CITY COUNCIL TO ACT

Chas. Knox Hiring Causes Uproar Strong Bid for Gentry's Election

Urge Citizens to Vote Monday

There are five candidates for the recently-vacated seat on the Des Moines School Board. Each of these men has an earnest desire to sit on the Board; presumably, each has a deep concern for the education of our children.

How, then, do we, as taxpayers and parents, cast a knowledgeable ballot? How can we decide which man will do the best job?

When faced with a well-matched field of candidates in a horse race, the people "in the know" examine each competitor's breeding and track record before choosing a favorite. This we have done with the current School Board "field." Our examination of the qualifications and experience of each candidate has led us to but one conclusion: Nolden Gentry is the one qualified candidate for the School Board election October 19!

What are these qualifications? Well, for example, Gentry: Currently serves on the State Board of Public Instruction; served as Assistant State Attorney General on legal matters for Iowa's Department of Public Instruction; was the first manager of the Urban Affairs Bureau of the Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce; and acted as special assistant City Attorney assigned to the Des Moines Model City Program.

In addition, the Des Moines School System itself has recognized and called on Gentry's talents to assist in the development of the Vocational Guidance Institute, serve on the high school sub-committees for the last two school building bond issues, assist in the development of the New Horizons Program, help in establishing the Greater Des Moines Education Center, and to study and report on the black student demonstration.

As the Social Concerns Commission of one congregation recently stated in their church bulletin: "...Des Moines does not often have the opportunity to elect a man with such excellent qualifications as Mr. Gentry. We feel we would be irresponsible as your Social Concerns Commission if we did not urge you to support Nolden Gentry with your voice and your vote on October 19, 1970."

We agree. That is why we are... THE PEOPLE FOR GENTRY, Thomas H. Stoner, Silas S. Ewing, Arthur Hedberg, Co-Chairmen.

Agnew Threat In '76 Says Rhodes

WASHINGTON, D.C. — James Rhodes said Sunday he believes Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew wants to be president and is beyond the control of President Nixon.

The youngest member of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest said, "I think the President is not necessarily running the vice-president."

The 22-year-old Harvard University junior fellow appeared on the Metromedia Radio News program "Profile."

Rhodes continued "I don't know if the President can stop him now... The commission urges him to; we appeal to him. A nation's at stake; we can't afford this kind of divisiveness in the country the vice-president promulgates."

Named Spingarn Award Committee

NEW YORK — Three new members have been named to the Spingarn Medal Award Committee this week.

The Committee awards a medal annually to a Negro American for distinguished achievement in the preceding year or years. It was instituted in 1914 by the late J. E. Spingarn.

Nominations are now open and should be sent to the Spingarn Medal Award Committee, care of NAACP at 1790 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10019. Each nomination should include a resume of the candidate's achievements and a statement of why he should be awarded the coveted medal.

Oklahoma Bus Bombing Trial Begins

TYLER, TEX. — The trial of two Longview men charged with the July 4 bombing of that east Texas city's school bus fleet began Tuesday in Tyler.

Charged in two-count indictments are Fred Loyd Hayes, 43, a Longview caterer, and employee-salesman, Kenneth R. McMaster, 42.

They are charged with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Negro pupils in the Longview public schools and in the second count to violate the federal court order to integrate that city's schools.

Seven women and five men made up the jury. They are all white.

Both defendants are free on bonds of $25,000, reduced from $125,000.

The pair were arrested a few days after at least two intruders entered the Longview Independent School District's parking lot and set off explosives under the fleet of yellow buses.

$100,000 was the estimated damage, as set by the Justice Department. However, the Longview School authorities said the damage was around $23,000.

Longview police officers, school authorities and civic leaders said they had no reason to believe the bombings were racially inspired.

"PERMISSIVNESS" ... AGNEW DOESN'T TALK ABOUT !!!

THE BIRMINGHAM MASSACRE OF FOUR LITTLE BLACK GIRLS, WHILE THEY PRAYED IN CHURCH, BY WHITE RACISTS, COULD NOT BE CALLED LAW AND ORDER. NO ONE HAS YET BEEN PUNISHED.

Police Blotter

Mrs. Murray Wolder of 1144 Eighteenth St. said she took a television set, watch and two cameras from her home when she drove downtown Monday afternoon to pick up her husband after he got off work.

Sonny Lott, 30, who gave his address as 830 Sixteenth St., was charged with interfering with the duties of a police officer after he allegedly prevented an off-duty policeman from arresting two shoplifters Monday night.

