Dedication

As we of the graduating class look in retrospect at our college careers, we gain many individual impressions. For some of us, these years, though uninterrupted, were abnormal because of wartime conditions and postwar adjustments. For others, these four college years have been spliced by a period spent in a vastly different atmosphere. All of us, however, are now facing a world which is initiating the steps on the road to peace; a world which offers new promise and expectation.

And so, realizing that the future lies in the hands of those behind us, we confidently dedicate the Bomb of 1947 to the Freshman Class.

Governor Blue

This is Robert D. Blue, our governor. He was born in Eagle Grove on September 24, 1898. Educated at Iowa State, he also received schooling at The Capital City Commercial College and at Drake University where he received the degree of Bachelor of Law. A member of Phi Alpha Delta, honorary law fraternity, he was admitted to the bar in 1922. He served as Wright County attorney in 1933 and 1934. In 1935 he became a member of the State Legislature where he served as floor leader from 1937 to 1941 and as Speaker of the House for the next two years. In 1943, he was elected Lieutenant Governor and two years later advanced to the governorship. A member of the Wright County Bar Association and the Eleventh Judicial District Bar Association his outside interests include farming, hunting and movie photography.

President Friley

This is Charles E. Friley, our president. Dr. Friley was born in Ruston, La., on August 27, 1887. He was educated at Sam Houston Teachers College, Baylor University, Texas A & M, Columbia University and the University of Chicago. He served as registrar for Texas A & M from 1912 to 1924, and as Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences for the same institution from 1924 to 1932, at which time he took the post of Dean of Science here at Iowa State. In 1935 he took on the added responsibility of college vice-president, and assumed the position of president in 1936. A member of the honoraries Phi Mu Alpha, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Kappa and Scabbard and Blade, he serves as a member of the Iowa Academy of Sciences, is chairman of the State Rhodes Scholarship selection committee, and is a member of the Des Moines Rotary club.

Faculty

Upper left: Anybody that dropped in to the Union about coffee time would probably have found this faculty Union lab in session. Upper right: Professor Dwight Smith pauses during a sterilizing operation in the veterinary clinic to pose for the Bomb photographer. Center: Most women have their hands full with just one home, but Dr. Nickell has charge of the whole Home Management Department. Lower left: To add a little glamour to this page, here is Mrs. Pfeil looking over a couple of test tubes in her bacteriology office. Lower right: It's hard to decide whether Professor Jack Dodds is figuring out where to point this transit, how to point it, or is he just posing?

Camp Dodge

Something new was initiated at the start of the '46-'47 school year when Iowa State established its annex at Camp Dodge.

Presenting a full freshman curriculum, the annex provided for 500 students who otherwise could not be admitted to Iowa State College. Under the directorial talents of J. P. McKean, the annex proved to be an ideal solution to the crowded conditions on campus.

JAMES P. MCKEAN
Director of Camp Dodge Annex

Agriculture

H. H. KILDEE
Dean of Agriculture

Boasting that Iowa State is one of the best known schools of agriculture in the world, the college holds an enviable position in the richest agricultural portion on the globe.

Under the guidance of Dean H. H. Kildee, the division offers to its agricultural students one of the most thorough curricula possible. The oldest college division, its outlook is that of training men and women for better service to agriculture.

Ag students get a lesson in botany the practical way.

Who's pulling the wool over whose eyes?

Instructor T. A. Wilson points out the intricacies of an airplane engine.

Electrical engineering students chart the progress of elusive electrons.

Engineering

L. O. STEWART
Acting Dean of Engineering

Established as a separate division in 1869, the Division of Engineering now offers seven curricula leading to degrees in engineering.

From the teaching of courses in civil and mechanical engineering when Iowa State College first opened, additional curricula have been added to round out the Engineering division.

Under Acting Dean L. O. Stewart, the division strives to help students acquire the knowledge and personal qualifications necessary for success in professional engineering.

Practice makes perfect at Richards home management house.

How does the old saying go—"It's easier said than done."

Home Economics

P. MABEL NELSON
Dean of Home Economics

The largest school of home economics in the United States is the distinction granted to the Iowa State Division of Home Economics.

Under the management of Dean P. Mabel Nelson, the division strives to present both the technical knowledge and the personality traits necessary for success in a "women's world."

A botany class gets down to work.

A woman learns to drive correctly.

Science

H. V. GASKILL
Dean of Science

The objectives of the Division of Science are to offer major studies in science fields and also basic work in varied sciences for students in other divisions.

Under Dean H. V. Gaskill the division's objectives for students include the assimilation of scientific knowledge and the learning of the basic skills needed for their application.

There's no teacher like experience.

This little piggy would have been better off if he'd gone home.

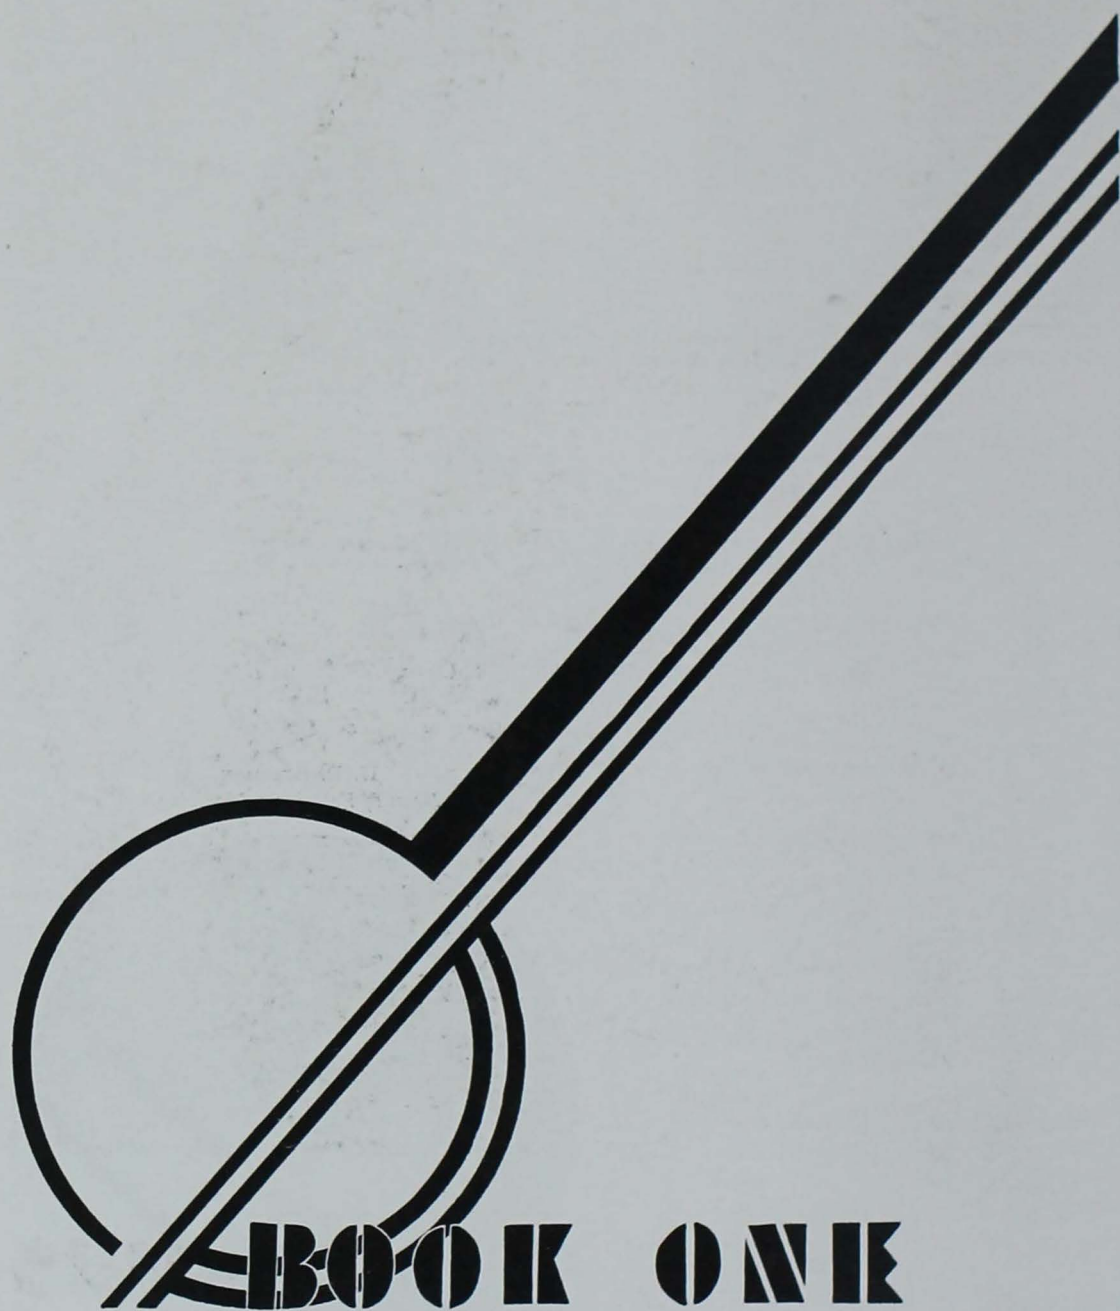

Veterinary Medicine

H. D. BERGMAN
Dean of Veterinary Medicine

Established in 1879, the Division of Veterinary Medicine is the oldest veterinary college in the United States. With courses leading to the degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine, the division offers a complete curricula in the science.

