unseen to shame or sin,
To be the same when I'm alone
As where my every deed is known.

To walk unadorned, unafraid
Of any step that I have made,
To be without pretense or sham
Exactly what men think I am.
—Anon

A country can't live on love alone.

There are a lot of things a man can do for his country. Including saying his piece, pro or con.

And talk is an important part of what makes a democracy like ours work.

But in the final analysis, talk is cheap. Personal involvement accomplishes a lot more.

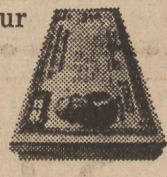

Putting part of your savings to work for America is a step in that direction. To provide some of the economic strength it takes to make the whole system run.

That's one reason why Savings Bonds mean a lot.

They help to pay part of the cost of running a country where you're free to speak your mind.

And they help you at the same time. With interest and security.

So next time you have something to say about America, let your Bond purchases do part of the talking.

If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em.
