Rips Pres. Nixon Administration Bomb Rocks Drake Univ. Science Hall

Explosion Causes $250,000 Damage, Fourth in 6-Weeks

BY STAFF WRITER
For the fourth time in less than six weeks, a dynamite bomb exploded in Iowa. The latest explosion came early Monday morning at Drake University. In the school's Harvey Ingham Hall of Science sustained heavy damage totaling up to $250,000.

No One Hurt

No one was injured although a Drake security policeman about 150 feet away from the blast site, was knocked to the ground by the concussion.

Police Chief Wendell Nichols said the bombing was a "continuation of the pattern established in previous bombings," which began May 13 when the Municipal Court Building, in which the Des Moines Police Station is located, was severely damaged by a similar blast.

Greatest

Since then dynamite bombs have caused considerable damage at the Ames Police Station and City Hall on May 22 and the Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce building on June 13.

The damage in the Drake bombing was believed to be the greatest of the four explosions. The south wall of the science building, which is practically all glass, and almost every one of the hundreds of windows on that side of the three-story brick building was shattered.

The blast was heard over a wide area of Des Moines. Police dispatchers said persons as far away as Douglas Ave. on the north and Leland Ave. on the south reported they heard the explosion.

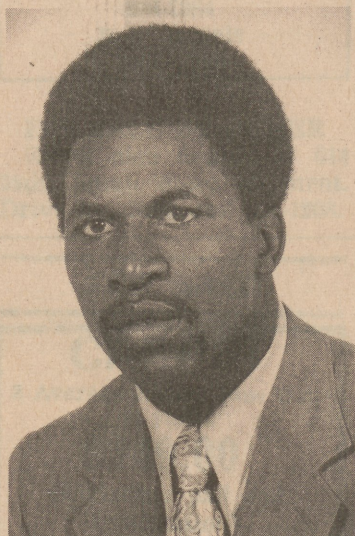

Estimate

Police Capt. Kenneth Kline estimated window and structural damage was $150,000 to $200,000. Expensive laboratory equipment in the building was damaged extensively.

Authorities said the bomb was placed at the base of the building's south wall, in an area about 10 feet below ground level.

Chapman, who previously had been manager of Blue Cross claims, will work with minority community leaders on employment problems. He will be responsible for recruitment, placement, training and advancement of minority employees and also will counsel with them on job problems.

New Position

Hankinson said the new position is an important one in that 7 1/2 per cent of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield work force of 950 is from minority groups and the percentage is expected to increase.

Chapman, formerly of South Bend, Ind., is a graduate of Washburn University, Topeka, Kans., with a degree in history and political science. He and his wife, Mary, live at 729 W. 17th St.

State Rights Meet Meeting Today In Des Moines

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission began meeting this morning (Thurs.) at 9:30 in the Legislative dining room of the State Capitol building here.

New HEW Chief Vows To Push Desegregation

Washington, D. C. — Elliot L. Richardson, the new secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, took a tough stand against southern school segregation last week and expressed willingness to terminate federal aid.

Richardson, said, "This means desegregation not only at the point of entry but integrating education within the building."

Separate Classes

Civil Rights workers in the south have claimed that black teachers are being demoted and fired after token desegregation, students are separated in classrooms and barred from extracurricular activities and public property is being transferred to burgeoning new segregated private academies.

