LDF Tests Strength of '64 Rights Act 6 Adults, 3 Youths Will be Voted in to Fill Vacancies

LDF Test Being Sought By Court Attorneys

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A test of the efficacy of the fair employment practices provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act (Title VII) is being sought in the U. S. Supreme Court by attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF).

Files Petition

Charging discriminatory employment practices at the Duke Power Company in North Carolina, the LDF filed a petition in the high court this week asking for a hearing in behalf of Willie S. Griggs and other black employees of the company.

At issue is the use of tests and educational requirements in hiring and promoting workers which, the LDF contends, are not related to the job and serve only to exclude qualified Negroes from better-paying positions.

Disparity

LDF attorneys assert that "studies confirm a gross racial disparity in test scores" and records of performance refute the notion that they produce better employees.

"A test or educational requirement that is not job-related assures only that hiring will be on the basis of educational and cultural background, which, at least in this society, is only thinly veiled racial discrimination," the petition states.

"Objective"

If these tests are permitted, the LDF continues, the door will be open to other so-called "objective" criteria having a similar racial effect, and equal employment opportunity will be "hollow rhetoric."

The case is being appealed from the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit which affirmed a district court opinion that allowed Duke to continue to impose the tests and educational requirements which allegedly discriminate against blacks.

Economics, Not Just Black Pride Pressing Need Says Durham Banker

Greensboro, N. C. — Economic improvement has got to be a prime consideration in the black man's bid for equality, according to J. S. Stewart of Durham, a successful black banker.

Stewart spoke last Friday to a group attending the second annual Spring Weekend at A&T State University.

Not to Be Disturbed

Stressing the institute's theme of consumer education, Stewart said: "As an oppressed people, we have got to learn not to be disturbed about gaining immediate identity and concentrate on seeking economic improvement."

Stewart said another vehicle for improvement of blacks is education and training. "It seems to me that you just can't separate training and economics," he said.

Caution

Stewart is president of the Mutual Savings and Loan Association in Durham and also president of the A&T Board of Trustees.

He cautioned his audience against such practices as spending beyond one's means. "Spending wisely is just important as saving," he said. "Consumers," he added "should seek out the terms of the interest rates they will be paying."

Tactful

Another speaker, Marvin Sykes, director of the Greensboro Better Business Bureau, said the consumer must be ever on the alert against the rising number of fraudulent schemes.

"Today's schemer is tactful," he said, "and he knows your weakness. He starts off with a free gift or a price too good to be true." Sykes said persons who are duped by these unscrupulous merchants usually make one of six mistakes.

Voices, Inc. Gives Magnificent Production of Black History in Musicals, Dances and Dialogue

BY FRANCES E. HAWTHORNE

It was both a humorous and a sad experience...a poignant as well as painful one...educational as well as a revelation, especially to the very young...but above all it was magnificent.

This was the composite reaction of those, particularly blacks, who witnessed the production of Voices, Inc., Saturday night at Roosevelt High school.

Traced History

"Beauty in Blackness," was both a musical production and a dramatic statement. In the first act it traced the history of the black man from his homeland in Africa, to slavery in America. With dramatic stage lighting, chants, field hollers and spirituals the superbly professional 12-member cast of Voices, Inc., expressed the innermost thoughts and desires of the Negro as he struggles to maintain his dignity and humanity.

And Act II it continued the story from the end of the Civil War and slavery and using blues, jazz and gospels Voices depicted the frustrations a American blacks who still struggle to be wholly free today.

Heralded

Voices, Inc., came to 90 minutes late because their plane had been deterred by weather conditions, but their accomplishments and professional skills and talent had been heralded before their arrival. They lived up to their advance billing and even exceeded it.

The audience's standing ovation, at production's end, emphasized that positive indictment. No greater proof of their success could be stated than to bring them back again...and soon. Then those who missed it will get to witness this tremendous effort, and those who saw it before can come again and drink of their offerings.

