CYCLONE SENIORS CLOSE HOME CAREERS AGAINST HUNGRY WILDCATS

Nov. 14, 1987

Cyclone Stadium/Jack Trice Field

By Donna Turner, Assistant Sports Information Director

Today's game is the final home appearance for Jim Walden and his 1987 Cyclones as they take on the Kansas State Wildcats, 0-8-1 and 0-4-1 in the Big Eight Conference. Although K-State has not won a conference game since defeating Kansas last season, the Wildcats have several exciting players who could make life difficult for Iowa State.

One of those players, tailback Tony Jordan, used last year's ISU game as a showcase for his talents as he ran for 218 yards on 35 carries and recorded all three of KSU's touchdowns on the day. Jordan did much of the damage to ISU on two plays, a 74-yard touchdown reception in the second quarter and an 89-yard touchdown run late in the game. Jordan's efforts went for naught, though, as Iowa State claimed a 48-19 victory over the Wildcats. Joe Henderson led ISU with 99 yards rushing while Andrew Jackson added 50. Quarterback Alex Espinoza connected on 14 of 26 passes, including four touchdown passes.

Kansas State will rely on the running of Jordan and passing of quarterback Gary Swim to lead the Wildcats into Ames in 1987. Jordan has rushed for 539 yards this season while Swim has completed 92 of 193 passes for 1,015 yards. His favorite target has been tight end Kent Dean, a 6-4 senior, who has caught 32 passes for 396 yards. Jordan has come out of the backfield to catch 19 passes this year.

On defense, the Wildcats boast the league's leading tackler in linebacker Matt Wallerstedt. The senior has made 125 stops with seven tackles for loss and two sacks. The Wildcat defense, though, is allowing 40.4 points per game and 459.4 yards, which may allow ISU's Henderson to attain his goal of becoming the first ISU back to rush for 1,000 yards in a season since Dwayne Crutchfield earned 1,189 in 1981. Going into today's contest, Henderson needs just 95 yards to reach the 1,000 mark.

ISU leads the Kansas State series, 42-24-4 and has won 10 of the last 13 meetings between the schools.

For 12 members of the Iowa State football team, today marks more than just the 10th game of the season and last home game of 1987. It signals the impending end of the collegiate football careers of Cyclone seniors Scott Benson, Eddie Bridges, Tim Creasman, Robert Dabney, Chris Moore, Byron Price, Randy Richards, Brett Sadek, Tom Schulting, John Smith, Tom Stawniak and Hughes Suffren, who are pictured on the cover of today's program.

Like each member of the ISU team, each senior's story is unique. They arrived in Ames in different years and their football fortunes have taken varied paths. Stawniak, Richards and Smith are the only three-year letterwinners on the ISU roster this season. Outside linebacker Richards is the "grandfather" of the bunch, having first come to ISU as an 18-year-old freshman in 1982 under former coach Donnie Duncan. Others, including Benson, Stawniak and Smith, arrived in 1983 and spent a redshirt season along the way. A third group transferred to Iowa State from either junior colleges or four-year institutions. Dabney and Schulting arrived after completing successful JC careers, while Sadek and Moore came to ISU from Division I-A institutions Minnesota and Utah, respectively.

Four members of Iowa State's senior group came to ISU as walk-ons and three - Bridges, Creasman and Smith -- have since earned scholarships, but defensive back Byron Price continues to dedicate his time and efforts as a member of the "scout" team. Both Bridges and Smith have recorded successful 1987 seasons.

Bridges is third on the Cyclone squad in pass receptions and is also the leading kickoff return man. Against Nebraska last week, Bridges moved into fifth place on the season kickoff return yardage list and should improve that mark this week. He also became the ISU record-holder for kickoff returns in a season with his 26th of the year. Smith's job as the deep snapper on punts has become more complex this season with ISU's use of the fake punt.

While there are 12 seniors on the ISU squad, only 10 will suit up for the Cyclones today. Defensive end Scott Benson suffered a knee injury which put an early end to his senior season, while Creasman's final campaign never got underway. A summer motorcycle accident has kept the Boone, Iowa native out of action in 1987.

Although the transfer students have not been at ISU as long, there is no doubt their ties to the school and the football program are just as strong. There is also no question that their contributions have been vital, in 1987 and in past years. Moore led the Big Eight Conference in tackles last year, but has been hampered by an ankle sprain in 1987. Dabney is a two-year starter at defensive end who is making his final season his best, as are Sadek and Schulting.

Whether a starter or scout team member, former walk-on, transfer or blue-chip recruit, each of ISU's seniors has given countless hours to the ISU football program. They have worked and struggled to make the Iowa State program successful and will end their careers as winners.

Six of Iowa State's twelve seniors have played vital roles for the Cyclones in 1987, including quarterback Brett Sadek.

Since the first students enrolled at Iowa State, the institution has been committed to academic excellence. Iowa State's reputation for scholarship is internationally known and Iowa State's students are respected nationwide as serious scholars.

Iowa State University was founded in 1868 under terms of the Land Grant College Act signed by President Abraham Lincoln during the Civil War. Since the beginning, Iowa State has been a co-educational "people's college". As years passed, the University developed a reputation as an outstanding broad-based institution with academic emphasis in the humanities and the arts while maintaining its position in the scientific and technical fields. Recently, Iowa State has become known as a leading research center, renowned in the fields of engineering and agriculture.

One of the largest institutions governed by the State Board of Regents, Iowa State is a major Midwestern center of learning for over 26,000 students, from all 50 states and 99 other nations. Iowa State attracts a diverse student body with a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs, a student to teaching faculty ratio of 19 to 1 and an average class size of 29 students. Over 120 undergraduate programs of study are available from Iowa State's eight colleges: Agriculture, Business Administration, Design, Education, Engineering, Family and Consumer Sciences, Sciences and Humanities and Veterinary Medicine.

The picturesque campus is comfortably situated in a central campus "park" - a splendid combination of conventional and contemporary architecture. ISU's classrooms and buildings are a blend of the old and the new, nestled amid thousands of trees and acres of greenery. The ultra-modern south campus is dominated by the Iowa State Center, Cyclone Stadium-Jack Trice Field, and the College of Veterinary Medicine.

The Iowa State Center, which boasts one of the nation's finest facilities of its kind, consists of the C.Y. Stephens Auditorium, the J.W. Fisher Theater, the Scheman Continuing Education Center, and the James H. Hilton Coliseum. Concert facilities draw some of the top names in entertainment. Bruce Springsteen, Tina Turner, Bill Cosby and the Broadway hit "Cats" have been featured on campus.

One of the highlights of the year occurs in spring as the campus blooms with tulips and apple blossoms just in time for the Veishea celebration. "Veishea" is ISU's annual open house and the largest student-run festival in the nation, complete with parade, exhibits and thousands of alumni. The campus is also a breathtaking sight in the fall, when autumn colors and leaves make it a cardinal and gold showplace.

Sports are a vital part of the life at Iowa State as the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics offers 21 men's and women's sports and the extensive intramural program boasts one of the highest student participation rates in the country. A number of Cyclone intercollegiate teams have been nationally ranked in recent years and several have brought home national titles. Iowa State has also produced 17 Olympians, three of whom captured gold medals. While athletics remain in the spotlight, the academic side shares equal time.

