Master Builders Train Bricklayers

Plans Union and Nonunion Schools

Tentative plans for a 1971 union bricklayer pre-apprenticeship school were announced today by the State Joint Bricklayer Apprenticeship Committee. The school will be held in Des Moines, beginning March 1, 1971.

The announcement was made jointly by Duane Conkin, President, Iowa State Conference of Bricklayers; Richard Toon, Manager, Manpower and Training, Master Builders of Iowa; Les Buchan of the Iowa Concrete Masonry Association, and Gary Davis, Goodwin Companies and Structural Clay Products Institute.

Applications will be received from individuals interested in receiving masonry training without regard to race, creed, color or national origin, beginning December 15, 1970. Applications will close February 5, 1971.

Information regarding applications may be obtained from local Joint Apprenticeship Committees and local offices of the Iowa Employment Service. Contact local JAC's through the union financial secretaries: Gerald Barker, Local Union No. 1 BM&PIU, 1618 C. Ave., N.W. Cedar Rapids, Iowa 52405; Wm. K. Iowa Welfare Roles
Down To Four Per Cent

Less than 4 per cent of the total population in Iowa is receiving public assistance money payments. This is well under the national average of 6 per cent. This information is contained in a report released by the Social and Rehabilitation Service of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The report shows the largest proportion - more than 2 per cent of the State's population - were getting assistance under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children. Over the last decade, welfare rolls across the nation have risen about 60 per cent. The fastest rise has been in the AFDC program which has more than doubled during that period.

John D. Twiname, Administrator of the Social and Rehabilitation Service, said the number of AFDC recipients increased between July and August, 1970, by more than 200,000 to 8.7 million, the largest increase in the program's history.

"The trend over the past ten years, plus the recent sharp gains in the AFDC program, make even more imperative President Nixon's welfare reform proposals," Twiname said.

RFD 4, Cedar Falls, Iowa 50613.

The proposed school term is eight weeks. Tuition and books are free to those admitted.

Applicants who complete the program will be registered under the rules of the Federal Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, thus becoming eligible for employment as apprentices on federal projects where such rules apply.

Local Joint Apprenticeship Committees will determine the number of apprentices who can be gainfully employed in their communities in accordance with the volume of construction work there. The State Joint Bricklayer Apprenticeship Committee pointed out that numbers of apprentices from previous years will not necessarily be a guide for 1971.

Students who complete the school will enter a four year apprenticeship program which, if completed, will result in journeyman status for the student. The school will consist of both mechanical training and related classroom work.

Parker Charged With First Degree Murder

Defense attorneys for Marvin Parker, charged with first-degree murder in the purse-snatch shooting of Marie Tursic, were denied reduction of the $200,000 bond issued by Municipal Judge Luther T. Glanton.

At a board review hearing, Henry T. McKnight, one of Parker's attorneys, described Parker "as a nice boy trying to make good."

Police said Parker was apprehended by officers at the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery about 1 p.m. Thursday. After being identified in a line-up with four other men, he was charged with the murder of Miss Tursic, 31, of 712 Sixteenth St., on the sidewalk near her apartment last Friday night.

Miss Tursic was shot fatally by a man who approached her and her roommate, Karen Krueger, 30, and demanded their purses.

Police said Miss Krueger identified Parker as the man who shot her in the arm and killed Miss Tursic.

Lt. Raymond Steiner,

in charge of the search for the assailant, said police received "tips on several people but that everything kept pointing to him (Parker)."

Henry T. McKnight was hired by the Parker family as co-counsel with court appointed defense attorney Lawrence Scalise.

At a board review hearing Friday, McKnight charged that police used deceptive means to get Parker to come to the police station by telling him they were only interested in talking to him as a "witness."

Scalise charged at the bond hearing that the evidence against Parker is "pretty skinny" and said he felt the man's preliminary hearing, scheduled for 1:30 a.m. Jan. 4, should be earlier in order for Parker to receive a speedy trial.

CORRECTION

Last week the Iowa Bystander stated that Walter Knox who appealed his conviction and sentence to 6 months in jail, has been released on a $3,000 bond pending a decision by the Iowa Supreme Court. This was an error. The

Census Bureau To Survey Minority Business

A new mail survey, designed to determine the extent of business ownership by minority businessmen, will be conducted by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Forms for the survey will be mailed on or about December 15 and will seek information about the number and kind of businesses, employment, receipts, legal form of ownership, and geographic location of businesses owned by Black, Mexican-American, Puerto Rican-American, Cuban-American, and other minority people. Results will be available in July of 1971.

