Explosive Growth for Cyclone Club "1-in-10" Campaign

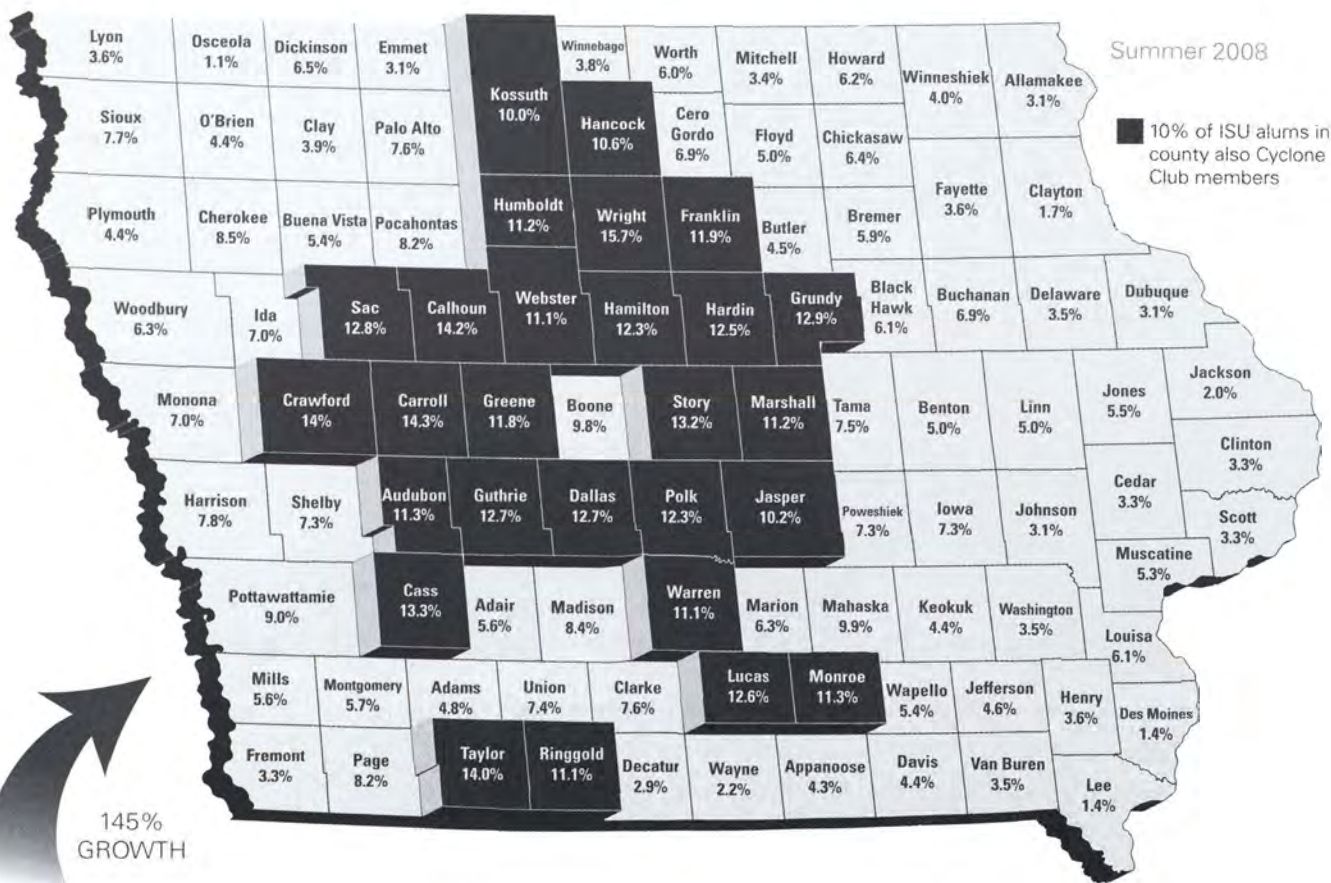

The Iowa State Athletics Department can boast of another meteoric rise for one of its key benchmarks thanks to the support of Cyclone fans.

