Total for 1971
Operating costs

The Des Moines Model City Citizens Board voted Tuesday to request the Des Moines City Council to approve the 1971 budget of $2,105,000.

In addition, the board will seek the council's approval of an additional $821,000, if federal funds become available.

Model City officials hope the Des Moines City Council will approve the proposed budget next Monday so it can be submitted to the Federal department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) by Dec. 8.

It is hoped that second year funds will be approved in order to avoid slow downs of projects under way. First year funds will run out in February.

The total first year budget totalled $2,105,000. The federal government contributed $2,065,000 and the City of Des Moines contributed $40,000.

Model City officials are hopeful that the submitted budget will be approved.

A Breakdown
An itemized budget allows $235,000 for crime and juvenile delinquency prevention and rehabilitation projects; $305,000, for construction of new housing and relocation of persons displaced by housing projects and $265,000, for education.

Officials also are asking for $431,000, for projects to improve employment opportunities and support local economic development, $116,890, for health projects, $51,800, for recreation and youth activities and $112,500, for social services for children, the elderly and single-parent families.

Also sought is $115,000, for improving physical environment, $100,000, for citizens participation and $420,810, for administrative costs.

Wilkins Returns

NEW YORK — Back from a busy five-day tour of units of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in the Pacific Northwest, Executive Director Roy Wilkins reported an alert, active and growing NAACP membership in that area.

First Negro General Dies

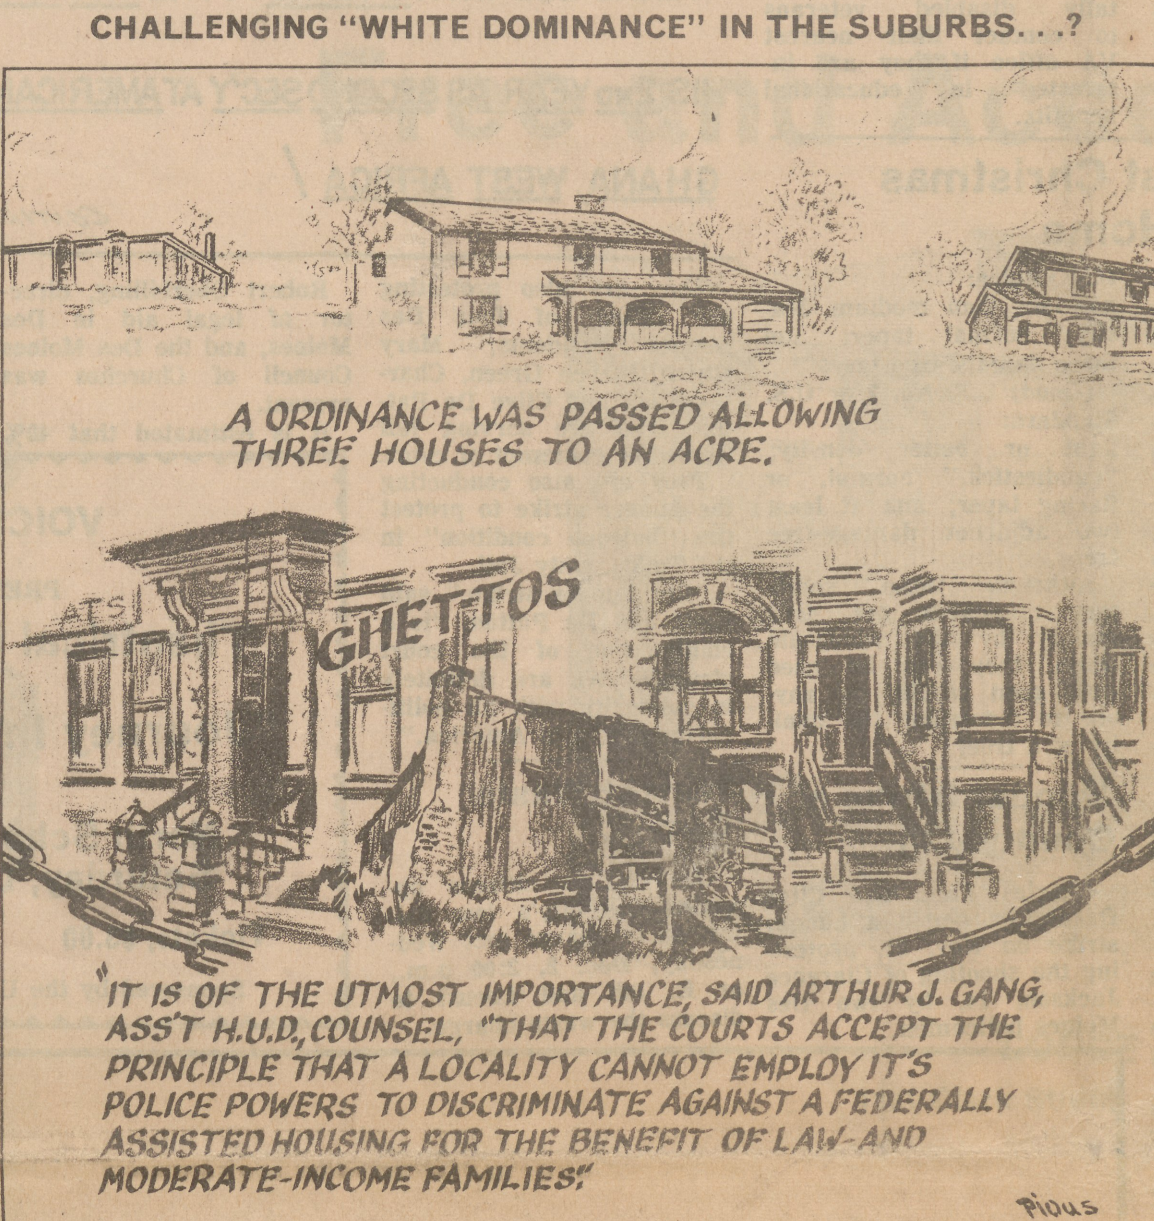

Benjamin O. Davis, sr., the first black general in the U.S. armed forces, died in Great Lakes Naval Hospital at the age of 93.

