Large Iowa Delegations at Boston Session

Boston, Mass. — The Prince Hall Shriners caused a population explosion here, as they literally took over this historic New England City, the likes of which never before witnessed since the Boston Tea Party.

Charles A. Dargan of New York City, the Imperial Potentate of the Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of North and South America, presided over the 77th Annual Session of the Imperial Council, and Mrs. Eliza M. Coleman of Natchez, Miss., the first Imperial Commandress to come from the deep south 59th Annual Session of the Imperial Court of the Daughters of Isis.

Highlights of interest to both Shriners and the general public were the Talent-Scholarship Competition Finals and Show at Boston's Symphony Hall, which was presented to a capacity audience; the Drill Competitions, Music Festival and Potentate's Oriental Ball that were held at the John B. Hynes Memorial Auditorium. The Talent-Scholarship show this year was dedicated to the late Walter Dyett, who had directed the department for almost twenty years. A plaque and citation were presented to his widow.

Yvette C. Walker of Bishoptonville, N.C., was the winner of the 22nd annual talent scholarship finals. She sang an aria from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly." Miss Walker was sponsored by the Desert (State) of North Carolina.

The 1971 Imperial Session will be held in Houston, Texas.

The illustrious Potentate Frank W. Hogan, Sr. and members of Zeid Temple No. 90, The Illustrious Commandress Dt. Bertie M. Hogan and members of Zeid Court No. 50 left Des Moines, August 14, Friday evening, to attend the 77th Imperial Council of the Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order of the Noble's Shrine Convention, and the 59th Annual Session of the Imperial Court Daughters of Isis.

10 Year Return
The New Boston, along with Prince Hall and Syria Temple were host to the National Shrine Convention which returns to Boston every 10 years for homecoming celebrations.

The convention proper got under way on the 17th of August lasting the entire week. Hotel Statler, Boston's famous hotel, was the convention headquarters, and the center of Masonic activities. More than 2,500 people attended the convention, the Chamber of Commerce estimated some 3 million dollars would be spent during the convention in Boston Town.

Election
The re-elected Imperial Potentate Noble Charles A. Dargan's theme was "Meeting The Challenge of the Seventies."

The Imperial Commandress Dt. Eliza M. Coleman, brought this message "Mindful of the Present Crisis, We, the Daughters of Isis stand strong and tall ready to assume our share of the responsibility to our nation

Fonza Is First Police Recruit

Leslie Fonza, 19 — 1800 12th St., has been hired as the first police cadet recruited from the Model Cities area in a new program undertaken by the Des Moines Police Department.

Fonza will work as a tour guide at the station and also take academic work at the Des Moines Area Community College in Ankeny as will other recruits.

A request to rent a recruiting headquarters for the Model City police cadet program was defeated by the City Council, 4-2, Monday night.

Councilman Robert Scott said that several Model City programs are housed in rented office space in the neighborhood just north of downtown. He proposed that the cadet program should move into one of the buildings already rented.

Purpose of the cadet program is to recruit young men from the neighborhood for training and possible future acceptance on the police force.

Block Burial Of Florida Veteran

Fort Pierce, Fla. — Funeral Services for Spec. 4 Pondexter Eugene Williams — Williams, 20, was killed by a mortar barrage Aug. 8 in Vietnam. His body arrived home Wednesday, and an undertaker asked officials of Hillcrest Memorial Gardens about a free plot, after he was refused burial in a cemetery for veterans for whites only.

A similar case arose in Iowa several years ago except that the deceased was an Indian. A court test was filed which reached the Supreme Court. It held that the contract was valid and not public policy.

Eagles Cancel Whites Only Rule

MILWAUKEE, WIS. — The Fraternal Order of Eagles' controversial "whites only" national membership clause has been canceled, the senior member of the organization's judiciary committee said Friday.

Charles H. Rowan, a Milwaukee attorney, said unanimous action Aug. 1 by 800 delegates to the Eagles national convention in Kansas City had the effect of canceling the word "Caucasian" in the preamble of the constitution.