The opportunities that Iowa State offers stretch beyond the lengths of academics and athletics. There are ample opportunities for students to participate in theater, music, dance and intramural sports as well as numerous academic and campus organizations. The Greek system is strong, as are the residence halls. Both have been nationally recognized along with the top-notch academic advising program.

Iowa State University is an institution founded on a commitment to academic challenge, achievement and excellence. Iowa State reaches beyond this by offering its students some of the most advanced athletic, cultural and social opportunities in the Midwest.

IOWA STATE'S JIM WALDEN

Last fall, Iowa State University President Dr. Gordon Eaton and Athletic Director Max Urick began a search for a new Cyclone football coach. The search was not only for a football coach, but for a new direction, a new personality and a new attitude for the Iowa State program. Eaton and Urick found all of those ingredients in 49-year-old Jim Walden, and on December 16, 1986, the former Washington State mentor became Iowa State's 28th head football coach.

The personable native of Aberdeen, Mississippi arrived at ISU with "no magic formulas," just a promise to "come in here and do the best I can to work as hard as I know how." A glance at Walden's coaching record shows that his best has led to success at previous coaching stops.

As the head coach at Washington State for the last nine years, Walden compiled a 44-52-4 record against tough Pacific-10 Conference competition. During that time, Walden guided the team to three winning seasons and four first-division finishes in the conference. He was one of only two WSU coaches to record more than one winning campaign, and only one other coach in Cougar history won more games or served longer as head coach than Walden.

Walden's Washington State teams became known for the upset victory. No opponent took a WSU team lightly, as the Cougars upset Pac-10 conference powerhouses USC, UCLA and Washington during his years at the school. In fact, Washington State had great success against intra-state rival Washington, knocking the Huskies off in three of Walden's final five seasons.

Offense was another trademark of Walden-coached teams at WSU, and his exciting, wide-open option attack had the Cougar offense ranked at the top of the conference. Washington State won three team rushing titles in the last five years, along with two consecutive total offense titles in 1984 and 1985. The Cougar defense also showed improvement under Walden, rising from the lower echelons of the league to as high as third in 1981.

Walden was actually at Washington State for ten years, first serving as an assistant to Warren Powers. When Powers left WSU following the 1977 season, Cougar officials tabbed Walden as his replacement and Walden began building the Washington State program. The culmination of a four-year plan came when Walden took the Cougars to the 1981 Holiday Bowl, WSU's first bowl appearance since the 1931 Rose Bowl. WSU finished the season with an 8-3-1 mark, needing only a win in the regular-season finale to go to the Rose Bowl. In 1983, the Cougars were also within one game, a mid-season loss to UCLA, of winning the Pac-10 title and earning the Rose Bowl berth.

His success did not go unnoticed by his peers. Walden earned Pac-10 Coach-of-the-Year honors in 1981 and 1983. In 1981, he was the UPI West Coast and AFCA/Kodak District IX Coach-of-the-Year. Following the 1981 season, he was asked to be an assistant coach for the West squad in the Japan Bowl and at the East-West Shrine game that year. He was the head coach of the victorious West squad in the 1985 East-West Shrine Game, and was an assistant at the 1986 Hula Bowl.

Walden also brought stability to the WSU program. One of the keys to his success at Washington State was continuity on his staff over the years. Prior to the start of the 1986 season, all of his assistant coaches had remained with him for at least five years, and several had been on the job since he became head coach at Washington State in 1977. When he accepted the job at Iowa State, Walden invited all nine of his assistant coaches to join him and seven of them did.

Despite spending the past 10 years in the Pac-10, Walden is familiar with Big Eight Conference football. He started his collegiate coaching career in 1969 at Nebraska under his former college coach, Bob Devaney. For the next four seasons, Walden was a defensive coach for the Cornhuskers. During those years Nebraska won two national championships.

From Nebraska, Walden moved to Miami (Fla.) in 1973 as an offensive backfield coach for Pete Elliott, and was later named defensive coordinator under Carl Selmer. Walden joined Warren Powers' Washington State staff as backfield coach for the 1977 season, and took over the head coaching job in 1978.

As a college quarterback at Wyoming, Walden guided the Cowboys to a pair of Skyline Conference titles. He was named both the conference and team Most Valuable Player in 1959, and played in the 1960 East-West Shrine Game. Following his college career, Walden signed with the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League and played two seasons each with the Lions and Calgary. He coached Amory High School in his native Mississippi for five years before taking his first college job at Nebraska.

An excellent speaker, Walden is in demand for outside engagements. The NCAA has selected him twice as a guest speaker at its annual College Football Preview, in 1983 and 1985. Since coming to ISU, he's become a popular figure with both students and fans in appearances across the state. Since the day he was hired, Jim Walden has proven that he is the "right person" to bring a new direction, new attitude, and new personality to the Iowa State football program.

Scouting Report

Cyclone Scouting Report

The Series: This is the 71st meeting between Kansas State and Iowa State. Iowa State leads the series, 42-24-4 in the series that began in 1917 with a 10-7 Iowa State victory in Ames. The schools have played every year since, making the Kansas State series the longest continuous rivalry on the ISU schedule. The Cyclones, who lead the series in Ames, 23-10-3, have won two straight against the Wildcats and are 3-1-1 against KSU in Cyclone Stadium.

For the Record: Kansas State fought to a 17-17 tie at home against Kansas last weekend. The Wildcats scored 10 fourth-quarter points to tie the Jayhawks, but missed two chances to win in the final two minutes. A Gary Swim pass was intercepted in the endzone with 1:23 remaining, but the Wildcats got another chance after a Jayhawk fumble. After the two schools exchanged penalties, Mark Porter lined up to attempt a 38-yard field goal with three seconds left. The kick was blocked, leaving KSU winless. Senior tailback Tony Jordan rushed for 147 yards on 32 carries. Junior quarterback Gary Swim hit on nine of 16 passes for 95 yards and one touchdown. Both teams turned the ball over four times.

Offensively: The Wildcats are averaging 272.7 yards of total offense per game. Much of that has been through the rushing efforts of Jordan, who has gained 539 yards on 129 carries this season and ranks sixth on the all-time KSU rushing chart with 1,440 yards. Jordan's 147 yards was a season best. Swim has hit on 92 of 193 passes for 1,015 yards and seven touchdowns this season. Swim played at Snow Junior College, the same school where former ISU quarterback David Archer competed. KSU's top receiver is senior tight end Kent Dean, who has 32 receptions for 396 yards and three touchdowns.

Defensively: The Wildcat defense has allowed 40.4 points per game and 459.4 yards per contest. Senior linebacker Matt Wallerstedt, the Big Eight's leading tackler has made 125 stops this season and 298 in his Kansas State career, eighth on the all-time school list. Sophomore Eric Harper has been in on 79 tackles and fellow sophomore Dewayne Baziel has participated in 72 tackles.

Kicking: Junior field goal kicker Mark Porter has hit on eight of 14 field goal attempts, including a one-for-four effort last weekend. He is perfect on 11 extra point attempts and is Kansas State's leading scorer with 35 points. The Wildcats have used two punters. Sophomore David Kruger has averaged 34.7 yards per kick and junior Shane Pouch 31.8 yards per attempt.

