Campus Life

Since it opened in 1869, Iowa State University has been working for the state of Iowa. As Iowa's land-grant university, Iowa State has played an important role in the educational, economic, cultural and social development of the state and the nation.

Today, Iowa State is a broad-based university of international stature. With approximately 25,000 students from all 50 states and nearly 120 other nations, Iowa State is helping Iowa and the nation open doors to international exchange, trade and development.

Iowa State has been successful in attracting a diverse student body and has expanded the number of opportunities for students to travel and learn in other countries.

Students at Iowa State can choose from among more than 200 programs of study leading to baccalaureate degrees in the colleges of Agriculture, Business, Design, Education, Engineering, Family and Consumer Sciences and Liberal Arts and Sciences. The College of Veterinary Medicine offers the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree and graduate students can choose from among 200 fields of study leading to master's, doctor of philosophy and specialist degrees.

Students find a high quality of life when they become a part of the Iowa State University community. An award-winning lectures program, a comprehensive array of student support services and more than 400 student clubs and organizations were all reasons ISU was included in a recent national study of colleges and universities with a high quality of student life.

Both the Greek and residence hall systems at Iowa State are nationally recognized. About 2,700 students participate in fraternities and sororities, and ISU residence halls house more students than most colleges and universities. A unique "house" system, with each floor named and considered a separate entity, makes residence hall rooms seem like home.

Students who are part of the residence hall system participate in dormitory-wide and intramural events. An extensive intramural program boasts one of the highest participation rates in the country, offering such unique events as innertube water basketball, broomball and mud volleyball.

Nearby dining halls serve a wide variety of good and nutritious food, and even accept favorite recipes from home as part of a regular contest, with the winning entry becoming a part of the food service menu.

Students can exercise at the 220,000-square-foot Lied Recreation Athletic Facility. The ground floor of the three-level facility contains 20 recreational basketball courts, as well as nine racquetball courts.

The Iowa State Center, which boasts one of the nation's finest facilities of its kind, consists of C.Y. Stephens Auditorium, the J.W. Fisher Theater, the Scheman Continuing Education Building and the James H. Hilton Coliseum. Concert facilities draw some of the top names in entertainment.

The Iowa State campus is recognized as one of the most beautiful in the nation. The park-like setting of 1,800 acres has more than 180 major buildings, including some beautifully restored structures from the late-1800s and early 1900s, as well as striking examples of modern architecture.

"Iowa State University offers all the advantages of a major university along with the friendliness and warmth of a residential campus. Iowa State's students are exceptional academically, diverse racially and culturally, and active socially."

Game Day

Cyclones vs. Cowboys

Tonight's game between Iowa State and Oklahoma State is one ISU head coach Dan McCarney says is a "winnable game for both teams."

The Cyclones will have a more balanced offensive attack as junior quarterback Todd Bandhauer will look to disperse the ball to the outstanding receiving corps of seniors Ed Williams, Tyrone Watley and Daman Green. Williams led ISU in receiving in 1996 for the second straight season, with 34 receptions for 491 yards and three touchdowns. After transferring from Pacific University, Watley finished the season 1996 with 27 receptions for 419 yards and four touchdowns. Green grabbed 22 passes for 222 yards.

Heisman Trophy runner-up Troy Davis may have moved on to the NFL, but his younger brother Darren will return to the ISU backfield. He backed up Troy with 204 yards on 30 carries last season. "Double D" ranked second in the Big 12 Conference and 27th nationally in kick-off returns, averaging 24.1 yards on 21 attempts.

The Cowboys enter tonight's game with just four seniors on the roster. While age may not be a factor, depth will be. OSU head coach Bob Simmons' club returns 37 lettermen and 17 starters.

Tight end Alonzo Mayes was a consensus all-Big 12 pick in 1996 after catching 30 passes for 512 yards, the most receiving yards ever for an OSU tight end. The honorable mention All-American averaged 17.1 yards per reception and caught three touchdown passes.

The Cowboys will look to one of its trio of quarterbacks to step in and fill the void left by four-year starter Toné Jones. Junior college transfer Joe Phears, redshirt sophomore Chris Chaloupka and redshirt freshman Tony Lindsay are competing for the starting job.

Operating behind the quarterback will be the 1994 Big Eight Offensive Newcomer of the Year, Andre Richardson. Richardson has rushed for nearly 2,000 yards as a backup the last three seasons. He ran for a career-high 173 yards and scored two touchdowns in last season's 28-27 come-from-behind victory over Iowa State in Stillwater.