Hospital spokesmen said the cause of death was believed to be leukemia.

Davis retired with the rank of brigadier general in 1948, the year most racial barriers were ordered dropped by the Army, after a career that took him from service in the ranks to the staff of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in World War II.

His son, Benjamin O. Davis, jr., rose to lieutenant general in the Air Force before retiring. He now is chief of federal guards on commercial airlines.

Davis dropped out of Howard University and entered the Army on July 3, 1898 as a temporary first lieutenant in charge of

The tour took him to Seattle and Bremerton, Wash., and Klamath Falls, Oregon. He also stopped in San Francisco on his return to New York City.

Mr. Wilkins' jam-packed program, Nov. 15-18, consisted of a series of public meetings, conferences with local NAACP leaders, meetings with public officials and community leaders, addresses before student groups, and meetings with representatives of the news media.

The Freedom Fund Dinner, which he addressed in Bremerton, was packed to capacity, with the city's foremost citizens as well as the rank and file in attendance. Of the day in Bremerton, Adele Ferguson, political writer for The Bremerton Sun, reports: "Community leaders, Navy brass and civil rights officials from all over the west coast gathered here last night to pay tribute to the man they acclaimed as the most outstanding and respected black leader in the nation."

a high school volunteer company in the Spanish American War.

He served two years in the Philippines, was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1901 and assigned to the all-black 10th Cavalry, which won a reputation for toughness and courage on the western frontier.

He taught military science at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama and was promoted to colonel in 1929.

In 1940, after President Franklin Roosevelt signed a measure outlawing racial discrimination in entrance requirements and training in military, Davis was promoted to brigadier general.

Services were held Monday, Nov. 30, at 2:00 p.m. at Ft. Myer Chapel outside Washington, D.C. He was buried at Arlington National Cemetery.

Program Sharply Criticized In Report

The Federal government's $75 million Emergency School Assistance Program, proposed to aid in school desegregation, was sharply criticized in a report issued by six private civil rights organizations.

"The promise of the Emergency School Assistance Program has been broken," they declared, adding that, "Funds that were appropriated by Congress last August to help desegregate public schools have been used for general school aid purposes unrelated to desegregation. In many instances funds have been granted to school districts that are continuing to discriminate against black children."

Civil Rights Organizations The organizations primarily involved in the preparation of the report are the American Friends Service Committee, the Delta Ministry of the National Council of Churches, the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee, the NAACP Legal and Educational Defense Fund, Inc., and the Washington Research Project.

The report on the Emergency School Assistance Program represents the first part of a major project by the civil rights organizations, assisted by other groups, to analyze and evaluate the progress of desegregation in the South this fall. A second more comprehensive report on the extent and quality of school integration will be issued in several weeks.

The first report is being issued now to call attention to problems before additional E.S.A.P. funds are distributed. Grants are allocated on a quarterly basis and school districts have received only the first of their payments.

"Widespread Misuse..."
The report documents "widespread misuse of E.S.A.P. funds and discrimination against black children" in districts which have received grants under the program. The report is based on visits this fall to nearly three hundred

NEWS In A Nutshell

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK (AP) — A wealthy Danish businessman, Ole Broendum-Nielsen, was guarded in his comments Saturday on the announcement by entertainer Eartha Kitt that they will marry.

A Copenhagen newspaper quoted him as saying: "I have solved Miss Kitt's electroacoustic problems, but from that to marriage is a long jump."

NEW ORLEANS, LA. (AP) — City officials dropped trespassing charges against militants arrested after a month of maneuvers over the occupation of a city-owned apartment by a Black Panthers group.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Stymied in their attempts to use Howard University facilities, the Black Panther Party changed signals on its Revolutionary People's Constitutional Convention Friday and called for a "general mobilization of the masses for survival."

Exactly what was meant however, was left up in the air.

NEW YORK — Phone books can be fun. Inspired by a recent item in Saturday Review about names in the Manhattan telephone directory, I took a look at my Nassau County, N.Y. phone book. Reflecting the recent election, it was Conserva 3, Liberal 2. Love was big - 49, with Hatem only 3. There were only 2 for Wedlock, 6 Single. As for political champions, we had: 363 Kings, 10 Queens and 8 Leaders. There were no Dictators or Presidents, but there were 2 Slaves, 5 Free and 44 Freed. We also had 2 Old, 2 Older, 510 Young and 5 Younger. And, naturally, the count included Richman 96, Poor 3, Begg 4, Thie 1, Doctor 5, Lawyer 4, Merchant 11 and Chieffo 5.

ALGERIA — Mrs. Kathleen Cleaver, wife of Black Panther information minister Eldridge Cleaver, flew into Algiers Wednesday after an abortive attempt to spend Thanksgiving Day with black soldiers in Frankfurt, West Germany.

Two thousand people attended the National Urban League's Equal Opportunity Day Dinner in the Grand Ballroom of the New York Hilton to pay tribute to the nation's fifty Black mayors, eight of whom were present to receive the citations on behalf of their fellow mayors and in recognition of their outstanding contribution to the town and cities of this country.

Arab-Black Friendship, A Myth

"Arab-Black friendship" is a "myth," says Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League.

