Hats Off To The Tigers

It's all even up for the Cardinal and Gold Cyclones and the Old Gold and Black Tigers on Clyde Williams Field this afternoon. Yes sir! Four and a half decades of competition and the slate is clean. Fourteen games won by Iowa State and fourteen won by Missouri. And those thirty-two games played in some forty years have given the fans of the states of Iowa and Missouri plenty of action. Most of the time there have been clear cut decisions. Very little of this slogging back and forth up the field for a stalemate—in fact, only four games have ended in ties.

So by now you've guessed it; why we like to compete with the Missouri Tigers from Columbia. There's something decisive about those "show me" boys. We "show them" as they demand, or we "get shown."

Iowa State started playing Missouri back in the days when they didn't seem to put too much store by scores. Either you won, or you didn't. Let the score go hang. That first game, back in 1895, shows on the official record card in the Cyclone Athletic Office as a "plus" for Iowa State and a "minus" for Missouri. Iowa State won the next game, in 1896, too. Then the two schools skipped about twelve years. After that the games have been annual, except for 1918, when nobody was much interested in football anyway.

After the series first started the Tigers said "Show me" for about twenty-two years without much effect. By 1917 Iowa State was eight games up on Missouri. The Tigers called a halt. By the end of the following ten years Missouri had evened the series. Missouri won in 1929 and 1930 to put the Tigers two games ahead. Iowa State evened the series with victories in 1931 and 1933, and since then it's been nip and tuck.

And they've been close games for the most part. The biggest margin of victory for either side was back in the days before Missouri began to "show" the Iowa State boys. The Tigers won that game 29 to 0. The average margin of victory, including all the games except that "plus" and "minus" victory for Iowa State, has been only slightly more than eight points, just a bit more than the price of a touchdown.

So if the statistics mean anything, win, lose, or draw this afternoon, we're assured of a decisive game.

And there's another reason for our special interest in Iowa State-Missouri football games. Both our own Jim Yeager and Missouri's Don Faurot are the youngster coaches of the Big Six Conference. This is Yeager's third season as head football coach at Iowa State. Faurot has been two seasons longer at Missouri, where he is also athletic director.

As we welcome the whole Missouri aggregation to Clyde Williams Field for today's game we can't refrain from taking off our hats in particular to a trio of Tiger players. In "Pitchin' Paul" Christman, the Tigers sport one of the ace triple-threat backs in the Big Six Conference. With a reputation for being able to hit a fly at forty paces with a pigskin, Christman has completed 32 out of 67 passes for 383 yards so far this year. His punting and ball-lugging are equally sensational.

Wingmen for Missouri are carbon copies of each other—the Orf boys, Robert and Roland. They team up with "Pitchin' Paul" to serve as the receivers for most of that great number of completed aerial loops. It wasn't possible to comply with Big Six football agreements and make their numbers carbon copies, so the Missouri coaches did the next best thing and gave them adjoining designations—28 and 29. The Iowa State defense is hereby warned to watch this trio very closely.

And so for all those reasons, and many more, including twenty-two reasons down on the field in the starting lineup, we welcome the Missouri football squad, the Missouri coaches, and the Missouri fans, to join with us in this Homecoming. So labeled on the program or not, every occasion on which Iowa and Missouri athletic teams meet is a Homecoming. And we defy all others who are not Cyclones and Tigers to "show us" why it is not.

Homecoming: 1939 . .

N BEHALF of the students and the staff of the Iowa State College, I am happy to greet the alumni, the former students and the many friends of the College who are on the campus for the Homecoming celebration and the game with the University of Missouri. This occasion has also been designated as Visitors' day, and we are honored by the presence of many of the State officials and members of the Iowa General Assembly.

The football game between the Iowa State College and the University of Missouri is, of course, the center of interest. It promises to be an outstanding contest and, while the football team of the Iowa State College is comparatively inexperienced, we believe that you will see an exciting game.

Homecoming is an excellent occasion for the alumni to renew old friendships and to get better acquainted with the program of the institution. Many of the departments of the College will be open for visitors, and it is hoped that many will take advantage of this opportunity to see the institution in action.

We hope that your visit to the Iowa State College will be both pleasant and profitable. Please let us know if there is any way in which we can be of service to you while you are on the campus.