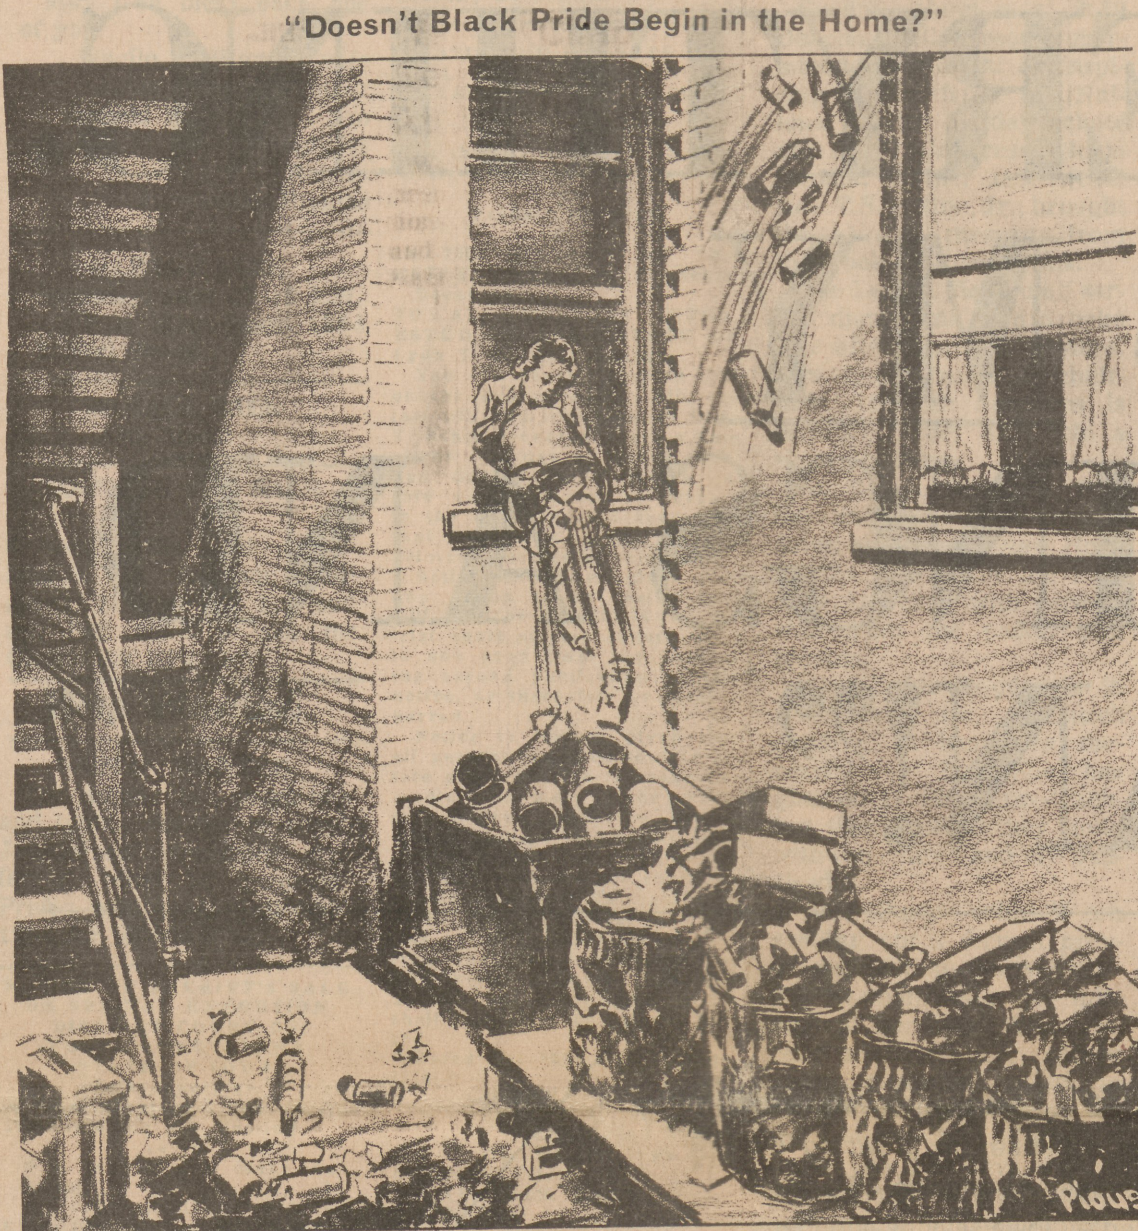

Back His Words

Richardson said he is prepared to back his words with cut off of federal aid where necessary. He reiterated, for example, that the government will not move against all-black schools serving de facto segregated neighborhoods in larger southern cities.

But his tacit prediction of unprecedented desegregation next fall reinforced similar statements from other administration officials.