Patrolman Robert Reaney said he attempted to arrest two women at the Bellas Hess Department Store, 4100 Merle Hay Road, when they left the store about 8:45 p.m. With two fur coats store officials said had not been paid for.

Reaney, who was working at the store, said he stopped the women outside and recovered the coats. He said Lott then dashed up and started a scuffle and the women escaped while the two men were fighting.

Lott was held in City Jail overnight and was to be arraigned in Municipal Court later Tuesday.

Carl James Kimball, 25, of 1143 Enos Ave., and Richard Don Carter, 37, of 908 Seventeenth St., pleaded guilty in federal court Tuesday to charges of mail theft.

They were accused of removing a U.S. Post Office mail bag from a storage box at the northeast corner of Fourteenth Street and University Avenue on St. 2.

Two other men, Berry Smith, 18, of 1603 Twenty-seventh St., and Thomas Jefferson Pinson, 20, of 1420 Goddard Court, went on trial in federal court Tuesday in connection with the crime. Both pleaded innocent.

Sentencing for Kimball and Carter was continued until presentence investigation could be completed.

Angela Davis Arrested

New York, N.Y. — Angela Davis was arrested by the FBI here Tuesday evening without a struggle. She had been on the law agency's "most-wanted" list since August, when four persons were killed following an attempted prisoner escape in San Rafael, Calif.

The young avowed Communist, philosophy teacher and black militant leader was taken into custody at the Howard Johnson motel, at Fifty-first Street and Eighty Avenue, on the fringes of Manhattan's theater district.

Miss Davis was seized by the FBI on the basis of a warrant issued Aug. 20 in San Francisco.

Des Moines Endorses Gentry Branch NAACP

The Des Moines Branch of the NAACP at its regular meeting of September 28, 1970, voted to support Mr. Nolden Gentry.

This action is consistent with the long standing position of the organization that minority persons should be appointed or elected to policy or decision making boards and commissions.

It is the position of the NAACP that the goal of full and equal educational opportunities is more critical today than ever before. We are committed to take all necessary actions to achieve the basic goals to end all inequities in public education which prevent or restrict educational opportunities for Negro youth.

We felt that as a member of the board, Mr. Gentry will be able to assist in decision making in the areas effecting budgets and finances, curricular, recruitment, employment and the assignment of administrators, teachers and other school personnel.

Natl. Vocational Guidance Week

"It's Your Future - Prepare for It" is the theme of the fifth National Vocational Guidance Week to be observed in Des Moines and throughout the country October 25-31.

The theme reflects the emphasis today on personal choice as an integral part of preparing for a career which will benefit both the individual worker and his community. With the help of professional vocational guidance personnel, an individual can investigate his own interests and aptitudes, and the current labor market situation in order to choose and prepare for a meaningful career.

During National Vocational Guidance Week, Lyle Couture, Vocational Counseling Supervisor with the Iowa State Employment Service, urges everyone to find out about vocational guidance services in his community. Vocational counselors are located in schools, colleges, Iowa State Employment Services, and private counseling firms.

National Vocational Guidance Week is sponsored by the National Vocational Guidance Association and its local chapters and branches throughout the country.

United Way Withdraws Support; Scherle Asks HUD to Cut Off Funds

The hiring of Charles Knox, admitted leader in a recently formed Black Revolutionary Communist Youth organization here, has caused quite an uproar. The HEW suspended its funding of a juvenile delinquency counseling project in Des Moines and the City Council fired the unit of the project that hired Knox.

Freeze Funds

HEW froze its funding of $92,000, said Representative William Scherle (Rep. Ia.) Monday. This was done after Scherle complained about the hiring to Maz Milo Mills, Kansas City, Mo. the regional director.

Knox was hired by Larry Scales, director of the Iowa Children's and Family Services at $7000 a year as a counselor for the juvenile delinquency counseling project here.

These services were contracted by the city of Des Moines to run the Youth Counseling Project. The project was funded to the city by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The city council agreed informally Monday to fire the agency hiring Knox as a counselor with the Model Cities Juvenile Treatment Project. In a special Monday afternoon meeting councilmen voted to direct City Manager Tom Chenoweth to find a new agency to run the youth program. The five councilmen present were Charles Vander Linden Jr., Richard Olson, Wallace Buss, Jack Woods, and Robert Scott.

