Dr. King Film Slated for 2 Theaters

Galaxy, Plaza Will Be Among 1,000 to Show Documentary

Des Moines' Plaza and Galaxy Theatres will be among the 1,000 theatres in 300 cities which will participate in an unprecedented one-time only simultaneous showing of a full-length motion picture dealing with the life and work of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The film, "KING: A Filmed Record... Montgomery to Memphis," will be shown on the night of March 24th as part of a simultaneous nation-wide event. It is expected that an audience of 1,000,000 persons across the country will contribute $5,000,000 to help support organizations dedicated to carrying out the work and teachings of the late Dr. King. All theatre owners are contributing their theatres at no cost.

Personal Project

The film has been a personal project of motion picture producer Ely Landau, who conceived the idea, organized the one-night event, and worked on the production for more than a year without compensation. It traces the work of Dr. King from 1955 until his death in 1968 and runs two and a half hours.

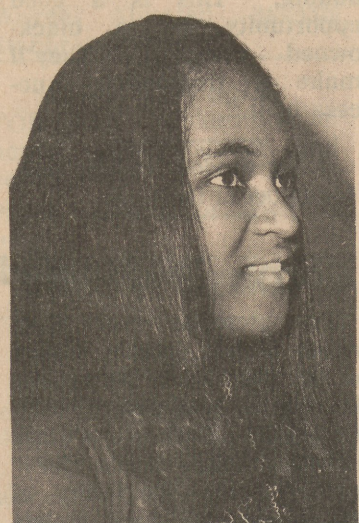

Performing Artists

Many performing artists, who themselves were friends and active supporters of Dr. King, contributed to the production. Among those who will perform special readings in the film are Harry Belafonte, Sidney Poitier, James Earl Jones, Charlton Heston, Sammy Davis, Jr., Anthony Quinn, Diahann Carroll, Burt Lancaster, Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, Ruby Dee, Moses Gunn, Clarence Williams 3rd, and Ben Gazzara.

Local tickets for the special performance are available in advance at the box office of the theatre. All seats are $5, tax deductible.

Authorities Conjecture Victims Were Working On Own Explosive Fuse

Bel Air, Md. — Two men were killed, one believed to be a former aide of militant H. Rap Brown, here Monday night when an explosive destroyed their car as it was traveling along U. S. Highway 1 south of here.

On Eve

The deaths came on the eve of Brown's trial on arson and riot charges stemming from the July 1967 riots in nearby Cambridge, Md. At first it was believed that Brown had been one of the victims, but tentative identifications of the victims indicate that neither was Brown.

Arguments

Brown's trial got underway here Monday morning but was delayed when arguments over motions to transfer the scene of the trial. Brown did not attend the session.

Following the explosion, the whereabouts of Brown remained a mystery. His lawyer, William M. Kunstler, said he did not know where Brown was but felt confident that he would appear next Monday for the continuance of the proceedings.

Identification

Brown's former aide was identified as Ralph Feather-

Authorities released a statement Wednesday which conjectured that the victims had been working on the fuse of the explosive in their car as they traveled along the highway.

Ford Sets $1 Million in Scholarship Funds to Help Minorities Become Architects

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A $500,000 Ford Foundation grant to The American Institute of Architects Foundation, matched by a $500,000 grant from The American Institute of Architects, has been approved for scholarships for minorities who otherwise could not enter schools of architecture.

Major Plan

The scholarship fund will be administered as one of the major programs of AIA's Professional Responsibility to Society Program, which was created following the 1969 AIA Convention in Chicago. AIA's general program is designed to increase the number of professionals from disadvantaged groups and to join in the search for solutions to the urgent urban and environmental problems of the nation. There is a scarcity of minorities in the architectural profession.

The AIA will conduct a search for candidates from minority groups who are not students but who have aptitudes and potential not otherwise recognized. College scholarships leading to a first professional degree in architecture will be given. AIA chapters, architecture students, and AIA Community Design Centers in inner-city locations throughout the U.S., with help of the Urban League and other organizations, will assist in the effort of locating candidates.