Led by Dean H. D. Bergman, the division provides opportunity for the veterinary student to study animal industry and to observe clinical cases both at the Veterinary Hospital and under general practice conditions.

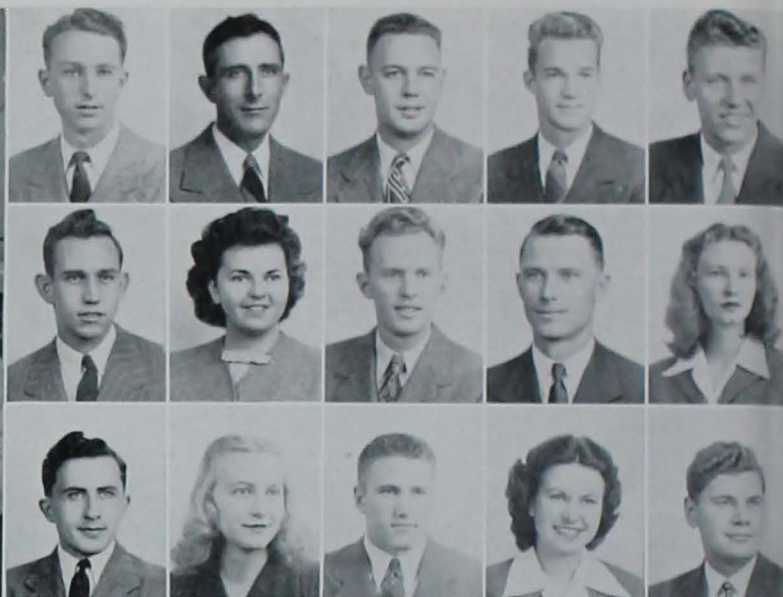

SENIORS

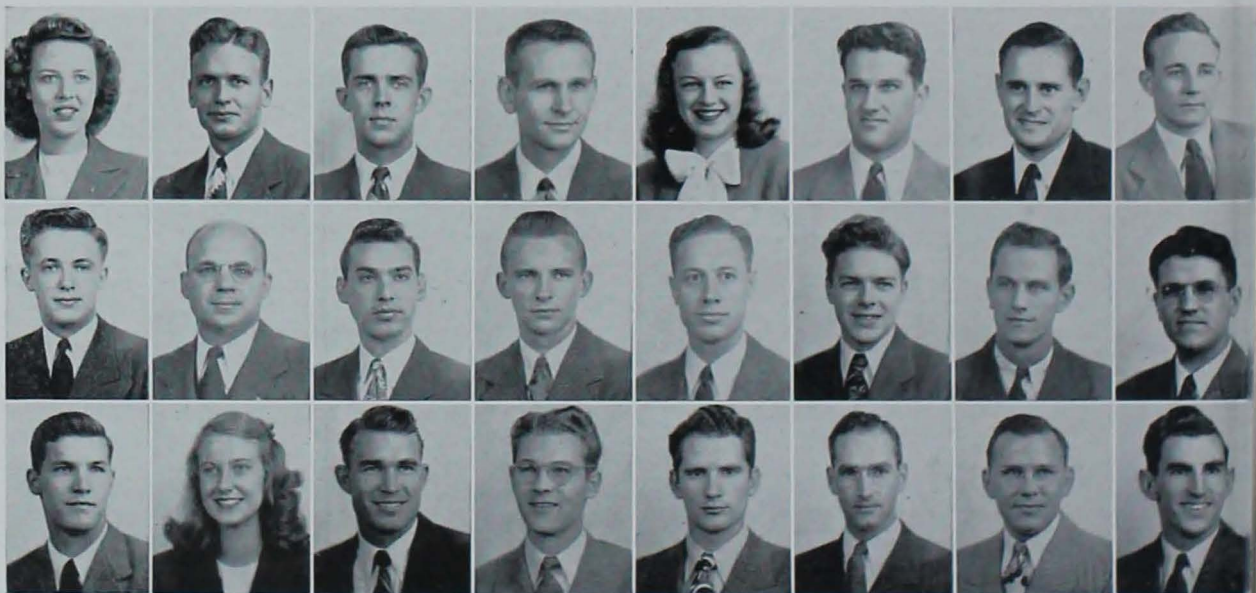

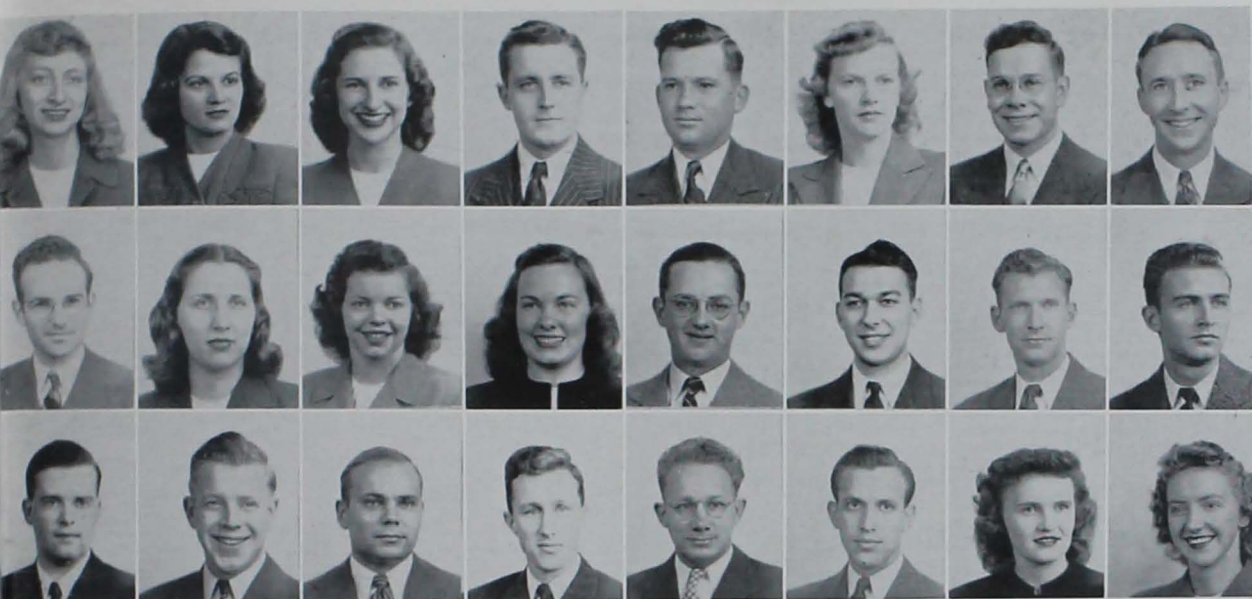

A guiding light around the Press Building was the Pi Phis' Mary Dodds. Director of the Homemaker and chairman of the Sketch publication board were some of the positions which made her one of the indispensable publication workers. President of Mortar Board, she was also Theta Sig and Phi U treasurer.

LEADERSHIP

GOVERNMENT

Cardinal Guild

As student governing body, the work of Cardinal Guild was clear cut during the past year. Approving the activity fee increase, research into the handling of elections, requesting a twelve o'clock Friday night for women, guidance for Freshman Days, investigation into check cashing fees, reorganization of their constitution and many other student problems kept Guild busy throughout the year.

With Eugene Smith wielding the president's gavel and Larry Hanel in the vice-presidential chair, the Guild proved itself the true representative of the student body.

But the Guild wasn't without social life. Once every quarter a dinner meeting was held and members became better acquainted with each other. Meetings to increase student interest in student government were well attended. As a result, forums were staged to discuss an increase in the activity fee, traffic problems and other issues of campus importance. Student representation on the Music Council and Lecture Series Committee was realized, and the Freshman Handbook was acclaimed as one of the best.

Gene Smith and Liz Boise check and double check.

Judging from the look on Larry Hanel's face, he must have a cardinal idea.