The Cyclone Club reports the number of counties in its "1-in-10" program has increased 145% (from 11 to 27) in the last year. The campaign encourages at least "1-in-10" of Iowa State University alums in each of the state's 99 counties to become Cyclone Club members.

"There's still room on our bandwagon. Maybe a little urging from a neighbor or friend can convert a few more counties to the cardinal color on our map."

Jamie Pollard
Director of Athletics

Summer 2008

Growth in the Cyclone Club has the potential to impact Iowa State athletics on so many fronts. Our over-arching Cyclone Club goal – dubbed 10k by 2010 – is to reach 10,000 members by 2010.

GAMEDAY SCOUTING REPORT

Iowa State: The Gene Chizik era enters its second season at Iowa State and the program hopes to build on its improved play displayed while winning two of its last three games to close out the 2007 season.

Cyclone fans will have to get used to not having a pair of familiar faces on offense in quarterback Bret Meyer and receiver Todd Blythe. The four-year starters graduated as the school's all-time leaders in passing and receiving, respectively. However, with the return of four starters on the offensive line, the Cyclones are optimistic about their chances of scoring points.

The big question will be who will fill Meyer's shoes at quarterback? The early leader is sophomore Austen Arnaud. The local Ames product showed hints of brilliance while filling in for Meyer a year ago, throwing for 267 yards and completing 20-of-37 passes. Another sophomore, Alexander Robinson, is back to take over primary rushing duties. Robinson became ISU's go-to rusher late in the year, gaining 391 of his 465 season rushing yards in the last four games of the 2007 campaign.

The Cyclones have the making of a fine defensive unit with the return of seven starters. Junior Rashawn Parker and senior Kurtis Taylor are back at defensive end positions. Taylor led ISU and finished second in the Big 12 with 6.5 sacks a year ago. There is experience in the secondary, including honorable mention all-Big 12 free safety James Smith. Smith, a junior, totaled 79 tackles and two interceptions last season.

South Dakota State: South Dakota State enters its first season in the Gateway Football Conference and will play its first NCAA Division I Football Bowl Subdivision team in school history tonight against Iowa State. The Jackrabbits, which went 7-4 overall and won the Great West Football Conference last season, will be eligible for the FCS playoffs for the first time after completing its transition from NCAA Division II to full D-I FCS status.

SDSU returns 14 starters from last year's conference championship team, including senior signal-caller Ryan Berry. Berry completed 60.1 percent of his passes for 2,132 yards in 2007. Berry's prime target will be senior JaRon Harris, who was a second-team all-conference receiver last year after catching 40 balls for 664 yards and a team-high seven touchdowns. The Jackrabbits also return three starters on the offensive line.

On defense, SDSU returns two stars on the line in senior Eric Schroeder and junior Danny Batten. Schroeder led the Great West in tackles for loss a year ago, recording 13.5 TFL and 6.5 sacks. Batten, a junior end, was a honorable mention All-American last year after compiling 12.0 tackles for loss and 4.5 sacks.

SERIES SYNOPSIS

Iowa State and South Dakota State will battle for the third time in the series history. ISU holds a 2-0 series lead, winning both contests at Clyde Williams Field in Ames. The Cyclones won the first meeting, 57-19 in 1952, which was the sixth-highest scoring output for an ISU team at the time. ISU won the last meeting, 34-6 in 1954.

OUTSTANDING FACILITIES

JACK TRICE STADIUM

Iowa State's football stadium, which debuted on Sept. 20, 1975, was named in honor of Jack Trice, Iowa State's first African-American athlete. Trice died from injuries he received in a varsity football game in October 1923. Jack Trice Stadium recorded a new attendance record with 56,795 fans at the Iowa State-UNI game on Sept. 8, 2007.

JACK TRICE STADIUM IMPROVEMENTS

The special football atmosphere at Jack Trice Stadium has been enhanced with a number of additions throughout the years. A natural grass playing field was added in 1996 and a $6.2 million three-level press tower was introduced in 1997. In 2002, a state-of-the-art video/scoreboard, permanent lighting and additional seating in the south endzone improved the stadium's gameday experience. The newest makeover occurred in 2008, as the stadium went through its $19.5 million first phase remodeling project. The overhaul included the renovation/construction of suites and the addition of restroom and concession buildings on the west concourse. The club section on the east side of the stadium was also entirely renovated. Renovation included the addition of a brand new 100 percent bluegrass sod playing surface.

