Color Hooks the Big Ones

Color advertising supplies the thrust by which most nationally-marketed goods and services are promoted. Large corporations sell with — and buy from — color advertising.

Fortunately for the smaller manufacturer and merchant who must compete for attention in our increasingly sophisticated marketplace, modern graphic arts technology makes it easier — more economical — to produce outstanding color printing in small quantities.

For years, we have enjoyed a reputation for truly superb full-color printing. Customers within a radius of 500 miles seek us out for this uncommon skill.

Please call us when you have that important printing job demanding the attention of color wise people.

Break your beard in right.

Right now your beard is in the formative stage.

You can shave it with a razor blade like your father does. And each time you do your beard will grow back a little more difficult. Until one day shaving's no longer a chore. It's an agony.

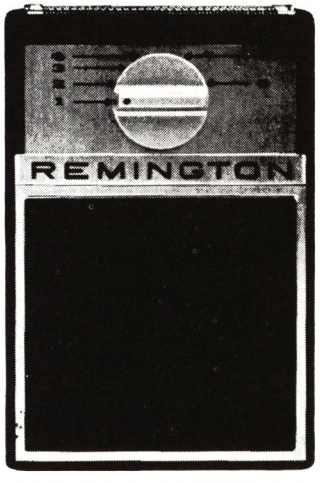

Look no further than your father's face for proof.

But fortunately, you're catching your beard at an early age. You can break it in to be just as shaveable 10 and 20 years from now as it is today.

With a REMINGTON® shaver.

And if you think the kind of shave we're selling won't be close enough for you, you're wrong.

Our new blades are sharper than anything that's been in an electric shaver before. And there's a dial that lets you adjust them for your skin and beard.

What's more, you can dial a REMINGTON electric shaver into a sideburn trimmer.

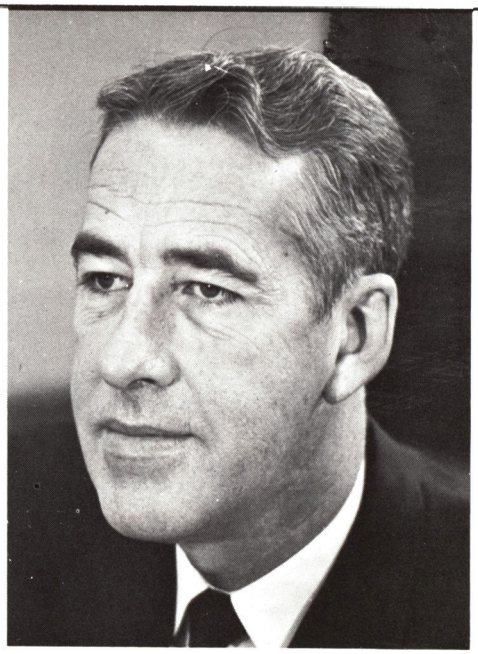

Admittedly, it costs more to buy our electric shaver than a razor and some blades.

But it's a good investment.

These next few years will determine how you and your beard will get along for the rest of your lives.

Served Iowa State professionally, generously and with great loyalty. Lloyd is past president of the Polk County Alumni Association and the Des Moines Cyclone Club.

He has been treasurer of the Des Moines Cyclone Club for ten years. Mr. Bock served two terms on the Athletic Council, 1959-1965 and was chairman of the Council one term.

In his business connection he served as auditor for the Alumni Achievement Fund and the Iowa State Foundation in 1958. At present he is a member of the Board of Governors for the I.S.U. Foundation and acting representative for the Des Moines community.

In 1958 Bock was named by his employees and the JC's "Des Moines Boss of the Year". He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Iowa Society of C.P.A. and is past president of same.

Lloyd Bock and his wife Ada have two children, Julianna 31 and Richard 29.

ISU Agriculture Hall of Fame Inducts Kleckner, Paul

Two prominent Iowa agriculturists, Dean Kleckner, Rudd, and Rolland Paul, Granger, were inducted into the Iowa State University Agriculture Hall of Fame in ceremonies at the University this month.