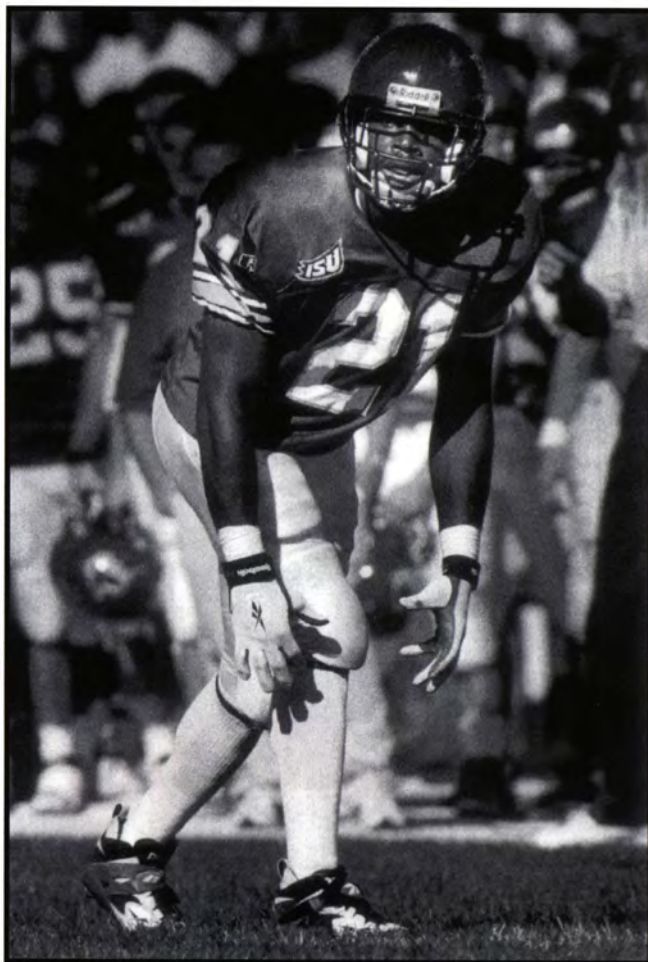

First-year Iowa State defensive coordinator John Skladany brings his fundamental, attacking style of defense to the Cyclone program. Skladany helped turn the Colorado State defense into a unit that led the Western Athletic Conference in two of the the last three seasons. With Skladany coaching the defensive line, Colorado State won WAC team titles in 1994 and 1995.

ISU inside linebacker Dave Brcka started every game in 1996 and led the team with 127 tackles, including an ISU single-game high of 17 tackles against Missouri. Michael Cooper, Derrik Clark, Chin Achebe and Rudy Ruffolo will also be key contributors up front for the Cyclones.

Dawan Anderson will anchor the Cyclone secondary. In 1996 he had three interceptions, returning two for a school-record two touchdowns.

Raymond Cato led OSU with 119 tackles, including 37 solo stops, and 13 tackles for loss last season. Kenyatta Wright had 72 total tackles, five tackles for loss and two fumble recoveries. R.W. McQuarters was fourth on the team with 64 total tackles, despite missing the Cowboys' final four games because of a broken ankle.

McQuarters was also a threat on special teams, as he averaged 22.1 yards per kickoff return and 13.4 per punt return. Richardson averaged 26.6 yards per kickoff return and 14.2 yards per punt return.

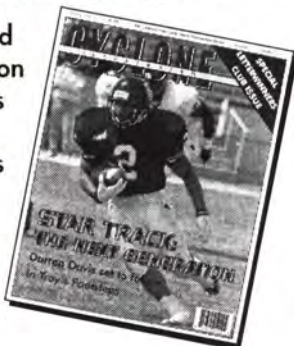

Wide receiver Tyrone Watley is back after the NCAA granted him another year of eligibility. The senior from Tulare, Calif., caught 27 passes for 419 yards and four touchdowns last season.

IOWA STATE UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION

Campaign Destiny

Campaign Destiny is about teamwork. The largest fund-raising drive in Iowa State history will help the University achieve its aspiration to become the best land-grant institution in the nation.

Three inaugural Iowa State Athletic Hall of Fame inductees — Gary Thompson, Ed Bock, and the late Dr. Harold Nichols — know about setting high goals and succeeding. The ISU Foundation salutes these three Cyclone champions for success not only in the sports arena but also for significant financial contributions helping future Cyclone generations to strive for and to achieve greatness.

To find out how you can become a part of Iowa State history through Campaign Destiny: To Become the Best, call 515-294-4607.

Iowa State President

"(We) have a president who communicates publicly, who communicates internally with faculty and staff that intercollegiate athletics is an important part of the mission of Iowa State University. Dr. Jischke has been supportive of every single move we have made. He has been a leader in the formation of the Big 12 Conference. You have to have your leader back you up and that is why it is so important to have him here."

Iowa State
Athletic Director

Now in his seventh year as President of Iowa State University, Dr. Martin Jischke is leading Iowa State on a bold and ambitious quest to become the nation's best land-grant university. Under his leadership, Iowa State has made significant progress in improving its undergraduate programs; in expanding its research programs, particularly in agriculture, engineering, science and technology; and in meeting the needs of the people through outreach, continuing education, technology transfer and economic development programs.

Iowa State continues to break new ground in fulfilling its land-grant mission to the people of Iowa and in redefining the land-grant mission for the 21st century. For example:

- In 1993, Iowa State was designated a "Research I" university by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, the top designation for a research and graduate education university in the nation.

- Established in 1995, the Hixson Opportunity Awards Program, funded entirely by private gifts, has made it possible for 100 Iowa young people each year to attend Iowa State. These are young people who otherwise would not be able to attend any college or university because of financial or personal difficulty.

- In 1996, Iowa State's freshman class included a record 154 National Merit Scholars, more than all but three other public universities in the nation.

In addition, Iowa State continues to set new records in enrollments of minority and international students, external funding for research and education programs, income from intellectual property, and private fund-raising. Since 1984, Iowa State has received 15 R&D 100 Awards for the most significant technology applications in the nation each year, more than all but one other university in the nation. In launching its five-year (1995-2000) $300-million "Campaign Destiny: To Become the Best," Iowa State announced a gift of $34 million, the largest ever to education in Iowa and the 12th-largest gift ever to a public university in the United States. That gift propelled Iowa State to its first $100 million year in fund raising.

Jischke, 54, came to ISU from the University of Missouri, Rolla, where he had served as chancellor for five years. He spent 17 years as a faculty member and administrator at the University of Oklahoma, serving as director of the School of Aerospace, Mechanical and Nuclear Engineering; Dean of the College of Engineering; and, in 1985, interim president.

A native of Chicago, Jischke earned the B.S. in physics, with honors, in 1963 from the Illinois Institute of Technology, an M.S. in 1964 and his Ph.D. in 1968 in aeronautics and astronautics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is trained as a fluid dynamicist and has expertise in heat transfer, fluid mechanics, aerodynamics, and problems related to high-speed aircraft and spacecraft. He is the author or co-author of 31 archival journal publications and 21 major technical reports, and is co-editor of a book.

