Whites Determined to Control Rhodesia

Political, Econom. Life of Country Says Nyolde

Justin V. J. Nyoka is a Rhodesian journalist who was born in a tribal trust land southwest of Salisbury. Formerly a reporter on the Rhodesia Herald, he has been a correspondent for the Times of Zambia, Johannesburg's (South Africa) Rand Daily Mail, and World Outlook.

Mr. Nyoka's weekly articles and columns concentrate on the history of Rhodesia, the current unrest and the political, social and economic tragedy suffered by the 4.6 million Africans who are dominated by some 237,000 whites.

INSIDE RHODESIA: by JUSTIN V. J. NYOKA

SALISBURY, Rhodesia — The coming into power of the Rhodesian Front Government in Rhodesia in 1962 should be seen not only as a dramatic turn in the political history of the country, but also as a sure and determined move by whites in refusing to share the political, economic and social life of the country with the blacks.

Before I discuss the contributory factors to this continuing move to the right in Rhodesian political thinking, I should perhaps take you back to the hopeful days of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland. Earlier I pointed out that the concept of federation was more welcome among blacks in Southern Rhodesia than by those in the two northern territories. In an attempt to sell his government's policy of partnership, Sir Roy Welensky, who had succeeded Sir Godfrey Huggins (now Lord Malvern) as Federal prime minister, decided to open up some of the top jobs in the civil service to qualified blacks. Black diplomats were appointed to take jobs in Lagos, Nigeria, and undersecretaries were posted to Washington, New York and London.

There was something that could be called a genuine attempt to advance those blacks who were qualified to take up senior posts in the government service. In the social sphere the Federal Government tried hard, with a certain degree of success, to foster better treatment for the blacks.

This, however, was seen by the right-wing element in Southern Rhodesia as an unfair and unwarranted encroachment by blacks into a political and social world marked in their imagination: "For whites only." The Rhodesia Front Party was formed ostensibly to stop and reverse this trend.

In 1960, the Federation's Political

Washington, D.C. "NBL generated $15 million in loans in ten communities in 1969" said Berkeley G. Burrell, President of the National Business League and Vice-Chairman of the President's Advisory Council for Minority Enterprise. Speaking on the subject of Black Business on WRC-TV's, "Issues" in Washington, D.C., Mr. Burrell said that soon, NBL's technical and managerial assistance programs now being conducted in ten cities, will be expanded to six more.

Damage Greater Opportunity Center

A shotgun blast was fired through a front window Saturday night at the Chestfield Opportunity Center, 2744 - Maury St., causing about $100 damage.

It was the second Greater Opportunities, Inc., building damaged Saturday.

The Forest Hills Opportunity Center at 1343 Thirteenth St. sustained minor fire damage Saturday morning after an arsonist poured a flammable liquid around the back door and ignited it, police said. The fire apparently burned itself out before doing any major damage, officials said.

The centers are divisions of Greater Opportunities, Inc., a neighborhood opportunity project managed under the federal government's Office of Economic Opportunity.

Alabamans Nominate Black For Governor

Montgomery, Ala. — Alabama nominated its first Negro candidate for governor in many years at a convention of the National Democratic Party of Alabama (NDPA) opening Friday night.

Dr. John Cashin, head of the largely Negro party, said his group "will have a black opponent" for Democratic nominee George C. Wallace in the Nov. 3 general election.

The NDPA was set up in 1968 as one of two democrat splinter parties backing Hubert Humphrey, the national party nominee for President.