Spencer was charged with driving without a license, reckless driving and failure to have his car under control.

BLUE LEMONS.....

by eleanora tate

SETH. It's the new band of Dart Brown. Organized in Mid-March, SETH is Brown's third band. The former bands were the Black and Blues band and Star Theatre. The B & B band more or less evolved into Star Theatre, which, Dart says, "Kind of just ended because everybody wanted to do their own thing. They all had their own type of music they wanted to play, and now they're in bands or doing what they want to do."

Thusly, Brown-along with SETH members Joe Eberline, drummer; George Clinton, organist; Phil Steffen, guitarist; and Brian Lewis, rhythm guitar-is doing his own thing.

SETH music is "mainly rock," he says. "We're trying for a more rhythmic thing, like the beat of soul music, and combining it to have a hard rock and blues type formal all our own. We're after the funky sound, that's the main thing."

At the moment SETH is performing music from professional rock contemporaries as Three Dog Night, etc., but is planning, says Brown, to perform their own original music when they get a chance to work their arrangements out. "Right now we've been busy with bookings. There won't be just one arranger or anything," he continues, "for we're trying to make the whole thing a group effort, we're trying to build some unity within simplicity."

Storm warning: The return of Soul Food Cookbook and Man's Search for Meaning is sorely requested. Books, I emphasize with some patience combined with disgust, are the only things that matter in this situation.

Divorce Asked For Mrs. Cavil

The Rev. Kendrick L. Cavil, a Des Moines evangelist, has been sued for divorce by Mrs. Willie B. Cavil.

The petition said the Cavils were married Apr. 19, 1958, and have five children. Their home is at 2910 E. 16th street.

Mrs. Cavil, who accused her husband of cruel and inhuman treatment, asked for custody of the children, child support and her interest in the couple's property.

At her request, Judge Wade Clarke issued an order restraining her husband from annoying her.

Youth on Parade

This is the 15th in a series of articles featuring junior and senior high school students in Iowa. There is no special qualification other than being a deserving person.

On parade this week is a young lady who came to our attention through a friend who wrote, "We have in our midst a very wonderful honor student."

The note referred to Paula Davis, a 17-year-old Junior at Des Moines Tech who has been selected for "Youth For Understanding" exchange program. She will tour Sweden, for eight weeks after leaving the city about the last of June by chartered plane.

The note of recommendation about Miss Davis also pointed out that she will need financial aid to take advantage of this wonderful opportunity. When we interviewed her Monday she pointed out that she had received $300 from the Kiwanis club; The scholarship committee of the United Black Federation came to her aid with $50 as an initial down payment. She needs $550 or more to make the trip and she must meet a deadline of May 30.

As the note said, Miss Davis is an honor student at Tech, carrying an average of 1.46. For the past three semesters she has worked as office assistant. In addition as a sophomore she was active in Music, French club and hall monitor. She also sings with the Union Baptist Youth Choir and has been doing so for six years. For the past two summers

Norwood Appointed Director of Sales

Columbus, Ga., -- Royal Crown Cola Co. has announced the appointment of John R. Norwood of Tallahassee, Fla., as Director of Military Sales. Norwood has been with Royal Crown since August 1967 as a Special Representative and Brand Development Manager for RC and Nehi in the company's 10-state Southern Zone.

she worked at the State Office Building and was on a special project for the Department of Safety at the Iowa State Fair.

Miss Davis, who loves to sing, said she is "looking forward to the trip. I would appreciate any financial help anyone or organizations can provide for me."

She is the daughter of Mrs. Gloria Thomas of 1230 12th street and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Vaughn.

Normally, we don't add footnotes to these articles but we could not resist. Wouldn't it be a shame for Miss Davis to miss this opportunity because of the lack of help from interested citizens?

Health for All

STILL SMOKING?

If you're still smoking, think about the next drag you take.