RALPH A. OLSEN BUILDING

The renovated Ralph A. Olsen Building is adjacent to the north end of the Richard O. Jacobson Athletic Building. The Olsen Building houses the strength, equipment and athletic training facilities.

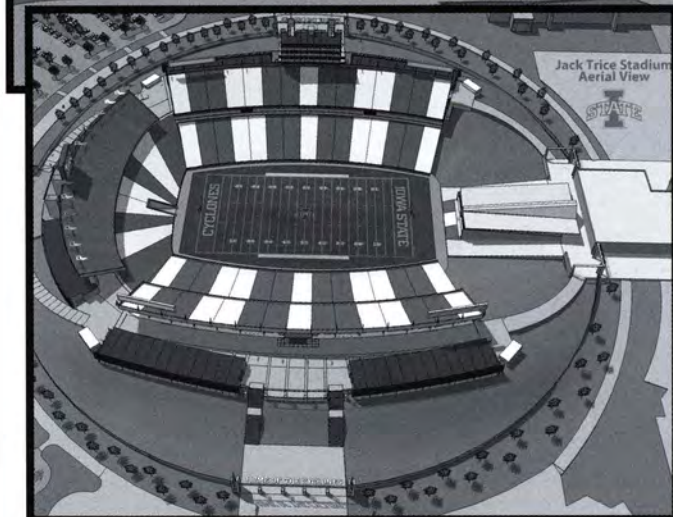

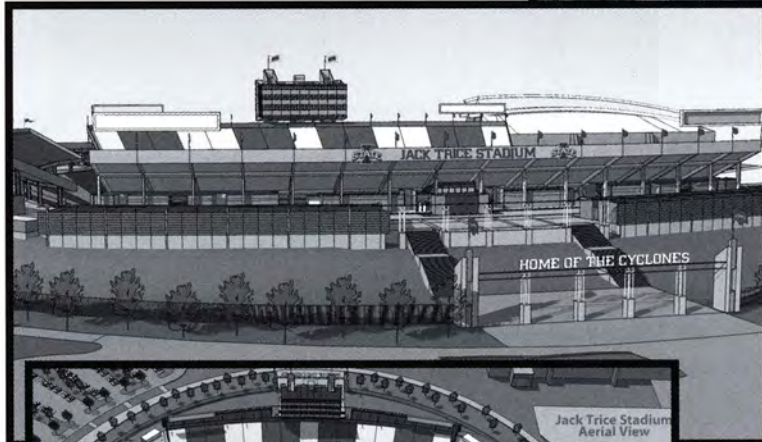

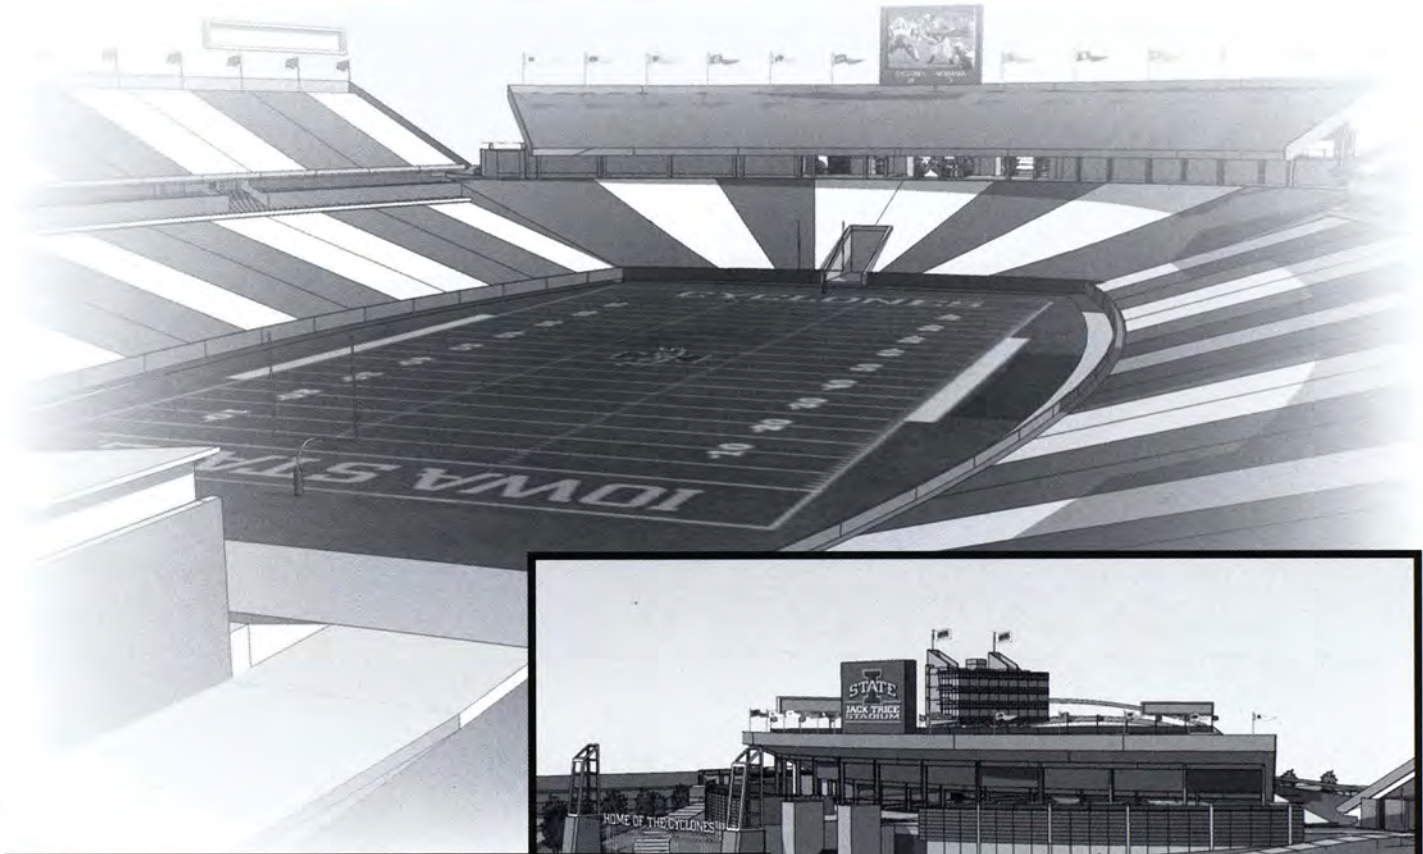

STEVE AND DEBBIE BERGSTROM INDOOR FACILITY

The $9.6 million Steve and Debbie Bergstrom Indoor Training Facility opened for football practice in March 2004. The 92,000-square-foot building was constructed over the existing turf practice field as a part of the Johnny Majors Practice Complex west of Jack Trice Stadium. Funding for this project was from private gifts to the athletics department and the ISU Foundation.

JACOBSON ATHLETIC BUILDING

The stadium complex was transformed in 1995-96 with the construction of the state-of-the-art Jacobson Athletic Building. The home of Iowa State's football program includes football offices, team meeting rooms, locker rooms and auditorium.

FACILITIES MASTER PLAN

FACILITIES MASTER PLAN

The Iowa State University Athletics Department recently received permission from the Board of Regents, State of Iowa, to continue planning and fundraising for additional potential enhancements to Jack Trice Stadium, including renovation of the east concourse and a "bowled in" south end zone. Those improvements are on the drawing board only and will not be started until funding is solidified.

At Iowa State University, adventurous minds are defining the future. Even better, we're working to sustain it.

Energy sustainability is a critical goal for Iowa and the nation, and Iowa State is tackling this broad and complex issue. We have launched Live Green!, a university-wide initiative to make Iowa State a national model of energy efficiency.

