Cut Off U. S. Funds to Oakridge Nixon Unveils Integration Plan

$1.5 Billion Aid to 'Racially Impacted' Public Schools

By Staff Writer
Washington, D. C. — President Nixon unveiled his long awaited, long forecasted plan for integration in the U. S. public schools Tuesday. It was an imposing 8,000-word statement. If you boiled it all down to a nutshell, as creative writers are often told to do, it would say, everyone has the right to do as he pleases, choose or reject his companions of their children's companions -- even in the public schools.

Racially Impacted
Chiefly, President Nixon proposed two-year spending of $1.5 billion to help with problems in "racially impacted" schools. He also restated his opposition to compulsory student busing to achieve racial balance and urged that school boards be given wide latitude provided they act in good faith to carry out the law.

No Busing
In his statement on school desegregation, President Nixon said Tuesday: "He will divert $500 million from the part of his fiscal 1971 budget to help pay costs of court-ordered desegregation and of upgrading education in 'racially impacted areas.' A sum of $1 billion will be budgeted for that purpose in fiscal 1972."

The administration will not force school districts to adopt busing plans to end racial segregation of schools unless it is ordered by the courts.

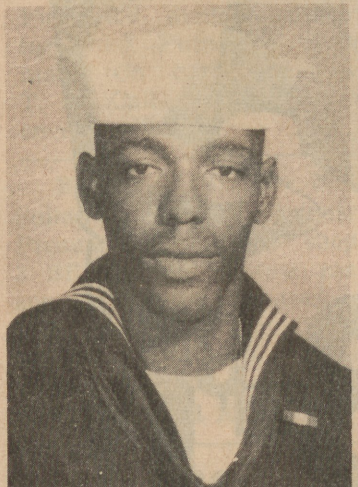

School systems in all regions of the country must move immediately to end segregation of teachers on the basis of race.

The administration will insist on an end to de jure segregation, or segregation as a result of discriminatory laws or practices, without insisting on an end to de

Mrs. King to Get 'Distinction' Award Apr. 7

MEDFORD, Mass. — Mrs. Coretta Scott King, wife of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., will receive the Jackson Award of Distinction, April 7, at

MRS. CORRETTA KING

Tufts University, which carries a $1,000 honorarium.

She was chosen by the 1,000 students at Jackson College (women's college at Tufts) as "the woman who has made significant contributions to her field and who we would most like to emulate."

Her return to Boston will bear many memories as it was here in 1952 that she met Martin Luther King, Jr., then a doctoral candidate at Boston University Theological School. Educated at Antioch College, she studied voice at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

Racial Separation No Answer Says Fed. Judge

Greensboro, N. C. — Embracing the concept of racial separation will not solve the nation's major problems during the 1970's, according to A. Leon Higginbotham, a black Federal District Court Judge from Philadelphia.

project when the first issue of Amistad — the first black-oriented literary magazine in book format — is released on April 6. Edited by Charles F. Harris, a senior editor at Random House, and John A. Williams, author of The Man Who Cried I Am and other novels, the magazine is planned for bi-annual publication during 1970, with the expectation that it will become a quarterly thereafter. It will be issued in the format of the Random House Vintage Books, and will sell at $1.95 per copy.

"Daddy Was A Number Runner," by Louise Meriwether, to be published Apr. 29, 208 pages, $4.95; Watts Writers' Workshop first novel tells the story of an 11-year-old black girl.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Pittsburgh, Pa. — Kenneth Hawthorne, has been appointed advisor on the staff of Gulf's Worldwide Marketing co-ordinator. He formerly was Pennsylvania Turnpike supervisor for the same company.

New York, N. Y. — Keith E. Lewis, a 15-year-old member of the North Omaha, Nebr., Gene Eppley Boys' Club, branch of the Boys clubs of Omaha, won Regional honors in the 24th annual "Boy of the Year," competition of the Boys club of American. He now moves to Washington, where, in special White House ceremonies, President Nixon will announce and "install" the national "Boy of the Year" who receives a $4,000 scholarship.

Omaha, Nebr. — Harold G. Horton, is a sales representative at Rapid Printing Company here and is attending National Business College, studying accounting.

Kansas City, Kans. — Mrs. Roberta D. Aikens, outstanding businesswoman and community worker, was named to the Douglass State Bank Advisory Board in action taken Feb. 11 by the bank's officers and board of directors.

Washington, D. C. — The front page article "American Negro Makes Progress Despite Some U. S. Racial Polarization," published in the Minneapolis Spokesman Feb. 26 was inserted in the March 3 edition of the Congressional Record.

Kansas City, Mo. — The Kansas City Call will celebrate its 50th anniversary on Apr. 24 with a dinner. Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be guest speaker.

Girl, 3, Burned Still in Hospital

A 3-year-old girl who was burned while apparently playing with matches, remained in satisfactory condition earlier this week at Mercy Hospital.