Director Impressed

Scales said that he interviewed Knox last Thursday and was "impressed with his confidence and concern and ability in working with black youth."

In recent days a handbill signed by Knox and Mary Rhem, another organizer of the Black Revolutionary Communist Youth, has been circulated on Des Moines' near north side.

In the circular Knox writes, in part:

"We Communists are not afraid to express our political views and to wage struggle against fascism. Our politics are the politics of liberation. Our struggle is the people's struggle."

Plans for Black Scholarship For Drake University Law School

A drive to raise at least $100,000, largely from the Des Moines black community, for scholarship for black students in Drake University's Law School was announced today (Wednesday) by the University's Black Law Students Association.

The scholarships will be named the Martin Luther King Scholarships in memory of the late civil rights leader and winner of the Nobel Peace Prize. The effort is believed to be the first of its kind initiated by black students at a major law school.

In launching the scholarship drive, Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., of the Des Moines Municipal Court and Chairman of the Advisory Board of the Martin Luther King Scholarship Fund, said:

"The legal profession is playing a primary role in upgrading the lives of minority groups, because attorneys are at the heart of the decision-making process. The nation needs more black lawyers in that process to protect their people's interests, to make blacks a more viable part of American society, and to help Dr. King's dream come true."

Richardson pointed out that there is one lawyer for every 637 persons in the United States but only one black lawyer for every 7,000 blacks. He said blacks constitute more than 10 percent of the national population but comprise less than 1 percent of the 300,000 lawyers in the United States.

In Iowa, Richardson said, the ratio of lawyers to citizens is close to the national average, 1 to 675, but the ratio of black lawyers to Negroes is 1 to 2,000, and this ratio in the last 40 years has decreased.

In 1930, Richardson said, there were 8 black lawyers in Iowa for a black population of 17,400, but in 1970 there are only 13 lawyers for 25,000 Negroes.

Drake's Law School has 267 students, 4 of whom are black.

A $100,000 black scholarship drive was begun at Drake University Oct. 14 by the university's Black Law Students Association.

The Des Moines black community is expected to contribute generously. T. Carlton Richardson, Drake Law School junior and chairman of the Black Law Students Association said: "We ask for the assistance and support of the people of the entire Des Moines community and of the entire state of Iowa."

Ford Foundation Makes Grants to Negro Schools

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 — The Ford Foundation today announced grants totaling more than $1.6 million, continuing its four-year program of special assistance to minorities in high education.

A grant of $500,000 will assist a nationwide college counseling and placement service that aims to reach a quarter of a million black high school students this year. The National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students (NSSSFNS), the oldest and largest counseling agency of its kind, will use a computerized registry it has developed to extend its service to virtually all young blacks seeking to enter college and to pay particular attention to those at the lower end of the socio-economic spectrum.

The other grants announced today by the Foundation include: $501,680 to Atlanta University for partial support of a master's degree program

Inside Rhodesia

Rhodesia Defiance

by Justin V. J. Nyoka
SALISBURY, Rhodesia — Rhodesia is intensifying its defiance of the British Crown. The British national anthem — God Save the Queen, which used to be sung at all official functions, including the opening of Parliament, has now been abandoned. Rhodesia is now searching for an anthem of its own which sings praises to this "glorious land." Apart from the discarding of the English Anthem, this country has also abandoned the Union Jack, the British flag, replacing it with a Rhodesian one.

The defiance is showing itself in a number of other ways. I have just been listening to a debate in the Legislative Assembly on Rhodesian Honors and Awards. The idea is to do away with all English-type of Honors and Awards and to create something which is entirely Rhodesian. In the past, Rhodesians have been honored twice a year by the English Queen on the recommendation of the Governor to receive Awards for meritorious service to their country. The titles were either MBE's (Member of the Order of the British Empire); OBE's (Order of the British Empire), and so on. You will realize, of course, that in essence these high-sounding titles are outdated, because what used to be the British Empire is no more. But the titles persist. There were other more distinguished ones like the CMG (Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George), or the KCMG, which made one a knight and have the pride and honor of being addressed "Sir," and one's wife, "Lady," by becoming the Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. A few blacks in what was the British Empire in Africa had the rare honor of receiving knight-hoods. A name that comes to mind is that of Sir Levanika, late King of Barotseland in President Kaunda's Zambia. The Honors and Awards were bestowed on the Queen's Birthday and on New Year's Day.