"I know of no real aid oil-rich Arab countries have given the struggling new nations of Black Africa, although the Israelis have a very impressive program of technical assistance of the no-strings-attached variety, even in nations that take the Arab line in the U.N."

Mr. Young charged that "Arabs got into the slave trade centuries before the white man did, and kept it up longer too-right up to a few years ago."

He added, "Arab history and culture is replete with instances of racial prejudice. Today, the Arab rulers of the Sudan are waging a merciless war against the Black people of the southern region of that country, and Arabs in Chad are at war with the Black government of that country."

Members Present Who Marched to New Site; New Era of Service

The ground breaking ceremony for construction of the new St. Paul A.M.E. Church was held Sunday, Nov. 29, at 12:30 p.m., at the site of the new church at 12th and Day Streets in Des Moines.

Some of the church members marched to the new site from 1209 Crocker. Others marched from the site of the very first St. Paul A.M.E. Church on Center Street.

Ground Breaking Ceremony
Mayor Thomas Urban and Max Krumrey, director of urban renewal, took part in the ground breaking ceremonies.

The service was conducted by Rev. Henderson S. Davis, assistant pastor, Lewis Grady, Rev. Felix Dickerson and presiding elder William Burnette.

The ceremony took place immediately after the morning service which was entitled "The Church is Moving On."

Church members were asked to bring spades and shovels to assist with the ground breaking. Building Site

The new site on 12th and Day Street has a commanding view of the city of Des Moines.

The land was originally acquired by the Iowa State Highway Commission for the Des Moines freeway.

Special Features
Construction on the new church is expected to begin in December. Occupancy is anticipated in July of 1971.

Construction cost is estimated at $150,000, exclusive of land.

The church will seat 380 people.

Special features of the new building will be surfaced parking for 40 cars, with overflow parking on 13th street, immediately west of the church.

A chair lift will be installed for those physically unable to get from the sanctuary to the basement.

The basement will provide classroom facilities.

Black Doctor Traded Civilian Practice For Navy Career

DR. PAUL S. GREEN

"If a man is going to succeed he'll make it no matter what he is doing!" said Navy Captain Paul S. Green, chief radiologist and executive officer at the Naval Hospital, Lemoore, Calif., and one of the three Black Navy Captains currently on active duty.

Dr. Green has been on active duty 16 years with the Navy Medical Corps and is certified as a radiologist by the American Board of Radiology. He has attained one of the highest ranks available to a reserve naval officer.

As chief radiologist at Naval Hospital Lemoore, Capt. Green "interprets" approximately 50 X-Rays in an average working day all in addition to his administrative duties as executive officer.

As a diagnostic radiologist, Dr. Green works very closely with other physicians at the 60-bed hospital serving more than 8,000 military personnel at Lemoore Naval Air Station plus their dependent wives and children. "Mine is not the story of 'rags to riches,'" said Dr. Green. "My father was a businessman and a very good provider. It wasn't difficult for him to put three of us children through college all at the same time. We always had plenty to eat and lived in a comfortable home in Warren County, N.C."

Green entered Shaw University, a private Baptist school in Raleigh, N.C., where he earned the Bachelor of Science degree in 1939 with a major in biology.

"I certainly didn't set any academic records there," states Dr. Green. "I was much more interested in the bright lights in the big city, and, like most young men, wanted to buy an automobile."

Armed with his college diploma and a teacher's certificate, he tried unsuccessfully to find work as a teacher.

"As I look back," comments the Captain, "I can see why no one was impressed with my supposed teaching ability. I was only 19 years old and right out of college. Fortunately, for me, I was able to get a job with my father working in a fruit and produce store."

"I earned money to buy things," he continues, "but after two years I felt I wasn't really accomplishing anything." After entering Howard University in Washington, D.C. to work on a master's degree in zoology, Green was accepted into medical school.

Paul Green earned his Doctor of Medicine degree from Howard and served his internship at Lincoln Hospital, Durham, N.C., and finishing his internship was faced with an important decision.

"While I was interning I took my pre-induction physical and found myself very close to being in the Army. I grabbed the opportunity to go into pri-

Nixon Adm. To Channel Money To Minority Banks

In an attempt to channel $100 million of public and private funds into black or minority owned banks, the Nixon administration has directed all federal agencies to deposit government funds whenever possible in these banks.

The directive was dated Oct. 2, and signed by George Shultz, head of the office of Management and Budget and a key advisor to President Nixon.

To start deposits going, a series of unpublished meetings to bring together minority bank executives and federal officials has started.

There are 28 minority owned and operated banks in the United States, located in 22 cities. Their deposits total less than $300 million of $477 billion now held in 14,000 U.S. commercial banks.

Although large transactions such as the Veterans Administration, Social Security Administration or Internal Revenue Administration cannot be handled by these private banks, they can manage sums from Customs collections, Post Office accounts and Labor Department funds.

Funds which are tied up in bankruptcy proceedings and receiverships by the U.S. courts could also be handled by these minority banks.

This program falls under the Office of Minority Business Enterprise.

With the program only six weeks old, several million dollars have been placed in minority banks.

KEEP IT CLEAN

DEAR MRS. WHITE: I have been hearing a lot of publicity about pollution recently and noticed that many industries have finally decided to do something about it. This is very encouraging, but as a homemaker what can I do to help?

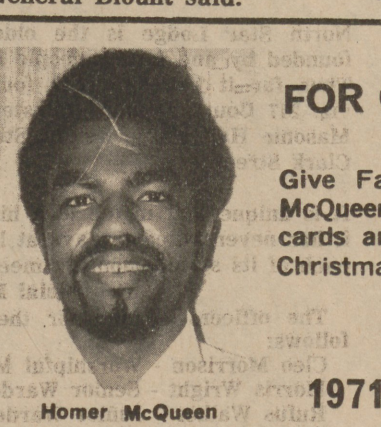

DEAR CONCERNED: As we are well aware, not all companies are that conscientious. Household cleaning products are willfully trying to pollute. As a homemaker you can help fight the pollution problem by following manufacturers' directions on the container labels. For example: If directions call for 1/4 cup, try not to use 1/2 cup, nor 2 ounces instead of 1 ounce.