The first students to be given the Ford Foundation-AIA scholarships will be enrolled in the fall of 1970. Interested applicants may apply now through Elliott Carroll, FAIA, The American Institute of Architects, 1735 New York Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

Controversial "Benign Neglect"

New York — Representing an impressive cross-section of the American people, 21 leaders have endorsed and released a 400-word statement branding Daniel Patrick Moynihan's controversial "benign neglect" memorandum "a flagrant and shameful political document," tragically "symptomatic of a calculated, aggressive and systematic effort in the present national Administration to wipe out all the civil rights gains made in the 1950s and 1960s."

Signers

Signing the statement on behalf of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was John A. Morsell, assistant executive director. Other signers included Whitney M. No Equality

While Negro gains during the past two decades have been "significant," they have not been "enormous," as Moynihan's memorandum claims, "nor have they brought equality to black people," the 21 leaders charged.

The statement, entitled, A Public Reply, was released through the National Urban League.

Blacks in Watts Buy Stores to Provide More Jobs

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. — In a transaction termed "the most significant for blacks in the whole country," the Watts Labor Community Action Committee is now the owner of Shop-Rite Markets in south-central Los Angeles.

Ceremonies

In ceremonies Friday, Max Zatz signed over his $9-million-a-year four-store chain for a sale price of $950,000.

Project administrator Ted Watkins of the community action committee, who termed the move significant for all blacks, said the organization plans to enlarge the chain as a community-owned operation that will provide jobs and training for Negro residents.

Goal

"Our goal," said Watkins, "is to become completely independent of any government subsidies. This will give us a substantial base for turning profits back into the community."

Zatz said he was "a little tired" of business activity, adding: "This is a good opportunity for a black-owned company. They'll make a tremendous success of it."

What's so special about Beechwood Ageing?

We must be bragging too much about Beechwood Ageing. Because we're starting to get some flak about it. Like, "Beechwood, Beechwood... big deal." And "If Beechwood Ageing is so hot, why don't you tell everybody what it is?" So we will.

First, it isn't big wooden casks that we age Budweiser in. But it is a layer of thin wood strips from the beech tree (what else?) laid down in a dense lattice on the bottom of our glass-lined and stainless steel lagging tanks. This is where we let Budweiser ferment a second time. (Most brewers quit after one fermentation. We don't.)

These beechwood strips offer extra surface area for tiny yeast particles to cling to, helping clarify the beer. And since these strips are also porous, they help absorb beer's natural "edge," giving Budweiser its finished taste. Or in other words, "a taste, a smoothness and a drinkability you will find in no other beer at any price."

Ah yes, drinkability. That's what's so special about Beechwood Ageing. But you know that.

Budweiser is the King of Beers.

(But you know that.)

Girl and 2 Men Arrested

The faculty and staff members of Irving Junior High school are beginning to feel a little beleaguered. Monday afternoon a 13-year old girl, not a student of the school was arrested and accused of hitting a teacher with a chair.

The girl was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Two Men Arrested

A week ago, two men were arrested and charged with beating three teachers at the same school. Arrested were Robert Jewell Oakley 26, 1619 Gillette avenue and George Woods, Jr., 23, of 1441 Buchanan avenue. Each was charged with assault and battery and assault with intent to commit great bodily injury.

Police said the two were arrested in Joyce's Lounge at Thirteenth street and Forest avenue by four uniformed policemen and a detective. Officers said they went to the tavern after receiving a tip the men were there.

The injured teachers were James Drummond, 37, the vice-principal; Philip Countryman, 31, an industrial arts teacher, and William Visser, 24, an English teacher.

All were treated at Northwest hospital and released. Students were given the option of leaving school or remaining. Most of them left. Everything returned to normal until Monday's incident.

A.&T. Wins $96,000 Grant to Help Whites Learn to Teach Blacks

Greensboro, N. C. - A unique institute, designed to prepare teachers to "teach the black experience and black students" has been funded by HEW at A&T State University for $96,000.

Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of A&T, announced the federal grant Tuesday for the workshop to be conducted at the University June 8 through July 17.

Integrated He said directors of the integrated workshop will be Joseph A. Bennett, assistant professor of social studies; and Dr. Sidney H. Evans, chairman of the Department of Economics.