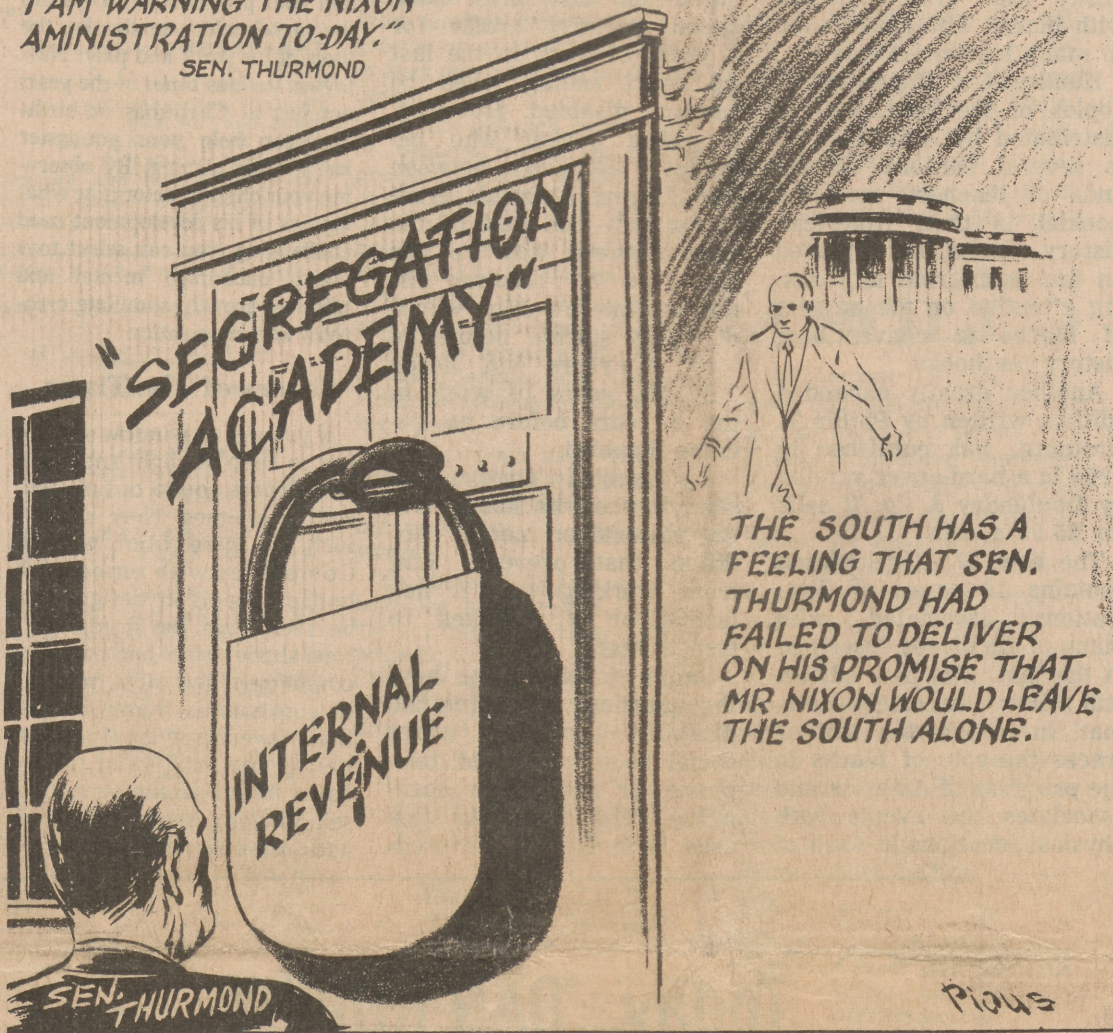

President. Presidential electors nominated by Alabama's regular Democratic organization voted for Wallace.

Cashin, a Huntsville dentist, is a possible candidate for governor on the NDPA ticket.

GOP Vice Chairman Speaks to ACWC

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — "You are truly Black power," Mrs. Elly M. Peterson, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, today told approximately 2500 delegates to the 75th Anniversary convention of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc.

"Each program offers another opportunity," Mrs. Peterson declared. "And yet, there is still a concern for national and international problems."

Nixons Accomplishments

Listing accomplishments of the Nixon Administration for black people of the country, she expressed resentment for people who say what is not so-critics who accuse the Administration of being anti-Black and who cry "Southern Strategy" at every policy decision.

Miller Held on $10,000,000 Bond: Mrs. Miller's Condition Critical

Mrs. Alfreda Miller, 21, of 1436 Center St., is in critical condition at Broadlawn County hospital following a shooting by her estranged husband, William Miller.

Police say Miller allegedly entered the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson Sr., 402 Forest Avenue, where Mrs. Miller was asleep on a couch in the living room.

Her husband, William Miller, 22, who also gave his address as 1436 Center St., was treated at Broadlawn for a gunshot wound in the back, allegedly inflicted by his father-in-law and was later taken to City Jail.

Charged With Assault Miller was charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Six other persons, including the woman's parents and two-year-old daughter, were asleep in the house at the time of the shooting, police said.

The shooting was the result of a "domestic situation" police said.

The Millers have been separated for approximately 18 months, members of the family told police, and Mrs. Miller filed a divorce suit against her husband more than a year ago.

Mrs. Miller and her daughter have been living with her parents in recent months.

Police said Miller broke into the Johnson house by forcing open a screen door on the front porch and a front door leading to the living room.

Miller was apprehended at Easton Boulevard and DeWolf Street about 4:50 A.M. by officers James Toma and Hersel Smith, who spotted a car matching a description of the one Miller allegedly got into following the shooting.

Pleads Innocent

Miller pleaded innocent to the charge filed against him when arraigned before Municipal Judge Harry B. Grund later Tuesday and was being held in City Jail in lieu of a $10,000 bond. His hearing in Municipal Court was set for August 19.

All-Star Salute to Joe Louis In Detroit August 12

Detroit — Berry Gordy, Jr., President of Motown Record Corporation and himself a famous Detroit figure and former boxer, today accepted the honorary chairmanship of the "Salute To The Champ, Joe Louis" tribute scheduled Wednesday, August 12, in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

The event will be a fund-raising entertainment show with all proceeds going to aid the former heavyweight champion of the world, who is in Denver Veteran's Hospital suffering an emotional disorder.

Television star Bill Cosby will emcee the show which already lists The Jackson 5, The Four Tops, Mahalia Jackson, blues singer B.B. King and comedian Redd Foxx. Musical director is H.B. Branum of Hollywood.

In addition to tickets being sold directly for the performance, Gordy announced a "SEND A DOLLAR TO JOE" program urging the "little guy, the average man on the street," to be a part of the tribute by placing a dollar (or more) in an envelope and sending it to "Salute To The Champ, Joe Louis" c/o Bank of the Commonwealth Detroit, Michigan.

In addition, Gordy said a third method to raise money for the ailing champ would be through the sale of ads in a special souvenir program.

Leading industrialists throughout the nation have been invited to be a Golden Circle subscriber and with each $1,000 gold page ad will receive a ticket in the special Golden Circle section.

Although time limitations prevented a number of name stars from appearing as artists on the variety program, Gordy reported that a large number of these celebrities are going to Detroit at their own expense just to be at the tribute.

Gordy urged all Americans to participate in this tribute "to a man who never turned down a request to help any charitable cause, and now needs help in this, the biggest battle of his life."

Organize to Capture Negro Insurance Business

Chicago, Ill. — Increased help from the federal government to aid black life insurance companies in recapturing the black market was revealed by outgoing president, Jesse Hill, Jr., vice president-actuary of Atlanta Life Insurance Co., in his message to nearly 400 delegates attending the 50th anniversary convention of the National Insurance Association last week in Richmond, Va.

Hill announced the results of a special conference he and other insurance executives had with President Nixon on July 15. The group asked the federal government to help expand and strengthen existing minority businesses rather than concentrating on creating new businesses.