The Iowa State University Agriculture Hall of Fame induction is intended to be the highest honor an individual can receive in Iowa agriculture from the University. Those honored are chosen because of their contributions to Iowa agriculture.

Dean Kleckner farms 350 acres near Rudd and specializes in raising feeder pigs. Currently, he is vice president of the Iowa Farm Bureau and is the youngest man ever to hold that post. In 1967, he was named Outstanding Young Farmer.

In his farming operation, Kleckner has an annual swine production of near 5,000 head. He uses a cross-breeding program hinging largely on Hampshire swine.

He and his wife, Natalie, have five children, three sons and two daughters.

Rolland Paul of Granger is the owner and operator of a purebred swine farm.

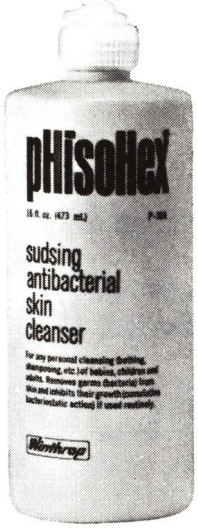

Paul was named Honorary Master Pork Producer in 1966 and was eleced executive vice president of the National Pork Producers Association the same year. Since then, he has aided in the organization of associations in 28 states.

He is married to the former Donna Herrold and he and his wife have two daughters and one son.

We're proud...

that pHisoHex® has been selected as the antibacterial wash to be used by the U.S. Team for the 1968 Olympic Games!

A winning athlete takes special care of his skin. Above all, he protects it against bacteria that can cause infections and lead to missed practice sessions and games.

If you've ever tried to play with an infected blister on your heel or an abscess on your finger, then you know the role of healthy skin in sports. And that's why pHisoHex is an important part of an athlete's daily health routine.

pHisoHex is America's leading liquid antibacterial skin cleanser in homes and in hospitals. Used regularly in place of soap, pHisoHex produces a superclean skin and builds up an invisible antibacterial film of hexachlorophene to protect your skin against germs between washings.

And if you have problem skin, pHisoHex is often valuable. The antibacterial film it leaves on your face will ward off blemish-infecting bacteria. pHisoHex also helps to soften and wash away blackheads.

Use pHisoHex, the skin cleanser of winning athletes.

IOWA STATE UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL COACHING STAFF

Coach John Majors has assembled a young and enthusiastic coaching staff at Iowa State University in his first year as head coach at the Cyclone school. The new members bring with them a wealth of football knowledge from leading educational institutions.

Following are the duties of the new staff members and the institutions from which they came:

King Block, formerly at Washington State University, in charge of offense plus offensive line.

Jack Blazek, Marshalltown high school coach the last three years, freshman coach.

James W. Johnson, formerly at Wichita State University, interior linemen.

Ollie Keller, Memphis, Tenn., Catholic high coach, offensive backfield coach.

Larry W. Lacewell, formerly at Wichita State University, head defensive coach, plus ends and linebackers.

Joe Madden, formerly at Wake Forest University, defensive backs.

Jackie Sherrill, formerly University of Arkansas, offensive backs.

Gordon C. Smith, formerly University of Arkansas, receivers.

Arch Steele, a member of the Iowa State staff since 1954, academic counselor and scout squad.

Top Flight Jayhawks Next

Kansas, object of national sports articles; a top ranked grid machine; the team picked as most likely to boot Oklahoma from the Big Eight throne room, is the homecoming foe for green-tinged Iowa State today.

Pepper Rodgers, developer of great quarterbacks wherever he has coached, figures he has the best one yet in Bob Douglass, 215-pound left hander who does everything for Kansas. He was the player of the year in the Big Eight in 1967 and figures to repeat this year.

Yet, Douglass is far from the whole show for Kansas. Don Shanklin, tailback, is one of the fastest moving backs in the nation. Through five games Shanklin is averaging better than eight yards each time he carries the ball. John Pont, whose Indiana team bowed to the Jayhawks by a 38-20 score, labeled Shanklin as too tough for one man to handle.

Nor is that all that the Cyclones have to contend with, not with sophomore John Riggins around. This 225-pound fullback can blast and still outrun the defense.