In commenting on the grant, Bennett said "the black experience is the story of the unique struggle and aspirations of black people for survival, advancement and recognition in a hostile world in which every other human species has appeared as an enemy."

Many Changes

"In order to teach black students successfully," he added, "many changes in educational planning and perspectives will have to be made."

In addition to the summer study, 20 of the participants will take part in a year-long program of black studies at A&T for which graduate credit will be given.

NAACP Shocked by Segregation Issue At NEA Conference

NEW YORK — Shocked by efforts of certain officials of the National Education Association to secure adoption of an anti-desegregation resolution at the NEA conference on civil and human rights, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has threatened to withdraw from the NEA Human Relations Council.

Asks for Meeting

In a sharp telegram, dispatched March 4, to George D. Fischer, president, Mrs. Helen Bain, president-elect, and Sam M. Lambert, executive director, of the NEA, Miss June Shagalloff, NAACP education director, called for a meeting with these NEA officials on the "separatist NEA position as presented at the conference and its implications for NEA policies nationally."

Rejected

The anti-desegregation resolution was presented at the human rights conference in Washington, Feb. 19-21. It was overwhelmingly rejected by the delegates. Nevertheless, Miss Shagalloff expressed grave concern "that NEA officials would propose a position condemning school desegregation, and that the person selected to address the conference delegates at the dinner meeting, Feb. 20, is one known nationally for his racially separatist position."

NEA Charged: We Must Step Into Desegregation Breach

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Education Association has been urged to take the lead in stepping up school desegregation because the Nixon Administration and both political parties have dropped the ball on the desegregation issues.

This was the conclusion of educators, civil rights leaders, and representatives of civic and religious groups who attended a three-day (Feb. 19-21) conference sponsored here by NEA's Center for Human Relations.

Zeroed In

More than 500 participants from all 50 states zeroed in on the critical issues surrounding school desegregation at the Eighth National NEA Conference on Civil and Human Rights in Education.

George D. Fischer, NEA president who made the keynote address, Des Moines, charged that "President Nixon is the greatest enemy that teachers and the black man have had since Rutherford B. Hayes made a deal with the South to end Reconstruction Days."

Busing

Relating to the conference theme, Fischer emphasized the attitudinal changes were essential to this country's stand on minority groups. "Money talks. It buys respectability. Give me one generation of kids with good nutrition, good environment and good education, and you'll have a generation that believes it can win," Fischer said. On the busing issue he stressed that "there's a lot of busing going on for the wrong reasons. You don't see white kids from the affluent suburbs being bused into urban school systems, for example."

There eventually comes a time when one gets tired of work.

Investigate Fires At Callanan School

Police and fire officials Friday, Mar. 6, were investigating two fires that they said were deliberately set in rest rooms at Callanan Junior High School, Thursday afternoon.

Police said one fire was started in a boys' rest room on the first floor when someone tossed a match into a trash container about 12:40 p.m., and the other fire was started in a trash container in a second floor boys' rest room about 3:15 p.m.

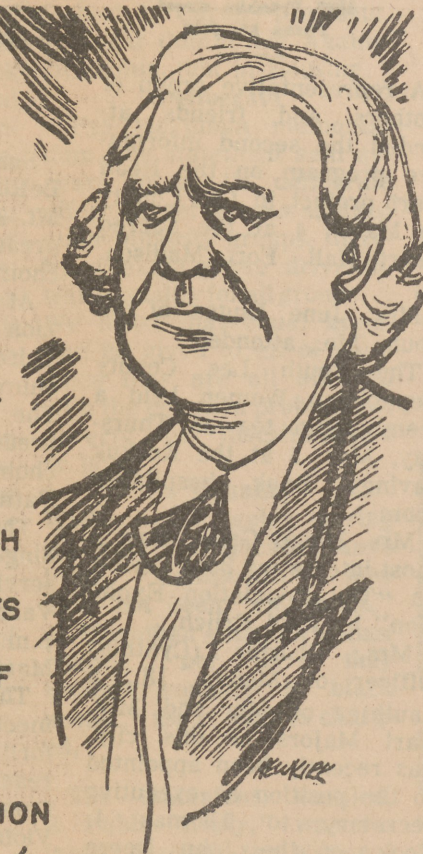

Both fires were extinguished by teachers before any damage was caused, the officers said.