Basic aim of the survey is to fill an existing gap in economic data about minority participation in business. The information gathered will be used as source material for measuring the impact and efficiency of Federal programs designed to stimulate minority participation in the national economy.

As in all surveys and censuses, individual reports will be kept confidential according to law and cannot be seen or used by anyone other than Bureau personnel.

NEWS In A Nutshell

KANSAS CITY, MO. — Mystery surrounds the slaying of Mrs. Geraldine Baker, 39, who was found fatally injured Thursday morning, Dec. 10, in her car parked at the emergency door of the St. Joseph Hospital. She had been shot once in the neck with a .38 caliber bullet and apparently drove herself to the hospital after she was wounded.

Brother Melvin James, a student at Divine Word College at Epworth, has been chosen to serve on the board of directors of the National Office of Black Catholics in Washington, D.C. The organization was formed last June to offer needed services and programs to the black community across the nation. Brother James, a licensed practical nurse, is in charge of the college's infirmary.

DES MOINES, IA. — The Des Moines Fire Department, in cooperation with Iowa Power and Light Company, is testing a new type of fire preventative on the Christmas trees currently being displayed at Iowa Power's general offices, 823 Walnut Street, Des Moines.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — The Supreme Court turned Monday to two new tests of the rights of Negroes — to move up on the job and to approach social equality.

CHICAGO, ILL. — A major U.S. civil rights organization may sue to force the federal government to cut off all funds from suburban communities that exclude low- and moderate income housing, it has been learned.

Des Moines — The Polk County grand jury has refused to indict the two police officers, charged with the slaying of Clarence Jackson following a high speed auto chase in a stolen car.

San Rafael, Cal. — Angela Davis, self-styled Communist and militant leader, has been returned to California to face murder and kidnapping charges.

Des Moines — The Iowa Civil Rights Commission has instituted suit against C. R. Peters on, charging racial discrimination in the rental of houses. An earlier case against him was dismissed a few weeks ago.

Bystander apologizes for this error.

Seek Through Inquiry, Consultation to Gauge Problems of Soldiers

New York, N. Y. — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will send a three-man team to Germany early in the new year to investigate persistent and serious charges of discrimination at U. S. military installations.

The Association's general counsel, Nathaniel R. Jones; Julius Williams, director of military and civilian affairs; and Melvin Bolden, an attorney on Mr. Jones' staff, will make the investigation. John A. Morsell, the Association's assistant executive director, announced at a news conference here, Dec. 18.

This team, he said, "will seek, through inquiry and consultation, to gauge more precisely than is now possible the extent and the variety of problems faced by Negro servicemen in which the NAACP can appropriately and effectively be involved."

Mr. Morsell expressed confidence that the team will have the full cooperation of the command at all levels as well as that of the aggrieved black servicemen. "We expect to be able to talk with them in privacy and frankness," he said.

"We have no rigid preconceptions, and we believe that there is considerable sincerity and good faith to be found among those, both military and civilian, who run our military establishment," the NAACP spokesman said. "But we would be naive if we did not bring with us the insights and the knowledge of our years of experience with race prejudice and discrimination and our assumption that both are still likely to be in evidence wherever one looks."

Mr. Morsell cited the NAACP's long involvement in assistance to and defense of Negro military personnel dating back to World War I (including the 24th Infantry case at Houston in 1917) and continuing through World War II, the Korean War and thereafter, notably aid to servicemen at the air base at Goose Bay, Labrador, earlier this year.

"Our activities," he said, "have included legal defense and counsel, investigation of conditions, protests against unfair treatment and exclusion from elite branches of service, the fight to end segregation in the armed services, and assistance to discharged servicemen seeking their rights and accommodations as veterans."

Nixon Announces Commitment To Minority Business Enterprise

In the last year the number of government procurement contracts for minority business enterprise has grown by nearly 1300 percent. Moreover, the dollar value of the contracts has risen from $7,657,889 in 1969 to $37,456,065 in 1970. The actions taken by the Nixon Administration in 1970 have resulted in contracts valuing more than two times the amounts let out in the year before Mr. Nixon came to office.

This progress is taking place under a program by which the agencies and departments of the Federal government are asked to subcontract their work orders through the Small Business Administration to minority-led firms. President Nixon's initiative in this regard is the greatest of its kind ever undertaken by any administration.