Know where that hot smoke goes? Into your mouth, down your windpipe, into your bronchial tubes. The smoke is filled with sticky tars and harmful gases. The tars and gases irritate the cells lining your bronchial tubes. The smoke triggers and excessive secretion of mucus.

Can't See

The trouble is you can't see all this happening. But eventually you can feel the effects. You develop a chronic cough, for instance.

Smoking causes chronic bronchitis, an inflammation of the bronchial tubes that hangs on or keeps coming back. Deep coughing and thick mucus make breathing difficult. The flow of air in and out of your lungs is slowed down.

In fact, smoking just one cigarette immediately throws off the balance of blood and air in your lungs. The imbalance can be measured after a few puffs.

Emphysema

Then there is emphysema. In a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, three researchers — ck, Hammon and Kirman — reported an experiment that implicated smoking in the development of emphysema.

Through special tubes, the researchers taught ten dogs to inhale the smoke from 84 cigarettes a week. For 14 months. All of the dogs developed various degrees of emphysema which was undistinguishable microscopically from human emphysema. For people and dogs who suffer from this disease, which has no cure, each breath is a terrible struggle.

Why not kick the habit right now? Better believe your tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. They know it's a matter of life and breath.

U. of I. Reports on Black Culture Center on Campus

First of 2 Parts

IOWA CITY -- The survival in the classroom of a number of University of Iowa black students can be attributed to the presence on campus of an Afro-American Cultural Center, the State Board of Regents was told by U of I officials here Apr. 9.

Environment

In a report prepared for the Regents on the progress and operation of the Center, Vice Provost Philip G. Hubbard said that the Center provides black students with a "special environment where they can relate to others who share a common culture in the midst of a community which is receptive and generally friendly but nonetheless alien."

Common Heritage

He said that at the Center students can be themselves, discuss their hopes and fears with others who understand because they share a common heritage, explore the significance of their studies in the light of their aspirations to serve the greater community, and obtain helpful advice on academic matters.

"Although it is difficult to separate the social, academic, spiritual, and recreational aspects of its operation, everyone who visits the Center is convinced that it is a great asset to the University community," Hubbard said.

Model for Others

He said since its opening in the fall of 1969, the U of I operation has served as a model for other universities which have since opened similar centers. "As a principal liberal arts institution in the country, it is quite appropriate that The University of Iowa should develop a prototype for others to follow," Hubbard said. Besides being a popular place for study, Hubbard said the Center serves as a location for receptions for visitors interested in Afro-American culture, as a focal point for visiting students and parents, and as a social center.

Programming

Cultural programming at the Center includes poetry readings, dramatic productions designed for the setting, recitals, panel discussions on contemporary topics, and lectures on art, music, history and literature. Discussions on vocational opportunities, career counseling and other phases of personal development have also taken place at the Center.

Books, periodicals, recordings, and art related to America's black culture are available to both black students and those visiting the Center.

Used as Base

Hubbard, who is also dean of academic affairs at the U of I, says the assumption that such centers tend to insulate minority students from the general or "outside"-educational community is inaccurate and criticism based on that assumption unfair. "To the contrary, participants in this small community have used our Center as a base from which to address the larger community."

The organization of the Afro-American Cultural Center is not unlike that of the University-sponsored International House, Language House, and Honors House, which also exist because of the special needs of a particular category of students, Hubbard said. Next Week: The concluding part traces the history of Black student center.

New Ortho® 3-Way Rose and Flower Care is a fertilizer, a systemic insecticide and an effective weed killer, all in the same canister. Systemic action means that all you do is sprinkle the granules around the base of your plant, work into the soil and water. Your flowers absorb the fertilizer. And they also absorb the insecticide through the roots to protect them from the inside out. Flowers grow strong and big. And aphids, mites and sucking insects that come to feed, die. Food and protection. For up to six weeks. Inside, where it can't wash away. And at the same time, the weed killer will be at work in the soil at the base of the plant, killing weeds as they germinate. This whole health plan costs only pennies a plant. The five-pound canister is only $3.49. Your flowers will love you for it.

THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION again scored well in terms of a successful community undertaking! Their presentation of Voices, Inc. enjoyed a tremendous audience Saturday night at Roosevelt High School. This was the third Commission affair I've attended. The first was the cocktail party honoring New York City's Judge William Booth. The party was held December 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Estes, Jr. The second was the Commission's Recognition Award Dinner held at Hotel Fort Des Moines on March 31. Director Allen J. Correll is both dynamic and personable! Accomplishes so much with such ease! Among his able staff is our artist, Frank, Franklin, Human Relations Specialist. Frank alone means Franklin, Inc. — seeing as how where he goes, there go son, Charles, and daughter, Tanya—assisting! All in all the Human Rights Commission knows what it is doing and is doing it!

OUR PROVERBIAL HATS OFF TO MUNICIPAL JUDGE LUTHER T. GLANTON, JR., who in a recent copyrighted "Metro Poll" series in the local daily emerged second. Next to the governor, no less, as the most influential citizen in Des Moines. It was less than several months ago that Judge Glanton was honored at a capacity crowd recognition dinner in which proceeds benefited the scholarship committee of the United Black Federation of which the Judge is chairman of the board of directors.

SOUL VILLAGE HAS STILL ANOTHER CLAIM TO FAME in that the cast of Voices, Inc. rehearsed there for four hours on Sunday. This was in preparation for their appearance before North High's student body combined with students from several other Des Moines schools on Monday. Soul Village has many prominent visitors!

FREDA NAHAS, TALENTED PLAY DIRECTOR phoned me in time to join the party. My other guests were Writer Eleanora Tate and daughter, Gretchen! Freda knows everybody as a rule but on Saturday night she was mystified as to who all these perfectly marvelous people were gathered about her! Mmmm she mmmm'd, "Marri, how can we go about getting these faces out to Drama Workshop? Well, as usual here's telling you folks to give yourselves a try at life in little theater work. On some afternoon phone Drama Workshop and leave your name for its mailing list. There's no cost—it's all free.

6' 2" RICHARD LOWERY is still among those manning the major appliances department at Sears' Plaza Store. Now in his fourth year he finds his career with Sears an exciting and informative one. On the side, he is interested in real estate and plans continuing to learn what he can in this field. Naturally, at this point I reminded him of the United Black Federation who welcomes those with specific interests as well as those wanting to be a part of the general membership and bring to the organization new talents. I should have known that Judge Luther T. Glanton had reached him first!

Lowery and his wife, the former Norma Jean Lane, and their three children reside at 1638 22nd street.

MET STILL ANOTHER SEARS EMPLOYEE, 14 year old Gale Austin. She is a pretty, soft-spoken member of New Horizons at Washington Irving Junior High School. She operates in Sportswear and Women's Fashions and Coats. Gale is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Martin, 1503 31st.

MET NEWCOMERS, JEFF AND STEPHANIE HALLIBURTON, when dining at Brownie's Bar B' Que the other week! Jeff is a Drake basketball player and an accountant major. Though a New Yorker, Jeff graduated from San Jacinto in Pasadena, Texas. Stephanie is a typist and receptionist at Allied Mutual Insurance Company. She graduated from Brown's Business School, Rockville Center, Long Island, N.Y. The couple arrived here in September of 1969.

FRANCES BATES MILLER, a government career employee, is adding to her skills! She is enrolled in North High School's Adult Education Tailoring Class. Tailoring is another of today's brightest careers.

ELSIE ROBINSON AND I SAT ON A SINGLE CHAIR in Corene Adam's kitchen, as she confided that she was again a candidate for Iowa State Rose Council #24 of the local Past Daughter Ruler's Council. The lady won again! Congratulations! (If the Iowa Bystander fails to mention your organization, it is because you don't tell us nor does your club's reporter!)

