Drop Charges Against TSU Students

Four Formerly Charged with Murder

HOUSTON.—All charges against four former Texas Southern University students accused of inciting a riot on that campus in 1967 have been dropped.

District Court Judge Wendell A. Odom dismissed the charges, on the recommendation of District Attorney Carol Vance, on November 4. A fifth former student had an assault to murder charge against him dismissed in June. The students were defended by NAACP counsel.

All five originally had been charged with murder in the shooting of Policeman Louis R. Kuba and with assault to murder in the wounding of Policeman Allen D. Dugger.

The four ex-students who were accused of inciting a riot are Trazawell Franklin, Jr., 26 Douglas Wayne Waller, 28, John Parker, 28, and Floyd H. Nichols, 29. Charles Freeman, 25, is the fifth man who had been charged with assault to murder.

The policemen were shot on the morning of May 17, 1967, following what has been described as "a week of police harassment designed to curb civil rights activity in which TSU students and others participated." It is alleged that a men's dormitory was surrounded, fired upon, invaded and vandalized by the police.

A battery of state and national NAACP officials and lawyers raised bail for the students at $10,000 each, and then pressed the legal defense of the students until charges were vacated.

Waller and Nichols were charged also with carrying pistols during the campus fracas. Mr. Waller was convicted on the charge and sentenced to one year in jail. Charges against Mr. Nichols were dismissed.

The NAACP undertook to defend the students because it believed they had been unjustly charged and because it believed that

Knox Contempt Hearing Set For Wednesday

Charles Knox, who was sentenced to two terms of six months for contempt of court has asked the Iowa Supreme Court to reverse the lower court.

Charles Glenn, attorney for Knox, will represent him at the hearing Wednesday.

Justice Francis Becker approved the request for a hearing in the Supreme Court chambers.

Glenn claimed Municipal Court did not give him enough time to prepare a defense.

Similar hearings were held in the cases of three others cited for contempt two weeks ago after a disruption in Municipal Court while Knox was being sentenced on a traffic charge.

The court has set $1,500 appeal bonds for the three, Mary Ann Rehm, Clive DePatten and Steven Green, but none is out on bond.

NAACP To Investigate Shooting

The Des Moines Branch of the NAACP will hold a special meeting Tuesday, Nov. 24 at 7:30 p.m. at Wilkie House.

The principal business is to elect a new President, secretary, recording secretary, and first and second vice presidents, as well as to elect new members to the executive board.

The legal redress committee will be set up to carry out the investigation of shooting incidents causing death at the hands of local police officers over the past few years.

The application of the law under which they were charged was unconstitutional. Under Texas law, persons accused of inciting to riot are equally responsible for any act committed during the riot.

"African Remembered": Theme of U of I Lecture Series

IOWA CITY.—"Africa Remembered" is the theme of a program of public lectures and demonstrations on the cultures of Africa which starts Wednesday (Nov. 18) at the University of Iowa at 8 p.m. in 3407 Engineering Building.

Yaw Akyeampong, a graduate student in hydraulics and mechanics from Ghana, is coordinator of the series, which will include two presentations each month during the academic year.

The series is sponsored by the U of I Afro-American Cultural Center as its first program of the year. Other speakers, films and art exhibits will also be scheduled.

The opening lecture of the series, which is free to the public, is entitled "What Is Africa?" Akyeampong said it would stress the fact that Africa is a continent, rather than a country.

Bryant Joins Police Cadets

Des Moines has added another member to the Police Cadet program, Ronald P. Bryant of Waterloo. He is the third Negro to enter the service.

Bryant, 20, of 1526 Eighteenth St., a graduate of East Waterloo High School and Ellsworth Community College in Iowa Falls where he majored in a two-year course in marketing.

The senior man in the program, Elmer Leslie Fonza, 19, of 1800 Twelfth St., already is in uniform. Fonza was the first applicant accepted into the cadets. He has been a cadet since Aug. 24.

The other cadet is Hurl Beechum, 19, of 1336 Eighteenth St., who entered the program Oct. 19.

The purpose of the program, he said, "is to get young men in the 18-to-22 age range interested in police service at a time when they are deciding on a profession for themselves." There currently are openings for seven more cadets.

Police cadets are paid $2.60 an hour starting pay, in addition to other fringe benefits offered to all city employees.

Early Deadline

Next week's issue of the Iowa Bystander will be printed on Wednesday, Nov. 25. Copy must be in on Monday, Nov. 23.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Washington, D.C. — An investigator for the house internal security committee testified that a $20,000 check donated for hungry children wound up as a part of the $150,000 bail for Huey P. Newton.

New Haven, Conn. — The murder trial of national Black Panther Chairman Bobby Seale, 34, opened in New Haven, Conn., with selection of a jury expected to take between four and eight weeks. Also on trial with Seale in the May, 1969, torture slaying of Alex Rackley is Mrs. Ericka Huggins, 22, the Connecticut Panther Party leader. They are charged with murder and kidnapping resulting in death.

New York, N.Y. — The fatal shooting of Sgt. Henry Tustin Monday night on Eighth Ave., was the result of cuddling the lawless element in the community.

That was the consensus of the opinions from Gleser Hinds, chairman of The Peoples Civic Association and the Rev. Oheria D. Dempsey, pastor of Upper Park Avenue Baptist Church and a fighter against the drug traffic.

New York, N.Y. — At a recent dinner meeting Mordecai Joseph, President of Hatzzaad Harishon, a multiracial Jewish organization, announced the appointment of James H. Benjamin as its new executive director.

The organization, with offices at 22 E. 42nd St., was founded in 1964 to promote better understanding and cooperation between black and white Jews.

House communications director, was quoted as having said he doesn't think the law and order theme of 1970 would be repeated in 1972.

Tragic Crash of Jet: 75 Players, Coaches Die

By Marshall Hood

An air of tragedy and remorse hung over the grey skies of Huntington, as parents, friends and mourners poured into this West Virginia community to attend to the business which followed the crash of the plane carrying 75 members, coaches and friends of Marshall University football team.

Monday, green and white banners of the Marshall team were flown at half staff in remembrance of those who perished in the Saturday night crash of the chartered jet carrying the team.

Besides the players and coaches killed, were doctors, a dentist, a representative-elect to the state legislature, a city council member, a car dealer and a TV sports announcer.

Brings The Town Closer

The tragedy seemed to bring the city of 100,000 closer together. Nearly everyone knew at least one or more of the people killed.

Many people came to the airport and the homes of the dead coaches bringing so much food "you could hardly get through the living rooms," said Carl Kokor, defensive line coach, who wasn't on the plane.

Fatal Bullet Hits 14 Year Old Youth in Head; Youths Remain at Large

BY CAROLINE POKRZYWINSKI

Clarence Jackson, 14, was fatally wounded Sunday night after leading Des Moines police on a high-speed auto chase in a car which officers said he and two other youths had stolen.

Jackson was shot in the back of the head by police while running from the car, which had stopped after being rammed by a patrol car. He died several hours later at Broadlawn Polk County Hospital.

Two youths riding in the car escaped, police said.

Police Chief Wendell Nichols, interviewed about the incident, said officers "did as they were supposed to do, but we didn't mean to hit him."

Racial Issue

Malcolm Hogan, chairman of the Des Moines branch of the NAACP has said the organization will investigate the shooting in an effort to determine if it indicates a "trend" of such incidents.

Chief Nichols has promised full cooperation with the NAACP investigations. He said he will make all police records on the incident available to them.

Public sympathy about the incident appears to be with the Police Department, Nichols said, but admitted that "frankly that attitude is predominantly white."

Many blacks have charged that the shooting is a racial issue.

Nichols indicated he believes that if a white had been shot, the issue would have been dropped.

Should Police Have Fired?