Continuing efforts are being made under what is called the "8-A Contract." The Small Business Administration, in cooperation with the Federal agencies, identifies the need for items which the agencies will procure. Once a need is identified, the procurement of the item is subcontracted to a minority business firm which will supply or manufacture the item. The impetus for this program came directly from President Nixon. On December 5, 1969, the President requested the heads of executive departments and agencies to give their support to increasing the involvement of minority group contractors in the Federal procurement program.

Recently, the Veterans Administration completed a contract with the Watts Manufacturing Corporation, a model of Blackowned and operated enterprise. The contract was for the manufacture of 114,144 American flags at a total value of $957,668.

USE CHRISTMAS SEALS

Revise Guidelines For Lunch Programs in D.M. Public Schools

The Des Moines Independent Community School District has announced the revised free and reduced price lunch policy for all public schools in Des Moines as required by both federal and state guidelines. The new policy will be in effect January 1, 1971.

The charge to students who can pay is 40 cents. However, since some families find it difficult to pay this full price, the school system will provide lunches free of charge or at a reduced price to those children, determined by the System's Department of Pupil Services, to be unable to pay the full price for their lunches.

Families who feel their children may be eligible for either free or reduced price lunches are urged to apply. Copies of the application form, the income guidelines, and payment agreement were sent home in a letter to all parents earlier this week.

The completed application, signed by an adult member of the family, should be sent to the building principal of the school where the family has children enrolled. Such applications will be reviewed promptly within ten working days and the family will be notified in writing as to the decision made.

All information provided on the application will be held in the strictest confidence.

Post Office Announces Weekend Hours

The Des Moines Post Office will observe the Christmas weekend as follows:

Thursday, December 24

Mail deliveries will be on regular weekday schedule but the main office and all stations will close at 12 Noon. One city-wide collection from all boxes will be made between 12 Noon and 2 p.m. and one additional collection will be made from downtown business district boxes between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m.

Friday, December 25

The main office and all stations will be closed. There will be no collections and no deliveries except special delivery mail.

Saturday, December 26

The main office and all stations will be closed. There will be no mail delivered except special delivery mail. There will be one collection from all boxes in the city on regular posted schedule.

University Without Walls

Award of planning and pilot-phase grants totaling $365,000 for a new "University Without Walls" concept of higher education was announced today by HEW's Office of Education. An additional grant of $50,000 is planned for mid-December.

Seventeen colleges and universities are cooperating in the plan, developed and administered by the Union for Experimenting Colleges and Universities at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Some of the schools will admit a small group of students during the February 1971 semester, and others will begin their program with larger groups next fall. Most of the students are expected to be of usual college age, but the schools will provide courses for students of all ages who have not attained bachelor's degrees.

A returning veteran and a 45-year-old bank teller might be enrolled along with a recent high school graduate. Also enrolled might be a secretary who missed an earlier opportunity to become a teacher, or a housewife who seeks training in order to re-enter the job market. Later, as part of their college careers, these students may work in industry or some service organization at home or abroad, such as Vista and the Peace Corps.

The courses offered are expected to include studies in environmental, rural and urban problems.

Presently, thirteen Des Moines schools have all school reduced-price lunches. After Jan. 1, 1970 two schools Hiatt and Callanan Junior Highs will discontinue their lunch programs.

Students at the two schools who qualify for free or partially reduced lunches will be required to fill out applications.

The official policy of the Des Moines Board of Education states that no physical segregation or other discrimination against any child shall be made because of his inability to pay.

Children eligible for a free or reduced-price lunch shall not be required to work for their lunch, use a separate lunchroom, go through a separate serving line, enter the lunchroom through a separate entrance, eat lunch at a different time, or eat a different lunch from the lunch sold to children paying the full price of such a lunch.

According to Mrs. Dudley, who works with the lunch program, any discrimination of youngsters receiving free or reduced-price lunches is "child imposed."

"We have never color coded our lunch tickets," only the child knows what kind of lunch ticket he has.

Each student's program will be tailored to his own abilities and aspirations, with strong emphasis on the student setting his own pace. The time needed to attain a degree may vary. Flexible scheduling will permit a student to spend as much time as he needs or wants in any phase of his studies.

Students will have the benefit of instruction from an "adjunct" or off-campus faculty composed of persons actively employed as business executives, scientists, artists, writers, and public officials.

Each institution will determine the tuition scale and admission policy for its own program. In addition to offering standard course work, the schools are expected to promote studies through the use of television, audio-visual materials, travel, and special seminars.

Every student will be expected to produce a major contribution in his field. This may be a research study, work of art, community service, or a published article or book.

Howard University will be taking part in the new program.