When buying paper products for your home such as facial tissues, bathroom tissue, napkins, plates, etc., try to buy those that have no color added, because the dyes in these products do not break down biologically and help to contribute to the pollution of our streams. In buying these uncolored products, we will add beauty where it belongs—to Mother Nature.

Try to purchase laundry products that are low in phosphates. Many supermarkets list their phosphate content. This column often recommends Miracle White Powerizer Super Cleaner because of its stain removing ability. Super Cleaner has been evaluated to be one of the lowest phosphate-content products on the market today, having only 11 units of phosphate per washload. When using this product you need only use half the amount of your regular detergent. This in itself helps to fight pollution.

Vets Eligible For Educational Benefits

Many veterans who served in the armed forces between Jan. 31, 1955, and March 3, 1966 may not realize they are eligible for educational benefits, the Veterans Administration commented.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson noted that the current G.I. Bill was not enacted until March 3, 1966. But he explained that "the law's provisions cover veterans who served after Jan. 31, 1955, as well as those who served since the law was passed."

"To be eligible for educational benefits," he pointed out, "these veterans must have been released under other than dishonorable conditions after more than 180 days of active military duty, any part of it after Jan. 31, 1955."

"Or, they must have been released for a service-connected disability," he added.

Johnson also expressed concern that an undetermined number of wives and widows of deceased veterans or veterans totally disabled by service-connected injuries may be missing out on educational benefits.

He noted a law passed in 1956 extended educational assistance to children of such veterans as far back as the Spanish American War.

He urged veterans interested in training — especially those who served between Jan. 31, 1955 and March 3, 1966 — as well as wives, widows and children of deceased or totally disabled veterans to contact their nearest VA office if they are interested in educational benefits.

Choose the Best Christmas Tree for Your Home

Christmas carols, stringing popcorn, hanging stockings, smiles and children's wide-eyed joy — the mirth and festivities of the Yuletide are most often enjoyed around a Christmas tree.

In selecting just the right tree for decorating, most people look for a tree that is healthy, free from damage, and well-trimmed. They generally want a tree that tapers gently from a full bottom and has an ample number of branches for hanging ornaments.

U.S. grade standards for Christmas trees, established over a decade ago by the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, can help you choose a tree that has these characteristics. The grade standards require that a tree be:

Fresh — with pliable needles that are firmly attached to branches.

Clean — at least moderately free of moss, lichen, vines and other foreign matter.

Healthy — fresh, natural appearance for particular species.

Well-trimmed — free of all barren branches below the first whorl and smoothly cut at the butt.

In addition, the specific requirements of each grade are:

(Best) U.S. Premium: Not less than medium density; Normal taper; and all four faces (sides) free from any type of damage.

(Better) U.S. No. 1 or

BRIEF HISTORY

North Star Lodge F. & A.M. No. 2

Prince Hall Masons in Des Moines were granted a dispensation for North Star Lodge October 6, 1870 by the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Missouri (Prince Hall Affiliation) Alexander G. Clark, Sr., Grand Master. The first officers of North Star Lodge U. D. Des Moines, Iowa were:

W. A. Birney, Secretary

Members: Peter Bell, O. Carter, Geo. Carter, I. L. Carter, Edward Davidson, Harrison Deberg, Martin Essex, Jefferson Logan, Geo. Poindexter and Samuel Sikes.

Dispensation

On Tuesday July 4, 1871 the Committee on Dispensations and Charters of the Grand Lodge of Missouri, meeting in Memphis, Tennessee, in its report recommended that North Star Lodge U. D. be warranted and listed as North Star Lodge No. 31.

August 9, 1881 five of the Lodges in Iowa working under the Jurisdiction of Missouri met in Keokuk, Iowa and formed the Most Worshipful African Grand Lodge of Iowa. North Star Lodge received the number "2" at this time and John Page of North Star Lodge was elected its first Grand Master.

Additional Grand Lodge

On August 26, 1884 the rest of the Missouri Lodges in Iowa organized another Grand Lodge in the City of Des Moines known as Hiram Grand Lodge of Iowa. This Grand Lodge consisted of eight Lodges including the one that was formed in East Des Moines and it became listed as North Star Lodge No. 1 on the Grand Lodge Roster.

On July 12, 1887 in the city of Des Moines African Grand Lodge and Hiram Grand Lodge met to consolidate and form the Most Worshipful United Grand Lodge of Iowa. George H. Cleggett of North Star Lodge No. 2 was elected its first Grand Master. North Star Lodge No. 1 received No. 15 at this time but in the month of May 1892 surrendered its warrant, thus leaving North Star Lodge No. 2 the only Lodge bearing that name in the city. On July 12, 1950 The United Grand Lodge officially changed its name to the Most Worshipful Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Iowa F. & A. M.

State History

The following is quoted from the Iowa State Register of June 24, 1875:

"YORK MASONRY: This evening there is to be a public installation of the officers of North Star Lodge, York masons, followed by a festival in the lodge room on Court Avenue. Alexander Clark, Grand Master, will appear as installing officer. The lodge room has been furnished and in a manner extremely creditable to the members of the organization. The floor is covered with an elegant ingrain carpet of the best manufacture. The officer's stations are of oiled walnut and the room is lighted with an expensive and handsome chandelier. The ante-rooms and halls leading thereto are similarly lighted. The traditional pillars are elegant specimens of carvings and gilt costing $40.00; they are said to be the finest in the state."