Asked if he believed officers should fire before they know positively if a fleeing person is guilty, Nichols said:

"The officers knew the car was stolen" and noted that the fleeing car violated many traffic laws during the chase.

"There were opportunities for the youths to give up if they were innocent," Nichols said. He said police fired a shot during the auto chase and that the fleeing vehicle avoided a road block and finally, after the car was rammed by the police car, the three youths fled on foot.

Des Moines' Police Rules

Asked if shooting to kill was justified since the youths presented no danger to others when they ran, but probably were frightened.

Nichols replied: "Look what would happen if we let everybody who was scared go?"

Des Moines Police Department policy follows guidelines set down by the International Association of Police Chiefs.

According to these guidelines says Nichols, if somebody stole your $35 television set and you shot and killed him, you would be justified.

"Can you imagine where we would be in law enforcement in America, if we didn't shoot those who ran from the scene of a felony?" asked Nichols.

Two Youths Sought

Meanwhile, the search for the other two youths

Nichols said he believes it is the responsibility of both black and white citizens to help apprehend them.

"Black people must realize they are part of society. If not, let's write separate laws," said Nichols.

Police Brutality

Is it possible people are afraid to turn the two young black over to the police, because of incidents of alleged police brutality?" Nichols was asked.

"What about the eight men I have off duty? One may lose an eye because of physical abuse, another is in the hospital with a broken jaw," he said.

The chief said that many blacks have been arrested and not been victims of police brutality.

No Action Planned

Nichols said a departmental investigation of the actions of rookie Patrolman William Hansen and William Trimble, who fired the shots, is under way. The chief said, however, preliminary findings indicate that no action will be taken against the officers.

He said a ballistics report which will show which officer fired the fatal shot "is not back yet." A total of eight shots reportedly were fired—six by Hansen and two by Trimble.

Name Calling

Many people apparently are angered by the shooting. At a meeting to discuss the incident Tuesday night at the City Council Chambers, Nichols said he was called a "pig." He said he told the audience he didn't come to the meeting to be insulted.

Memorial Service For Jackson

A memorial service for young Jackson is planned for Sunday at 3 p.m. in front of the Municipal Court Building, E. First and Court Avenue.

Launches Fight Against Slums

MONTGOMERY, ALA.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is "prepared to seek new legislation" to facilitate the development of decent housing for rural and small-town families, Executive Director Roy Wilkins said in a message to the first of a series of hearings on the rural slums sponsored by the Association's housing department.

This first hearing under direction of William Morris, NAACP director of housing programs, was held Nov. 13-14, in this one-time capital of the late Confederacy. Next month a similar hearing will be held in Suffolk County, N.Y.

ISU President Helps Launch Black Cultural Center

Ames, Iowa—Iowa State University President W. Robert Parks (right) helped the Black Cultural Center launch a new membership campaign by contributing for a sustaining member. Norman E. Thomas, graduate student from Lockport, Ill., who is president of the BCC board of directors, presented Parks with a membership certificate. Taking part in the ceremony were Neil E. Harl (left, professor of economics who is BCC treasurer, and Muriel M. Thomas, freshman from Des Moines who is BCC secretary. The Black Cultural Center, operated by Iowa State students at 517 Welch, offers three types of membership to persons who contribute to the Center's support—student, community, and sustaining membership.

National Urban League To Honor Black Mayors

Predominantly from larger urban areas in the United States, the Mayors symbolically receiving the Awards are: Kenneth A. Gibson of Newark, New Jersey; Richard G. Hatcher of Gary, Indiana; Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland, Ohio; James H. McGee of Dayton, Ohio; Walter E. Washington of Washington, D.C.; Howard N. Lee of Chapel Hill, North Carolina; A. Price Woodard, Jr. of Wichita, Kansas; and Charles Evers of Fayette, Mississippi, a national figure though not Mayor of a large urban area.

Mayor John V. Lindsay will officially welcome the Mayors on behalf of the people of New York. Convening for the first time to accept such awards, the Mayors will appear before a cross-section of the community — an anticipated 1800 persons representing civic and community leaders, corporation heads, grassroots organizations, non-school youth and students.

James A. Linen, President of the League and Chairman of the Executive Committee of Time Inc. will present the Awards.

Last year's Equal Opportunity Day Awards went to former Chief Justice Earl Warren "for great and historic contributions to the cause of human rights," and as a special achievement award to Maurice W. Lee, Sr. of Boley, Oklahoma, a Black businessman who almost singlehandedly salvaged the economy of his all-Black home town.

The League, whose Executive Director is Whitney M. Young, Jr., established the Awards in 1957 to commemorate the anniversary of Lincoln's immortal re-dedication of Gettysburg to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Death Claims Dawson: Master Politician

William L. Dawson, master politician and a major power among blacks on Chicago's south side for more than thirty years, will be buried Thursday following services in Chicago.

Dawson, 84, who had served in the House of Representatives without interruption since 1942 died of cancer in Chicago's Veterans Research Hospital.

Throughout much of his career Dawson was a controversial figure among black people. The controversy was focused on his unwavering devotion to the Democratic party. Dawson felt that effective participation in partisan politics would help the cause of black people.

In a 1957 newspaper interview he warned: "Name calling and playing the grandstands is not the way to get things done on Capital Hill. If you want to get any advantages for our people, colored representatives must learn to play on the team. For this I am branded an Uncle Tom and a lot of other names."

Valuable Member
Dawson was indeed a valuable member of the Democratic team. He provided a large percentage of the margin of victory for presidents Kennedy and Truman by turning out a sizeable vote in Chicago's black south side wards.

In a close Chicago mayoralty election in 1963 115,000 votes of Mayor Daley's 139,000 margin of victory came from Dawson's domain.

Dawson chose to adopt a modest, unspectacular life style, but was nonetheless richly rewarded for being a team man. He served as vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, the first black man to hold such a post. He was also the first Black to head a congressional committee, serving as chairman of the House Government Operation committee from 1948 until his death.

Through most of his Democratic career he was an important and powerful member of the Cook County Democratic Central Committee.

Fisk Grad

Dawson, a native of Albany, Georgia, began his political career in Chicago in 1928 after passing the Illinois bar in 1920.

Ironically, he initiated his political career as a Republican running unsuccessfully in the GOP primary for the House of Representatives in 1928. Although he lost he managed to obtain a respectable 29 percent of the vote.

Five years later Dawson was elected Alderman from the south side, a position which he occupied until 1939. In 1942 he switched allegiances to the Democratic Party and ran successfully for the House, becoming the only Negro in that body.

Dawson, an admirer of Booker T. Washington, was neither flamboyant nor a legislative genius in the House. He did, however, distinguish himself in two fights early in his career. The first was the battle against the poll tax and other restrictions on black voting in the south.

The second was his opposition to segregation in the armed forces during the Korea conflict. In fact the generally quiet Dawson who was shot and gassed during World War I, made his most famous speech on the armed forces desegregation issue.

'How Long?'

During that speech the former infantry officer asked "How long, how long, my confreres and gentlemen from the South, will you divide us Americans on account of color? Give me the test that you would apply to make anyone a full-fledged American, and by the living God, if it means death itself I will pay it. But give it to me."

Although Dawson chose not to seek re-election this year because of his health, he did hand pick his successor, designating long time ally Ralph Metcalf to follow him as representative of Illinois' first congressional district.

Dawson, who is survived by his wife Nellie, a son William Jr., and a daughter Barbara, had a favorite saying with which he would end meetings and gatherings.

"Walk together children. And don't get weary. Walk together children, for there's a great deal coming by and by."

Funeral services for Congressman Dawson will be held Thursday at 11 a.m. at the Progressive Baptist Church, 3658 So. Wentworth Ave. Chicago, Illinois.