Teresa Brown, daughter of Mrs. Armilla Brown of 933 18th street, suffered third degree burns on her chest, back and right arm last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Randall Cason, who lives in another apartment at the 18th street address, said she takes the girl to a babysitter after Mrs. Brown goes to work. She said she left the girl in the Cason apartment to go outside to start her car and when she returned, Teresa was "in the hallway, she was burning."

Mrs. Cason said the girl apparently set her clothing on fire with a book of matches that was on a living room table. She rolled the girl on the floor to extinguish the flames, she said.

Move Taken Because of "Uncertain Plans" of North-South Freeway

Because of uncertainty over the proposed north-south freeway, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has cut off funds for rehabilitation of some homes in the Oakridge Urban Renewal area.

Max Krumry, urban renewal director, said Saturday word of the federal fund cutoff came last month and that residents of the area affected have been notified of the decision.

Persons Affected
The fund cut off affects persons owning property along 19th street and Harding road, between MacVicar Freeway and University avenue.

The area is part of the Oakridge rehabilitation area, in which a few homes were torn down and low-interest federal loans were available for persons wishing to fix up the other homes.

The order to stop rehabilitation loans and grants to the area was made by Thomas Kilbride, assistant regional administrator for renewal assistance in Chicago.

Not Affected
The order does not affect the area east of Nineteenth street to Good Park, which is also a part of the rehabilitation area Krumry said.

Max Dossey, rehabilitation administrator for the Oakridge area, said there are 56 homes in the area affected by the federal order, and 21 of those homes still need rehabilitation.

The remaining homes have been rehabilitated, either with federal money or private financing. There are also about a dozen vacant lots in the area that the city has been trying to sell as sites for new homes.

Robert Mickle, director of the Central Iowa Regional Planning Commission, said the Des Moines City Council will have a recommendation from his group within two months on whether a freeway or an expanded street system is needed in the area.

Minorities Represent 11% of New Apprentices

WASHINGTON — More than 8,000 apprentices from minority groups represented a record 11 percent of the 73,000 new apprentices admitted to registered programs throughout the Nation in 1969, Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz has announced.

20,000 Total
The influx of new apprentices, less graduates and dropouts, brought to more than 20,000 the total of new and previously admitted minority participants working and learning in registered programs during 1969.

Two Labor Department-financed, entry-assistance programs accounted for more than 5,100 of the 8,000 new apprentices from minority groups.

Outreach Programs
The Secretary said that the 63 apprenticeship outreach programs accounted for 3,300 of the new apprentices and the 35 apprenticeship information centers channeled another 1,800 during the year. The balance of 2,900 was recruited independently by program sponsors.

Preliminary estimates from Federal and State sources indicated that there were 255,000 apprentices in programs registered with the Labor Department or with State apprenticeship agencies. This number represents all apprentices, new and ongoing, in the various periodic steps of apprenticeship which averages four years per man in the great majority of programs.

Up 4 Per Cent
Secretary Schultz pointed out that the percentage of minorities now in all ongoing registered programs was nearly 8 percent compared to the 4.4 percent during 1966.

About one half of the minorities registered were Negro; the balance was made up mostly from Spanish-speaking Americans, and about one percent of the total number of minorities was Indian and Oriental.

Kansan to Head D.M.'s Office of Youth Affairs

Anthony W. Gales, 30, of Topeka, Kan., has been named director of the city's new Office of Youth Affairs.

Gales, whose annual salary will be $9,380, will co-ordinate summer youth employment programs for the city, including the federally financed Neighborhood Youth Corps and privately supported Community Improvement, Inc.

Establishment of a youth affairs office here was authorized by the Des Moines City Council last December. Total cost will be $37,500, with $25,000 of it supplied by a federal grant.

A full-time assistant to Gales, a secretary and some summer help will be added later, according to Assistant City Manager Charles Morrison. Activities of the youth affairs will be aimed at the 13 to 19 age group.

Employment
One of Gales' duties, he said, will be to prepare a brochure outlining youth employment and recreation opportunities that are available here.

Any group wishing to have its youth activities listed in the brochure should contact Gales, who is being assigned to the city manager's office.

Gales was field representative in charge of employment for the Topeka Human Relations Commission for two years before coming here. Prior to that he was a tire builder for Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. at Topeka.

Nixon Plans New Drive For Black Capitalism

Washington, D. C. — In a special message last Friday President Nixon renewed his black capitalism theme by requesting Congress to help strengthen the Office of Minority Business Enterprise and small business in general.

He asked Congress to approve a far-reaching legislative program that would enable the government to subsidize high-interest loans to small businesses and offer loans to small enterprises.