-  A $3 million Energy Conservation and Global Climate Change revolving loan fund has been established to provide interest-free capital to campus projects that incorporate sustainability and have quantifiable savings or return on investment. The fund will reduce annual operating expenses, decrease greenhouse gas emissions and energy costs, and engage students, staff and faculty in the effort to reduce energy use and raise environmental awareness.
-  Iowa State has adopted LEED Gold as the standard for all new campus construction and major renovation projects. LEED is a third-party certification program administered through the U.S. Green Building Council, and the nationally accepted benchmark for the design, construction and operation of high-performance green buildings. Three new facilities being planned at Iowa State—Hach Hall (chemistry building), the Biorenewables Research Laboratory, and the King Pavilion addition to the College of Design—have all been registered for LEED certification.
-  Iowa State has joined with 100 other universities and colleges to pilot a new campus sustainability rating system called the Sustainability Tracking, Assessment, and Rating System, developed by the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education. It helps assess progress in developing programs and practices that promote social responsibility and environmental stewardship.
-  An Office of Sustainability Programs has been created to coordinate the university's efforts.

ISU ATHLETICS DIRECTOR JAMIE POLLARD

new construction of athletics facilities, strong academic performance by athletes and improvement on the field of play.

His arrival at Iowa State University was preceded by three years as Deputy Athletics Director at Wisconsin, where he worked alongside Barry Alvarez, who was serving in the dual role of A.D. and football coach.

A former national champion long-distance runner, Pollard's competitive drive was channeled into a blossoming college athletics administration career by his mentor, Maryland Athletics Director Debbie Yow.

Pollard received a 2003 Street & Smith's "Top Forty Under 40" award, which goes to the most influential and creative individuals in athletics under the age of 40.

Jamie and his wife, Ellen, have four children and reside in Ames.

Jamie Pollard, Iowa State's Director of Athletics since 2005, has made a career out of dreaming big, thinking outside of the box and stretching beyond personal comfort zones.

Pollard's leadership has boosted pride, raised confidence and created powerful momentum for Cyclone Athletics. The charismatic Pollard has energized a campus with a relentless work ethic, no-nonsense approach to problem solving and a belief in customer service.

The former certified public accountant has demonstrated a flair for marketing and his creativeness has lifted the athletics department's operating budget a staggering 40 percent despite no additional state or institutional support.

In addition to setting records for donations and ticket sales, Pollard's tenure has been highlighted by on-going upgrades to and

HEAD COACH GENE CHIZIK

The improvement of the Cyclones against the rush was even more pronounced. A defense that had ranked 11th in the Big 12 Conference and 102nd nationally against the rush in 2006, improved under Chizik's oversight to 44th in NCAA Division I and sixth in the Big 12 in 2007.

Chizik knows about building programs. The Iowa State head coach has been to the mountaintop. He had been assistant head coach and defensive coordinator on Texas' 2005 national championship team; before that, three years as defensive coordinator at Auburn, where in the midst of 30 wins in three seasons he earned the Frank Broyles Award as the nation's top assistant coach. He has been defensive coordinator on conference title teams in three different BCS conferences.

Chizik's track record preparing players for college football and beyond is unassailable. Amazingly, the new ISU head coach tutored three straight winners of the Jim Thorpe Award. The honor is given annually to the nation's top collegiate defensive back. At Auburn, Chizik coached cornerback Carlos Rogers, who won the award in 2004 and now plays for the NFL's Washington Redskins. At Texas, Chizik coached the 2005 Thorpe honoree, Michael Huff, who is now a strong safety for the Oakland Raiders. Texas' Aaron Ross, received recognition as the 2006 Thorpe Award winner, and is now a corner for the New York Giants.

Chizik, as a defensive coordinator, learned from the best head coaches in the nation's top collegiate programs while making tremendous contributions toward the enhancement of their national head coaching reputations. At one point, Chizik had a personal 29-game win streak in two-plus years as defensive coordinator at Auburn and Texas. The national championship won by Texas in 2005 was the school's first since 1970. When Auburn won the 2004 SEC Championship game, it was the Tigers' first league crown since 1989.

Chizik's defense loomed large in Texas' 2005 national championship season under head coach Mack Brown. The Longhorns ranked eighth nationally in scoring defense, 10th in total defense and fourth in pass efficiency defense. Ten UT defenders were all-Big 12 Conference selections.