Red Cross Warns of Dangerous Toys

WASHINGTON, D.C., — For a child, Christmas is a time of toys and happiness. But an ill-chosen toy may cause injury or possibly death instead of the squeals of joy intended.

"Parents should use extreme care in selecting toys for their children," says Robert Oswald, director of American Red Cross Safety Programs. "Although most toys are considered safe, there are still a good many on the market having features considered below minimum safety standards or that could make them potentially dangerous," he explained.

American toy manufacturers, says the Red Cross safety director, are generally very concerned and have been very cooperative in correcting potentially dangerous playthings. "But, there are some toys on the market which are not considered minimally safe," Oswald states.

One of the most important things to inspect on a toy is its construction. Kids give toys a rough workout. Actually, child toy accidents are not so much the result of poor design, workmanship or materials as they are of misuse. So a toy must be durable to stand up to this treatment.

Plastic that shatters, metal with sharp edges and wood that splinters or has unsanded edges are dangerous. A toy should be put together so a child cannot yank off a wheel or break it open to leave exposed sharp edges or small parts that could be swallowed.

Many electric toys are now available. Electricity is dangerous to adults and doubly so to children who have no ideas of its properties. New electric toys usually have no shock hazard or current leakage. But play stoves, irons, and metal molding and wood burning devices do get hot. A child must be taught to respect them.

Like regular household appliances, these electrically-operated toys do get old and worn, and the insulation can fail. These toys must be kept in good repair.

Mr. Oswald warns that an electrical toy should always carry the UL (Underwriters Laboratories) test label on the toy itself and on the cord. An electric train or race set should have a circuit breaker on the transformer. A child with an electric toy should be carefully taught the correct way to plug it in and unplug it. Cuddly, stuffed figures can also be hazardous. Wire, sometimes used to form an ear, can poke through the fabric. A poorly-made figure can come apart at the seams and children might put the stuffing in their mouths. The same is true of hair on dolls. A button eye that is stapled or has prongs can easily be wrenched off and swallowed.

"Last, and very important," says Mr. Oswald, "is parental guidance. The toy should be within the child's ability to operate and enjoy, and he should be taught how to operate it in a safe manner and in a safe place. Common sense, after all, is the best accident preventative."

A hot object placed on a varnished surface will leave a milky mark. A gentle rubbing with spirits of camphor will generally remove the offending spot from furniture. Polish when dry.

Jobs and Training Set For Ia. in Manpower Plan For Co-Op

Jobs, training, or both will be provided for 319 Iowans in three projects of the Manpower Administration announced by the U.S. Department of Labor.

William S. Harris, Regional Manpower Administrator, said the Department of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare have allocated $1,174,664 to the projects.

The skill center of the Des Moines Area Community College will provide entry-level training to 262 jobless or under-employed workers in ten fields, ranging from alteration tailor to production machine operator. The Federal Government's share of the cost, under the Manpower Development and Training Act, is $1,074,612.

Trainees will be tested, counseled and referred to training by the Iowa State Employment Security Commission, which will administer training and other allowances, and provide job-finding help after graduation.

Des Moines' newest night spot, Robert's Lounge, had its grand opening Friday, Nov. 13.

The club, owned and operated by Mr. Robert (Chin) Edmonds, is located on 11th and University.

Edmonds, who owned the old EMPIRE Room previously located at 790 12th St. was forced to move when Urban Renewal came through the area.

After purchasing what he thought was suitable land for a new club, acquiring a liquor license, and hiring a contractor to apply for a building permit, Edmonds found he couldn't build on the land.

He then purchased the land on 11th and University. Construction began in May of 1970 by Doherty Const. Co. of Des Moines. The overall cost of building is at $80,050.

The Small Business Administration helped finance the venture.

The preview opening of Robert's Lounge was held on Nov. 6th, and received a good response from the public.

The Don Archer Trio is featured for the first two weeks at Robert's Lounge.

Friends and relatives in for the grand opening of Robert's Lounge included the mayor-elect of Cotton Plant, Arkansas. Mayor Jerome Conally, who drive up from Arkansas with Clemell Edmonds, brother of the proprietor, Robert Edmonds. International Business Communications Formed By Ennis Business Forms, J. Wallace Gaines ENNIS, Texas., Nov. 17 — Ennis Business Forms, Inc. (NYSE), and J. Wallace Gaines, of Hampton, Va., have formed International Business Communications, Inc., a new commercial printing and business forms company which has begun operating nationwide.

The announcement was made jointly today by Leonard F. Gherig, president of the Ennis, Tex.-based manufacturer, and Gaines, president of International Business Communications (IBC).

The new company will work in the areas of business systems development, business forms sales, advertising and promotional printing and specialized business counselling, geared to new companies with government (8A) contract programs and Small Business Administration loans.

Gehrig said, "As a new Ennis dealer, IBC offers Ennis a substantial new outlet for its forms and business systems. We are pleased to be associated with Gaines and feel the new venture will be mutually beneficial."

International Business Communications, headquartered in Hampton, Va., will market in areas which, until now, have not been or have been only slightly development. He said the new company will work with Ennis as a total manufacturing-distribution team to serve these new markets.

"IBC, through its affiliation with Ennis, has the potential to be the largest black-owned business forms dealer and mixed media firm in the nation," Gaines said.

International Business Communications will operate through its headquarters in Hampton and initially will have sales offices and educational facilities in Dallas, Los Angeles, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Drake Graduate

Gaines, a graduate of Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, is president of Gaines, Inc., and ABC Printing and Advertising Company. He founded those firms in Hampton five years ago. Previously, he was a captain in the U. S. Air Force in the intelligence division. Gaines also studied at the University of Virginia and the Marshal Whyte School of Law at William and Mary College.

William Caraway, 27, of 2407 44th St. was taken to Broadlawn with head injuries and then transferred early today to University Hospitals in Iowa City. Police said he was alone in his car.

Police accident investigator Robert Blaylock said details of how the accident occurred were unclear because there were no witnesses and because neither of the survivors were able to give information.

Kodak Co. Announces Grant

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — Eastman Kodak Company has established a special grant program for the development of science and engineering cooperative education at three predominantly Negro schools: Hampton Institute, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University, and Tuskegee Institute, the company announced today.

Under the auspices of Kodak's educational aid program, the company will award the grants in the amount of $15,000 yearly to each school for a period not to exceed four years. In addition, Kodak will provide working positions each year during this period for up to six students from each school who are enrolled in the cooperative science and engineering education

The cooperative education program affords the student the opportunity for experimental learning through a system of alternating periods of work and study. Kodak has employed students on this basis for more than a decade.

Lawyer Protests Police Brutality

17 year old Lewis Henderson Branch received brutal and inhuman treatment by the Des Moines Police Department, after his Nov. 12th arrest in a garage on 8th St.

He was arrested and subsequently charged with four crimes. After his arrest, Branch of slight build and unable to defend himself, claims that between four and six policemen beat him.

He was later treated at Broadlawn Hospital.

The following is a letter by Attorney James B. Morris Jr., regarding the Des Moines Police Department's treatment of Branch.

Chief Wendell Nichols
Des Moines Police Department
East 1st and Court Avenue
Des Moines, Iowa 50309

Dear Chief Nichols:

I wish to take this opportunity to register a complaint relative to the brutal and inhuman treatment rendered by officers of the Des Moines Police Department to Lewis Henderson Branch at the time of his arrest on Thursday, November 12, 1970. He was pistol whipped, struck and kicked with the result that he had over two dozen stitches in his head and that his back and sides were a mass of bruises, abrasions and marks.

Our version of the circumstances under which he was apprehended indicate that undue and excessive force was used. He was unarmed and incapable of rendering effective resistance.