Another recommendation would permit corporations or others to claim ordinary income tax deductions for contributions to the establishment of minority enterprise small business investment companies on a non-profit basis. The federal government contributes $2 for each $1 put into such organizations by the private sector.

Mr. Nixon used the black capitalism theme in his 1968 presidential campaign and it was prominent early in his administration, but critics have charged him in recent months with slackening off on efforts to encourage the growth of Negro owned business.

Black Studies Set For Mt. Holyoke

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. — Mount Holyoke College announced Friday, March 20, that its faculty has voted to establish a department of black studies at the all-girl college in a co-operative program with other area colleges. Mount Holyoke co-operates with Smith College, Amherst College, the University of Massachusetts and the newly created Hampshire College in other academic areas.

Ask for Holiday On King Birthday

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Petitions with more than six million names of persons who want to make Martin Luther King's birthday a national holiday were deposited Tuesday on the desk of Representative John Conyers (Dem., Mich.).

Conyers and Representative Shirley Chisholm (Dem., N.Y.) told a news conference they will seek hearings shortly on Conyers' bill to create the holiday.

facto segregation, or segregation resulting from housing patterns.

Desegregation policies will be pursued with equal vigor in the north as well as the south.

The government will not attempt to establish an "arbitrary" racial balance in the nation's school systems.

In communities where racial imbalance in schools is a result of housing patterns, the government will attempt to upgrade the educational quality of predominantly black schools.

School districts under court desegregation orders acting in good faith to end de jure segregation will be allowed latitude in considering cost, capacity and convenience for pupils and parents in drawing up desegregation plans.

Schools will not be expected to achieve "the kind of a multiracial society which the adult community has failed to achieve for itself."

Richard (Rocky) Pritchard, one of the disc jockeys, and a former member of the Spartan band, says the station made big switch from classical music to keep up with the times, and to provide radio listeners with the kind of contemporary music that is wanted.

If rock music is your bag, KFMG has lots of it. But if that's not your bag, there's plenty of soul music, if you can pull it in from some of the larger cities. And Chuck Hollaway.

Should you drink beer straight from the bottle?

If you're on a blanket party or something, carrying along a glass is pretty clumsy. But when it's convenient, we think it's a shame not to use one. Keeping Budweiser inside the bottle or can is missing half the fun.

Those tiny bubbles getting organized at the top of your glass have a lot to do with taste and aroma. Most beers have carbonation pumped in mechanically. Not Budweiser. We go to a barrel of trouble and expense to let Budweiser create its own bubbles with the natural carbonation of Beechwood Ageing. So you really can't blame us for wanting you to get it at its best, can you?

Just for fun, pour your next four or five bottles of Bud into a glass. If you don't agree that the extra taste, clarity and aroma make a big difference, go back to the bottle. We won't say another word.

Budweiser is the King of Beers.

Judge Carswell Opposition Grows

Washington, D. C. — The ground swell of opposition to the confirmation of Judge Harold G. Carswell to the United States Supreme Court increased over the week, as the debate got underway in the Senate.

A protest ad appeared in the Washington Post and in papers in six states, has been signed by more than 450 of the nation's leading lawyers, deans of law schools and professors of law.

All of the professors of the Law school at the University of Iowa came out in opposition to Judge Carswell over the weekend. In addition, nine members of the Florida State University Law school faculty in Tallahassee, Fla., Carswell's home town, asked President Nixon to withdraw the nomination.

During a conference of 40 black elected Republican officials here recently, they went on record as recommending unanimously that Judge Carswell be rejected as a Supreme Court nominee.

Nevertheless, Senator Jack Miller, Rep., Ia., made public the fact that he plans to vote for Judge Carswell's confirmation.

Youth on Parade

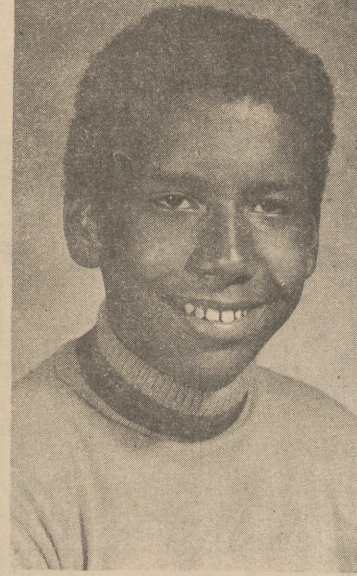

This is the 13th series of articles featuring senior and junior high school students in Iowa. There is no special qualification except being a deserving person.

This week we present Jan Archer, who at the tender age of 13 might be considered a world traveler.

Later this week he will return from California where he traveled with the 12-member YMCA chorus-board on a 10-day educational and concert tour. As a longtime member of the YM Bellringers chorus, Jan traveled last year with the group to Central America and Mexico. Previously the group has made trips to various parts of the United States each spring, including Florida and Washington, D.C.

