Dimery Aid Denied by Supreme Court

Asks Three-Judge Tribunal to Review October Decision

In a one-sentence decision, the U.S. Supreme Court Monday set aside a lower court ruling that would have made all needy persons in Iowa eligible for Medicaid.

It ordered a three-judge federal court panel to reconsider the ruling it made here last October in the case of Ronnell Dimery, 14, of Des Moines, who sued the state for Medicaid to pay for treatment of a rare and costly, spinal ailment. The high court order the three judges to review their decision in light of Supreme court precedents.

The Supreme Court decision was on a 6-1 vote with Justice William O. Douglas dissenting and Justice Thurgood Marshall, who is ill, not participating. The decision came on an appeal filed by the Iowa attorney general's office.

Originally, attorneys for the Dimery youth challenged denial of Medicaid benefits to him by the Iowa Department of Social Services attacking the rules made by the department which limited Medicaid to persons on welfare.

The three-judge panel ruled in October that Ronnell should be given Medicaid even though he is not eligible for welfare.

Sues Cannon Mills For Job Bias

Salisbury, N.C. — Attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) filed a complaint this week in the U.S. District Court here against what may be one of the most pervasive and tenacious policies of employment discrimination maintained by a major U.S. Corporation.

The Cannon Mills Company, based in Kannapolis, N.C., is one of the largest textile companies in the nation and has therefore received key defense contracts.

According to LDF attorneys, in most cases of job discrimination complaints, textile companies have at least responded with written assurances of reform.

However, despite several actions against Cannon Mills, they assert, the company has refused to offer any such assurances.

Clyde Moore Charged in Knifing Incident

Clyde Moore, 47, of 830 18th street was charged with assault with intent to commit murder early last Saturday after he allegedly knifed two brothers during an argument. He was held in jail until his arraignment later that day.

Moore was accused of cutting Ralph Jones, 22, and his brother, David, 17, both of 1244 Ure. St. during an argument at the 18th Street address.

Police said the brothers' mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Jones, 43, who police said also lives at the 18th St. address, told officers she telephoned her sons at their home and asked them to pick her up after she became involved in an argument with Moore about 2:45 a.m.

Fight

Mrs. Jones told police a fight broke out between Moore and the brothers when they arrived and that Moore brandished a butcher knife.

The brothers were taken to Broadlawn Polk County Hospital where Ralph Jones was admitted for stomach, hand and leg cuts and reported in fair condition later Saturday.

His brother was treated for arm and hand cuts and was released.

Negro Police Vow to Arrest Officers Assaulting Prisoners

Atlantic City, N.J. — In a series of strongly worded resolutions the National Council of Police Societies, the oldest and largest organization of black policemen in the United States, vowed to arrest any police officer they see abusing black citizens.

They also called on President Nixon to lay down strict guidelines for police use of firearms, condemned their supervisors for laxity in the enforcement of narcotics laws and the black community and committed themselves to "change the racist behavior of white policemen since we cannot change their attitudes."

The society is the national association of nearly 20 Negro police societies, many of whose members are veteran policemen in New York, Chicago, Ill., Newark, N.J., Atlanta, Ga., and Oakland, Calif.

One policeman said, "If I see a white policeman beating a prisoner, I'll place him under arrest for assault."

The society, which represents 10,000 black policemen and policewomen, urged the adoption of the guidelines for the use of firearms recommended in 1966 by the task force on the police of the U.S. Crime Commission.

The guidelines recommend that deadly force should not be used against any suspect unless the arresting officer's safety or the safety of bystanders is endangered.

Instead of Tearing Down Campus College Students Donate Talents

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The current unrest among the nation's college students hasn't dimmed Mrs. Mildred Bonner's view that young people do as much building as tearing down.

She offers as an example, thriving psychology laboratory two of her students helped her to create this semester.

"We needed a laboratory and we didn't have the money for one," said Mrs. Bonner. "And these two young men took it upon themselves to see that we got one."

Storage Room

Armed only with a $1,000 grant she had received from Florida State University, Mrs. Bonner and the students have converted a little-used storage room in the basement of Carver Hall into a lab facility to handle A&T's 100 psychology majors.

She said that one student, Michael Freeman, worked two to three hours, six days a week cleaning the room and organizing the lab.

Built T-Maze

"We first took the students to see the room," she said. "we didn't even have a rat to work with."

Freeman and another psychology major, William Reid, first built a T-Maze, that is the important piece of equipment used for motivation and learning studies.