He has served research fellowships with NASA and the Donald W. Douglas Laboratory and has received research grants from the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Air Force, NASA, the National Institutes of Health, National Severe Storms Laboratory and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. During 1975-76, he served as White House Fellow and Special Assistant to the Secretary of Transportation.

Jischke was the first president of the Council of the Big 12 Conference Chief Executive Officers. He is a member of the board of the directors and 1997-98 chair of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, a member of the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Universities, and a member of the board of directors of the American Council on Education. Jischke is a fellow of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and, in 1993, he received the Centennial Medallion from the American Society of Engineering Education.

1997 CYCLONE FOOTBALL

Gene Smith

Athletic Director

Promising to make Iowa State "one of the premier athletic programs in the nation," Gene Smith began his tenure as Iowa State's 12th athletic director on July 1, 1993.

In his fifth year in Ames, Smith has already made good on that commitment. The past president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) has left an indelible mark at Iowa State, engineering unprecedented financial and competitive performance that has prepared the Cyclone athletic department for entry into the Big 12 Conference and the 21st century.

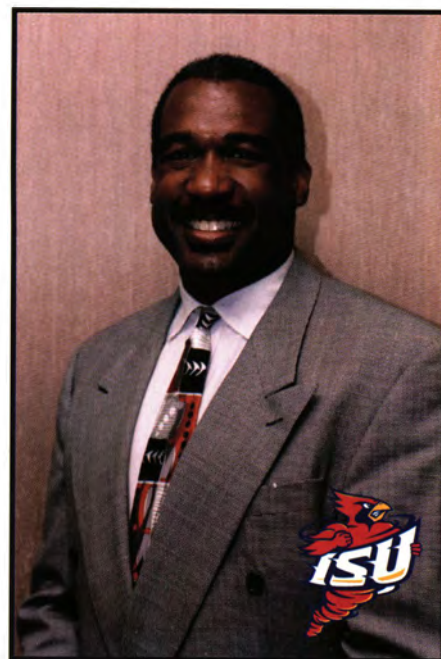

Through his first four years at Iowa State, Smith has:

- Led a successful $12 million drive to finance construction of a new 60,000-square-foot, state-of-the-art athletic office and training facility, the largest capital fund-raising campaign ever undertaken by the Iowa State Athletic Department. An all-natural grass surface, costing over $3 million, was in place for the Cyclones' 1996 season opener against Wyoming.
- Conceptualized the $6.1 million three-story press tower at Jack Trice Stadium with skybox suites, which was completed in August. Funding for the press tower came from "Campaign Destiny: To Become the Best," a $300 million university-wide capital campaign that includes the construction of new football practice fields.
- Overseen a successful $900,000 project to construct new offices and meeting rooms at Hilton Coliseum for the ISU men's and women's basketball programs. Further capital improvement included the construction of a soccer field, new press boxes for baseball and softball, and a new cross country course.
- Increased academic student support that resulted in a higher 1997 six-year graduation rate for student-athletes than the general ISU student population. More than 175 student-athletes earned recognition on the 1996-97 Big 12 academic honor roll. Iowa State's graduation rate was the highest in the Big 12 Conference for the second year in a row.
- Laid the foundation for a broad-based athletic program into the next century through a $5 million scholarship fund drive as part of the ISU Foundation's $26 million Presidential Scholarship Campaign.
- Hired the energetic Dan McCarney to take over the Iowa State football program, producing the largest attendance increase in the Big 12 Conference. Student season-ticket sales doubled. All-American running back Troy Davis was a Heisman Trophy finalist in McCarney's first season and the runner-up in 1997.
- Sparked a competitive environment that produced ISU NCAA Tournament team appearances in men's and women's basketball, volleyball, men's and women's cross country and men's and women's golf. The 1997 men's indoor track and wrestling teams finished third and fourth nationally, respectively. The 1997 men's golf squad placed third in the Big 12 Championship, earning a NCAA Regional berth.

The Notre Dame graduate was named president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA). A member of the NCAA Executive Committee, he was named to the NCAA's Management Council in May of 1996.

Prior to his arrival in Ames, Smith served as athletic director at Eastern Michigan for seven years. Smith joined the EMU staff in 1983 as assistant athletic director for non-revenue sports. He was named interim executive athletic director in 1985 and was elevated to the position permanently on June 25, 1986.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Smith earned eight letters in football, basketball and track while attending Cheltenham High School and was the "Most Valuable Player" on the football squad as a senior. Smith, who was born Dec. 18, 1955, has three daughters: Nicole (18), Lindsey (14) and Summer (13). He was married to Sheila Strike Smith in September 1996. He serves on the board of the Ames Youth and Shelter Services, the Iowa Games and Norwest Bank.

"The planning and hard work to which we've dedicated ourselves is making a big difference. We want to have winning programs. We do it with integrity, with fiscal integrity and with a great deal of fire and desire."

Head Coach

Dan McCarney

"We will bring back respect, we're going to bring back winning, we're going to bring back fun, we are going to turn Jack Trice Stadium into one of the most exciting places to play in college football."

- Dan McCarney, Nov. 23, 1994

Iowa State head coach Dan McCarney has made good on that pledge in his first two seasons as the architect chosen to rebuild the Cyclone football program. His contagious intensity created new enthusiasm among Iowa State fans and players. McCarney's first two seasons at Iowa State are among the most memorable in school history. Before coming to Ames, the former defensive coordinator at Wisconsin played a major role in two of the most dramatic football turnarounds in Big Ten Conference history. In his two years as Iowa State's head coach, his Cyclones put themselves on the national football map by:

- Breaking a slew of offensive school records as 1996 Heisman Trophy runner-up Troy Davis received unprecedented national attention. He was the first player to rush for more than 2,000 yards in more than one season. Davis led the nation in rushing and total yards both seasons. Iowa State averaged a school-record five yards per rush both years.

- Fueling a record attendance surge as fans across Iowa jumped on the Cyclone bandwagon. Student season ticket sales have more than doubled over the same period. Four games were sellouts (43,000) last season.