This matter should be immediately investigated and appropriate action taken toward those who perpetrated this gross injustice.

Very truly yours,
MORRIS & MORRIS

Fatal Crash Kills Mother and Son

A Des Moines woman and her 2-year-old son were fatally injured about 9:15 p.m. Wednesday in a two car crash at E. 14th St. and Cleveland Ave.

The woman's daughter and a man were badly injured.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Laney (Betty)

Q. Everybody's talking about phosphates polluting our waters. My neighbor tells me that, of the total wastewater coming into our treating plant, there's more phosphorus in sewage than there is in detergents.

Don't they take phosphorus out of all wastewater at the same time? And, if they do, why can't we keep phosphates in the detergents and take all of it out at the waste treatment plant, or would that cost too much?

Chicago Heights, Ill.

A. Phosphates from detergents account for only about 40 percent of all phosphorus in cities' wastewaters; oftentimes less. Remainder is from all other sources. Many cities do not yet have phosphorus-removal systems, although laws are on the books that will soon require 80 percent removal by municipalities. Cost for removal of the additional phosphate in wastewater resulting from detergents is expected to be virtually unnoticeable. In studies conducted in plants with phosphorus removal processes in the Midwest, chemicals for removing phosphorus averaged a mere three cents per 1,000 gallons.

The Dow Chemical Company has conducted feasibility studies proving the process on some 40 plants around the Great Lakes representing over half of the total municipal effluent in the watershed. To obtain information on phosphorus removal write: Environmental Control Systems, 2020 Dow Center, Midland, Mich. 48640.

Spoonerisms

Tongue-slipping transpositions, such as "occupuewing a pie" instead of "occupying a pew," are called spoonerisms for a British clergyman, Canon William Spooner, who was noted for such lapses.

U of I Grad Wins Ford Foundation Grant

IOWA CITY — A University of Iowa student working for a Ph.D. in ethnic studies has received a $2,000 grant from the Ford Foundation to support study for his dissertation.

James H. Rogers of St. Louis, who is enrolled in the American Civilization program, is writing about the literature of James Wadell Chesnut, a 19th-century Black fiction-writer. Last year Rogers received a $3,000 Martin Luther King Fellowship from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

In September he will become associate director of Black studies in the Ethnic Studies College of Western

More Home Benefits To Disabled Veterans

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said veterans totally and permanently disabled by service-connected disabilities will find it considerably easier to obtain "wheel chair homes" under provisions of a new law.

These are veterans who are eligible for GI loan benefits and who need specially adapted housing with such special fixtures as ramps or movable facilities. "Under the new law," Johnson noted, "the VA is authorized to make direct loans to veterans eligible for specially adapted housing in any part of the country."

Previously, this type of loan was available only in rural or small town areas—in places where financing was difficult or impossible to obtain.

Johnson added that VA approved 589 grants for these "wheel chair homes" during fiscal year 1970, and nearly

HOW TO STUDY EFFICIENTLY

"One reason why many students don't learn as much as they might," says Norman Spector, noted educator, "is that they study too much."

By "study," Professor Spector means trying to commit hundreds of facts to memory. "A much better approach," he suggests, "is to grasp the concepts—the foundation of facts."

To study efficiently, educational researchers suggest that students try to keep in mind three rules of thumb:

RULE 1 — KNOW YOUR MATERIAL THOROUGHLY — This is not as simple as it sounds — although it is basic. Read, re-read, summarize and try to integrate what you just learned with what you already knew. You cannot successfully work algebraic problems, for example, without a mastery of addition, and you won't really know any subject, until you understand its vocabulary, concepts, and uses.

RULE 2 — GET THE KNACK OF PROBLEM SOLVING — One of the best ways of gaining expertise in a subject is to practice the problem solving in anticipation of the kind of material that will appear on a test. Working with old tests is one way to do this. Making up your own test, as if you were the professor, is even better. If you are still stymied, try this: rearrange the basic elements of the problem—until you become very familiar with them; try to get a total picture — don't get bogged down by hard details; talk it out with others; and most of all — don't give up. Practice in working problems through several times will help you avoid that sinking feeling in the pit of the stomach at test time, when you realize that even though you think you know your subject, you don't really know what to do with it.

RULE 3 — REVIEW, REVIEW, REVIEW — A review is to learning what digestion is to a sumptuous dinner. One Phi Beta Kappa scholar, with a brain like a computer, and a busy social life to boot, says his secret is the humble outline. He outlines everything, then summarizes, and types all his notes on his portable typewriter. By typing notes, you not only gain an automatic review as you type, but your notes are easy to read, and they form a valuable reference for future use. Having your own — like the Royal Apollo 10 electric portable — is a big convenience for better studying, better review, and better grades. Chances are, like most amateur typists, you press down on one key hard, another too lightly, or even jam keys together, accounting for the poor appearance of some papers. But the new typewriter (which sells for approximately $1000) has a keyboard that magically makes these errors disappear. On paper your typing looks as sharp, even, and as professional as the work of a veteran typist. Teachers prefer to read such typewritten essays and term papers. And there is something, too, about clear appearance that often motivates students to compose better essays in the first place.

Whatever your work tools, however, reviewing material is still the key to efficient studying.

The VA administrator explained grants for specially adapted housing are available to veterans who served on active military duty since April 20, 1898, and who are entitled to receive service-connected compensation for permanent and total disability due to specific disabling conditions.

Before the law was enacted, a veteran with a debt-free home could not obtain a grant large enough to cover the cost of remodeling necessary to adapt his home to meet the needs created by his disability. He was limited to a grant which covered only 50 percent of the remodeling cost.

The new law allows the VA to pay the costs of remodeling homes of severely disabled veterans eligible for grants for specially adapted housing — provided the cost of remodeling does not exceed $12,500.

Another provision of the new law allows the VA to pay the costs of remodeling homes of severely disabled veterans eligible for grants for specially adapted housing — provided the cost of remodeling does not exceed $12,500.

Clinton

The Carder and Jordan boxing team from Clinton and Andover went to Cedar Rapids, Nov. 8, to take part in their first meeting of the season. Three members of the team competed in the meet held at the Knights of Columbus club rooms.

Clinton's Tyron Sampson won first place trophy in the 10 year old, 80 pound class - over Cedar Rapids' 10 year old class.

Mr. William Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Sampson, were among those going with the team. Mr. Jordan is one of the coaches for the boxing team.

Mrs. Geraldine Jordan, who is in the Home Maker Service of the Dept. of Social Welfare in Clinton County, attended a 3 day workshop on child behaviour at Des Moines Community College. Mrs. Jordan is taking special courses at Mt. St. Clair College.

NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL, OF APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTOR, AND NOTICE TO CREDITORS

In the District Court of the State of Iowa in and for Polk County

Probate No. 62920

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF Frederick C. McCollough, Deceased. TO ALL PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE ESTATE OF Frederick C. McCollough Deceased:

You are hereby notified that on the 4th day of November, 1970, the last will and testament of Frederick C. McCollough deceased bearing date of the 4th day of October, 1966, was admitted to probate in the above named court and that Harriette G. McCollough was appointed executor of said estate.

Notice is further given that any action to set aside said will must be brought in the district court of said county within one year from the date of the second publication of this notice, or thereafter be forever barred.

Notice is further given that all persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment to the undersigned, and creditors having claims against said estate shall file them with the clerk of the above named district court, as provided by law, duly authenticated, for allowance; and unless so filed within six months from the second publication of this notice (unless otherwise allowed or paid) such claim shall thereafter be forever barred.

Dated this 4th day of November, 1970.

Cecile Cooper of Davenport was honored at Bethel A.M.E. Church on Sunday as one "whose beautiful life of compassion with commitment has inspired and enriched the lives of so many others." (from the citation).