In addition, officers said, windows in two doors were kicked out as students left the school about 3 p.m.

Principal Devin said there was no general dismissal of students at Callanan as a result of the fires and window-breaking.

CONTINENTAL FEATURES

Activities of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission

This week we would like to introduce to you our new Compliance Director, Robert Kammerer. Bob is a native of Sioux City, Iowa and a graduate of Central High School.

After serving two years in the Navy, Bob entered Morningside College and graduated with a major in business administration and minors in economics and sociology.

Upon completion of school, Bob went to work for George A. Hormel Company in Austin, Minn. where he worked for almost 16 years. Bob states that he had always had a desire to work with people instead of things and as a result a persistent friend urged him to go into Social Welfare work as a caseworker.

While working with the Woodbury County Department of Social Services, Bob had the opportunity to work with minority families. Because of this experience, he became concerned about changing some of the conditions under which they were forced to live. In June of 1969, Bob was promoted to the position of Reviewer with the Administrative Studies Section of the Iowa State Department of Social Services. As a result of his effective work with minority families, the Iowa Civil Rights Commission sought Kammerer for employment.

His Duties

Bob is principal assistant to Alvin Hayes, Executive Director. His work involves direct supervision of field investigators, working closely with involved parties to reconcile differences, and investigation of alleged discrimination in the areas of housing, public accommodation and employment.

Bob's wife Janis and their five children: Cheri 22, Mike 21, Kris 17, Barbara 13, and Bill 6 are Bob's main interest and all help keep things quite lively around the Kammerer household. The Iowa Civil Rights Commission is proud and happy to welcome the Kammerer's to Des Moines and to the staff.

NWB Telephone Co. Gives Report

Northwestern Bell Telephone Company added more telephones in 1969 than in any previous year and set new records by other operational measurements as well, A. F. Jacobson, president, said in the firm's Annual Report released Tuesday.

Investment

He pointed out that the Company's annual investment in telephone service facilities has more than doubled in ten years, adding: "It was $216 million in 1969, compared to $106 million in 1960. The comparison is significant; it provides some indication of the continued growth the Company is faced with and what it will take to accomplish the job ahead of us."

Telephone

Of the $216 million invested last year, $67 million was used to buy and install telephones and other equipment used by customers. More than $72 million went for equipment used in central offices and $57 million was for cable, microwave towers and other outside facilities.

Northwestern Bell's 1969 gain of 209,000 telephones was 28 per cent higher than the 1968 increase and brought the total number of telephones in service at the end of the year to 3.8 million.

with, he said, is the ego we have managed to keep through all oppression, and "the consensus of feeling" that The New Black calls "soul."

Soul, he said, is a good principle of survival; and the expressions "soul brother" and "soul sister" recognize a common, unified experience "which moves from thralldom to freedom, from freedom to power, from power to responsibility and from responsibility to creativity."

"To have soul is to be capable of making a certain emotional response to an historical experience and expressing that response in a way that evokes a similar response in someone else.

Violence Writers

Great prominence and success have come the way of a number of novelists who take large measures of sex, violence and depravity and create best-sellers. The reviewers enjoy reading the lusty pages and find and write about the "message" in the novels.

The reader also gets a bang out of the sex, perversion and degenerate way of life portrayed, and the book sells like hotcakes. Hollywood buys the book because it has a warm reputation, and the process is repeated in the film world.

The public gets what it wants. The process will continue until the public demands something better.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Is peroxide needed to color unwanted gray hair?

Hair care and beauty experts know that the first traces of gray hair—and even slight fading of natural color after chemical relaxing—can dull a woman's appearance and make her look older than she feels. While most women hate these premature aging effects, many are hesitant about using permanent peroxide haircoloring which may change the natural hair color while coloring gray.

Professionally-trained hairdressers know the importance of their customers' preferences when unwanted gray becomes a problem. These experts also know that Clairol created semi-permanent Loving Care® hair color lotion without peroxide... to color only the gray without changing the natural shade. They also find Loving Care® blends back color faded by chemical processing. Because of its mildness, Loving Care® maintains healthy looking hair and lasts through a month of shampoos. Whatever a woman's reason for wanting Loving Care® for her hair, she is always wise to consult a professional beautician. Hairdressers are equipped with a family of fine Clairol products and the training to promise each patron the loveliest and most personalized haircoloring effects every time she visits her salon. If you dislike gray, and want no peroxide, why not ask your beautician to glamorize it with Loving Care®?