Chizik earned his B.A. degree in education from Florida (1985) and his M.A. in guidance and counseling from Clemson (1991). Chizik, a native of Clearwater, Fla., and his wife (Jonna) have identical twin daughters (Landry Grace and Kennedy Danielle) and one son, Cally.

Gene Chizik was the man. From the moment Iowa State athletics director Jamie Pollard began a search for a new head football coach in 2006, Chizik was at the top of Pollard's list of potential candidates. He wasn't alone. Everyone wanted Gene Chizik. It was no surprise then that improvement of the Cyclone football program in its first year under Chizik was immediate. Chizik's first ISU team beat rival Iowa and made steady progress throughout the season. Iowa State closed out the 2007 home season with wins over Kansas State and bowl-bound Colorado, affirming the major advances the Cyclones made on both sides of the ball. Iowa State fans embraced Chizik. Cyclone backers bought a school-record 36,000 season tickets in 2007 and posted the school's best home game attendance average (49,462) since 1982. A school-record 56,795 fans packed Jack Trice Stadium for last season's game against Northern Iowa.

Chizik's first win, a 15-13 victory over intrastate rival Iowa made him the first Iowa State coach to beat the Hawkeyes in his initial season since 1907. The back-to-back wins over Kansas State and Colorado were the first consecutive Big 12 victories for the Iowa State program since 2005. The statistics tell the story. Iowa State ranked 102nd nationally in total defense in 2006. Under Chizik that ranking improved to 65th in the country last season.

ACADEMIC SERVICES

TUTORIAL SERVICES

Academic Services works with the ISU Academic Success Center to provide tutorial services to all student-athletes. The ASC tutorial staff works with NCAA rules and regulations and is closely monitored to insure that student-athletes are receiving quality services. The intent of the tutoring program is to supplement and support all of the sound education practices that are imperative for academic success for all student-athletes. The tutors and students work together to develop the independent thinking and learning skills necessary to achieve positive results without compromising the integrity of the education process.

REFERRAL SERVICES

Academic Services will assist student-athletes in connecting with campus support services to accommodate their special needs. Staff members work closely with the ISU Student Counseling Service, the Dean of Students Office, and other academic, student, and personal support programs to help diagnose and assist in the resolution processes.

HIXSON-LIED STUDENT SUCCESS CENTER

The Hixson-Lied Student Success Center opened in March 2007. The $10 million facility includes the Rod and Connie French Athletic Academic Center, demonstrating the unequivocal commitment to providing the best possible academic environment for Cyclone student-athletes.

LEARNING CENTER

Academic Services provides educational and study environments for its student-athletes in the form of "learning centers." Student-athletes are strongly encouraged to utilize the learning centers as often as necessary to develop the appropriate study and learning skills to become better students. Study groups and Academic Mentors are also available at these learning centers. Academic Mentors help students to develop their study and learning techniques. Most study groups consist of three or more student-athletes working with a group facilitator on a regular basis.

SCHOLAR-ATHLETE RECOGNITION BANQUET

ISU Athletics and Academic Services recognizes student-athletes with exceptional academic records at a scholar-athlete banquet. University administrators, faculty members and athletic department personnel attend the dinner in celebration of the academic accomplishments of the ISU scholar-athletes who have achieved a 3.0 GPA or better at particular times during their academic careers.

CYCLONE MARCHING BAND

Composed of over 300 student members, the Iowa State University Cyclone Football "Varsity" Marching Band is a vital part of the action of Big 12 football. Known for its polished and energetic style, the Cyclone Marching Band performs a wide variety of dynamic shows throughout the season. Students in the band come from all over the nation and represent over 70 academic majors.

Each year our athletic bands perform before over a half-million people, including the fans that regularly pack Jack Trice Stadium. Recent performances have included the EV1.net Houston Bowl, the Independence Bowl in Shreveport (twice), the Humanitarian Bowl in Boise, the Eddie Robinson Classic in Kansas City, and the Insight.com Bowl in Phoenix. Through rehearsals, travel, and the excitement of marching in front of thousands of cheering fans, the members of our Cyclone Marching Band share rich experiences that create lasting social as well as musical bonds.