"The Family"

A program patterned after the "This is Your Life" T.V. show was under the Co-chairmanship of Betty Oney and Vernell Perkins; Mrs. Oney acting as Mistress of Ceremonies. The program was divided into four parts: the first, "The Family," with a niece, Gwendolyn Cooper as co-ordinator. Greetings were read from Simon Estes, a nephew and internationally known baritone, and other members of the family from Centerville, Des Moines and Iowa City.

"Faith" "Faith"

The second part, "Faith" was coordinated by Vernell Perkins and Grace Buckner and included testimonies by a former Pastor, Rev. E. L. Johnson, and Strickland Marcus and Rebecca Momon, officers of the church.

"Professional Life"

Part three, "Professional Life," was coordinated by Delores Burnham and included a review of Cecile Cooper's activities as a Cosmetologist; this segment also included a surprise guest, Bernie Carleton of Le Claire, in whose shop in Bettendorf the "color line" was broken.

"Inter Faith and Community"

The fourth part, "Interfaith and Community" was coordinated by Powell Owens and Father Francis Duncan; it included a poem composed by Leonora Allen; a greeting from the Muscatine Federated Women's Club, which was at one time part of the Semper Fidelis Federated Women's Club founded by Cecile Cooper, the President, Aldeen Davis, of Muscatine, was present. The N.A.A.C.P. was represented by Attorney Thomas

Political Control In South

WASHINGTON -- Of more than 300 black candidates who ran for political office in the South in the November 3 elections, 114--or more than a third of the total--won races to give Southern Blacks their greatest gains in any campaign year since Reconstruction, the Joint Center for Political Studies reported.

Across the Southern

United States, Black candidates were elected to such varied positions as probate judge, school board member, mayor, prosecutor, city councilman, alderman, state representative, state senator and Congressman, according to the Center, a nonpartisan research, information and service program co-sponsored by Howard University and the Metropolitan Applied Research Center (MARC).

Unexpectedly, the youth went on to sing and wriggle his way around the world. Throngs cheered him. His Name: Elvis Presley!

URBAN LITTER FIGHTERS — James C. Bowling, president of Keep America Beautiful, Inc., presents 1970 award for outstanding achievement in litter prevention to members of the Youth Council of the Newark, N.J. Commission for Neighborhood Conservation and Rehabilitation. Accepting the award on behalf of the Council are Ovel Barbee, Joanne Kramer and Miriam Ramirez (far right). Posing with them at KAB's 17th annual meeting in New York is America's Junior Miss for 1970, Karen Sue Stenwall (second from right).

'Race Problems Will Not Be Solved' Soon

NEW YORK.—The conflict that exists between this country's whites and blacks "will not be healed within the lifetimes of any Americans now alive," eminent British scientist and author C.P. Snow declared.

Governor Ray Begins Promo Tour of Calif.

Governor Robert D. Ray began Iowa's seventh Industrial Luncheon Tour early Tuesday morning as he left Des Moines for San Francisco with a delegation of 116 Iowans.

The four-day tour sponsored by the Iowa Development Commission will bring Iowa banking, publishing, industrial development, manufacturing, insurance and transportation leaders together with top business people in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The Governor said this industrial luncheon tour will provide the Iowa delegation with the opportunity to tell Iowa's story and conduct business appointments in one of the nation's prime industrial areas.

"We aren't going with the idea of taking any industry away from California," Wymer said. "We are saying, however, that when California based companies are thinking of expansion they should think about Iowa. We believe Iowa has much to offer."

The Governor's delegation is scheduled to be in San Francisco November 17-18, Los Angeles November 18-19, and return to Des Moines November 20.

Do's And Don'ts

National Urban League Holds Emergency Meeting

Representatives from the National Urban League's 97 local affiliates, calling themselves into an unprecedented emergency session in St. Louis, have served their own self-imposed segregation; but that is the opposite of an answer to the problem...

"A sizeable fraction of them, including many of their ablest young, are in a situation of feeling like revolutionaries, of seeing nothing but a revolutionary outcome, inside a larger society that feels and sees precisely the reverse."

Snow said that the widespread American fear of general revolution is "totally unrealistic, perhaps the most self-destructive of American worries." The underlying structures of American society are strong to allow revolution to take place, he said. Other observations made by Lord Snow in the Look article:

"I would bet that by the year 2000, the essential framework (of America) will be similar to what it is today."

"Americans are forgetting one of their greatest glories... the achievement of American universities."

ported by the United Way across the country, yet we receive only 1 1/2 per cent of the allocations from United Way agencies (United Funds and Chests). We question the seriousness of local communities to do anything meaningful about the growing crisis in our cities," Mr. Young said.

"I am saying to the United Way today, and to all citizens who give to the United Way, that we cannot and will not continue to participate in this fraud being perpetuated on the American public."

"The Urban League has been a constructive and responsible force for over 60 years in this country. Its effectiveness with limited resources only underscores what it could do with adequate funding."

"We are asking," Mr. Young stated, "as a step in this direction, that the United Funds in the country increase their gifts to the Urban League by 50 per cent this year. This will mean some agonizing reappraisal on the part of the Funds, but represents a relatively minor agony compared to the real pain presently suffered by the nation's disadvantaged."

"We simply cannot afford to operate Urban League programs in cities where there is no financial commitment," Mr. Young said.

"and a 50 per cent increase now is only a beginning commitment by the United Way. Next year and the year after more effort will be required by all of us if we are to solve these problems."

Star-Studded Show In Chicago 2nd Black Expo

DETROIT, MICH., — Motown's Four Tops were among some of the most glamorous named in show business who gathered last night in Chicago's International Amphitheatre to launch the Second Annual Black Expo.

The Tops appeared on a super spectacular show that featured blues star B.B. King, Donny Hathaway, Les McCann, the Plea-surettes, a local group, and songstress Roberta Flack, who received a standing ovation from the crowd of over 18,000 for her dynamic performance.

NATIONAL URBAN LEAGUE

The National Urban League will give awards to eight Black mayors representing over 50 Black mayors in the country, at its annual Equal Opportunity Day dinner being held this year in the New York Hilton's Grand Ballroom on November 19th.

In a non-partisan, non-political spirit of Black and white coalition and unity, the 1970 Awards recognize the importance of Black political leadership as an American strategy for the 70's, moving America's minorities towards their rightful goal of equal opportunity for all.

Next week's issue of the Iowa Bystander will be printed on Wednesday, Nov. 25. Copy must be in on Monday, Nov. 23.

TUESDAY FOUND SHIRLEY WOODS, THE UNITED BLACK FEDERATION's College Information Director, trying to reach Bill Cosby in Los Angeles to ask him to appear on, or have his voice taped for the "College Night" program to be held Wednesday, December 2, at 7:00 p.m. at Washington Irving Junior High School Auditorium, 16th and Forest Avenue.

WHAT A LONG, DRAWN OUT PROCEDURE! A phone call to Dolph Puliam and Jerry Bloomquist of KRNT, who gave her the telephone number of Irving Granz Productions Los Angeles, who gave her the telephone number of Bill Cosby's office. When she reached his office, his secretary said Bill was out of town and a Mr. Dell was out to lunch. (Shirley hadn't remembered the difference in time between Des Moines and Los Angeles.) She left her number and was assured he would return the call. At the time of our deadline, this project is still being pursued. This, however, is beside the point which is that young people seeking a college education, be on hand on the night of December 2, Washington Irving. The evening promises to be an important, event and interesting!

SHIRLEY WOODS ENJOYS THE ENTHUSIASM OF EDWARD in her undertakings. She is "Mrs. Edward" you know! With the support and encouragement of her husband and daughter, she somehow manages to do tremendous things in her role with the United Black Federation as well as work for Consortium for Higher Education for Special Students - better known as CHEST. This organization is sponsored by Drake University, Area KK and Grand View College. She serves as a Family Home Consultant. She serves as liaison between the colleges and the students. She helps with problems and refers students to other sources of assistance.