Says Negroes Combated Racial Lynchings by Having Their Own

Seventh in a Series

BY LOUIS GLASS

"In all things purely social we can be as separate as the finger; but one as the hand in things pertaining to mutual progress."

These words from that famous Atlanta speech seemed to stir as much anger as the "bucket" metaphor stirred.

Some, especially northern Negroes, considered it a bow to segregation. It became known as a compromise.

No Compromise

The grim fact is there was nothing to compromise. It is true there were laws on the books granting full citizenship with all the rights of other citizens for Negroes. However, those who made those laws lived in the North. They would not be seriously affected because comparatively few Negroes lived in the north. Southerners had no intention of implementing those laws. Their slogan was "Keep the Negro in his place."

Reversed Laws

As soon as the Union army pulled out and the northern politicians had gone home southerners opened a campaign to reverse those laws, as for example the "grandfather clause."

The year before this speech was made one Negro was lynched on the average of every 36 hours. (1894). This is said to have been the peak year for lynching although it continued at a tragic pace for many years.

Having "Our Own"

It is easy to understand why any idea of integration at that time was nothing more than a wishful thinking.

Hence many of the more realistic Negroes advocated having "our own."

Although Booker T. Washington was leader of those who favored having "our own" he very definitely did not favor colonization.

When Negroes began trickling north he warned them not to concentrate in one area. He did not take Northern white people's talk too serious and he was sure that as the Negro population rose, in that ratio, bars would come up. There were a few areas that welcomed the newcomers but on the whole the white attitude ranged from cold indifference to fierce hostility.

Many who came decided that all in all their chances for advancement were as good in Dixie so they went back.

The puzzle, "Who owns the zebra?" published in the Feb. 12 issue of the Bystander on this page, generated a lot of interest and curiosity from our readers.

Last week one of the readers called the Bystander and informed us that she and a group of friends had worked out the answer. It appears above. To refresh your memory, the original puzzle appears below.

The answer above was submitted by Bertha Cas-sell, Eleanor Turner, Mike Elder, Hortense Parrish and Dave Simpson. Are yours the same?

CABINET SHELVES

About 30 minutes. Remove contents and sponge off shelves with a good, all-purpose cleaner that will cut the grease film left by cooking fumes. Return items in order.

Who Owns The Zebra?

This little puzzle is designed to test the logical mind. Both logic and deductive reasoning are necessary to find the answers. The solution will be given in the next issue.

1. There are five houses, each of a different color and inhabited by men of different nationalities, with different pets and different tastes in drinks and cigarettes.

2. The Englishman lives in the red house.

3. The Spaniard owns the dog.

4. Coffee is drunk in the green house.

5. The Ukrainian drinks tea.

6. The green house is immediately to the right (your right) of the ivory house.

7. The Old Golds smoker owns snails.

8. Kools are smoked in the yellow house.

9. Milk is drunk in the middle house.

10. The Norwegian lives in the first house on the left.

11. The man who smokes Chesterfields lives in the house next to the man with the fox.

12. Kools are smoked in the house next to the house where the horse is kept.

13. The Lucky Strike smoker drinks orange juice.

14. The Japanese smokes Parliaments.

15. The Norwegian lives next to the blue house.

Now, who drinks water? Who owns the zebra?

Pictures of the Jack and Jill teens and the 11 to 13 group stuffing the Easter Seal envelopes and accompanying story appeared in the Mar. 6 edition of the Des Moines Tribune, and was written by Eleanor E. SENSIBLE RULE ABOUT PICKETING

When the management of Grigors Store on Forest Avenue appealed to the police department to prevent pickets from standing in front of their store, parading and blocking customers from coming in, they were told that the pickets had a right to do it.

This seemed unfair law that a man did not have a right to protect his property even though the mischief was being done at a distance on public property or on some other person's property.