Mabyl Taylor

Having been a resident of the Model Cities area for the past 12 years and visiting with my neighbors, I feel we all have the same goal — the best in living and working conditions.

So, therefore, I feel your goal is my goal - so let us get together and work together with this in mind.

James McGuire

I have chosen to run for a seat on the permanent P.A.C. (Project Area Committee) for the simple reason, I think I can help on the rehabilitation and environment of our neighborhoods.

J. W. Mitchell

I came to Des Moines in 1917 joining the 17th Provisional Training Regiment. Following my release from the service, I was employed at the Herring Motors Company, as State House Postmaster also operating a Drug Store at 12th and Center.

I have lived in this area and owned property in it for more than 30 years. I know everyone in this area and count them among my friends. Therefore I believe I can serve with credit I solicited your vote.

Rev. William M. Scott

I, William M. Scott have lived in Area 1 for 35 years at 1151 Ascension. I am associate minister of Corinthian Baptist Church and if I am elected as one of the members of the Ward I will do my very best to represent you and serve the people.

Johnny E. Roberson

I was born October 31, 1908 in St. Louis, Missouri. I have lived in Des Moines for 27 years, am a disabled veteran, a member of the V.F.W. American Legion and the Hawkeye Elks.

I have worked at the Wakonda Club, the Hyperion Field Club and the Des Moines Golf and Country Club and the Hawkeye Elks Club. I have volunteered my services at the Walnut Hill Opportunity Center.

I have two daughters and two grandsons.

I reside at 1214 Laurel and am 35 years old. I became a resident of Iowa with my two sisters and mother in 1946.

I attended Washington Irving Junior High and North High School and I am employed by Family Planning and Counseling Service as a social-aide. I attend Drake University on a part time basis for a degree in social work.

Very active in the Model Cities area for the past year, I am interested in the neighborhood. This is why I am running for the Grass Roots P.A.C. Committee.

Helene Lynch
905 Laurel Street

I have been a resident of the Model Cities area the entire life of the program. I am on the Model Cities advisory board as a Home Economist Assistant and have visited homes doing services for families and helping with food and clothing and bedding needs. My greatest desire is that the Model Cities program will be successful and am entering in my efforts to help in any way I can.

I am entering my name as a candidate for the Board of the P.A.C. (Project Area Committee). I would appreciate your vote.

Constance Smith

I am employed by Expanded Use of School Facilities, a model cities project, as Librarian Associate. I attend Drake University majoring in Sociology. I have been a Des Moines resident for seven years, five years in the Model Cities area, and am the mother of two children. "Everyone wants better housing in our area. The only way we can realize our dreams and desires is to be interested and to work hard for the success of is P.A.C. project. If elected it is my full intention to help provide the good life for our generation and for our children."

Pinkey B. Goode

I decided to run as a candidate on the project area committee because there is a lot to be done in our area and we can only accomplish it by organizing.

By Bertha Glass

It's quiet for the moment.
The children are happily involved with Sesame St.
A few minutes ago, the walls were reverberating with the sounds of happy, active children in the gymnasium, climbing and tricycle riding and skipping — things that children love to do.

The scene is Methodist Hill Children's Center, an extra special "day care" for the children of working parents. The center is open from 6:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
Children may receive breakfast, lunch, and an afternoon snack, which are under the State School Lunch Program.

After Sesame Street, the children will go to their own classroom with their teacher and teacher aide for planned activities — some art work, music, circle play that teaches children to think clearly, to understand directions and to enjoy learning.

The board and staff of Methodist Hill Children's Center believe that parents want more than just custodial care for their children.
For this reason, nursery school education is provided, but without pressures so often put on little children.
A real love of learning and a good feeling about himself as a person worthy of respect by himself and others are the broad goals of the center.

To accomplish these goals,
the center's lead and head teachers are college trained in Child Development.
The teacher assistants and aides are also skilled in understanding children.

The entire staff has weekly in-service training in areas of Health, Psychology, Child Development, and Art.

Methodist Hill Children's Center was founded two and a half years ago. The national economy was making it increasingly necessary for both parents to work in order to support their families.

The one thing most parents have in common is that they love their children and want the best for them. Methodist Hill's center wanted to help fill these needs.

Parents should know the persons who are caring for their children.

Five families brought children to our Center in October because they were bruised, neglected and not fed meals agreed upon with private sitters.

The choice of private home or day care school should be parents' preference. But parents can and should know the following:

1. Is the home or school licensed by the state?
2. Is the building clean?
3. Are the persons involved in child care really fond of the children or are they doing it for "easy money?" (It's easy if they don't do anything).
4. Are the children happy when they arrive at school and when they return home at night?
5. Have the persons concerned had any real training in helping children develop to their best potential?