Rowan said the word — used to denote a qualification for membership — was not deleted. But he said the convention ratified an amendment giving the 1,600 local aeries the sole right to determine who shall be admitted to membership.

The 800,000 - member Eagles organization has come under considerable criticism for its membership exclusions. Frequent attempts have been made by local aeries to change the regulation.

You don't have to be an etiquette nut to know that some things just aren't done in restaurants — very often, the food.

Release 12 in Omaha Bombing-2 Still Sought

OMAHA, NEBR. — Twelve of 13 persons arrested in connection with the bomb-slaying of Patrolman Larry D. Minard were out of jail Tuesday afternoon following the release of six persons on signature bonds.

Chief Deputy County Atty. Arthur D. O'Leary said three of those released on bond were charged with being an accessory after the fact. Three others were not charged. A seventh — Russell Peak, 15, of 3224 Pinkney Street — was transferred to Douglas County Jail where he was being held for his parole officer.

Six others had been released earlier.

Russell Peak is a cousin of Duane Peak, whose 16th birthday is today and who is charged in a warrant with first-degree murder. Duane Peak and David Rice, 23, of 2816 Parker Street, who has been charged with conspiracy to commit murder, were still at large Tuesday night.

Dier Issues Warrants
U. S. Dist Atty. Richard Dier Tuesday afternoon issued federal fugitive warrants for both of them. The procedure allows the Federal Bureau of Investigation to enter the search.

Peak was charged with flight to avoid prosecution for first-degree murder and Rice was charged with flight to avoid prosecution for possession of an explosive substance or device.

Those released Tuesday afternoon included Roosevelt McCoy, 21, of 2220 North Nineteenth St.; Willie L. Haynie, 22, of 2214 North Nineteenth St., and Donald Peak, 20, a brother of Duane Peak and also of 2214 North Nineteenth Street.

Each was charged with being an accessory after the fact and released on a $1,000 signature bond, O'Leary said. Previously each had been held on a $10,000 bond.

Three Not Charged

Oklahoma Center Target of Fire Bombing

OKLAHOMA CITY — Freedom Center, headquarters of the NAACP Youth Council in this city, has twice been the target of arson and bombing. On August 10, about 6:30 P.M., a fire was discovered in the back room of the office, cause unknown, Mrs. Clara Luper, youth council advisor, reported.

Early the next morning, about 3:00 o'clock, another fire was discovered apparently started by a Molotov cocktail hurled through a window. Much of the furniture and project materials were destroyed, Mrs. Luper, said.

Increase Funds For Opportunity Program

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Senate Appropriations Committee has voted to support President Nixon's request for a sharp increase in funding for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The committee, by a 112-4 vote Thursday, approved the full amount in Mr. Nixon's budget — $19 million. The House earlier had voted to allocate $14.3 million to the commission.

The commission was set up under the 1964 Civil Rights Act to prevent discrimination in employment. Mr. Nixon had appealed to Senate leaders of both parties for the $19-million figure, saying the commission had a heavy backlog of cases.

NEWS In A Nutshell

FAYETTE, Miss. — As Charles Evers celebrated his first year as Mayor of this small delta community on July 7, there were many who would agree with Ed Cole that "you can tell just walking down the street that something is happening here." And he means more than just newly-paved roads, sidewalks and fire hydrants; he means people.

Gov. Rockefeller, the state's first Republican governor since Reconstruction, took a commanding lead from the start over three challengers, including the first Negro candidate for governor in 50 years, the Rev. R. J. Hampton, a minister of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The Board of Elections said Tuesday that Representative Adam Clayton Powell, rejected as Democratic candidate for another term in Congress, squeaked through at the last minute with enough petitions to run as an independent.

ATLANTA, GA. — School districts throughout the South opened on an integrated basis Monday for the first time since the Supreme Court ruled that separate schools must be equal.

Early reports indicated that the process was orderly.

NMA Seeks Data On Negro Doctor Shortage

Washington, D.C. — As a major step toward reducing the crucial shortage of black physicians and to assist in the recruitment and education of black medical students, the National Medical Association Foundation, Inc., Washington, D.C., will gather data on the distribution and characteristics of black physicians.