Since the U. S. Labor Board has been in existence seemingly it made little effort to be impartial between labor and management. On the other hand, they did not hesitate to misuse management in order to side with labor. And yet they were set up as a quasi judicial body designed to be fair to each side.

Monday, the Supreme Court in a 6-2 decision, retained a ban against picketing by a retail clerks union on a sidewalk near a drugstore and supermarket in Mobile Ala.

It said further: "The protection of private property whether a home, factory, or store, through trespass laws is historically a concern of state laws", the chief Justice wrote. "Congress has never undertaken to alter this allocation of power..."

The action of the board illustrates how wrong it is to throw its weight unduly toward labor or management for it runs counter to the theory that cases should be decided on the evidence and that each side is entitled to equal protection of the law.

We hope there will be no further incidents in Des Moines. However, the Supreme Court has said that a man has a right to protect his property and the states should help him.

ANTI-INTEGRATIONISTS ARE BIG LAW VIOLATORS

There are those, including some members of Congress, who feel that the enforcement of laws which benefit the Negro slaps at the South. The recent "gains" by the South which asked the justice department to enforce desegregation in the North as well in the South was hailed a great victory but the record shows that much of it is in reverse.

A rider was voted to the new HEW bill which forbade the use of any of the funds appropriated to pay for bussing to secure integration. That went big with some members of Congress, even from Iowa, as they voted for it.

Anyone acquainted with school operations knows that bussing students for one reason or another has been going on for years all over the country.

And an investigation by the HEW shows that as high as 98 per cent of the students in some parishes in Louisiana, are bused to avoid integration.

These same people who continue to defy the courts are the loudest cryers for law and order.

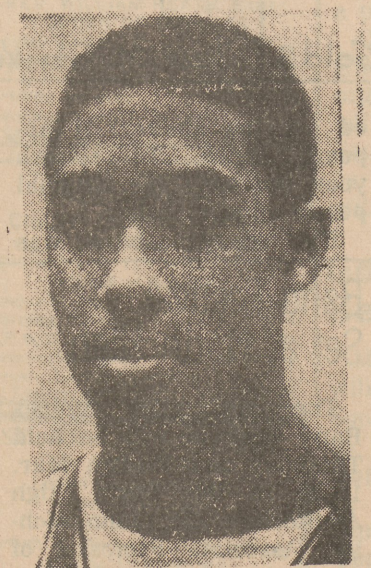

Segregation must go because it is wasteful, self-defeating and denies the segregated equal protection of the law and has contributed materially to the lack of progress the Negro could have made had his chances been equal. Separatists among Negroes refuse to see it differently. Their views are unsound and self-defeating also.

PRISON REFORMS

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has urged that the states develop simple methods for hearing "promptly, fully and fairly" the grievances of prisoners. The Chief Justice said such a step would reduce the flood of state cases coming to Federal courts and the "unhappy tensions" they cause.

Florence Repeats On All City Cage Roster

Bob Florence, North High's all star and all-city scorer, was the only prep cager to repeat on The Tribune's all Metro-

Bob Florence, Metropolitan Conference basketball team named last Thursday.

Florence was called his coach, "the best player in the city." In addition to the Polar Bear's one-game, one-season and career records, the 6-foot 2-inch Florence has the highest average of any city player in history -- 33 points!

His 58 points in a game this season also is a city record. His 1,037 three-year total is second on the all-time list, behind only Toby Houston of last year's Roosevelt.

A teammate, Chuck Freeman, was named to the second team along with Rocky Hunt of East High.

Receiving honorable mention were Florence's twin brother, Bill, and another teammate, Grant Swartz.

6 Black Cagers to Look All America

NEW YORK -- Six black college stars -- including diminutive Calvin Murphy who was picked for the third time -- were named to the Look All America basketball team.

The 10-man squad, chosen by the United States Basketball Writers Association, was announced today in the current issue of Look Magazine.

Other black players chosen were: Charlie Scott, North Carolina; Bob Lanier, St. Bonaventure; Austin Carr, Carr, Notre Dame; Jim Collins, New Mexico State, and Sidney Wicks, UCLA.