Student Union Board

Composed of two representatives from each college division as well as two representatives from the graduate college, the Student Union Board directs the activities and policies of the Memorial Union.

Meeting each Tuesday noon, the group, under the able leadership of Tom Swearingen, approved budgets and plans for major social functions held in the Union. Some of the activities of the board were the opening of the Grill and Trophy Tavern for more hours each week. After-class dancing, noon concerts, the sponsoring of "Books and Cokes" in fall quarter, "Books and Coffee" in winter, the "Coffee Forum" and numerous art exhibits are included under the jurisdiction of the board, as well as winter quarter's Campus Varieties.

The board also sponsored classes in bridge instruction and featured an all-college bridge tournament. The Student Union Board initiated a social program for the younger set by sponsoring an Easter Egg Hunt for the children of veterans going to Iowa State.

Members of the board attended the Big Six Union Board Conference at the University of Nebraska.

Brave customers pay to see the frightful Lena.

Engineering Council, guided by Russ Pederson, added a new feature to the Engineers' Carnival by selecting the "Most Desirable" engineer, who was Jack Beckerle. Social activities of the engineers were highlighted in winter quarter by the Engineers' Ball with Jane Thomas as the Engineers' Lady. The council also initiated a movement to obtain expenses for senior inspection trips under the G.I. Bill.

Warren Hayes, business manager

Business Staff

Business Manager Warren Hayes efficiently guided the Bomb business staff in successfully contending with the problem of increasing costs in printing, engraving and photography. Tom Maney worked hard as assistant business manager, helping to set up a budget which permitted a continuance of the policy of printing no advertisements in the Bomb.

The staff, augmented by many volunteer workers, saw its work more than doubled because of the increased enrollment. An evidence of the great business activity was the $22,000 budget, largest in the history of the Bomb.

Carol Hayes was treasurer, and Dot Dillan served as sales manager. Keeping a complete record of the class standing of every student were Marlyn Cody and Chuck Spangler, activity transfer managers.

Bomb

Editorial Staff

Barbara Bailey, editor

Under the effective coaxing of Editor Barbara Bailey, the Bomb editorial staff managed to meet all the copy and engraving deadlines. Overcoming the obstacles of a paper shortage and a large increase in the number of organized groups on campus, the 1947 staff published a yearbook which contained 598 cuts spotted on 352 pages.

The staff of the 1946 Bomb was well rewarded for its efforts when the National Scholastic Press Association bestowed on it the highest rating, an All-American Honor Award.

Daily

Business Staff

Handling the money end of the campus newspaper was the task of the Daily Student business staff.

Bob Schwartz was business manager until winter quarter when that important post went to Irene Meyer who had been advertising manager. The ad manager's position in turn, went to Lee Roose. Fall quarter's classified advertising manager, Lu Madsen, bequeathed her job to Jim Sharon while John Fox served as national advertising manager.

EVENTS

Summer

The many activities of the summer quarter kept everyone busy, and the time passed only too quickly. Lake LaVerne, with its gliding swans and splashing waterfall, drew young and old alike to its grassy banks. Some students thought that wading was a cooling pastime after warm classes. "Blithe Spirit," produced by the Theater Workshop, played two nights to capacity crowds in MacKay Auditorium.

The "Dance Under the Stars," held on a platform constructed between Elm and Oak Hall, was one of the top social events.

School

Students in summer school devoted their days to studying and many of their nights to entertainment. Frequent dances staged on Friley Hall's terrace made it a popular spot. Men and women spent pleasant evenings on the lawn of central campus listening to open-air concerts presented by the Iowa State College Band and other musical organizations and artists such as the Commodores.

1946

The twenty-fifth anniversary Veishea was the celebration that topped all Veisheas. For the past three years Veishea had been somewhat dampened by the war, so in 1946 the students and faculty went all out in organizing and producing a first class affair. The annual boat races on Lake La Verne opened the three day program, which included Stars over Veishea, Veishea Vodvil, delightful dances at the Union, and the colorful seventy-float parade. Other events included the Horse Show and an open house held by each department.

Veishea

The Highlanders from Iowa City in their picturesque Scottish uniforms gave an excellent performance with Iowa State's band in the mile long parade.

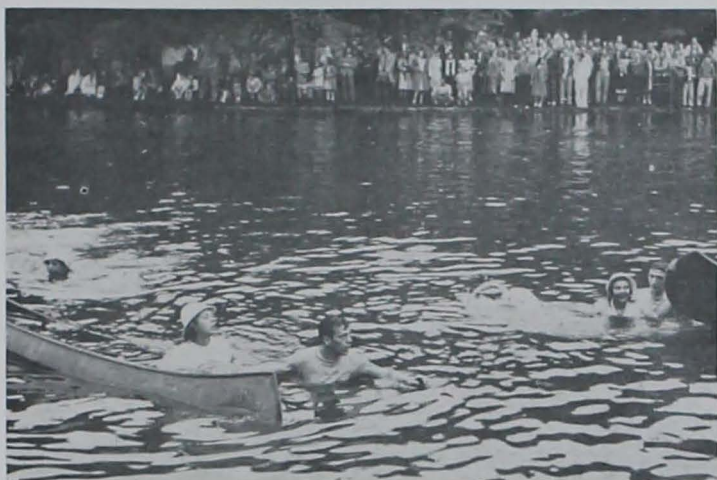

The Queen, Annabell McQuown, and the judges watched the parade from their reviewing stand on the front steps of Beard-shear. Trophies for winning floats went to Sigma Alpha Epsilon, sweepstakes, Pi Beta Phi and Tau Kappa Epsilon, who won the men's and women's divisions respectively.

Veishea

The dances during Veishea were high points of each day's events. The music that was furnished by Nat Towles' orchestra on Thursday night and Harry Cool's orchestra on Friday and Saturday nights accentuated the whole affair.

Queen Annabelle McQuown was crowned by Governor Blue, who was also presented with the first Bomb of 1946.

Veishea Vodvil, playing before enthusiastic audiences, added humor to the celebration. Stars Over Veishea, the musical panorama of Iowa's one hundred years, was climaxed by a gigantic display of fireworks. Larry Hanel was general chairman and Stanley Howe was business manager.

Iowa State's 1946 Homecoming weekend started late Friday afternoon with the traditional barbeque. The lines formed early at the stadium where the students received their barbequed sandwiches, doughnuts and steaming coffee.

Ceremonies during the barbeque included the introduction of alumni football captains of past Iowa State teams. Following the presentations, the highlight of the Friday evening celebration was the presentation of the queen and her attendants by Dean M. D. Helser. Mary Bess Shelledy was selected as the reigning queen, and two other lovelies, Barbara Berry and Pat Jones, were her attendants.

Friday night was not without its amusement, for the annual pajama relays, won by Tri Delt and Welch Hall, were on the schedule of main events.

Homecoming

The gala barbecue was climaxed by the lighting of an enormous bonfire behind the Service Building. As the fire reached toward the sky, the student body joined in the singing of Iowa State songs and were led by the cheerleaders in pep yells.

To top the events of each Homecoming day, the dances were presented in the Armory. Frankie Masters, one of the nation's leading bands, provided a combination of sweet and hot music to please the taste of every dancer. The Armory was fittingly decorated with a motif signifying autumn and the football season.

It was announced at the Friday dance that Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Chi had won the golden trophies for the best house decorations.

Homecoming

The stadium was crowded with anxious spectators as the Iowa State team took its position on the field to oppose the heavy favorite, Oklahoma University, in one of the most important games of the football season. Enthusiastic students sent loud cheers into the crisp air as the teams moved into conflict. Iowa State battled against a superior team for three hours. Then the officials fired the shot that brought the game to an end and defeat for Iowa State.

Through the efforts of the Central Committee and Chairman Bill Sayre, a weekend of welcoming guests was brought to a pleasant and successful end.

Special

Signs of the times at Iowa State were shown by the students' spirit in various activities that carried out old traditions and sponsored new ones.

Men and women of Iowa State were honored for scholastic achievement and service at the spring Honors Day Convocation.

Five and ten pound parties were even more glamorous and sophisticated as engagements and marriages were announced.

The Engineers' Carnival, like other college functions, showed originality that illustrated post-war enthusiasm. The ArchE's won first prize for their booth which featured Lena the Hyena.

Events

Memorial Day found the students at the college cemetery where a memorial service was held for those men of both wars who died for our country.

Political spirit abounded at the rally held before the student body election day in the spring. Both the Independents and the Representatives turned out en masse for a parade and street dance in front of the Union.

Petitions for practically everything appeared from the students whose interest was to make Iowa State a better school. At a gigantic pep rally, President Friley was presented with a petition from the 630 Club to improve athletics.

Visiting Guests

During the year, Iowa State had many outstanding guests whose visits to the campus contributed immeasurably to the cultural development of the students.