The Coach: Kansas State's Stan Parrish is in his second season at the Wildcat helm, where he sports a 2-17-1 record. The 1968 Heidelberg (Ohio) graduate coached five seasons at Wabash (Ind.) College, where he posted a 42-3-1 record. After one season (1983) as quarterback coach at Purdue, he went to Marshall as head coach and led the Thundering Herd to a 6-5 mark in 1984, their first winning season in 20 years. Marshall went 7-3-1 in 1985 and Parrish then took the KSU head coaching job.

A three-year starter at UCLA (1973-75), he now ranks 10th in career receiving with 61 catches for 1,051 yards. He led the Bruins in receiving as a sophomore and a junior, catching 19 passes in 1973 and 27 the following year. Tim Bald is in his second season as Iowa State's program coordinator, organizing the recruiting and administrative responsibilities in the Cyclone football program.

The Freeport, Ill., native came to the Cyclones from the Washington Redskins of the National Football League. He served as the Redskins' administrative intern in charge of player personnel. Prior to that, Bald worked at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado as an assistant to the National Program Director.

The 29-year old Bald is a 1980 graduate of Loras College where he earned a bachelor's degree in business administration. He received his master's degree in Physical Education with an emphasis in sports management from Western Illinois University in 1985.

Craig Boller

The 1987 season is Craig Boller's first as an assistant coach at Iowa State. The Belmond native is no stranger to Ames, however, where he lettered three times as an ISU defensive tackle under Clay Stapleton and Johnny Majors (1967-69).

Boller came to Iowa State in January of 1987 after serving six years as the defensive line coach at Oregon State. The 39-year old Boller was an assistant coach at Memphis State for two seasons (1978-79) after working one year as a part-time assistant coach at Tennessee.

Boller spent three seasons (1974-76) building the William Penn (Iowa) College football program. William Penn won the Iowa Conference title in Boller's final season as head coach. He began his coaching career as an assistant coach at Knoxville High School from 1971-73.

Jimmy Burrow

Defensive Secondary

Secondary coach Jimmy Burrow came to Iowa State in January of 1987 with Head Coach Jim Walden, after five seasons as a full-time coach at Washington State, the last four as the Cougars' secondary coach. The 33-year old Burrow coached tight ends at WSU in 1982.

Burrow's association with Walden dates back to his high school days in Amory, Miss. Walden was Burrow's coach in ninth and tenth grade football and baseball. Burrow attended the University of Mississippi for one season before transferring to Nebraska where he was reunited with Walden. At Nebraska, Burrow earned second-team all-Big Eight honors his senior season and was an academic All-American. A member of the 1972 Orange Bowl and 1983 Cotton Bowl teams, he also played in the 1974 Sugar Bowl and 1975 Fiesta Bowl. He graduated with a B.S. in education.

Burrow was picked in the eighth round of the 1976 NFL draft by the Green Bay Packers and played in three games of the 1976 regular season. He went on to play five years in the CFL (1977-81), the first four with Montreal and the 1981 season with Ottawa. He earned a master's in Education Administration in June, 1981 at Washington State. Burrow and his wife, Carol, are parents of two children, Jamie (8) and Danny (6).

Dave Elliott

Wide Receivers

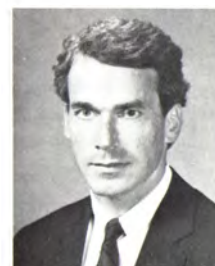

The 1987 season marks Dave Elliott's 13th campaign as an assistant coach and his ninth season as an assistant to Jim Walden. At Washington State, Elliott tutored the inside linebackers from 1979-86.

The Champaign, Ill., native coached the defensive backs at Miami (Fla.) in 1975. In 1976, he coached at Michigan, working with linebackers. He spent the 1977-78 seasons at Toledo as defensive backfield coach before joining Walden's staff at Washington State.

Elliott, the nephew of Iowa Athletic Director Bump Elliott and cousin of former Cyclone assistant coach Bobby Elliott, lettered three times in football as a defensive back. He played for the Michigan squad that went to the 1972 Rose Bowl. Elliott also played in the 1975 Hula Bowl and was invited to play in the 1975 American Bowl. Dave and his wife, Peggy, are the parents of two daughters, Catherine Lynn (5) and Christina (3).

Jon Fabris, who coached the tight ends under Jim Walden at Washington State (1983-86), will coach the Cyclone linebackers in 1987. Fabris, a native of Starkville, Miss., first joined Walden's WSU staff in 1982, when he assisted with the secondary, coached the offensive scout team and scouted the opposition's kicking game.

Fabris coached the junior varsity defensive backfield and defensive scout team at Georgia Tech in 1980, before working for an oil company in 1981. He earned four varsity letters playing all four secondary positions at Mississippi (1976-79), including three years as a starter. He ranked third in Southeastern Conference punt returns in 1977 and graduated fifth in career punt returns at Ole Miss. He received his bachelor's degree in education in 1980.

The 30-year old Fabris quarterbacked Starkville High School to a conference title and No. 10 state ranking his senior season.

He was a graduate assistant in charge of the offensive scout team and assisted with linebackers at Florida State in 1968, when the Seminoles played in the Peach Bowl. In 1969, the Redondo Beach, Calif., native worked with the secondary. He went to San Diego State in 1970-71 where he was an assistant coach working with the linebackers. From 1972-74 he was an assistant coach at Los Amigos (Calif.) High. He spent three seasons (1975-77) at Cerritos College as an assistant in charge of the linebackers.

Hughes played center for two years at San Jose State, earning a bachelor's degree in physical education. He received his master's in physical education from San Diego State in 1971. Hughes had earned All-America honors as a sophomore at El Camino (Calif.) Junior College in 1964. Hughes and his wife, Bonnie, have one daughter, Nicole (17).

Steve Morton's first year at Iowa State is his 13th in collegiate coaching and his 10th under Head Coach Jim Walden. The Chehalis, Wash., native will coach the Cyclone offensive line-the same position he held at Washington State for the past five seasons.

Morton coached the Washington State tight ends from 1978-81. He started his collegiate coaching stint at WSU in 1975 as an offensive line assistant. He was a defensive line assistant in 1976 and junior varsity and assistant offensive line coach in 1977.

Morton played at Grays Harbor (Wash.) Junior College in 1972 and 1973. He played two seasons and won the Outstanding Offensive Lineman Award, earning All-NWJC honors. In 1985, he was the defensive coordinator and defensive line coach. From 1979-83, Ross coached the defensive line and was the recruiting coordinator at Long Beach State. He started at CSLB as an assistant offensive line and tight end coach, a position he held during the 1977 and 1978 seasons.

Ross was a two-year starter (1974-75) at Washington State, where he earned second team all-conference honors and was an honorable mention All-America offensive tackle. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in education in 1977.

The 33-year old Ross was a first team all-conference selection at offensive tackle in his second season at Rio Hondo (Calif.) College in 1973. Ross was a tenth-round choice of the San Francisco 49er's but signed as a free agent with Seattle and played the 1976 exhibition season. Ross is married to the former Jean Kwid.

Mel Sanders

Maybe it's time you had one for your telecommunications system.

Imagine what it would look like if a football team decided to "wing it" out there on the field without a game plan. It would look pretty silly, wouldn't it?