Project Director for the survey will be Dr. Jean L. Harris, Deputy Executive Director, assisted by Dr. M. Alfred Haynes, Executive Director of the Foundation. Funds for the project will be provided under a contract with the Division of Physician Manpower, a component of the Bureau of Health Professions Education and Manpower Training of the National Institutes of Health

Statistics Essential

According to Dr. Kenneth M. Endicott, Bureau Director, "Reliable statistical information on black physicians is essential to the development of any program to augment minority recruitment and training for the medical profession."

Channel 11, KDIN-TV in Des Moines, and Channel 12, KIIN-TV in Iowa City, will broadcast the MISS BLACK AMERICA pageant in its entirety, Monday, August 31st at 8 PM. NAACP Seeks to Upset Michigan Law Delaying School Desegregation

DETROIT — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has filed suit in the United States District Court here asking that legislative action nullifying a desegregation plan approved by the Detroit Board of Education be declared unconstitutional.

In a news conference, following the filing of the suit, Aug. 18, NAACP General Counsel Nathaniel R. Jones and Tom Turner, president of the Detroit NAACP Branch, said that the suit had been filed to vindicate the five members of the board who had supported the all-out desegregation plan, four of whom were rejected by the electorate in a recall referendum. Meanwhile, the Michigan State Legislature passed a bill voiding the school board's desegregation-decentralization plan.

Challenges Legislative

As a result of the legislative action, Mr. Jones pointed out, at the news conference, "not only were the efforts of this school board frustrated, but their successors in office are required to carry out an unconstitutional policy of maintaining the existing segregated schools."

Named as defendants in the suit are the Governor of the state, the Attorney General, the State Board of Education and the Detroit Board of Education. In addition to asking for a ruling declaring the legislation unconstitutional, the suit asks that assignment of administrative and teaching personnel be in proportion to the composition of the student body, and that all new school construction be delayed until desegregation has been completed.

The National Office of the NAACP, Mr. Jones said, has joined the Detroit Branch in this action "because we believe that the constitutional mandate for desegregated education must apply equally throughout the United States."

Copying the South

"In Michigan we have a situation where a northern legislature has adopted the judicially discredited southern tactic of interposition and nullification (commonly known as states' rights) to prevent black and white children from enjoying their constitutional rights to an integrated education enforced by the United States Supreme Court. This lawsuit is part of a continuing pattern of school desegregation suits sponsored by the NAACP in northern communities. Some of the recent cases have included Benton Harbor and Pontiac, Michigan, and this week a similar suit will be filed in Grand Rapids, Michigan."

All-American Family finalist, Mrs. Monroe Colston, of Urbandale, Iowa is busy preparing a vitamin-packed meal for her family in the Tappan Nutritional event, a major judging category in the All-American Family Pageant and National Grand Finals being held in Lehigh Acres, Fla. During the week-long event, Mrs. Colston competed with other state family representatives in a Tappan Nutritional "cook-off". The meal, prepared on 51 ranges assembled in the huge auditorium, was judged by a staff of professional home economists headed by Miss Margaret Easley, manager of Home Service for Tappan. The All-American Family 1970-71 will be named at ceremonies on Saturday night.

Organize Funded Manpower Workers

J. Webb Mangum, New Careers Director in Las Vegas hammers home a point to one of the conference participants at the organizing meeting

New Careers Directors from across the country have organized into a National Association of New Careers Administrators. The new association of directors of federally-funded programs was formed in Oakland, California during a three-day conference of some 100 New Careers officials August 9, 10, and 11.

Mr. Charles E. Jackson, Executive Director of the Oakland New Careers Development Council, Inc. and chairman of the National Association, says he has begun a national drive to unite all manpower directors, poverty war leaders and federal and state workers concerned with community control of manpower development.