Will Prosecute

The government will prosecute any discrimination against black students or teachers in otherwise desegregated schools, he said. "The ending of officially sanctioned racial discrimination in schools should and must go beyond the assignment of students by race

Supreme Court Adjourns

Washington, D. C. — The United States Supreme Court adjourned for the summer Monday without ruling immediately on a major school desegregation case from Charlotte, N.C.

In so doing it delayed a decision on the pace of desegregation in Charlotte Schools and the significant busing and racial balance questions raised by the dispute.

Civil rights groups had asked for a judgment now or alternatively, that the court agree to an unusual summer session to hear the case. The Justice Department had advised no decision before summer adjournment.

'Faint-Hearted' Liberals, Misguided Blacks for Impeding Race Progress

CINCINNATI — The Nixon Administration, "faint-hearted liberals" and "misguided black separatists" were targets of a blistering attack by Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in his keynote address at the opening public session of the Association's 61st annual convention here, Monday night.

Others Under Fire
Also subjected to the verbal fire of the AME Zion prelate were the die-hard southern racists, "the white church" and "power-seeking politicians." These varied elements, he charged, were all engaged in efforts to frustrate the realization of the "single society," hopefully envisioned in the historic 1968 report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

Iowa High Court Gets Wright Suspension Recommendation

The recommendation that Des Moines attorney Robert A. Wright, 43, be suspended from practicing law for two years went to the Iowa Supreme Court last Friday. Oral arguments were waived and briefs were submitted.

Accused
The recommendation was made by the Grievance Commission of the Iowa Supreme Court last January following a closed hearing.

Wright director of Region IV of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and national board member is accused of being "guilty of unprofessional, unethical conduct."

Submission of the case to the Iowa Supreme Court is a matter of course in the proceedings in that the court has the final word in the disposition of the recommendation.

Brought By
The complaint, brought by the Committee on Professional Ethics, and Conduct of the Iowa State Bar Association, arises from a 1961 case involving property owned by Mrs. Gertrude I. Hall at 1398 Keosauqua Way.

The brief said Wright represented Mrs. Hall in the transaction in which she traded a home to John Haskins for a house at 1223 15th Place. Mrs. Hall, while represented by Wright, deeded her home in the trade but Haskins failed to produce a clear title to the Fifteenth Place property, the brief said.

In 1968 Mrs. Hall was awarded $17,500 in a Polk County District Court lawsuit against Wright as a result of the transaction.

The award was appealed to and upheld by the Iowa Supreme Court.

The commission said Wright's license could be restored after a year by the Iowa Supreme Court if proper showing is made that Wright had made restitution to her. In his brief, Wright contends that the recommendation of the commission is unduly severe, that he had no fair opportunity to examine the commission as to its impartiality and that "good faith mistake of judgment is not grounds for disciplinary action."

No Loans
Wright also says he attempted to obtain loans to pay Mrs. Hall the $17,500 in damages but that he was unable to secure them.

A brief filed by the Professional Conduct Committee of the Iowa Bar Association responding to Wright's arguments against the recommendation says:

"It is certainly of great concern to the general public to see that an attorney has been found guilty, by a jury, of professional misconduct . . . and yet to see that the judgment go unsatisfied or undiminished by him when, from all outward appearances, he has the means to do so.

"This certainly reflects very adversely upon the profession.

Oldest Black Publisher, E. W. Rhodes, Dies

Philadelphia, Penna. — The oldest living Black newspaper publisher who headed the oldest black publication in the country, died June 24 in a hospital here.

He was E. Washington Rhodes, the editor and publisher of the twice weekly Philadelphia Tribune, a black paper founded in 1884.

Rhodes died at Mercy-Douglass hospital of an acute heart attack. He entered the hospital nearly two weeks ago and never fully recovered. He was 74.

Rhodes, an attorney, had served at one time as assistant U. S. Attorney, the first Black man to hold the position in Pennsylvania. He was also the first black man to serve on the Pennsylvania parole board, the second to serve on the Philadelphia board of education.