As I sat in the Rhodesian Parliament, I chanced to look at the list of the MP's. I discovered that seven of the Members of Parliament had these British titles after their names: MBE, OBE and DSO — Distinguished Service Order. I started wondering whether these people will renounce their titles and line up for new ones with a Rhodesian flavor.

Under the new scheme the officer administering the Rhodesian government, Mr. Clifford Dupont, who replaced the British-appointed governor at the Unilateral Declaration of Independence (UDI) in 1965, will bestow the Honors and Awards at the recommendation of the government.

I notice in passing, that the Smith government insists on addressing Mr. Dupont as His Excellency (probably it is meant to be His Senseless) — a British colonial title. I wonder just how serious the move away from everything British is, among my white compatriots. While thinking about renouncing British titles and substituting them with brand new Rhodesian ones, I realize that it will jolt quite a few.

In the judiciary, I notice that all High Court judges are QC's (Queen's Counsels), a distinguished title that any lawyer or advocate in the Commonwealth can dream of. After South Africa was booted out of the Commonwealth some time ago, QC's were replaced with SC's (State Counsels). Those who wished to retain their English law titles were allowed to do so. I suppose this is what will happen here.

The government members who spoke did so with feeling. Honors and Awards would be made for "Long and meritorious service to Rhodesia," — this, I thought to myself, would go to the man or woman who has spent his or her lifetime dedicated to the cause of white supremacy in Rhodesia. They would also be made for "Bravery," — well, I figured this would go to the soldier who is reckoned to have shot more black guerrillas

"Buffalo Soldiers" of the 10th Cavalry portrayed in the third segment of "THE BLACK FRONTIER" series produced by KUON-TV at the University of Nebraska.

By Marjorie Lee

Africans accompanied Balboa, Coronado, and Pizarro to the New World. The black explorer, Estevanico, led Spaniards through what is now New Mexico and Arizona. There was a Negro with Lewis and Clark, and a black trapper established the trading post which eventually became Chicago.

These are some of the little-known facts of black history that University of Nebraska Television researchers uncovered as they prepared scripts for the new television series "The Black Frontier." The series, four hour-long color programs carried nationally by the Public Broadcasting Service, chronicles the efforts of the thousands of black people who helped settle the Great Plains region of the U.S.

The Nebraska researchers discovered that black Americans played important roles in the country's westward expansion—roles that have been largely overlooked.

Historians and their studies revealed there were black ranchers, furtrappers, newspapermen, doctors, railroaders, homesteaders, and even a few desperadoes on the frontier.

The four programs in the series will cover black explorers and fur trappers, homesteaders, cowboys, and the black cavalry.

The researchers learned that in August, 1866, General Ulysses S. Grant ordered the creation of two Negro cavalry regiments. The new regiments were officially designated the Ninth and Tenth United States Cavalry. But, because of the Negro soldiers' hair, these regiments were nicknamed "Buffalo Soldiers" by the Indians.

"Buffalo Soldiers" were well respected. They had a very low desertion rate ism in Rhodesia today. A former government official who was found guilty of beating up Africans is now Secretary to the Rhodesian Front.

The BLACK Frontier

A Historical Series On TV

Probably Blackmen first set foot in the New World in 1502, coming with Spanish soldier-explorers. In fact, Blackmen participated in exploration and occupation of nearly all of the Southwestern United States as well as Central America. They were with both Balboa and Cortez. Of all the Blacks who accompanied explorers no one played as conspicuous a role as Estevan, an Arabian Blackman from Azamor, Morocco.

Estevan and three Spanish officers were the sole survivors of a disastrous expedition to Florida in 1527. After being held captive by Indians for seven years, they were able to make their escape. The small party wandered along the Gulf Coast of Texas, turning into the central wilderness before eventually heading south to Mexico City.

As Estevan traveled among the Indians he became a legend. His reputation spread, and his knowledge of sign language was responsible for his being chosen to guide an expedition which led to the discovery and mapping of New Mexico, and ultimately to his death at the hands of the Zuni Pueblos.

NAACP Aids in Averting School Confrontations

WACO, Tex. — Two highly explosive confrontations between black students and the school boards of Waco, Tex., and Idabel, Okla., have been resolved amicably because of the prompt and effective intercession of local NAACP officials. In both cities, black students had begun a boycott of classes.

In Idabel, Southwest Regional Director R. L. Dockery and Wade Watts, Oklahoma State NAACP Conference president, met with Superintendent of Schools Woodrow Holman to negotiate a list of seven grievances.