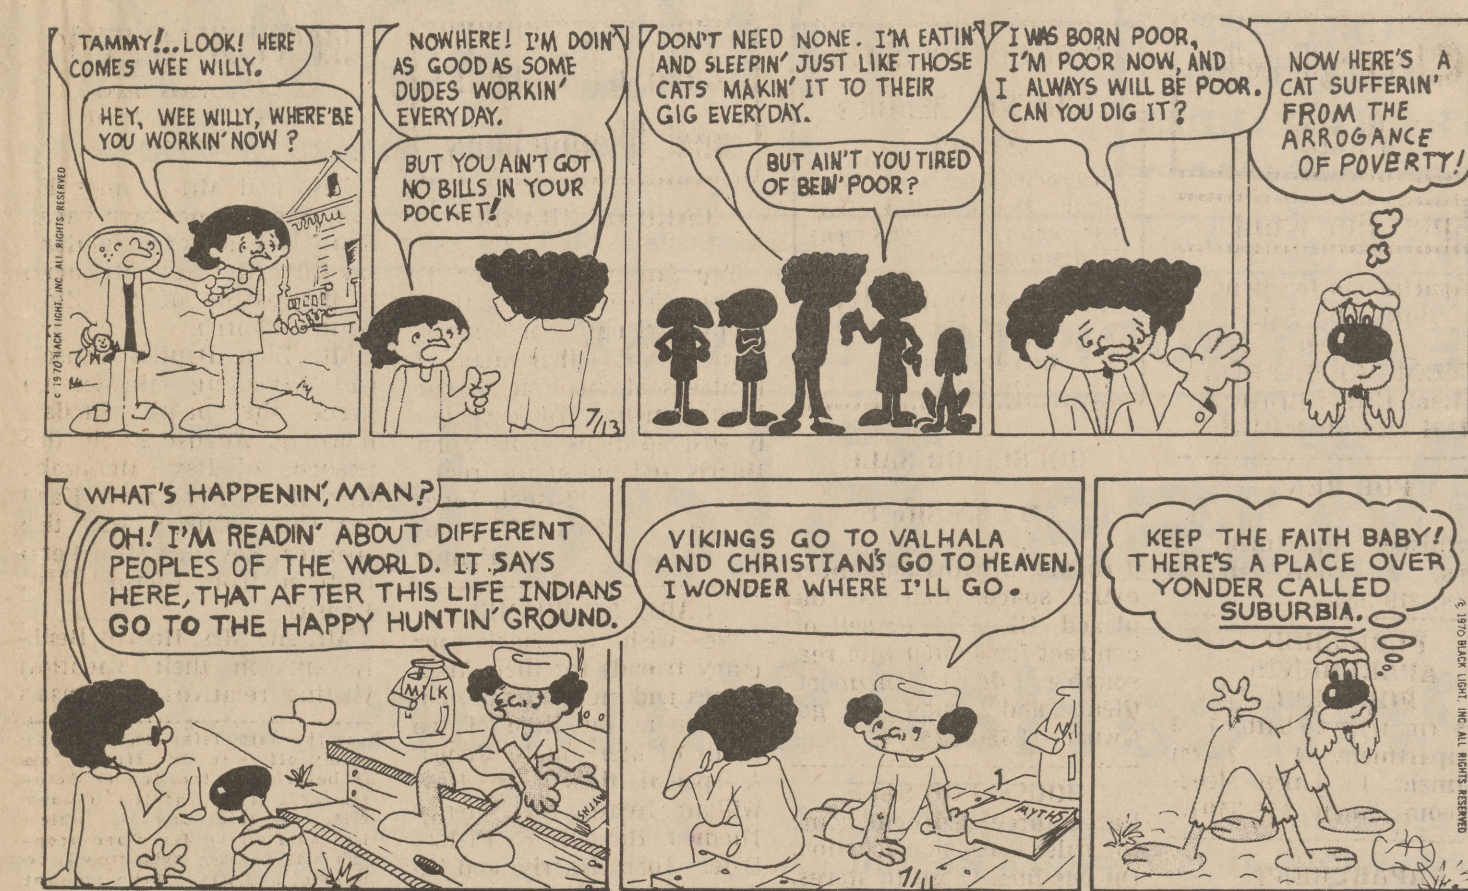

The New Careers program is designed to open up entry-level jobs in neighborhood redevelopment, public safety, education, welfare, and other "human services" fields to hard-core unemployed and underemployed. New Careers offers the hard-core unemployed their best chance because they have a job right from the start. They work 20 hours a week and attend school 20 hours a week. Since attending school is considered part of their job, they get paid on a 40-hour basis.

