Nixon Cites Aid to Black Colleges

Vast Improvement During his 20 Months in Office

Refuting the charge that his administration does not have an awareness of the financial plight of Black colleges, President Nixon has pinpointed grants that have been made during his 20 months in office.

Says he:
The President's commitment to the support of predominantly Black colleges is clear and unequivocal, and statements to the contrary which have been recently publicized are factually wrong. The President's record establishes that more has been done in the 20 months of this Administration with regard to Black colleges than in any other Administration in the history of this nation.

President Nixon has responded with action—not silence—to the needs of the Black college community.

Results

—The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has pledged an additional $29 million of aid to predominantly Black colleges in fiscal year 1970, bringing the HEW contribution up to $125 million.

—An additional $4 million in work-study funds was allocated, combined with the revolutionary regulation which permits the Commissioner of Education to waive the matching requirement for institutions 50 percent of whose students come from families with a gross annual income of $7,500 or less.

—The National Institutes of Mental Health recently has made several multi-year grants for development of academic psychology programs.

Grant to Health Education

—The Bureau of Health Professions Education and Manpower Training increased its FY 1970 funding to Black colleges by $3.5 million over 1969.

—In the Department of Agriculture, Secretary Clifford Hardin has decided to place a USDA personal liaison staff member at 16 of the predominantly Black land-grant institutions. These liaison staff will assist in strengthening programs of research, teaching, and public service.

—Transportation Secretary John Volpe, has announced a series of three grants to Black institutions totalling nearly a half million dollars. These grants were initiated by a Transportation Department task force.

Labor Department

—The Department of Labor has awarded sizable institutional research grants to two Black institutions.

—Tuskegee Institute and Howard University have been the recipients of grants from the Federal Water Quality Administration—grants totalling close to $80 thousand.

These are just few of the grants initiated in this Administration to Black colleges. More have been made, and more will be forthcoming. Most of

A. Jane Molden Joins Grand View College Staff

Miss A. Jane Molden, former director of Willkie House in Des Moines, has joined the staff of Grand View College as campus coordinator for Project CHES (Consortium in Higher Education for Special Services), according to the president, Dr. Ernest D. Nielsen.

Project CHES is a federally-funded inter-institutional program designed to provide educational and counseling services to disadvantaged and physically handicapped students in the Des Moines area. Participating in the consortium, in addition to Grand View, are Drake University and the Des Moines Area Community College.

The cooperative effort by the three institutions has been made possible by a $110,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Princeton Graduate

Miss Molden completed her undergraduate work at Schuylkill College and holds a master's degree from Princeton Theological Seminary. She also completed advanced study and clinical training at the New Jersey State Hospital. Prior to coming to Des Moines as director of Willkie House, Miss Molden was employed in counseling programs in Chicago and Kansas.

At Grand View Miss Molden will be responsible for a more intensive counseling program and remedial assistance. A special one-week summer study skills program preceding the freshman year also is planned at Grand View as part of Project CHES. Miss Molden will have counterparts on the Drake and Community College campuses, all of whom will work closely with a project director to be named in the near future. Central office for the project is located on the Drake campus.

these actions have taken place in the short period since the President met with Black college Presidents four months ago.

President Nixon's tenure in office has been the source of radical changes in the funding and assistance to Black colleges. His forthright position will certainly lead the way to a successful fulfillment of his pledge for "equal educational opportunity." This is the record of reform on which the President ought to be judged.

NEWS In A Nutshell

New York, Sept. 28...The increasing employment of blacks and other minorities in the mass media is important because "they bring to the press a sensitivity to certain kinds of problems that, with the best will in the world, a white reporter can't always deliver," a leading educator in the journalism field declared today in a radio interview.

Dr. Carver a Symbolic Student - Dr. Parks; Dr. Patterson Address

When George Washington Carver won his baccalaureate and Masters degrees at Iowa State College in 1894 and 1896 respectively, he never dreamed that some day a $3.1 million structure at Ames would be named in his honor.

Classes and Offices
Construction of the $3.1 million hall was started in 1967, and was completed early in 1970. Its 133,300 square feet of area contain the administration offices of the College of Sciences and Humanities, the Department of Mathematics, and the Department of Industrial Administration. Included are 42 classrooms and two large lecture halls with seats for 196 and 242, respectively, making the building invaluable to the total teaching program of the University.

This is just what the program was all about at Iowa State University, Sunday, September 27, at Lecture Auditorium.

Dr. Roy Presided
Dr. Chalmers J. Roy, dean of the College of Sciences and Humanities, presided. There were remarks by Stanley Redeker, president of the State Board of Regents.

Dr. Patterson
The main address was given by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, President Emeritus, Tuskegee Institute, Ala., and now new head of the Robert Russa Moton Foundation of Virginia and alumnus of ISU.

Following his graduation, Dr. Patterson joined Dr. Carver as assistant at Tuskegee. He related several instances, often disputed from hearsay, when Henry Ford offered Dr. Carver a fabulous sum to join his staff of scientists.

But Dr. Carver refused, he said, believing he could do more for the underprivileged Negroes by staying at Tuskegee with a salary of $1,500 per year.

Established Foundation
Dr. Patterson said to his surprise, Dr. Carver turned over to him several thousand dollars for the establishment of a foundation to perpetuate some of his discoveries and to help underprivileged students.

Robert Parks
Dr. W. Robert Parks, president of ISU delivered the dedication address calling Carver a "symbolic student."

"I call him symbolic because Iowa State was the first state to accept the provisions of the Morrill Act, which opened the doors of education to young people of this nation for whom a college education had been out of the question because they lacked the financial resources."

Lobby Service
Following the program in the auditorium, presentation of plaques was made by Mrs. Jody Knudsen, secretary of the class of 1961 and Sidney C. Banwart, treasurer, class of 1968.