North Star Lodge is the oldest organization of Color founded by and for its people in the city of Des Moines. Thus far it has had only four formal meeting places, viz. 217 Court Avenue, Webster Hall 1001 Center Street, Masonic Hall 1012½ Center Street and presently at 1121 Clark Street.

It is unique that in the long history of North Star Lodge it has never failed to have at least a quorum present for each of its stated monthly meetings thus far.

Centennial Election
The officers elected for the Centennial Year are as follows:

Cleo Morrison - Worshipful Master
Morris Wright - Senior Warden
Rufus Walker - Junior Warden

Golden Gloves Tourney Expects Record Entry

More than 350 entries are expected for the thirty fifth annual All-Iowa Golden Gloves at Veterans Memorial Auditorium January 7-8.

The program will be sponsored by the Des Moines Association of Professional Fire Fighters.

Tournament director Dave Fidler credits the Iowa Amateur Boxing League that operates in fourteen Iowa towns and the Junior Olympic Boxing Program for the increased interest.

There should be more than 100 open division contestants this year. This figure is a modern day record for open division boxers. Entries should be sent to Dave Fidler at 300 East Locust in Des Moines. The Junior Olympics are for those boys between 11 and 15 years of age.

The Golden Gloves are open to boys in good physical condition between 16 and 26 years of age.

Iowa has had two Golden Gloves national champions: Henry Ulrich of Des Moines won the 112-pound title in 1942 and Mel Barber of Des Moines took the 118 pound crown in 1948. Mel continues to help young Des Moines area boxers at the Boxing Gymnasium at 1300 Grand Avenue.

Chicago Minority Youth Get College Information

"Where are the Talented Black and Other Minority Students? How Can We Best Serve Them?" This was the theme of a College Day Program held recently in Chicago at the Palmer House Hotel.

The program, sponsored by the Council for College Attendance (CCA) and the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students attracted over 5,000 high school seniors from Chicago's public and parochial schools.

Approximately 150 institutions, representing every phase of higher learning participated in the College Day event.

Both CCA and NSSFS are concerned with getting more minority students into college. CCA, with its headquarters in Chicago, is an incorporated, non-profit organization whose major concern focuses around expanding higher education opportunities for students from minority/low-income families.

NSSFS, a New York based organization, gears its services specifically toward recruiting black high school juniors and seniors nationwide. It is primarily a college advisory and referral service and charges no fee to the student.

This year the organization eliminated its test score and grade average requirements in an effort to attract a larger percentage of black youth.

Orange Blossom Classic Festives Planned

Miami Beach, Fla. — Six of the nation's top firms: Chrysler Corporation, Detroit; Clark Gum, General Products Division, Philip Morris, U.S.A., New York City; Gulf Oil Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Greyhound Lines, Inc., Chicago; Miller Brewing Company, Milwaukee, Wis.; and Royal Crown Cola Co., Columbus, Ga., will host the annual Players and Coaches Dinner which is one of the highlight features of the famed Orange Blossom Classic and Festival.

The 1970 dinner will be held Friday evening, December 11 at the DeLido Hotel, Miami Beach.

Royal Crown Cola Co., inaugurated the Players and Coaches Dinner in 1963.

Another "classic" innovation was launched in 1964 when Royal Crown Cola Co., inaugurated the "Orange Blossom Classic and Festival Championship Trophy" presentation. A year later, the Columbus, Ga., firm added a second place "Runners-Up Trophy."

Royal Crown will again award watches and the trophies and will enter a trophy car in the parade set scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 12. The Trophy Car, along with a bevy of beautiful Co-eds, also will appear in the pre-game parade in the Orange Bowl stadium.

Iowa Regional Planning Comm. To Meet

The first in a series of meetings to plan the inner-city replacement schools for Bird, Grant, Nash and Kirkwood Schools was held Wednesday, Dec. 1.

A nominating committee was formed to study the area the new schools will cover and to make recommendations for forming a steering committee.

Those on the nominating committee headed by Rev. Oscar Peavy are: Mr. Whitehead, Mrs. Oscars, Mrs. Lena and Mrs. Pokrzywinski.

Committee members are from the Bird School area.

The purpose of the committee is to recommend four people to serve on a steering committee that will plan an educational charrette.

The charrette, a new idea in education, is a way for area residents to help plan their new schools.

Dr. Don Brubaka and Dr.

Link are the projects coordinators. They urge any interested citizen to contact them for information concerning the planning of the new schools.

Hair styles and make-up change as rapidly as fashions in clothes. And often the combination of the latest clothes with last year's hair and make-up can be a disaster.

This year's soft, romantic look in fashion calls for a return to soft, almost naive, beauty looks. A blunt-cut geometric style or a stiffly teased pouf would look awkward with a softly wrapped jersey day dress. Instead well-brushed gleaming hair—short, or tied gently back with a ribbon and a few curly tendrils escaping around the face—carries out the total look.

In the evening dresses with ruffs and feathers high around the neck call for an appropriately sentimental hairstyle, like a soft upswept pompadour, caught in a topknot with those loose little curls around the face to create Victorian portrait prettiness.

For both day and evening eyes are more natural looking than ever before. Pastel shadows bathe the eye in a pretty parfait. Little or no eyeliner replaces the drawn-on look. Long, spidery eyelashes, much less thick than last year's, and pale brows with little or no brow make-up are what the soft look is made of.

If you are greeted by someone whose name you can't recall—say something like "Nice to see you"—not "I know your face—but can't recall your name."

ON-THE-SPOT THANK-YOU NOTES

This Christmas let your camera "write" your thank-you notes for you. If you take pictures as the presents are opened—especially with one of the Colorpack cameras that let you see your pictures right away—you'll have instant manners.