Federal Fund The first year the federal government picks up the entire tab. The second year the federal government pays half and the public agency the rest. At the end of the second year, the New Careerist has generally earned an Associates in Arts degree.

The third year, the public agency pays his whole salary. Mr. Jackson said the group will hold a national conference in Washington, D.C., next month to indicate its concern that the Nixon Administration is freezing minorities out of manpower planning.

Report From Chadron Within 10 minutes, they were reported, "seen" in Bellevue and North Omaha. Police also converged on Sixteenth and Douglas Sts., Tuesday morning after a Negro passenger told a bus driver that Duane Peak got off an Omaha Transit Co. bus at that address. Another report came from Chadron, Neb., Police Chief Robert Beers. He reported an Idaho man visiting Chadron said he had seen a man resembling Rice in a green and white foreign car in Casper, Wyo., Monday. Chief Beers, who notified the Omaha Police Department, said the man told him he recognized Rice from a picture carried in Monday morning's World-Herald.

D.C., next month to indicate its concern that the Nixon Administration is freezing minorities out of manpower planning.

LET'S TRY A BRAND NEW TOPIC, for this column. Things I read and think about and so this week shall share with you. SYDNEY HARRIS, THE FAMED COLUMNIST AND LECTURER, it is said, feels that it isn't necessarily so that 'necessity is the mother of invention!' Rather leisure nurtures invention! After my long vacation I think that I subscribe to this latter theory! The following collected lines result from completely absorbing leisure. I hope you, too, find them worthwhile.

JUST COMPLETED GERALD DURRELL'S "Two in a Bush," this well renowned British ecologist's adventure with birds and animals recorded on a 45000 mile trip to New Zealand, Australia and Malaya. 1970 has made our nation conscious at last of our responsibilities as concerns wild life conservation and created greater awareness of needed improved health practices. This comment well expresses one of Durrell's messages: "Firstly, what does conservation mean? It is not merely the saving from extinction... this is important work but it is only part of the problem. You cannot begin to preserve any species of animal unless you preserve the habitat in which it dwells." To disturb or destroy its habitat, is to exterminate as surely as shooting it. "So conservation means that you have to preserve forest and grassland, river and lake, even the sea itself. This is imperative to the preservation not only of animal life but for the future existence of man himself! Durrell further states "We have inherited an incredibly beautiful and complex garden, but the trouble is that we have been appallingly bad gardeners. We have not bothered to acquaint ourselves with the simplest principles of gardening. By neglecting our garden, we are storing up for ourselves, in the not very distant future a world catastrophe as bad as any atomic war, and we are doing it with all the bland complacency of an idiot child chopping up a Rembrandt with a pair of scissors. We go on, year after year all over the world, creating dust bowls and erosion by cutting down forests and overgrazing our grasslands, polluting one of our most vital commodities — water — with industrial filth, and all the time we are breeding with the ferocity of the Brown Rat, and wondering why there is not enough food to go round. We now stand so aloof from nature that we think we are God." Man's usual reaction to an animal is "What use is it?" Durrell asks "Does a creature have to be of direct material use to mankind in order to exist? By and large by asking "What use is it?" you are asking the animal to justify its existence without having justified your own. To better face today's basic problems as appears increasingly in the Register and Tribune, I recommend this very enlightening book. It is interesting and educational! In 1959 Durrell and his wife started a zoo in Jersey. In The Channel Islands and has turned it into the Jersey Wildlife Preservation Trust. The Trust's first purpose is to build up breeding colonies for those species receiving no protection and facing extinction! The second goal is to try to explain the imperative need for conservation — based on what we know about the way the world functions and bearing in mind the needs of mankind. It is the only zoo of its kind in the world. He closes requesting membership in The Jersey Wildlife Preservation Trust, Les Angres Manor, Trinity, Jersey, Channel Islands! Red for yourselves! It will be a convincing adventure as to where our further responsibilities lie as concerns ecology.