In addition, last season:

- Iowa State recorded back-to-back wins for the first time in seven years.
- The 1996 season included wins over Missouri and NCAA Division 1-AA semifinalist Northern Iowa. Iowa State suffered a narrow defeat against a 10-2 Wyoming team (41-38 in overtime). The Cyclones had the ball, attempting to secure the go-ahead score late in the fourth quarter at seventh-rated Colorado, before falling 49-42.

McCarney's staff has brought a trio of Big 12-caliber recruiting classes to Ames as Iowa State prepares for its second fall as a member of the Big 12 Conference -- the nation's premier collegiate football league. Since McCarney's arrival, the Cyclones have moved into their new home, the Richard O. Jacobson Athletic Building -- adjacent to Jack Trice Stadium. An all-natural grass field was laid before last season. Jack Trice Stadium features a new press box and individual luxury suites this fall, underscoring the Iowa State administration's commitment to McCarney's vision for making the ISU program a blueprint for success.

Anyone who has watched McCarney's rise in the coaching ranks would not be surprised by the effort of his national caliber coaching staff. A native of Iowa City, McCarney was instrumental in rebuilding efforts that produced Big Ten titles and Rose Bowl berths at both Iowa and Wisconsin, two schools that regularly finished near the bottom of the league before his arrival.

McCarney, 44, coached at Iowa for 13 seasons (1977-89), including a decade at Iowa, before becoming the defensive coordinator at Wisconsin.

A 1975 graduate of Iowa, McCarney coached the Hawkeyes in eight consecutive bowl games, including the 1982 and 1985 Rose Bowls. A three-year letterman in the offensive line for Iowa (1972-74), he was the captain of the 1974 Hawkeye squad.

"Dan is respected by his players and his coaching peers, and he was highly recommended by everyone I talked to. Our success underscores our conviction that he was the perfect man for the job."

ISU Hall of Fame

Inaugural Class

Ed Bock

One of the greatest players in Big Six Conference history, Ed Bock is the only Iowa State player to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame and was the Cyclones' first consensus All-American. Bock was selected to the first team of The Associated Press All-America squad as a senior. He was invited to play in the East-West Shrine Game, the Chicago Tribune College All-Star Game and the Dallas Dream Game at the Cotton Bowl against the Green Bay Packers in 1938.

Jim Doran

Jim Doran, one of the greatest receivers in Big Seven Conference history, came into his own as an Iowa State junior, earning all-conference honors with 689 yards on 34 catches. He broke the single-season Big Seven receiving mark by over 200 yards. Doran matched his stand-out junior season with 652 yards on 42 receptions and six touchdowns as a senior, earning him first-team All-America honors and invitations to play in the 1951 Hula and East-West Shrine Bowls. Doran closed out his Cyclone career owning virtually every Iowa State and Big Seven receiving mark. The Cyclone standout continued his success when he reached the NFL, playing a total of 11 years with the Detroit Lions and Dallas Cowboys.

Nawal El-Moutawakel-Bennis

Nawal El Moutawakel-Bennis excelled at Iowa State, capturing the national championship in the 400-meter hurdles in 1984. She also earned All-America honors in the 400-meter run that same year. In 1984, El Moutawakel-Bennis became only the second woman to capture a relays triple crown, winning the same event at the Texas, Kansas and Drake Relays. The Cyclone standout earned four Big Eight Conference titles. El Moutawakel-Bennis captured the 400-meter hurdles gold medal and Olympic record at the 1984 Games in Los Angeles. The Cyclone trackster became the first African woman, the first Arabic woman and the first ISU track athlete to capture an Olympic gold medal.

Dan Gable

Dan Gable is the most recognized figure in college wrestling and his achievements transcend the sport. Gable captured the imagination of the wrestling world as a collegian at Iowa State. The Cyclone compiled a career mark of 118-1 while at Iowa State. He won his first 118 college matches, an NCAA record, before suffering his only defeat in the NCAA finals as a senior. He was a three-time All-American and a three-time Big Eight champion. Gable led the Cyclones to national championships in 1969 and 1970 and a Big Eight championship in 1970. Gable earned international fame in 1972, winning a gold medal in freestyle competition at the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich. On his way to the medal, he didn't surrender a single point.

Ron Galimore

Ron Galimore was honored as Iowa State's Athlete of the Year in 1981. The Cyclone gymnast won two individual NCAA titles on the vault, leading the team to a second-place NCAA finish in 1980 and a fourth-place finish in 1981. Galimore was honored as an All-American nine times, placing in the all-around, vault and floor exercise twice at the NCAA Championship. The pinnacle of his Cyclone career was vaulting to the first perfect 10 in NCAA meet history to claim the 1981 national vault crown. Galimore was selected as a member of the 1980 Olympic gymnastics team, the first black athlete to be named to the team.

Harold Nichols

Harold Nichols and Iowa State wrestling are synonymous. Dr. Nichols was the tower of strength in college wrestling during his tenure. Nichols racked up six NCAA titles, seven Big Eight championships and produced 38 NCAA individual champions and 91 Big Eight titlists. In addition to the half-dozen national titles, his Cyclones finished as NCAA runners-up 11 times while placing third on eight occasions. His career dual meet total at Iowa State is an untouchable 456-75-11.

Yobes Ondieki

Yobes Ondieki received All-America accolades six times, earning NCAA runner-up honors three times and third-place status three times. The Kenyan won every cross country meet he competed in during the 1983 and 1984 seasons, except the NCAA Championship. Ondieki placed among the top three runners at the NCAA cross country meets from 1983-85. He set a world record in the 10,000 meters, becoming the first man to run the distance under 27 minutes. He shattered the existing mark by more than nine seconds at the Bislett Games in Oslo, Norway, on July 10, 1993. Ondieki's was considered by many track experts as the greatest distance race ever run. Ondieki, the 5,000-meter world champion in 1991, captured four Big Eight titles, three in cross country, while at Iowa State.