Basic Equipment

With the little grant money, Mrs. Bonner purchased some basic equipment such as cages and a few white mice for the experiments.

"Their work didn't end with the organization of the lab," said Mrs. Bonner. "The animals have to be fed everyday and I have a full load and classes. Freeman and Reid just pitched in and did that too."

With her fabricated lab, Mrs. Bonner and her students have already completed one significant piece of research in which they investigated pain as a motivational stimulus.

University, talk about physical fitness and about tea as a training beverage. They are shown being interviewed by Bill Ennis, sports director of KPRC-TV in Houston.

Gaither, the fantastic coach for 25 years at Florida A. and M., and Engle toured Texas during May on behalf of the American Football Coaches Association and the Tea Council of the U.S.A. Both coaches are offering two free physical fitness booklets in any amounts to organizations, coaches, recreation centers and recreation officials. The booklets are, "Your Guide to Fitness," and "Pre-Season Conditioning Manual." They can be obtained by writing to Jake at the Tea Council.

President Promises Recruitment of Negro Students Will Increase

Pella, Ia. — After the 30 black students threatened to withdraw from Central College because of what they termed "racist climate" on the campus, representatives met with school officials including President Kenneth J. Weller, and later changed their minds.

President Weller said Central College "has made clear its firm intention of increasing the number of black students and the quality of overall education here."

Al Dortch, president of the Afro-American Organization at Central said the administration's plans to bring more blacks to the college "is acceptable for us to work with."

"It is acceptable in terms of us staying here," Dortch said after a meeting of the AAO last Thursday night.

President Weller said the college will hire on a part-time basis students, alumni and staff as recruiters of blacks.

"We are willing to accept their commitment as progress and stay here," Dortch added. "We weighed this against withdrawing, trying to get into other schools next fall and suffering the wrath of Uncle Sam."

Black students at Central had been negotiating with administrators on the black issue for two weeks.

On Wednesday, June 3 Central's 30 black students and five white students crowded into the dean of students office and picked up the formal slips for withdrawal from school. If there had been no response they had planned to submit the notices to the dean of students two days later.

Drop Court Martial Proceedings Against 5 At U.S. Air Force Base

NEW YORK — Within two days after an NAACP task force had spent a long weekend investigating conditions on the Air Force base at Goose Bay, Labrador, NAACP General Counsel Nathaniel R. Jones was notified that court martial proceedings against five airmen on the base had been dropped.

VISITED BASE
Jones, accompanied by NAACP Attorney Robert J. Reinstein and Charles Fishman, a former Howard University law professor, spent the Memorial Day weekend, May 28 - June 1, on the base. A preliminary on-the-base investigation had been made by Mr. Reinstein, May 7-8, after NAACP assistance had been requested by black airmen who complained of rampant racism on the base.

Sworn Statements
During the Memorial Day period, the NAACP lawyers took sworn statements from the accused airmen—Victor M. Cheatham, Ronald Wing, Jr., Dwight L. Bell, Richard Beal and Charles Boon—and from other military and civilian personnel. Jones also conferred with the Commanding Officer, Col. Benton Fielder, and the Judge Advocate, Major Anthony Farina, about general conditions at the base as well as about the specific charges against the accused airmen.

Letter Sent
Earlier, on May 25, Jones sent a letter to Robert C. Seamans, Jr., Secretary of the Air Force, detailing a series of charges of racial discrimination at the Goose Bay installation indicative of "a high degree of racial tension." The charges against the black airmen stem from interracial fights with no charges being made against any of the white participants.

Cites Bias
Other instances of discrimination include segregated living quarters, inequities in promotion (there are only 4 Negro commissioned officers on the base, although the Negro personnel of 400 represents a quarter of the base total of 1,600); the keeping of a file of white women who

HR Soul Revue Will Appear in Des Moines Over Weekend

HR Soul Revue, a musical group composed of five young men from the Des Moines area, will be in town this week playing at the Pinnocchio, 31st and Forest avenue, on Thursday and Friday evenings, and for a teenage club in the old Arthur Murray building on Saturday night.

The group was organized by Pat Sweeney of Mason

City, Ia., six years ago, and features Chuck Singleton, North High graduate, as singer. The group now has a five year contract with Jackson Artist's corp., who have promoted such nationally known groups as Zager and Evans (In the Year 2525) and Gary Mac and the Mac Truques. They have been signed to appear at P.J.s in Memphis. Inferno Lounge in Kansas City, Mo., and in Honolulu, Hawaii. Singleton, who was the second Negro to be hired by the Des Moines Transit Company as a driver, will resign this week after working with them five years, so he will be able to travel on the road with the HR Soul Revue. Others in the group play organ, guitar, bass and drums.