Comments President Hill said the President was in accord with the association's 6-point program which includes:

The formation of a NIA development company.

- The involvement of more blacks in governmental long-range planning.

- Securing a more significant share of group insurance business by NIA companies.

- Holding more joint industry conferences.

- Using administrative pressure to help pass Family Assistance and Income Maintenance legislation.

- Obtaining assurance of the government's concern for black Americans Convention delegates passed a resolution commending the President for fulfilling his campaign promise to promote minority businesses. The present administration was also commended for its actions in proposing Family Assistance and Income Maintenance legislation and equal employment opportunity programs, denying tax exempt status to segregated

Mrs. Ferguson came to Waterloo in 1927 with her husband who was a doctor in the community until his death in 1948. After her husband's death, Mrs. Ferguson began to take course work at the University of Northern Iowa. She was certified to teach elementary education in August, 1952, and began teaching at Grant

School in September, 1952.

American Oil Co Has New Books on Black History

Kansas City, Mo. - Readers interested in places in America where blacks made history can now obtain an expanded edition of the popular $5.95 book, "An American Traveler's Guide to Black History," at the special price of $1 a copy.

The offer, which is less than cost, was made possible through a special arrangement between the American Oil Company and the publisher, Doubleday & Company.

The book was first published in a soft-cover, booklet form in 1963 as a contribution by American Oil to the centennial observance of the Emancipation Proclamation. Then, as now, it listed locations in the United States that are connected with blacks who contributed to many historic events.

Hundreds of thousands of copies of the booklet were distributed by American Oil in several editions. Thousands of teachers used the booklet in their American history classes, and it played an important role in focusing attention on the neglect of blacks in conventional history textbooks.

Another greatly expanded edition, written by Phillip T. Drotning, was published in 1968 in a hard-cover version by Doubleday & Co. It sells for $5.95 a copy.

The new 275-page edition contains 16 pages of illustrations associated with many of the places described in the text. The new edition still follows the original format in which the author traces the role of blacks in the progress of America and associates the events with physical locations in each of the 50 states. A preface by U.S. Senator Edward W. Brooke remains in the new edition.

The author, Phillip T. Drotning, was formerly manager of communications for the American Oil Company and is now director of urban affairs for American's parent company, Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The special illustrated, hard-cover edition may be obtained by writing to Black History Book Offer, Doubleday & Co., P. O. Box 743 Garden City, New York, 11530, and enclosing $1 for each copy ordered.

Social Security Help for Disabled

One of the aspects of social security overlooked by young workers is the disability provision, Leo W. Smith, District Manager of the Des Moines office said today. Smith went on to point out that a worker 31 or older must be fully insured and also must have social security credit for 5 years of work in the last 10 years ending when he became disabled. However, a young worker who becomes disabled between age 24 and 31 needs credit for only one half of the time between age 21 and the time he became disabled while a person whose disability started before he was 24 years old needs only 1 1/2 years of work in the 3 years before he became disabled.

A disabled person, he said, is one who has a severe physical or mental condition that prevents him from working and it has lasted, or is expected to last, a year.

Smith stated anyone having questions regarding the disability provisions under social security should telephone or visit their local office. The office in this area is in Room 293, Federal Building, 210 Walnut, Des Moines, Iowa. The telephone number is 284-4500.

TOYS ARE TEXTBOOKS FOR PRE-SCHOOLERS

For a preschooler, the fall, when older brothers and sisters go to school, can be lonely. Play-school Research suggests the first week of school as a good time for a toy shopping trip for you and your pre-schooler. Toys are the preschooler's textbooks, the tools of his work and play. New toys at various times of the year, not just at Christmas or birthday, can help your youngster learn while playing. By observing your child to determine what aspects of his development need challenging, you can select toys which encourage mental and physical growth, stimulate creativity and imagination.

Shades of The Times

If you put up window shades just to keep out light and curious glances you're out of step with the times. New shades such as these from Newell Companies with embossed burlap patterns are designed to be seen from the inside too. New shade colors and patterns compliment the most modern or conventional furniture and floor covering styles. They are part of the total room decor. For a further excitement, buy self-adhering shade trim and add your own personal touch.

Constitution was to be reviewed by the component territories and the British Government. The two northern territories, especially Nyasaland (now Malawi) could secede, if that was the wish of the indigenous people.

The whites in Southern Rhodesia saw the granting of independence to black Africa by Britain as a sell-out or let-down policy. This sentiment was hardened by events elsewhere on the African continent; especially the granting of independence to the Congo farther up north by the Belgians, and the chaos that followed.

In the minds of whites in Rhodesia today black Africa stinks, to use a crude word. Names like Congo, Biafra, Kenya or black majority rule are synonymous with chaos. The deportation or imprisonment of a white man in black Africa is a sure additional vote for Ian Smith's policy to "Keep the blacks out of power for all time."

A fairly liberal constitution produced by the Edgar Whitehead regime — a territorial wing of Welensky's United Federal Party, was approved by the predominantly white electorate in 1961, but that party was rejected by the same people at the end of 1962, bringing the violently right-wing Rhodesian Front into power.

The Africans, under their party, the Zimbabwe African People's Union (ZAPU) boycotted the elections because they believed that an extremist white government in Rhodesia would sooner or later be in a head-on-collision with the British Government and the United Nations.

In an article which was given wide publicity in the national Press, both black and white, I urged the black people not to put much faith in Britain, remembering how that country had often ignored the interests of the blacks throughout Rhodesia's history. Now 10 years later, I am glad I was right.

The Rhodesia Front conducted a well-organized campaign for the 1962 election. The tactics were crude and simple-minded — to get at the basic fears of the uneducated and poor whites. They pointed at the Congo, the murders, the rapes and so on. They wanted Rhodesia to remain in responsible (white) hands for all time. They wanted to retain the Land Apportionment Act which separates people into residential and business areas according to their color.