Gary Thompson

Gary Thompson, "The Roland Rocket," was ISU's first 1,000-point career scorer and the first Cyclone cager selected as a first-team All-American following the 1957 season. He concluded his three-year career with 1,253 points, ranking 15th on ISU's all-time scoring list. His greatest legacy may be as Iowa State's first multi-sport All-American. In addition to his exploits on the basketball court, Thompson was an All-America shortstop for the Cyclones and helped the 1957 team to a berth in the NCAA College World Series. The shortstop hit .311 with four home runs and 18 RBIs in 27 games to help ISU capture the 1957 Big Seven crown.

L.C. "Cap" Timm

L.C. "Cap" Timm headed the Cyclone baseball program from 1938-74, with the exception of four years he served in the military. Timm tallied 340 career wins, leading the Cyclones to three conference titles. Timm's 1957 team captured the Big Seven title and advanced to the College World Series for the first time in Iowa State history. Two of Timm's players from the 1957 team, Dick Bertell and Jerry McNertney, would later play in the major leagues. Timm led his team back to the World Series in 1970 with a squad that featured All-American catcher Larry Corrigan. The 1970 Cyclones captured the conference title with a 13-5 league mark. Timm's Cyclones repeated with another Big Seven crown in 1971.

Clyde Williams

Clyde Williams left a lasting mark on Iowa State and the game of football. The innovative coach became the first to implement the overhand pass and the running punt. Williams tallied a 33-14-2 mark as head coach before he became Iowa State's athletic director in 1913. He started ISU's basketball program in 1907 and coached the Cyclones until 1911. State Field was re-named in his honor at the homecoming game against Kansas in 1938.

Jack Trice Stadium

Game Day Information

Pass Out Checks

Persons leaving the stadium will be stamped for re-admission to the stadium. In addition, they must have a ticket stub for re-entry. No pass outs will be allowed between noon and 1 p.m. or one hour before kickoff.

Wheelchairs

Special areas in sections 16, 18 and 19 are available for spectators in wheelchairs. In addition, wheelchair seating is available on the field level behind the goal posts.

Ambulance Service

An ambulance is parked in the first aid quarters on the west side of the stadium.

First Aid Station

Emergency medical treatment is available for spectators in special first aid quarters located under both the east and west stands. Contact an usher to request medical assistance.

Restrooms

Restrooms are located throughout the stadium behind each concession stand.

Smoking Policy

In accordance with Iowa State's smoking policy, there will be no smoking in areas where the general public congregates at Jack Trice Stadium. That means people will not be able to smoke in the seating areas or by the concession stands. There may be designated smoking areas near the restrooms.

Service for Physicians

Doctors anticipating calls during the game are urged to register at the first aid quarters under the west stands, leaving their exact seat location. The management will see that all calls are delivered without delay.

Parking Lot Facilities

The ISU Athletic Department provides portable toilets for its patrons in the parking lots. These are located in strategic spots throughout the stadium parking area.

Public Telephones

Pay telephones are located behind the east and west stands.

Stadium Sign Policy

Iowa State promotes and encourages the display of signs. All signs must be in good taste and supportive of Iowa State University. In no case may the sign obstruct vision or endanger fans. Signs must be stationary. All signs must be approved by Associate Athletic Director Elve Everage (Jacobson Building) before noon on Friday prior to the home games. The athletic department reserves the right to move or remove any signs not meeting these specifications.

Carry-in Packages and Articles

Please do not bring into the stadium video cameras, bottles, cans, apples, oranges, toilet tissue, etc. Items thrown onto the field can result in a penalty for the home team.

Coolers, Chairs

As a courtesy to neighboring guests, spectators are asked NOT to bring stadium chairs, lawnchairs or coolers into the stands.

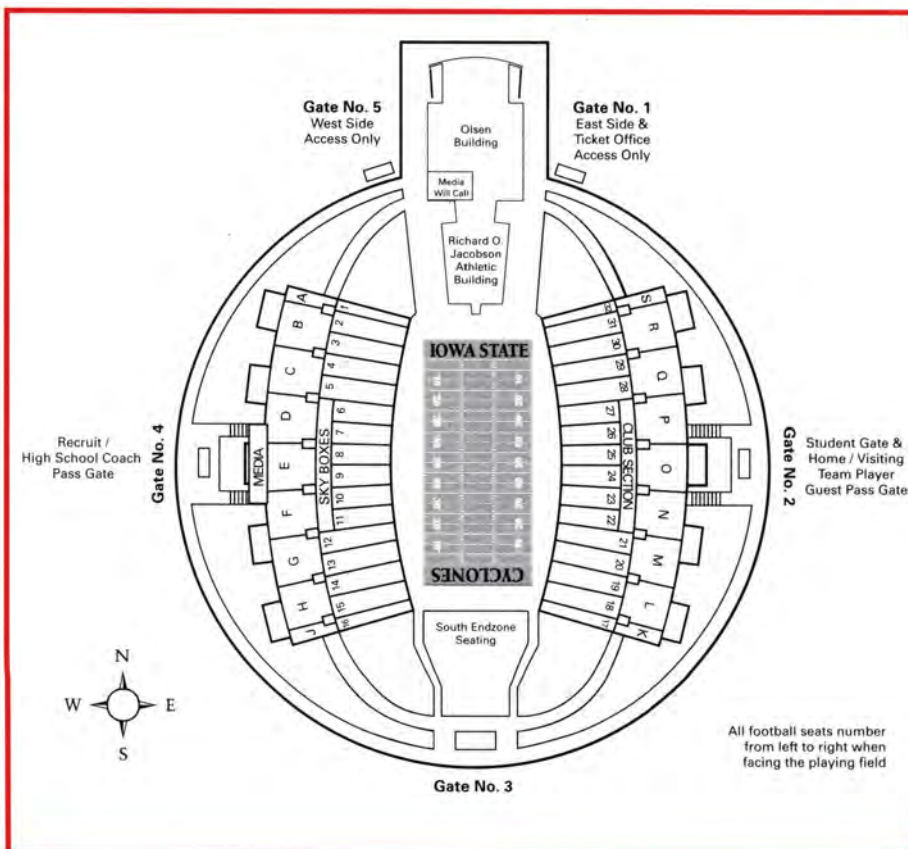

Distractions

We want to make football Saturday a totally enjoyable experience and want to encourage fans to be respectful of those around them in the stadium. In the event there is an unreasonable distraction please take the following steps to help control the undesirable behavior.