Locally, the HR Soul Revue had a recording, "Peace of Mind," which rated No. 4 at one time over Radio Station KIOA. They plan to cut more records and albums, according to Sweeney. They have played all over Iowa including resorts, college campuses, high school proms, and local dances.

At the plenary session, Tuesday morning, June 30, NAACP Executive Director

Eight Year Fight For Life Ends in Victory

WASHINGTON, D.C. — After eight years on death row in the Arkansas State Prison, William L. Maxwell, a black man convicted of raping a white woman, has been spared execution by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Attorneys for the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, who handled the legal work for six of the eight years, have expressed gratification that the first step in the campaign to abolish capital punishment has met with relative success.

Started in 1965

The campaign started in 1965 when LDF sponsored an extensive sociological survey, during the summer, of 2,500 rape cases in the Southern states, involving both white and Negro defendants, to determine objectively and scientifically whether any factors other than racial discrimination could account for the high rate of death sentences for the Negroes convicted of raping white women.

Howard U. Intensifies Search For Scholar-Athlete Recruits

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Acting Athletic Director John Turpin, Jr., and his staff of ten head coaches, representing as many departments, withdrew to a retreat at Gaithersburg, Maryland, for a summary study of the 100,000 Howard University search for student athletes.

During a three-day withdrawal, a review of the heightening search for high quality freshman and the overall program, new vistas and horizons for future action were scheduled for critical weighing.

Several blue-chip signings were recorded, through June 6, of outstanding high school graduates. On Tuesday, the arrival of Ronald Price, crack Kansas City, Missouri, sprinter, was occasion for several university athletic officials to be present at the National Airport.

An honor-roll student, Price owns marks of 9.7 for the 100 yard dash and 49.8, for the quarter-mile. Coach William Johnson envisions him as a possible replacement for Willie Ritchie, outgoing 1969 NCAA All-America senior. In an expanding action, Coach Johnson announced the signing of an array of talented prospects. They include New York state 2-mile champion, David Cannady, of Mt. Vernon High School; triple-jump kingpin Gerald Lytle, of Huntington, Long Island, and two 49.0 speedsters from North Babylon, N.Y., Steve Hamilton and Lee Ferguson.

Rollaway Beds Place To Put Overnight Guests

Rollaway beds, hidden by day, pulled out by night, are an answer to many a homemaker's problem of too few bedrooms for unexpected overnighters.

Two single beds are the solution, plus a combination of built-in cabinets which provide space for the beds and otherwise serve for storage.

The lower cabinet is desk high—providing clearance for the beds. Its top surfaced with finished Marlite paneling, makes a fine countertop during the day.

Extending up to a point near the ceiling are other cabinets, fronting the wall. Their lower reaches are empty so that there's room for day storage of the beds. Their fronts can be handsome doors of a plastic-finished hardboard paneling such

"To figure floor space for the dining set, you generally add six feet to the table's width and length, when extended," he said. "Then consider increasing the room's length by another three feet to accommodate a pair of comfortable arm chairs, an occasional table and reading lamp. All pieces but the lamp also can be used for dining: the chairs for host and hostess and the table as a serving cart."

That tallies up to a room about 12-17 feet with built-in.

IN VIETNAM IS A FINE YOUNG MAN NAMED WILLIAM CHILDS! Long ago I promised to give my young lady readers his name and address, hoping that some of them might like writing to William. He is a career man, has a fabulous personality, is sheer pleasure to know. His address reads like this:

SSgt. Wm. Childs FR484-44-0900
DET#3, 619TCS, Box #706
APO SAN FRANCISCO 196230

RECENTLY I MET EVELYN LOGGINS (MRS. FLOYD). Director of the Forest Avenue Day Care. She is one of the most exciting, ambitious and dedicated persons I have encountered for a long time! The Day Care was organized December 8, 1969, and has 57 children registered with several on a waiting list. Three homes are engaged to be used for resources! Meaning they are homes that care for those children who cannot yet be included in the larger Day Center.

AS WITH ALL BUSINESS VENTURES, Forest Avenue Day Care is backed by a twelve-member board of directors; has a six-member advisory board; has its own attorney; and a parent board which subscribes to the belief that each parent making use of the facility automatically is a board member. (How is that for placing responsibility where it belongs.)