They were accepted by Robert Crom, director of alumni affairs.

Dr. Calloway Speaks
Dr. Nathaniel O. Calloway, an alumnus of ISU and now a practicing physician in Wisconsin, and who received his BS and Ph.D. from Iowa State, spoke. He, too, joined Dr. Carver at Tuskegee for a number of years, later returning to school where he prepared for a medical career.

He said, "Carver's greatest single accomplishment was to tear down once and for all time the concept that blacks could not achieve in science, and he established the necessity for our apologetic, oppressive social order to find reasons to deny the black man his just rights."

The Black student center was dedicated in Lecture Auditorium at 1:30 p.m.

NAACP Challenge Congress for Racial Equality Segregation

The Congress on Racial Equality (C.O.R.E.) has joined white bigots in Mobile Alabama in opposing a plan for school integration. C.O.R.E. has adopted black separatism as its aim, and separation of Negroes and whites is just what the KKK and other white bigots want. Most decent people want to unite this nation on the basis that housing, education, jobs, and promotion will be open to all equally on the basis of ability regardless of race, creed, or color according to a letter circulated by Alfred Baker, Treasurer of the NAACP.

Segregation
Breeds Poverty
Equally with racial discrimination, poverty is the main disadvantage of Negroes. They need more jobs and opportunities for advancement. They need better housing, better pay, better social security, and more nearly adequate public welfare relief for those who can't or should not work, such as the aged, the sick or disabled children, and the mothers of young children who should be able to stay home and care for their children instead of being forced on to the labor market, already cursed with high unemployment, at very low pay.

NAACP Publishes First Multi-Racial Syllabus History

NEW YORK — Publication of the first multi-racial and ethnic syllabus of United States history for secondary schools was announced at a news conference here, September 21, by Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The 220-page work, American Majorities and Minorities, is a publication of the Education Programs Department of the NAACP Special Contribution Fund prepared by Warren J. Halliburton and William Loren Katz, authors and educators.

In announcing the publication, Mr. Wilkins hailed it as "the first comprehensive and fully representative syllabus for teaching United States history in secondary schools ever to be developed."

History Course

For the first time, he said, history teachers "have available an entire course in U.S. history that deals adequately and accurately with Indians, Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Mexican-Americans, and other minorities that have helped shape the nation."

"At the same time, American Majorities and Minorities is perfectly inclusive as regards the traditional events and developments in American history. It is a complete course of study in American history for the secondary schools, not a supplement to the regular course. The syllabus is not an effort to replace white history with black history, to substitute George Washington Carver for George Washington."

Purpose

The purpose of the syllabus, the NAACP leader said, is to place the contributions of the various racial and ethnic groups into proper perspective. For most American school children, he pointed out, "it will mean a first chance to learn about great Indian nations that ruled the land before Columbus, of the Mexican-American and black cowboys who drove cattle up the Chisholm trail, of the inventors of every race and nationality that helped make America an industrial giant. It also offers neglected information on the roles of prejudice and racism have played in our nation's history."

Mr. Wilkins paid tribute to the authors, Halliburton and Katz, "both of whom have contributed early history books on black and other minority groups and have written history syllabi for the New York State Education Department under Dr. James E. Allen," he said.

Mr. Katz is general editor of the series: The American Negro — His History and Literature published by the Arno Press (which also published American Majorities and Minorities) and The New York Times and is the author of Eyewitness: The Negro in American History and of Teachers' Guide to American Negro History.

Mr. Halliburton is co-author of New Worlds of Literature, a multi-racial high school textbook, and a former editor of McGraw-Hill's Multi-Racial Textbook Series.

Rockefeller Grant

Compilation and publication of the syllabus was made possible by a grant from the Rockefeller Family Fund to the NAACP Special Contribution Fund through its Education Programs Department of which Miss June Shagaloff is director.

Urban League Training

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 18 — The National Urban League today completed the second cycle of its Executive Development Program, begun last spring, with the presentation of certificates of achievement to eight young black people recruited from graduate schools, college and high school faculties, inner-city action groups, labor unions, federal agencies, and staff members of the Urban League to serve as Executive Directors of local Urban League offices across the nation.

Producing Leaders

In presenting the certificates at a luncheon held at the black-owned Pitts Motel in Washington, D.C., NUL Executive Director Whitney M. Young, Jr. noted that the Washington-based training program is "the National Urban League's response to the need for a new kind of leadership to meet the crisis of the seventies." Specially designed to recruit, train and support a corps of highly-motivated, black-oriented urban action leaders, the 12-week intensive Executive Development Program is made possible by a foundation grant.

Help Ghetto Blacks

Because minority groups are at the height of intelligence but at the lowest ebb of hope, Mr. Young pointed out, the role of the new Urban Leagues is "no longer the power broker. Our primary responsibility today is to help blacks in the ghetto...select their own leaders." Among the major goals of Urban Leagues during the 1970s, he said, are unity, coalition (working with other social agencies) and negotiation.

The new directors are expected to relate to all segments of the communities to which they will be appointed, from grass-roots groups to elements of the "power structure," using the techniques of public communication, fund-raising, policy and program development and evaluation to the fullest advantage of the community and the League.

Held for Service Station Robbery

Three persons were being held in the City Jail Friday morning in connection with a robbery at the Vickers Service Station, 1441 Second Ave. about 1 a.m.

On of the three, Otis Harper, 20, of 1311 Fifth Ave., was charged with carrying a concealed weapon. The other two, one of them a 17-year-old boy, were being held for questioning by detectives.

Police said the service station attendant, Paul LaMunyon of 1446 Henderson Ave., told police that two unmasked bandits robbed him of $33 and that one of them, who was armed with a pistol, threatened to shoot him.