Some of the guests were Rev. James Boren, speaker for Religion and Life Week, Capt. Harry Butcher, Naval Aide to General Eisenhower, Dr. Gordon Hullfish, an educational philosopher, Frankie Masters and his band and Mr. Robert Patterson, United States Ambassador to Yugoslavia. Other guests included the Don Cossacks Choir with their director, Serge Jaroff, Enzo Pinza, Metropolitan Opera star, and Claude Thornhill and Charlie Spivak with their orchestras.

Freshman Days

Freshmen took test after test in the Armory, at times wondering if they would ever finish and go on to other Freshman Days activities of receptions, counsellors' hours, physical examinations and the trip to the college photographer.

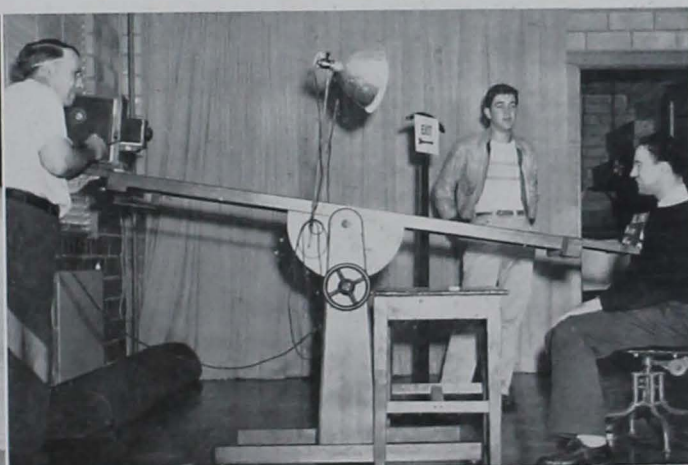

They danced at the Freshman Mixer, reciting over and over again their names, home towns, college addresses and curricula. They compared notes on Freshman Days, class schedules and ISC and watched a pie-eating contest. At the end of the evening they strolled home with new friends.

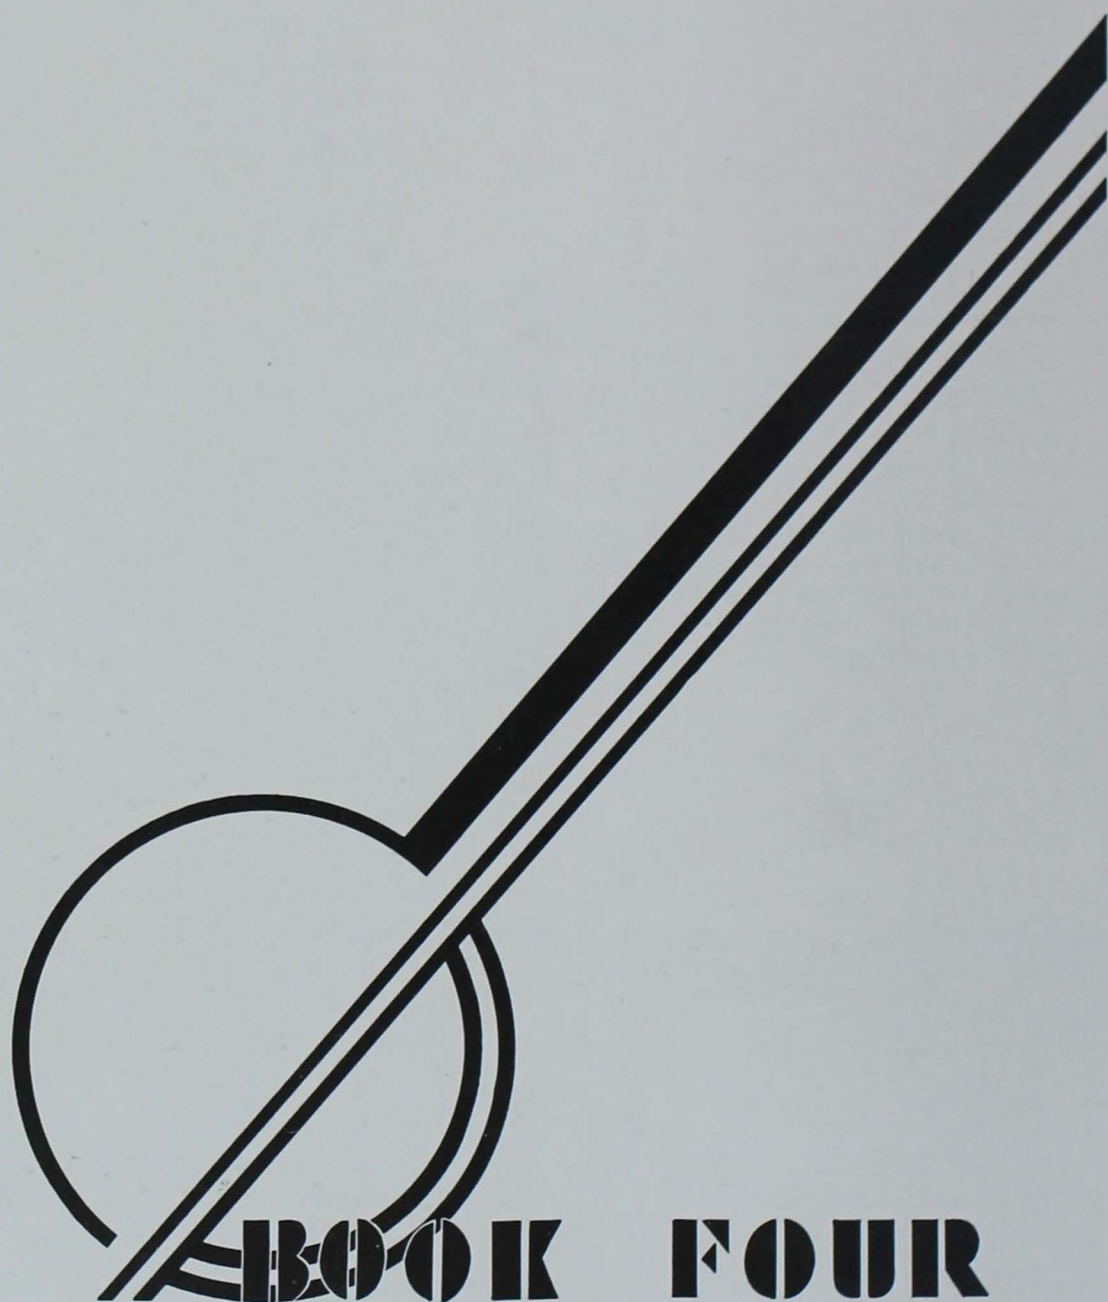

The Freshman Days schedule didn't keep them busy all the time. They explored the campus, tasted the "B and Ws" in the Union Grill, wandered through "Dogtown" and made new friends everywhere.

HONORARIES

Active Cardinal Key men carry out the traditional tapping ceremonies at Veishea under the Campanile.

Cardinal Key

This year Cardinal Key, top men's honorary for leadership, scholarship and character, initiated a program to encourage initiative among student leaders by proclaiming "Leadership Day." The spotlight was turned on the need for clear thinking and an active interest in national politics. Cardinal Key took this opportunity to honor sixty men whose services in the name of Iowa State were outstanding with a recognition banquet and "Certificates of Merit."

The largest project undertaken by Mortar Board this year was the annual Women's Day, which they again sponsored this spring. Iowa State's top women's honorary obtained an outstanding woman speaker who appeared before several groups during the day, and guided the activities of the women who published a special edition of the Daily Student and temporarily took over student administration.

Mortar Board pledges entertain the actives with skits.

The executive council goes over the minutes of the last meeting.

These economists ignore food prices long enough to enjoy a banquet.

Agricultural Economics Club

Students in the department of Agricultural Economics were organized under President Bernard Kazik, Vice-President Kendall Kneen, and Secretary-Treasurer Daryl Getting into a group with common professional interests. Speakers from different fields of agriculture furnished material for the club's monthly meetings. A new function introduced by the group this year was an annual banquet for all members. Ag economists sponsored a colorful departmental display for Veishea this year.