He was past president of the National Bar Association and a past president of the National Newspaper Publishers Association. Last year he was voted "publisher of the year" by NNPA.

characterized as anti-Negro." In support of his charge he cited a series of actions and pronouncements by the Administration involving job discrimination, school desegregation, Supreme Court nominations, efforts to dilute the impact of the Voting Rights Act, support of tax exemptions for segregated private schools, and the widely publicized Moynihan memorandum proposing a period of "benign neglect" of the nation's black minority.

Black Retreat

"A small but vociferous number of Negroes has effected the black retreat as indicated in the black college students' demands for separate dormitories, separate cafeterias, separate curricula and separate facilities. . . The white backlash on the one hand and the black retreat on the other hand have combined to accentuate the racial polarity of which the Kerner Commission warned."

Vanguard

Challenging the statement of Professor Alexander Bickell of the Yale University Law School that 'The vanguard of black opinion... is oriented more toward the achievement of group identity and group autonomy than toward the use of public schools as assimilation agencies,' Bishop Spottswood queried: "Who asked Dr. Bickell to determine the vanguard of black opinion? We intend to integrate the public schools in order to give black children equality of education — not for the purpose of assimilation!"

Worked Too Long

We in the NAACP, he said, "have worked too long and too hard, made too many sacrifices, spent too much money, shed too much blood, lost too many lives fighting to vindicate our manhood as full participants in the American system to allow our victories to be nullified by phony liberals, die-hard racists, discouraged and demoralized Negroes and power-seeking politicians."

Recounted Activities

The NAACP Board chairman recounted the activities and achievements of the civil rights organization in a variety of fields and called for rededication to the effort to bring "the American dream to reality for all our citizens — in the ghettos, in the suburbs, in business, in government, on the college campus and in every neighborhood of these United States."

The fellow who gets a kick out of his work should be more careful.

Calls Police 'Pigs' Fined $50 in N.H.

MANCHESTER, N. H. — Daniel Tierney, 17, of Nashua, has been fined $50 on a disorderly conduct charge because he called a policeman a pig.

District Judge William O-

Neil also told the teen-ager: "The court takes a dim view of referring to police officers in the manner in which you did. Someday when you're a little older you'll probably feel the same way as the court. You are lucky to get off with a $50 fine."

Tierney reportedly was in a coffee shop parking lot when a policeman carrying a cup of coffee walked by. The youth reportedly said to him: "Hey pig, you got a coffee for yourself, but not for your buddy, you pig."

Tierney also was fined $15 for operating a motor vehicle with defective equipment.

"UFS HAS EVERYTHING. IT'S MY SAVINGS AND LOAN!"

You hear it more and more: "UFS . . . that's my savings and loan." United Federal Savings continues to grow, so it's obvious that more and more people are making UFS their savings and loan. Fact: UFS led all Iowa savings and loans during 1969 in growth of savings, growth of assets, growth of mortgages, and growth of reserves.

And earnings at UFS were never higher: 5 % on passbook savings, up to 7.50% on some certificates.

Save time while you are saving money! UFS promises . . . and delivers . . . more convenient locations and hours than any other savings and loan in Iowa.

With eight convenient locations (more than any other savings and loan in Iowa) UFS goes where the people are . . . in Des Moines, Ottumwa, Jefferson, Osceola, and Winterset. Plenty of free parking at all eight locations plus the added convenience of evening and Saturday hours.

Right now, while many savers are getting semi-annual interest payments, is a good time to join the chorus of savers and borrowers who say: "UFS . . . that's my savings and loan!"

How convenient can a savings and loan be? Try United and see!

Race Prejudices in the North

To the Editor:

The white population of the North has a tendency occasionally to deplore the racial discrimination, drastic Negro restrictions and lynchings of the Southland. It is true that race prejudices are an inpregnable tradition of that particular section of the United States.

It is also true that Mr. and Mrs. Average Northern White Citizen have an hereditary fear of Negro dominance and detest and discourage Negro progress fully as much as their Caucasian pro-ante bellum brothers and sisters of the deep South. The cotton-producing South despises the colored people as a group, but respects them as an individual. The industrial North's views are vice-versa. Race prejudice has existed in the North since colonial days at the time of the revising of the Articles of the American Confederation, May 23, 1787. Twelve of the thirteen states were advocates of African slavery.

