

Monday a.m.

Dear J. V.,

I imagine you have been awaiting a note from me for some time and so here goes. In the first place I cant find your copy of "Electronic designers Handbook" and your wife couldnt find it at the house either. Do you know where it is? I can send you my copy but as Beecher has one that may be sufficient.

The report has gone out (about two weeks ago now). I had a note from Weaver about ~~it~~ it and about the telescopes. He had nothing to say about the report but told me what to ~~do~~ do with the telescopes we had. They are now disposed of. With the report I sent brief letters which met with Gaskill's approval. Copies went to Weaver, Fry, and Fernberger as before. The delivery slips are in but I have had no word from either Fry or Fernberger.

Bonnie is a little slow in getting the financial reports out but they should be finished in a week. I have made out and deposited with the Dean a final report on materials on hand. As you know this will not amount to very much--I have enclosed a copy (an extra so you wont have to return it) and would like your reaction to it. I havnt heard the Deans reaction yet.

As yet the apparatus in Room 16 has not been dismantled but I see now no reason why I should not proceed with the salvaging job. Is there any reason for delay in your mind?

We are wondering^t what the drafting of 18 year olds will do as far as the college is concerned. So far it looks like school will go on as usual this year.

I am now teaching Theoretical Physics and Thermodynamics ~~2X~~ (the latter meets twice a week). T.P? is coming fine but progress in Thermo hasnt been very good so far. Im not too crazy about Epstein for a one quarter course. I have just recently taken over in this.

The thesis work is not progressing as it should. I am going to study over some of our thrusts of last summer and may talk things over with E. S. Allen some day when I have things in hand. He should have some ideas on the integral equation formulation.

All goes well in the lab here. Will you kick Andy in the pants and tell him to write to me? Ditto for Beecher. Greet them. Let me hear from you one of these days again.

Sincerely yours