ALWAYS SEARCHING FOR THAT WHICH IS NEW OR BETTER, Evelyn and her family, since the start of her program has visited Denver, Col.; Detroit, Mich.; Chicago, Ill.; and Milwaukee, Wis.; She claims to garner rich experiences from these trips!

FULLY AWARE OF THE VALUE OF OUR NEW EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES, Mrs. Loggins is presently enrolled at Area 11 Community College in a course entitled Child Development Short Course I. Her instructor is Mrs. Ray Keating!

EVELYN AND FLOYD LOGGINS' PERSONAL STATISTICS run like this: the couple has a brood of six! Add to this a granddaughter, a niece and a nephew! Evelyn and her husband never travel alone, each Loggins and household member roll along together in their super wagon! Mmm this says a great deal about what they think is "child care"! Wouldn't you say? You, see, she feels that travel is excellent for the children as well as for herself!

WASHINGTON, D.C. is the vacation spot selected by the Loggins household. Washington will be a splendid resource for day care service. The City and its historical background is unsurpassed as a center of information for her young people!

UDELL CASON, CO-ORGANIZER AND PRESIDENT of the United Black Federation was among those graduating this past week from Drake University. He received his masters of science in teaching degree!

THE SILENT MAJORITY OF YOUNG PEOPLE

Last week, the 76th Anniversary Edition was published. In addition to recognizing that the Bystander was 76 years old, Des Moines youngsters from high schools and colleges were featured.

As close as we thought we were to the school situation with an eye on the militants, many youngsters were pursuing their school work in an orderly fashion. We did not realize the fine job a lot of youngsters were doing. It gave us a lift to read that this and that youngster not only had graduated but also had definite plans for the future.

Every Negro child should preserve a copy of this issue until the next one.

It was further interesting to read how a graduate of 50 years ago was forced to hold down two jobs in order to stay in school remembering that scholarships, loans, work projects are available today with pretty wide open opportunities not only in school but also for openings waiting for those who have proved themselves.

This large number of graduates, more should make sure that in spite of the disgraceful lawlessness on campuses, on the streets and elsewhere, a substantial majority of the young people have selected objectives to reach and are not allowing the rabble rousers to shape their course.

HELP FOR THOSE WHO ARE WORTHY

A Negro girl was selected to study overseas this year being the first of her race to be chosen for this particular assignment.

The expense involved was more than her parents and the school allotment could meet, so an appeal was made through various sources, including the Bystander, for help.

A white subscriber in an Iowa town sent his check for $50.00 immediately. As the time for her departure drew near, he contacted the Bystander office again concerning the sufficiency of the contributions only to find it was short $145.00.

He immediately sent an additional $45.00 with the note attached, "Fear God, He is a good representative of your country and send me a card from him."

No finer spirit of unselfishness to help a youngster who was trying could be shown, with only an admonition to be worthy of the contribution. It only goes to show that there is a way for those who try.

This same person received a request for a donation to help finance the political campaign of a Negro running for Congress in another state. He asked our advice whether he should contribute. We said NO.

People who run for office should have friends and supporters in their area who think well enough of them to finance their campaign.

Many a person is willing to help a youngster study abroad or go to college, but he should not be solicited to donate to a campaign for political office in another state. This is simply begging and a show of irresponsibility.

A LITTLE MORE
REASONING NEEDED

The Negro Council of Police Societies, in a meeting in Atlantic City, N.J. last week, adopted some unsound resolutions.

They stated that they would no longer co-operate with "white authority" and that if a Negro policeman saw a white policeman abusing a Negro, he should arrest the white policeman.

Well, if subordinates fail or refuse to cooperate with their superiors on a job, they are in rebellion and subject to penalties including dismissal. The matter of the arrests is pretty sticky.