- Note the seating section, row, and seat numbers and inform the usher in the section of the disturbance. The usher will observe the conduct and request it to stop, if appropriate.
- If the conduct continues, the usher will get assistance from a uniformed police officer to request improvements of behavior or to remove the fan(s) from the stadium.
- An additional occurrence is cause for removal from the stadium and could be grounds for relocation in next season's ticket assignments.

Courtesy Carts

Iowa State will offer courtesy cart service from Gates 1, 3, and 5 beginning two hours before kick-off and resuming midway through the fourth quarter. Anyone needing transportation during the game should go to the NE entrance of the Club Section (east side) or the SW entrance of the Concourse Suites (west side).

Jack Cosgrove

Featured Donor

When the Iowa State football team upset No. 7 Nebraska in 1992, Jack Cosgrove ran up a $60 cellular phone bill calling his friends in Cedar Rapids who hadn't joined him on the trip to Ames because of the chilly weather and the prospect of a loss. That's a lot of money to spend on communication, but for Cosgrove it was one of the great highlights of a long-term love affair with Iowa State University athletics.

Born and raised in Cedar Rapids, Cosgrove has become very involved in the support of Iowa State athletics, and that involvement has been facilitated by his lifelong career in communications. The $60 cellular bill pales in comparison to the $1.8 billion a year revenue generated by his company, communications giant Rockwell Collins Inc., of Cedar Rapids.

Cosgrove received his bachelor's degree from Iowa State in electrical engineering at 2:30 p.m. Saturday on July 21, 1956. By 7:30 a.m. the following Monday, he was at work at Collins Radio, where he has spent all his working days for the past 41 years. He started as a design engineer working on high frequency communications and worked his way up the ladder to director of engineering. Although Collins was a world-wide leader in technology, the company fell on hard times financially until it was acquired by Rockwell International in 1973.

"I think it was the best thing that ever happened to Collins," said Cosgrove, who was named president of the entire Rockwell Collins organization just last year. "Rockwell came in and just put two people in the corporation, one of whom is our current chairman and chief executive officer Donald Beall. He was the person who brought Collins back to where it is today."

Today Rockwell Collins is a world-wide leader in the fields of communications and avionics, which entail navigation, flight controls, and anything to do with the cockpit of an airplane. The instruments in the cockpit of Boeing jets, including the auto pilot and radar, are manufactured in Cedar Rapids. In a Boeing 747 alone, Rockwell Collins has supplied $1 million dollars worth of hardware.

The first Global Positioning System receiver was built in Rockwell's Cedar Rapids plant and the company is a world leader in that area also.

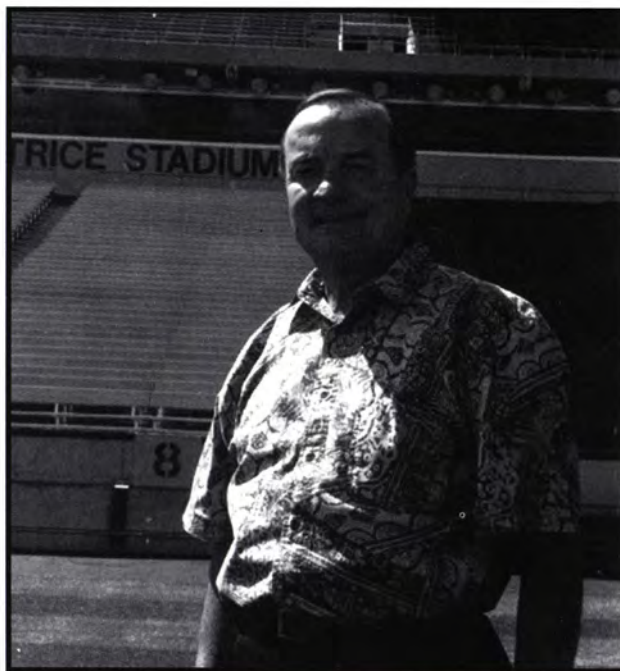

Cosgrove's business requires him and Dilla, his wife of 40 years, to travel all over the world. He's been to 42 countries, some of which in his words "are exotic, but some are not so exotic." But no matter where Cosgrove travels, he and Dilla try to plan their schedules so they can attend Cyclone athletic events.

"Living in Cedar Rapids, it is tough being a Cyclone, but I've always felt allegiance and loyalty to ISU," Cosgrove said. "I had to work a lot when I was in school and didn't have much time for sports back then. After I started working full-time, I joined the Linn County Cyclone Club, and then joined the National Cyclone Club giving $25 a year. I raised it a little bit, joining the $250 club. I then started increasing my contribution not only in money, but in time."

The Cosgroves' involvement with Iowa State athletics really blossomed during the late 1970s and early 1980s when their four children, Kelly, Jill, Tracey, and Patrick were all ISU students. In 1986, they were selected as ISU Parents of the Year.

"We were sitting down on the field at halftime and really got caught up in the atmosphere of the whole thing," Cosgrove recalled. "My wife and I have been very active ever since then."