Sgt. Darden Wins Military Bowling

S/Sgt. Dude Darden of Davis-Monthan AFB, Tucson, the winner of the all-events of the World Military Bowling Classic at Las Vegas' Showboat Hotel in January, received an all-expenses-paid trip from Miller Brewing Co., to compete in the Miller Open in Milwaukee in February.

The 33-year-old Darden, who has appeared in three previous PBA meets, performed very respectably. He survived the first cut, which halved the field, and averaged a shade under 200 for 24 games.

Walt Frazier, Knick 'Super Star' Joins Firm

New York -- Walt Frazier, star of the New York Knicks, has joined Beauty Master, Inc., distributors of Black Heritage grooming products for men and women, as Assistant Vice President.

Beauty Masters, Inc., which was formed several months ago to manufacture and market grooming products exclusively for the Negro market under the Black Heritage trademark became a publicly owned (over-the-counter) company in February.

With Allen Ashby

Last week, in our story about wrestling, we got one of our names wrong. We called Jay Howard Jay Neal. That shows what can happen when you trust your memory. No, we didn't get a flock of calls about it; it occurred to us after it was too late to make any correction. Then, while we are about it, there was a fellow named Sharp at East High who was quite a grappler. Probably the first black one of note at that school.

Basketball

Our basketball teams have done all right as we write this, but we can't wait to see how they have come out in their regional meets. They picked the all American teams, and we don't see how they left off this guy Gilmore of Jacksonville. It would be our guess that there will be a lot of fellows seen in these tournaments who will make one wonder about the all American selections. That is the longest tournament I ever saw. And here at home, we have the girls and boys tournaments, and you can take your pick. There aren't too many black girls in the meet here because there isn't any girls basketball program in our larger cities. Here we used to have a girls team and they played pretty well, but were forced to compete against boys. If we had girl's basketball or track in our city high schools, we could more than likely uncover some real black athletes.

When one tries to teach them tennis, the best players are the ones who can do almost anything, and they don't stick to tennis. That is exactly the same problem we have with boys who play tennis. We can think of a number of fellows who we think are good tennis players, and also good boxers, baseball, basketball players or what have you. We aren't sure who will be here in the boys meet, but we shall be watching with more than passing interest. Now, while we are on basketball, we wonder just how much the crowd does help the home team. Sometimes they make the visiting team mad, and the reaction backfires, by making the fellows play harder.

But you would be surprised at the number of people who actually believe that the home team gets all the breaks and the best of the officiating. Those guys are picked for their honesty as well as their ability. They get so much per game or season, and they couldn't care less who wins.

Little Tricks

But home team coaches have little tricks to get the crowd on the officials. They will stand up at a foul call and shake their heads. They will hold up their palms in gestures of despair, even when they know the call was right. You don't have to say a thing that might bring on a technical foul, but everybody in the house who understands the game knows what is going on.

We do think that a crowd can be prevented from throwing things onto the playing floor if they are warned in advance that the first such happening will bring a foul on the crowd. Nobody wants to see his team penalized.

We were interested in the comments about Drake coach John the other day. A writer wondered how he kept harmony on a team in these

BANANA HOT BOGS—FOOD FOR A HUNGRY WORLD?

Hunger is one of the world's crushing problems. And the rumbles of the population explosion keep increasing at a terrifying pace.

Drastic new ways to develop food have to be found fast. Millions of people are starving in underdeveloped parts of the world. But even in the richest countries such as the United States millions more are seriously undernourished. Pockets of hunger are scattered across the globe.

Crushed Leaves

Someday—perhaps soon—people in hunger pockets may ward off malnutrition by eating certain crushed leaves and weeds that contain large amounts of water. According to a recent article in the Journal of the American Medical Association, these leaves and weeds are growing wild throughout much of the world.

Cheese Like

Small experimental machines that crush the weeds and extract protein from them are already being tested. The extracted protein is processed into a food with a cheese-like texture but no taste. English biochemists working on the project suggest banana as a good flavoring. Banana-flavored hot dogs—made of weed protein not meat—may be the answer to hunger, they say, in many parts of the world.

TB Germs

However it is done, the problem has to be solved. Hunger and poverty are the basis for despair—and disease. Tuberculosis germs, for example, thrive under conditions of inadequate diet, crowded housing conditions, and poor general health. Like hunger, the problem of TB is worldwide.