Admittedly, the role of the Negro policeman has been difficult for not only have

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

There is a fine article by Bill Russell, former coach and star player of the Boston Celtics basketball team. Bill, being basically honest, tells his story as it comes to him without pulling any punches. He mentions that often used basketball formula concerning black players. Two at home, three on the road and everybody when you get far enough behind. It would seem that a great number of coaches who used that formula have discarded it because pressure is on to win, no matter who plays what, and schools who can't adjust to that way of thinking are rapidly becoming second rate basketball powers. Some fellow mentioned Kentucky as an example of an all white team, but the Wildcats haven't come close to winning the big meet since all those blacks took over on some teams. The guy also reminds his readers that he wore a beard and a cape before they became status symbols. Then he goes on to say that the only key to winning is to concentrate on that all the time, and be willing to sacrifice your ambitions and talent in order to blend with the team. For example Russell cited the case of Wilt Chamberlain. People wanted to see points scored, so Wilt went out and scored more points than anyone else ever had done. Then it became rebounds, so the guy got the most rebounds ever. No, that wasn't it, it must be assists. So Wilt got the most assists, and still his team lost to the Celtics every time but once when they played them in the big series. Russell argued that his success was because his opponents could never be sure what he would do. For instance, he hadn't shot much all season, so when the Celtics played the New York Knicks in their deciding game, Russell went out and shot more than he had all season together. This confused the New York defense so much that when they got adjusted, the game was over. In other words, driving ones they been subbed to the troubles of policemen generally, but also Negroes themselves have abused them as enemies of the race even where they were performing their duties.

Here in Des Moines, policemen are doing a half job by refusing to write traffic tickets if the violations were purely statutory.

Police Chief Nichols says that action constitutes a strike while the men say it is a means of protest to call attention to their demand for a raise of $200.00 per month for each. The chief is right, as all strikes are protests.

This position of the policemen is unfortunate. Surely, they ought to know that the city cannot afford such a raise for one segment of its labor force only, nor does the city have the money to pay such a raise. These salaries come out of the tax dollars about which the public has been demanding a stop to its continued rise.

Des Moines has a good police force. Like any other group of people some are good and some bad.

The city offered raise of 7%. They have had one each year. Their demands are unreasonable just as those Negro policemen who, while holding a job they have sworn to uphold, are now trying to destroy it.

Gymnastics,
Trampoline Class
Begins at YM

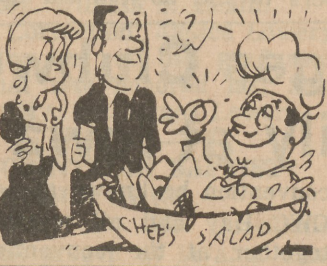

A program in Gymnastics and trampolining will be offered this summer beginning this week at the Des Moines YMCA. Instruction will be given on the six gymnastic events (floor exercise; rings, sidehorse, parallel bar, vaulting and horizontal bar), with an added emphasis on tumbling and trampoline with instruction covering both competitive and exhibition gymnastics.

There are no age or size restrictions. Classes will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 9 to 11 a.m.

BY THOMPSON

You can make hearty Chef's Salad in minutes that will "stick to the ribs" for hours. This makes a fine main dish for luncheon or supper, and with a scrumptious hot dessert, adds up to a really fancy meal fit for last minute guests who drop in.

1. Wash and crisp one large head of iceberg lettuce, and shred well. Add one cup of julienne-cut cooked chicken, one cup of julienne-cut cooked tongue (ready-cooked meats in cans are a convenience for this), one cup of julienne-cut Swiss cheese, and one tablespoon of capers. Pour one-half cup of French dressing over the salad, and toss lightly to mix well. Serves six.

self and sacrificing for the good of the team are the keys to winning and it takes both of them to make champions.

Russell says he is sure he will never be connected with basketball again, but isn't quite sure what he wants to do after being away from the game a year. It was a really good article and a real insight on the author. He also confirmed another theory that we had often heard expressed. That you don't have to be close knit friends to have a winning combination. Just so every man does his job, it doesn't matter if he hates his teammate's guts. But you do have to submerge your likes and dislikes once you get into a game, and if you can't do this, disaster will strike. But then, black athletes were aware of this for some time. How many times after a game is over in high school or college do the white players go their way, and the black players theirs. And there isn't always the close knit friends upon these integrated teams, either. Oh well, you really ought to read this week's Sports Illustrated to get the article.

Here at home, we hear by the grapevine what the fellows are doing in high school and little leagues. They tell us that Tech's Barney Heath does everything but carry water when his team plays. Pitches, plays shortstop, and maybe the outfield. Then he hits pretty well. We haven't heard about the other high schools, or the little leagues. They must be doing something, and we would like to hear from you.

Cassius Clay

As we write this, we hear over the news that former heavyweight champ, Cassius Clay has petitioned the Supreme Court to let him fight Joe Frazier in Canada. We can't understand why the boycott on Clay. Sure, he refused to be inducted, but at least he went about it through legal channels, and has fought his way through the courts. He hasn't torn up his draft card, or told anyone else not to be drafted. He has simply stated that he didn't want to be drafted and why, whether you agree with his reason or not. And for that he is barred from fighting in the entire country. We wonder if he would be barred if there were a guarantee that he would get beaten?