Horticulture Club

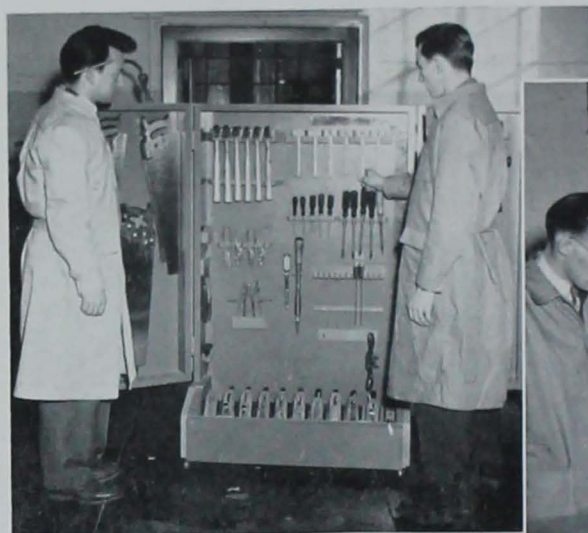

Feature event sponsored by the Horticulture Club was the fall Little Midwest Horticulture Show. Managed by Dale Kester, the show featured its first citrus fruit exhibit. Other club functions included the Homecoming chrysanthemum sale, a fall picnic, and a horticulture newsletter which was sent to other horticulture clubs. Outstanding students were recognized at a dinner in Des Moines. President Darl Snyder and Prof. H. W. Richey, faculty adviser, guided the club's activities.

Student Properties Board

Incorporated under the state laws of Iowa in 1945, the Students Properties Board concerned itself with acquiring, maintaining, and renting out equipment to organizations. Last year an office was established on the ground floor of the Memorial Union, and much work was done to enlarge the Board's stock of available properties. Heading the board of directors were Chairman Bill Powell, Manager Joe Craven, Secretary Frances Anders, and Treasurer Howard Hollingshead.

Science Women's Club

Women in the Science Division were given an opportunity to meet other women in the same field by meetings of the Science Women's Club. Discussion groups acquainted members with facts and problems of the various branches of science. Quarterly parties sponsored by each class were planned by the group.

Plans were carried out under the direction of Mary Smith, president, Rebecca Stone, vice-president, and Marliis Bloom, secretary. Le Von Garrison kept the treasurer's books.

Judging

The livestock judging team examines this steer thoroughly.

Judging teams representing Iowa State College carried off high honors in several judging competitions during the year. Five judges and two alternates composed the general livestock judging team that tied for second place at the International Livestock Exposition last fall. This team also gained sixth place at the American Royal Livestock Show.

Four men on the dairy judging squad gained national recognition when they carried off top honors at the National Dairy Congress at Waterloo, Iowa. Animal Husbandry students on the meats judging team earned second place at the International and fifth at the American Royal in Kansas City, Mo. Poultry judges were ranked third best at the National Poultry Judging Contest.

NROTC

Continuing the tradition established by the thousands of Navy trainees who received instruction at Iowa State during the war years, the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps Unit was established in the summer. Students in the unit, besides pursuing their regular courses, are taught essential naval subjects augmented by practical exercises and drills. Each summer the men go on cruises and upon graduation receive a reserve commission in the Navy or Marine Corps.

The unit was organized on a company basis under the command of Captain Richard B. Levin and his staff. Student company leaders were Commander E. A. Nielsen, Sub-Commander W. C. Powell and Adjutant H. A. Kallsen.

ROTC

Discontinued during the war, the four-year ROTC program was reinstated on campus in the fall. With the reorganization came a change in personnel, as Colonel Busbee replaced Colonel Odell after the latter resigned.

Men enrolled in the new ROTC course spend their first two years in elementary training as a prerequisite for the advanced ROTC. During the last two years, students take work in one of four branches: Air Corps, Engineers, Field Artillery, or Signal Corps.

Scabbard and Blade again took its place on campus. The Rifle Team participated in several shoots during the year. The traditional Military Ball, sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, made its first post-war appearance spring quarter.

The 1946 grid season proved to be Mike Michalske's last year as head mentor at Iowa State, when he handed over the reins to Abe Stuber at the beginning of the spring quarter. Spectators numbering 47,000 saw the Cyclones show plenty of fight and spirit, but the gridmen couldn't muster the power to win many games. The thrillers of the season were the Drake and Iowa State Teachers games, Iowa State tying the Bulldogs 7-7 in the closing minutes of the battle and the Cyclones overpowering a strong Panther team 20-18 in the last few seconds.

Dick Howard took top honors in the scoring brackets, racking up 24 points. Harle Rollinger and Ray Klootwyck followed with 14 and 12 points respectively. Leading in yardage gained during the season were Bill Chauncey and Howard, with Klootwyck, Ed Farni and Ron Norman following close behind.

Coach Otopalik discusses intramurals with some of the Camp Dodge athletes.

Interference forms for a line plunge in Camp Dodge touch football.

Intramurals at Camp Dodge attracted 400 men of the 500 enrolled. The men showed active interest in every kind of sport throughout the year. Facilities were not always the best, but improvement was continually being made. An indoor driving range was provided for golf enthusiasts and an indoor tennis court for those who enjoyed tennis. A swimming pool was scheduled to be opened, also. The top Camp Dodge teams competed with those from the Ames campus and from Drake University to make the intramural competition all-college. Football, basketball, and table tennis were the biggest sports of the Annex men.

Varsity I Club

Members of I club discuss plans for the carnival.

The Bingo booth proved to be popular at the I club carnival.

Men in the Varsity I Club climaxed a year packed with activities when they sponsored their annual "I Club Carnival." It was complete with sideshows, prizes, beauty, music and dancing. Dick Cole, serving as Master of Ceremonies, introduced the "I Queen" and her two attendants. Marilyn Cash was selected as queen by members of the club. She represented Iowa State in competition for Queen of the Drake Relays. Marilyn's attendants were Ellen Peterson and Ilajean Hagie. At the spring "Athletic Bust," an annual picnic-banquet given for members of the club by the Athletic Council, "I" blankets were awarded to graduating seniors. Dick Scott directed the club as president. Dick Cole and Ron Norman served on the Athletic Council.

Once more they presented the Freshman "I" Award to the outstanding freshman woman athlete. Selling mums at Homecoming and ushering at Naiads were other activities of the organization. After obtaining an "I", by being active in WAA clubs for six quarters, women can be considered for "I" Fraternity. They must have a high grade point and do outstanding work in other organizations. The two honorary members were Miss Mary Ann Kohli and Miss Lena Kelley. Dr. Germain Guiot was faculty advisor of the group which was led by Betty Gallaher, president.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association, active on campus for forty-one years, is open to all women who wish to participate in individual and group sports. Bowling Club, Dance Club, and Naiads are three of the ten divisions representing different sports under the direction of WAA. The WAA Council, consisting of the presidents of each club and the council officers, is the governing body of the association. They plan the activities of the WAA and several times during the year they organize "play days" for women students. In the past two years this movement has been carried out in archery, golf, hockey, and volleyball. Margaret Quist was president of the WAA Council. Helping her were Ann Stevesson, vice-president, Maxine Sutherland, secretary, Dorothy Merrick, treasurer, and Phyllis Sawyer, assistant treasurer.

TEMPORARY HOMES

Camp

A new phase of campus life at Iowa State was created with the establishment of the Camp Dodge Annex in September. More than 450 engineering and science freshmen attended classes and lived at the site of the former army post. Director J. P. McKean and his staff of 36 instructors were largely responsible for converting the Annex from the experimental state in the fall to its well-organized state.

Food planned and prepared under the direction of Miss Lenore Sullivan and Mrs. Frances Briden was served cafeteria-style to the students and faculty who didn't commute.

Student housing was divided into sixteen units, composed of barracks and hospital wards. A representative was chosen from each unit for the Student Council, the Annex governing body. Officers of the organization were President Robert Keables, Vice-President Howard Suss, Secretary Ted Gillis and Treasurer Howard Barker.

Professor Hugo Otopolik organized a complete intramural program emphasizing participation for all.

Center of social life was the Rec Hall, which contained a fountain and dance floor. Exchanges with women from Broadlawn Hospital, Drake and Iowa State supplemented the open dances held each quarter.

This couple has learned to watch pennies while shopping in the cooperative grocery store.

West Court

West Court was established fall quarter to ease the veteran's housing situation. More than 125 families were housed in privately-owned trailers and reconstructed or prefabricated homes. Governmental organization was in the form of five wards, with a councilman from each ward meeting regularly with Mayor Lee Bowen. A town meeting was held each month to discuss problems that arose. The West Court basketball five walked off with the ward intramural championship.

These two look as if they really rake in the happy moments.

Pammel Court

As usual, baby sacrifices his carriage for the groceries.