Johnny strutting about in his new cowboy boots; Sally showing off in the cuddly robe Grandma sent her; even Pop in the wide tie Cousin Mary selected—all are subjects for delightful pictures. But don't just tuck those pictures into your photo album, slip them into an envelope with a short note of thanks.

When you are taking your thank-you pictures, or any of your Christmas photos, remember these simple tips for happy results.

MOVE IN CLOSE. When you are taking people pictures you want to make them the stars of the photo; so, move in to about four or five feet for best results.

THINK COLOR. Christmas is a colorful time; so, make sure you capture some of those bright holiday reds and greens on film. You might move a brightly wrapped package or two into the scene, or get a portion of the Christmas tree with its sparkly tinsel and ornaments into the picture.

With one of the many Polaroid Cameras, you can give that extra personal touch to your Christmas thank-you notes this year.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y. 10017

Q. I had a heart attack several years ago and my blood pressure is still above normal, although I've recovered and returned to work. I have major medical expense insurance at work, but I'm thinking about taking out additional protection. Do they insure people with my kind of medical history? Would I have to pay higher premiums?

A. Many persons with poor health or existing health impairments may nonetheless be insured. This is accomplished in several ways, depending on the insurance company and on the history or physical condition of the individual.

One way is to exclude benefits for the condition named - in which case the insurance covers all other causes of disability and the policy usually is issued at a standard premium. This type of policy is valuable because a person with a physical impairment still susceptible to disability from other causes, and his impairment may increase the risk from other diseases or from injury.

Or the policy may instead specify a longer waiting period or a shorter benefit period in the event of loss caused by an existing impairment.

In other instances a higher premium may be charged to compensate for the greater degree of hazard. Regular policy benefits may be payable for loss due to an existing health impairment, or, in some instances, the benefits may be reduced. The trend is to liberalize insurance coverage despite poor health. There are, however, variations among insurance companies in coverages for physically impaired persons, since each company has its own underwriting rules and approach to this type of protection. Your insurance agent could do the research necessary to find the right coverage for you.

There are many good reasons today's modern family enjoys the benefits of an automatic dishwasher. If you're not convinced yet, you might be interested in a few facts:
1. Automatic dishwashers save about an hour a day of Mom's time.
2. They get dishes cleaner. Dishwashers use water around 160 degrees - hotter than your hands could stand. They use extra-strong detergents, too.
3. Save on hot water by storing dishes in them after one meal and combining with another meal's dishes.
4. Cuts down on dish breakage.
5. Eliminates the dish towel. Dishwashers use sanitized hot air - helps stop the spread of germs.

dropped by, too, and was equally impressed! Don't rush over, just drive carefully.

VICTOR D. HAWTHORNE was among the happy throng of college students in town for the Thanksgiving Holiday. Victor came bearing gifts. He has always desired to do something in art. Draw, paint, etc. To his family's (and his own) surprise Victor had done 3 or 4 charcoal drawings which were quite good and sort of paints the way he may ultimately be heading, the writing is his major field. Now back to the three works of art: one is a native Indian girl; another is a beautiful black girl with long hair; the third is of a black male, wearing a huge African hair style and a dashiki.

Victor is a 1970 National Achievement scholar of North High School and is now the Honor Program at the University of Iowa. Totally absorbed in college life, Victor is finding many desirable avenues of expression. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hawthorne, Jr.

LET'S NOT OMIT FRANCES HAWTHORNE, mother of young Hawthorne! This paper's former editor, she is now pursuing her Master's Degree in the Teacher Corps Program at Drake University. She is assigned with a Teacher Corps Team of seven at Calahan Junior High.

MET LOVELY LUCY PATTERSON during the Thanksgiving Holiday Week-end. She is a member of the Leon Patterson clan and is a dead ringer for her mother, Carol! Sure "I Remember Lucy" when she was one of the happy brood filling the big family car Carol used to drive up Walnut Street. Heads would turn at sight of the pretty mother and her so cute little ones.

NOT TOO FARM FROM LUCY was Danny Phillip! Always very mod in his attire, the singer was quite handsomely so on this occasion. He has just finished a "gig" at Cedar Rapids' popular night spot, The Sip 'n Stir!

Inventive Chinese

The Chinese developed hundreds of devices centuries before they were adopted by the rest of the world. For instance, the kite, the rotary winnowing machine with crank handle and piston bellows for continuous blast, arrived in Europe 14 centuries after China had them.

Q. My wedding will be soon, and I am hesitant about sending invitations to relatives and friends who live far away and will be unable to attend. I think this indicates that I am bidding for gifts. Right?

A. Wrong! The obligation to send invitations is one of affection and therefore the same whether friends and relatives live near or far away. Failure to send invitations could in fact hurt some feelings.

Q. Is it considered good manners to sip coffee or tea in order to help "wash down" a morsel of food in the mouth?

A. Never! Only one item, either of food or of drink, should be in the mouth at any one time.

Q. When a dish is passed at the table and carries both a spoon and a fork, how do you help yourself to this dish?

A. Using your left hand, place the spoon under the food being served, and with your right hand use the fork (placed on top of the food) to guide a portion to your plate. Don't try to lift too much food at a time.

Q. We've been having a big discussion in our group as to whose place it is to speak first when meeting on the street, the man or the woman. Will you please settle this for us?

A. It doesn't matter at all — either one may speak first.

Q. Is it proper for the bride to carry her bridegroom's ring to the altar with her?

A. The maid or matron of honor usually takes care of this ring, handing it over the bride at the proper moment during the ceremony.