I MET PRETTY JUNE ROBINSON the other evening at Sorenson's Health Studio. June was completely unaware that many of the other girls and women were entranced with the grace and ease she displays in performing the simplest routines. She was accorded many nice compliments!

IT'S CHILD'S PLAY!

When youngsters first show an interest in helping mother in the kitchen, it can prove to be smooth sailing or rocky waters for both. Choosing the right recipe is very important. This delectable (and father-pleasing) dessert is custom-made for lesson number one. Spicy Bread Pudding is made a no-cook way with the able assistance of Jell-O Vanilla Instant Pudding. Mom may have to lend a hand at the end when it's time for the creation to be browned in the broiler.

Spicy Bread Pudding

4 or 5 slices dry bread
1 package (3 1/2 oz.) vanilla instant pudding
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

Trim crust from bread, toast, and cut into 1/2-inch cubes. Arrange half of the bread cubes in bottom of 1-quart baking dish. Prepare pudding mix as directed on package, adding salt, nutmeg, cinnamon, and vanilla before beating. Pour half of the pudding over bread cubes, add remaining bread cubes, and top with remaining pudding. Combine brown sugar and nuts; sprinkle over pudding. Broil 2 to 3 minutes. Chill. Makes 3 cups or 5 or 6 servings.

Don't throw out good trousers just because the cuffs are frayed; you can easily turn the cuffs!

THE WRONG WAY TO HELP MINORITIES

Washington Irving Junior high school, located in the Model Cities area and just off the troubled University Avenue, experienced considerable trouble during the 1969-70 school year. It would not be a misnomer if designated disgraceful for many students and grown ups conducted themselves far beyond reasonable decorum requiring the help of police officers to maintain some order.

The Iowa Education Association has completed a survey which they undertook in order to determine the cause of the trouble. Substantially their findings were that poor housing and lack of employment were the main contributing cause of the trouble.

We are convinced that the survey only touched the surface. Certainly poor housing, and there is considerable in the area, takes its toll. There are areas with far worse housing that have little trouble such as Irving. But we do know that there has been no lack of employment in the area for years. In fact, we would say that nobody in the area, who WANTS a job and is WILLING to work is unemployed. And the social welfare agencies do a pretty good job for mothers with children and who are unmarried.

For these reasons, it would be interesting to know who the investigators talked to. The teachers know and many parents will admit that the trouble is a disciplinary problem. The conduct in and out of class is disgraceful and many parents uphold them in it. They take the position that what their children do and say is right while anything the teachers do is wrong.

Recently Senator Humphrey warned that the liberals are losing much of the influence by excusing lawlessness and violence and that a change in this attitude must be had to restore the confidence of the public.

The Iowa Education Association attempts to be nice and excuse grown people for misconduct but it does them a disservice in the long run.

FRUITLESS
CHAMPIONING OF
HUMAN RIGHTS

The federal, state and local government along with our education system, are spending a lot of money from the cradle to the grave to educate the people. Most people are taking advantage of what is being offered to the end that we have more highly trained booklearned, educated people than ever before.

Matters of moral and social justice are generally left for home work by the parents and the church. But for some reason, too many are not getting the message through to the youngsters. Too many just have not exercised getting along sense which gets a lot of them in trouble unnecessarily.

Of course, our modern day living has given youngsters more liberty, the exercise of more rights than ever before all of which, at times, they take as permission to do what they choose regardless of the consequences.

A pitiful example of this is that of a Negro head of a minorities project at the U. of Colorado who was shot to death by a Mobil Oil service station attendant over the validity of a credit card.

Suffice it to say that travelers are at a disadvantage when conflicts arise with local people. And even though the traveler may be right "the monkey is on his back." That was the case of the Colorado educator.