In addition Jan is vice-president of the student council at Sacred Heart School in West Des Moines, assistant editor of the school paper and chairman of the sports activity committee. He is also president of the 11 to 13 group of the Des Moines chapter of Jack and Jill of America, Inc.

Currently he is a group member of Leader in Training, a program sponsored by the Bell Ringers. He enjoys basketball, swimming, bowling, horseback riding, tennis, skating and

Drug Education Program Launched In D. M. Schools

How to communicate with all levels of students about the dangers of drug use is a problem plaguing all educators.

Recognizing the immediate need for a comprehensive and effective drug education program in Des Moines,
Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dwight M. Davis has appointed a special committee to deal with the problem.

Committee
Headed by Dr. E. Keith Hyde, director of curriculum planning and Dr. Norman White, director of physical education, health education, and safety, the Drug Education Committee is charged with the responsibility for developing a program of instruction to be implemented at the elementary, junior and senior high school levels in all Des Moines schools.

The custom of giving the hand to bind a bargain originated in the Biblical Book of Kings, when Jehonadab gave his hand to Jehu in order to prove to him the justice of his cause.

Rap Brown Judge Removes Self From Trial Case

Bel Air, Md. - Circuit
Court Judge Harry E. Dyer,
Jr., ordered the trial of H.
Rap Brown removed Mar.
18 from his jurisdiction.

Judge Dyer signed the order transferring the trial on charges of arson and inciting to riot to Howard county which is on the southwest side of the city.

Judge Dyer had rejected previously a motion by William M. Kunstler, Brown's lawyer to transfer the trial from Bel Air because a car had exploded nearby the week before, killing two of Brown's friends.

Take Your Medicine

Here's to those who have nothing to say, and who can't be persuaded to say it.

Diner: "Do you serve crabs?"
Waiter: "What'll you have? We serve anybody."

Authorities: public officials who, at critical times, always claim they have no authority.

Sign in a laundry: "We soak the clothes - not the customer."

One thing you can't deny: at Williams Pharmacy, 1103 University Ave. Phone 243-1253, there's always a pharmacist who is ready to provide prompt service.

Many self-made men should deny it.

I ENCOUNTERED DR. AND MRS. STANLEY GRIFFIN at the Martin Luther King Film showing at The Plaza! I asked if I might phone her at home for a comment. Edna had this to say: "I am glad that I went for two reasons: First, to do my share in support of The King Memorial; Second, to keep me from forgetting why there are so many bitter, black, young people today!"

SINCE EDNA GRIFFIN AND I are the only people not yet asleep (1:00 a.m.) may I voice my feelings about the King Film? "I am warmed to be reminded of the philosophies of this great, black leader. I thank the Galaxy and Plaza theater owners for giving this site for its showing. And then, all over gain, I draw to myself those memories of warmth, strength, courage, determination and the many other superior qualities which were the man, Dr. Martin Luther King. Absorption of these thoughts, acceptance of that friendship which is offered, will help make what small contributions I can to change the realities of those burdens we all bear."

TWO FRIENDS SHARE THESE LOVELY THOUGHTS: "It was tremendous; it was something everyone should see and should be shown again and again, to remind people what he stood for. We all know there was much more that happened. But just enough was shown that would not excite anyone. I was moved. It was really a reminder (that because of all these other things) we have now what has happened since."

I felt that as you really view this man, it just comes right through to you. His people inspired him as well as he inspired them. I know they still feel the same way. You wonder how they could go back time after time. He must have truly led them, really gave them strength.

Because looking at it, you would say, "I would want to be in anything like that." Yet he would do the same thing over again and succeed."

It was beautifully presented. I shall never forget Ely Landau. ALLAN DOWNEY IS QUIETLY learning all of what show business is about. In the "Celebration" which closed Sunday night at the Drama Workshop, he served as an apprentice director. He has appeared in so many productions, that now there is time to master the other side of theater life.

ANN DOWNEY (MRS.

ALLAN) is always involved in some part of show business -- stage part, or a role in a play reading. At the "Celebration" Cast Party she was attired in still another of her many creations. I was equally captivated by her silver jewelry -- earrings and long chain necklace.

THE FACE OF JOE COMITO seemed familiar somehow! Of course, he is one of Freda Nahas' young actors at Dowling High. He also appeared in a summer show at The Playhouse. Charming youngster!

NANCY LINK (Mrs. LARRY) whom you've met at Drama Workshop or at Key Associates, Inc. is our mini artist mentioned before. At the Cast Party she wore a white wool, crocheted mini "Romeo and Juliet" dress. The dress had a boat neck, full bell sleeves and skirt and was the needlework of her mother-in-law.

SEEING MARY AND KENTON VIERS, of Maxwell, Iowa, was real fun. Mary formerly was on the staff of The Nevada Journal, but left her position when the two moved to Minneapolis. Upon their return the two took jobs in a bank! These two are always involved in something interesting!