White women were told at private house meetings how they could not keep white purity with black neighbors next door.

Until recently I can say white Rhodesians — the supporters of the Rhodesian Front Government — used double-talk to cover their real racist sentiments, because they wanted Friends of Rhodesia Societies in the United States and Britain to tell the world that after all they were not all that bad.

Now it has all changed. The Rhodesian Government is a racist regime, believing in clinging to power at the expense of the majority black population. Ian Smith himself said recently: "Our new Constitution is racialistic, but we have to be realistic."

The suppression of the aspirations of the blacks in Rhodesia is being defended in the name of the suppression of world communism. This is probably the reason why there has been sympathy in capitals of the West for this seemingly and increasingly fascist regime. All tendency in Rhodesia today is towards separate development which means the separation of the races, with the whites as the haves and the blacks as the have-nots.

private schools, awarding $50 million in federal contracts to minority enterprise, and involving a large number of blacks in key government positions.

Inspired by the remarks of Rev. Leon H. Sullivan, principal speaker at the closing session, the association also passed a resolution urging the administration to support the Opportunities Industrialization Center program and to provide federal funding for its expansion. Rev. Sullivan is founder and board chairman of OIC.

Sit-Ins and Marches Out

Echoing Hill's earlier statements, Rev. Sullivan told his audience the time is over for sit-ins and marches and black Americans are faced with proving their equality. He said the next step in their struggle is "economic emancipation" and that the main emphasis should be placed on becoming owners and employers rather than mere employees.

Leroy R. Taylor, vice president-actuary, Mammoth Life Insurance Co. of Louisville, was elected president at the final session, succeeding Hill who becomes chairman of the board.

Taylor has worked with the association for over twenty years, and written several papers and books on actuarial functions. Prior to joining Mammoth Life in 1957, he was employed by Pilgrim Health and Life Insurance Co. and Universal Life Insurance Co. of Memphis.

He presently serves as consulting actuary for Central Life Insurance Co. of Tampa, Fla., Wright Mutual Insurance Co. of Detroit, Golden Circle Life Insurance Co. of Brownsville, Tenn., and Protective Industrial Insurance Co. of Birmingham.

A graduate of Alcorn A & M College, he received a master's degree in mathematics and actuarial science from the University of Iowa. He has taken additional courses at Northwestern University, the University of Chicago, and the University of Louisville.

Before entering the life insurance business in 1943, he was an educator in his native state of Mississippi. He is married to the former Lula Terrell and has two children.

Black Power Conference In Atlanta

Atlanta, Ga. - The National Coordinating Committee of the Congress of African People and the Atlanta Host Committee, announce the convening of the Congress of African People in Atlanta, September 3rd - 7th, 1970, (Labor Day Weekend). The Congress, itself, is the result of a decision to join the National and International Black Power Conference into a single instrument. This decision grew out of the awareness by Black people that wherever we Africans are, i.e. Africa, the Islands, South America, and the U.S.A.: we are oppressed by the same forces of domination and control. Thus, the Congress will focus its attention on the theme,

Screens Line Patio Room

A paved patio or wood deck takes on the dimensions of a real outdoor living room with the addition of peripheral screens and an overhead trellis. Start by deciding where the screens will best add privacy to the patio. They may be made in solid sections from tongue-and-groove or edge-butted lumber, or they may have a spaced, open design.

Upright 4x4-inch corner posts of western wood, preferably pressure treated, should be set in concrete or bedded in gravel. Cap the posts with 2x4-inch beams, or larger. The screens are nailed to the beams.

To build the trellis, simply nail horizontal wood members across the beams at 12-inch intervals. Benches may be built along the screens for added seating space.

Conceal trash cans, firewood and other backyard clutter in compact storage units of matching wood built outside one screen.

To obtain a 13-page color illustrated idea booklet showing the sun trellis and other outdoor projects, write to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 537-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or., 97204. Enclose 15 cents in coin.

Picnic Wines

Picnics mean plenty of food and plenty of thirsty guests, too. So match your buckets of fried chicken and tubs of spaghetti with gallons or half gallons of the appropriate California wine: a chilled chablis or sauterne with the chicken, and a flavorful California burgundy or zinfandel with spaghetti or beef dishes.

A DATE FOR APOLLO

In ancient Greece, dates were dedicated to Apollo, the god of music and poetry. The Greeks considered the date, one of man's oldest and most valuable fruits, the symbol of riches, life and fertility.

Imported dates are still considered of particular value in the modern homemaker's cooking and baking needs. According to the Bordo Products Company, packagers and processors of imported pitted and diced dates, imported dates are more richly flavored than domestic dates and they retain their fit-for-a-god goodness far better under the heat of cooking.

Mrs. Laura Yergan, of St. Thomas Virgin Islands, was formerly stationed in Vietnam and Africa. While in Viet Nam she was an instructor at Hanoi and was there during the time war broke out. She assisted in the evacuation of many Vietnamese displaced by the war. Later, Mrs. Yergan was sent to Nigeria and Liberia where she worked for the World Health Organization. She presently resides in St. Thomas and was enroute home after lecturing at Purdue University this summer. She is presently an Instructor of Nursing at the University of VI.

Mrs. Anita Smith is presently head of Home and Public Health Nursing Education at the University of Wisconsin. While in Vietnam she, too, was an instructor after having started the school of nursing in Hue.

Mrs. White Entertains Mrs. Maude Esther White, is presently part of the Governor's staff in the Iowa Staff Office of Planning and Programming in the state capitol. She was assigned to Lagos Nigeria where she worked in the Executive Office for AID.