Well, that's exactly what many companies do when it comes to planning and designing telecommunications systems. The results are costly.

That's where we come in to play. You see, we can show you the most cost effective way to handle your information. No matter how unusual your needs are. In fact, we're the telecommunications consultant to the Super Bowl and a number of NFL teams. We provide dozens of communication systems that enable the press to get their stories out, spotters to talk with their coaches, and stadium security to talk to each other.

If we can do all that, just think of what we can do for you.

Isn't it time you had a game plan for your telecommunications system? Get in touch with us. Your GTE Account Manager will be glad to help you draw one up.

"OLD-FASHIONED" CYCLONE PEACH BOWL SQUAD REMEMBERS BIG SEASON

By Tom Kroeschell, Assistant Sports Information Director

Iowa State Head Coach Earle Bruce pondered the question put forth by a sportswriter following Iowa State's 1977 regular season-ending victory over Oklahoma State:

"How did ISU, picked sixth in the Big Eight pre-season poll, overcome what was supposed to be a rebuilding year and finish with a second-place tie in the conference?"

"Well, I guess somebody forgot to tell our players and coaches that we weren't supposed to be any good," responded Bruce, who had just earned back-to-back Coach-of-the-Year honors in the Big Eight Conference.

But the Cyclones, who started the season with only nine returning starters and lost their starting quarterback in the first quarter of the first game, made their mark the old-fashioned way—they earned it. Many of those players are back in Ames this afternoon for a reunion of ISU's 1977 squad.

The Cyclones opened the season with a costly 35-10 win over Wichita State. Mike Tryon, an Ames native and fifth-year senior, suffered a season-ending shoulder injury in the first quarter that later required surgery. It was an untimely loss and Iowa State dropped a 12-10 decision to Iowa in Iowa City the next weekend. But then the Cyclones fought back en route to consecutive wins over Bowling Green (35-21), Dayton (17-13), Missouri (7-0) and a thrilling win over Nebraska, 24-21, October 15 in Lincoln.

Nebraska, still seething over a 37-28 1976 loss to ISU in Ames, came into the 1977 game with four straight victories, including a win over Alabama. The game began, inauspiciously enough, when Husker I-back I.M. Hipp raced 59 yards for a touchdown on Nebraska's second play from scrimmage. But Cyclone sophomore quarterback Terry Rubley, playing his best game of the season, answered with a 5-yard run with 5:11 left in the first quarter. Hipp scored again with 11 seconds left in the first quarter, but Rubley conducted another long drive that was capped by Dexter Green's 19-yard touchdown run. Cal Cummings 3-yard scoring run with 6:05 left in the first half gave the Cyclones a 21-14 intermission advantage.

Scott Kollman put Iowa State ahead 24-14 in the third quarter but Hipp scored again with three minutes left in the period to close the gap to 24-21. The Cyclone defense led by first-team all-conference tackles Mike Stensrud and Tom Randall and defensive back Kevin Hart, took over. The win over the Huskers was Iowa State's first in Lincoln in 17 years and marked the first consecutive victories over Nebraska during the same span. Defensive end Craig Volkens, linebacker Tom Boskey and middle guard Ron McFarland all earned second-team all-conference honors and were key cogs in a unit that led the Big Eight in scoring defense and finished second in every other defensive category.

Iowa State bounced right back the next weekend, trailing Oklahoma in Norman, 21-16 heading into the fourth quarter, before falling 35-16. A 41-3 Homecoming rout of Kansas followed before a 12-7 loss to Colorado. But the Cyclones rebounded with wins over Kansas State (22-15) and Oklahoma State (21-13).

The 8-3 season earned the Cyclones a trip to the Peach Bowl to play North Carolina State on New Year's Eve Day in Atlanta. A fourth-quarter rally by the Cyclones came up short and the Cyclones lost 24-14, but ISU had earned a second straight eight-win season and the first of a pair of bowl trips. Runningback Dexter Green led the Big Eight in scoring, Ray Hardee was the top kickoff returner, and first-team all-conference honoree Rick Blabolil was the league's top punter. In retrospect, it was a very special season, played by a gutty team that didn't know when to stop rebuilding.

CYCLONE CLOSEUP

Some Unknown Cyclone MVP's

By Donna Turner,
Assistant Sports Information Director

They're from small towns like West Branch, Aurelia, Bluegrass, Zwingle, Ida Grove and Hiawatha. They don't show up on the Iowa State roster, their pictures aren't in the program and they receive nothing from ISU to play football. But there are more of "them" - non-scholarship athletes, or walk-ons - than scholarship players on the 1987 Cyclone team.

"How important are they? They are so important that they have allowed this program to play games this season," ISU Head Coach Jim Walden said. "I truly mean this with all my heart. If we had not had the number of non-scholarship athletes we've had, we conceivably would have had to cancel some football games."

Some walk-on members of the team have made important contributions in the games this year, like sophomore offensive guard Trent Van Hoosen and freshman linebacker Mark Foley. Several non-scholarship athletes have also made their marks on the ISU special teams units.

While a small number of the 62 walk-ons have contributed on game days, the majority make their contributions in practice every day, away from fans, reporters and TV cameras.

"There's no pressure on us, because if we don't perform, it's no big deal," said Eric Van Roekel, a sophomore from Sioux City who transferred to ISU to pursue an industrial engineering degree. "If we do well, it makes the first string guys look bad."

Each member of the scout team has a different reason for sacrificing four to five hours a day during the season to play football.

"We are actually contributing and it makes you feel a lot better when you know you're trying to make the team win," freshman Matt Sabus, a native of Churdan, Iowa said. "There are days when you get beat up, but most of the time, we're pretty anxious to get in every bit of football we can get."

Van Roekel considers his time on the football field, "leisure" time and a break from an intense engineering curriculum.

"I could be a four point student if I didn't play football and spent all my time studying. I'd probably become a great industrial engineer," Van Roekel said. "I decided to play football, and in the end it will make me a better person. It's a different type of knowledge you gain on the football field."

Walden believes it's a feeling of being needed and appreciated which brings non-scholarship athletes to practice day after day.

"Football is an infectious game," Walden said. "But these players also understand how appreciated they are. One of life's great moments is to know someone needed you, and appreciated you. They're not getting much for it, but sometimes you don't need much when you know that you're contributing. And they certainly are, more than any other group will ever contribute again."

One of 62 walk-ons on the 1987 ISU football squad, freshman Mark Foley has seen extensive action at strong outside linebacker.

PROMISING POTENTIAL HAS ISU GOLFERS "THINKING SPRING"

By Kay Thunberg and Steve Haviland, Sports Information Student Assistants

While winter is quickly bearing down on Iowa and the rest of the nation, two ISU coaches anxious for spring to arrive are golf mentors Dale Anderson and Julie Manning, who have assembled some experienced golfers as they look to 1988.

Iowa State men's golf coach Dale Anderson is optimistic about his squad's positive attitude this year. After losing only 1987 team captain Gary Hicks, Anderson feels his returning nucleus of strong players have adopted a winning attitude going into 1988.

"The team feels that they can go into a tournament and win it; they really believe that," Anderson said. "They have a positive outlook that perhaps some of the Iowa State teams in the past lacked."