JESSE FRAZIER, NOW SEMI-RETIRED is living it up at Grandview Junior College. By this I mean what a pleasant way to retire -- living every day on campus with young people. Listen to this! On his birthday recently, as he entered the study room in Old Maine, the young folks burst into song -- "Happy Birthday, Canonball." He was 70 years old. For his birthday he had happened to wear his "in-betweens" -- meaning slacks, sport coat and hat. Rarely wears a hat. Luckily, for the surprise party. Jesse deserves all his friends, he is sincere and always good humored!

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Is peroxide needed to color unwanted gray hair?

Hair care and beauty experts know that the first traces of gray hair—and even slight fading of natural color after chemical relaxing—can dull a woman's appearance and make her look older than she feels. While most women hate these premature aging effects, many are hesitant about using permanent peroxide haircoloring which may change the natural hair color while coloring gray.

Professionally-trained hairdressers know the importance of their customers' preferences when unwanted gray becomes a problem. These experts also know that Clairol created semi-permanent Loving Care® hair color lotion without peroxide... to color only the gray without changing the natural shade. They also find Loving Care blends back color faded by chemical processing. Because of its mildness, Loving Care maintains healthy looking hair and lasts through a month of shampoos.

Whatever a woman's reason for wanting Loving Care for her hair, she is always wise to consult a professional beautician. Hairdressers are equipped with a family of fine Clairol products and the training to promise each patron the loveliest and most personalized haircoloring effects every time she visits her salon. If you dislike gray, and want no peroxide, why not ask your beautician to glamorize it with Loving Care?

Booklets of Poetry by Black Writers Circulated by Library

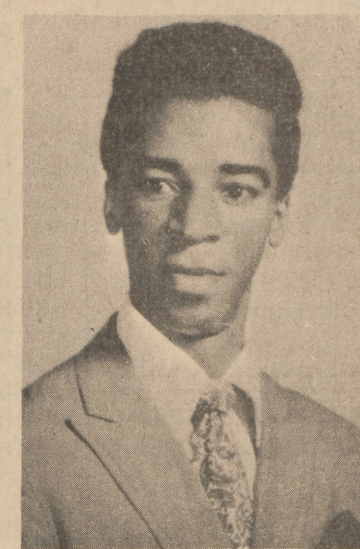

VICTOR HAWTHORNE

A booklet of poems by three Des Moines young black authors, one a professional, has been published here by the Des Moines Public Library.

Titled, "Reflections at Nightfall," the poems will be on circulation free through the Des Moines libraries and have been copyrighted by the authors, who are Miss Eleanor E. Tate (the professional), Victor D. Hawthorne and Frederic Harris. The poems are bound in an attractive red cover.

Miss Tate has been writing poetry and short stories for the past 10 years. Her first publication appeared in the national magazine Student Writer. The 1969 literary winner in one of Drake University's magazines, she placed in the 1969 Iowa Poetry Association Contest. She has had her works published in various magazines, the most recent of which is Healthways Magazine in its April (1970) issue, and has participated in a number of literary speaking engagements here in the state. She is employed by the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

Mr. Harris, 934 10th street, is a native of Des Moines and is best remembered for his composition and tribute in song to the late President John F. Kennedy, "That Eternal Flame," published in 1965 by Preview Record Company in Hollywood, and sung by Rodd Keith. He attended mostly Catholic schools here. After leaving Dowling he went into the service. After returning he took a business course at AIB and is now employed

Suspend Seven U.N.I. Students After Sit-In

Cedar Falls, Ia. -- Seven University of Northern Iowa students have been suspended temporarily from the school for participating in a 17-hour sit-in last week at the home of the university's president.

The suspensions were disclosed by Dean of Student's Edward Voldseth and associate dean of students Mavis Holmes, who said Dr. J. W. Maucker, U.N.I. president, concurred with the action. The students were not named.

The suspensions will be in force pending an investigation of the incident and a hearing before a disciplinary action committee.

The sit-in began about 10 p.m. Mar. 16 when nine members of the U.N.I. Afro-American Society came to Dr. Maucker's home to seek his written commitment that another home on the campus could be used as a culture house for minorities. They were joined by more students, both black and white.

SADDLING UNIVERSITY AREA WITH TROUBLE

A few weeks ago, it was announced that two drug addict centers were planned for Des Moines, one in the University Avenue area for heroine addicts, which was claimed most prevalent among Negroes (A Jim Crow center, of course) and one in another area for marijuana users who are predominantly white, they said.

We never heard of such a slick way of setting up separate but unequal facilities which would be more expensive than a well equipped center for all drug users.

We thought the idea was dead until some citizens in the neighborhood of 13th and Ascension inquired of the Bystander if a proposed Negro drug center to be established in the neighborhood, could be blocked.