Instead of engaging in a brawl, right or wrong, he should have paid the service charge and challenged

Lift Ban
Against Mrs.
Du Bois

NEW YORK — The Department of Justice has informed the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that it has withdrawn its objection to the entry into this country of Mrs. Shirley Graham Du Bois, widow of the late civil rights leader, editor and author, W. E. B. Du Bois. The NAACP had, on May 5, sent a telegram to Attorney General John N. Mitchell protesting the Justice Department's ruling against admitting Mrs. Du Bois. Other organizations and individuals also protested the barring of Mrs. Du Bois, herself a distinguished writer.

Reasonable Visit

In a letter to NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins, dated Aug. 13, James F. Greene, associate commissioner of operations in the Justice Department, noted that Mrs. Du Bois now wishes to visit her native land to participate in the dedication of the Black Hall of Fame "and to attend to personal business. The Department of State has recommended that her temporary admission for this purpose be authorized. In light of the reason for which Mrs. Du Bois now wishes to visit the United States, this Service has concurred in the recommendation. Notification to this effect has been given to the Department of State so that the consular officer in Cairo may begin to process Mrs. Du Bois' visa application.

Although born in this country, Mrs. Du Bois became a citizen of Ghana after she and her husband migrated to that country in 1961. Dr. Du Bois died there in 1963. His widow now resides in Cairo.

Forsee Black
Baseball Managers

Nashville, Tenn.—Major League baseball's first black team manager is likely to be named within the next three years, possibly as early as 1971, according to an exclusive, two-part report released today by the Race Relations Information Center (RRIC).

The study, entitled "The Black Athlete—1970," also foresees "a substantial number of blacks" moving into "coaching, scouting, and front-office positions in both the National and American leagues, within the next few years."

The report covers race relations in three major professional team sports—football, basketball and baseball—and intercollegiate sports in the Southeastern Conference (SEC).

In the 10-university conference, the study cites grievances among black athletes which, in the absence of policy changes at the institutions, could surface in the future as black participation in sports increases. The SEC, which includes several Deep South universities, was chosen for the study because it was the nation's last major intercollegiate conference to desegregate.

the company at the top. No longer do large companies tolerate customer abuse of black or white, today.

This is not to endorse the violation of any man's rights or to neglect or refuse to champion his rights, but there is a practical way which generally gets results and another way of butting the head against a stone wall which generally ends in disaster.

We have had some situations in Des Moines where brains and discretion would have changed painful endings.

With Allen Ashby

In case you are wondering what happened to last week's literary masterpiece, some thug swiped it. What a shock he must have got when he opened the thing and saw what he had.

Questions

Now we have a couple of questions to answer from our 1st column. Some guy wanted to know why not too many people knew about that college all star game between the black collegians and the pros. There really wasn't too much publicity about the thing except in the Negro press. As we recall, our daily Register carried on single paragraph about it. The Negro papers took the stand that if the general public would forget the thing, the Negro press would be very happy too. So, unless you are a veteran football follower, you likely don't know a thing about that game.

Professional

Then another fellow took us to stake for saying that we didn't think the professionals really needed all that time they took to get ready for their season. If the guy will look again, he will find that we said that the players had been working out all during the off season, and about all they really needed was to get their timing and play execution down. And we still think that shouldn't take two months.

Boxer

Another reader (we had a lot of them that week) asked how we knew about the boxer who wasn't too rigid in his rules, and if we really knew that story was true. We can vouch for the thing because we accompanied the fighter on his drinking trips. All but one, and on that occasion, some fast footwork kept our hero out of the jug, and the fight from being postponed. Glad we were not there.

Football

Now that the baseball season has just gotten into the crucial stage, football claims its share of the headlines. At Drake the Bulldogs are expecting one of their finest years, and Iowa State expects an improved ball club. And then everybody will be watching Iowa University to see what Coach Nagel can come up with his first team that he put together. The Hawks have a fairly tough schedule, but we have a hunch that there had better not be any five and five season again.