There are ways to fight hunger. And they must be found. There are also ways to treat—even prevent—TB. Check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association for more information.

They have the facts.

days of tension among black athletes. The answer that he never let anybody think he was anything but a basketball player was the key to a whole lot of problems plaguing school teams today. We can recall when some of our pool hall coaches and sidewalk critics were saying that the guy wasn't playing his best five because most of them were black.

We wondered about that, having in mind the formula so often used by some coaches. Two at home, three on the road, and everybody when you get far enough behind. But we never heard any of the players say that was the case at Drake. So we would just have to say that the fellow must be all right. At least, that is what the fellows, black and white, say.

This recalls our talk with a coach last fall who was a personal friend of ours. He wanted to know what to do about those long hair wearing black boys on his squad. He was reminded to tell them to get haircuts or quit. Well, he was reminded that those football helmets are meant to fit close to the head in order to give maximum protection.

With long hair, they wouldn't fit close to the head. And sometime during the season some guy was going to get clouted upside the dome, and that helmet was going to jump and probably cut the wearer. Then he would be glad to see that it fit close to his head from then on. Well we noticed the coach never had any problems all season, so things must have worked out all right. Maybe John has a good advisor along with some good common sense.

Social Security

Health, Education Welfare

"Disabled persons may be cheating themselves out of a source of income," according to Leo W. Smith, District Manager of the Des Moines social security office. Disability benefits have been paid since 1957, but some disabled people still wait too long before visiting a social security office.

Under 65

Benefits because of disability can now be paid to disabled workers under 65 and to some members of their families; dependent children who were disabled before reaching age 18, and certain disabled widows and widowers between the age of 50 and 60.

Cannot Work

A person is considered "disabled" if he cannot work because of a severe physical or mental impairment that has lasted or is expected to last for 12 months or longer. Disability benefits can be paid even if you expect to recover and go back to work as long as your impairment is severe enough to keep you from working for at least 12 months.

Widows

For disabled workers and severely disabled widows and widowers, there is a waiting period of six full months before benefits can

WHAT IS RACE?

Please tell me what is race? Does it concern just the color of your face? My heart and mind will always strive To know the reason hate survives.

As I lay in my bed, I hope that hate will soon be dead. And son the day will come When we will live as one.

No more black, No more white, Never again will we fight.

Hand in hand We'll walk the land Black with white Doing what's right.

Again to you I ask Please tell me what is race? For it seems like an impossible task For black and white to face. Ron Jeffrey, Omaha, Nebr.

FOLKS ARE FUNNY THAT WAY

Strangely enough the folks most apt to lend a hand to you, Are those who are already rushed with countless things to do. And should bad luck befall you and misfortune smack you prone, The ones who'll help you most are those with troubles of their own. The folks whose sunny slant on life helps heal its smart and stings Are often those who know first-hand the seamy side of things; And he was right, it seems, who said that life is what you make it. It's not so much what happens, as the way in which you take it. —Mutual Moments

Central College Wrestlers in Tourney

These three former Des Moines East High Schools athletes led Central College wrestlers into last weekend's Iowa Conference tourney. They are (left to right) Tony Wilson, son of Mrs. Elvora Tolson, 1277 E. 18th; Bill Jewett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Jewett, 1509 Walker; and John Burt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burt, 1135 Pine. Jewett and Wilson are juniors at Central while Burt is a sophomore. The three have the team's best records in dual meet competition this year, compiling a combined total of 43 wins and 21 losses.

Central's wrestlers scored only 21 points, but that was enough for a fourth place tie in the Iowa conference.

begin. It is not necessary to delay filing an application during this waiting period. It is important to apply for benefits promptly because a delay could cause you to lose some benefits.

In the case of persons disabled since childhood, benefits begin when a parent who has worked long enough under social security dies or becomes entitled to retirement or disability benefits.

Payments can continue as long as the disability continues to prevent you from working. At age 65, payments to disabled workers are converted to retirement benefits without any change in amount.

For more information or for help in making application for disability benefits, visit or call your social security office located in Room 293 of the Federal Building at 210 Walnut Street in Des Moines, telephone 284-4500.