A FABULOUS PAIR! FAY AND VIRGIL WINTERS are always involved! Fay, a Park Avenue Elementary School 4th grade teacher, earned her Masters Degree at Drake University last August. Meanwhile Virgil Winters, First Federal State Bank head vault teller, as indicated, is money minded! That is, he is a coin collector. (The next and forthcoming level will be a numismatist - give him time!) Encountered Winters at the Extravaganza drooling over the currency and coins displays! As I said, What a pair!

MRS. LENA REEVES NOTED ON THE COLLECTORS' EXTRAVAGANZA scene graciously visited with me and described the pleasure "working" the Veterans Auditorium shows and big events is for her. (My terminology at this point was picked up by my own experience in "working" shows at The Drama Workshop and Des Moines Community Playhouse.) Mrs. Reeves, well-known and admired in this community has reared a lovely family, the members of which are identified with many civic undertakings. She has gained the freedom (like free at last!) to do as she pleases! And it pleases her to see what's happening at the Auditorium, one of the biggest show places anywhere. She sees first hand some of the most prominent figures in the nation. This segment of her life is certainly where the action is!

I ENCOUNTERED MRS. MARY HARDAWAY, who is known to all and who is always on the move - on land and sea! Strictly one of today's women, she, too enjoys Veterans Auditorium and its wide range of entertainment. She, too, has an on the spot assignment and so doesn't miss a thing.

WALT JOHNSON IS TO BE CREDITED FOR HIS THIRD PRESENTATION of the Collectors' Extravaganza! Take a look at this! The show included antiques, coins and currency, guns and edged weapons, rocks and minerals, Indian artifacts and jewelry, Beam, Brooks, Dante and Avon Bottles, Insulators; Political and Military Items; Primitives, Oriental Arts, Clocks and watches. Willkie House Spotlights Lonna Anderson

The spotlight is on Miss Lonna Anderson, Willkie House intern worker. Miss Anderson was assigned to Willkie House for Oct. and Nov. through the off-campus program at Iowa State University, Department of Family Environment.

Several upperclassman from Ames have been working in various social service settings in Des Moines. Willkie House was especially fortunate in having Miss Anderson as a temporary addition to its staff.

"Lonnice" as the children call her, enthusiastically assisted with the children's after school program in arts, crafts, and recreations. Adults in the Basic Education Program appreciated her assistance in the study program. Lonnice also worked with teenagers at the Tuesday evening Teen Lounge.

Miss Anderson visited homes in the neighborhood. Out of contact with adults, she helped plan additions to the program. She will be driving to Des Moines every Monday evening to direct a new Slim 'N Trim class for ladies.

Willkie House wishes to express its appreciation to Miss Anderson for her creative able assistance, and to her supervisor, Dr. Elmer Schneider, Professor of Sociology and Family Environment at Iowa State University.

Theodosia Court Holds Initiation

Theodosia Court No. 5, R.E.O.A. met on Nov. 15 at the Masonic Hall 1121 Clark. Mr. John Bailey, a member of Olive Branch No. 32 O.E.S., was initiated into the order. Mr. James Newsome, Royal Patron, presented the Administrative Degree Certificate to Grand Royal Matron, Mrs. Emma Williamson and past Grand Royal Matron, Mrs. Lessie Garrett.

Following the ceremonies the members were entertained at a social hour by Mr. Newsome and Mr. Bailey.

The next meeting will be December 20, at 4:00 p.m. At this time election of officers will be held followed by the Court's annual Christmas party.

Mrs. Henrietta Coats is Royal Matron.

Tiny Tots Open House

Over 250 people attended the Tiny Tots open house and program Saturday, Nov. 14th, at 1401 Forest.

Included in the program were; Mr. L. Brown and Mr. Robert Jackson who from OEO, talked on the beginning of Tiny Tots, Mr. Bill Callahan and Mr. William Snyder from Model Cities who spoke on Tiny Tots as a Model Cities project.

Also on the program; Mrs. Ann Downey and Deborah Ousley, two parents who talked about parent participation.

After the program parents guided visitors through the center.

Honored guests were June Franklin and Mrs. Tom Urban.

Highlighting the open house was the cutting of the ribbons and the unveiling of the sign. Parent, Pearl English and Sandra Lyles, assisted in cutting the ribbons.

Parent, Carol Van Duzer and Larry Scales, from the Iowa Children and Family Service were on hand for the unveiling of the sign. The Tiny Tot Chorus singing with Pastor Dave Abram from St. John's Lutheran Church, provided the entertainment.

Punch, coffee and cake, decorated in the fall colors was served by parents.

Chairman of the open house committee was Mrs. Charlene Owens.

Black Federation Sponsors College Night Program

Plans were announced this week by Mrs. Shirley Woods, the United Black Federation's College Information Director, that the Federation College Information Service is sponsoring a College night program on Wednesday, December 2, at Washington Irving Junior High School, 16th and Forest.

Participating schools are: Warburg College, Waverly; University of Northern Iowa, Cedar Falls; University of Iowa, Iowa City; Iowa State University, Ames; Creighton University, Omaha, Nebraska; Coe College, Cedar Rapids; Marshalltown; Drake University and Grand View College, Des Moines; Des Moines Area Community College, Ankeny. All other secondary school students, especially junior and senior high, are invited. Each college representative will bring along students from the schools to "rap with" high school students.

There will be plenty of admission and financial aid information. Theme for the program is "Let's Rap About Higher Education". College is within your reach!

Annual Doll Show and Xmas Party at Willkie House

The Parliamentary Law and Culture Club will present its 16th Annual Doll show at Willkie House, 900 17th St. on Sunday, Dec. 13 from 4-6 p.m.

The doll show is a Christmas party for all the children of the community. A prince and princess of Christmas will be crowned at the party. A musical program and dance will also be presented by the children.

The names of those children being sponsored for prince and princess are; Faith Suzette Moore, Zegory Harris, Prince Eugene Webster, Andrea Williams, and Desiree Shade.

Each child is asked to bring a favorite doll to march with in the doll parade. Many varieties of dolls will be on display.

The Parliamentary Law and Culture Club is a member of the Iowa Association of Colored Womens Clubs. It sponsors scholarships, promotes education, musical endeavors, and creative dramatics.

President of the club is Mrs. Match Gators, Mrs. Muzette Perkins is chairman of the doll show. Mrs. Geneva Robinson is program chairman.

Scouting With Trinity Methodist Church Troop 32

Troop 32 Trinity Methodist Church, was led by Scout Joe Moore on their first winter campout of this season at Camp Mitigwa, November 14-15.

The Scouts experienced the seasons lowest temperature to date, 21 degrees, but enjoyed the opportunity to pit their scouting skill against the elements. The campout was highlighted when two white-tailed deer entered the campsite on Sunday morning, but quickly outdistanced our fleetfooted scouts as they vanished over a woodcovered hill down a creek bed.

Form New Teen- Age Group

A New Youth Group has been formed by the Oakridge Action Teens (OAT), says Alfred B. Brown, adviser for the group and a resident of the housing development.

Though OAT primarily will be for all teen-agers living in the Oakridge area, some young persons from outside the area may be included, he said.

The committee said scheduled activities will include bowling parties, dances, record hops and other events at least once a month both in and out of the Oakridge community.

NEW ANSWERS SOLVE ENZYMES CONFUSSION

Suddenly the most frequently heard word among homemakers is "enzyme". First the enzyme appeared in pre-soaks. Now the leading detergents contain enzymes as well. But while the enzyme has been hailed by many as the greatest washday discovery of modern times, it is still surrounded by a maze of confusion for the housewife who has to determine which laundry products will be most effective for her washday needs and also give her the best results for her money.