Mrs. Elsie Robinson Wins "Queen" Contest Again

Mrs. Elsie Robinson for the second time won the crown of "Queen" for Iowa State Rose Council #24 of our local Past Daughter Ruler's Council. Second Place winner was Mrs. Delores Morgan, of Cedar Rapids. Third place winner was Mrs. Tricia King, of Davenport, Iowa.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Is peroxide needed to color unwanted gray hair?

Hair care and beauty experts know that the first traces of gray hair—even slight fading of natural color after chemical relaxing—can dull a woman's appearance and make her look older than she feels. While most women hate these premature aging effects, many are hesitant about using permanent peroxide haircoloring which may change the natural hair color while coloring gray.

Professionally-trained hairdressers know the importance of their customers' preferences when unwanted gray becomes a problem. These experts also know that Clairol created semi-permanent Loving Care® hair color lotion without peroxide... to color only the gray without changing the natural shade. They also find Loving Care blends back color faded by chemical processing. Because of its mildness, Loving Care maintains healthy looking hair and lasts through a month of shampoos.

Whatever a woman's reason for wanting Loving Care for her hair, she is always wise to consult a professional beautician. Hairdressers are equipped with a family of fine Clairol products and the training to promise each patron the loveliest and most personalized haircoloring effects every time she visits her salon. If you dislike gray, and want no peroxide, why not ask your beautician to glamorize it with Loving Care?

FAILURES OFTEN
TEACH LESSONS

It often happens that failure teaches a great lesson. This was never demonstrated more than the safe return of the three astronauts from their disappointing trip to the moon.

The trip made by Apollo Twelve was so successful that the public had come to feel that the trip of Apollo Thirteen was almost a matter course except that its mission was designed to explore the moon more extensively.

Each previous trip had been highly successful. And when this accident occurred, the public began to awake that the human element was involved and errors were bound to creep in.

As the men got off their course on the descent to earth, the public began to panic further. But the men did not. They called upon their own knowledge and imagination along with instructions from the ground and landed pretty well on target.

Prayers went up from around the world and several nations volunteered to help in the landing. It was a hair-raising experience for the men but they turned their difficulties into a grand accomplishment. All hats are off to them.

MAKE GRAY'S LAKE
AN OUTING SPOT

The Des Moines Park Board deserves credit for resisting efforts of a few people to take over Gray's Lake for their own enjoyment to the exclusion of the general public.

As suggested earlier, Gray's Lake is one of the few natural spots left where the public can be accommodated for a close in outing without great expense.

There are those who don't realize the great extent public parks are used in Des Moines. And as the population grows, there will be an inclination to take to the parks more.

Frankly, we were afraid some outside group would sneak in and set up another pipeline to syphon money out of Des Moines.

Now that the course has been settled, plans should be started now to make it a real outing spot.

DON'T PRICE MAIL
TO HIGH

When the postal strike was on, President Nixon proposed that first class mail be raised from six to ten cents in order to help finance a raise in pay.

The public as well as members of Congress felt that the figure was too high which has prompted the President to suggest that the price be raised to eight cents.

It was inevitable that some raise would come in view of the fact that the department has run a deficit for many years.

It is said that first class mail is paying its way but that other classes produce the great loss. This is not surprising as the public sees the flow of solicitations for funds and advertising mostly coming in as third class mail, which undoubtedly account for much of the deficit without paying its fair share of the load.

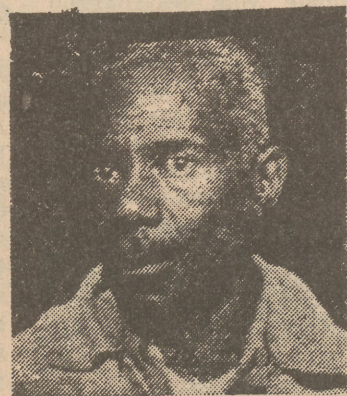

It is commendable that the strike was stopped but it is not smart that the mail should price itself out of the market as evidenced by the success of private parcel deliveries over parcel post.