Points agreed upon were: white-black sensitivity workshops, faculty-student committee on racism, lyceum committee, revision of dress code to permit beards and mustaches, use of the term, "black" instead of "nigra," provision of additional bus service to black students, and no reprisals to students participating in the boycott.

Similarly, in Waco, a negotiated settlement was reached. Here it meant the reopening of the Carver High School, located in the Negro section. Under previous busing regulations, all Negro students were being bused into white areas. The reopening of the Carver school will eliminate this type of busing for some black students and will bring some white students into the Negro neighborhood.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — I plan to enter college under the G.I. Bill and will be taking 16 semester hours. How much will VA pay me since I have no dependents?

A — If you have no dependents and carry the full-time load you anticipate, your monthly payments will be $175 at the present rate.

Q — Upon my discharge from the service, I received a lump sum disability severance payment. Will I have to pay this back to the government if I am awarded VA compensation for the same disability?

A — The law requires that VA monthly compensation payments be withheld until the amount received is equal to the amount of severance pay you received because of the disability.

Q — May I purchase a home with a G.I. loan over the VA appraisal?

A — Yes, provided you pay in cash the difference between the reasonable value determined by the VA and the price of the house.

Q — I entered military service last year before completing high school. When I get out of service will the VA pay me any educational allowance while I complete high school? If so, how much?

A — Yes, if you have more than 180 days active service. If you are a single veteran, you will receive $81 a month for adult evening high school or $175 a month for full-time schooling; more if you have dependents. The law entitles you to this allowance without deducting anything from your entitlement to further education and training.

in Afro-American studies; $300,000 to Howard University to improve its undergraduate social science division; $250,000 to Talladega College to upgrade its social science department; $40,250 to the University of New Mexico to identify the causes of academic failure by American Indian college students; and $30,067 to Syracuse University to enable Professor Charles V. Willie to publish his detailed research on the adjustment of black students to white colleges.

The National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students was founded in 1948 to increase the number of Negroes attending integrated colleges. For a decade it was virtually the only national agency trying to place black students in white colleges. Despite the sharply limited college opportunities open to Negro students at that time, it provided academic counseling to Negro high school students and offered encouragement and practical advice to many who received little of either at home or at school. Civil rights activities of the 1960s led to intensified counseling efforts by NSSFNS, to entry of other agencies into the field, and to expanded college opportunity for black students. As a result, there has been in recent years a shift in emphasis from concentrating on the top 2 to 3 per cent of academically superior black high school students, most of them middle class, to helping a larger number from varied socio-economic backgrounds. In 1969 a Foundation grant assisted NSSFNS in developing a computer-based national guidance system to help black high school students. The present grant will enable the organization to put its system to work, matching students with colleges on a wide scale, and thereby serve nearly all black youths with any prospect of attending college — a target population of 250,000.

COACH KENNETH L. (SONNY) JOHNSON, of the Model Cities Area Little All American Football League's lightweight team, is my discovery of the week! Finding me totally unimpressed regarding the Model Cities football program, Johnson described its origin. Until this year, The Model Cities area youngsters traveled to North, Roosevelt and possibly to Franklin Junior High School to play football. Les Carter originated the idea of forming Model Cities' teams, a light and heavy weight, thus curbing the need of small boys returning home as late as 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening!

THE AREA'S OWN GOOD PARK, centrally located, was determined an excellent practice field. Next began the selection of 7th, 8th and 9th graders. The two team divisions range weight-wise: the lightweights weigh 90 to 125 lbs. and 9th graders weighing under 115 lbs. The heavy weights are 7th & 8th graders weighing over 125 lbs. or 9th graders weighing over 115 lbs.

IN ORGANIZING THE TEAMS, invitations were circulated asking the youngsters to meet at Washington Irving Junior High School. Subsequently, registrations were held at the YMCA.

LITTLE ALL AMERICAN FOOTBALL LEAGUE, INC. bought their football equipment this year. Practice began August 29 and their first game was held Saturday, September 17. All games are played at the Firestone Field. This has been Little League territory for a good many years! Rev. Aaron Carter made one of his church buses available to transport the players for their Firestone Field games. One more game takes place this Saturday, October 17.

SONNY COACHED THE LIGHT WEIGHT TEAM. Assisting him are Coaches Larry Fowler and Art McClune.