Missouri's Coach

DON FAUROT
Football Coach and Director of Athletics

Don Faurot, head coach, is one of the youngest in the "Big Six." After graduation from Missouri in 1925, where he played football, basketball and baseball, Faurot coached the freshman team one year before going to Kirksville Teachers as head coach. In nine years at Kirksville his teams won seven championships in the M.I.A.A. conference. Since taking over the reins of the Tigers in 1935 his teams have won 18, lost 14 games and tied 5. His all-time record shows that his teams have won 81 contests, lost 27 and tied 8. In 1935 Missouri won three, lost three and tied three. In 1936 their record was: won six, lost two and tied one. In 1937: won three, lost six and tied one. Last year his team won six and lost three and finished in third place in the "Big Six" race, one step behind Iowa State.

This year the Tigers have compiled a good record. So far they have defeated Colorado, Washington University and Kansas State while losing only to Ohio State. The Tigers are doped to be one of the top teams in the Big Six Conference when the final standings are compiled.

IOWA STATE RELIES ON SEAL-O-SAN

IOWA STATE and more than 3500 other schools now have Seal-O-San finished gymnasium floors. For Seal-O-San is the one floor finish that can take the punishment inflicted by all gym activities and come through unharmed.

Especially for basketball is a Seal-O-San floor ideal. Because Seal-O-San makes any wood floor 100% non-slippery. By preventing skids and falls, it assures faster floor play, speedier dribbling, and more confident shooting.

But there are many other advantages of Seal-O-San. It provides a beautiful floor, yet it costs much less than other types of finish, because it is applied without skilled labor. It seals the floor against dirt and moisture, thus eliminating costly scrubbing. And it is easy and economical to maintain.

Seal-O-San offers the correct solution to the gymnasium floor problem. Coaches and school officials are invited to write for complete information.

The Showmen-'39 Cyclones and the Frosh

Homecoming would not be complete without some mention of the men who are putting on the show for you—the Cyclone varsity, and the men who help prepare them for each game—the frosh.

Ten of the men who are playing this afternoon are playing in their last homecoming game at Iowa State. For the past three seasons these men have been trying to make homecoming successful for you homecomers. Two years ago they didn't quite succeed in hanging up a victory, but last year they topped off the afternoon with a victory. This season the Cyclones have been slow getting under way, but hope to again bring homecoming to a successful close.

Seven of these men who are graduating are linemen and three of them are backs. Those of you who have witnessed other Iowa State games this year have noticed that the Iowa State line has more than held its own in its games. Credit for the strength of the line should be given to four of these seniors who have held down starting positions.

At the ends are two veterans, Capt. Martin Boswell and Bill Bliss. Boswell was a regular last year and Bliss was a reserve. This year these two have kept the opposition from going around them with great regularity. Bliss is the heavier of the two, weighing 190, while Boswell tips the beam at 180.

Howard Buck at left tackle and Jack West, center, have been in on a lot of line plays this fall. West was a regular last season, while Buck was out with injuries. Buck won a minor letter in 1937. West weighs in at 185, and Buck at 198.

In the backfield Hugh Vickerstaff is completing his third season as quarterback. In his sophomore year Vick got his chance when Kischer was injured. This season he has been hampered by injuries and has seen little service.

Five men who have seen service as reserves are playing before their last homecoming crowd. Bill Taylor and Orland Peterson, tackles; Duncan Glab, guard; Howard Medin, halfback, and Bob Darrow, fullback, have all seen service this year in most of the games.

Althoug 10 men will be lost by graduation, 30 men, who have been wearing the Cardinal and Gold, will be back to carry on next season. A large percentage of this year's squad is sophomores, and as a result, Coach Jim Yeager has a big number of experienced men from which to build next year's team.

Heading the list are 11 backs who have been performing this year. Seven of that number are sophomores this year and five are juniors. In every position there are at least two men returning and at right halfback all of this year's men will be back.

Quarterbacks who have more years of competition ahead of them are: Bob Seaburg and Jack Wallace, sophomores. These two men have handled most of the quarterbacking this year. Wallace weighs 160 and Seaburg, 170.

At fullback both of this year's men, Merle Osborne and Bill Lechtenberg, will be on hand next year. Osborne and Lectenberg have been the leading ground gainers so far this year.

Don Griswold, regular left halfback, and his understudy, John Bowers, will be back. Griswold is a junior and Bowers a sophomore. Both of these men are shifty runners and good pass receivers. Griswold is one of the best blockers and tacklers on the squad.