Senior co-captains Chris Haugen and Steve Hicks will fill Gary Hicks' role and provide leadership for the team. Haugen returns to the Cyclone squad this year after winning three tournaments last season.

Anderson feels that Haugen, Hicks, sophomore Jim Webb, and freshman

Jaime Hogan will lead the Cyclone team out of the gate next spring.

Freshman recruit Hogan has given the Cyclones good solid and steady performances that Anderson feels is astonishing for a freshman in a division one golf team.

Anderson is also looking for help from Fort Dodge native Judd Gibb, junior Tony Janssen, who took a redshirt season last year, and sophomore Mike Laird from Des Moines' Hoover High School.

Anderson is excited about the potential and experience of his 1988 squad and likes their "explosive" qualities.

"We have the type of team that can go out and 'boom' all of a sudden really put up a good tournament. I'm optimistic about the spring season."

Iowa State women's coach Julie Manning is also excited about her team and it's chances for a successful season. With the addition of some top-notch newcomers to a team with six talented, experienced and goal-oriented seniors, Manning feels her squad is the most talented in the history of Iowa State University.

The team tested its talent with a difficult six-meet schedule last fall in preparation for the spring season. The schedule Manning has assembled for spring is, likewise, one of the toughest in the country.

The team will try to peak at the Big Eight Meet, which Manning calls "the most important meet of the year."

"We need a tough schedule to prepare for the Big Eight," Manning said. "We need to play the best in the country to bring out the ability in our golfers. If we can be mentally prepared for all three rounds at the Big Eight, I think we can really surprise people."

Six golfers will lead the way for the Cyclones this spring, including seniors Kim Kessler and Penni Peters. Kessler, who possesses an excellent short game, has matured into a team leader for the Cyclones along with Peters.

"She is a delight to coach because she always gives 100 percent,"

Manning said of Peters' competitive spirit. "She is the type of golfer that doesn't like to settle for second place."

Another golfer expected to contribute this spring is sophomore Dawn Marting. Manning is excited about Marting's potential, saying she could develop into the "best Cyclone golfer in a long, long time."

Academic All-American Therese Johnson adds much needed depth to the team. Manning says that Johnson may surprise people.

"I think you will see Therese really explode this spring," Manning said.

Seniors Traci Burgess and Tera Fleischman round out the nucleus of the golf team. Burgess possesses a strong short game, while Fleischman will try to continue her strong play after her best fall season ever.

For Manning, next year will be a rebuilding year, but she will enjoy watching the seniors this spring.

"It has been a real thrill to watch this group of seniors develop into the fine golfers they are," Manning said.

Cyclone Head Coach Dale Anderson, the dean of Big Eight golf coaches, leads a promising group of Iowa State men's golfers into the 1988 season.

Senior Penni Peters is one of six seniors on Head Coach Julie Manning's 1988 squad.

STAWNIAK REMAINS CONSTANT THROUGHOUT CAREER

By Todd Stilwell, Sports Information Student Assistant

Constant. It's a good adjective to describe Iowa State's Tom Stawniak. For the past four years Stawniak has remained a steady performer on the Iowa State football squad, despite the changes in his role and in the team. Today, Stawniak plays his final home game for the Cyclones as one of only three three-year letterwinners on the 1987 squad.

In 1984, his freshman season, Stawniak was a constant on the Cyclone special teams and earned a letter for his play on kickoffs and punt coverages. His sophomore and junior years were spent on the offensive side of the line as a tight end.

This year, Stawniak's role has again switched as he moved to defensive end last spring and earned a starting position early in the fall. Despite bad knees and a variety of other bumps and bruises, Stawniak has started every game for Iowa State in 1987 and has made 14 solo tackles, two tackles for loss and two sacks this season.

The senior defensive end from Omaha is one of two remaining players originally recruited from that city in 1983.

"There were 11 guys on the team from Omaha that were in my class or a year younger," said Stawniak. "Now John Smith and I are the only ones left."

Not only are the players from that original group gone, so is the coaching staff which recruited him.

"I was sorry to see all that stuff happen last year," said Stawniak. "But I like the coaches here now, and I think they're doing a good job with the situation."

Stawniak has been extremely impressed with the new coaching staff.

"With Walden here now, I wish I had four more years of eligibility," said Stawniak. "There are going to be some big things happening here in the near future. If this staff had been here for the last two years, we'd have been in bowl games. We would have beaten Nebraska last year because of the way we're able to put points on the scoreboard now."

The 6-5, 240-pounder from Omaha Central High School played tight end for the Cyclones in '85 and '86, pulling down 13 catches for 133 yards and two touchdowns in the previous two seasons. But this year Stawniak has switched to defensive end to help shore up a thin defensive unit.

Defensive end coach Craig Boller has been pleased with Stawniak's unselfish attitude.

"This being his senior year, he made a great sacrifice for the team...but he's an unselfish player," said Boller, "and he really didn't have that much trouble making the switch...he's done a good job."

Stawniak seems to enjoy defense as much as offense, despite the almost insurmountable challenges of stopping some of the Big Eight's potent offensive attacks.

"Catching a pass was always a big thrill," said Stawniak, "but I like defense because it's a bigger challenge and making a tackle is just as thrilling as making a catch."

The big senior's presence at ISU has certainly been a plus for the Iowa State football team on both sides of the line.

ISU Cyclone FOOTBALL CAMP June 26-30, 1987

Dear Parents and Future Campers:

We are excited about having the Cyclone Football Camp. We are offering an instructional football camp. Each camper will work with one of ISU's assistant coaches who will help him improve his skills. The camp is committed to a planned program of football developments; blocking, tackling, passing, catching, kicking and other specialties. We believe that each camper will learn a great deal of football and yet at the same time have an enjoyable experience.

Our age limit is 8 to 18 (high school graduates excluded). The Cyclone Football Camp is divided into groups of age and ability so each camper can compete at his level.

Sincerely,

Jim Walden

CYCLONE NETTERS HOPE TO CONTEND IN BIG EIGHT

By Tim Scalf, Sports Information Student Assistant

With a year of coaching the Iowa State tennis teams under his belt, second-year Head Coach Jay Louderback hopes to combine his more experienced netters with a group of "very athletic and talented" freshman recruits to achieve success in 1988.

Even though both Cyclone squads started off the 1987 spring season well, visions of placing at the top of the Big Eight faded as three-set losses and injuries plagued both squads. But with solid line-ups and plenty of depth, the 1988 season should prove different for the Iowa State netters.

Louderback's women's squad features four returning starters. Sophomores Heidi Jennings and Kris Stotler, junior Suna Bayrakal, and senior Deb Stoppelmoor will lead the way for ISU this spring. Other returnees include senior Tami Pollard and junior Kristin Gettler. Both will see limited action this season due to injuries.

Bayrakal, a native of Vancouver, British Columbia, finished last season with a 19-20 record and took fourth place at the Big Eight Championship. Bayrakal is at her best in doubles play and is expected to contribute heavily to team success in that area.

Jennings and Stotler are solid and consistent players. With an added year of experience, both should be competitive. Jennings finished 1987 with a 17-16 record and placed fifth at the Big Eight Championship. Stotler, who is playing at the No. 1 seed going into 1988, ended up 16-21.