EXPRESSING A FEW OF THE REASONS for their involvement, with no monetary gains for themselves, Sonny said "at these ages the kids are going to be either bad or good and we feel that football gives them an opportunity to be off the block. Gives them something to do. Teaches them about rules and regulations, sportsmanship!" He pointed out that "athletics offer great opportunities for blacks and, not having sufficient finance among ourselves, football can be a means through which ones go to school! It means scholarships and college."

SUMMING UP THE SEASON'S ACHIEVEMENTS, Johnson stated "So far this season both light weights and heavy weights have lost all of their games. It is really nothing to be ashamed of, as we are new. Usually the first year's the toughest for any organization. Also, the kids on the lightweight team were inexperienced, had not played organized football before. Next year with what they have learned this year they can help some of the high schools about the City—those who return can help us more."

TO THE MODEL CITIES FOOTBALL TEAMS' COACHES AND PLAYERS goes this column's congratulations! They are one of the most important groups which make up this new organization! And one of the most exciting! Good work, men and boys!

Our approved staff leads the children in music, art, crafts, and story telling as well as a supervised group play period each day.

The present enrollment is 23 and approximately 17 more children can be accommodated. The Day Care Center at Wesley United Methodist Church has been in operation since February 23, 1970. For further information call Wesley United Methodist Church - 262-2024 or Day Care, Inc. - 243-6241.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When setting the dinner table, is there any limit to the number of knives and forks that are distributed at each place?
A. There should be no more than three forks and two knives at any one place. If more silver is needed, it is brought in with the course for which it is intended. The dessert spoon or fork is brought to the table with the dessert course.

Q. How should a mother introduce her son's fiancée to her friends?
A. One good way is to say, "This is Joan Mason, my daughter-in-law to be," or, "This is Joan Mason, Dick's fiancée."

Q. When writing a note to decline an invitation received in the mail, should one make it formal?
A. This depends altogether upon the nature of the invitation itself. If written formally (in the third person), then your reply is written in the same style. If written informally, you reply in the same vein.

Q. Is the bride's family supposed to furnish transportation for those wedding guests who have no cars, from the church to the reception?
A. No; only the transportation for the wedding party itself.

Q. How should a married woman have her personal stationery engraved—as "Mrs. John H. Harris" or as "Anne Harris"?
A. "Anne Harris" is only for a very young girl, or for a professional woman who is known by that name. Stationery to be used for general purposes should have the woman's full married name—"Mrs. John H. Harris."

Q. When a small paper cup of sauce is served on the dinner plate, what is the proper way to use it?
A. Turn the cup over and use your fork to empty it. Then put the empty cup on the plate, to one side out of the way.

Q. When a guest at a large wedding reception is preparing to leave, should he seek out the principles of the wedding party in order to say goodbye and thank you?
A. At a large reception, this is not necessary.

Q. Is it proper ever to address the envelope of a letter to a person without using "one of the titles" "Mr.," "Mrs.," or "Miss"?
A. Never.

Urban League's Foundation

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 21, 1970 . . . William A. Ross, recently named Executive Vice President of the National Urban League Development Foundation, the League's new housing development agency, today announced the election of officers to the Foundation.

The Foundation, incorporated last January, raised housing to a high national priority for the League. It provides technical, financial and managerial assistance to 97 local Urban Leagues across the country, who may be sponsoring low and middle income housing production in their cities.

Revolving Fund
A primary tool will be the Foundation's revolving fund for loan of front money and capital to the local Leagues, to sponsor housing under HUD's special assistance programs. The Foundation will act as consultant to the Leagues in their preparation of materials for submission to the Federal Housing Administration and local government agencies.

The initial goal of the Foundation is to get 1800 to 2000 new housing units into production by 1972. The Foundation will solicit special assistance from the housing industry and from federal, state and local governments, to make land and financing available to League sponsored projects.

Emphasis
A major emphasis will be maximum use of minority-owned businesses for housing production and urban development. Minority architects, engineers, planners, lawyers, accountants, financial institutions, insurance companies, real estate agencies, contractors and subcontractors, material suppliers and housing managers will be endorsed.

The National Urban League Development Foundation is located at 55 East 52nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10022.

GENTRY SHOULD BE ELECTED

A special school election will be held October 19 to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Dr. L. Robert Keck, who is leaving the state.

It is unfortunate that this election is to be held entailing an expense of about $18,000 of the tax payers' money which could have been saved had a successor been appointed to the post.

This, of course, is history and the job now is to elect a person who is qualified for the post, carries to the board some sound convictions about responsible administration and will not bury his head in the sand when tough issues arise.