Want more trouble? Take a look at pass receivers like John Mosier, holder of the KU catching records, and George McGowan, the split end for KU.

If you think that the trouble in handling Kansas ends with the discussion of these men and their other offensive mates, guess again. That defensive line, for instance, averages better than 238 pounds per man.

Kansas is leading the Big Eight in total offense and rushing offense, and in scoring offense. Defensively third is the spot for Kansas. The most likely reason for that low a ranking is that the offense has piled up so much yardage that Rodgers has been able to make great use of reserves. The more the reserves have played the more the other team had a chance to gain - but not too much since the KU defense average is under 300 yards per game. The offense has averaged nearly 400 yards per game.

The nearly 25,000 fans in the stands today is the greatest number ever to watch an Iowa State-Kansas game in Ames.

Numbered in this group today are members of the all-time, Iowa State all-star football team. Normally a special year team is honored at homecoming. This year the committee tried something new. It contacted all former lettermen and former coaches and asked them to vote on the top players produced over the years at Iowa State.

That is the group, 36 strong, that is being honored here today. The honor team's "first" member, Ralph McElhinney, reaches back to 1906, while John Van Sicklen is the youngest, dating only from 1965.

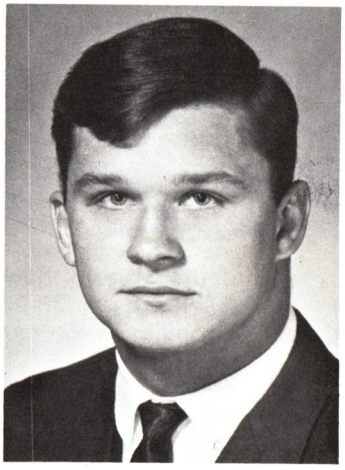

This is the seventh time Kansas has been the Homecoming opponent. The Jayhawks hold a 4-1-1 edge in the series before the Iowa State alums.

Iowa State's nine all-Americans will be represented by more than half that number: Polly Wallace, Ed Bock, Jim Doran, Dwight Nichols, and John Van Sicklen. The other four - Tom Watkins, Dave Hoppmann, Tom Vaughn, and Eppie Barney - are playing professional ball and cannot get away.

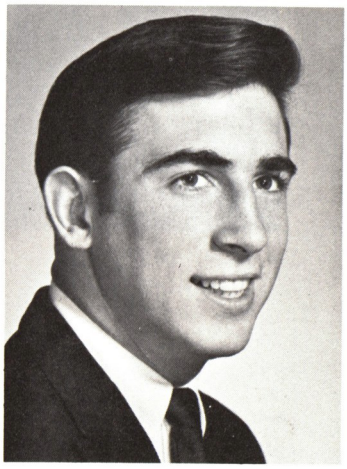

There's more about this group on another page in the program, too.

Iowa State's hard-hitting youngsters continue to make a great impression on friend and foe alike. The surprising total of three wins far exceeds anything the experts predicted. The exciting, attacking offense and defense brings nothing but praise from the men who have faced the Cyclones. The chores are monumental the rest of the season but this prideful young coaching staff, headed by Johnny Majors, and their equally proud players won't step backwards.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS

The University of Kansas serves more than 16,000 resident students at its main campus of more than 700 acres in Lawrence and at the Kansas University Medical Center in Kansas City, Kan. Through correspondence and extension class divisions, many more are enrolled in part-time study.

Ten schools with more than 70 teaching departments comprise the University. The schools are: Graduate, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Business Education, Engineering and Architecture, Fine Arts, Journalism, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.

Kansas University opened its doors in September of 1866 to 29 men and 26 women, making it only the third state university accepting the principle of co-education. The act organizing the University was passed by the legislature in 1864, but not until the following year — with the Civil War ended — was $20,000 raised for a building. The money came chiefly from Quantrill relief funds which had been sent to Lawrence.

The home selected for the University was Mount Oread, a ridge several miles long between two valleys carved out of geologic time by the Kaw and Wakarusa rivers. A group of New Englanders gave Mount Oread its name, likening it to the site of Oread Institute in Massachusetts, which occupied a similar commanding view of its town.