Stoppelmoor is a fifth-year senior who has made great improvements in her years as a Cyclone. She is expected to be a major contributor to ISU doubles fortunes.

Joining the Cyclone squad for 1988 are freshmen Kim Dempsey, Lori Hash, and Jennifer Nelson. Louderback will use Dempsey and Hash in the top six and believes both will be excellent collegiate players after making the adjustment to the "no-ad" scoring system used in collegiate tennis. Nelson will be involved with doubles competition, where she was used during her high school career, until she gains singles experience.

The 1988 men's tennis squad has experienced returnees this season in sophomores Paul Ancona, Jeff Benson, and Glenn Wilson, juniors Ismawan Chamdani and Ivan Srut, and seniors Greg Beers and Todd Hollander.

Ancona will be ISU's seventh man and will be used at tournaments and to fill in at the top six singles spots when needed. Benson will play in the top six and can also be used in doubles. Wilson is ISU's most consistent player. Louderback will rely on him to pick the team up with important wins.

Chamdani is a transfer student who has fit well into the ISU program and can be expected to play in the middle of the Cyclone line-up. A tough singles competitor, Chamdani performed well in doubles competition this fall. Srut is one of ISU's top players who is rapidly improving in doubles. Beers is strong in both singles and doubles and will play in the top six.

Jay Louderback will start his second year with confidence. By relying on the experience of the returning players and the athletic ability of the freshman recruits, he hopes both Iowa State teams can be major contenders in the tough Big Eight Conference.

Sophomore Kris Stotler is Iowa State's top player going into the 1988 season and will battle the Big Eight's best.

The ISU men's team will be improved in 1988 with players like junior Ivan Srut providing good play at singles and doubles.

ISU PRESIDENT GORDON EATON

In 1986, Iowa State University entered a new era under the direction of President Gordon Eaton. The former vice president for academic affairs at Texas A&M, Eaton took office July 1, 1986 as Iowa State's 12th president.

Eaton received his bachelor of arts from Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn., in 1951. He graduated "With High Honors and High Distinction" with degrees in geology and mathematics. He earned his masters of science degree in geology (1953) and his Ph.D. in geophysics and geology (1957) from the California Institute of Technology.

He served on the faculty of Wesleyan University (1955-59) and the faculty of the University of California-Riverside (1959-63) before a two-year stint as the project chief for the U.S. Geological Survey in Denver, Colorado. Eaton then returned to California-Riverside where he was the chairperson of the department of geological sciences.

From 1967-81 Eaton was with the U.S. Geological Survey, serving in a number of capacities. He was the project chief for the Southwestern Project, scientist-in-charge of the Hawaiian Volcano Observatory, and associate chief geologist at the national headquarters in Reston, Va.

In 1981, he was appointed the dean of the College of Geosciences at Texas A&M, which includes the departments of geology, geophysics, oceanography, meteorology and geography. Eaton was named provost and vice president for academic affairs in 1983, a post he held until coming to Iowa State.

An established scholar and scientist, Eaton is the author and co-author of more than 40 publications covering such subjects as mineral resources throughout the United States, volcanic ash deposits, and mining geophysics in the Soviet Union. He has worked on the "Journal of Volcanology and Geothermal Resources" as an associate editor, and was the co-editor of the Geological Society of America's "Memoir 152".

Eaton's leadership has already made an impact on every department and segment of the campus community as Iowa State improves its facilities, academic programs and student services to lead the way into the 21st century.

CYCLONE SUPPORT SERVICES

STRENGTH PROGRAM

Today, one of the most integral aspects of any intercollegiate athletic program is a sound strength and conditioning program. Iowa State recognizes this area as a crucial ingredient to the overall success of all 21 men's and women's intercollegiate sports offered at the university. Under the direction of full-time strength and conditioning coach Tom Wilson, Iowa State's athletic teams have made tremendous strides.

The goal of the strength and conditioning program is not to make avid weightlifters out of athletes, but rather to keep athletes healthy and prepared for competition by reducing their susceptibility to injury. This is accomplished by a computer analyzed combination of a strict strength and conditioning program, a good diet and sufficient rest.

"Iowa State offers all athletes proven strength and conditioning programs," said Wilson, "plus excellent facilities designed to enhance the athletes' performances and help them realize their maximum potential. Utilizing such a strictly supervised strength and conditioning program not only produces great physical results, but also increases the athletes' confidence when they become bigger, faster and more disciplined than their opponent."

For Iowa State's football team, as well as many other Cyclone squads, the strength and conditioning program continues on a year-round basis. During the summer and winter months, athletes concentrate on increasing strength and conditioning while in-season work consists of maintaining strength and the level of conditioning.

Through evaluation and testing, use of computerized training programs and diet analysis, ISU's strength and conditioning program is helping make Iowa State student athletes into better athletes.

ACADEMIC COUNSELING

The term "student-athlete" carries an important distinction at Iowa State University. Athletes at ISU must be students first if they are to retain the privileges associated with participating in intercollegiate athletics. The hours and energy demanded of today's college athlete can adversely affect a student-athlete's education without guidance in time management and study techniques.

Iowa State's athletic academic coordinators monitor all student-athletes' academic status in terms of both eligibility and progress toward graduation to help prepare them for life after a collegiate athletic career. Three full-time academic coordinators, plus several part-time counselors and numerous tutors, assure that these goals are being met. The staff works directly with the student-athletes, as well as with the athletes' academic advisers and instructors throughout the university.

Although absence from class because of athletic participation is held to an absolute minimum, any missed class time can impose a burden on the student-athlete. Support services such as tutoring and study table, help alleviate that problem. ISU's football team utilizes a study table that meets on a daily basis throughout the year. Academic staff members and tutors attend each session and are available throughout the day to meet with student-athletes.

The education of ISU student-athletes and their progress toward degrees has always been a prime consideration of the athletic department at Iowa State. A strong athletic academic counseling service helps support the student-athletes and offer them guidance and assistance as they work toward degrees and enjoy athletic successes.

STADIUM INFORMATION

Ambulance Service

An ambulance is parked at the first aid quarters on the west side of the stadium.

Service for Physicians

Doctors anticipating calls during the game are urged to register at the first aid quarters under the west stands, leaving their exact seat location. The management will see that all calls are delivered without delay.

Lost and Found

A lost and found service is maintained in the Athletic Ticket Office in the Olsen Building at the north end of the stadium. Articles found should be turned over to an usher or left at the Athletic Ticket Office.

Public Telephone

Pay telephones are located behind the east and west stands.

Refreshments

Refreshments are served in the stands and at locations around the stadium.

Iowa State Souvenirs

An attractive array of Iowa State souvenirs is available at conveniently located novelty sales booths throughout the stadium and from vendors in the parking areas.

Radios, Stadium Chairs, Umbrellas

Public Address System

No appeals will be made over the public address system except under exceptional circumstances. The public is asked not to request this service.

Special areas in sections 18 and 19 are available for spectators in wheelchairs. In addition, wheelchair seating is available on the field level behind the goalposts.

No coolers of any size will be permitted in the stadium.

Carry-in Packages & Articles

Please do not bring into the stadium, bottles, cans, apples, oranges, toilet tissue, etc. Items thrown on the field can result in a penalty for the home team.