Negro soldiers participated in practically every major battle of the American Revolution. Negro and mulatto regiments served with honor and distinction throughout the war of 1812. White reaction to their noble sacrifices was re-enslavement and degradation with their posterity ridiculed and treated as pariahs.

North Called Worse

While New England churches were segregating colored communicants, Catholicized Afro-Americans worshipped in New Orleans without such militant prejudice displayed. A Northern abolitionist stated in the early fifties that T find contempt more bitter, opposition more active, detrac-tion more relentless, apathy more frozen than among the slaveholders themselves.

Historians have dealt very harshly with the American reconstruction era. Why do they not likewise with the Jeffersonian upheaval of 1806 when the rule of the Tidewater gentry was overthrown by the riff-raff poor whites, shopkeepers, poverty stricken farmers and the offspring of indentured servants?

The middle of the 19th century found maudlin Yankee sentimentalists permitting persons of color to be attacked, persecuted, murdered and driven from their homes in the sovereign states of New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois where statutes disfranchised all colored people. During the War of Secession approximately 200,000 Negroes bore arms in defense of the Union although the Northern generalissimo, Ulysses S. Grant was a slaveholding Illinoisian.

Situation Today

Today Northern black people are barred from industry, taxed without representation and denied the right of jury services in many instances, caricatured and burlesqued in the press and on the radio and forced to live in restricted residential districts.

The American caste system welcomes aliens, Nazis, communists, criminals and other members of the white race into establishments where we dare not tread. Such rank discrimination should indeed cause Herr Hitler to survey racial unharmoniousness in the United States with fiendish glee. John W. Crayton, vice president, Ottumwa branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 511 Fillmore St., Ottumwa, Ia.

45 Helped Last month St. Vincent assisted 45 persons referred from Polk County Welfare and Catholic Social Services regardless of race, creed or color. WILSON'S UPHOLSTERY DISPLAY BOOK reads like a Who's Who in the world of furniture! And the accompanying before and after photographs make the reading all the more fascinating.

FRED MCCrackEN AND L.K. (CHAMP) JOHNSON had a "good night Sunday night!" These men were "tractor pulling." Sunday was the occasion of a tractor pullers' contest held at State Center, Iowa. Charles (Chuck) Johnson, of Chardon and Champ's brother was the winner! Skill in tractor pulling appears to involve the combination of balance, power, timing, driving technique, essentially! Chuck won in the 9000 lbs. class. The usual weights are 7,9,12 and 15,000 lbs. totaling the weight of the driver and tractor! It is claimed McCracken "plans taking up tractor pulling as a 'steady diet,' though Sunday night was his second experience." Champ is in his 15th year at least and transports tractors all over Iowa. (A he-man's life!)

ONE LOVELY MATRON, A CAREERIST AND HOME-MAKER preparatory to her forthcoming thirty year marriage anniversary celebration shopped for announcements. Finding them marked higher than those for weddings and earlier celebrations, she asked why? The clerk reminded her that lengthy marriages are so few that their stock was limited and as sales practices go, scarce commodities are a bit higher. (Food for thought?)

CLYDE BONNIE AND METE! Our town's Bonnie and Clyde, that is! In reality the names are a gag, their grandparent's affectionate tags for the two. A precious pair, they are sister and brother. Resa 8, who will be 9 in July; and Scott 3, the children of Camille and Sam Bradley, Jr.; the grand-

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate...and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does?

Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New® spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

SCATTERING MONEY TO JUSTIFY INEFFICIENCY

An effort is being made by state and local officials to secure more money from the federal government to help fight drug abuse. They have come to realize how widespread the problem has become and, of course, more and proper facilities are needed to cope with the situation.

We know of two centers in Des Moines, one set up in the Model Cities area to treat users of heroine (they say Negroes use it most which is not true) and one a few blocks away to treat users of marijuana (they say whites are the prime users of it).

Neither of these clinics is adequately equipped or staffed to do the job as it should. On the other hand, one adequate clinic staffed and equipped to handle all drug abusers would reduce expenses and thus required less money than poorly handled, poorly equipped centers.