That activity has included not only annual contributions and significant gifts for the Jacobson Athletic Building and the purchase of one of the new skybox suites, but personal involvement as members of the Athletic Director's Advisory Committee and the Board of Governor's of the ISU Foundation. Cosgrove has also been active on advisory boards for the College of Engineering and the electrical engineering department and has been involved with substantial donations by Rockwell to major University capital fundraising campaigns.

Jack Cosgrove at Jack Trice Stadium

If that Nebraska game was a high point for Jack Cosgrove in his relationship with Iowa State, another occurred more recently when he visited Jack Trice Stadium and was overwhelmed when he caught his first glimpse of the new press box tower that he and others have helped to build.

"When I walked up the ramp, I said 'We're finally getting where Iowa State needs to be.' This is something that has been sorely needed and has taken Iowa State athletics to a new level. It's a visible sign that things are alive and well here. I like what's going on. Now let's enjoy it."

Exciting things are happening at Iowa State!

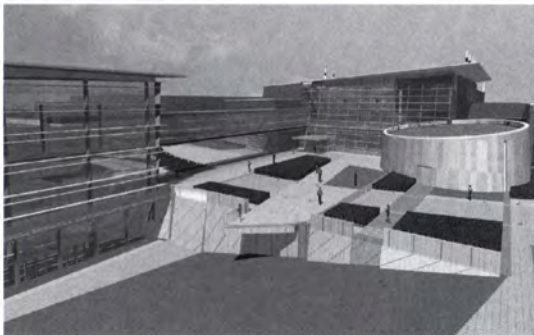

On the football field!

Quarterback Todd Bandhauer is one of 15 Cyclone football players who major in engineering. The College of Engineering is proud to support the Iowa State Cyclones! Excellence in the classroom and on the field go hand-in-hand to create the exciting world in which we learn, work, and play. A competitive team with a winning attitude brings success on the field, in the classroom, and in the workplace.

In the marching band!

One out of three marching band members is an Iowa State engineering student, indicating once again that the talents and energy of engineering students are second to none. And they have a good time working together to improve our lives through technology or through music!

In engineering!

On September 20, Iowa Staters celebrate the groundbreaking of Stanley and Helen Howe Hall, Phase 1 of the Engineering Teaching and Research Complex. 158,000 net square feet in two buildings devoted to creating engineering learning excellence. High-tech classrooms...labs for emerging technology research...multimedia auditoriums and lecture halls...telecommunications links for expanded outreach and distance learning...conference centers... All made possible through the generous support of engineering alumni and friends, industrial partners, and the State of Iowa. The ETRC will enable Iowa State students to be the best educated and the most employable and productive engineers in the workplace...and indeed the world.

His closest teammate lives three pastures, four fences and a creek away, but you'd never know it come game night.

Ironically, some of the best team players come from some of the smallest communities. That's because rural America has always valued a spirit of cooperation, whether raising crops or raising athletes.

The Big 12 Conference

The Big 12 Conference - Second to None

The formation of the Big 12 represents an undertaking by school chief executive officers to combine resources to achieve even higher levels of performance heading into the 21st century.

National Exposure -

The Big 12 Conference has one of the most comprehensive regional and national TV contracts in America. On any given Saturday, three Big 12 games are being shown to national audiences.

- ABC and Fox Sports Network combine to produce nearly 40 football games annually in syndicated regional, national and prime time windows. In all, the packages with ABC, Fox Sports Network and ESPN guarantee the Big 12 the finest intercollegiate coverage through the year 2000 (2003 with ABC for football television).

Competition -

- Seven Big 12 schools were in The Associated Press top 25 poll at least once throughout the 1996 campaign.
- Big 12 schools had a composite 1996 bowl record of 4-2, outscoring opponents cumulatively 292-170.
- Big 12 teams have accounted for more than 30 NCAA team championships and 15 wire service football titles, while its student-athletes have claimed more than 750 NCAA crowns entering the 1997-98 academic year.
- The Big 12 was the only conference with two teams participating in major Bowl Alliance games (Fiesta, Orange and Sugar). The Big 12 also has five other bowl agreements with the Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl Classic, Plymouth Holiday Bowl, Builders Square Alamo Bowl, Jeep Eagle Aloha Bowl and Copper Bowl.

Broad-based Commitment to Excellence -

- On the basketball court, the Big 12 is a national powerhouse. In its inaugural season, the Big 12 sent champion Kansas and four other teams to the men's tournament, while women's champion Colorado and five other teams qualified for the women's championship.
- In all, the Big 12 is home to more than 1,500 student-athletes on 209 teams in the 21 men's and women's Big 12-sponsored sports. Men's programs regulated by the league include baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, swimming, tennis and wrestling. Big 12 sponsored women's programs include basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis and volleyball.
- The Big 12 adopted Special Olympics as its primary philanthropy.
- The Big 12 is developing the Life Skills Program and Academic Services, which seeks to enhance the "total person" concept both on and off the field. Programs such as the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, Special Olympics and the NCAA's heralded YES program of clinics and stay-in-school messages to youngsters are just a few of the life skills areas promoted by the Big 12. Student-athletes play an active role in community endeavors such as hospital visits, youth school programs, enhance/eligibility information and anti-violence campaigns, all promoted through public service announcements aired during Big 12 contests.

Jack Trice

Who Was He?

Jack Trice was born the son of Green and Anna Trice in 1902 in Hiram, Ohio. Trice attended East Tech High School in Cleveland and became a star athlete there. When his football coach Sam Willaman was named head coach at Iowa State, Trice and six other athletes followed him west. Trice majored in animal husbandry and his goal was to settle in the South after his graduation and help the black farmers of that area. He was a very studious young man and despite his participation in intercollegiate athletics, Trice managed to pass 45 college credits with a 90 percent average. Because there were no athletic scholarships granted in those days, he worked odd jobs to finance his education and support his wife and mother.