Upon inquiry, it appears that the center is well in the making even though consultation with Negro citizens has been hushed and meager, nor has any consideration been given to residents of the area who don't want to be saddled with further magnets to draw undesirable flies to the community.

It is always puzzling how easy it has been to sell the dispensers of government gifts on setting up some kind of a makeshift project for Negroes just to say something is being done for the poor. They generally have wound up in shacks.

There has been little effort to sound out the feasibility of this project in spite of the fact that the public generally should be advised and their wishes known and considered.

THE POST STRIKE IS VICIOUS

Who ever dreamed that mail carriers would be on strike in the United States blocking the orderly flow of mail and discommoding 200 million people.

Who ever thought that after taking the oath to carry out their obligations including the law against strikes and provisions in the postal workers union contract and yet they are on strike today.

Who ever thought that thousands of people would thumb their noses at federal judges and the Court and say to hell with your orders?

Well, that is where we are today. And we are there because we have coddled and cooed over so many people about their rights that too many have chosen to take the law in their own hands. And many of these strikes are among those who have deplored the unruly among the militants demanding their observance of law and order.

The postal workers say they have a grievance against Congress which after all fixes their salaries. Its members have voted fabulous raises in salary for themselves and the higher ups in the executive branch of the government but have not met their commitments to them.

This the general public does not know about. It has not been denied. But we are unwilling to concede that about four per cent of the nation should tie up the mails and otherwise discommode the other 96 per cent. A sound solution must be worked out at once.

And now that the President is carrying out his responsibility by calling out troops to help get the mail moving, some politicians like Arthur Goldberg, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York, are calling the action unnecessary just as President Eisenhower was criticized for sending troops to Little Rock to enforce court decisions. Such criticism is foolish and tends to make law violators more brazen knowing they will be defended by a lot of "smart" people.

College Coaches Name Basketball's All-Time All-American

NEW YORK, -- Oscar Robertson (Cincinnati), Bill Russell (San Francisco), Jerry West (West Virginia), Elgin Baylor (Idaho and Seattle) and Lew Alcindor (UCLA) make up college basketball's all-time All-American team, according to a poll of more than 100 of the nation's top college coaches appearing in the current issue of SPORT magazine.

The coaches, asked to vote by position, made Robertson and West runaway winners at the guard slots, with Oscar receiving the most mention in the SPORT poll. However, they refused to choose between Russell and Alcindor at center, naming them both to the first squad. Baylor, who completes the top five, also won out by a comfortable margin.

Vernon Hill Found Innocent of Assault

Vernon Hill, 32, of 1536 13th street, was found innocent of assault and battery in a trial by Municipal Court Judge Luther T. Glanton Friday.

Hill was charged with assaulting Patrolman David Thomas in an incident near Griger's Food Fair, 1307 Forest Avenue. Hill testified he felt Thomas was about to strike him and acted in self-defense.

Judge Glanton said the circumstances surrounding the altercation were confusing and that Hill had not been proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

IOWA BASKETBALL GOOD FOR US ALL

The people of Iowa have every reason to be proud of its basketball prowess as demonstrated by Iowa University winning the Big Ten championship and Drake the Missouri Valley.

And this followed by successful high school boys and girls tournaments which brought to Des Moines enthusiastic well coached teams which give good account of themselves.

We have often wondered at the lack of Iowa players on the Iowa first string college teams especially in view of the powerful youngsters who appeared in the high school teams last week.

And yet when the line up of many of the national tournament teams were announced, they too were stocked with players from outside states.

Of course, there is terrific competition for good athletes today and even the smaller schools have excellent offers for promising material.

The youngsters came to town and caused a minimum of trouble. We learned a lot and in many instances infused other youngsters to follow their lead.

Good sports don't hurt anyone. Let's have more of it.

Apparently we have come to the place where we can't stop wars between ourselves much less against other nations. Strikes are ruining this country, providing a divisiveness that helps keep the nation divided into small selfish groups.