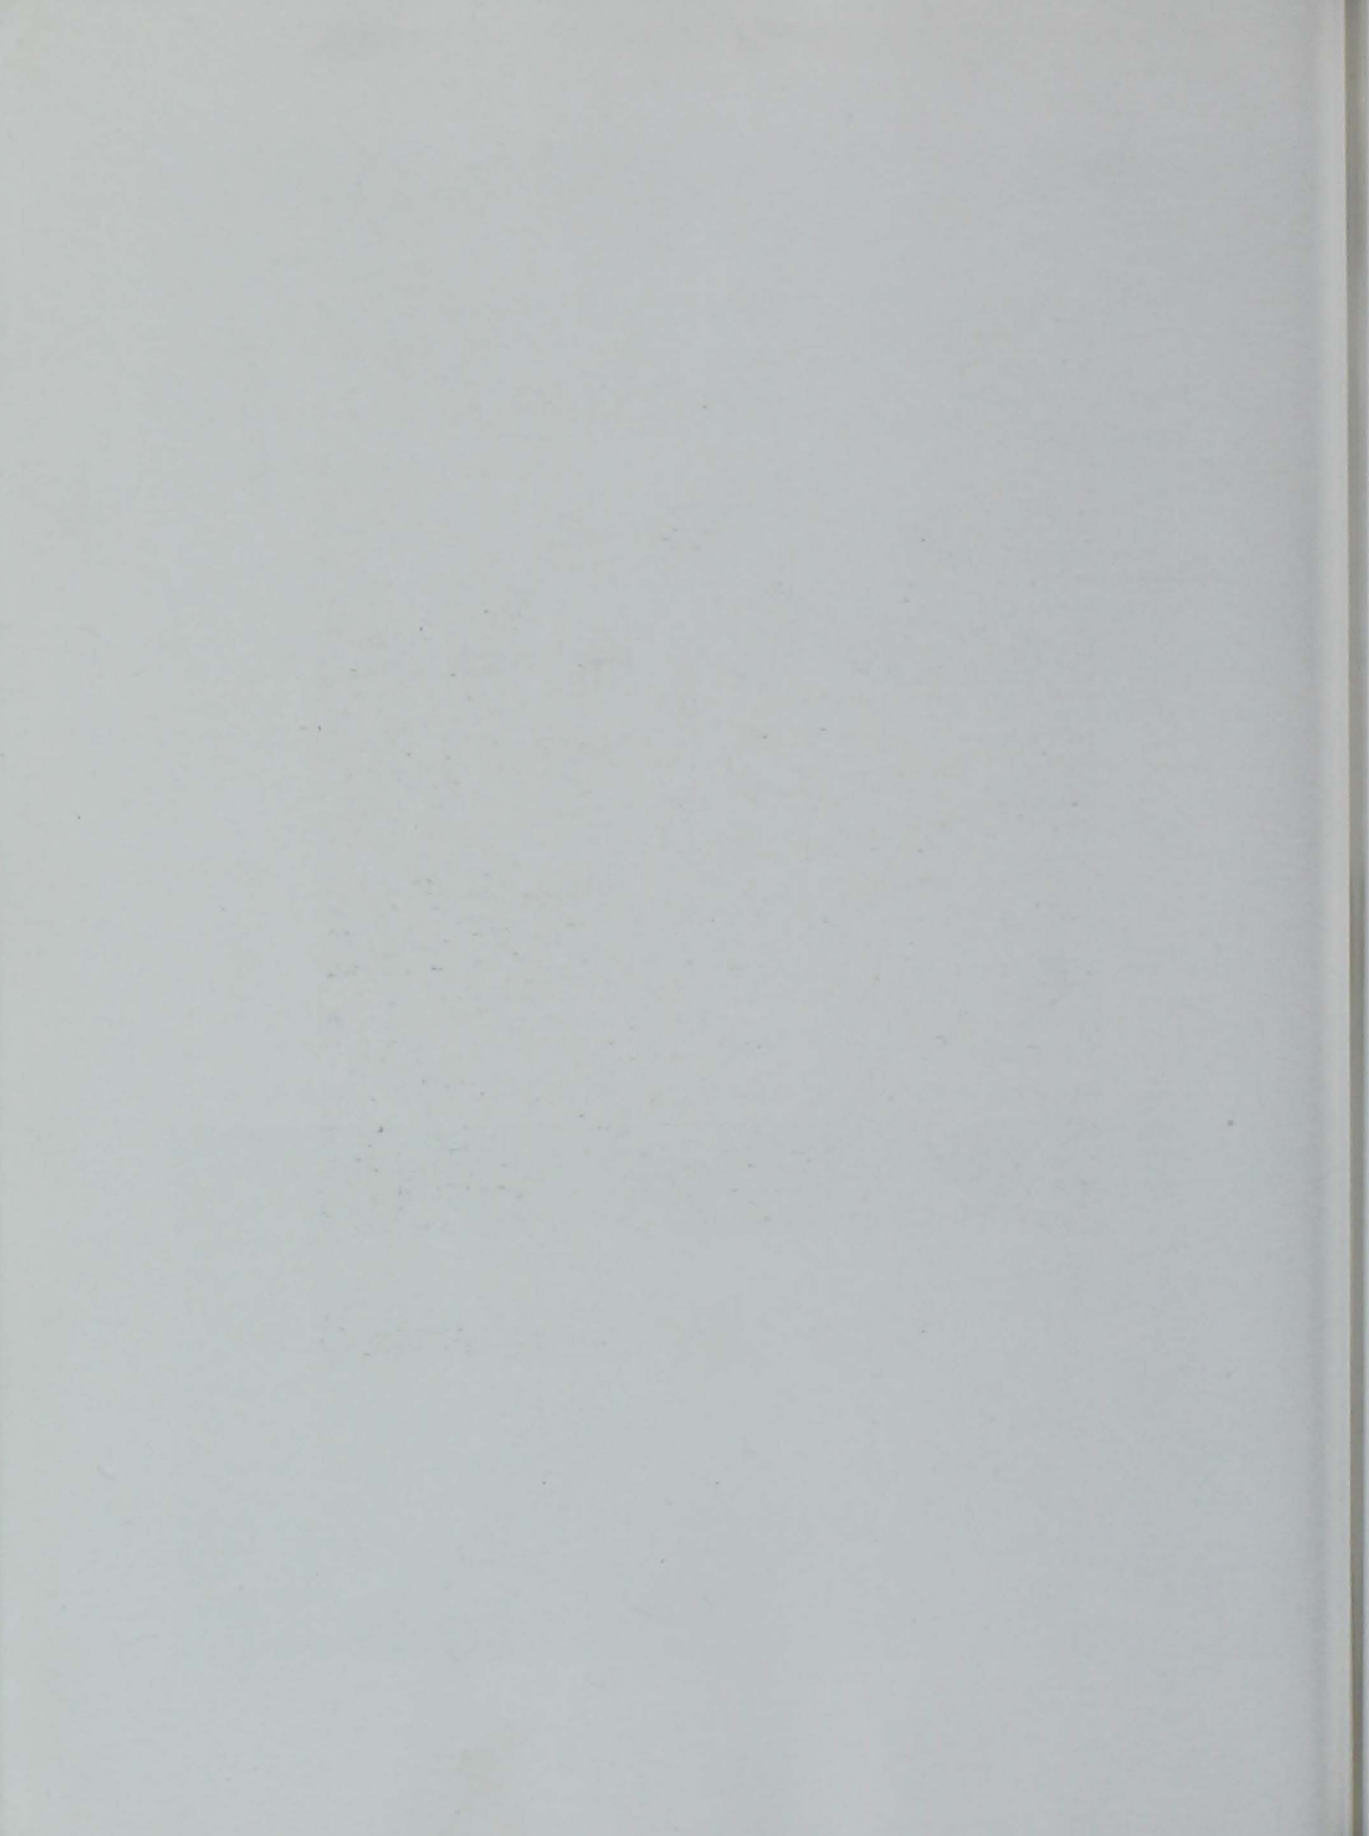

The idea of an organized trailer town was born in the fall of 1945 with the influx of married veterans. Containing more than 900 housing units, Pammel Court had its own cooperative grocery and many other services most trailer camps lack. The touch football team from the Court smashed through to the ward and dorm championship. The administration of Pammel Court was ably handled by Mayors John Hanley and Jack Smith.

Blue Monday isn't blue when there's teamwork like this.

WOMEN'S HOMES

Women's Panhellenic

Composed of one representative and the president from each sorority, the Panhellenic Council held bi-weekly dinner meetings at the various houses. Miss Virginia Reinecke, dean of women at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, was the featured speaker at the annual Women's Panhellenic Day. Miss Reinecke appeared before several groups on campus and a meeting of all organized women in the evening.

Biggest social event on the Council's calendar was the Women's Panhel Dance. Lee Williams and his orchestra provided the music for the annual affair. The group also worked as co-sponsors of the spring All-Greek Day. Dee Hausman succeeded Janice Vohs as president, and Jean Larson was secretary-treasurer. Assisting the group were Alumnae Advisors Mrs. Lester Clapp, Mrs. J. C. Schilletter and Mrs. Guyon Whitley, and Social Director Mrs. Doris Hoppenrath.