Recently, Methodist Hill was re-licensed for 71 chi-dren. Beginning with 32 in September, it increased to 48 in November. There are

A New View of Africa

The popular concept of African exploration which has lingered since the nineteenth century is set to rest in the new book, "Discovery of Africa," by Richard Hall, a major title in the "Grosset All-Color Guides" reference book series. Mr. Hall, who spent 13 years in Central Africa, presents an in-depth view of the continent. The book highlights Africa's varied cultures which have existed for at least 3,000 years. With 150 illustrations, like the one above, the book traces the emergence of the new independent African states and shows the interaction in cultural and other areas between Africa and the rest of the world.

Deadline For Aliens To Report, Near

Mr. R. C. Williams of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service stated that the period within which aliens must report their addresses is almost at hand. The month of January has been set for the address reporting period. All aliens in the United States, with few exceptions, must report their addresses to the Government during that period. Mr. Williams said that forms with which to make the report will be available at all Post Offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service during the month of January. Mr. Williams urges all aliens to comply with the reporting requirements, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious consequences.

BEHIND YOUR HEALTH

H. E. Kingman, Jr., D.V.M.

Unravelling the mystery of viruses is a study of life itself involving both man and animals—the victims of these invisible invaders.

The first breakthrough in preventing viral diseases, vaccination to protect against small pox, came out of work in comparative medicine—study of diseases common to man and other animals. Sophisticated techniques like tissue, cell, and embryo cultures and electron microscopy have greatly refined modern research, but the experimental science retains a vital role in the continuing search for an understanding of the many diseases caused by viruses, among them hepatitis, the common cold, and possibly some cancers.

Milestones in virology, like Louis Pasteur's rabies vaccine and Max Theiler's vaccine for yellow fever, were the dividends of exhaustive research on animals. Countless animals aided in the fifty years of research leading up to the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines.

In the future it may be easier to combat viruses by altering their chemical structure or inducing the body's own built-in wonder drug "interferon" to fight off viral infections. What ever the course of research, animals are sure to play an essential part. The partnership between the virus researcher and his experimental animal has been a reaffirmation of the close relationship of the entire animal world, and wisdom in the dictum: "Study life to protect life."

For a free pamphlet on viruses, write National Society for Medical Research, Public Information, 1330 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

Answers to Turkey Questions

by Martha Logan

Q. How large a turkey should you buy?

A. First of all, count noses. Then allow for each person 1½ pounds of the ready-to-stuff turkey and 1½ to 2 pounds of the already-stuffed turkey. This guide to buying gives you generous servings and there will be enough left for good snacks and a meal or two later.

Q. When roasting a turkey, how can you tell when it is done?

A. A roast meat thermometer is used to determine the doneness. Insert the thermometer into the largest part of the thigh next to the body cavity. The internal temperature of the thigh should be between 180-185°F. Some older thermometers show 190°F for poultry but it is not necessary to bring the deep-basted Butterball Swift's Premium Turkey to such a high temperature.

Q. What are the advantages of the deep-basted turkey?

A. A special self basting mixture bastes the turkey inside as it cooks and stays inside to make the turkey extra juicy.

WINTER PET PROJECTS

The cold weather season means festivities at home, lots of visitors and an abundance of good food. For people. But for dogs, this same merry time means confusion, too much handling and too many treats, ranging from peanuts to turkey. It also means confinement indoors much of the time.

Here are some pointers to make Fido's winter season—and yours—happier—without leaving him out in the cold.

1. Give your dog a permanent retreat where he can rest and still observe the action. Select a warm, out-of-the-way spot where his bed can be

JIM KIRBY, FAMED NORTH HIGH ATHLETE and now a star player on Cal State Long Beach 49'ers was saddened at the loss of his coach and friend, Jim Lyle, North High's beloved sports director. Lyle was always an important part of coming home for Jim, he always sought out his friend and shared many experiences with him. Lyle died only last Wednesday night, December 16.

THE KIRBYS, MR. AND MRS. CHARLES KIRBY and their brood of six boys and girls are justly proud of Jim Kirby. They are equally proud of Cordell, the next oldest, who is an excellent student and athlete and whose hopes to follow in Jim's footsteps are encouraged by the entire family. Cordell's goal is Cal State!