With Allen Ashby

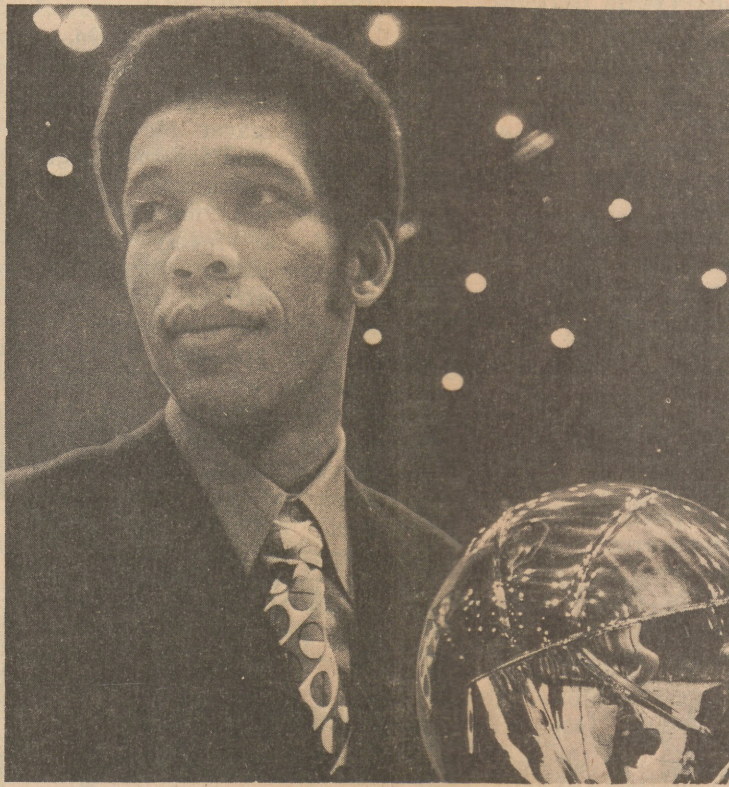

The basketball season is finally over except for a few all star games, and the professional playoffs. UCLA is the winner and still champion in the college division. Could Iowa have beaten the Uclans if they had gotten to the finals? Well, to put it mildly, it would have been one heluva ball game. Those guys could really run a fast break when they wanted to and that was what took Jacksonville. They simply got down to their offensive basket before big Gilmore could get there. We have always argued that rebounding is 50 per cent position, ten percent luck of the bounce, and then height pay off. UCLA's big man had the position on Gilmore of Jacksonville most of the time, and that was where the ball game was won. We would have liked to have seen Marquette in the NCAA meet. They had a press that was really tough and backed it up with a blazing fast break of their own. They would had a good chance to win all the marbles.

Here at home we watched the high school meet with interest, hoping that somehow East Waterloo would beat that tall Storm Lake team. But we would guess that the best team won there also. Somebody said they wondered why there were no blacks on the better teams around the state. Another guy said there weren't too many black people living in the cities where these teams come from. So we guessed that answered the question, and kept out of it. But then East Waterloo has been to the state meet finals several times with teams that include from three to five black players, and they just can't seem to win that final game. They have to make it some day.

Boxing While we were interested in basketball the Des Moines Golden gloves boxing team went off to Las Vegas to try their luck. Oscar Johnson won a fight and then had trouble. One guy came through, Lovelad who made it to the finals in his division. He was beaten, but had nothing to be ashamed of. If young Don Avant could leave his chin home, he might win the thing in his division sometime. He always comes through here with flying colors, and gets his chin in the way of a fist and winds up on his back in the big one. And this time he said he worked hard, but just wasn't strong enough to step up to a heavier weight class. But you have to give the guy credit. Both him and Johnson. They always come back for another try.

While we think of it. You guys who used to like to hang around the pool hall will be glad to know that Willie Wells has opened at Seventeenth and Crocker. Maybe we will have some more tournaments. Never forget the last one. That was the first one won by a handicapped player. And a lot of the fellows suspected that Sonny Mitchell really didn't want to win because he wanted the second place prize which was a cue instead of the shoes for first place. There was no

Honors Poured on Iowa's John Johnson

Monticello, Ia. -- John Johnson, University of Iowa basketball star, had honors poured over him as the basketball season ended like flood water gushing down a river stream.

During the State High School basketball tournament, Johnson, leader in Iowa Big Ten title season was awarded the George Clarkson Trophy which goes annually to the top Iowa college senior basketball player.

The 6-foot 7-inch senior from Milwaukee, Wis., ended his career at Iowa with seven records in his bag.

Tuesday evening at a record crowd of 1200 attending the sports banquet way of proving it, but the old timers swore it was a fact. How they knew, we never could figure out.

What comes next? Track, the lull between winter sports and outdoor sports. In the meantime we shall wait to see what Iowa University comes up in the way of spring football teams and practice.

We were reminded of the times of sometimes ago by the announcement of the death of Johnny Estelle. To most of the fellows he was little known. But, back in the early twenties when there were more football teams in Des Moines than there were people the old Maroons had their all black team. They were probably as rough and tough as they came, and one of the ends was a little guy who weighed perhaps 110 pounds with a brick in each pocket. We recall that he was given honorable mention on one of the city's all star teams that were picked and watched for by the fellows who followed this football. We never saw the guy play, but he must have been just about the best in the city, pound for pound. There are a few more of those old Maroons left, and someday we shall do a column on them.

Surviving are his wife, Thyra; a daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Ann Angelo of Des Moines; two sons, Donald of Des Moines and Walter of Cedar Rapids; two brothers, Clarence and Frank, both of Des Moines and two grandchildren.