On the gridiron, Trice was a stellar performer in the interior line. He played on the freshman team in 1922, and the following year was considered by many to be all-conference caliber. But the promising career abruptly ended. Trice played in the season-opener, a 14-6 win over Simpson on Sept. 29 in Ames. He traveled to Minneapolis the following weekend for an Oct. 6 showdown at Minnesota. Iowa State was playing a strong defensive game that day and trailed by only four points, 14-10, at the half. It was during intermission that Trice began to complain of a sore left shoulder, but nevertheless, returned to action in the second half. Midway through the third quarter, a frustrated Minnesota team ran a play off left tackle. Trice immediately saw that he wouldn't be able to reach the ball carrier, so he threw himself in front of the Minnesota interference in a roll block. He was toppled over on his back and trampled on.

Trice wanted to continue playing but never returned to the game. According to newspaper accounts, the crowd chanted, "We're sorry Ames, we're sorry." Doctors at a Minneapolis hospital allowed Trice to return to Ames with the team, which lost the game 20-17. They declared his condition not so serious. Trice rode back on a pullman coach. He rested his body on a straw mattress and was immediately taken to the university hospital upon his arrival in Ames. There, doctors discovered a broken collarbone Trice had sustained during the first half of the contest. His condition worsened as he developed respiratory problems Sunday afternoon, and a stomach specialist from Des Moines was summoned. Dr. Oliver Fay decided surgery would be too risky, so no operation was performed.

At 3 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 8, 1923, Jack Trice died of hemorrhaged lungs and internal bleeding throughout the abdomen. The following Tuesday, classes were postponed and a funeral service was held before 4,000 students and faculty members on the central grounds of campus.

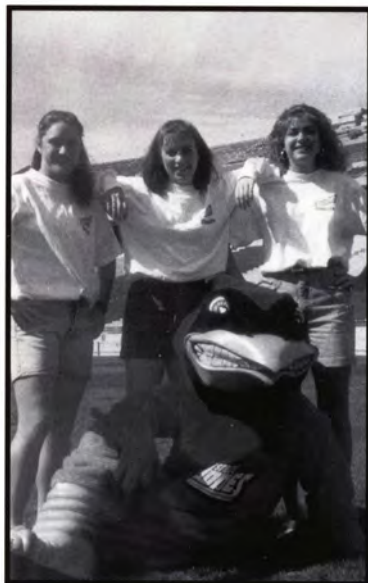

A letter written by Jack Trice to himself on the eve of the Minnesota game was found in his coat pocket the day of his funeral. The contents of that letter were divulged before the 4,000 mourners. It read:

"My thoughts just before the first real college game of my life: The honor of my race, family and self is at stake. Everyone is expecting me to do big things. I will. My whole body and soul are to be thrown recklessly about the field. Every time the ball is snapped, I will be trying to do more than my part. Fight low, with your eyes open and toward the play. Watch out for crossbucks and reverse end runs. Be on your toes every minute if you expect to make good. Jack"

A memorial scholarship was created, and a memorial to Trice will be located in the Jacobson Athletic Building's Gary Thompson Hall of Honor. A statue in his honor was unveiled in 1984 and was moved to the east side of the Jacobson Athletic Building, greeting visitors entering the newly dedicated Jack Trice Stadium.

Scouting Report

Cyclones vs. Cowboys

THE SERIES: Oklahoma State owns the overall advantage against Iowa State, 21-14-3, and 12-5-2 at Stillwater, but the Cyclones and Cowboys are knotted at 9-9-1 in Ames. ISU's one-point loss to OSU last year was especially tough for a Cyclone team that had dropped three games by a total of seven points. ISU won the last meeting in Ames, 38-14.

OFFENSIVELY: Both teams return young quarterbacks. Chris Chaloupka, a redshirt sophomore, will head OSU's passing attack this season after completing 15-of-45 passes for 269 yards and one TD. Junior Todd Bandhauer will be the Cyclones' leading signal caller after completing 45-of-97 passes in his first two seasons. Junior tailback Andre' Richardson, the Cowboys' top returning rusher, gained 447 yards on 89 carries with a long of 22 yards en route to three TDs last season. Sophomore Darren Davis is the Cyclones' leading returning rusher with 204 yards on 30 attempts, including a long of 45 yards. Junior Alonzo Mayes is back as the Cowboys' top receiver, having caught 30 passes for 512 yards and three TDs. The senior duo of Ed Williams and Tyrone Watley is ISU's top receiving crew. Williams snagged 34 aerials for 491 yards and three TDs, while Watley grabbed 27 throws for 419 yards and four TDs.

DEFENSIVELY: Raymond Cato recorded 119 tackles, including 37 solo stops, for the Cowboys last season. Sophomore Dave Brcka led the Cyclones with 127 tackles in 1996, including 91 unassisted, while senior Derrik Clark tallied 119 tackles and 86 solo stops.

SPECIAL TEAMS: Junior punter Jason Davis equalled the fourth-best single-season punting mark in OSU history with 2,598 yards. The preseason all-Big 12 candidate recorded an average of 44.0 yards on 59 punts. The Cyclone punter position is wide open after the departure of all-Big 12 Conference standout Marc Harris. Sophomore kicker Tim Sydnies went 27-of-28 on PATs and 12-of-19 on field goals, including a long of 55, for the Cowboys. Junior Jamie Kohl was close to perfection last season, making 33 straight extra-point attempts and 8-of-10 field goal attempts. Kohl made 4-of-6 attempts outside 40 yards. Sophomore R.W. McQuarters gained 331 yards on 15 kickoff returns for OSU. ISU's Darren Davis was second in the Big 12 in kickoff returns (24.1 ypr) as a true freshman last season.

THE COACHES: Both coaches are in their third year directing their respective programs. Bob Simmons came to OSU from Colorado, where he spent seven seasons on Bill McCartney's staff. Dan McCarney came to ISU after spending five years as the defensive coordinator at Wisconsin under Barry Alvarez. Each coach owns a 1-1 record against the other.