Years ago, we consolidated schools in order to reduce expenses. Much talk is going on about consolidating counties and police and sheriff operations. These are economy moves that help to relieve some of the tax burden. They are examples of spending the tax payers' money wisely just as business corporations do to make a profit.

CAMPUS DISORDERS HELP INCREASE CRIME RATE

The recent hearing conducted by the Board of Regents on campus violence showed pretty clearly a division among those who appeared reflecting the attitude of the people of Iowa.

There were the supporters of violent students who championed the right to dissent and by inference at least excused those who chose to violate the law. They were supported generally by teachers, the clergy, social workers and liberals. On the other hand, those who till the soil, run the factories and otherwise produce most of the money to support the schools did not oppose dissent but insisted that law violators should be punished. They insisted that school officers were greatly responsible for letting the problem get out of hand and are now paying for their shortsighted policy.

We support those of the latter group. Statistics show that crime is on the increase. This, of course, is true of those who get prosecuted in court. And yet students are supported in their contribution to the increase in crime, all of which adds to the ever increasing number of people who believe and act like good behavior is a sin.

PREPARE FOR TIGHT JOB SQUEEZE

Unemployment is on the increase. It will rise higher as more men return from the service which means less material needed to keep a large force in uniform supplied.

In big cities in Washington, Kansas and Georgia where large airplane-manufacturing plants are located, men are being laid off by the hundreds and since these companies are not diversified industries, the lack of war orders hurts. This situation is hurting other large cities.

As a rule, the last hired are the first fired. Fringe jobs can be dispensed with. Then, too, employers hold on to good employees who do their work, are dependable and adjust themselves best with other employees.

Young men and women should keep this in mind in filling their jobs and make a report which will warrant the continued use of their services.

With Allen Ashby

We are a little amused at the reader's comments on the article written by Bill Russell on basketball with the Boston Celtics. They were about the same as the ones about the story of Lew Alcindor. It seems that every time a black man speaks his mind and calls them as he sees them, he is being ungrateful to the game that made him.

May we point out that neither Alcindor or Russell was picked to play for the teams that they went to because they were black, or as part of any social experiment. They were chosen because they could play the game of basketball, and for no other reason.

Russell merely said things that any athlete who has played on many teams knows. One, that you don't have to like the coach to respect him and play for him. Two, that here doesn't have to be a close comradeship among the players on any team for a winner. The only thing that matters is that each man know his job and do it. The guy may have been wrong on his thinking on the reason Bob Boozer was traded off his team, but how many white people will do a thing purely for racial reasons and then deny it on a stack of Bibles? We couldn't see anything that was one bit derogatory to the game of basketball as Bill Russell told it.

And the same thing goes for Alcindor. The guy merely told about his campus life as he lived it with no frills or gimmicks. Sometimes it was good and sometimes it wasn't the best as Lew said. He gave his couch credit for being human with all of the human frailties and weaknesses. When he thought the coach made a mistake he said so, and he also gave Wooden credit for being the man he is. He got a good basketball contract because he happens to be one helluva basketball player, and he certainly must know what he is and why he got the contract. Writers to the various reader's comments seem to think that those fellows should be forever singing the praises of the people who gave them their chance. Of course, the two men are grateful, and they are also grateful that they happened to have a lot of talent too.

Summer Baseball

Here at home, we have been watching the summer high school baseball race. We hear that there are a number of fine black athletes on a couple of the teams, at least North and Tech. East had a couple of pretty good players, also. We have heard a lot about the pitchers not being as strong as they were in the days when we were kids.

Some people say that old timers didn't have to face a tough lineup all the way, and thus go at top speed. Maybe not, but most of the old time hitters were merely trying to get wood on the ball and thus were harder to strike out. Any one of them might beat you with a punch hit.

Actually we believe it is due to boyhood training. In our kid days, we didn't have too much to do, so we almost always had fights with anything that could be

Lee Calhoun to Yale University

NEW HAVEN, Conn. - Lee Calhoun, two-time Olympic hurdles champion North Carolina College of Durham, has been added to the Yale University staff as an assistant track and field coach.

Calhoun, gold medal winner in the 120-yard hurdles in both the 1956 and 1960 Olympics, will join the staff of Head Coach Bob Giegengack on Aug. 1.