There are many people shouting "stop the war now" but they suggest no practical solution how it can be done.

The annual Drake Relays will be held April 24 and 25th - a classic for the whole family.

The Iowa Hawks, Des Moines baseball team, is getting off to a fine start. It is well integrated; it deserves the support of the public and particularly those youngsters who claim they don't have a chance.

SPORTS BOWLING

With Allen Ashby

It's about that time again. The one time of the year when people who wouldn't know a track athlete from a greased pig talk about the Drake Relays, and wonder how many records will be broken. Those are the folks who will come back and say it was a lousy meet. They only broke six records. They don't know that a lot of the records out there are comparable with the best marks in the country, if not the world. So if the guys do come up with only six new marks, they have turned in some red hot performances. Have to recall the fellow who went to the Relays and really went only because he thought it was the in thing to do. He wanted to let everybody know that he had the best seats there; paid 10 bucks for them. At that time 10 bucks would have bought a whole row of seats. When we heard him, we slowly walked away to keep from laughing. But there will be about 14,000 people like this guy out there Saturday. The rest of them will know what they are seeing.

Black Runners

By the time this comes out, everybody who is interested in the meet will know who will be here. As we have stated no less than 7,000 times, there are so many black runners and schools that it would require a whole program just to tell about them. So it is with the coverage of the thing. It is a far cry from the day when the late Bill Ashby and your faithful servant used to run around out there, the only black faces on the infield who weren't carrying rakes or something to work with. Now there are so many of the brethren out there, and they don't all work for black news media, either. They seem to be having a relay of their own to get their stories filed. When you see a black with a sheaf of papers you don't know whether to ask him about some race or inquire if he is an official.

Frank Robinson

We hope Frank Robinson will be out there at his old stand, the jumping pit. Frank has been out there so many years that it would seem like a tragedy to see anyone else out there. He was one of the original two blacks to become officials out there, and he really took his work seriously. In fact, we have heard it said many times that Frank was the most efficient fellow on the track. The fellow has changed jobs, now, but we hope he can find time to come out here for a couple of days.

One who has been out to the meet when black schools were applauded politely only because they were black schools, and nearly always ran last, can't help but feel a warm glow when schools like Texas Southern, Southern, Prairie View, and Lincoln take out after each other in the college relays. It doesn't matter who else is in the race, it soon develops into a battle between these schools. Now and then a white school slips into the picture, and people wonder where in hell did he come from? But do you know, if we can get out there this weekend, it will be our 47th trip to this meet? We missed a couple way back when and now you should be able to guess out age.

Old Maroon A.C.

While we think about it, there are a couple of other things we had better mention. We have never gotten such a response to anything we ever wrote as we have to our promise to write a column about the old Maroon A.C. People have called us, stopped us on the street, and written to us. Everybody wants to help us with the thing. We do intend to call on a couple of these fellows whom we consider to be as well versed in sports of that era as anybody in town. Homer Lewis and Phil McGuire may not know all about the team, but they should be able to supply us with all the knowledge we will need. We promise, it will be out right after the Drake Relays, just as soon as we can get our facts together.

It just would not do to have one wrong fact about a history of a group of fellows most of whom are still alive. They might meet us on the street some day.

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission takes its hat off to the Des Moines Human Rights Commission and its director Allen Correll for its recent contribution to education and art in Des Moines. The foresight of that agency in making it possible for a few to see and appreciate the presentation by the Voices, Inc. brings into focus the need for similar presentations on a much larger scale.

The Voices, Inc. brought with them a message and they left that message with the audience in Des Moines last Saturday night. The standing ovation they received is witness to the truth of their message.