Did you know, for instance, that enzymes can be used in both hot and cold water, that they require 30 minutes to reach their full effectiveness, and that since they work on the stain and not on the fabric they are safe for even the most delicate laundry items? These and other questions about enzymes have now been answered in a timely new book, let called "Enzyme Action". It has compiled the 25 questions housewives most frequently ask about enzymes. For example, what exactly are enzymes? How do they work on stains and which stains do they affect most? What's the difference between enzymes and bleach? Between the pre-soaks and the enzyme detergents? And, perhaps most important to the homemaker, how should enzymes be used in the laundry

"V-8" Juice Makes Holiday Spirits Zesty

Give your fans a great party warm-up with the zesty cocktail... "V-8" cocktail vegetable juice. The zippy blend of eight garden vegetables in "V-8" juice can turn any gathering into a party.

Choose "V-8" juice in the convenient size for your guest list... the handy 6-pack of 6-ounce individual size cans, 12-ounce, 24-ounce or 46-ounce sizes. Each size will find a happy niche in your party life.

Try "V-8" juice chilled and slipped through a straw right from the 6-ounce size can. Or serve "V-8" juice heated with spices or herbs for a hot toddy after-ski or skating party.

The men of the family will like this version of "V-8" cocktail vegetable juice... The Red Martin. The Red Martin blends the basic mix of the popular martini with the popular rosy red and flavorful "V-8" juice. This specialty is great going for holiday get-togethers and scores high as an accompaniment for the Bowl games with a bucket of peanuts and dishes of "Goldfish" pretzels.

Both non-martini advocates and martini lovers will say you've come up with another great party original when you serve "V-8" martinis... The Red Martin.

THE RED MARTINI
1 can (6 ounces) "V-8" juice
1 ounce gin
1 ounce vermouth
Cheddar cheese cube
Stuffed olive

Half fill 10-ounce old-fashioned glass with crushed ice. Add "V-8" juice, gin, and vermouth. Stir. Garnish with kabob of cheese and olive arranged on toothpick. Makes 1 serving.

FIX-IT TIP

If you move furniture around frequently, you may want to equip all the large pieces with casters. They are available in a variety of sizes, styles and materials. Use hard rubber on rugs, plastic on floors where there might be marking and steel wheels if they must rest on concrete.

TINY TOT PROGRAM IS WORKING

There are so many federally financed programs going on that few have visited them all. Some, to our knowledge, are simply bungling; some are making a real contribution to those they propose to serve.

The Tiny Tot Facility is one which undoubtedly is serving a need and has brought the program to the people.

Here youngsters, some coming from several classes of homes, are provided with clean wholesome living. They are learning to live at an early age, before too much devilment gets into their heads, as the old folks say.

This is extremely valuable because youngsters are able to learn at earlier ages today and once out of their house on their own, develop habits and associations quickly.

Mrs. Evelyn Davis, who heads the program of Three units began with nothing. However, she has gone ahead with the support of many far-sighted people, to develop a creditable program that has brought support to the extent that it is open house Saturday spoke well for its success.

This program is helping the youngsters; it is helping their families.

AN APOLOGY

Now that the election is over, politicians and voters are trying to analyze the results. Negroes made great gains in areas never before electing one to public office while gains already made remained intact.

Among those winning their races was Representative A. June Franklin who will be serving her third term in the Iowa legislature.

In our issue of November 5, we made no mention of June's re-election purely by oversight. (It so happened that the editor of the Bystander was out of the state and the issue was gotten out by an inexperienced staff).

We offer this, not as an excuse, but as an apology. June knows that the Bystander has extended her the generous use of its news in its columns. On the other hand, she has purchased and paid for space liberally during her campaigns.

The policy of the Bystander is to print the news, if it is newsworthy, of everybody without regard to position, religion or political beliefs.

PROGRAMS BUILT ON FEAR

It has been said that white people have always contrived to Negro churches and in most instances, Negro education.

During the last three years, a few Negro clergyman have gone before their national conventions with tears in their eyes demanding that a portion of the funds distributed be given to them for purely Negro projects.

In the Episcopal church, Negroes made their demands at Notre Dame, Indiana last year and at Houston, Texas this year. And although strong opposition developed against these special funds, the convention acceded to their wishes for fear of being tabbed unfriendly. On the other hand, presiding Bishop Hines admits that it has hurt the church financially.

It turns out that the church has contributed $30,000 to Malcolm X University in Chicago, a movement which preaches segregation of the races.

There are two Negro Episcopal schools designed to train for priesthood that continue to struggle for existence. (For the $332,000 is the budget for black colleges.)

There are Negro Episcopal churches in some cities that

With Allen Ashby

Last Friday morning we had a conversation with a fellow. It went something like this: "do you think Iowa and 25 points is a good bet?" "Take it. If I were a betting man I'd take some too." "Now how about Kansas State and 18?" "Get on." "And I'm giving the fellow Iowa State and 7."

"Man, you ought to win all three of those bets. When you do, I want my cut." Well, anybody who follows football knows what happened to our friend's bets last week end. So Monday morning, when we walked into the carrier annex branch of the post office, we were warned to steer clear of a certain carrier. It was said he was waiting for us with a pair of dueling pistols. We were glad he decided to give us that much of a chance.

If the guy had just looked up our record as a dopster, he would have learned that we haven't called one right all season. Would that be enough of an excuse to keep from being used as a target?

We would guess the Nagel haters might be happy because it looks like that Michigan debacle just about sealed Coach Ray Nagel's finish at Iowa, unless someone has a mighty big heart. The contention that the Wolverines were playing forth number one rating may have been justified. Most of the Iowa critics thought the Hawks had a chance to make a game of it after Indiana. Now, they might or might not beat the Illini in the last game.

Iowa State deserves all the praise they got after their surprise win over a tough Missouri team. The Cyclone's defense has played well all season, barring a couple of games. All the offense had to do was put some points on the board. We think they will break even in their last two games, because San Diego State is tough, really tough.

While we are talking about Pacific Coast teams, we hear that Jim Kirby, former North football and track star, is the leading ground gainer for his team, Cal State, we believe. The guy has picked up a few pounds, weighing around 190, and is attracting the attention of a few pro teams.

Drake U. Drake came up with a win they weren't supposed to get last week, beating a strong Southern Illinois team in a rather decisive manner. The Bulldogs will have a winning season, although no bowl bids. You don't get many bowl offers when you drop three games, have been without a priest for years, partly because their pay is so low, partly because few priests are entering the ministry. It seems as if the Episcopal Church would help its own followers rather than reach out into new programs simply because other people howl and make threats.

After all, it's the jobs of the church to look after the spiritual well being of its people and to give the young people a religious background which helps to guide them through life. The church is having a difficult time making its financial goals today. It would be well to stick to its mission and let secular movements look after the other.

Activities of the Iowa Civil Rights Commission

The invisible man becomes more visible each day and yet he remains less effective in his struggle. By visible we mean that a black man who has a college degree is in great demand. Thus, under the terms of tokenism, minority groups become more visible in employment circles.

One example of such visibility was apparent at a social club meeting called the "Office Executive Club." At this meeting was one black man who was listed as an executive. His job consisted of resolving complaints of alleged discriminatory practice. He really is not an executive in the true sense of the word, but acceptable for appearances sake at least.

We have also noted that more blacks are appearing on the television screen as news announcers. In a discussion with one such person, we were told that he felt he was completely accepted in his profession.

The interesting fact about each of the above jobs, or examples we have cited, is that each has a college degree. Thus, the black once invisible now becomes visible. There is little or no effective elimination of discrimination when so small a number in such limited positions are supposed to show what great strides have been made in the elimination of racial problems.