Mrs. Fowler is a former program officer while stationed at Saigon for four and half years. She is presently staff pharmacist at Broadlawn Hospital.

Estes Entertains Saturday evening, the guests were served cocktails by Mr. and Mrs. John Estes, Jr., after which they enjoyed dinner carte blanche at Diamond's Lil's by Maude Esther White, and the entire party enjoyed after dinner brandy at Tally Ho's while listening to the delightful music of Speck Red.

For those who believe Vietnam and Africa are places of hunger, disease and barbarity, get in touch with these former U.S. State Department employees and listen to the delightful experiences each of them have had in what they consider some of the garden spots of the world.

Social Security Health, Education Welfare

QUESTION: I have been told that there is a period of time right after a person becomes disabled during which he is not eligible to receive benefits. How long is this period and when his checks do start does he receive back benefits for that waiting period?

ANSWER: In all disability cases there is a 6-month waiting period which means that no benefit payment can be made during that time. The first payment is made for the 7th calendar month after the person becomes disabled and there is no payment made for the first 6 months.

QUESTION: I retired a few years ago and began receiving social security payments. Recently, I returned to work. Must I contribute to social security now?

ANSWER: Yes, if your job is covered by social security. And this is likely, because over 90 percent of all jobs are covered. The contributions must be paid without regard to retirement status, age, or whether you are getting social security payments. An important point is that the contributions may increase the social security payment you will receive when you again stop working if your earnings are high enough.

Featured Art In State Fair

Des Moines, Ia. -- If it is one of the arts, then it will be in the new, experimental and fabulous 3-day program planned for the Iowa State Fair.

History of the Fair dates from 1854, but the 1970 Art Festival is a first -- to have tots coming to the grounds to try a pas de deux; teenagers wanting to do their own Andy Warhol modern; and oldsters of 30 or so jamming "Mississippi Mud" with a well known local combo will be great fun.

On the more serious side, a half hundred or more professional artists "in residence" will demonstrate their skill and display and sell their works. Other craftsmen will show enameling pottery and ceramic techniques.

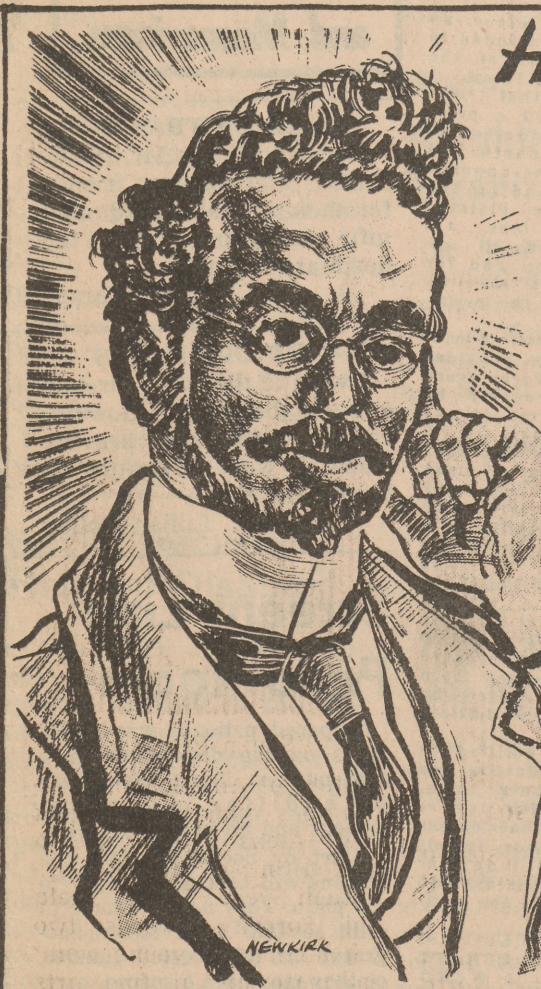

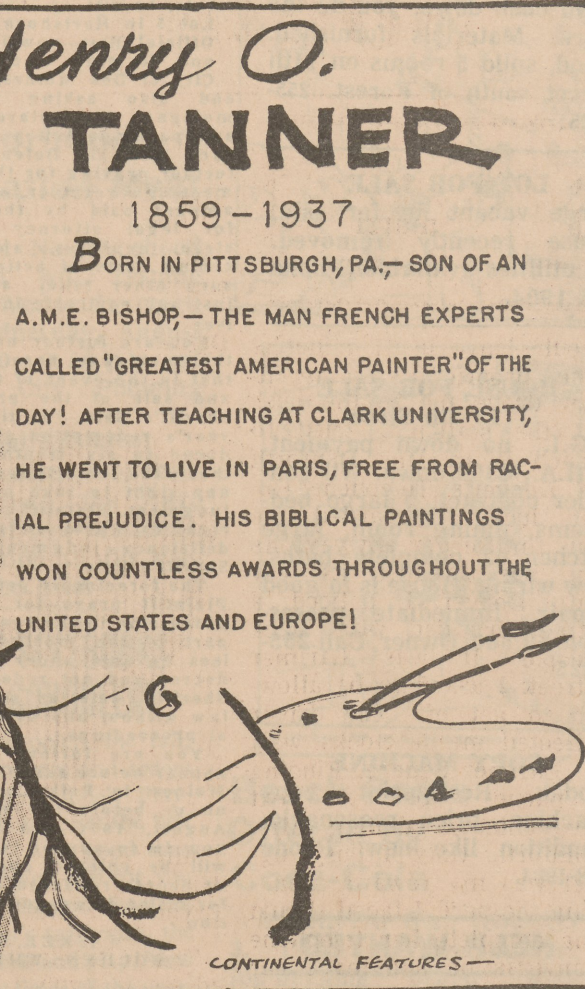

The first annual statewide Festival of the Arts is scheduled for Friday through Sunday, Aug. 28-30, with daily events beginning at mid-morning and continuing through the day and into the evening. Mrs. Harlan E. Giese, Des Moines, is festival chairman.