At right halfback five men who have seen service will be eligible for further action. Heading the list is Lindsay Vinsel, junior letterman. In reserve this year have been Joe Taylor, Lincoln Stewart, Claude Hays and John Liggett, all sophomores.

The ends are the best manned as far as returning men are concerned. End Coach Louis Menze has seven men who will be back next year. Three of these men are juniors and four sophomores. The juniors are: Douglas Graves, letterman; Leo Quinn and Milton Miletich. Sophomore ends are: Jean Lange, John Heggen, Roe Williams and Bob Russell.

At the guards will be Tom Smith, junior letterman; Ernest Mueller, junior letterman; Bob

Presenting Jim Yeager -- Cyclone Coach

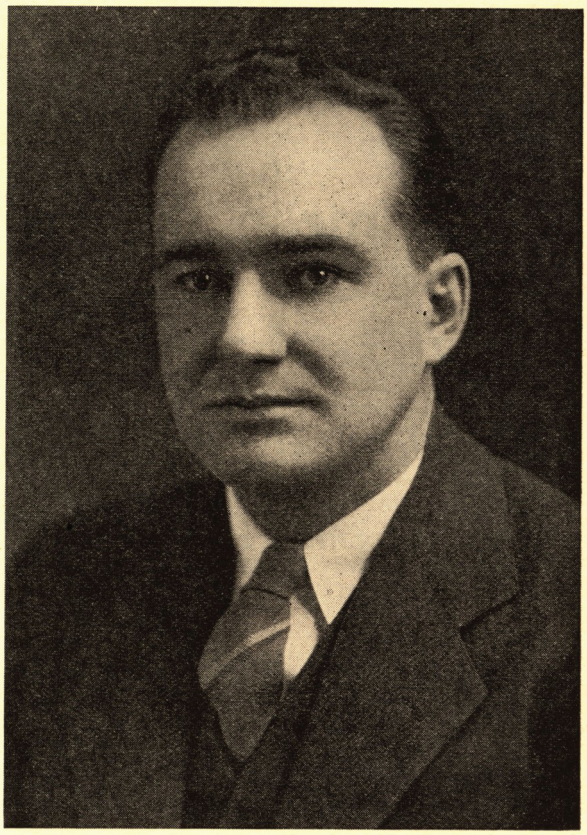

Since becoming head football coach at Iowa State in 1937 Jim Yeager has done a grand job. In that period his three teams have won 11 games, tied one and lost 11.

Jim started out as line coach at Iowa State in 1936 after serving as head coach at Fort Hays, at Hays, Kansas. In 1937 George Veenker relinquished the job of head coach to Jim, who inherited a squad of 16 lettermen. His first year was not too successful because of injuries to key men, but last year his efforts bore fruit when the Cyclones were undefeated until the final game of the season.

This year Jim has a group of new men. So far they haven't gotten started, but Jim is hoping, and waiting for next year.

Yeager is the youngest head coach in the Big Six Conference, starting his regime at Iowa State when he was 28. Jim played guard at Kansas State for three seasons. From there he went to Fort Hays, where he was line coach for four years, before taking over the head coaching position for one season.

At this homecoming we are honoring not only the old-timers who made athletic history in the past, but the man who is as young in spirit as any of his players—Jim Yeager.

Burrell, LaVerne Lewis, Ed Petoskey and Stanley Brown, all sophomores. Smith and Mueller have been regulars this season.

Two centers, Ed Fuller, junior, and Bob Kirkpatrick, sophomore, will battle it out next year. Fuller is one of the best on the squad at analyzing opponent's plays.

This year Ray Donels, freshman coach, started out with a squad of 150 men. The varsity can vouch for the ability of these men whom they have met in scrimmage while preparing for the week's game.

Those men who have done most of the scrimmage work against the varsity are: Backs—Ellis Alexander, left halfback from Moville; Claire Ethington, fullback from Lenox; Jim Wertman, fullback from Villisca; Bob Lechtenberg, quarterback from Sioux City; Paul Darling, halfback from Estherville; Royal Lohry, halfback, Sioux City; Walter Wirsing, halfback from Des Plaines, Ill.; and Mike Blackman, quarterback, Denison.