Q. Is it always necessary to acknowledge the receipt of a birth announcement with some sort of gift for the baby?

A. While a popular custom, it is not an obligation. A little note of congratulation, however, would be in good order if no gift is sent.

Q. Does it really make any difference whether one sits down from the right or the left side of his chair at the dinner table?

A. No; whichever side offers the easier and quicker access is the one for you.

Q. I am planning a very small, informal wedding, with only about twelve or fifteen guests. Is it necessary that I mail out engraved invitations to these people?

A. No. Short, personally-written notes, or even the telephone, will do nicely.

What's keeping you from looking good? Wrong hair color?

Beauty experts will tell you—the perfect hair color for you may be just a shade away from your natural shade. It depends on your complexion, your eyes and the way you use make-up.

Hairdressers know that dark or thick or coarse hair is resistant to drastic color change. But, even a very slightly lighter shade adds excitement to a woman's appearance. And the professional hairdressers also know there's no more natural way to change hair color than Miss Clairol® haircoloring.

Miss Clairol lightens and adds color at the same time (and also covers gray). This means the resulting color is a combination of your own hair and the color you choose. Generally, dark exotic browns and blacks are most flattering on darker skin tones... and golden or red shades are more beautiful on lighter tan complexions.

If you're thinking of changing your hair color, go to the experts. Professionally trained hairdressers have the whole family of fine Clairol products and the know-how to make your experience with haircoloring an exciting adventure. So whether you go brown, gold, redhead or deep black, just keep on looking good!

WHY CONTINUE TO DUPLICATE
FACILITIES?

It was suggested recently that a teenage center should be activated down town so that young people could have some place to go. Dancing, pool tables and other recreation and entertainment would be provided to attract the youngsters and give them something to do - some place to go.

Ironically, Des Moines has a well equipped YMCA and a new YWCA is in the process of construction both at the cost of a lot of money. They are equipped with all the facilities about which these young people speak but which, apparently, are not being used by them.

Apparently these fine buildings are not meeting the needs of those young people who want a teen center down town.

True, some people are taking advantage of the Y but some don't feel that way. And to simply duplicate an old store front for that which is available in a well prepared facility does not make sense.

Maybe the Y people might well meet with these people who want a teen center and see if something can be worked out to meet their needs. Of course, we realize that some people are difficult to deal with but at least a try might bring results.

LET'S HEAR FROM RIGHTS COMMISSIONS

Des Moines has a Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination; Iowa has a Civil Rights Commission. And in spite of the fact that their main job is human rights, neither has been heard from in connection with all the charges of police brutality and denial of civil rights that have been batted around during the last few weeks.

When the human rights commission was first created by the late Mayor Chambers, the police and fire departments resented its activities. Other city departments practically took the same position that business and not they was subject to their regulations.

This, of course, is not true and in a few instances, departments have cooperated. And while some may feel reticent because they are creatures of the city or state neither should be allowed to disregard its own laws.

It is more important to do something about this than a boy's long hair or being housing specialists without getting much done.

SELFISHNESS HURTS
ANY OPERATION

One union which sponsors programs on radio continually brags "..... dedicated exclusively to the welfare of its members". That may sound good to the leaders who want their organizations kept tied in a knot to do nothing else but it, like all such groups which follow this practice, does the whole country a disservice.

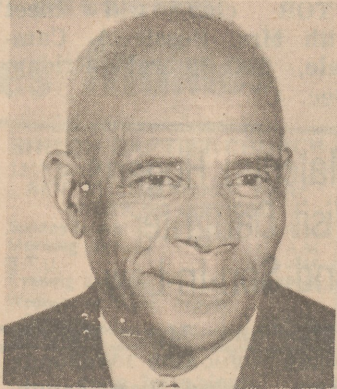

This is one trouble today, dedicated exclusively to ourselves but nobody else.

A glaring example of this is the effort being made by some industries to limit quotas of certain goods coming into this country or raise the tariff walls so as to protect industries.

These troubles arise from the fact that the cost of producing the goods has been boosted so high by highly organized groups that management cannot compete with goods being shipped in.

On the other hand, farmers, particularly in the midwest, are saying don't do this for fear these na-

Football Late

Last week was really a weekend of football. Iowa State comes on to beat what was supposed to be a good San Diego State club. The Cyclones never played better all year, and deserved their win. Some guy out on the coast said that there were two teams who were at least as good if not better than San Diego. And those guys played the great club, one nearly beating them, and the other getting the job done. Jim Kivoy, who used to do some footballing for North High, is the leading ground gainer on the Long Beach State club that beat San Diego. And here is a really funny one. The fellow who was replaced by Kirby was picked for the all American squad from the coast region. Now where does that leave Jim? Now, getting back to Iowa State. We think the Cyclones will be tougher than leather come 1971. With a little luck, they could have had a winning season this year.

College Ratings

We had a discussion with a fellow last week who really took off on the college ratings. He wants to know how they can tell who is number one and how the ratings can change from week to week, when the top teams are still unbeaten. And they all had close calls during the season. Top ranked Texas had two, one being a last second fingertip pass catch to beat UCLA, and the other being a rally to beat a stubborn Baylor team. Ohio State had a couple of close ones, and Nebraska had a tie with Minnesota. Then there were teams like the Uclans, Colorado, Baylor, Penn State, Southern Cal, all of who lost a bunch of games who were perfectly capable of beating any team they played on certain days, as both UCLA and Southern Cal demonstrated in the last two weekends. There were others that might be mentioned, but these will do for an argument.

Basketball
In college basketball, the teams play it out, and you know who really is number one, although sometimes, even then, the best team gets waylaid on the way to the final shoot out. But, we suppose it would take at least a month for a football tournament to be played after the manner of cagers. But our friend insists that football ratings are little more than popularity contests, and sometimes a top rated team will really go out for a big score to improve its rating. The guy may have something, at that.