Police said the robbers then fled on foot.

Police said Harper was picked up near Clark Street and Second Avenue a short time after the Vickers Station robbery and that he was carrying a .22-caliber pistol.

The 17-year-old youth was taken into custody near Seventh Street and University Avenue. The other man was arrested after the other two had been taken into custody.

Social Security for Domestic Dues

Employers of domestic workers were reminded today that social security reports for their employees are now due. "The reports for the calendar quarter ending September 30 are due by October 31," advised LeRoy Larson, acting district manager of the Des Moines social security office.

Domestic workers in private homes are eligible for benefits under the social security program in the same manner as workers in private industry.

LDF Charge Bias in Licensing School Supervisory Personnel

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Examinations for public school supervisory personnel in New York City discriminate against qualified Blacks and Puerto Ricans, according to a complaint filed today in U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York.

Representing the plaintiffs in a class action in behalf of all Black and Puerto Rican pedagogic personnel in the system, attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) charge that the licensing tests of the Board of Examiners result in racial job classifications and are illegal.

According to the complaint, the exclusionary nature of the examinations is attested to by the fact that out of about 1000 licensed principals in the city's schools, only 11 are Black and only one is Puerto Rican. Further, the percentage of Black and Puerto Rican supervisory personnel, such as principals and assistant principals, is strikingly lower than that in the four next largest American cities.

Standard Markets Lead free Gas

DES MOINES, Ia. — Oct. 1. — The Standard Oil division of American Oil Company took a giant step toward nationwide marketing of its new pollution-fighting lead-free gasoline today, as it expanded the sale of the product to Interstate Highway locations and more than 100 cities including Des Moines.

Bill L. Gass, district manager, Des Moines, said the new product is now on sale at over 3,500 stations across the country. The expansion was accompanied by an extensive advertising campaign promoting the benefits of the lead-free fuel.

Introduced in May

Lead Free AMOCO was introduced first in Chicago May 28, with subsequent expansion to Detroit and Kansas City. American Oil expects to offer lead-free gasoline at 11,000 of its branded service stations and truck plazas by the end of this year, with distribution completed in 1971.

Also, special handling modifications had to be constructed at terminals and transportation facilities added in order to maintain AMOCO's lead-free purity. A 91-octane gasoline, Lead Free AMOCO is now sold as a third grade, in addition to the company's current premium and regular grades. In 25 eastern and southern states, it will complement AMOCO Super Premium, the only lead-free premium on the market, sold by the company for over 50 years.

Price Up 3 cents

Because the new lead-free fuel contains a high percentage of the expensive all-petroleum components found in premium gasolines, the company expects it to sell at a retail price of about three cents over regular.

But even without such catalytic equipment, use of Lead Free Amoco will cut unburned hydrocarbon emissions by 15 to 20 percent, and eliminate altogether the emission of lead particulates, the company said.

According to statements issued by Detroit automakers, along with the phraseology contained in the 1971 new-car owner's manuals, most new cars manufactured in the United States will be able to use the new 91-octane lead-free gasoline. Many earlier models which normally use regular grade will also operate efficiently on Lead Free Amoco, said the company.

In addition to its anti-pollution properties, Standard Oil says the new product will deliver more immediate benefits — based on its experience with lead-free premium for over 50 years. These benefits include "longer life for spark plugs, muffler, and tailpipes; lower maintenance cost and improved performance under many conditions."

The Standard spokesman said: "Our long experience in manufacturing and marketing AMOCO Super Premium puts the company in a position of leadership in expanding sales of our new reduced-octane gasoline."

Red Cross News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1970 — Approximately 80 per cent of the 7,100 fire deaths last year occurred in the home, the American Red Cross pointed out today, and the number can be reduced significantly if householders will take the necessary precautions for fire prevention and learn first aid.

"Every family should have a fire escape plan and practice it regularly," said Robert M. Oswald, national director of Red Cross Safety Programs. "At least one member of the family should have first aid training."

The Red Cross warning was related to the organization's participation in National Fire Prevention Week, which President Nixon has proclaimed for October 4 - 10. Mr. Oswald said first aid classes, available at most Red Cross chapters, teach accident prevention, artificial respiration and emergency first aid care for burns among other subjects.

A special piggyback train carrying meat on a non-stop schedule from Omaha, Neb., to New York City over the Rock Island and Penn Central railroads will begin regular service on Friday, September 25.

The train is the result of cooperative efforts of shippers in the Omaha area and the two railroads. Dubbed the Omaha-New York Express, or the "Big O-N-E," the train will carry 50 or more flatcars loaded with highway trailers containing a variety of meat products. Trailers are equipped with electronic cooling devices designed to maintain uniform temperatures over the 1440 mile run. Each flatcar can accommodate two, 40-ft trailers.

Q. To whom do I address a letter of resignation from a club, and how is it best worded?

A. Address it to the secretary of the club, and something like this: "My dear Mrs. Hall: It is with regret that I must ask the such-and-such club to accept my resignation, since I am.... (and it is always polite to give some reason, if possible)."

Q. Is it proper, at the dinner table, to push your plate back when you have finished eating?

A. Indeed not! The plate remains exactly where it is until whoever is doing the serving removes it.

Q. Isn't it proper and customary for a woman to use her maiden name as her middle name after she is married?

A. Yes. In other words, after Anne Virginia Miller marries William John Harris, she becomes Anne Miller Harris.

Q. Is it acceptable to phone one's acknowledgment of a gift?

A. This is far better than no acknowledgment at all. But on the other hand, there's something about a nice, personally-written note of thanks that seems to convey more interest and sincere appreciation of the gift.