The State of Iowa code prohibits the use of alcohol in the Stadium. The Athletic Department asks our patrons to behave responsibly and in compliance with the State code.

Parking Lot Facilities

The ISU Athletic Department is one of the very few athletic facilities to provide portable toilets for their patrons in the parking lots. These are located in strategic spots throughout the stadium parking area.

Stadium Sign Policy

Iowa State promotes and encourages the display of signs. All signs must be in good taste and supportive of Iowa State University. Signs are to be displayed on the south end of the Olsen Building and on the walls of the stands, both upper and lower decks. In no case may the sign obstruct vision or endanger fans. Signs must be stationary. All signs must be approved by Iowa State's athletic department. For sign approval, see Jim Overturf, Room 137 Olsen Building, before noon on Friday prior to home games. The athletic department reserves the right to move or remove any signs not meeting these specifications.

Emergency Road Service

Iowa State University and Iowa AAA Motor Club will provide an Emergency Road Service for persons attending home football games. This service will be in effect during and within two hours after the game throughout the season. The phone number for the service is 292-2303. Proof of game attendance (i.e.; ticket stub) may be requested.

Distractions

We want to make football Saturday a totally enjoyable experience and want to encourage you to be respectful of those around you in the stadium. This attitude of cooperation can help to insure pleasant, enthusiastic game atmosphere. In the event you feel there is unreasonable distraction in your seating area, we ask you to take the following steps to help us control undesirable behavior:

- Note the seating section, row and seat number(s), and inform the usher in your section of the disturbance. The usher will observe the conduct and request it to stop, if appropriate.

- If the conduct continues, the usher will get assistance from a uniformed policeman to request improvement of behavior or to remove the fan(s) from the stadium.