The visible man is the man who should be heard from with demands that more opportunity be provided for those less fortunate. Instead, the success of achievement results in a feeling that the job or position must be protected. Thus, the visible man does not wish to risk his job to take a stand.

Now let us examine this theory of tokenism from an even more aggressive standard. Let's examine our recent election. Which party spoke of supporting Civil Rights? Which party pledged progress in the fight for human dignity? Strangely enough neither party wanted to make the commitment. It's true that some very lightly stated there should be more opportunity, but almost in the same breath they say, but there are none qualified.

How then does the visible man's reluctance to take a stand compare to that of the political parties? First, both remained strangely silent on a commitment to the struggle. Second, neither is willing to sacrifice or risk dignity.

Those who hold positions that indicate some measure or degree of success should stand before a mirror and examine its reflection. The thing to be looked for is the invisible man, black, unaccepted, and socially ostracized. To see the invisible man from this position one must examine or at least remember from whence he came.

No one who is black can escape from this recognition for every person who is black has suffered and watched those he loves suffer. Now standing before the mirror one must ask himself "is the invisible man really visible?"

Health for All

Smoking annoys nearby non-smokers. For good reasons. Exposure to cigarette smoke increases the heart rate and blood pressure of a non-smoker. It also pumps carbon monoxide into his blood stream.

The exact physiological changes that happen to non-smokers in smoke-saturated environments were measured in experiments at Texas A&M University. The subjects were 103 boys and girls—ages six through 13 years.

The youngsters were divided into two groups. One group was alternately exposed to a 30-minute smoke-filled room and then a smokeless room. The second group was exposed only to a smoke-filled one.

The researchers found that cigarette smoke which is allowed to accumulate in a poorly ventilated room significantly increases the heart rate, blood pressure, and poisonous gas in the blood. The effects are similar to those on the smoker himself, but on a reduced level.

Non-smokers who are stuck in rooms, planes, trains, and other places with people constantly exhaling wafts of cigarette smoke are annoyed as well as upset physiologically. There is no reason why non-smokers should be forced to suffer — involuntarily — the damaging effects that smokers choose to inflict on themselves. And legislation to protect the non-smoker has been proposed in cities and states across the country as well as at the federal level.

More and more smokers are now beginning to consider the non-smoker as well as their own health. Millions are looking for ways to kick the habit. And your tuberculosis and respiratory disease association has some solid suggestions.

Kicking the habit is a matter of life and breath. For smokers and non-smokers.

no matter how good you are.

Frazier-Foster

By the time you read this Joe Frazier will have polished off Bob Foster, or have gotten polished off. They are trying to say that the scheduled battle between Mohammed Ali, or Cassius Clay, take your pick, is in danger. But, we argue, that whenever you have a possible chance to make a lot of money on a fight, that fight will come off, if it has to be held in an alley. That's why we have never doubted that Joe Frazier and Ali or Clay will meet eventually. Of course, the Supreme Court could toss a wrench into all of these plans by sending the guy to jail. Barring that, the two guys will get together.

As we have heard it, Clay's next tuneup fight may be in a little danger because of the length of the opponent's hair. We are sure a pair of scissors will take care of that.

VETERANS

The Veterans Administration announced it will finance mobil homes for veterans and servicemen starting Dec. 22.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said President Nixon's signature authorizes VA to guarantee or make direct loans for this purpose.

Earlier this year, the President's Committee on the Vietnam Veteran recommended legislation on mobile home financing. The committee said the legislation was needed to provide "low cost housing for low and moderate income veterans."

Restores G.I. Loans
The law which provides financing for mobile homes also restores expired G.I. loan benefits to some 8.9 million World War II and Korean Conflict veterans. The law also preserves these benefits for all veterans who served after Jan. 31, 1955 until they are actually used.

Another provision eliminates the .5 per cent funding fee VA formerly required Post Korean veterans to pay on guaranteed and direct home loans. It was emphasized this provision does not affect loans made before Oct. 23, the date the bill was signed.

The law also makes direct loans for specially adapted housing available to seriously disabled veterans in all parts of the country.

The VA Administrator noted these specific provisions of the law on the financing of mobile homes:

*Provides that if a veteran or serviceman uses his mobile home loan entitlement, he may not otherwise use his $12,500 home loan entitlement until he has repaid the mobile loan in full.

*Provides that VA may approve loans up to a maximum of $10,000 for a mobile home, and up to $17,500 where a suitable lot to place the mobile home on is purchased.

*Provides that the VA may guarantee up to 30 percent of the loan for a mobile home, but use of this guaranteed or direct loan benefit does not reduce veteran's or serviceman's $12,500 guaranty entitlement.

ANSWER: It depends on your age and on the kind of policy you buy.

Some policies pay the $25,000 only if you die. Other policies (which cost more) pay the $25,000 even if you don't die, provided you reach the age stipulated in the policy—60, 65, or some other age, depending on the policy you buy.

Some policies have a dividend. The dividend can be used to reduce your premium or used for several other purposes, but the net effect is to reduce your premium payment whatever end use is chosen.

Other policies have no dividend but smaller initial pre-

Serve where needed. In the U.S. Army Reserve.

Some policies will pay $25,000 no matter when you die. Other policies pay this sum only if you die the first year. They pay less if you die the second year after taking the policy, still less the third year, and so forth. This kind of policy obviously costs less than the $25,000 no matter "when" kind.

Because the choice is so complicated, and because premiums vary all over the lot depending on the choice you make, it's important to choose an insurance advisor who knows his business and can help you.

A LITTLE GIRL'S

Thanks, my Lord, for the food to me you've given, For I give my daily prayer to you above in heaven. But I am still so young - for I am only seven.

I kneel to you with prayer for my daily sin, I thank you, my Lord, for the corn in the bin, If it hadn't been for you, my Lord, where had I been.

I pray for those who are poor and under-fed, Please, my Lord, give them their daily bread, So they'd be happy instead of being sad.

Thank you, my Lord, for giving us our health, And give all the people nothing else but wealth, And plenty of all kinds of food under their belt.

So we sit at the table with prayers we met, For anything we ask you for we always get, Is there anything else that we should expect?

Thank you, my Lord, for the fields of clover, From the United States to the banks of Dover, Thank you my Lord, for the growing season is over.

Des Moines Sailor Peters in Greece

Navy Fireman George H. Peters, aboard the USS Mitscher, son of Mrs. Margaret G. Yeager of 1438 E. 18th St., Des Moines, Iowa, is visiting Athens, Greece, while serving aboard the destroyer USS Mitscher in the Mediterranean.

The mission of the Mitscher is to provide anti-air and anti-submarine defense for one of the two Sixth Fleet attack carriers striking groups.

FOR CHRISTMAS BELLES

The holiday spirit will linger in the air longer than ever if you choose a fragrance that's first in lasting power. And you needn't say "arrivederci" when you use a scent with persistence that weakens male resistance.

Whether you're a knight before Christmas giving a present to a favorite lady, or a Christmas Eve receiving one, you'll find that the formula radiates beauty for hours. That's because it contains an abundance of precious oils which have a wonderful way of fastening fragrance on the skin.

The heat of the body awakens the fragrance that holds for hours. Captivating Cream Sachet, the latest in the Chantilly collection by Houbigant, should be smoothed on pulse points: on wrists, bends of elbows and knees, behind the ears, and nape of the neck. Looking like a delectable cosmetic, it feels like silk as it is smoothed on and, as it vanishes into skin, becomes a continuing delight—innocent at first, then slightly mysterious, and always exciting and tantalizing. It is cached in a handsome crystal with an elegant gold cap and is a treasure to enjoy at home or en route.