FATHER KIRBY (CHARLES) and young Cordell upon learning that Jim's flight could get no closer to Des Moines than Kansas City, Missouri, motored there to bring him and his guest home. The entire motor trip was accomplished over extremely icy roads, but Kirby's experience and driving skill served him well. The return trip was somewhat better as by then the roads had been sanded.

JIM KIRBY'S REPLY TO MY QUERY as to what school life might be at Cal State was this: "It is a commuter college; that is, better than 90 percent of the students live more than 30 miles from school. It is not the usual college atmosphere. Instead it is more in character with a parochial school. As students leave classes to go home, they leave, too, the college atmosphere. Of course, this is not to say that they don't carry with them some feeling about the school. But in returning home, they resume their own private life style!" This calls for some thought doesn't it?

MODEL CITIES CITIZEN EXECUTIVE PLANNING BOARD member and Chairman of the Health Task Force, Thelma Clark, was in Kansas City, Missouri, last week for a two-day meeting. As she attempted to make her return flight, she found herself unable to make her return flight, due to the intense fog! Braniff just wasn't flying! Instead Thelma took a reservation at Macy's Department Store (Shall we call it?) Here she completed her Christmas shopping! (Not bad! Not bad!) Thus, she had three days in that enchanting city. Of course, the first two were spent in conferences. And the third an enforced vacation while away at Macy's!

Still Window Shopping: Viewed Wilson upholstery display, matching modern chair with throw pillows and varied colored nylon print. There were two matching tufted red velvet covered barrel back chairs. Another lovely item, of furniture was an antique oak rocker covered in flowered suede print.

On another occasion I ambled into the shop and found a black naugahyde covered Queen Anne Chair, nickel plated decorator backs were used on the legs. Needless to say I'll be going back.

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE

Prepared by the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, the national society of life insurance professionals who have earned the C.L.U. designation by meeting high educational, ethical and experience requirements.

QUESTION: I just purchased an additional $10,000 straight life policy and find the cost is more than twice that of the $10,000 policy my father bought for me as a child. Why such a difference now—I'm the same risk under each policy?

ANSWER: No you're not. You're older. If your new policy costs "more than twice" your child policy, you are probably in your early 30's. The death rate at your present age is probably about four times greater than it was when you were 10.

There's another reason for the difference. If your father took out the policy when you were 10, the insurance company stood to collect more premiums, before paying the face amount, than is now the case.

But here's some news to cheer you up: the old policy is actually costing you very little, if anything.

What's keeping you from looking good? Dry, brittle, breaking hair?

It's something to get upset about. No girl likes to see her crowning glory breaking off. Scientists tell us that over-using hot combs and over-processing hair with chemicals are often the major causes of brittleness. But even curly "natural" hair tangles and frequently breaks...just in everyday combing.

Professional hairdressers, too, know curly hair tangles easily...so it must be softened before combing to avoid breaking. This way you'll avoid irritation to the scalp and damage to the hair and roots. Many, many hairdressers rely on spray-on Clairol Hair So New® the no-rinse cream rinse. It instantly softens and relaxes all human hair (even wigs) and prevents breakage during everyday combing. Your hair stays soft and tangle-free.

When you have questions about your hair, it's smart to go to a professional hairdresser...the one who's trained to use the whole family of fine Clairol products the way you need them...to keep your hair at its most beautiful.

So don't get upset. Get a lift from a quick visit to the expert...your hairdresser. And keep on looking good!

Your professional hairdresser has all the answers...ask for a free consultation today!

TAKING IOWA
FARM MARKETS

Stores are selling more packaged goods today because there is less chance of waste, because undesirable parts can be cut away and used in other products and make the cost of transportation less.

This packaging brings some surprises as a customer picked up a package of sliced ham in one of the stores recently. The label said "Denmark Ham" (it was raised and slaughtered there) sliced and packaged in America. The plant is in a neighboring mid-western state. The price was 99 cents per package and 1.5 cents per pound.

Ironically, no Iowa sliced was shown on this counter and yet we are one of the leading hog producing states in the country. In other words, ham produced in Denmark is sold cheaper in Iowa than that produced in America.

Farmers are complaining about low prices and the high prices they must pay for what they must buy. And while this sale of some Denmark hams in Iowa is a small part of the overall production and marketing of goods and services, it looks silly that a country across the ocean can come in and take this business away from the home folks.

Iowa cannot compete as a great growing state when its markets continue to be taken over by outsiders and by those who have little interest in the state other than syphon money out of communities.