Q. Is it all right to help oneself from a jelly or jam dish, applying it directly to one's piece of bread or roll?

A. No. Put a small portion of the jelly or jam on your butter plate, or on the rim of your dinner plate, and then with your knife transfer it from there to your bread.

Q. When a girl is making up the guest list for her wedding and finds it too large for the space available in her church, should she issue her invitations anyway to the entire list on the chances that some will not be able to attend?

A. And what an uncomfortable situation it might be if they all DID come! Much smarter and safer to cut down her list.

Q. Does one properly use one's napkin for removing a particle of food from the mouth, such as a bone or other inedible portion of meat?

A. No, indeed! Use the fingers, and then the napkin for wiping the fingers.

Q. A friend of mine is giving a stork shower for me. Should I phone her the following day to thank her, or should I write a note?

A. Verbal thanks at the end of the party itself are usually enough — but there never can be anything wrong with a sincerely-written note of thanks, too.

Helen Lemme Elementary School Dedication October 4

THE HELEN LEMME ELEMENTARY SCHOOL will be dedicated on October 4, 1970 at 2:00 P.M.

Helen Lemme Elementary School, completed in the summer of 1970, was built as a cluster of three areas around a center complex. The complex includes a workroom, principal's office, and media center. The three clusters can be opened into one large area and all have easy access to the media center. The school, similar to others in Iowa City, is ungraded, and the students have been divided into three groups: primary, middle and upper. The present enrollment is 230 students.

Well Equipped

The media center has a floor space of 2,230 square feet and can seat approximately eight students. It is arranged in a U-shape and has a high, sloping ceiling with exposed steel beams.

also obtained for low-income whites who have the same needs. This is the natural political alliance, as the older and more experienced civil rights organizations such as the NAACP fully realize. Black separatism, which aligns those few Negroes who have fallen for it with the white bigots who also want segregation, cannot do the political job of relieving the poverty of too many Negroes.

KRESGE'S

"For One Stop Family Shopping and Savings" DOWNTOWN: 7th & Walnut

The media center, as well as the classroom clusters, is carpeted.

Filmstrip projectors and individual previewers, tape recorders, 16 mm. projectors, 8mm. cartridge projectors, a dry mount press, record players and a listening center are all available for students and teachers. Materials to be purchased include books, periodicals, tapes, records, filmstrips, transparencies and pictures.

There are study carrels and small areas where students can use the materials or do independent research. A sunken amphitheater, seating approximately thirty-five students, is used for story hour or small group instruction.

The media center is among the largest and most well-equipped in the Iowa City school system.

Needs Funds

The Library of this school is in need of books and other library materials. This being a new school, there are no groups such as the P.T.A. yet organized that might take over such a project.

We thought that many friends of Helen would like to contribute to a fund to purchase needed library materials. The books will be selected and ordered by the School Librarian because she is the one who would best know just what is most needed. Donations of books suitable for grades K-6 would also be acceptable.

FOREST AVENUE MISSION PROGRAMS

The Community Development Tutorial Program, at Forest Avenue Gospel Temple Mission, 1121 Forest Ave., will start its new year on Oct. 5, 1970. This program has been operating for 12 years. The past 3 years a feeding program has been underway serving 3 meals a day. The students of the tutoring program also benefit from the feeding program.

The tutoring program this year has introduced some new and beneficial additions. (1) Certified teacher has been working all summer coordinating the program. (2) Students from Drake University will be working in the tutorial program. (3) Certified teachers will also be working with the students. An enrichment program has been included along with the basic tutoring classes. This program is geared to benefit all students whether they are improving skills or maintaining skills of learning. (4) Along with field trips, tours around the state and out of state, audiovisual programs, there will be special projects and black studies included. (5) There will be times when the parents will have an opportunity to participate in the program along with their children (6) The program is definitely student orientated.

Actual enrollment for

of policy?

A. There is little need to worry about your son. Accredited camps, such as those belonging to the American Camping Association, are required to carry group health insurance for campers, usually at a nominal charge. Generally, the youngsters are insured while on the camp premises or elsewhere when in the care and custody of the camp. This coverage also applies when traveling to and from the summer camp location.

Accredited camps also are well equipped with an infirmary, and a physician or a registered nurse is readily available at all times. It is a good idea, nevertheless, to look into the camp's health care facilities.

OBITUARIES

Services for Mrs. Lucy Morris Jones, 46, of 1423 Ninth St. were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Estes and Son Funeral Home. Burial will be at Glendale Cemetery. Mrs. Jones died of a heart attack at Mercy Hospital Sunday after a brief illness.

Born in Flora, Miss., she had lived in Des Moines 14 years and was employed for two years by Look magazine. She was a member of the Mission Chapel Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, LeRoy, and mother, Mrs. Alice Morris of Des Moines.

Services for William Christian, 72, of 1446 Fremont St., who died Saturday at Northwest Hospital after a year's illness, were held at 1 p.m. Thursday at the L. Fowler & Son Funeral Home, with burial in Glendale Cemetery.

Mr. Christian, a retired pipe and tile company foreman, was born in Higbee, Mo., and lived 30 years in Des Moines. He was a member of the Maple Street Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Ada; a son, John of Moberly, Mo.; his mother, Mrs. Mattie Christian of Higbee; three sisters, Mrs. Josie Williams and Mrs. Lucinda Turner, both of Moberly, and Mrs. Willie Mae Angel of Kansas City; three brothers, Sherman and Charles, both of Higbee, and Paul of Moberly; two half brothers, Lou Ray Oliver of Moberly and Roosevelt Oliver of Huntsville, Mo., and four grandchildren.

A wake was held at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the funeral home.

A factor you may have overlooked is your own family's health insurance coverage. Many such policies provide coverage for children anywhere they may be.

A letter to the camp director could clear up the question of how much coverage it provides. If you feel you need more insurance, policies to cover this situation are available.