Intersorority Pledge Council

Top social event of the year for the Council was the Pledge Panhellenic Dance which they co-sponsored with the Interfraternity Pledge Council. Paddles decorated with the pledge pins and names of the fraternities and sororities served as favors for "Neophytes' Night." Maxine Anderson was co-chairman of the formal affair.

The Council, composed of the pledge president and one other representative from each house, met twice monthly under the direction of Advisor Ann Turner. Dorothy Dillan succeeded Ann as advisor at the beginning of winter quarter.

Another activity of the council was the intersorority pledge chocolate hours held at the various houses during winter quarter.

Kappa Delta

A wintry atmosphere of pine trees and glowing candles was created for the KDs' Snowball Formal, top event of their social season. Numerous firesides, five-pound parties and after-hour parties enlivened the chapter house throughout the year.

Kappa Deltas entered whole-heartedly into Veishea preparations. Mortar Board member Erika Westphal was co-chairman of Stars Over Veishea and Mary Ellen Watt also helped on Veishea. Maxine Smoak was chairman of the pajama relay and Jean McDonald was publicity chairman of Veishea Open House. Marilyn Cash handled preparations for Science Open House.

Representing Kappa Delta on campus publications were Mary Jo Overholt, editor of Sketch, Maxine Smoak, art editor of Sketch and Nancy Clapp, downtown advertising manager of the Iowa Homemaker. Orla Kersten, co-advertising manager of the Green Gander was awarded an activity "I" for her work on the Daily Student.

Among the chairmanships of Mary Ellen Watt were those of the Women's Panhellenic Dance and the Red Cross Board.

Beauty honors went to Marilyn Cash as she was proclaimed the 1947 "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" at the Sigma Chi's annual Sweetheart Dance.

128 Lynn

On May 18, 1946, the Delta Omicron chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma was installed on the Iowa State campus. Mrs. Ruth Seacrest, national president, conducted the formal installation and initiation of the seventeen charter members.

Last fall the Kappas acquired their house at 128 Lynn and for two weeks before the opening of school they could be seen working diligently with paint brushes and scrub buckets. The work was successfully completed in time for rush week and by the end of the week the chapter roll call was swelled to 20 actives and 17 pledges.

Though comparatively new, the Kappas claimed their place at ISC. Last spring quarter, the new chapter took scholastic honors, ranking at the top of the list for sororities.

Under the direction of June Welch, house president, the Kappas became prominent both socially and in activities. During Homecoming, Eleanor Lagoni was a finalist for Pep Queen and the house received honorable mention for house decorations.

Kappas elected into honoraries included Pat Hedge and Barbara Ferguson who were elected to Omicron Nu.

Mary Dodds, as president of Mortar Board, led the activities-conscious Pi Phis in their invasion of organizations and honoraries. Mary also headed the publication boards of Sketch and the Iowa Homemaker and was director while Martha Coover was business manager of the Iowa Homemaker. Mary Alice Barber was elected to Mortar Board, Pi Mu Epsilon, Iota Sigma Pi, and Cardinal Guild. Katie Overholt headed Crafts for the YWCA and was president of Delta Phi Delta. Omicron Nus wearing the golden arrow were Luanna Cook, Mary Dodds, Marjorie Lund and Marjorie Moody.

Phi Upsilon Omicron claimed Mary Dodds, Jeanette Pickford, and Mary Rothacker.

Athletes included Frances Friley, Dorothy Merrick and Mary Jean Otopalik who are members of the Women's "I" Fraternity and Meg Quist, president of the WAA Council.

Brunette Barb Berry was chosen Interfraternity Pledge Sweetheart and Pep Queen attendant. Vivacious Jeanette Lucas was a finalist for Bomb Beauty.

The Pi Phi's float won first place in the sorority division of the Veishea parade and they later received the top award for their Homecoming decorations.

A flower-laden staircase and numerous bouquets of spring flowers furnished a setting for the Sigma Spring Symphony formal. The Sigma Kappa's annual Holly Ball Christmas formal was highlighted by the distribution of gifts from the huge Christmas tree.

In December, Janice Vohs turned over to sister Dee Hausman the gavels of both Sigma Kappa and Pan-Hellenic Council. Busy Dee also worked with "Kind Lady" Margaret Carroll and Anita Ohlsen in that Iowa State Players' Production.

The Press Building was "home" to Doris Adams, associate editor of the Iowa Homemaker. Far at the other end of the hall, journalists Jean Heath and Agnes Wells were reporters on the Daily Student. Busy on the staff of the Green Gander were Marilyn Bjorndahl and Dee Hausman.

Active in dramatics work was Anita Ohlsen, who was a member of Iowa State Players, secretary of Radio Players, and a member of Dance Club. Doris Adams, Jackie Baker, June Berquist, and Ruby Risser participated in the activities of the Bowling Club.

Dormitory Council is the student governing body of the seven women's residence halls. Its busy president this year was Barbara Meredith, who was assisted by the Secretary Marian Pearson and Treasurer Betty Silletto. Lucy Drakesmith was activity chairman in addition to being on the new campus social program. Mrs. Madge McGlade served in advisory capacity to both the Dormitory Advisory Council and the Dormitory Council.

The Dormitory Council is made up of the residence hall presidents and the Dormitory Advisory council is composed of the duly elected dormitory vice-presidents. Both serve in a manner that will promote harmonious living within the dorms and encourage participation in campus activities.

The Dormitory Council presented a "Cupid's Dream" formal in Great Hall of the Memorial Union and additional dances were held at various times throughout the year. In May new dormitory presidents are elected. The name of the new dorm council president is revealed at a dinner in honor of the new dormitory presidents.

Tau Gamma

Replacing the customary progressive dinner dance, a Christmas formal with the theme Silver Blues was held in the ballroom of the Sheldon-Munn hotel. Tau Gamma women sponsored several informal dances, pot-lucks and picnics during the year. A tea to welcome new members and a formal initiation ceremony and party were also installed in the Tau Gamma social program.

Members of the town women's organization active on campus included Helen Morling, who served on Cardinal Guild and in Twisters. Virginia Town was decorations chairman for the dormitory formal, while Charlotte Arnold worked as a member of the Iowa Engineer staff.

Interfraternity Council

Top: A person felt safer out on a limb at the Greek Day picnic, when the Sig Eps were pulled into the creek by the Chi Os. Lower: The council discusses business of the week.

A complete reorganization of the council was effected last fall by extensive revision of its constitution and by-laws.

The second annual All-Greek Day was held under the direction of Robert Anderson, Charles Johnson and Cliff Ray. An afternoon of competitive games between fraternities and sororities created large appetites for the 1,300 Greeks who assembled at the picnic supper.

Deferred rushing created much interest among the fraternities. Investigations proved that this system of rushing initiated at the beginning of the fall quarter was the most suitable under present conditions.

Acacia

This year found the men of Acacia back in the chapter house with many members returning from the armed services. At the beginning of the winter quarter, Mrs. Dinsmore, the former house mother, returned to restore much of the home-like atmosphere known before the war. A new face was put on the inside of the house with a complete paint job from top to bottom, and the living room was remodeled.

Socially, the year began with a picnic at the Ledges. Refreshments and a good time were enjoyed by all. Following the picnic were many informal parties and firesides. "The Final Fling" was the theme for a hilarious evening to terminate fall quarter.

A new trophy was added to the mantle, as the Acacia softball team placed runner-up in Class A competition. Teams were entered in all other intramural sports and made creditable showings under the efficient leadership of their intramural manager.

A few of the activity men included John Peterson who was elected to the position of manager of the Little Mid-West Horticultural Exposition and Don Grobeck who was on the Steering Committee of the Dairy Industry Club. Fred Saemisch was the ticket chairman for the Inter-Fraternity Pledge Formal spring quarter. Aiding Frank Griffith in the management of the chapter was vice-president Wilbur Olsen.

Adelante

Adelante, Iowa State's only local fraternity, enjoyed a successful year under the guidance of President Jim Fuller. Tops on the list of social events were the annual spring formal dance and the fall costume affair, Autumn Nocturne.

Members were active in student publications, with William Ettinger, Donald Meilike, Forrest Paul, Ray Rodger and Donald Watson serving as staff members of the Iowa Agriculturist. Dick Crowther was a member of the Daily Student editorial board and John Huling acted as publicity manager of the Ames Forester. Dick Crowther's humor column, "Cornycopia," was a regular feature in the Daily Student.

Phi Kappa Tau was under the direction of Andrew Baardson, and Gail Jones served as vice-president. Other officers were Harold Dettmann, secretary, Tom Engler, treasurer, Arnold Best, social and publicity chairman, and Cleon Goode, intramural chairman.