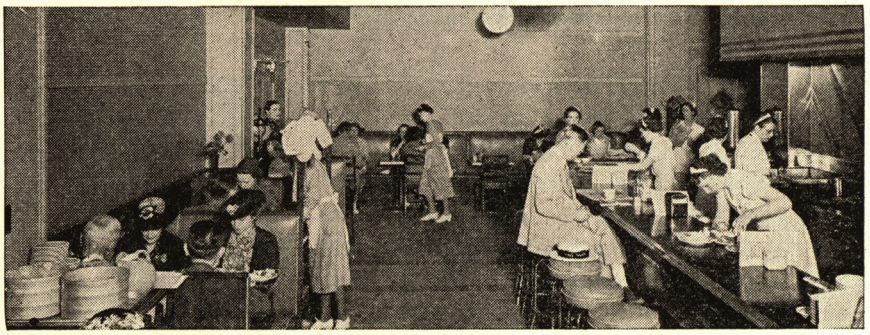

Ends—Julius Shkurensky, Sioux City; Maurice Ryan, Tarkio, Mo.; and William Jahn, Chicago.

Tackles—Bill Barger, Leon; LaVerne McGraw, Sioux City, and Charles Stoner, Perry.

Guards—Homer Libbey, Ft. Dodge; Robert Burge, LaGrange, Ill.; Paul Salzman, Sioux City, and Ray Mitchell, Sioux City.

Centers—Bob Kline, Akron, Ohio; Cal Flogstad, Ames; Adam Sterling, Des Moines, and Bob West, Waterloo.

We're Proud Of Our Band

No football game would be complete without a band to add color to the halftime demonstrations. Iowa State has probably the best band in the Big Six Conference, and as a result, capitalizes on this organization.

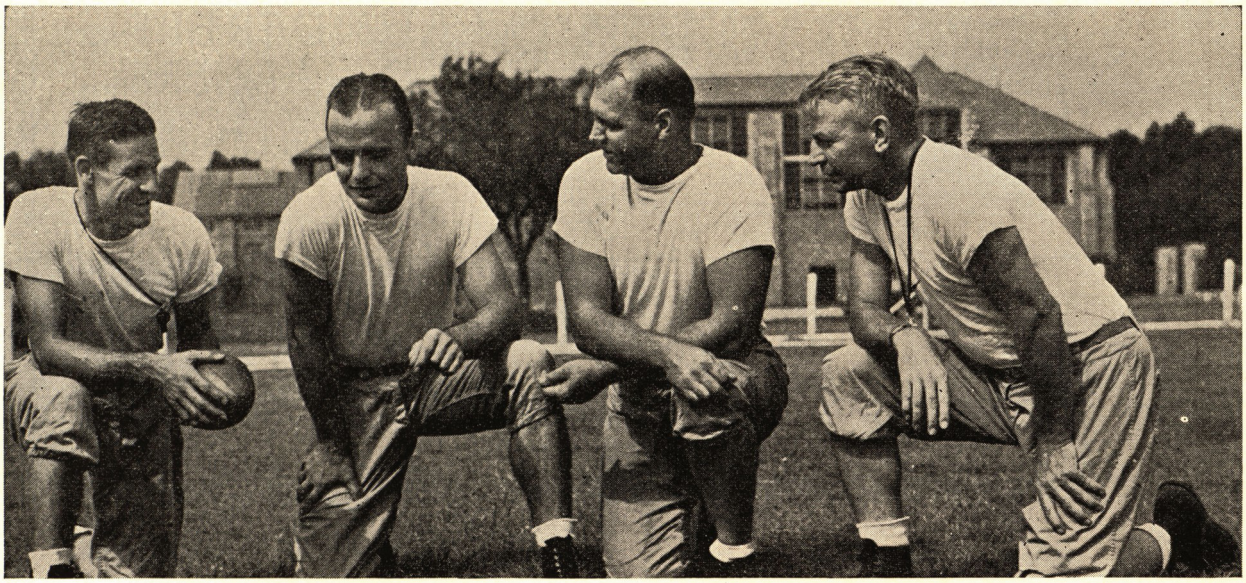

At every home game the Iowa State band is on hand to help carry Cyclone spirit to new heights. Under the direction of Alvin R. Edgar the Iowa State band has added something new to their acts every game.

Edgar has divided the 135 piece band into two separate units which act as two bands during some maneuvers. This year the band has used two directors, Edgar and Roderick Dodds, student director, in order to give the crowd better quality. One section of the band faces one director, which faces the west stand, and one faces the east. The bands stay together, and give the crowds better music.