The band performs at all home football games and at several local and regional exhibitions. This fall the band will travel to Iowa City for the annual game at the University of Iowa, and will also perform in Marion and Cedar Rapids.

The Cyclone Marching Band will perform in the annual ISU Band Extravaganza concert, which also features the Wind

Ensemble, Symphonic Band and Jazz Ensemble I. This year's Band Extravaganza will take place at C.Y. Stephens Auditorium on Saturday, November 8 at 7:30 p.m. For more information about the ISU bands, please visit www.music.iastate.edu/org/marching.

Adopt the Band!

They show their Iowa State pride all season long by working hard to bring high-spirited, top-rated performances to football games, pep rallies, and alumni.

You've applauded their non-stop showmanship and marveled at their abundance of energy. And you know that the Cyclone Marching Band is one of the finest collegiate ensembles in the country.

Now you can help support these outstanding young men and women by signing up for the Cyclones' "Adopt-the-Band" campaign. By investing in the band, you will have a share in the sounds and spirit of Iowa State music for years to come.

Scholarship Athletes

The Iowa State Athletics Department is thankful for the support of its alumni and friends, and in that spirit we continue to work to raise awareness for our athletics scholarship endowment program and increase support for Cyclone student-athletes. Scholarship endowments are being sought for all 18 sports at Iowa State. Increasing the endowment support for athletics is an essential long-term solution to give Iowa State an established renewable source of funding to help keep up with the escalating costs of tuition, books and room and board.

Operating a broad-based intercollegiate athletics program and providing student-athletes with a high value education continues to get more expensive, and that is where a strong athletics scholarship endowment program can help. Endowments allow Iowa State fans, friends and alumni an opportunity to make a lasting impact on future generations of Cyclone student-athletes by helping to fund their success both on and off the playing courts and fields.

JACK TRICE STADIUM SPORTS A NEW LOOK

Your eyes are not deceiving you. Jack Trice Stadium does look different. The Iowa State athletics department is proud to put on full display this evening the completion of its $19.5 million project to upgrade the home of Cyclone football.

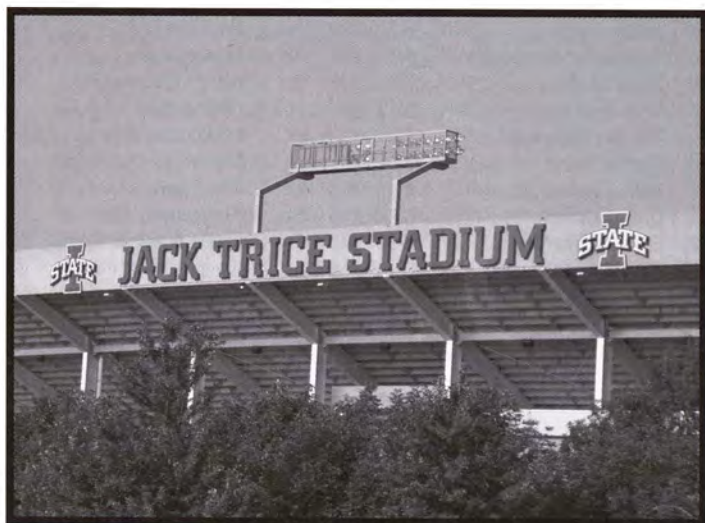

Fans will notice the new ISU identity mark behind the stadium scoreboard and the giant Jack Trice Stadium script on the east side of the upper deck as you enter the stadium. Once inside, fans will then be treated with wider concourses, new restrooms, improved concession areas and expanded stairways.

The first phase remodeling project also includes the addition of new suites on the west side in between the upper and lower levels. The Jack Trice Club on the east side was also renovated, adding a total of 542 club seats. The improved suites and club section will generate an additional $1.8 million of revenue annually for the ISU athletics department budget.

"Jack Trice Stadium will have a much different feel with the wider west concourse, a more 'closed in' appearance from the addition of the new suites and a lush green playing field," Director of Athletics Jamie Pollard said. "We are very pleased with the changes."

The Jack Trice Club is located in the east concourse of Jack Trice Stadium. A total of 572 seats have been added to the club section. Here is a view of the bar area.