Mrs. Giese stresses that the festival is for doing as well as for seeing. Anybody is welcome to take part, whether wandering in from the Grand Concourse or coming out from a nearby community for a particular segment.

Once within the outside gates, the festival is free-admission, paint, brushes, paper, paste. Senior high students may have to scurry about to find their wood-castle supplies, but there is no dearth of cans, cups, boxes, candy wrappers, pamphlets on the fairgrounds.

The title, "IT'S OUR THING," has been selected because the festival is a show of the children doing their own thing from art to dancing and singing.

"IT'S OUR THING" will begin at 7:00 p.m. with displays of the children's art projects. Summer art projects have consisted of collages, mobiles, and paper sculptures. The musical program will be the singing of old songs and new songs and dances ranging from tap to soul.

To Church Reporters and Pastors

Please see that only one person reports the news as it is confusing to have material coming from more than one source.

Do not list meetings of the choir, clubs and organizations unless some special feature is reported.

Don't run advertising as news, and additions to the church or visitors unless from out of town. The sick should include only those in hospitals, which should be separate from the church news.

Dead-line for news is Tuesday at twelve noon and dead-line for advertising is Tuesday at 5 o'clock.

Court Purges Old Mississippi Marriage Law

Johnson, Miss. -- Mississippi's miscegenation law was brushed aside when Federal Judge Harold Cox cleared the way in Jackson, Miss., for the marriage of two interracial couples whose matrimonial plans had been blocked by a state court injunction. His ruling against state laws banning interracial marriages permits Roger Mills, 24, a white law clerk, and his black fiancée, Berta Linson, to proceed with plans for a large church wedding Sunday. It also permits Vernon Davis, a black factory worker in nearby Canton, and Noreen Leary, a white education specialist from Deerfield, Mass., to marry immediately.

Men Stick to Their Knitting

This year, men will stick to their knitting with fashion's newest natural for menswear--knits in everything from underwear to tailored suits. American women already appreciate the fine qualities of knits--their comfort stretch, fit, excellent wrinkle resistance and minimum care. In fact, it's estimated that half of all women's coats, suits, dresses and sportswear are knits.

And now, men can take advantage of knits in an entire wardrobe created from yarns and fabrics especially engineered for male taste and male styling. Tailoring will be the key word in the new knitted men's fashion. The fabrics, for the most part, will act like knits in terms of comfort and stretch. Some of the newest knit fashions will be tailored slacks and trousers; tailored sport coats and blazers; sport shirts; sweaters; jackets and suits--the ultimate in the knitting art.

The fibers behind these fashions are predominantly the result of modern textile technology. They include textured polyester filament yarns, such as Fortrel, alone or combined with spun blends of polyester and cotton, rayon or wool. No-iron, and wrinkle resistant qualities are built right into the man-made polyester fiber so the suits resist wrinkling and hold a crease well. Other man-made fibers for the knits include Arnel triacetate, Arnel plus nylon and textured acetates, such as Celara.

Because knits made of these fibers require very little special care, the men who wear them--and their women who take care of them--will have a happier and easier time of it this year.

LAURA BROWN (MRS. HAROLD) IS "MRS. PERSONALITY" of the night crew on 4th Floor Youngers at Iowa Methodist Hospital. She keeps everyone happy and if not that, then say she contributes to the happiness of everyone! She laughs hardest when we think we have problems! Her attitude minimizes whatever is ailing one. Her friendship, tiny though she is, brings enormous warmth and comfort. Laura and her sister, Mary Washington (Mrs. Oleius "Buster") and their combined group of four children are vacationing in Navasota, Texas, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira West; and in Houston with their sisters, Inez Chatmen (Mrs. Leo "Little Brother") and Ollie Mae Jones (Mrs. C.J.).

SAW JOE LANE WHILE I WAS STILL STATIONED AT IMH. Though always a part of the night life scene, Joe still managed to acquire 18 years service at IMH. That is a sound investment for anyone. He and his son-in-law, Richard Lowry are big business brothers! The young man has real estate in the Model Cities area. His wife is the former Norma Jean Lane, Joe's only child. Joe has acquired property and resides at 1642 22nd Street, the unusually attractive dwelling situated at 22nd and Washington. The white structure is a bungalow cottage; an enormous lion lies there protecting it! The entire setting is surrounded by evergreens. Joe says his furnishings are strictly modern! Joe always shares his time and invests an interest in his mother. She has always been important in his life, a fine compliment to any son or daughter.

WITH MY DOCTOR'S APPROVAL I accepted Dr. Ada Dunner's invitation to join her and her lovely Siamese cat, Champagne (Champy) on an Estes Park vacation. We elected nighttime driving because it is so cool for summer travel. We drove straight to Fort Morgan, Colorado, had breakfast and settled in the cool Colorado morning at a Greeley, Colorado Motel. Slept the day away.

LIKE THE OWL THAT I AM, with the arrival of evening, I asked the motel operator what was there to do in Greeley. Upon hearing of my interest in things old, he described Larimer Square in Denver. Only 50 miles away! A bus would leave in 15 minutes. The proprietor's father-in-law drove me to the bus! At the station I tried to reach Flora Mae Danforth at Denver's Telephone Co. No luck! I boarded the bus for Denver anyway! As the bus threaded its way into Denver I noticed a street crowded with black people. It was Larimer Street. I asked to be allowed to get off. The driver directed me 5 blocks west to Larimer Square. Finding a phone I spent the next five minutes dialing Mrs. Danforth. Only a busy signal was my reward. Realizing the peril I faced should she complete her telephone conversation and leave her apartment. I had the operator interrupt. We hastily made plans for her to join me. This she did very shortly. Cruised into view at the wheel of a black Maverick!