Q. Do you have the latest figures on how many people are covered by health insurance and how much insuring organizations paid out in benefits?

A. We sure do. As 1970 began, an estimated 176 million Americans — representing 85 per cent of the civilian resident population — were protected by one or more forms of private health insurance. This represents an increase of about 6 million people during the last year.

Total health insurance benefits paid out by all private insuring organizations during 1969 were $13.5 billion, a rise of 10 per cent over the previous year.

FIX-IT TIP

A fireplace can be a source of drafts, since it is usually on an outside or garage wall. To draftproof, fill the joint where wall and fireplace meet with a cement mix. If the opening is quite large, stuff it first with aluminum foil and then seal with cement.

Mahon Quotes

Presidents Letter to College Heads

Don Mahon, Republican candidates for Congress in the Fifth District, said today that as the nation's colleges and universities resume classes, President Nixon has written a letter to 900 college administrators urging them to take a strong stand against campus demonstrations and rioting.

Mahon, noting that the President laid the responsibility for control of campus violence squarely on administrators in charge of institutions of higher education, said that Nixon has pointed out a basic fact — violence can only be stopped when the responsible majority decides not to tolerate it regardless of what kind of cause it's supposedly promoting.

DR. AND MRS. STANLEY GRIFFIN shared with me a recent dinner date with daughter, Phyllis, at Simpson College! That school's Operation Education, Inc. was holding an African fundraising dinner in behalf of its project which is that of bringing to Simpson College Edward and Grace Manhutu, of Rhodesia. Manhutu is a Rhodesian administrator in the lower grade elementary schools and will enter Simpson College.

C. PAYNE LUCAS, DIRECTOR, OFFICE OF VOLUNTARY ACTION, and Special Assistant to Peace Corps Director, was the evening's speaker. Lucas felt he was among friends for more than the expected reasons—you see, his wife, the former Freddie Hill, in 1965 received her Ph.D. from the University of Iowa and is now Health and Education Director in Urban Affairs for the J. C. Penney Company.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE JAMES I. MIDDLESWART, Democratic Candidate for re-election was seated to my left at the African dinner. Meeting him was a real pleasure. His cordiality was not prompted by a desire to impress. He is genuinely friendly and interested in blacks.

OPERATION EDUCATION INCORPORATED AFRICAN MENU had as its main dish ground nut soup, a goulash-type preparation, which appeared to be a beef and codfish combination. It was good—very, very good! Dessert was an African delicacy, koeke sisters. These are a braided dough cut in triangles, deep-fried, then dipped in a glaze. These were served in pretty dishes and surrounded by bananas. These, too, were delicious! Mrs. C. Updegraff, who so graciously assisted me in acquiring information concerning the food, credited the women's fabulous luck in having this cookie recipe to the courtesy of the wife of a former African graduate student.

DONALD DITTMER, SIMPSON COLLEGE FACULTY MEMBER and board member of Operation Education, Inc. chaired the dinner committee. The affair is said to have grossed $380 and netted $265.

JERRI BATES LOPEZ TRIED TO RENEW all her old acquaintances but she will have to try again! I have to try again! I have heard a complaint and were I to listen more closely would probably hear others—Jerri is that well thought of. Frances Lee Eppright was stunned to read in this column that Jerri had visited in Des Moines. As teenagers they had been very good friends. So Jerri can start planning!

AGAIN FROM THE PAST! Remember Earthele Belle Bogie who became Mrs. John Fitzpatrick? Chatting with her son, Levester Fitzpatrick, learned she is now Mrs. Warthen, Route #1, Box 89, St. Anne, Illinois.

THE ROSE L. GRAGG CLUB'S SATURDAY NIGHT DINNER was both delicious and beautiful. Noted assisting Ruby Spencer (Mrs. Jack) the club's hostess, were Margaret Sorrell, Mildred Dysart, and Thelma Calderson.

COMPLIMENTING MARGARET SORRELL'S very chic blouse, I learned that she makes most of her wardrobe! Combining patterns and adding ideas of her own, she does a great deal of designing actually. (Professionals attend showings, come away and then do their thing. Margaret's method could be said to be much the same!)

Methodist Children's Center Offers Day Care for Pre-School Children

Parents in the Des Moines area who want their preschool children to receive excellent day care and nursery education should check with Methodist Hill Children's Center.

They visited with her this past Friday and Saturday. Attending a dinner-reunion in Mrs. DeSleet's home Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Turner, Mrs. DeSleet's daughter; Frieda M. Steele, daughter; Mrs. Marguerite Howe, sister; and Mrs. Dorothy Jenkins, sister of Mrs. DeSleet; and Orville E. Manuel, her brother.

John Spencer Enjoy Extensive Trip-South

Mr. and Mrs. John I. Spencer have returned home from a sixteen day vacation in Mexico and in Central America.

Leaving via Des Moines airport, they arrived in Mexico City within four hours, transferring to the sumptuous Maria Isabel Hotel.

They joined the rest of their tourmembers of 20 and attended the Folkloric Ballet, (which is coming to Metro City in October.) It is an excellent show. There is actually no Ballet.

Traveling on to exciting Xochimilco where gaiety, music and flowers decorated canoes to welcome you for a garden ride.

Lunch At Mexican Inn Traveling by private bus we attended a typical Mexican Inn for lunch with many Mexican cuisine. Then on to the Bull-Fights. The fights were more humorous than the displaying of the art, as in Spain, Portugal. The evening was completed with dinner and entertaining at the famous Belvede Club.

Tours were taken by bus to Old and New Mexico City, including the Pedregal Gardens, University City (the sight of the 1968 Olympics,) to the National Palace, Chapultepec Park and Castle, and the Shrine of Guadalupe where many individuals travel to pray at this shrine and the famous Pyramids of the Sun and Moon.