Now, with basketball coming on, we are pleased to note that Drake finally has a rating. Now, they will really have to play under pressure to keep ratings will retaliate by refusing to buy our goods or placing quotas on soybeans and corn which they must sell abroad.

In each case, both sides are trying to save their business, except that the farmer is not getting the fabulous prices for their products as are highly organized industries.

Somehow these forces must compromise their differences for neither can operate exclusively without cooperation with the other.

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission is going to report on some of the different types of cases it has investigated beginning with this report.

In order to maintain objectivity as well as secrecy the names of the parties involved, and the locations have been omitted.

Case No. 1 is a housing case originating in the northern part of the state. A black man seeking an apartment reads an advertisement in the newspaper and goes to the apartment house complex. Once upon the premises he locates the manager's apartment and tries to make contact to be shown the apartment. No one answers his knock and so he leaves.

Later that same afternoon he called the apartment for an appointment with the landlord. He then returned to the apartment at the appointed time and again the landlord failed to respond to his knock. He left the premises and telephoned the landlord's apartment where he was given another appointment. Again the landlord failed to respond to his knock.

The Civil Rights Commission was then contacted and a complaint filed. The investigator assigned to the case called the manager of the apartment complex and made an appointment to see the available apartment. When he arrived the manager failed to answer his knock. After three attempts a new strategy was outlined.

The next contact with the manager of the apartment complex was made by a white woman with two small children who contacted the manager by phone and made an appointment to see the apartment. When she arrived upon the premises with her two children she was shown the apartment and advised that it was available immediately and that all she had to do was pay the first months rent in advance $150.00.

The lady then stated to the manager that she would have to call her husband to be sure that he had not found another place. The manager then told her, that she could use the managers phone to call her husband and wait in the managers apartment for him to arrive.

While they waited for the woman's husband to come, a black man (our investigator) came to the managers apartment and knocked on the door. The lady and her two children were pushed into the bedroom of the manager's apartment and told to be quiet as she would not open the door.

The lady seeking the apartment objected and said that might be my husband. The manager said no that's a black man, to which the lady responded that's my husband, and opened the door.

The manager then advised them that she could not rent to them because the husband was colored. While inside the apartment it was discovered that the manager had the apartment arranged so that all approaches were visible from inside and when a black person approached the management just simply did not open the door.

In this case the Civil Rights Commission awarded $150.00 in damages to the complainant. Required the owner of the complex to advertise in the newspaper that he was an equal opportunity landlord.

The Commission required even more than this. It required that the landlord inform the Commission of the number of vacancies each month, and supply the names and addresses of every minority who inquired about an apartment. If they were denied an apartment the reason for the refusal was to be furnished to the Iowa Civil Rights Commission.

There are many such stories of discrimination that remain to be told by the Iowa Civil Rights Commission. This has been just one of them.

Health for All

A MATTER OF LIFE AND DEATH

The American way of death is not to talk about it.

Not too many decades ago, sex — the thrust of life — was the top conversational taboo. Today it is. This may be bad, because now the Bulldogs can't slip up on their opponents. But cage experts are giving UCLA a good chance to win their fifth national crown, so they probably won't. It must be said, to Coach Wooten's credit, that he won titles with Lew Alcindor, before Lew and after him. So he must have something on the ball. Sports Illustrated has quite a story on the guy, and some of his ideas make one wonder. But evidently he learned as much from confrontations with his players as they learned from him on the basketball floor. One line in the story struck us. The players and the coach were quite a distance apart, and Wooten was getting upset. Sidney Wicks, a black player, who is this year's captain, said "Coach, you shouldn't take this thing so hard. We are here as a team, and you taught us that." That, it was said, was the line that brought the two factions together. We would guess from his statements that Wooten has his niche for black players to fit into, but he doesn't let that interfere with his coaching to win ballgames, and that is what it is all about.

is death. But death is inevitable for everyone. And recent studies show that dying patients want to talk about their impending fate — in order to cope with it.

"The shield we try to put up between the patient and the idea of death is really for our own protection, not the patient's," says Dr. Elizabeth K. Ross at the University of Chicago's Pritzker School of Medicine. "The patient is almost pathetically eager to talk about his emotions and fears."

Terminal patients tend to go through several shifting phases before accepting their death. At first they totally reject the idea; later they give in to despair. But Dr. Ross sees despair as a necessary prelude to a deep — and usually immensely peaceful — acceptance of death.

To suffer through these painful feelings with the patient, Dr. Ross believes, is part of a physician's task — as well as of those close to the patient. But it is best not to talk of the feelings until the patient himself brings them up.

The problem of the dying patient is now a major one in American society because chronic diseases — lingering, long-term illnesses — cause 83 percent of all deaths.

Millions of Americans suffer from chronic, long-term lung diseases, and you can find out more about them from your tubercu-

THE WIND AND THE LEAVES

"Come little leaves, "said the wind one day
"Come over the meadows with me and play,
Put on your dresses of red and gold
Summer has gone and the days grow cold."
Soon the leaves heard the winds' low call
Down they came, fluttering one and all.

Over the brown fields they danced and flew
Singing their soft little songs that they knew.
"Crickets good-bye, we've been friends for so long,
Pretty brook sing us a farewell song-
Say you are sorry to see us go,
Oh you will miss us, right well, we know.
Dear little lambs in your fleecy fold
Mother will keep you from harm and cold,

Keep you safe and keep you warm,
Then next Spring, you'll be healthy and strong."
Dancing and whirling the little leaves went
Winter had called them and they were content.
Soon fast asleep in their earthly beds
The sun laid a cover right over their heads.