HERE WAS FLORA DANFORTH excitingly chic in a natural, African style earrings, navy blue, green trimmed shirtwaist dress; carrying a blue wet-look leather satchel style bag and matching shoes! Learning that I had to make the 8:30 bus back to Greeley, she quickly determined that we would have dinner and then shop! While coming to this point, we were flying in and out of shops enroute to The Brat-Skellar, a cafe patterned after the early German cafes.

LET'S TALK ABOUT LA DANFORTH and what's she's about! Taking the long view career-wise, Flora Mae returned to Barnes School of Commerce for business administration. Upon completion of her training, she applied for employment at the State Motor Vehicle Department. She was hired by Jerome Rose, who holds the highest office of any black person in county and state jobs. He is now a State Representative. Fourteen months ago, she transferred to Model Cities where she is employed in the business office in business administration.

JOHNENE DANFORTH ADAMS (MRS. CLAYTON), the daughter of Flora Mae and of John Danforth, is a former public health nurse. She is now supervisor of the nurses at the New Elm Health Center, a magnificent recently erected center serving mainly black people.

SYDNEY CHERYL DANFORTH, the younger daughter, has completed one year in fine arts at the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado, and will resume her studies in August.

See you next week!

WAR CLOUDS IN MID-EAST

The U.S. has made a proposal to Israel and the Arab nations to agree to a cease fire for ninety days and to work out a peace treaty under the supervision of United Nations.

Israel finally accepted the proposal after hours of debate between the radicals and conservatives in the government.

Some Arab nations accepted the proposal immediately; some are holding out. This is due to the loose coalition which separates the Arab nations and, of course, like the Israelis, there are radicals and conservatives in both camps. Israel could not afford to turn down the proposal from the U.S. because it is her backer and advances supplies and help that must come if they continue to fight.

Russia had said little, but it is apparent that they are the backers of the Arab nations and too do not wish a confrontation with the U.S.A. which will surely come if this middle cost conflict continues.

It is hoped that these warring nations can work out their differences so that peace may prevail and the money spent for carrying on the war can be used for peaceful purposes.

IOWA NEEDS: BID FOR PEOPLE

Several states are using the news media to tell the public the advantages their states offer and urge that they make there home there.

To mention one, Georgia is making a strong bid for new people. Coastal states like California, Florida and Texas: east west and south are drawing people from the midlands greatly because of natural resources, more recreation, the weather, more glamour and money.

These are the locations of cities that have grown rapidly in recent years and are overcrowded.

Here in Iowa, people have left the farm and the small towns for greater opportunities and the ability of farmers to produce with far less help.

Since representation in Congress is based on population, those states with big gains get more members while those that lose population lose congressmen.

Iowa is one of these states that had a slow growth during the past ten years.

The Iowa Development Commission is designed to encourage industry to come here but there is no organized plan to encourage people to come here. Here is a project which needs to be started and worked hard.

LAW ENFORCEMENT HANDLED ROCK FESTIVAL WELL

The coming of the rock festival at Wadena created a tough problem for law enforcement officials and the people in the community.

It was difficult to imagine all these people camped on a 250 acre farm without the sanitary standards required and necessary for decent living.

It was reported that marijuana was sold and smoked pretty freely, a thing to be expected of this type of gathering. Nobody was arrested at the time for this. Likewise, they said some other questionable things went on which violated the law.

But make shift facilities were brought in and the show went on.

Here was a situation which required pretty careful planning by law enforcement officials.

They realized that had there been arrests, some extremists would have resented it and caused a lot of commotion and even a dangerous situation.

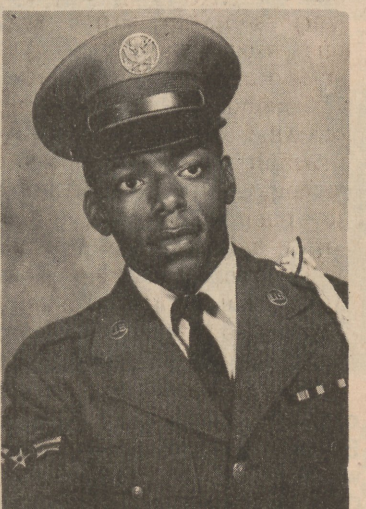

Apparently, the law felt that as long as the violators were not too disturbing, it was better to keep hands off and not play into the hands of radicals.

Our law enforcement officials are to be commended for keeping a potentially bad situation under control and yet allow this useless project to go on without leaving too much bad taste in anybody's mouth.

Keith Jackson Completes Technical Training

Airman Keith B. Jackson son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jackson of 1294 E. 19th, has successfully completed his training in the Aircraft Maintenance Specialist Jet Aircraft one and two at Technical School at Sheppard Air Force base, Texas. A 1969 graduate of Tech High school, he took his basic training at Lackland Air Force base, Texas. After 30 days at home he left for Japan for two years.

HEDGEHOPPER, FORT RUCKER, ALABAMA

In a recent article in Family Magazine, a question asks, "Do you have brains, charm, inequity, determination, children and a yen to go back to school?" This month's post personality, Almo Hawkins, is the answer to just that question. She has all these attributes and is attending Troy State U. four evenings a week.

Almo is the wife of CW-2 Irwin W. Hawkins assigned to Standardization Branch, DOT. They have one perky, pigtailed four-year-old charmer, Linda.

One stop into the Hawkins' quarters and you felt Almo's warmth and ingenuity; it's reflected in the decor of her home. An old ceramic buff, Almo has many fine creations accenting the contemporary theme. Bowling is another of her interest but lately curtailed.