The last day in Mexico City was for shopping, swimming, packing and relaxing. Dinner at eight was spent at the superb Ambassadors by candle light and a trio of violins. Many celebrities and movie stars dine here as their pictures are posted around the club.

Departing from Mexico City our next stop was to the Spa of San Jose Purla. We spent several enjoyable days here taking daily the radio-active mud and sparkling baths, as well as the clay-facial packs which this Spa is famous. The spa is a little city of its own, with bowling, golf, tennis, horseback riding, movies, chapel and swimming.

Traveling on to our next destination was to be our second Spa, higher yet up in the mountain in Ixtaxpan. John and I and another couple were each lucky enough to draw a magnificent suite of 6 room. We were told that the Spa here is considered one of the most outstanding in the Americas.

TO TAXCO We next motored to picturesque Taxco, the home of "silver." Our Hotel was an old Musty Mission called Posada De La Mission. Ascending to the top of the mission looking down around the quaint little town was like a dream in a story book picture.

In Taxco one may find silver in any form. There are shops after shops selling all forms of silver. Cartier of fifth-avenue New York and others purchase their silver here.

Our last stop in Mexico was to be Acapulco, staying at the famous El Presidente on Acapulco Bay.

We were given a tour of Acapulco and also a Sunset Cruise around Acapulco Bay with singing and a Mexican Band which was relaxing.

One memorable night was to witness the native boys dive into the pounding surf below the cliffs at the La Perla Club. This feat alone is worth seeing in Mexico especially at night.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY John and I celebrated our wedding anniversary in Acapulco and the hotel sent to our dinner table a beautiful cake with "Happy Anniversary." We spent such a happy evening with our friends.

From Acapulco, we flew back to Mexico City and departed on to San Salvador, Central America. Central America is relatively new to tourist trade. Our guide informed us that most of their trade consisted of school-teachers. Here-out our tours became a personalized one, just for the two of us. Our guide helped us check in at the lovely Hotel Inter-Continental. We were given a comprehensive tour of San Salvador, visiting the Mayan Ruins, Tazumal and the Palace and Lake Colapawve.

The city enjoys a year round resort climate. We traveled up to the Cerro Verde Mountain by car for a view of the Izalco volcano and the Pacific Ocean. As we were traveling on the Pan American Highway we passed many coffee and pineapple plantations. The City of San Salvador boasts a residential district unlike any other in the world.

We then flew on to Managua, Nicaragua, staying at the Gran Hotel. The climate now was hot and humid. Nicaragua is the largest of the Central American Countries.

One of the most fascinating sights of Managua is the "Foot-prints of Acahualina." The actual footprints of men, women, children and animals preserved in petrified clay. It is said that these are the footprints of primitive men and animals fleeing from a volcanic action and preserved by the hardened lava that set them to flight. The date of this unusual calendar is about 2,000 years.

We went cruising on Lake Nicaragua where there must be a thousand and one islands. The government here has offered the sale of an island to anyone for $10,000.

Religious Festivities The day that we arrived in Managua was the beginning of their religious festivities, which were to last for 7 days and nights.

We took in a Nicaragua Fair while in Managua. Lottery booths were all over the Fair, as well as, in all Central America and Mexico.

The President's of Nicaragua, National Place, is built in Moorish style on a hill over looking Tupa Lagoona in the crater of an extinct volcano.

Our next flight was to San Jose, Costa Rica. Our hotel was the Gran Hotel of Costa Rica, which also was in the heart of the city. We were in Costa Rica, on the eighth of August, so our thoughts and well wishing were back in Des Moines with all the untiring workers on the first beautiful Des Moines Black pagent.

We had the opportunity in Costa Rica to go up and look down into an active volcano.

Costa Rica The nation of Costa Rica is Central America's finest model of democracy. Voting is compulsory and the national expenditure on education is three times more than is spent on the military. In fact, Costa Rica has no standing army.

The standard of living is the highest on the Isthmus. Coffee was first produced from here. The climate is delightful throughout the year. Central America and Mexico were in the mist of their "winter." The weather was summer weather to our standard, and everywhere plants were green and lush, but their is a daily rain.

Many North Americans are living here, as well as, Jamaicans living throughout Central America and speak beautiful Spanish.

William Bailey, Jr. Visits in Des Moines

William Bailey, Jr., an employee in the U. S. Transportation Civil Rights Department was a visitor in Des Moines last weekend.

Mr. Bailey was a chemist in the Iowa Department of Agriculture and is a native of Ottumwa, Iowa before leaving Des Moines. He lives in Columbia, Maryland.

free health care extended not only to the native but also to us, (tourist and visitors.) Many stores and businesses are similar to our own.

Our last flight was to the "Crossroad of the American." The Republic of Panama. Our Hotel was the beautiful El Continental which was packed with action! Panama still possess much of the old world charm. We took tours of the Old French Quarters which were sacked by the Pirate Henry Morgan.

The Lock in the Canal Zone is a marvel of engineering in operation. When we arrived at the Miraflores Locks, we were fortunate to observe a very large Japanese ship raised and lowered 54 feet between ocean and lake level! As a free port, Panama City is a fabric haven for dress-makers, as there are shop after shop on both sides of the city street.

We found the Panamanian warm, proud and kind. As a couple addicted to adventure and travel, we have found most people the world over, basically charming, interested and gracious.

LACK OF TRAINING AND INEXPERIENCE TRAGIC

The Wall Street Journal carried an interesting article by Michael H. Connor about what has happened to the 30 or more automobile agencies that have been set up to broaden the scope of Negro business.

Frankly, the picture does not look good.