Touring Iowa

There should be a black drama group touring Iowa, telling the black man's story to all of the Iowa cities and towns. Black drama should be included in the Iowa State Fair. A group like the Voices, Inc. certainly is capable of attracting large audiences and entertaining them. There are many kinds of black art that are educational and entertaining.

Part of Goal

Making the facts known through this kind of educational and artistic media should be part of the goal of the Iowa Arts Council, Iowa Civil Rights Commission, and other state agencies.

Then the other thing we have given some thought involves the trouble black students and athletes have been having in some of our small and junior colleges. It spilled over into a fracas at Iowa State recently when a group of guys got to scuffling, if you can call being crowned with a beer mug scuffling. Do you suppose that sometimes these people get around these taverns, and then let their true feelings come to the surface? We sure would like to see the things ironed out so black students or athletes wouldn't need a police escort whenever they went into town.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST SHELLFISH?

It's the giant tridacna clam! This monster, some of which weigh more than 400 pounds, are found off the coral islands of the Pacific, live to more than 100 years of age.

Funding should be available for this kind of art education which has a message everyone can understand and appreciate.

We in the Civil Rights and Human Rights work are struggling to do our thing. Not that everyone agrees with our methods, or that we agree entirely with the methods of others; but the goal is the same for us all; to really be free.

Told Truth

The Voices, Inc. certainly told the truth in a real and entertaining way, and those who missed that performance certainly missed a lively evening of enjoyment.

Black Talent

Regardless of ideology, politics, or philosophy there undoubtedly is black talent in Des Moines which could be organized to tell the black man's story in this state using artistic and entertaining media. I appeal to all organizations black and white to organize so that art of this kind can come to life and really live in Iowa.

We plead that this means of communication not be allowed to die. Once a year for such meaningful art is not enough. We have talent in this state and not to have such drama presented is unforgivable.

We again salute the Des Moines Commission. Keep up the good work.

Criticizes
Robinson In Managership Bid

NEW YORK. — Frank Robinson, who eschews fighting the civil rights battle on the baseball field, criticized Jackie Robinson today for urging black ball players to be more active in the movement.

In an article in the current issue of Look Magazine, the Baltimore Oriole star, who is bidding to become the first Negro manager in the major leagues, also said that his managerial experience in the winter leagues led him to believe that black players might be the most difficult to handle.

Pop Shot

Discussing what he considers the role of the Negro baseball player in society, Robinson indicated that there is none.

Little Mother of Hamilton

(Marion County, Iowa)

She had only one law to guide her,
Her Savior's own law of love,
But she followed it well, and as wisely,
As one of His angels above
Her days were all given to service,
Tireless, loving and true
And the little ones how much they loved her
And, oh, how she loved them too.
As she toiled to support her own
But her sweet life was richer and better
Than any good queen's on a throne.
And each day she walked through our township
So quiet and smiling and sweet
That nobody noticed how weary
Were growing her poor tired feet.
But, the Savior she loved so dearly
As she modestly did her best.
He called her away from the children
To a glad and triumphant rest.
So she passed from out little township
The dear, little children's friend,
And the town peoples' grown people
Wept with the children
For they thought they had seen the end.
But, No, in the future the children
Will lovingly breathe her name,
And in manhood's and womanhood's battles
Her law of love will reign.
We called "our little teacher
A name very worthy, 'ween,
Tis a happier, more blessed mission
Than can come to any queen
But I would bring her a token

A&T, 6 Colleges
In New Conference?

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A&T, plus six other predominantly-black colleges, have indicated they plan to form a new athletic conference next year.

Joining the Aggies in the new venture are expected to be Delaware State, Howard University, Morgan State, North Carolina Central, Maryland State and South Carolina State.

All schools except S.C. State are currently members of the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association. The Bulldogs compete in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

The ancient Maya Indians' 365-day calendar consisted of 19 months: 18 of 20 days each and a closing "month" of 5 days.

More grand than a laurel's crown;
Though she bore no children, Hail her!