APPRENTICESHIPS AVAILABLE IN THE TRADES

The Master Builders Association of Iowa has announced the dates for classes in bricklaying. The union bricklayers classes begin in Des Moines March 1, 1971; non-union shops in Ft. Dodge, March 8, 1971.

This program offers young men an opportunity to learn the bricklayers trade. The sponsors are Master Builders of Iowa who will be hiring them both as apprentices and later as journeymen.

The apprenticeship program in most of the opportunity programs seems to have produced very little. We see no Negro bricklayers, machinists, heavy equipment operators or any other of the highly skilled trades. Not that there may be one or two here and there, but the number is so small that it cannot be said to have made a nick in the stone.

Unfortunately, Negroes have fared poorly in the highly skilled trades for years. And the federal labor law, set up during the Roosevelt administration, made no provision for protection of Negroes from unfair labor practices based on race discrimination by unions even though they have full control of who shall be in the unions and thus who can work.

It was only recently that the national labor relations board has held that discrimination on the basis of race is an unfair labor practice.

It seems that most of the effort is being placed on sending youngsters to college but little to trade schools or local apprenticeship programs. And yet it is this latter class of citizens the Negro needs most. The present program produces more educated people on the higher level and those on relief or other free programs but produce little in the middle class.

Those who are unfortunate should not be neglected. In fact every effort should be made to upgrade them as many want to be, so as to make them self-supporting and the tax load less.

There are centers here and there for youngsters to learn to dance, recreation and what not but none to encourage people to work.

SPORTS

With Allen Ashby

Every so often, we are asked to compare the football of today with the game as it was played when we used to play it. Actually, except for the size and speed of the big players, there isn't too much difference in the techniques of the two eras. Our players didn't pass as often as they do today. Probably this was because the bigger ball was harder to throw. Then there were certain zones in which you never passed, but not and then some gully quarterback would call one down there anyway. The field was marked off in zones by coaches who were stressing defensive ball, in the hopes that the other side would make a fatal mistake. For instance, you kicked on first down inside of your own twenty yard line, second down inside the thirty, and third down after that until you reached midfield.

Kicking

Now, you don't kick until you have to on fourth down no matter where you are. But, we took more chances on fourth down and short yardage than the boys do today. The blocking wasn't much different. Most of us little guys used the so called "crack-back block" because that was the only way we could handle the big linemen of our time. We also stressed getting in the defensive man's way so the runner could get past him, as they do today. Then there were some leveling blocks in which the defensive man was knocked galley west as today.

We didn't pass as much as they do today probably for reasons we have explained. Then, too, there were not as many accurate passers as there are today. We rushed the passer then. There was a saying that it is hard to pass sitting down. Our defensive ends and other linemen tried to rush the passer, and lots of times the tackles and linebackers tried to back up and knock the ball down.

Patterns

The patterns were about the same, except the receiver knew where he was going because each pattern was numbered. The poor receiver must have had a helluva time trying to count his steps before making his cut. We frequently swung a back out of the backfield to catch passes. He was often told to count to maybe comparative salaries of Negroes as compared with whites in the same class. For instance, in the class of $9,000 workers among whites, the Negro earn $6,000 due, in part, to the lack of proper percentage of well paid middle class.

This program of the Master Builders presents an opportunity for youngsters to learn to make big money for it is a class of people sorely needed in the Negro.

CHRISTMAS - PEACE

Christmas - a season looked forward to by all, bring cheer, goodwill and a hope of peace for the world.

And even though imperfect, people work at it.

It is exemplified by almost endless programs to help those who cannot help themselves. America wants its citizens, its neighbors to be comfortable, to know that there are those who care.

May this spirit prevail through the coming year?

three, and break out, and he was always nearly open. Of course, the ball of today is made for passing and that ball was primarily designed for kicking. Then we used only one ball for the whole game, and on wet days the thing weighed a ton. Later someone thought of wiping the ball off between plays. Sometimes our passer didn't attempt to disguise his pass, but most of our passes were pulled off a play that started like a run. There was a counter play for each pass, also.

Defenders

On defense we had not more than two linebackers for a long time, and then someone got the idea of dropping some of the lineman back making as many as three linebackers. Our safety man didn't come up to make tackles on the running plays very often, but once in a while he did. We always figured it was because he couldn't wait to get into the action. The things the defensive players did then and now don't vary much. The offensive player was apt to get his block knocked off by the guy across from him as much as he is today. There was the usual wrestling in the line and shoving and pulling, hoping one wouldn't get caught. Then, everybody on both teams went both ways, and near the end of the game, it was usually won by one team having a fresh fast man who could turn the corner, and the other tired players couldn't catch him.