There are five candidates for the post among which is Nolden Gentry, whose name was batted around by the members of the board at the time of the squabble over the appointment.

Gentry is a lawyer, graduating from Iowa University, where he was captain of the basketball team. He has been an FBI agent, an assistant attorney general, is a member of the State Board of Education and has busied himself as a good citizen of Des Moines.

He should be elected and will be if all the people who clamored for his appointment earlier get out and vote. The time is well spent when no Negro is serving on the school board as is evidenced by many other cities where it is being done.

PRAISE FOR GOOD
SPORTSMANSHIP

Iowa University football fans are to be congratulated for the manner in which they support the team - win or lose. It is a sign of good sportsmanship and a test of love for the game and the school.

More than fifty thousand turned out Saturday to see the Hawks win their first game - and yet they had dropped their first three games. The team seemed almost hopeless.

But the boys came on strong and redeemed some of their poor showing, all of which the crowd appreciated. The test of good sportsmanship is playing a good game and that of the fans loyal support when the team is up or down.

ITS EITHER LAW AND ORDER OR NOT

Joseph Rhodes, the young Harvard University graduate student who served as a member of the President's Committee on Campus Unrest, has demanded that President Nixon issue a statement against killing students.

We are certain that the President has no desire to get into a word battle with this young man who, from the beginning, accused all law enforcement officials involved in the riots of being wrong and all participating students of being right.

Surely, no sane person advocates killing students or anyone else without cause. And certainly, the situation at Kent State in Ohio and the one at Jackson State College in Mississippi created two entirely different situations.

Unfortunately, we have a class of people today who excuse wrong doing when young people are involved and abhor it among older people. In fact, much of the trouble among young people today stems from condemning law observance, making it comfortable to commit crimes over and over again, knowing that some "Agency" will be on hand to protect their civil rights. And civil rights we must protect but the public has rights that need protecting also. They go hand in hand.

Vice President Agnew is hitting hard at this very thing. And a lot of people criticize him that he is dividing the people. Of course, what he says is not always right but when he points out law abiding citizens as against people who make citizens fearful of walking the streets, that divisiveness is welcome.

Negroes nor white people help the cause of the country when they coddle criminals who make things bad for themselves and the race as a whole. After all integrity, decency, and responsibility are as essential today as ever but the way some of our organizations are run, they don't seem to matter.

Penn Stands Firm Against
"Black Mandate"

Oskaloosa, Ia. — In a letter to the Afro-American student Union, the president of William Penn College, Duane Moon, said Tuesday that his office would not consider black concerns "expressed within the context of a 'mandate' and 'demands'."

Moon, in the letter said the college recognizes its responsibility to seek understanding to the needs of black students. But the letter said, "It must be clearly understood, however, that concerns expressed as demands for immediate action with threats such as presented in the Black Mandate of Oct. 9, are totally unacceptable."

A black house, an increase in black enrollment and a black recruiter were called for in the Oct. 9 mandate.

It was threatened that black football players would not play in Saturday's game with Central if the demands were not met.

They have now decided to present their concerns through established procedures according to the Dean of Students at William Penn.

At a Tuesday morning meeting, a student-faculty-administrative committee was appointed to consider the issue of a Black House.

A discussion of the issue sponsored by the student senate will be held.

OUR PREDICTIONS

We feel a bit better on our predictions now. We thought the Hawks might take Wisconsin, but we weren't ready to stick out our chest and roar that one. Now, we can give the guys a good shot at two of the three tough games. We feel that they ought to beat at least one of the three teams they play on the road, Minnesota, Michigan State and Michigan.

They have an outside chance against Purdue this weekend football being what it is, a game of emotions and being up or down. So they could have a four and three conference record, or a five and two. But Ohio State figures to go unbeaten, or at least not to drop over one game, so they will likely be in the Rose Bowl. Out there on the Pacific Coast they really threw the thing into a wide open scramble when Stanford beat USC. Stanford, UCLA, and USC are all tough teams and when any two of them tangle, throw your dope book out the window. And in the Big Eight, you have Nebraska, Colorado, Missouri, and K. State, who are as tough as any team in the country.

And Iowa State would be in that league. If the Cyclones can survive the physical beatings they will take from the top teams in that race, they might win maybe three more games. And that will be good for them.