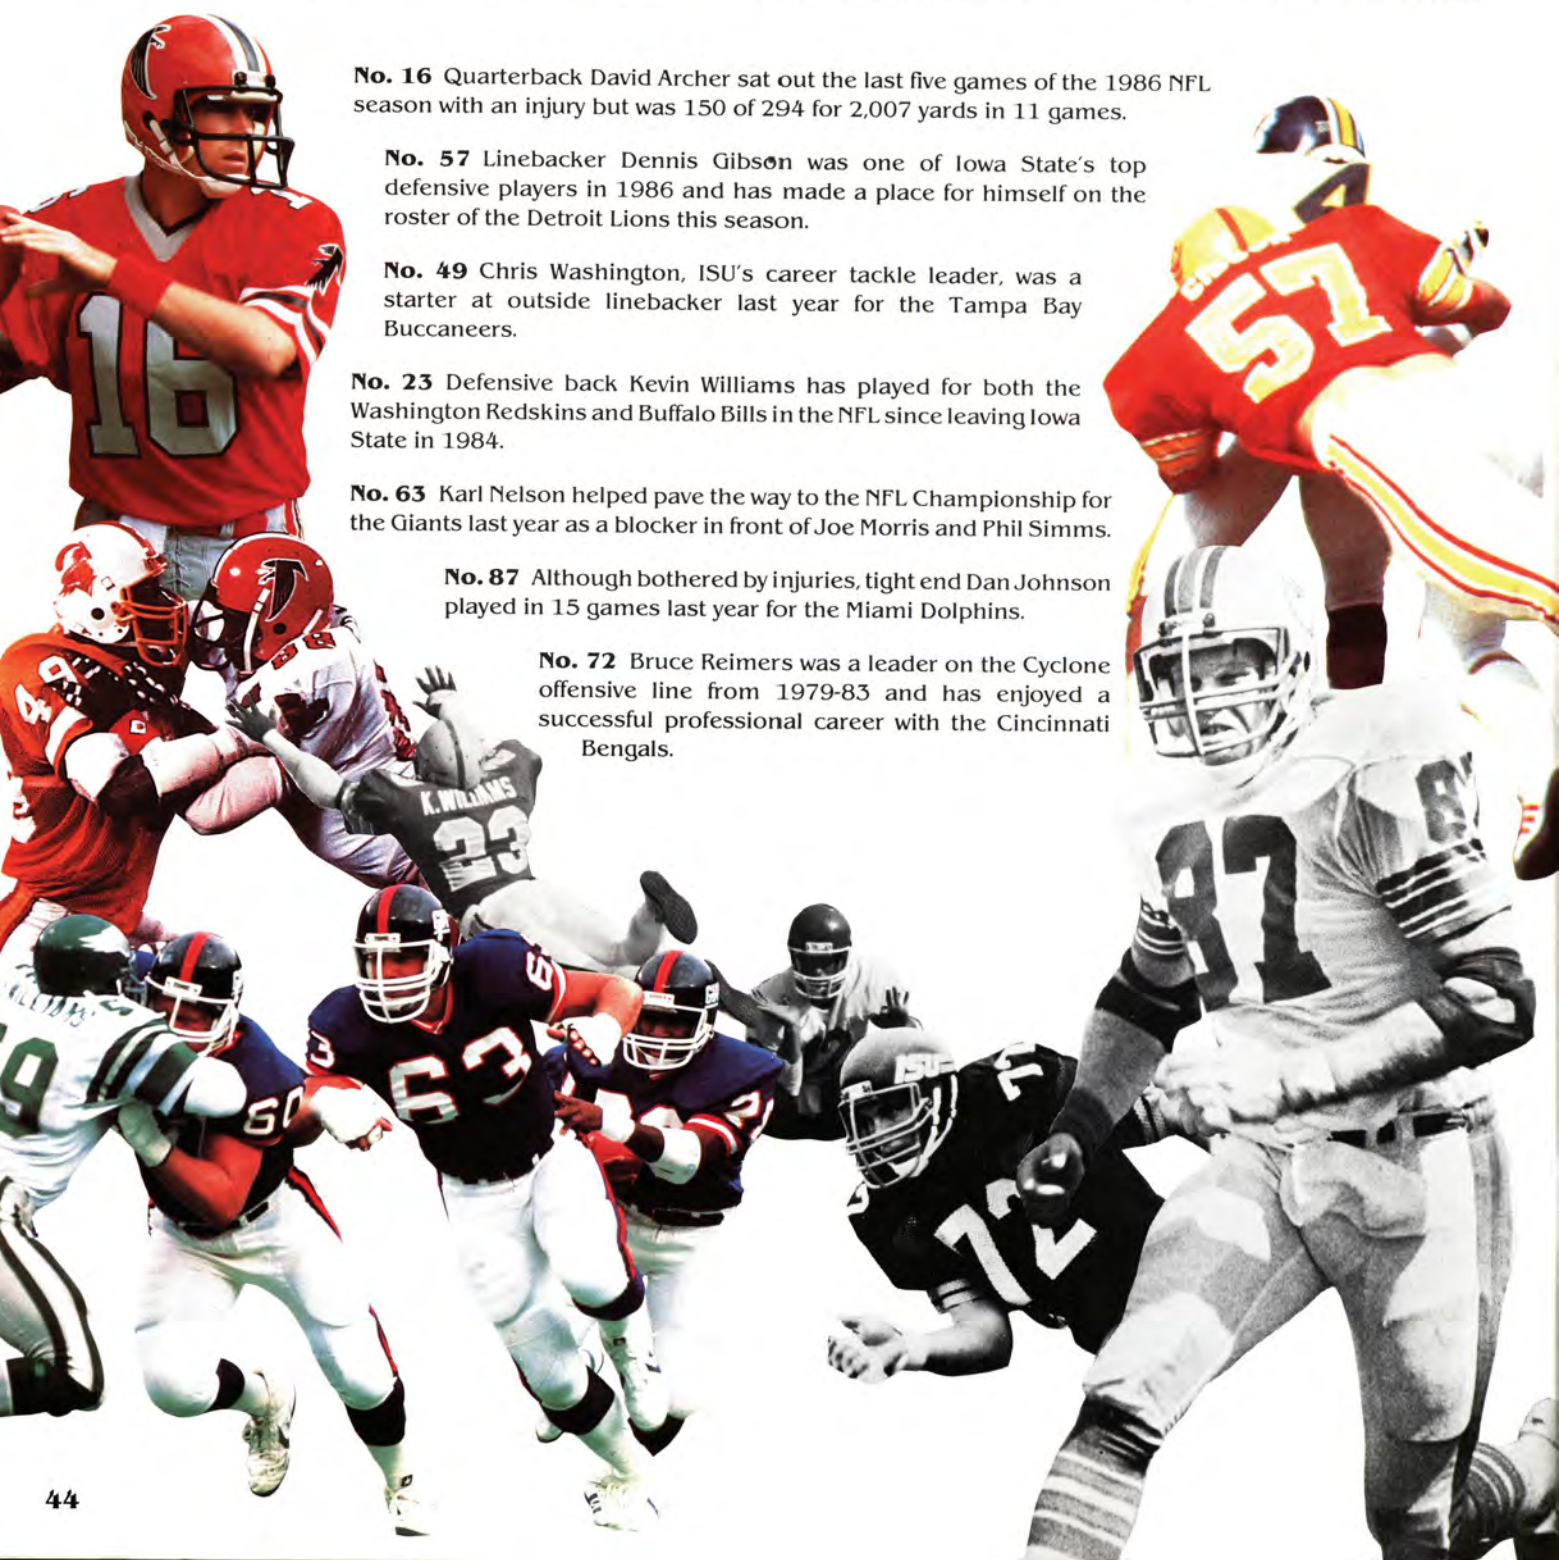

- An additional occurrence is cause for removal from the stadium and could be grounds for relocation in next season's ticket assignment.

CYCLONES IN THE PROS

As the pro football training camps opened in August, seven former Cyclone standouts were listed on NFL rosters. The most recent addition to the "Cyclones in the Pros" list is Ankeny linebacker Dennis Gibson, an eighth round draft choice of the Detroit Lions who starred for Iowa State from 1983-86.

Gibson is the latest in a long list of Iowa State players who went on to professional careers, beginning with Lew Reeve who played one season with the Chicago Tigers in 1920. Over the years, ex-Cyclones Matt Blair, Jim Doran and Mike Stensrud, among others, have made their marks in the National Football League. In all, 60 former Iowa State football players played one or more seasons in the professional leagues.

The current group of NFL Cyclones includes David Archer, a 25-year old former free agent who beat the odds to become starting quarterback for the Atlanta Falcons. In addition to Archer and Gibson, tight end Dan Johnson of the Miami Dolphins, offensive linemen Karl Nelson of the New York Giants and Bruce Reimers of Cincinnati, linebacker Chris Washington of Tampa Bay and defensive back Kevin Williams of Buffalo are the Cyclones in the Pros heading into the 1987 football season.

No. 16 Quarterback David Archer sat out the last five games of the 1986 NFL season with an injury but was 150 of 294 for 2,007 yards in 11 games.

No. 57 Linebacker Dennis Gibson was one of Iowa State's top defensive players in 1986 and has made a place for himself on the roster of the Detroit Lions this season.

No. 49 Chris Washington, ISU's career tackle leader, was a starter at outside linebacker last year for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

No. 23 Defensive back Kevin Williams has played for both the Washington Redskins and Buffalo Bills in the NFL since leaving Iowa State in 1984.

No. 63 Karl Nelson helped pave the way to the NFL Championship for the Giants last year as a blocker in front of Joe Morris and Phil Simms.

No. 87 Although bothered by injuries, tight end Dan Johnson played in 15 games last year for the Miami Dolphins.

No. 72 Bruce Reimers was a leader on the Cyclone offensive line from 1979-83 and has enjoyed a successful professional career with the Cincinnati Bengals.

CYCLONE STADIUM/JACK TRICE FIELD

Without a doubt, the most beautiful and convenient football facility in the Big Eight Conference is the 50,000-seat Cyclone Stadium-Jack Trice Field.

Located on a 30-acre tract, the stadium is part of the ISU Center on the southeast corner of the Ames campus.

In December of 1983, the Iowa State University football facility was officially named. The name of the stadium itself is Cyclone Stadium, with the field now named for and dedicated to Jack Trice, Iowa State's first black athlete, who died from injuries he received in his first major college football game in October 1923.

The stadium offers an unobstructed view of the playing field as well as remarkably easy access from all parts of the state. The ISU Center includes the stadium, James H. Hilton Coliseum, C. Y. Stephens Auditorium, J. W. Fisher Theater, the Carl Scheman Continuing Education Building, with lighted parking for 4,000 vehicles.

The stadium was completed in less than two years from the ground breaking, on October 26, 1973, to the first game, a victory over Air Force, on September 20, 1975.

In late 1973 and early '74, heavy earth-moving equipment shaped the embankments. A huge, moveable form shaped the lower decks with thousands of cubic yards of concrete.

Originally, the stadium had a capacity of 42,500, all on the sidelines. In 1976, end-zone bleachers were constructed to bring the capacity to more than 48,000. Standing room tickets, sold for each game, bring the capacity to more than 50,000.

The record crowd was 54,066 for the 1983 Iowa State-Iowa game.

The press box is located between the upper and lower decks. There is seating for 123 sports reporters and eight broadcast teams as well as a cafeteria serving area and two photographic dark rooms. The press box is structured so that the media representatives can enter using ramps from either end of the stadium, eliminating the need for an elevator. There is an enclosed camera deck atop the west stands.

Opposite the press box on the east side is a modern club section, seating in theater seats. Included in the club section is a lounge as well as rest room facilities.

The stadium contains 16,000 tons of reinforced concrete, 1,000 tons of structural steel and has a four-inch-thick asphalt base under a new All-Pro Turf playing field. The All-Pro Turf, replaced in the summer of 1985, stretches from the edge of the stands on each side and 20 yards beyond each end zone. This allows for maximum practice space.

There are fully electronic scoreboards at each end of the stadium, while the north end area features the ISU Victory Bell, and a statue of Cy the Cardinal.

The Ralph A. Olsen Building is adjacent to the north end of the stadium. The Olsen Building, named in honor of the prominent Ellsworth farmer and alumnus, houses the athletic administration facilities.

Included in the Olsen Building are locker rooms, team meeting rooms, football coaching offices and staff rooms, the sports medicine clinic, Cyclone Club offices, athletic ticket offices and maintenance facilities.

The total cost of the stadium was $7.6 million. It was paid for through contributions of alumni, friends and businesses to the Iowa State Foundation, as well as athletic receipts. More than 15,000 contributors have participated in ISU Foundation projects.