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

As inspiration for thought I sit and look at a lonesome painting of a black child and see in that painting the story of a troubled soul.

The background is solid Black, the picture is the profile of a black child with a tear running down its cheek.

Searches Soul

The artist is white, but in his work he reflects a searching of his soul. Alone and sad this child cries. Not in pain, not in joy but in sorrow. The artist depicts the despair of an adult on the face of a black child.

The desperate need for assurance that there is a place in this country for everyone. That black or white everyone has a contribution to make. Must a black child cry because there is no hope, and yet he is constantly told that the future holds great things for him.

No Work

Why must black fathers cry, when they are told there is no work; they are not qualified, and without a job their child must go hungry.

Behind this tear is a mind and a heart of determination. The dye is cast, things must change and they must change for the good of all people.

As long as there are tears in the eyes of black people, and cries of anguish from black children there must be a fight for a chance.

The artist in painting this picture portrays his innermost concern. Perhaps a concern that consciously he does not realize he feels.

There too is the revelation of the innermost feeling of the black man. A feeling that he often does not consciously show.

Abused People

The agony and anguish of mistreated and abused people is ever present in the Civil Rights Commission Office. If more people could be present, when these people come to our office for help, maybe they could understand.

To see the effect discrimination has on a grown man is a moving experience. To see a man cry because he is denied work, because of his race is a terrible experience. Yet it happens every day. Perhaps some do not realize how much it hurts; how deep it cuts the soul.

Deep Injured

Try then to offer consolation to a person so deeply injured and moved by just such an experience. One must live and experience the hurt to rise up and fight back.

The experience and contact with people so cruelly treated makes the Civil Rights Commission's job so important. We live and we die with the world passing by, and with hardly a tear for our fellow man.

The artist who painted this picture cried as many more must cry.

THE BRIDGE BUILDER

"An old man going alone on a highway
Came at the evening, cold and gray
To a chasm vast and deep and wide.
Thru which was flowing a sullen tide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The sullen stream had no fears for him;
But he turned when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
'You are wasting your time with building here;
You never again will pass this way,
Your journey will end with the closing day,
You have crossed the chasm deep and wide,
Why build you this bridge at evening tide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head,
'Good friend, in the way that I've come,' he said,
There followeth after me today
A youth, whose feet must pass this way.
This stream that has been naught to me,
To the fair haired youth might a pitfall be.
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim,
Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

Enliven Pasta Dish
With Family Favorites

When you're ready for a change of pace at dinner, try a meatless spaghetti brightened with cheese and fish.

Spaghetti has long been a favorite in American households because it's economical, convenient to use and tasty. Dressed up with two other family favorites—American blue cheese and tuna—the pasta dish is bound to win even more fans than it's had in the past.

Part of the beauty of "spaghetti for supper" is that it's a one-dish meal. Served with a green salad, it's unmatched for ease of preparation.

TUNA BLUE
CHEESE SPAGHETTI
(6 Servings)

1 small onion, minced
¼ cup butter
½ clove garlic

1 12-ounce can tomato juice
1 6-ounce can tomato paste
2 tablespoons chili sauce
½ pound spaghetti, cooked
1 teaspoon sugar
2 teaspoons salt
pinch of oregano
1 7-ounce can of tuna, flaked
1 cup American blue cheese,
(about 5¼ ounces, crumbled)

Cook onion in butter until golden in color. Add garlic clove, tomato juice, tomato paste, chili sauce and seasonings. Bring to a boil, then simmer 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove garlic and discard. Add tuna with oil and continue cooking 10 minutes longer. Stir in blue cheese. Remove from heat and serve at once over hot, cooked spaghetti. Garnish dish with additional pieces of crumbled cheese.

The electric mixer is a must for every homemaker. It can do many, many jobs for you—mix a cake, beat egg whites for meringue, whip cream, stir, blend, etc.

Here are a couple of tips to help you use your mixer more efficiently:

1. Be specially familiar with the instruction booklet. It doesn't hurt to review it from time to time.
2. Read your recipe. Assemble the utensils and measure ingredients before you start.
3. Set out room temperature ingredients an hour before mixing.
4. Use a rubber spatula to guide the mixture into the beaters.
5. Clean after each use...and most importantly...keep it handy.