Troy State and studying fills much of her time. She is majoring in secondary education with emphasis placed on musical education. Last semester she and hubby took a course together - music appreciation. Besides the heavy load of homework, wifely housework and her other interest, Almo is learning to play the autoharp and flutophone.

At past posts Almo was active in Red Cross and OWC clubs activities. During her first RVN separation she attended cosmetology school and during a second RVN tour, she went to Drake U. and modeled part time.

The Hawkins have been here almost 2 years, and Almo has been very active with the Religious Education Center. She is a Sunday School teacher, song leader and story teller. Her kindergarten-age charges number between 80 - 90 each Sunday. She loves the small fry and really enjoys her time spent with children. Another of her loves is ACS. In 1969, she was co-chairman of the child care committee; this year she still works on this project but must confine her work to fit her college schedule.

Almo is from Des Moines, Iowa and while in past years she has returned home for Irwin's overseas tours, this time she plans to stay in the Wiregrass area when he departs for Korea. She will continue to contribute

With Allen Ashby

At about seven thirty last Sunday night, Cecil Brewton and your's truly faced each other and shook hands. Each congratulated the other on a job well done. The two of us had pushed through the twenty-second Hilltop Open, and we were a couple of tired but happy guys. We felt that we had proved that two of us given enough determination, could put the thing on.

Valuable Assistance

This is not to say that we didn't miss Esther Myers, for we did. The work she did of getting out the entry blanks, ordering the trophies and balls, as well as handling the matches in the forenoon, was handled by Cecil, and we had some of the most dedicated people we have ever seen at a tennis meet in which they had no stake. Mrs. Ruth Rhodes of the Des Moines Tennis Association, worked as if she were on our payroll. She came when we set up for business and didn't leave until the last match was played. Then there was Mrs. John Milton who lent quite a hand. People like those two make the whole thing worth doing. We went into the meet strangers, and we just naturally became better acquainted before the thing was over.

Fair Attendance

In spite of the short notice, we scuffled up about one hundred twenty five people, and had some real tennis during the meet. We let the kids in the twelve and fourteen year old division play even though they were small groups because we felt that these were our future tennis players, and we ought to encourage them. We would have to say that the folks from Mason City came to play tennis. They walked off with a gang of titles. A couple of kids, Hughes and McCartney, won the sixteen year old boys doubles honors. Then Howard Sprague and Marrian Nissen defended their three titles. Sprague retained the veterans championship, Miss Nissen kept her women's singles honors, and then they teamed up to hang onto their mixed doubles crown. That thing was hanging in the balance for a while, but a tired Bill Rompf just couldn't make it with his partner, Miss Sally Schlafly of Iowa City. The Rompf fellow had quite a day. He swamped a Tim Kendall of Oskaloosa to take the men's singles honors, then returned to the court and teamed with a guy named Yeager to take top honors in mens doubles. Now the guy had played two semifinal matches in the morning, so he was playing his fifth match under that brutal sun. The veterans singles featured two of the top senior players in the country. Erling Jensen of Ames, and Sprague. Then in the women's doubles there were a couple of teenagers from Mason City (where else?) They sailed through the defending titleholders, Bobbie Levine and Betty Gerberich in straight sets. Then there were two more girls from that place who her energies to the Ft. Rucker community. She will stay with the Troy program and also be involved in as many activities as she feels she can do well.

Emphysema on the Upswing

Emphysema is one of the fastest growing causes of death in the United States.

The cause of the crippling lung disease is not known. Not yet. But clues are appearing. An indicting finger points to air pollution and smoking.

Recent experiments with dogs show that those who were trained to smoke heavily developed emphysema. And in America's most polluted city, New York, the death rate from the disease has risen 500 percent in the last ten years.

Smokers Pollute
People who smoke and live in polluted cities put themselves in double jeopardy.

The symptoms of emphysema - shortness of breath, chronic cough, and a tendency to tire easily - are often confused with another disease caused by cigarette smoking and aggravated by air pollution, chronic bronchitis. But bronchitis, which is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes, is subject to treatment. There is no known cure for emphysema.

In emphysema, the tiny air sacs in the lungs lose their elasticity and tear. Although some treatment is available, the damage is irreversible. Used air cannot be breathed out. The heart must work harder to pump oxygen-starved blood to needy body tissues. Death often results from respiratory failure or an overtaxed heart.

Quitting smoking and cleaning the polluted air can help prevent emphysema.

For more information about these and other lung disorders, check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

4 titles; not bad for one family.

Men's Play

We were secretly pulling for Gary Fletcher to somehow defend his mens' singles title, in spite of the fact that he wasn't in shape. If he could have played one match a day, he might have had a chance, but two, one right behind the other, were too much.

Then we thought that since they already had two legs on the Bill Ashby doubles trophy, we wouldn't mind seeing Fletcher and his partner win that. But they got booted out of that in the semifinal round. And again it was probably because neither was in top shape.

But then it was really a good meet, and the sort of

HALF-a-MAN

I was but BOY, a youth, a little man. I was full of life, filled with love, with energy, with hopes for the future, a child... a young man.

Beside me was a woman, my mother, sister, sweetheart, a woman, a Black woman, and I was a man ... a grown man.

Before me stood a creature who in my eyes was beautiful, and I wanted her. The white woman, the image of the screen, and I dreamt of the woman and me; a man ... a foolish together.

I found in happiness, sorrow, sadness, joy, and trouble, and I faced them alone. A lonely man, a grown man, yet ... A Half-a-Man.

I am no longer young, nor foolish, nor lonely. For besides me stands a woman who is, in my mind and eyes, beautiful. My woman, my Black woman, and with her I stand complete, a man ... A Black Man.