Sports

So, now, no matter how much you may have read or heard from commentators about how much more the game has changed, and how much smarter the player of today has to be than he was twenty or thirty years ago, always remember that the basic principle of the game hasn't changed in all these years. You still have to get

Activities of the Iowa
Civil Rights Commission

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission has completed four years of service to the people. It is only fitting and proper at this time that the Civil Rights Commission should express its glowing warmth for the yuletide season.

It is the time of year when great emphasis is placed upon human feeling - the twilight of the year. Mothers and fathers are seated quietly by the fire. Their eyes aglow with loving kindness. On the floor small children play in front of the fire place. The warm flames flicker casting shadows about the room. A scene often described but whose warmth felt radiated throughout the room.

Outside the dark sky mirrors the bright and colorful lights symbolic of the jovial season. The lighted tree is reflected in the window. Its tiny lights twinkle in the background of darkness. Gayly wrapped packages have been neatly placed under the tree.

Under the street light on the corner soft voices can be heard. The carolers are gathered to sing. Soon their sweet and harmonious voices can be heard. Songs of praise and songs of great joy ring out into the night.

The scene is set for the arrival of the newborn babe. It is his arrival that offers morning for the holidays. He is a junior at California State College, Long Beach, California. Kirby is majoring in marketing.

Kirby is No. 36 on Cal State's Long Beach, 49er's and plays tailback. His most recent game was last Saturday's Pasadena's Rose Bowl Game. His team's score today is 9-2-1. Jim is replacement to the Long Beach star, Leon Burns. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirby.

Kirby brought with him a guest, Miss Sandra Robinson, also a junior at Cal State. She is a sociology major and plans to become a social worker. Miss Robinson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robinson, who reside in Lake Charles, Louisiana.

Awaiting Kirby's arrival were his two sons, Carlos (Birdie) age 2 and James Willis (Jamie) age 1½. They are spending the holidays with their father and grandparents.

CHRISTMAS BACK HOME

It's a time to be happy, not a time to be sad, It's a time to glad that times ain't bad

But I'm so weary Looking after the beast Trying to make him go Around for tomorrow nights feast.

The children so excited They won't hold still. "Come here Bobby and oring Little Will.

Go down and help Clara bring the rest of the food." I don't want to get a headache and spoil the mood.

So I guess I'll stop hollering at them poor kids And call Paul and Sylas to see what they did.

Come here Paul and Sylas and bring them toys

This will be my biggest happiness, Just seeing them with joy.

Sylas don't be big headed, shut your mouth Paul go and get sleds outside the house.

Oh! Won't they be happy when tomorrow they see All the things that Santa left them under the tree.

peace to the world. It is because of his birth the time honored pause by all mankind occurs.

In fact for the first time in the history of man a war has stopped during the period of tribute to his birth. The Vietnam war will once again fall silent.

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission pays tribute to this time of the year with the utmost respect. But one day hardly seems appropriate. And we wonder if it isn't possible or even necessary for man to have a little human kindness for his fellow man every day of the year. This Commission strives to make every citizen of this state aware of human need. We also strive to encourage people to help one another everyday and to eliminate inhuman feelings and actions.

Beneficial as it may be to help the poor, and to bring a little cheer at this time of year, we encourage continuous activity all year. The Civil Rights Commission struggles to bring people together in human understanding all year long, not just at Christmas time. Sometimes we succeed and sometimes we fail, but the important thing is that we keep trying. We need a better understanding so desperately.

Season greetings and best wishes from the Civil Rights Commission. "Peace on Earth good will toward all men." "Peace."

CHRISTMAS SEAL
LETTER TODAY!

It's Merry Christmas Lighting Time Again!

During this festive season, a major part of our attention centers around the traditional tree. Gaily decorated with tinsel, balls and lights - a Christmas tree is a magical thing. This year, Iowa Power hopes we all will be especially careful in our Christmas lighting - and recommends following these few simple safety hints:

1. Check old light strings for frayed cords or broken sockets.
2. Be sure all light strings are UL approved.
3. Use outdoor equipment made especially for outdoors.
4. Use insulated staples only - never nails or tacks.
5. Don't overload your wiring system.
6. Never leave tree lights on when you aren't home.

A free booklet, "Tastes and Trees from Many Lands", is now available at your nearest Iowa Power and Light office. This colorful, 16-page booklet features international ideas on Christmas tree decorating - and special holiday recipes. You are also welcome, when you are in the downtown Des Moines area, to see the trees on actual display in the lobby of our main office.