This year the head drum major is Edwin Kocker of Humboldt. The baton twirlers are: Bill Marshall, Des Moines; Joe Markey, Cedar Rapids; Fred Barger, Des Moines; Bill Sipel, Cherokee; Tom Hughes, Cedar Rapids, and Dennis Smith, Red Oak.

This afternoon the band will present a "M of U" formation and play the "Missouri Alma Mater." From that formation the band will move into an "I S C" and salute Iowa State with "State College of Iowa." The band will then form a stairway to the stars," from which they will move into a giant star and present "Star Dust." The next formation on the schedule is a mock battle between members of the clarinet and trombone sections. This will be done to accompaniment of "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

1899-1919 Teams Guests Today

This afternoon we are honoring the teams of 1899 and 1919. These two teams made records which are still the envy of present-day Iowa State teams.

In 1899 Iowa State, which was then known as Iowa Agricultural College, won four out of nine games. The high point of the season was a 33 to 0 victory over Nebraska. Other victories were turned in over Cornell, Simpson and South Dakota.

The season's record of that team was as follows:

Iowa State	32	Cornell	0
" "	34	Nebraska	0
" "	18	Simpson	0
" "	11	South Dakota	6
" "	0	Minnesota	6
" "	0	Iowa	5
" "	0	Grinnell	15
" "	0	State Normal	0
" "	0	Grinnell	6

At the time that both of these teams were playing the letter award was an "A," rather than an "I" as at present. It was not until 1928 that the letter award was changed to the "I."

In 1899 the winners of the "A" were:

F. M. Byl	Right Guard
L. M. Chambers	Left Guard
Ray Dumphy	Left Tackle
H. C. Eckles	Left Tackle
H. O. Fritzel	Left Halfback
Capt. C. J. Griffith	Right Halfback
E. G. LeClere	Half Back
H. A. Maine	Full Back
W. D. Mason	Right End
Fred Owen	Center
Guy Roberts	Quarter Back
W. C. Sholty	Full Back
G. A. Smith	Left End
Joe Tarr	Right Tackle
R. A. Walker	Full Back

The coach of that team was J. H. Meyers, and C. J. Griffith was the captain.

In 1919 Iowa State was returning to active football after a year's curtailment because of military activity on the campus. The 1918 team played but three games, and those without much practice.

In spite of the lay off because of the war the 1919 Cyclones returned to the football wars with a record of five victories, one tie and two defeats. The 1919 team lost only to Missouri and the University of Iowa.

The Cyclones of 1919 were a light outfit as compared to later Iowa State teams. At Nebraska the Cyclones were greatly outweighed, but nevertheless brought home the bacon. For three quarters Iowa State tried to cross the Husker goal, but then decided to try to score by another method. Bill Davis won the game for the Cardinal and Gold with a long drop kick.

No other Iowa State team was able to duplicate the 1919 team's record of defeating Nebraska until last year when the Cyclones emerged victorious 8-7.

On the 1919 team that year were:

Bill Alsin	Left Guard
Dick Barker	Right Guard
Marshall Boyd	Quarter Back
Warren Burns	Center
Jack Currie	Left Half Back
Bill Davis	Right Half Back
Capt. Gilbert Denfeld	Right Tackle
Lary Hadley	Center
D. K. "Doc" Hibbs	Quarter Back
Arthur Hinderman	Full Back
L. T. Janda	Right End
Adam Neal	Right End
Frank Tucker	Left Half Back
V. B. Vanderloo	Full Back
John T. Webb	Left End
Stewart White	Right Half Back
Lafe Young	Left Guard
Leland Zink	Left Tackle

Charles W. Mayser was the coach of that team and Gilbert Denfeld the captain.

The season's record in 1919 is as follows:

Iowa State	3	Coe	0
" "	7	Grinnell	0
" "	0	Missouri	10
" "	0	Kansas	0
" "	3	Nebraska	0
" "	46	Kansas State	0
" "	0	Iowa	10
" "	14	Drake	0

In 1919 the opponents were able to score but 20 points, and no team that the Cyclone defeated was able to score a point.

These two teams will be seated along the sidelines with the 1939 Cyclones. It is the Iowa State practice to put the old teams, which are being honored, on the bench with the present-day team. These two teams were guests at the football squad dinner last evening, and will be introduced to the crowd between halves.