The first man to occupy the position of Chancellor in the sense of the president of the faculty was General John Fraser. When he was elected in 1867 enrollment was 105 students.

Kansas Univerity's present Chancellor, Dr. W. Clarke Wescoe, was named in 1960 to succeed Dr. Franklin Murphy. Dr. Wescoe had been dean of the School of Medicine when elevated to the chancellorship by the Kansas Board of Regents.

☐ Great opportunity. You earn a commission while you earn your college degree. Graduate—you start at the top. Fulfill your military obligation as an Army officer. With officer's pay. Officer's privileges.

☐ Great advantages. Employers prefer a college graduate with service as an officer. Pay more to get him. Because he's a trained, experienced leader. Can handle heavier responsibilities.

☐ Great success. From the 5% of college men who had ROTC training have come 24% of our state governors, 28% of executives earning $100,000 to $325,000 per year, 10% of Congress, 15% of our ambassadors.

☐ Great guys. ROTC men are campus leaders—in ROTC, athletics, extracurricular activities. And they do better scholastically than non-ROTC students.

☐ Great extras. $50 per month in junior and senior years. Scholarships for outstanding students. Free flight training at over 125 colleges. Extra social activities—military balls, honor societies, bands, rifle teams.

Any way you look at it, there's a lot more going for you when you're in ROTC.

Your future, your decision . . .
choose Army ROTC.

Iowa State Courtesy Car Program

Twelve automobile dealers in Iowa are helping the Iowa State athletic program through the loan of courtesy cars. Like other programs which are a part of the Cyclone Club, this project enables Iowa State to make greater use of its funds. These sports-minded dealers around the state have earned a great debt of gratitude from the Iowa State University Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. They are a most important part of the "team", a team that includes players, coaches, administration, faculty, staff, students, alumni, and the men behind the courtesy car program.

Pepsi pours it on—pours on the taste that actually gets better as it gets colder. It's a cold fact: Pepsi-Cola is bottled as cold as we can make it so you can drink it as cold as you like it! And cold is the way to really drench a thirst. Prove it for yourself—put it to the taste.

THE CYCLONE CENTURY CLUB

The Iowa State University Department of Intercollegiate Athletics salutes the members of the CYCLONE CENTURY CLUB . . . a growing group of significant contributors to Iowa State Athletics. These individuals and firms have contributed $100 or more annually to help us in our efforts to reach a goal of athletic excellence for Iowa State University.

It is Homecoming and we have a different way of honoring the football players who have represented Iowa State. We let former players and coaches select the top 36 players of the past and they are invited back as the honor group. It is going to bring back some men who have not been on the campus for more than 30 years.

As selected by hundreds of votes from former lettermen and coaches. Twenty-six of these men are here today. Six are involved tomorrow in pro football games. These men and their wives are seated on the stage behind the Cyclones today.

List by position.

"I Dare You"

(Editor's Note: This widely circulated letter has received tremendous acclaim because of its pointed message to American youth. Written by Clif Cushman, captain of the 1960 University of Kansas track team and second place finisher in the 400-meter hurdles at the Rome Olympics, and sent to students in his high school at Grand Forks, North Dakota, after missing a chance to qualify for the 1964 U.S. Team. A captain in the Air Force, he has been missing in Viet Nam since the fall of 1966.)

AN OPEN LETTER TO YOUTH:

Don't feel sorry for me. I feel sorry for some of you! You may have seen the U. S. Olympic Trials on television September 13. If so, you watched me hit the fifth hurdle, fall and lie on the track in an inglorious heap of skinned elbows, bruised hips, torn knees, and injured pride, unsuccessful in my attempt to make the Olympic team for the second time: In a split second all the many years of training, pain, sweat, blisters and agony of running were simply and irrevocably wiped out. But I tried! I would much rather fail knowing I had put forth an honest effort than never to have tried at all.