June 29, 1946 - Jackie Robinson made his professional baseball debut with the Montreal team in Canada.

O.J. Simpson "Outstanding College Player"

New York - O.J. Simpson, Heisman Trophy winner in 1968 and an All-American choice in 1967 and 1968, has been voted the "Outstanding College Player" of the Sixties as announced last week by Boone Arledge, President of ABC Sports.

Writers and broadcasters from all sections of the country voted the USC halfback the outstanding player of the decade. Simpson received 1100 points.

Junior College
Simpson was graduated from Galileo High School in San Francisco in 1965, and attended City College of San Francisco, a junior college, before enrolling at USC. In two years of junior college football, Simpson scored an unbelievable 54 touchdowns. In 1967, he led USC to a 10-1 record including a Rose Bowl win over Indiana and the National Title.

In 1968, USC finished with a 9-11 record, losing to Ohio State, the Team of the Sixties, in the Rose Bowl, 28-16. In Simpson's two years, he carried the ball 674 times for 3423 yards (5.07) average and 36 touchdowns. These figures include bowl performance.

In 1968, he established one NCAA mark by rushing for a record 1709 yards in 10 regular season games. He won every award and was named to every All-American team. In 1967, he also led the country in rushing with 1543 yards.

Urges Action on Bomb Legislation

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Representative Wiley Mayne (Rep., Ia.) has called for prompt action on anti-bombing legislation which has been stalled for two months in a House subcommittee.

The Sixth District congressman told the House last Thursday that law enforcement officers urgently need the bill's broadened coverage and stiffer penalties to cope with increasing use of explosives and incendiary devices by terrorists.

Definition
The bill expands the definition of explosive and makes transporting, possessing, using or threatening to use explosives punishable as federal crimes. Maximum penalties for transportation thrown. Rocks, apples, tomatoes, eggs, snowballs, you name it, and we threw it. And we threw sometimes all day from early morning until dark. In our town of Boone, the Swedes threw at the Irish, they both threw at the Dutch, and two of us being the only two blacks around, never knew which side we would be throwing for. We were on side one day and the other side the next because both of us could heave bricks and what have you pretty well, so we were always grabbed by the first gang we met. Well, that gave kids good strong throwing arms and we suppose that went on in most of the cities. Today's kids don't get the early trimming and so their arms probably are not as strong as were the arms of the older generation. Muscles get strong from use, and ours certainly got used.

Activities of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission

The time has arrived for a re-evaluation of the positions of dissidents and dissenters.

We have never approved of violence in any form, and we cannot now change our view. We cannot, however, approve of the establishment of a police state to offset or counterdissent, however violent that dissent may be.

A growing concern is ever present that further violence will occur. The pressure to cause that explosive violence is ever present and being felt by the innocent citizens of Des Moines, Iowa.

Specific abuse of the law seems to prevail. While many may disagree, we must acknowledge its presence. The Des Moines Police Department in its continuing effort to find the still missing dynamite provokes tension.

It is standard operating procedure to stop cars in the vicinity of 12th and University, and question the occupants. Particular targets of this form of harassment are black residents of the area. Some of them are stopped and questioned by police three and four times a day.

Law enforcement is necessary - good law enforcement that is. But, law enforcement is a two-edge sword. The law is also intended for the protection of the innocent as well as the capture of the guilty. We hear much talk that police officers are marked men and that certain elements are out to kill a policeman - any policeman.

Yet, when innocent citizens are stopped at gun point by police officers, what reaction can be expected except resentment. The police officers are acting under the direction of Chief Wendell Nichols. In an attempt to locate missing dynamite and avoid future trouble, he justifies his directive to the police officers by saying that all persons acting suspiciously are being stopped and questioned. However well intentioned this may be, the approach does not seem to be effective and working.

We certainly cannot uphold dynamiting, but neither can we support violent reaction by police. Hitler should have proved to everyone's satisfaction that a police state is unsatisfactory. We question the legality of stopping every person who appears suspicious to a police officer and questioning them at gun point. Who determines who looks suspicious and who does not. Since when has a suspicious look become a violation of the law. I would rather conclude that blackness makes you look suspicious, but I hope this is not the criteria for the decisions of the police. If it is, more and even worse trouble is sure to come.

will be the city's smallest urban renewal project.