Eleventh Game

There is a lot of agitation for the eleventh game of the Hawkeyes to be Iowa State. But we think that would be an anticlimax for the Hawks, and they would have a tough time getting ready for it. While the Cyclones would be sky high. It would be just like when

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

Somewhere in the minds and hearts of men must be that understanding of brotherhood this world and nation really needs. Getting together with one another is so important and yet we seem to be pulling apart in opposite directions.

A review of the history of separatism points out that at one time a clear understanding of positions existed. For the white man understood his superior feeling and the black man knew his place.

Facilities provided were separate and the result was a grouping of individuals to the extent that blacks were grouped together on one side of the tracks and white were on the other side.

Then came the black rebellion which demanded that equal facilities, equal opportunities, equal education, be provided to the black. And, out of this was to come the mingling together in some form of integration.

The difficult adjustment and the process of preparation for total integration was begun. Fine speeches were made, all kinds of promises held out. Votes were exchanged, and coalitions formed to make integration possible.

The furnaces for justice, equality, and moral responsibility were fired up. The boilers built up the pressure and it was full steam ahead. But little or nothing happened, beneath it all the structure started to crumble. Simply stated, "For every effort at integration by one, there were two resisting."

Suddenly, out of the nowhere came a voice that cried, "Black is beautiful. I'm proud to be Black. Black power." And for just a second, the whole world stood still. It was as if the heavens had opened up and a soft gentle voice came down, and by its tone commanded all mankind to listen. The voice grew louder and louder until it became a thunderous roar.

The very cry brought a change in the struggle for equality. The black man in many cases turned his back on integration. The struggle shifted to demands by blacks for separate organizations, meetings, and brotherhood groups. On college campuses, they demanded black culture centers, black dormitories, and black fraternal orders. These demands had hardly been heard across the nation before the cry went up that this was discrimination in reverse.

The black man is still reeling in dizzy frustration from the reaction that followed his simple demand to be let alone. Blacks now kneel and pray more than ever. Their voices ring out as the lost souls of the wilderness.

What has happened and is being proposed is the same thing the white man imposed upon the black. But now that the black man out of pride is willing to accept his togetherness as a proud start, what strange voices we hear echoing through the valley and from the mountains. But, in spite of loud cries, I hear a faint voice in a minor key saying, "Get yourselves together, Brothers, it is beautiful, so beautiful."

All American when they picked only seven. Now you know just how good a black man had to be to be included in that eleven. Those who knew said that the big fellow was one of the greatest athletes in Atlantic Coast history. It was said that he was a baseball pitcher of major league caliber and one of the best basketball players of his day.

The Trouble

Now we know that Paul did a lot of things that white America didn't approve of, but we are not discussing the fellow's political ideology, nor his social conduct, but the fact that he was one of the great athletes of his day. His life wasn't tainted by any scandal, but he was outspoken in his criticism of race prejudice in America. Maybe he was about fifty years ahead of his time. Anyhow, we think he belongs in the collegiate hall of fame.

VETERANS

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q - I cannot find my G. I. insurance policy. Does this jeopardize my protection in any manner?

A - No. Notify the Veterans Administration that the policy lost, destroyed, or never received, and you will be issued a duplicate. Be sure to include the insurance policy number if you know it. Otherwise send your full name, VA claim number, military service number and date of birth.

Q - I served four years in the Marines, and will be honorably discharged in a few weeks. Will I receive 48 months of educational assistance?

A - Your maximum entitlement is 36 months under the GI Bill. However, if you are also eligible under some other law - such as the child of a permanently and totally disabled veteran - you may receive a combined total of up to 48 months.

A Prayer

Dear Lord, I lift my eyes to thee
Dear Lord, look down upon me
Dear Lord, have mercy upon my soul
Dear Lord, lift me up from down low
Father, I stretch my hand to thee
From my enemies, let me flee
Bind me closer, closer to thee
Dear Lord, let me walk close to thee
Dear Lord, hear my humble cry, hear my plea.
Amen.