These agencies were set up on the theory that black buyers - and there are many - would purchase cars from them exclusively. Apparently, little effort was being made to sell to white people and thus a disproportionate share of bad, unsound paper fell into their hands.

Some dealers complained that they were not given the same line of credit and other considerations received by white dealers pointing that a prospective customer was turned down for poor credit but who later drove in the station with the same model car which he could not get through the black seller.

It is pretty conclusively shown that Negro business catering to Negroes only thrive in non competitive business; that in many instances where the Negro has relied on "just anybody" and meets the competition, he fares pretty well.

Business competition is terrific today. Certainly auto agencies have sent many a white dealer to the bankruptcy court.

Then too, had these black owners been given a course of training in the operation of an automobile agency, the results have been different. It takes more than a wish to operate a business.

REPORT ON CAMPUS
UNREST STRADDLES
TOO MANY ISSUES

The committee on campus unrest, appointed by President Nixon, has made its report. Hearings were held on several campuses including Kent State, Ohio, and Jackson State College in Mississippi where serious riots took place taking the lives of several students.

The committee got off to an unfortunate start by remarks coming from members indicating a prejudiced report in advance.

Interestingly enough, while the report calls on President Nixon to pull the country together and blames his administration for much of the unrest, it failed to recognize that the fire was burning when Mr. Nixon took over.

The report condemned violence but fell in the trap of condemning this administration on law and order at the same time passing up colleges for the cessation of violence.

The report has some good features, but fails to emphasize that school officials themselves, by permissiveness and indecision, have not provided the leadership required to control the explosive situations which developed.

Of course, no report would suit everybody. But this one straddles too many fences and suggests remedies which while valuable will take a long time to use. In the meantime, we must have order now so that those who wish to prepare themselves may do so without being molested.

QUITE INCONSISTENT

We wondered what happened to the black students when less than 10 attended the dedication of the Carver building in Ames Sunday. In fact, open house at the black center was in progress at the same time the dedication program was going on.

Certainly black history was being made by those of their kind. Does black culture mean that the fine things Negroes have done should be ignored? Wake up young people! You are inconsistent.

Basketball at
The YMCA

Entries are now being accepted for three adult men's basketball leagues at the Des Moines Y.M.C.A. Two leagues are formed as Company leagues and the third as an open league. Q — If a person is totally disabled and receiving Workmen's Compensation Benefits can they also receive social security disability benefits? I have been told that both benefits would be reduced.

A — It is possible for a person to qualify for both Workmen's Compensation Benefits and Disability Benefits under social security. The Social Security Benefits will be adjusted in some cases. For more detailed information contact your social security office.

Q — My father died recently. I am 21 and understand I can receive benefits on his record as a full-time student even though I have been in the military service. Is this correct?

A — Yes. Your military service is no barrier to these benefits. The requirements are that you be between the ages of 18 and 22, unmarried, and a full-time student.

Q — My husband and I were separated for many years before his death in 1958. We were never divorced. I am now 62 years old. Will I ever be eligible to receive any benefits on his social security record?

A — If you qualify as the legal widow (i.e., no formal divorce) it is possible that you can receive monthly widow's benefits. You should contact your nearest social security office as soon as possible since there is no reduction for widow's benefits at age 62.

Q — I received student benefits from social security during my freshman year at college. Since my grades weren't too high I was considering only taking 11 hours next semester. I will still be in school every day. Will I be able to continue receiving social security?

A — Possibly not. You must be under age 22, unmarried and a full-time student to receive benefits. A full-time student is one who is carrying enough credit hours to be classified as a full time student by the school. Even though you are attending school every day the college may classify you as a part-time student with only 11 hours. You had better check with your school and with your social security office.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

Iowa University
A fellow battled the crowd at Iowa stadium last Saturday. As he walked along, he kept saying half to himself, "Who in hell scheduled those guys?" That was about the way a lot of us felt after the game. Iowa wasn't really as bad as the score sounded. The Hawks were merely traveling in extremely fast company. The Trojans had more good, big fast backs than Iowa will see on all the rest of the teams they play put together.

Jones, the Quarterback
And this fellow, Jones at quarter. We had been hearing that he can't pass, but Saturday he was throwing the ball well and most important, where he wanted to. Bash at quarter for Iowa, didn't pass too badly. The fellows just dropped too many in the early stages of the game.

Why Bash to Reardon
But, we wondered why he threw only to Reardon so often. Maybe he figured that guy was his best catcher. We still think they will win five games. Who? Well, we will have to wait until after this weekend to say.

That Jones —
And back to Jones of USC. Those Trojan sweeps worked so well because they had an extra blocker in the person of Mr. Jones. Most quarterbacks simply hand the ball and watch the play, but Jones was right in there knocking people down. And do you know, we wonder how Nebraska tied them. The Cornhuskers must be awfully good, or else they were awfully high on that Saturday.

Iowa State
At Iowa State, the Cyclones look as if they aren't going to be the doormat of the Big Eight. But, it is just the luck of Iowa State to have everybody else improve also, so they will have trouble. But they looked really good Saturday, and have a good chance to make it three straight this week end. But, when they have to face the likes of Nebraska, Missouri, Colorado and Oklahoma, how many games do you figure the Cyclones to win? Four, or maybe five?

Drake
When we heard that one of the marks set by Drake's Johnny Bright had been broken, we figured that records were made to be broken. With their schedule, figured on the strength of the team as it was expected to be, we can't see Drake losing any games. Of course, football being what it is, somebody could catch the Bulldogs not quite up and knock them off. And we aren't hedging either. Drake should do well in Missouri Valley play when they begin competition.

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

The Iowa Civil Rights Act of 1965 prohibits discrimination in employment. The law charges the Civil Rights Commission with the responsibility of eliminating discrimination in employment.