Letter to Editor:

The following letter is from a 16-year-old girl who attended the Central Iowa 4-H Area Winter Camp held Feb. 28 - Mar. 1 near Luther, Ia.)

"This was my first time at 4-H winter camp and for a lot of others. When everybody arrived hot chocolate and donuts were served.

After that when everything got settled, people were picked out of the group to discuss and put on plays, such as smoking pot, teenagers having children, etc. When it was over everybody went to the cabins and had discussions on the play.

For lunch, dinner and breakfast, all the food was transferred from Iowa State University at Ames.

We were there for two days. Saturday night three people had a discussion with the people at camp about their life, etc., after that games and records were played.

This is the first camp that you got to stay up to 12 midnight. Thanks to all the people who help make it a fun camp.

Activities of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission

Discrimination occurs in many forms, some deliberate and obvious, others subtle and inadvertent.

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission, in seeking to eliminate discrimination, attacks the problem essentially in two ways.

One Way

One approach, the most obvious, is on a complaint by complaint basis. Individuals believing themselves to be the victims of discrimination ask the Commission to investigate their complaint. If the complaint is proven valid the Commission will compel the guilty party to cease its discriminations. This approach, while effective in individual complaints, is limited in scope. The Commission is prevented from taking action unless an individual files a complaint. Fear and a lack of understanding of what the Iowa Civil Rights Commission has the power to do, prevent many from filing complaints when they believe they have been discriminated against.

Necessary

This approach thus lacks the broad base of attack necessary to really make inroads into the widespread and subtle forms of discrimination that prevail in our society. The Commission, sensing the extent of discrimination in Iowa, uses another approach which attacks the problem on a different scale.

Second Approach

The thrust of the second approach is to take action to seek out and eliminate discrimination without waiting for an individual complaint to be filed. The Commission has the statutory power to initiate complaints where it believes discrimination is occurring. This program differs from the first also in that it aims at general patterns and systems of discrimination. These systems cause individual instances of discrimination to occur.

Comparison

A comparison of an individual instance of discrimination and a pattern or system of discrimination follows:

In an individual case of discrimination in housing, a person is unable to buy a house from a realtor because of his skin color.

A pattern of discrimination in housing is where several realtors use devices like "Choose Your Neighbor" cards. These cards have the effect of not giving the same notice of housing for sale to minorities, thus depriving them of the same opportunity to purchase.

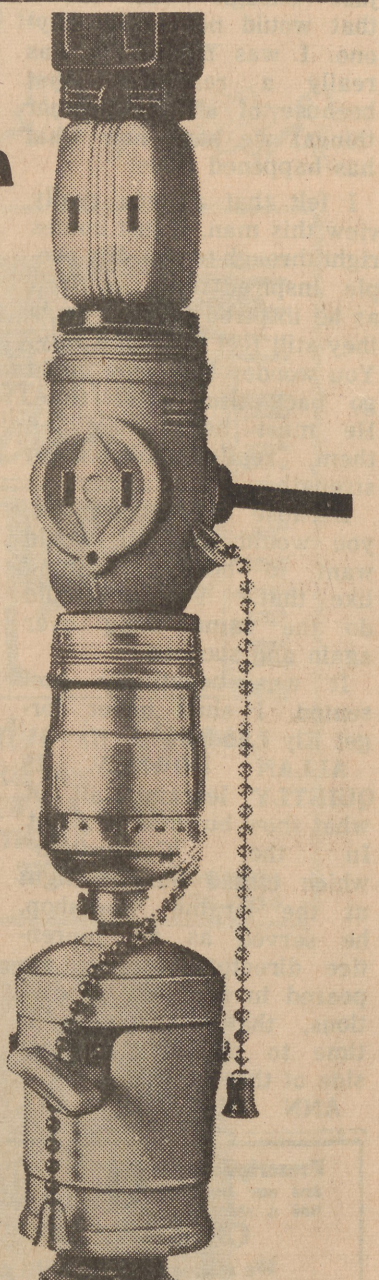

Practice

This "Choose Your Neighbor" practice by the realtors is not an individual by individual denial of the fight for minorities to rent, for minorities don't know the home is for rent. It is, however, a pattern of discrimination by the realtors which has the effect of denying all persons equal notice and opportunity. Thus, it is illegal.

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission approaches discrimination primarily from two angles, each vitally important to the people of Iowa and the Commission as it carries out its duty to eliminate discrimination in Iowa.

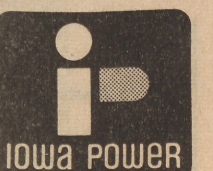

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission will reconvene its hearing being held involving Iron Workers Local 67 today at 10 a.m. March 26, at the Des Moines branch of the Y.M.C.A., 101 Locust St., in the hobby room.