The third Model Cities renewal project involves 53.6 acres on both sides of the MacVicar Freeway from Enos Avenue on the north to Crocker street on the south.

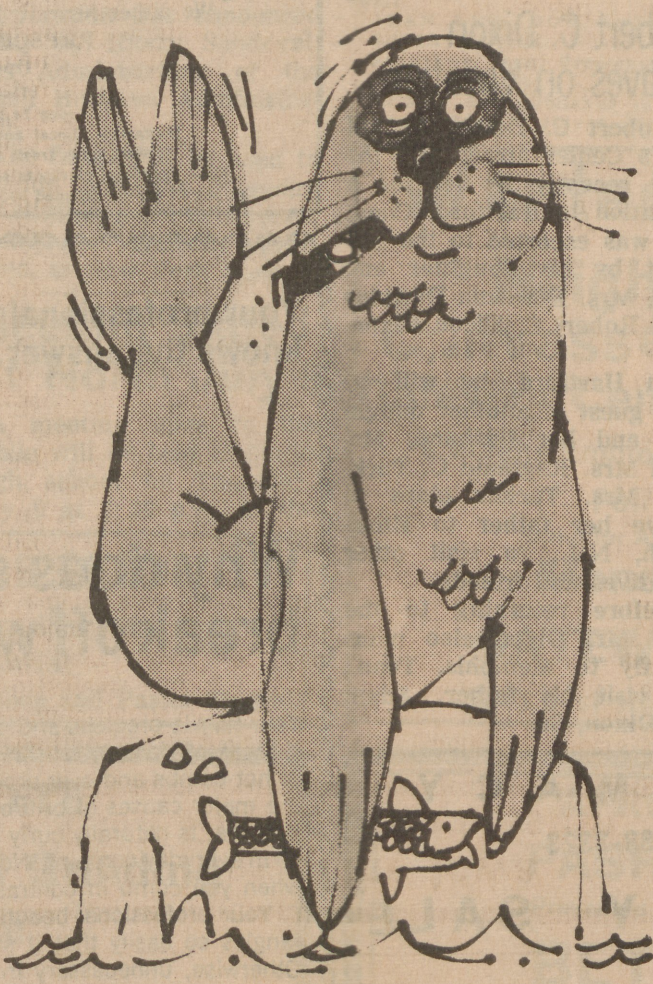

Part of the project area would include 200 public housing units for the elderly and handicapped. A federal grant to build this housing was applied for earlier last week.

River Hills, the first project, is scheduled for completion this fall. Oakridge, is scheduled to be completed by the end of the year.

Battle of Nations

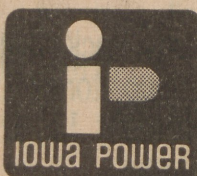

The military engagement referred to as the "Battle of Nations" was the Battle of Leipzig, Saxony, fought in 1813, when Russia, Prussia and Austria joined forces to defeat Napoleon.

61st Confab of NAACP Longest Annual Report; Cites Haynsworth Defeat

CINCINNATI - For the second time in nearly a quarter of a century the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is holding its annual convention - the 61st - this week in this city on the northern bank of the Ohio River which, more than 100 years ago, divided the slave states from the free.

In 1946 when the convention was held here for the first time, some 700 delegates from 34 states were registered. The NAACP regarded it as "one of the largest representations and most successful meetings of recent years." Registration at the 1970 convention this week is expected to exceed 2,000.

Largest Report
NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins on the eve of the organization's 61st annual convention in Cincinnati, released the 165-page document, the largest annual report published by the organization in its six-decade history.

Creative Advances
The year, 1969, was a year "of widespread activity and creative advances by the Association and its local units all along the civil rights front," the report points out. "Despite, or, perhaps, because of the slow-down policy and philosophy of the Nixon Administration, the NAACP pushed forward with renewed vigor. At no time and in no way was there any backing away from the challenge posed by the new Administration.