And Drake, we just don't know. We were sure they would go all the way, and now they have lost two already. Maybe they can get back on the right track, and finish with a really good mark. After, all, eight and two or seven and three isn't too bad. But it isn't like going unbeaten.

High School Football
Here at home our city high school race seems to have only one team in it, Dowling. They make their wins over the other schools look easy. Our Dowling watcher still says they will lose two games. When we tried to pin him down, he could come up with only one possible loss. Heelan of Sioux City. Maybe the fellows will blow one more to get the guy off the hook. North must have really had a bad night last week. Somebody said that Lincoln finally got around to faking to their big guy and letting someone else carry the ball and it worked. And of course, Tech got their lumps again. We thought East might give Dowling a tough night, but they never seemed to get together. From what we read, that game was a fairly rough scuffle.

And now, if you have any money on the big series which may be over by the time you read this, forget it. A good point to remember if the experts haven't pointed it out to you by now. The Big Red Machine had began to slop some cogs by September, playing not much better than five hundred ball. In our opinion, and we have never claimed to be a baseball expert, the St. Louis Cardinals were probably the best team in the National league during September. They had begun to put it all together, but just had too far to go. The cubs, Mets, Pirates, and Twins simply backed into their pennants. Or at least, the Pirates and Twins did.

Boxing
And now that Mohammed Ali, or Cassius Clay is going into the ring for keeps, there is a lot of speculation as to what the layoff will do to him. Some athletes can lay off for a long while and come back as sharp as they were when they stopped. Maybe Clay is one of those fellows. But you can bet if he wins, he will yell as loud as he can for Joe Frazier. And if he looks pretty good, Frazier may make the bout a while coming off. But, come off it will because there is too much money to be made.

PEP PILLS-PICKUP OR LETDOWN?

Pills are part of today's world.

People take pills to pep up. To calm down. To cure TB. To stop having babies.

Pills can be beneficial. But pills - especially those not prescribed by physicians - can have strange effects. Pep pills, for instance, can have a downbeat kickback. At least for rats. And probably for humans, too.

Experiments
In experiments at Boston University, Dr. Aarje Latz gave amphetamines - pep pills - to rats for 10 days.

The pills made the rats perform poorly on tasks they were trained to do. Their performance declined with each successive day on the pills. Even after the effects of the drug had worn off, the rats still performed badly. The let-down lingers.

Apparently the effects of some pep pills depend not only on the drug itself but also on the situation. Rats given small doses of dex-edrine - another pep pill - may get sick and die if put in the company of other rats. But they seem fine if left alone. After taking the pills, they perform better on tasks if they are kept away from company.

Effect
The meaning for human beings? Nobody knows yet. But pep pills probably have a de-pepping effect at parties, at least. The chemical reactions triggered in the brain by these pills are now under investigation at the University of Rhode Island. Pep pills are risky items.

People at your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association have no pamphlets on pep pills. But they have lots of information about other pills that prevent and cure TB. Find out about them. You may know someone who needs them.

time recognizing the guy out of his tennis clothes. He promised us a story on the little league activities after the season. We are putting this down so the big fellow can't say he forgot it. And we also said we might even give him a byline. Do you know, maybe the guy can really write and what will we do if he takes over this sheet.

Peace, The Most
Everlasting

To the Editor:

With the nation's jobless rate at a high of 5.5 percent, and, in low economic or inner city areas, almost 3 times that - many are questioning the administration's use of unemployment as a deterrent to inflation.

Silvia Porter, the economist, answers the question: "Is war spending essential for jobs in U.S.?" in a recent column. (D.M. Trib. Mon. Oct. 5).

"Peace would be the most electrifyingly bullish thing that could happen to us." By shifting our priorities we would create far more jobs of far more worth than today."

On Dec. 1, 1969, the late Walter Reuther submitted to the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare a proposal "to promote orderly conversion from defense to civilian production."

In this proposal he supported Sen. McGovern's bill for a "National Economic Conversion Act" (S.1285) - with the addition of a strong mechanism to overcome resistance by defense employers to "converting manpower, facilities and any other economic resources . . . to civilian uses."

The value of public opinion is verified as an instrument for effecting change by the new Nixon peace proposal after polls revealed majority support for such a move.

There is no issue more urgent, in my opinion, to the state and national interest than immediate public attention to the need for peace and full employment of labor forces in solving domestic problems of social justice, urban decay, and environmental pollution.

The message from the people to our government should be: "WE DON'T HAVE TO BUY WAR EVERMORE!"