The vast scope of employment problems in State Government could easily cause the Commission to become bogged down in work.

The practice of State agencies in recruitment and hiring leave much to be desired. Figures obtained by the Civil Rights Commission limited as they are certainly emphasize the problem.

The Iowa Highway Commission has been a target project of the Civil Rights Commission for one year. At the outset this agency employed nearly 4,000 people 8 of whom were minorities. Today the minority level has been raised to 24 an improvement, but nominal at best.

The Iowa Employment Security Commission has 700 employees 28 of whom are minorities. Much better than the Highway Commission but still not a good showing.

From the latest available information we are able to obtain, we find many agencies who have minority employees, but employ only women. So it would seem that if you are black and can type, you stand a chance

Health for All

Fall starts another cycle. Colored leaves, a crisp nip in the air, and shorter spans of sunlight. A good time to get prepared to keep healthy through a chilly winter season.

September, the beginning of another school year, is a smart time for annual medical checkups for children - and their parents. If doctors are overly busy at this time of year, set aside a regular time - like a birthday - for an annual

High School

Here at home, we fear our Dowling watcher hasn't done his homework well. He keeps saying the Maroons will lose two games, and each week they seem to get tougher. We thought North would be the one city team to give them trouble, but this wasn't the time. We heard several times that North would like to play Dowling again. Maybe they could do better. When Lincoln gets their big guy Haynes rolling, they are apt to beat most anybody. We will have to get to see one of the Rail-splitter games so we will know what we are talking about when we voice our expert opinion. East didn't really have too much trouble with Tech. Wish we could put our finger on what is wrong with the Tech boys. They seem to have several good ball players, but just don't seem to get together. We have heard all sorts of rumors, but we will have to wait and get our dope first hand before we sound off. Our rumors could be as wrong as two left feet.

A fellow who is supposed to know tells us that North's Kelly Evans is the best quarterback in the state, and that he will personally raise the roof if the boy isn't named first team all state. And he didn't say roof.

Baseball

Is there any baseball fan who doesn't know who is in the playoffs and when the World Series will be? Wish the Cubs could have made it, and we are not really baseball fans, but would have liked to see Ernie Banks in a series before he bows out. And did you notice that the professional basketball leagues are having their exhibition games, and football is just getting started good, and baseball ain't even dead.

checkup.

Tuberculin Test

Having a thorough checkup should include getting a tuberculin test. Children should be tested every year if they are tuberculin negative - that is, if they show no evidence of infection by the TB germ. If there is a known risk of infection, they should be tested more often.

In many schools across the country, children are tuberculin tested when they enter the first grade and again in the eighth, ninth, or tenth grades. But annual checkups can detect an infection or disease, and drugs can even prevent the disease from developing.

Adults should be tested at least once. Ideally, tuberculin negative persons should be tested annually, but many physicians test less often unless there is known special risk.

Variety of Tests

There are a variety of tests that can be used to detect TB. Most of them can be administered easily and rapidly. Results can be available in a few days.

Tuberculin testing is an important part of any checkup. If all persons who have active TB or a tuberculous infection could be found and treated, there would eventually be no new, active TB cases.

For more information about tuberculin tests, check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

of getting a job somewhere in State Government.

Agencies such as the Agriculture Department, Architectural Examiners Board, Arts Council, Attorney General, Auditor of State, Banking Department, Civil Defense, Commerce Commission, Comptroller, Conservation Commission, Dairy Industry Commission, Development Commission, Crime Commission, Office of Economic Opportunity, Engineering Examiners, Highway Patrol, Information Desks, Insurance Department, Labor Commission, Liquor Control Commission, Mines & Minerals, and Pharmacy Examiners do not employ minorities above clerical or secretarial levels. Most of these agencies have no minorities.

The problem is increasingly more obvious as the survey of state agencies continues. The system under which these agencies operate further contribute to their problems.

First to become an employee of the state in most instances, the person seeking employment must make application through the Iowa Merit Employment Commission. Then he or she must take a test.

The tests successfully eliminate many prospects. Thirty women from Waterloo were eliminated on one test. One man took the test 3 times before passing it, even though he was doing the job and had been for several months. A Stanford University study shows that most tests eliminate minorities and poor people who are capable of doing the job.

The State has no established recruitment program, or training program. And such agencies as the Highway Patrol continue to report, that they cannot find qualified minorities. If this were private industry what demands would be made? When various agencies were questioned about the number of minorities employed in their departments, a common response was; What do you mean by minorities? Another was it depends on who you consider a minority. The favorite response, however, was we can't tell because we do not identify our employees by race. State employment practices must and will be improved.

VETERANS

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — I plan to enter college under the G.I. Bill, and carry 16 semester hours. How much will VA pay me, since I have no dependents?

A — The latest amendment to the current G.I. Bill provides that if you have no dependents and carry the load you anticipate, your monthly payments will be $175 a month.

Q — Upon discharge from the Armed Forces, I received a lump sum disability severance payment. Will I have to pay this back

Won Out

You bid me hold me peace
And dry my fruitless tears,
Forgetting that I bear
A pain beyond my years.

You say that I should smile
And drive the gloom away;
I would, but sun and smiles
Have left my life's dark day.

All time seems cold and void,
And naught but tears remain;
Life's music beats for me
A melancholy strain.

I used at first to hope,
But hope is past and gone;
And now without a ray
My cheerless life drags on.

Like to an ash-stained hearth
When all its fires are spent;
Life to an autumn wood
By storm winds rudely shent,—

So sadly goes my heart,
Unclothed of hope and peace;
It asks not joy again,
But only seeks release.

to the government if I am awarded VA compensation for the same disability?

A — Yes. The law requires that VA monthly compensation payments be withheld until the amount received is equal to the amount of military severance pay you received because of the disability.