This is not to say that everyone is capable of making the Olympic Team. However, each of you is capable of trying to make your own personal "Olympic Team" whether it be the high school football team, the glee club, the honor roll, or whatever your goal may be. Unless your reach exceeds your grasp, how can you be sure what you can attain? And don't you think there are things better than cigarettes, hot-rod cars, school dropouts, excessive make-up, and duck-tail grease-cuts?

Over 15 years ago, I saw a star—first place in the Olympic Games. I literally started to run after it. In 1960, I came within three yards of grabbing it; this year I stumbled, fell and watched it recede four more years away. Certainly, I was very disappointed in falling flat on my face.

However, there is nothing I can do about it now but get up, pick the cinders from my wounds, and take one more step followed by one more and one more, until the steps turn into miles and the miles into success.

I know I may never make it. The odds are against me but I have something in my favor — desire and faith. Romans 5: 3-5 has always had an inspirational meaning to me in this regard. ". . . we rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering produces endurance, and endurance produces character, and character produces hope, and hope does not disappoint us . . ." At least I am going to try.

How about you? Would a little extra effort on your part bring up your grade average? Would you have a better chance to make the Minn.; Laura McQuown, Red Oak; 15 minutes after practice and worked on your blocking?

Let me tell you something about yourselves. You are taller and heavier than any past generation in this country. You are spending more money, enjoying more freedom, and driving more cars than ever before, yet many of you are very unhappy. Some of you have never known the satisfaction of doing your best in sports, the joy of excelling in class, the wonderful feeling of completing a job, any job, and looking back on it knowing that you have done your best.

I dare you to have your hair cut and not wilt under the comments of your so-called friends. I dare you to clean up your language. I dare you to honor your mother and father. I dare you to go to church without having to be compelled to go by your parents. I dare you to unselfishly help someone less fortunate than yourself and enjoy the wonderful feeling that goes with it. I dare you to become physically fit. I dare you to read a book that is not required in school. I dare you to look up at the stars, not down at the mud, and set your sights on one of them that, up to now, you thought was unattainable. There is plenty of room at the top, but no room for anyone to sit down.

Who knows? You may be surprised at what you can achieve with sincere effort. So get up, pick the cinders out of your wounds and take one more step.

I dare you!

Merry Christmas And Happy Homecoming 1968!

Homecoming is a great time to meet old friends, alumni, parents and students, and a perfect time to say, 'Merry Christmas!"

If you think we're a little early, you're wrong.

There are other friends and students who are not with us this Homecoming, and who will not be home for Christmas either. They are the people in our Armed Forces, stationed all over the world. We think you'll agree that they deserve something special this holiday season.

Because we appreciate the work our servicemen overseas are doing, the Radio Workshop at Iowa State is again sponsoring the "Christmas Living Letters Project." Over the past two years, response to the program has been enthusiastic, and hundreds of men in the military have welcomed the opportunity to hear voices from home. And, due to the great distance from Ames to wherever they are, serving aboard ship, stationed at bases, embassies and posts throughout the world, it's time right now to begin thinking about this year's "Living Letters."

Materials and facilities for "Living Letters" are supplied absolutely free of charge, with airmail postage making it possible for the letters to arrive at their destination before Christmas day. All you have to give is a few moments of your time.

"Living Letters" are small reels of recording tape, packed in plastic cartons designed for mailing. Your "Living Letter" is recorded in complete privacy in the studios of Telecommunicative Arts on the Iowa State campus. The tapes and mailing cartons are supplied at a nominal fee through Electronics Supply, Inc., of Ames, and purchased for the project by Pi Kappa Phi social fraternity. The Ames Chapter of the American Red Cross furnishes air mail postage, and various other organizations help in many ways to make the project a success.

The Red Cross tells us that the one thing servicemen overseas like to receive most is a recorded message from home. We hope you'll join us in helping to fulfil that wish at Christmastime.

"Living Letters" will be recorded at Telecommunicative Arts, Exhibit Hall, on weekday evenings Dec. 3-13. Times will be scheduled from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

For more information on the "Christmas Living Letters Project," please call or write: Radio Workshop, Exhibit Hall, Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa 50010 .Phone: 294-5000. Make sure everyone has a merry Christmas!