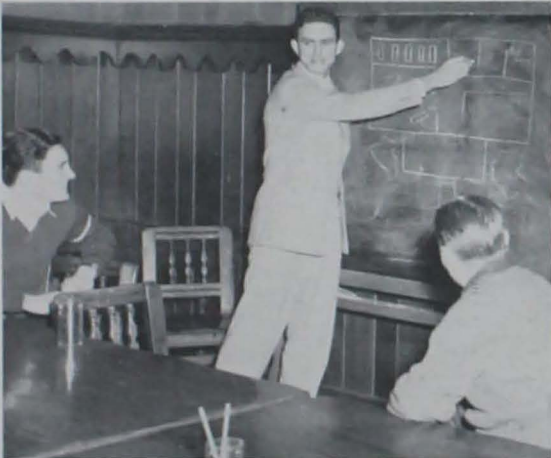

Gene Ewoldsen bolstered the varsity wrestling team with his stellar work in the 121 pound class and Gail Jones sang with the Men's Glee Club. The chapter bridge team composed of Stanley, Baardson, Gillespie, and Jones reached the quarter-finals of the all college class A bridge tournament.

Throughout the year the chapter was assisted and advised by many alumni and their faculty advisor, George Stanley.

An alumni reunion and formal dinner during Homecoming attracted more than 155 guests at the PiKA house. Numerous decorations ruralized the chapter house for the costume barn dance that completed the festivities. The annual spring formal and the Valentine Dance rounded out the social year.

PiKAs earned the trophy for the class "D" intramural football championship. Men in sports included Ed Calhoun, basketball, wrestler Don Neubrough, and Bill Sperry, football and wrestling.

Representing the Department of Ceramic Mining Engineering on the Engineering Council was Bob Hines.

Skip Calhoun and Bill Powell headed the activity list. Skip was issue editor of the Daily Student, feature editor of the Agriculturist, president of the Christian Science Organization, and a member of Sigma Delta Chi. Bill was chairman of the Student Properties Board and business manager of the Wintermezzo Science formal dance.

Lending their efforts toward Veishea preparations were Bob Beckwith, Wayne Emerson, Bob Pratt, Bill Ribelin, and Tom Schultz.

Former members of the ISC chapter found time to help reorganize the chapter at Iowa University. Through their efforts that chapter again took its place on that campus.

Surpassing its pre-war standards, Pi Kappa Phi had a steadily growing chapter. Pi Kap took its added share of campus activities in stride. House President Bill Carey was a busy man with a position on the Iowa Agriculturist as advertising manager. He was also on the college poultry judging team. Working beside Bill was Peter Cuff who lent his services as the all important joke editor on the Agriculturist. Peter also was president of the newly-organized Winter Sports Club. On the engineers' side of the campus, Forest Goetsch served as assistant circulation manager of the Iowa Engineer. Jack Fletcher spent much of his extra-curricular efforts with Pi Tau Sigma and ASME.

A newly-redecorated house greeted the SAEs upon their return fall quarter. President George Simons led the Sig Alphas and kept busy himself as a member of Cardinal Guild and Knights of St. Patrick.

Jim Meyers and the Wehde twins helped bring basketball and track fame to Iowa State, while Bill Block turned in a top performance in his guard spot on the cage squad. Bud Feeken, Big Six champion high jumper, captained the track team. Representing the golf team were Ed Knorr and Bud Firkins.

Campus publications didn't go unnoticed, with Charles Brotherton as managing editor, Ed Knorr, business manager, and Dick Wareham, treasurer of the Iowa Engineer. Gene Cooper was editor of the Green Gander.

Bob Miller took scholastic honors as a member of Tau Beta Pi, Eta Kappa Nu, Knights of St. Pat, Pi Mu Epsilon, and Phi Kappa Phi. Arnold Carstensen was chairman of the Harvest Ball, and was vice-president of the Agricultural Council and secretary of Alpha Zeta. Fifteen Sig Alphas are members of nine honorary fraternities.

Although Sigma Chi won the Homecoming decorations first prize, it was but one of the many contributions made for the festive occasion. Ken Yarbrough, John Alexander, Sam Ray and Ed Stone won the pajama relay for the Tri Delts and George Serovy was chairman of the Homecoming decorations committee.

In activities, Ken Anderson lead the list by his presidency of Eta Kappa Nu and his membership in Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Delta Chi and Phi Kappa Phi. Cleve Campbell, a Tau Beta Pi, was treasurer of the Agriculturist and co-chairman of the Engineer's Carnival. Bob Carlson was a member of Pi Tau Sigma, while Dave Anderson belonged to Eta Kappa Nu.

Athletic-minded, the Sigs won the Class "B" football championship. In addition they claimed John Alexander, Big Six quarter-mile champion and Dick Scott, co-captain of the baseball team and president of the Varsity "I" Club.

The Sodbusters Ball, a costume affair, was held at the Country Club. Guests of the Garden Formal danced on a portable dance floor placed in back of the house.

Men in activities included John Harvey, Burl Parks, Don Moyer, and Dean Bengston, all on the Iowa Engineer staff, and Robert Bedford on the Student Properties Board. Bradford Beeler was Cardinal Guild Booking Agent and James Ilgenfritz was assistant photography editor of the Bomb. Cartoonist Burl Parks drew for various student publications.

Following the long awaited victory homecoming celebration at the outset of fall quarter, the Sig Eps staged their annual informal "Saddle and Gun Club" dance in the chapter house. A winter formal and the spring "Ball of Roses" completed the social program.

Displaying their talents on the gridiron were Harry Kraus, Bob Jensen, Ron Norman, Pat Riding and George Schoel. Bill Rowland was working on the cinders toward his third track letter, and John Alt stroked his way to a spot on the swimming team.

Known well on campus were Warren Hayes, president of Cardinal Key and business manager of the Bomb, and Walt Hammond, sports editor of the Bomb, publicity chairman of the Engineers' Carnival and a member of the Green Gander Board. Another busy Sig Ep was Bob Axthelm, holding presidencies in both the Glee Club and the Bomb Publication Board. Along with Jim Foxgrover, Bob was instrumental in the formation of the new 630 Club. Larry Sieck busied himself on Engineering Council.

Not to be outdone scholastically, many held membership in campus honoraries.

Highlighting the social events of the year was the annual Bar Room Brawl. Appropriate decorations in the new recreation room added atmosphere to the affair. Added to the annual fall and spring formals were numerous firesides, smokers, and exchanges.

Important in return of the chapter to its pre-war level was its president, Richard Goos. Dick was a member of Cardinal Key and Cardinal Guild. He and Enlowe Ose were chosen as Bomb outstanding seniors.

Back from their wartime service, members of Theta Chi redecored the exterior of their chapter house at 219 Ash in the fall and resumed their careers as college students.

With Jim Poulter as house president, the Theta Chis stressed activities this year. Journalist Clarence Strock served for two quarters as editor of the Daily Student. Fred Phillips is a member of Sigma Delta Chi and was managing editor of the Daily Student. Roger Harrison was a newscaster on radio station WOI. Melvin Goltry was manager of the varsity football team and president of Frisbie House. Other activity men were Bill Corry and Paul Purdue who claimed membership in the Iowa State Debators.

Theta Delta Chi

Theta Delta Chi marked its ninety-ninth anniversary shortly after Homecoming with a banquet and reunion. Being the first such banquet since the war, it drew many long-absent alumni and their families. In February, Theta Delta Chi's graduate secretary visited the chapter. A large reunion was also held at Homecoming.

Participation in intramurals reached a new peak this year. Under the direction of Maurice Eldridge, teams were entered in nearly all of the competitive sports and a fine record was attained in many of them. In basketball the chapter was the most successful, with two teams reaching high positions in the competition.

Theta Delta Chi is known as the fraternity of "firsts," being the first national Greek organization to have a pledge pin, the first to adopt and display a flag, and the first to publish a fraternity magazine. Alumni include Robert Frost, the late Alexander Woolcott, Eric Johnson and Harvey Gibson.

Social functions included a "Hard Times" party, costume and fireside dances, and informal "evenings at home." All of these were handled capably by social chairman Don Appell.

Elbridge Moody and house president Bill Plass were on the staff of the Ames Forester, while Maurice Eldridge acted as secretary of the American Society of Agronomy.

Robert L. Wood, president

The Ward System is an organization of men living outside fraternities and dormitories. Under the leadership of Presidents Del De Witt and Robert Wood, the Ward Executive Council efficiently served Iowa State's ward men. The council, composed of the presidents of the various wards, coordinated all social, athletic and political functions carried out by the wards.

An extensive program of intramural athletics was presented. Eighteen touch football teams, 12 bowling teams, and 36 basketball teams including over 350 men participating in the closely contested tournaments.
